EXCEPTION OF REFERENCES TO STATISTICAL DATA -- WHERE TOMUSCHAT ATTRIBUTED ACCUSATIONS TO ANOTHER SOURCE. END COMMENT.) GUERRILLAS CONTINUED TO DESTROY INFRASTRUCTURE.

23. RECOMMENDATIONS: (1) GUERRILLAS SHOULD ALSO ABIDE BY GENEVA ACCORDS DESCRIBING RULES OF WAR. (2)

GUERRILLAS SHOULD NOT ENGAGE IN ACTIVITIES ENDANGERING THE RIGHTS OF THE VAST MAJORITY OF GUATEMALANS NOT INVOLVED IN THE ARMED CONFLICT.

FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION (259-260)

24. CONCLUSIONS: WHILE GUATEMALA CONTINUES TO ENJOY A NOTABLY HIGH LEVEL OF FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION, PERSONS CRITICAL OF THE GOVERNMENT, PARTICULARLY THOSE ESPOUSING POSITIONS DEFENDED BY THE URNG, WERE ATTACKED OR THREATENED AFTER BEING LABELLED "SUBVERSIVES."

25. RECOMMENDATIONS: ALL GUATEMALANS MUST UNDERSTAND THE IMPORTANCE OF FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION, INCLUDING FREEDOM OF THE PRESS, AND THE PRESS MUST REALIZE ITS DUTY TO INFORM OBJECTIVELY AND TRUTHFULLY.

FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION (261-2)

26. CONCLUSIONS: CURRENT PROCEDURES FOR GRANTING ORGANIZATIONS LEGAL RECOGNITION ARE INADEQUATE AND SUBJECT TO POLITICAL MANIPULATION. THE GOVERNMENT HAS NOT YET FULLY ACCEPTED HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS AS LEGITIMATE OPPOSITION GROUPS. POPULAR LEADERS WERE THREATENED AND ATTACKED. THE CHARGES AGAINST AMILCAR MENDEZ OF ARMS TRAFFICKING HARDLY SEEM PLAUSIBLE.

27. RECOMMENDATIONS: NONE.

FREEDOM OF CORRESPONDENCE AND COMMUNICATION (263)

28. CONCLUSIONS: IT IS GENERALLY RECOGNIZED THAT SECURITY FORCES HAVE ESTABLISHED A SYSTEM TO MONITOR CORRESPONDENCE AND TELECOMMUNICATIONS, WHICH HAS NO FOUNDATION IN LAW AND, IF TRUE, WOULD BE A SERIOUS VIOLATION OF FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS.

29. RECOMMENDATIONS: THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD EXAMINE THIS MATTER AND SUBMIT A DETAILED REPORT TO CONGRESS.

ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL RIGHTS (264-5)

30. CONCLUSIONS: ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL DIFFICULTIES NOTED IN PREVIOUS REPORTS HAVE NOT IMPROVED SIGNIFICANTLY. ADMITTEDLY, CURRENT POLICIES ARE THE FIRST STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION, BUT GREATER CHANGES MUST BE MADE. SOME FOREIGN INVESTORS HAVE EXPLOITED TEXTILE INDUSTRY WORKERS BY THREATENING TO CLOSE IF THE GOVERNMENT ENFORCES THE WORKERS' RIGHTS.

SUBJECT: U.N. EXPERT TOMUCHAT'S 1992 REPORT ON GUATEMALA

31. RECOMMENDATIONS: (1) NEW PROGRAMS SHOULD BE ESTABLISHED FOR CHILDREN. (2) CONGRESS SHOULD ALLOCATE MORE OF THE NATIONAL BUDGET FOR RURAL AREAS.

INDIGENOUS POPULATION (266-8)

32. CONCLUSION: RIGOBERTA MENCHU'S NOBEL PRIZE ACCORDS SPECIAL RECOGNITION TO INDIGENOUS GUATEMALANS. SOME 70 PER CENT OF GUATEMALANS ARE INDIGENOUS PEOPLE, BUT THE INDIGENOUS POPULATION PLAYS ONLY A MODEST ROLE

IN SOCIETY (I.E., ONLY 10-15 OF CONGRESSIONAL DEPUTIES ARE INDIGENOUS). (COMMENT: MOST OBSERVERS BELIEVE THAT INDIGENOUS PERSONS ACCOUNT FOR ONLY ABOUT 50 PER CENT OF THE POPULATION. END COMMENT.)

33. RECOMMENDATIONS: (1) AS PREVIOUSLY RECOMMENDED, THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD ESTABLISH A MINISTRY OF INDIGENOUS RIGHTS. (2) THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD INCREASE INTEGRATION OF INDIGENOUS PEOPLE INTO NATIONAL LIFE THROUGH BI-LINGUAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS (NOW UNDERWAY IN SOME AREAS) AND ACCEPTANCE OF HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS PROMOTING INDIGENOUS INTERESTS. (COMMENT: TOMUSCHAT NOTES WITH APPROVAL CONGRESSIONAL CONSIDERATION OF INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION CONVENTION NO. 169, BUT DOES NOT SPECIFICALLY RECOMMEND PASSAGE.)

DEMOCRATIC PROCESS (269-70)

34. CONCLUSIONS: THE EXECUTIVE AND LEGISLATIVE BRANCHES HAVE DISCHARGED THEIR CONSTITUTIONAL OBLIGATIONS WITHOUT OBSTACLES. NEVERTHELESS, INDIGENOUS PEOPLE REMAIN OUTSIDE THE DEMOCRATIC MAINSTREAM, PRIMARILY BECAUSE OF LACK OF EDUCATION.

35. RECOMMENDATIONS: AS PREVIOUSLY RECOMMENDED, ALL SIDES SHOULD ACCEPT OPPOSING VIEWS WITHOUT CONSIDERING THEM "SUBVERSIVE."

GOG-URNG NEGOTIATIONS (271-2)

36. CONCLUSIONS: PEACE TALKS REMAIN FOCUSSED ON HUMAN RIGHTS -- ESPECIALLY VERIFICATION -- ISSUES, BUT THERE WAS "CONSIDERABLE PROGRESS." TOMUSHCAT CALLS ON BOTH PARTIES TO REACH AGREEMENT IN EARLY 1993. IF A PEACE ACCORD IS POSTPONED BEYOND 1993, THE POSSIBILITY VANISHES THAT AN AGREEMENT CAN BE IMPLEMENTED BEFORE THE END OF PRESIDENT SERRANO'S TERM.

REFUGEES & DISAPPEARED PERSONS (273-7)

37. CONCLUSIONS: THE OCTOBER 8, 1992 REFUGEE ACCORD BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT AND REFUGEE REPRESENTATIVES WAS A FIRST STEP TOWARD RESOLVING GUATEMALA'S REFUGEE PROBLEM. CONDITIONS IN "COMMUNITIES IN RESISTANCE" HAVE NOT IMPROVED SIGNIFICANTLY IN 1992.

38. RECOMMENDATIONS: (1) IT IS "INDISPENSIBLE" FOR

UNHRC TO MAKE FUNDS AVAILABLE TO PAY FOR A DELEGATE OF THE U.N. EXPERT TO STAY PERMANENTLY IN GUATEMALA TO MONITOR THE REPATRIATION PROCESS. (2) THE GOVERNMENT AND REFUGEES MUST IMPLEMENT THE OCTOBER AGREEMENT IN GOOD FAITH, AS A MODEL FOR FUTURE AGREEMENTS THAT COME OUT OF THE PEACE PROCESS. (3) THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD TREAT CPR MEMBERS THE SAME AS IT TREATS OTHER

GUATEMALANS AND THE ARMY MUST NOT EQUATE THEM WITH GUERRILLAS. (4) CPR MEMBERS SHOULD RECOGNIZE THAT THEY ARE GUATEMALAN CITIZENS ENTITLED TO NO SPECIAL

UNHRC (278)

39. CONCLUSIONS: TOMUSCHAT HAS OBSERVED MANY POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE ELEMENTS.

40. RECOMMENDATION: IN ACCORDANCE WITH PAST RECOMMENDATIONS, UNHRC SHOULD CONTINUE MONITORING THE GUATEMALAN HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. TOMUSCHAT LEAVES THE APPROPRIATE TYPE OF MONITORING (I.E., THE AGENDA ITEM ISSUE) FOR UNHRC TO DECIDE.

COMMENT

41. TOMUSCHAT MET DURING A VISIT TO GUATEMALA WITH CHARGE AND HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER ON JANUARY 14, 1993 (REFTEL). THE FINDINGS OUTLINED ABOVE ARE CONSISTENT WITH HIS COMMENTS DURING THAT MEETING, INCLUDING HIS DECISION TO NOT/NOT MAKE A RECOMMENDATION ON THE AGENDA ITEM ISSUE. WE FIND HIS REPORT GENERALLY BALANCED AND FAIR. OUR RECOMMENDATION ON THE UNHRC ISSUE FOLLOWS SEPTEL.

1. INTRODUCTION: THIS IS THE SECOND IN A SERIES OF REPORTS ON THE PAST AND FUTURE OF GUATEMALA'S NORTHERN DEPARTMENT AND LAST FRONTIER, THE PETEN. THE FIRST REPORT WAS ON ILLEGAL ALIEN SMUGGLING IN THE PETEN. OTHER REPORTS WILL COVER ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND THE POLITICAL FUTURE OF THE PETEN. THESE REPORTS SATISFY AN EMBASSY REPORTING REQUIREMENT.

2. SUMMARY: THOUGH NOT TO THE SAME EXTENT AS GUATEMALA'S WESTERN HIGHLAND DEPARTMENTS, THE PETEN ALSO GENERATED REFUGEES, WHO FLED THE VIOLENCE OF THE EARLY 1980'S. THE REFUGEES CAME MAINLY FROM 21 COOPERATIVES IN THE SOUTHWESTERN PART OF THE PETEN AND

ENDED UP IN REFUGEE CAMPS IN MEXICO. WITH THE GUERRILLA THREAT REDUCED IN THE PETEN AND AGREEMENTS REACHED FOR THE ORDERLY RETURN OF REFUGEES, A REFUGEE PROCESSING CENTER WAS BUILT IN EARLY 1992 IN BETHEL COOPERATIVE ALONG THE MEXICAN FRONTIER OF THE USUMACINTA RIVER. THE CENTER HAS SO FAR BEEN LITTLE USED AS SOME REFUGEES HAVE RETURNED TO THE PETEN ON THEIR OWN WITHOUT GOG ASSISTANCE. SECURITY, LAND AVAILABILITY, AND COMMUNITY ACCEPTANCE ARE NOT PROVING TO BE PROBLEMS IN THE PETEN, UNLIKE IN PARTS OF THE WESTERN HIGHLANDS. HOWEVER, TITLING OF LAND WILL BE A BIG PROBLEM DUE TO THE LACK OF A FUNCTIONING LAND REGISTRY SYSTEM. IN ADDITION, MUCH OF THE LAND IS LEGALLY PROTECTED IN ENVIRONMENTAL PRESERVES, AND MOST LAND IN THE AREA IS INAPPROPRIATE FOR INTENSIVE AGRICULTURE. LIFE WILL STILL BE HARD FOR RETURNING REFUGEES, BUT ASSISTANCE FROM OUTSIDE GROUPS, INCREASED TOURISM, AND DEVELOPING MEXICAN MARKETS (THOUGH MUCH OF THE CURRENT TRADE IS ILLEGAL), MIGHT MEAN BETTER PROSPECTS FOR THE FUTURE. ANOTHER GROUP OF "DISPLACED PERSONS," THE AMERICAN CITIZEN MISSIONARY STOLTZFUS FAMILY WHO WAS DRIVEN OUT OF THE PETEN BY MARXIST GUERRILLAS IN 1990, RETURNED IN DECEMBER 1991 TO THEIR PASSION RIVER FARM TO REBUILD THEIR MEDICAL CLINIC AND CONTINUE DEMONSTRATION AGRICULTURAL PROJECTS. END SUMMARY.

BACKGROUND

3. PREVIOUS CABLES ON THE POSSIBILITY OF A LARGE CARAVAN RETURN OF REFUGEES IN JANUARY HAS HIGHLIGHTED THE SITUATION OF GUATEMALAN REFUGEES IN MEXICO. THOUGH NOT TO THE SAME EXTENT AS THE WESTERN HIGHLAND DEPARTMENTS OF QUICHE, HUHUETENANGO, AND ALTA VERAPAZ, GUATEMALA'S NORTHERN PETEN DEPARTMENT HAS ALSO SEEN DEATH AND DESTRUCTION FROM THE COUNTRY'S 32-YEAR OLD WAR, AND HAS GENERATED ITS OWN REFUGEES, MAINLY FROM THE SOUTHWESTERN PORTION OF THE DEPARTMENT. THE PETEN, A SPARSELY POPULATED FRONTIER AREA (COMPARED TO THE REST OF GUATEMALA) THAT OCCUPIES ONE-THIRD OF GUATEMALA'S TERRITORY, HAS SEEN ITS POPULATION INCREASE FROM 26,000 IN 1960, TO OVER 350,000 TODAY. THE VAST MAJORITY OF THIS INCREASE HAS COME FROM LADINO (MIXED RACE) MIGRATION (MOSTLY SPONTANEOUS BUT WITH SOME GOG ENCOURAGEMENT) FROM THE SOUTHERN COAST

AND EASTERN AREAS OF GUATEMALA. THERE ARE ALSO SOME KEKCHI INDIANS MIGRANTS FROM NEIGHBORING ALTA VERPAZ DEPARTMENT, AS WELL AS INDIGENOUS GROUPS FROM OTHER HIGHLAND& DEPARMENTS.

4. IN AN EFFORT TO THWART THE BUILDING BY MEXICO OF A HYDROELECTRIC PROJECT THAT WOULD HAVE FLOODED PARTS OF GUATEMALA, AND TO PREVENT THE ENCROACHMENT OF MEXICAN COLONISTS, THE ADMINISTRATION OF PRESIDENT JULIO CESAR MENDEZ MONTENEGRO (1966-70) AIDED AND ENCOURAGED THE

FORMATION OF 21 COOPERATIVES ALONG THE BANKS OF THE PASSION AND USUMANCINTA RIVERS IN THE WESTERN PART OF THE PETEN. THOUGH GIVEN LAND AND OTHER ASSISTANCE, THE HARD LIFE, LACK OF SERVICES, ISOLATION, AND UNFAVORABLE TERMS OF TRADE (HAVING TO TRADE THROUGH RIVER MIDDLEMEN SINCE NO ROADS HAD BEEN BUILT) HAD REDUCED THE ORIGINAL 700 SETTLERS BY 25 BY 1972. THOSE WHO STUCK IT OUT HAD TROUBLE LATER AS THE GUERRILLA GROUP REBEL ARMED FORCES (FAR) INCREASED ITS PRESENCE AND OPERATIONS IN WESTERN PETEN IN THE LATE 1970'S AND EARLY 1980'S. THE COOPERATIVES WERE OBLIGATED, WILLINGLY OR UNWILLINGLY, TO PROVIDE FOOD AND OTHER SUPPORT TO THE GUERRILLAS. AS IN THE WESTERN HIGHLANDS, THE LOCAL POPULATION GOT CAUGHT UP IN THE ESCALATING VIOLENCE BETWEEN THE GUERRILLAS AND

THE ARMY, WHICH ATTEMPTED TO STAMP OUT THE INSURGENCY. HUNDREDS WERE KILLED IN THE FIGHTING IN THE WESTERN PETEN, AND BY 1982 ALMOST ALL OF THE COOPERATIVES WERE ABANDONED, THE INHABITANTS TAKING REFUGE IN MEXICO OR IN OTHER PARTS OF THE PETEN. ILLUSTRATIVE IS THE CASE OF COOPERATIVE LA TECNICA AGROPECUARIA, ALONG THE USUMACINTA RIVER. ACCORDING TO A PRESS REPORT, ON 26 DECEMBER 1981, ARMED STRANGERS ENTERED THE COOPERATIVE LOOKING TO BUY FOOD. THEY LATER DEMANDED MONEY, FORCED SIX LOCAL MEN TO CARRY BUNDLES OF GOODS, BURNED MANY HOUSES AND THE COOPERATIVE WAREHOUSE, AND THEN EXECUTED THE SIX MEN. AS SOON AS THE INTRUDERS HAD LEFT, THE 100 FAMILIES LIVING THERE ABANDONED THE COOPERATIVE AND FLED TO MEXICO.

CONDITIONS FOR RETURN

5. THE ARMY HAS LARGELY SUCCEEDED IN REDUCING THE GUERRILLA THREAT IN THE PETEN TO THE LACANDON MOUNTAIN S IN THE NORTHWEST, AND TO THE SOUTHWEST CORNER OF THE DEPARTMENT. THE FAR, ESTIMATED AT 150 FIGHTERS IN THE PETEN, IS CAPABLE ONLY OF HARASSMENT, ROAD BLOCKS, AND DUMPING OIL FROM TANKER TRUCKS. THE AREA AROUND THE COOPERATIVES HAS NOT SEEN ANY GUERRILLA ACTIVITY IN RECENT MONTHS, AND A NUMBER OF FAMILIES HAVE RETURNED ON THEIR OWN TO SOME OF THE COOPERATIVES, INCLUDING 17 FAMILIES TO LA TECNICA WITHIN THE LAST TWO YEARS.

6. THE GOG IN 1992 NEGOTIATED AGREEMENTS WITH THE UNITED NATIONS HIGH COMMISSION FOR REFUGEES (UNHCR), AND WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THE ESTIMATED 45,000 GUATEMALAN REFUGEES IN CAMPS IN MEXICO, FOR THE SAFE, VOLUNTARY, AND ORDERLY RETURN OF THE REFUGEES TO GUATEMALA. THE GOG CREATED THE NATIONAL COMMISSION FOR ATTENTION TO THE REPATRIATED, REFUGEES, AND DISPLACED PERSONS (CEAR), TO OVERSEE NEGOTIATIONS WITH REFUGEES AND TO COORDINATE REPATRIATION EFFORTS. CEAR HAS TWO REFUGEE PROCESSING CENTERS: ONE IN HUEHUETENANGO IN THE WESTERN HIGHLANDS (DISCUSSED REF A), AND THE OTHER IN COOPERATIVE BETHEL, ALONG THE USUMACINTA RIVER IN THE PETEN. EMBOFFS VISITED THE CEAR CENTER AT BETHEL IN DECEMBER TO ASSESS ITS CONDITION AND THE REFUGEE SITUATION IN THE PETEN IN

IS THE DEPARTURE POINT FOR REFUGEES RETURNING THROUGH THE PETEN, IS ONLY A FEW KILOMETERS DOWN RIVER ON THE USUMACINTA. A ROAD BUILT SEVERAL YEARS AGO CONNECTS BETHEL WITH THE ROAD FROM SAYAXCHE TO LA LIBERTAD AND THE REST OF THE PETEN. BETHEL NOW HAS REGULAR BUS SERVICE (DRIVING TIME BY FOUR-WHEEL DRIVE VEHICLE FROM BETHEL TO THE PETEN'S CENTRAL URBAN AREA IS ABOUT THREE AND ONE-HALF HOURS). BETHEL CAN ALSO BE REACHED BY RIVER CRAFT VIA THE PASSION AND USUMACINTA RIVERS. THE GUATEMALAN IMMIGRATION SERVICE OPENED A TWO-MAN POST AT BETHEL IN AUGUST 1992 (USING CEAR'S OPEN-AIR DINING ROOM AS AN OFFICE) TO HANDLE IMMIGRATION PROCEEDINGS FOR RETURNING REFUGEES. HOWEVER, IT MAINLY PROCESSES FOREIGN TOURISTS (DUTCH, FRENCH, GERMAN, AMERICAN TOUR GROUPS) HEADING FROM SAYAXCHE TO MEXICO

VIA THE USUMACINTA RIVER. IN NOVEMBER 1992, 43 FOREIGN TOURISTS GOT EXIT STAMPS AT BETHEL, WHILE 18 ENTERED GUATEMALA FROM MEXICO.

8. COMMENT: ECO-TOURISM AND ADVENTURE TOURISM ARE INCREASINGLY IMPORTANT TO THE PETEN AND TO THE BETHEL AREA AS WELL (SEPTEL). THE INCREASED NUMBERS OF TOURISTS IN THE AREA TESTIFIES TO THE IMPROVED SECURITY SITUATION. THE GUATEMALAN TOURISM INSTITUTE (INGUAT) WILL SOON BEGIN CONSTRUCTION OF A LOW-IMPACT, 16-32 ROOM GUEST HOTEL CALLED POSADA MAYA AT BETHEL. THE HOTEL WILL BE PART OF A CHAIN OF POSADAS ALONG THE RUTA MAYA TO PROVIDE LODGING AT MORE REMOTE MAYAN ARCHEOLOGICAL SITES.

9. THE USUMACINTA RIVER IS QUITE BROAD AT BETHEL, BUT IT IS EASILY CROSSED ON THE MANY CANOES AVAILABLE FOR HIRE. LOCAL RESIDENTS (INCLUDING REFUGEES) ON BOTH SIDES OF THE RIVER CROSS FREELY WITHOUT BOTHERING WITH IMMIGRATION FORMALITIES. BETHEL IS ALSO A MAJOR CROSSING POINT FOR ILLEGAL ALIENS, PARTICULARLY CHINESE, ON THEIR WAY TO THE U.S. (SEPTEL).

REFUGEE CENTER: NICE BUT LITTLE USED

10. THE CEAR REFUGEE PROCESSING CENTER AT BETHEL WAS OPENED FEBRUARY 1992. CEAR OFFICIALS TOLD US THE CENTER COULD PROCESS 300 REFUGEES AT A TIME. THE CENTER HAS SEVERAL CEMENT BLOCK BUILDINGS, INCLUDING A DORMITORY WITH BUNK BEDS, A WELL-STOCKED CLINIC, A SCREENED-IN DINING ROOM SEATING 80 PERSONS, A KITCHEN, A WAREHOUSE, AND OFFICES FOR THE STAFF. REFUGEES WISHING TO REPATRIATE MUST FIRST NOTIFY THE MEXICAN COMMITTEE FOR REFUGEE ASSISTANCE (COMAR), WHICH RUNS THE REFUGEE CAMPS IN MEXICO. COMAR NOTIFIES CEAR AND MOVES THEM TO ECHEVARRIA IN MEXICO AND THEN BY CANOE TO BETHEL, ALL UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF THE UNHCR. CEAR THEN HOUSES, FEEDS, AND PROVIDES MEDICAL CARE FOR THE REFUGEES FOR 3-5 DAYS WHILE THEY ARE PROCESSED AND PROVIDED DOCUMENTATION . RETURNING REFUGEES ARE ENTITLED TO FOOD FOR ONE YEAR (GIVEN IN TWO LOTS, ONE INITIALLY AND THE OTHER AFTER SIX MONTHS): CORN, BEANS, COOKING OIL, RICE, FLOUR, CANNED FISH, AND SOMETIMES PORK. THEY ARE ALSO GIVEN AGRICULTURAL TOOLS, 300 POUNDS OF CORN SEEDS, FERTILIZER,

11. SO FAR, THE CEAR CENTER AT BETHEL HAS BEEN LITTLE USED. FROM FEBRUARY TO NOVEMBER 1992, ONLY 27 REFUGEE FAMILIES HAD BEEN PROCESSED, MOST GOING ON TO QUICHE OR HUEHUETENANGO IN THE WESTERN HIGHLANDS. THE

REPATRIATIONS WERE AS FOLLOWS: ON 12 FEBRUARY 13 FAMILIES REPATRIATED FROM THE QUETZAL EDZNA REFUGEE CAMP; ON 13 MAY ONE FAMILY REPATRIATED FROM LOS LAURELES CAMP; ON 9 JUNE 3 FAMILIES REPATRIATED; ON 26 AUGUST 6 FAMILIES REPATRIATED FROM MAYA TECUN CAMP; AND IN NOVEMBER 4 FAMILIES REPATRIATED. NOTE: AVERAGE FAMILY SIZE IS 5.

EARLY RETURNEES

12. A NUMBER OF REFUGEES HAVE RETURNED TO THE COOPERATIVE AREAS IN THE WESTERN PETEN, MOSTLY SPONTANEOUSLY WITHOUT CEAR'S HELP. ONE ARMY COMMANDER ESTIMATED THAT 300 REFUGEES HAD RETURNED SO FAR, AND

THEY WERE NOT CAUSING ANY SECURITY OR POLITICAL PROBLEMS. DURING OUR VISIT TO BETHEL; THE LOCAL ARMY DETACHMENT (TWO PLATOONS) COMMANDER ACCOMPANIED US, AND HE APPEARED TO HAVE GOOD WORKING RELATIONSHIPS WITH CEAR, IMMIGRATION, AND THE LOCAL POPULATION. ON THE OTHER HAND, REFUGEES TRULY FEARING FOR THEIR SAFETY FROM THE ARMY WOULD BE RELUCTANT TO RETURN THROUGH A REFUGEE PROCESSING UNIT THAT HAD AN ADJACENT ARMY BASE.

POTENTIAL PROBLEMS

13. REF A DISCUSSED THE PROBLEMS FACING RETURNING REFUGEES IN HUEHUETENANGO AND QUICHE IN INFRASTRUCTURE NEEDS, LAND AVAILABILITY, AND COMMUNITY ACCEPTANCE.

IN THE PETEN, THE NEAR TOTAL LACK OF BASIC SERVICES AND INFRASTRUCTURE TO THE COOPERATIVES MEANS THAT LIFE WILL CONTINUE TO BE VERY HARD FOR THE INHABITANTS. THE MAJOR CHANGE HAS BEEN THE BUILDING OF THE ROAD TO BETHEL AND THE RECENTLY BUILT MEDICAL FACILITY. LAND IS AVAILABLE, BUT MUCH OF IT LIES IN LEGALLY PROTECTED ENVIRONMENTAL PRESERVES. A GOOD PORTION OF THE LAND IN THE PETEN IS MINERAL-POOR AND STRUCTURALLY WEAK, MAKING IT UNSUITABLE FOR INTENSIVE AGRICULTURE. THE LAND IN THE COOPERATIVES AREA IS RICH IN BIODIVERSITY, AND WOULD BE MORE PRODUCTIVELY UTILIZED FOR ECO-TOURISM AND THE SUSTAINABLE GATHERING OF FOREST PRODUCTS.

14. THOUGH SOME SQUATTERS AND RANCHERS HAVE MOVED ONTO ABANDONED COOPERATIVE LAND, MOST REFUGEES WILL BE ABLE TO RETURN TO THEIR PREVIOUSLY HELD LAND OR FIND NEW PLOTS. HOWEVER, OBTAINING LEGAL TITLE TO LAND WILL BE A BIG PROBLEM DUE TO THE LACK OF A FUNCTIONING LAND REGISTRY SYSTEM. THE NATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR AGRARIAN TRANSFORMATION (INTA) IS CHARGED WITH PROVIDING SETTLERS WITH LEGAL TITLES, BUT IT IS HAMPERED BY INADEQUATE RESOURCES AND NUMEROUS CONFLICTING LAND TITLING MAPS.

15. AS DISCUSSED IN REF B, SOME PETEN REFUGEES MAY DECIDE TO STAY IN MEXICO IF THEY HAVE A BETTER STANDARD OF LIVING THERE. SINCE THE PETEN IS A LAND OF SETTLERS, ALL HAILING FROM SOMEWHERE ELSE, (PARTICULARLY TRUE OF THE COOPERATIVE AREAS), RETURNING REFUGEES SHOULD HAVE NO PROBLEM WITH BEING

TEXT OF TELEGRAM 93GUATEM001790

ACCEPTED BY THE LOCAL COMMUNITY.

FUTURE PROSPECTS

16. FOR REFUGEES RETURNING TO ABANDONED COOPERATIVES, THE FUTURE WILL BE FULL OF HARDSHIPS AS THEY TRY TO REBUILD THEIR LIVES AND FARMS. THOUGH CEAR HAS NO MANDATE TO HELP BEYOND THE INITIAL SUPPLIES AND THE YEAR'S SUPPLY OF FOOD, OTHER GROUPS WILL TRY TO HELP THEM REBUILD. HOWEVER, SOME PLANS AND METHODS COULD BE ENVIRONMENTALLY DESTRUCTIVE, AS WELL AS HARMFUL TO THE COOPERATIVES' LONG TERM ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT.

17. THE INTERAMERICAN INSTITUTE OF AGRICULTURAL SCIENCES (IICA) PLANS TO LOAN USD 740,000 TO SEVEN COOPERATIVES TO FINANCE THE CULTIVATION OF CORN, BEANS, RICE, PEPITORIA (SEED USED IN COOKING), PEANUTS, CHILE PEPPERS, BANANAS, CACAO, AND THE RAISING OF CATTLE. LOANS WILL BE GIVEN FOR UP TO USD 3,600 TO INDIVIDUALS AND USD 19,000 TO COOPERATIVES, AT 10 INTEREST FOR 2 YEARS. THE GOAL IS TO RAISE FAMILY INCOME BY 60. IF SUCCESSFUL WITH THE FIRST SEVEN COOPERATIVES, THE PROGRAM WILL BE EXTENDED TO THE OTHER 14. HOWEVER, QUESTIONS HAVE BEEN RAISED ABOUT THE SOUNDNESS OF THE CONCEPT, THE APPROPRIATENESS OF THAT TYPE OF AGRICULTURE IN THE AREA, AND THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE PROJECT. INSTEAD OF PROSPERITY, THE PROJECT COULD END UP A PUBLIC RELATIONS FIASCO AND LEAVE A LOT OF UNHAPPY AND BROKE FARMERS.

AN AMERICAN FAMILY RETURNS

18. OTHER REFUGEES DRIVEN OFF BY VIOLENCE WHO HAVE RETURNED TO THEIR LAND AND WORK IN THE PETEN ARE THE AMERICAN CITIZEN MENNONITE MISSIONARY FAMILY OF ELAM AND BARBARA STOLTZFUS. THE FAMILY CAME TO THE PASSION RIVER IN 1972 AND DEMONSTRATED MORE EFFECTIVE FARMING TECHNIQUES, PROVIDED MEDICAL AND DENTAL SERVICES,

BUILT A CANNERY AND A SAW MILL, AND FOUNDED SIX CHURCHES IN SURROUNDING COMMUNITIES. DUE IN PART TO THE STOLTZFUS' SUCCESSFUL EFFORTS, THE LOCAL POPULATION WAS UNRECEPTIVE TO THE FAR'S MARXIST PROPAGANDA. THEN, IN JUNE 1990, THE STOLTZFUS' TREATED AND EVACUATED IN THEIR PLANE SEVERAL WOUNDED ARMY SOLDIERS AMBUSHED BY THE GUERRILLAS. IN RETALIATION, ON 31 AUGUST 1990, FAR GUERRILLAS DESTROYED THE FAMILY'S CLINIC, PLANE, CANNERY, AND HOUSE, AND ORDERED THEM TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY ON PAIN OF DEATH, DESPITE THE FACT THAT THE STOLTZFUS' HAD ALSO TREATED WOUNDED GUERRILLAS. IN DECEMBER 1991 THE STOLTZFUS' RETURNED TO THE PASSION RIVER TO REBUILD. AMB AND EMBOFFS VISITED THE FAMILY ON 27 AUGUST 1992 AND SAW THAT RECONSTRUCTION OF HOUSING AND A 20-ROOM CLINIC WAS WELL UNDER WAY. THE NEW CLINIC WAS INAUGURATED ON 19 JANUARY 1993, WITH PRESIDENT SERRANO THE GUEST OF HONOR. USING U.S. VOLUNTEER LABOR AND DONATED FUNDS AND EQUIPMENT, THE STOLTZFUS' PLAN TO REBUILD THE CANNERY AND SAW MILL AND EXPAND AGRICULTURAL DEMONSTRATION PROJECTS. REALIZING THE AUGUST 1990 ATTACK WAS A PUBLIC RELATIONS DISASTER, THE FAR HAS LEFT THE STOLTZFUS FAMILY ALONE TO DATE. KEANE

SUBJECT: MYRNA MACK'S MURDERER CONVICTED

1. (U) SUMMARY: THE MYRNA MACK MURDER TRIAL CLOSED ON FEBRUARY 12 WITH THE CONVICTION AND SENTENCING TO 30 YEARS IMPRISONMENT OF NOEL DE JESUS BETETA ALVAREZ. THE MACK CASE HAS GAINED DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL PUBLICITY AS ONE OF GUATEMALA'S MOST PROMINENT POLITICAL MURDERS OF THE PAST FEW YEARS. END SUMMARY.

BETETA CONVICTED

2. (U) ON FEBRUARY 12, A GUATEMALAN COURT CONVICTED NOEL DE JESUS BETETA ALVAREZ FOR THE SEPTEMBER 11, 1990 MURDER OF GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK CHANG. JUDGE CARMEN ELLGUTER SENTENCED BETETA TO 30 YEARS IMPRISONMENT FOR MURDERING MACK AND ASSAULTING A MINOR IN AN UNRELATED CASE. BETETA APPEALED THE GUILTY VERDICT; ACCUSING PARTY HELEN MACK, MYRNA'S SISTER, FILED AN APPEAL TO PRESERVE THE POSSIBILITY OF ADDITIONAL PROCEEDINGS IF OTHERS INVOLVED IN THE MURDER ARE IDENTIFIED. APPELLATE PROCEDURES SHOULD LAST MANY MONTHS.

LANDMARK

3. (U) THE BETETA CONVICTION IS A LANDMARK. THE MACK MURDER CASE RECEIVED CONSIDERABLE PUBLICITY BOTH IN GUATEMALA AND OVERSEAS BECAUSE MANY BELIEVE THE CASE TYPIFIED GUATEMALA'S IMPUNITY PROBLEM. MYRNA MACK WAS CONDUCTING RESEARCH ON GUATEMALAN DISPLACED PEOPLE AT THE TIME OF HER MURDER. HER SISTER AND OTHER OBSERVERS CLAIM SHE WAS MURDERED TO PREVENT REVELATION OF DETAILS CONCERNING MILITARY ABUSES IN HIGHLAND AREAS AT THE HEIGHT OF GUATEMALA'S CIVIL WAR.

4. (U) IN MARCH 1992, THE LAWYERS COMMITTEE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUED A REPORT PORTRAYING THE MACK MURDER AS "ANOTHER IN A LONG PATTERN OF POLITICAL KILLINGS IN GUATEMALA," WHERE "ARMED FORCES HAVE ENJOYED ALMOST TOTAL IMPUNITY IN THEIR CAMPAIGN AGAINST THOSE TERMED 'SUBVERSIVES.'" THE REPORT ALLEGED OFFICIAL ABUSES THAT INCLUDED: DESTROYING EVIDENCE AT THE CRIME SCENE; PRESENTING A JUDGE WITH ALTERED INVESTIGATION FINDINGS; MURDERING JOSE MERIDA ESCOBAR, THE POLICE INVESTIGATOR ASSIGNED TO INVESTIGATE THE CASE; AND DELAYING TACTICS INVOLVING THE TRANSFER OF A TOTAL OF 11 JUDGES BEFORE ELLGUTER RECEIVED THE CASE. PRIOR TO HIS MURDER, MERIDA ESCOBAR IDENTIFIED BETETA AS A KEY MURDER SUSPECT. BETETA FLED THE COUNTRY, HOWEVER, AND DID NOT RETURN TO GUATEMALA UNTIL DECEMBER 1991 WHEN U.S. AUTHORITIES LOCATED HIM IN CALIFORNIA BASED ON CLUES PROVIDED BY THE EMBASSY.

5. (LOU) BETETA'S CRIMINAL TRIAL BEGAN IN MID-1992. POST REPORTING DESCRIBED DILATORY TRIAL TACTICS, THREATS TO KEY WITNESSES, CHANGED WITNESS TESTIMONY (POSSIBLY AS A RESULT OF UNREPORTED THREATS), AND THE LAST-MINUTE PROMOTION OF ELLGUTER TO A HIGHER COURT. MOST OBSERVERS FEARED ELLGUTER'S PROMOTION WAS A PLOY TO DELAY PROCEEDINGS AND PREVENT HER FROM FINDING BETETA GUILTY.

REACTION

6. (U) THE CONVICTION DOMINATED GUATEMALAN HEADLINES ON FEBRAURY 13. NEWSPAPERS INCLUDED PHOTOGRAPHS OF A WEEPING HELEN MACK, WHO PRAISED THE DECISION BUT SOUGHT ADDITIONAL PROSECUTION OF THE CRIME'S INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS. BETETA GAVE AN INTERVIEW FROM HIS PRISON CELL IN WHICH HE RE-ASSERTED HIS INNOCENCE. THE GOVERNMENT ISSUED A STATEMENT CLAIMING THE VERDICT CONFIRMED THE INDEPENDENCE OF THE JUDICIARY AND EXECUTIVE BRANCH SUPPORT FOR THE JUSTICE SYSTEM. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN REPORTEDLY COMMENTED THAT THE CONVICTION CONFIRMED HIS PREVIOUS PUBLIC STATEMENTS THAT SECURITY FORCES WERE INVOLVED IN THE MACK MURDER. MILITARY SPOKESMAN CAPT. JULIO VON RIVERA REACTED WITH A STATEMENT ASSERTING MILITARY RESPECT FOR THE RULE OF LAW AND DECISIONS OF GUATEMALAN COURTS. THE STATE DEPARTMENT ALSO ISSUED A STATEMENT HAILING THE JUDGE'S DECISION.

MORE THREATS

7. (LOU) NOT ALL THE NEWS WAS GOOD, HOWEVER. AVANSCO, THE RESEARCH ORGANIZATION EMPLOYING MYRNA MACK AT THE TIME OF HER MURDER, REPORTED A DEATH THREAT TO A STAFFER ON FEBRUARY 10, TWO DAYS BEFORE THE VERDICT. THE THREAT WAS REPORTED HOURS AFTER HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER AND VISITING GUATEMALA DESK OFFICER MET WITH HELEN MACK AND THE STAFFER AT THE AVANSCO OFFICE. MACK CONTACTED VARIOUS GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND PRIVATE ORGANIZATIONS SEEKING SUPPORT, PROMPTING NATIONAL POLICEMEN TO POST SECURITY GUARDS AT THE AVANSCO OFFICE. THE EMBASSY ALSO BROUGHT THE THREAT TO THE ATTENTION OF APPROPRIATE AUTHORITIES AND ARRANGED A MEETING BETWEEN MACK AND TOP MILITARY OFFICERS ON FEBRUARY 11.

END OF THE LINE

8. (LOU) COMMENT: THE BETETA CONVICTION -- EVEN THOUGH

LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

5. AFTER GUATEMALAN CHARGES WERE DROPPED IN 1988, THE FAMILIES FILED A PETITION WITH THE INTER-AMERICAN COMMISSION. [redacted] VARIOUS HEARINGS PRODUCED STRONG EVIDENCE IMPLICATING THE TREASURY POLICE SUSPECTS PREVIOUSLY RELEASED. COMMISSION STAFF ATTORNEYS REPORTEDLY TOLD [redacted], AT THE COMMISSION'S NEXT MEETING IN MARCH 1993, THEY WILL RECOMMEND REFERRAL OF THE CASE TO THE INTER-AMERICAN COURT OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN COSTA RICA. [redacted] B1,B6 [redacted] ONLY TWO CASES HAVE BEEN REFERRED TO THE COURT IN THE PAST, ONE FROM HONDURAS AND ANOTHER FROM PERU. IN BOTH CASES, CASE WITNESSES WERE KILLED WHILE PROCEEDINGS WERE UNDERWAY.

EMBASSY RESPONSE

8. AFTER A LENGTHY DISCUSSION OF FACTS AND CIRCUMSTANCES DESCRIBED ABOVE, CONSUL GENERAL ADVISED [redacted] WE CANNOT ISSUE NIV'S TO PERSONS INTENDING TO REMAIN PERMANENTLY IN THE U.S., WITH POSSIBLE PLANS TO REQUEST POLITICAL ASYLUM. WE DISCUSSED OPTIONS OF OTHER DESTINATIONS FOR PERMANENT RESETTLEMENT, BUT [redacted] BOTH FAMILIES WISH TO GO ONLY TO THE U.S. BECAUSE THAT IS THE ONLY PLACE THEY HAVE RELATIVES. WE SUGGESTED [redacted] INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION OF B1,B6 MIGRATION DIRECTOR GUNTHER MUSSIG TO INITIATE ADVANCE PROCESSING. WE ALSO QUESTIONED [redacted] ABOUT THE NATURE OF THE THREATS AGAINST THE TWO FAMILIES AND WHEN THESE THREATS OCCURRED. GIVEN THE FACT BOTH FAMILIES HAVE NOTICED INCREASED SURVEILLANCE AND HARRASSMENT IN THE PAST MONTH, THAT A GRENADE WAS THROWN AGAINST THE HOME OF ONE OF THEM, THAT THE OAS COURT WILL BE HEARING THE CASE IN MARCH OR SOON THEREAFTER, AND THAT WITNESSES IN THE ONLY OTHER TWO CASES EVER BEFORE THAT COURT WERE MURDERED DURING COURT PROCEEDINGS, THE EMBASSY BELIEVES THESE FAMILIES ARE IN IMMEDIATE DANGER. HOWEVER, WE HAVE NOT INTERVIEWED THEM PERSONALLY, NOR HAVE WE SEEN DOCUMENTS WHICH [redacted] ESTABLISH THEIR WELL-FOUNDED FEAR B1,B6 OF PERSECUTION.

9. ACTION REQUEST: POST REQUESTS A VISIT BY INS REFUGEE PROCESSING PERSONNEL AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. AS INS OFFICER ADAMS IS CURRENTLY IN EL SALVADOR ATTENDING THE ANTI-FRAUD CONFERENCE, WOULD IT BE POSSIBLE FOR HIM TO STOP HALF-DAY IN GUATEMALA ON HIS RETURN TO MEXICO TO INTERVIEW THE TWO PRINCIPAL WITNESSES? PLEASE ADVISE ASAP SO THAT WE CAN MAKE THE NECESSARY ARRANGEMENTS ON THIS END.

SUBJECT: COLOMBIAN VIOLENCE -- IT'S "EVERYONE VS. EVERYONE" IN A DOG-EAT-DOG WORLD

REF: 91 BOGOTA 17238

UNCLASSIFIED

1. SUMMARY: COLOMBIAN VIOLENCE HAS GROWN SO COMPLEX THAT IT'S BEEN CHARACTERIZED AS "EVERYONE AGAINST EVERYONE." MANY OF THE PERPETRATORS, VICTIMS, TACTICS AND MOTIVES CHANGE FROM REGIONX TO REGION. THE VIOLENT IN COLOMBIA TEND TO PREY ON ONE ANOTHER, MAKING THE COUNTRY A DOG-EAT-DOG WORLD, AND THE VIOLENCE TENDS TO GROW EXPONENTIALLY AS THE VICTIMS -- INCLUDING LANDOWNERS, BUSINESSMEN AND WEALTHY TRAFFICKERS -- TAKE UP ARMS IN SELF DEFENSE. THE GAVIRIA ADMINISTRATION REALIZES THAT A STRONG CAUSE OF THE VIOLENCE IS THE CONTINUING HISTORICAL WEAKNESS OF THE STATE, ESPECIALLY THE JUSTICE SYSTEM AND THE SECURITY FORCES. THE GOVERNMENT IS CONTINUING MAJOR EFFORTS TO BEEF UP THOSE AREAS. THE STATE'S INABILITY TO PUNISH THE PERPETRATORS IS A MAJOR PROBLEM. THAT HISTORICAL IMPUNITY AND THE COUNTRY'S SOCIAL ILLS ARE A DEADLY COMBINATION. ACCORDING TO DEFENSE MINISTER RAFAEL PARDO, DESPITE THE FACT THAT 70 PERCENT OF THE POPULATION LIVES IN CITIES, THE MAJORITY OF THE VIOLENCE OCCURS IN RURAL AREAS, WHERE IN MANY CASES THERE'S NO PERMANENT POLICE PRESENCE. ROUNDING OUT THE MIX OF COLOMBIA'S THREE PRINCIPAL WARRING ADVERSARIES -- THE STATE, THE GUERRILLAS AND NARCO-TRAFFICKERS -- ARE COMMON CRIMINALS. STATISTICS SHOW THAT, WHILE THE INSURGENTS AND NARCOS ARE CLEARLY THE MORE DANGEROUS AND LETHAL AND RECEIVE THE MOST ATTENTION, COMMON CRIME AFFECTS THE POPULATION MUCH MORE. THE BOTTOM LINE IS THAT INSTITUTIONAL AND SOCIETAL CHANGE IS REQUIRED; WITHOUT IT, PEACE WITH THE GUERRILLAS AND THE DEMISE OF PABLO ESCOBAR WON'T EVEN COME CLOSE TO ENDING THE BLOODLETTING. END SUMMARY.

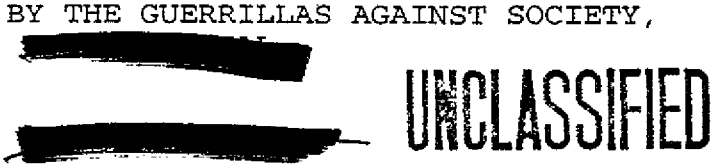
THE DIFFERENT TYPES OF VIOLENCE IN COLOMBIA

2. FOLLOWING IS A LESS-THAN-ALL-INCLUSIVE LIST OF VARIOUS TYPES OF VIOLENCE COMMON TO COLOMBIA AT THIS TIME:

-- A VIOLENT POLITICAL SCENE. THE CHRONIC, PERPETUAL (SINCE 1949) POLITICAL WAR BETWEEN THE INSURGENCY AND THE STATE AND ITS SECURITY FORCES.

-- GUERRILLAS WHO OPERATE AS LOCAL WARLORDS. THE VIOLENCE PERPETRATED BY THE GUERRILLAS AGAINST SOCIETY,



MUCH OF WHICH IS ECONOMIC IN NATURE (E.G., RANSOM KIDNAPPINGS AND EXTORTION) AND SERVES AS A MEANS OF RAISING FUNDS FOR THE SELF-SUFFICIENT INSURGENCY.

-- THE GUERRILLAS' TERRORISM AGAINST THE ECONOMIC AND TRANSPORTATION INFRASTRUCTURE, I.E., SABOTAGE OF PETROLEUM INSTALLATIONS, ENERGY AND COMMUNICATIONS TOWERS, BRIDGES, ETC.

-- VIOLENCE BY ORGANIZED CRIME (MAFIAS) AGAINST POLITICIANS, JUDICIAL OFFICIALS, POLICE, SOLDIERS, JOURNALISTS, THE ELITES AND SOMETIMES RANDOMLY AGAINST THE GENERAL PUBLIC. MAFIOSOS ATTACK ALL THESE GROUPS TO INTIMIDATE, EXACT REVENGE OR TO ACHIEVE IMPUNITY, WHETHER TO ESCAPE PUNISHMENT FOR A SPECIFIC CRIME OR TO AFFECT JUDICIAL OR POLICY DECISIONS AT THE HIGHEST LEVELS OF GOVERNMENT. WHILE THIS TYPE OF VIOLENCE IS MOSTLY ASSOCIATED WITH THE "NARCO-TERRORISM" OF THE LEADING TRAFFICKING ORGANIZATIONS, IT ALSO HAS BEEN PERPETRATED, IF NOT ON THE SAME SCALE, BY MUCH SMALLER CRIMINAL ORGANIZATIONS, E.G., THE "GASOLINE CARTEL," WHICH SURREPTITIOUSLY TAPS ECOPETROL'S PIPELINES.

-- THE INTERNECINE, DISCIPLINARY AND PARA-JUDICIAL VIOLENCE COMMON TO THE UNDERWORLD AT ALL LEVELS, WHICH INCLUDES MURDER, TORTURE, EXTORTION AND KIDNAPPING.

-- VIOLENT ACTS, INCLUDING HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES, PERPETRATED BY OVERZEALOUS SECURITY FORCE PERSONNEL, USUALLY LINKED TO COUNTER-INSURGENCY EFFORTS. THIS IS SOMETIMES ACCIDENTAL (E.G., CAMPESINOS LITERALLY OR FIGURATIVELY CAUGHT IN THE CROSS FIRE), BUT SOMETIMES INTENTIONAL (E.G., THE TORTURE AND ASSASSINATION OF GUERRILLA-LINKED POLITICAL AND SOCIAL ACTIVISTS, INCLUDING TRADE UNIONISTS).

-- THE VIOLENCE OF SELF-DEFENSE AND PARAMILITARY GROUPS. THESE ARE USUALLY SMALL BUT WELL-ARMED PRIVATE ARMIES OWNED AND OPERATED MOSTLY IN RURAL AREAS BY LARGE LANDOWNERS, INCLUDING NARCOS. THOSE GROUPS ARE OFTEN USED BY LARGE LANDHOLDERS AS A WEAPON IN LAND DISPUTES AGAINST CAMPESINOS AND INDIANS. THE TERM PARAMILITARY GROUPS

BECAME POPULAR IN THE 1980S TO REFER TO SELF-DEFENSE GROUPS WITH LINKS TO THE SECURITY FORCES.

-- THE "SOCIAL CLEANING" KILLINGS BY SMALL, ANONYMOUS, ARMED BANDS (SOMETIMES COMPOSED OF POLICE OFFICERS) MOSTLY AGAINST INDIGENTS AND STREET KIDS, BUT ALSO AGAINST LOW-LEVEL DRUG VENDORS, ADDICTS, HOMOSEXUALS, PROSTITUTES AND OTHER "UNDESIRABLES." TRUE "HITMEN," THEY ARE COLD BLOODED MURDERERS WHO WILL TAKE ON ANY CONTRACT IF THE PRICE IS RIGHT.

-- THE POPULAR MILITIAS, I.E., THE NEW-STYLE URBAN GUERRILLA FRONTS CREATED BY THE FARC, ELN, EPL AND M-19 IN LOWER-CLASS NEIGHBORHOODS IN AN ATTEMPT TO DEVELOP AN URBAN INFRASTRUCTURE. THE MILITIAS, WHICH VIRTUALLY CONTROL SOME BARRIOS, OPERATE AS VIGILANTE GROUPS IN THEIR OWN NEIGHBORHOODS. PARTICULARLY IN MEDELLIN, THEY HAVE FOUGHT A WAR TO THE DEATH WITH THE TRAFFICKING-SYMBIOTIC BANDS OF YOUNG SICARIOS AND OTHER HOODLUMS THAT HAVE PREYED ON THE RESIDENTS FOR DECADES. THEY ALSO ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR "CLEANUP" KILLINGS OF DEALERS, ADDICTS, RAPISTS AND OTHER CRIMINAL ELEMENTS. FOR FUNDING, THE MILITIAS CLASSICALLY EXTORT LOCAL BUSINESSES FOR PROTECTION MONEY. 3. THE ABOVE PRESENTS A TRULY FRIGHTENING PICTURE OF THE VIOLENCE IN THIS COUNTRY. A SIMPLE READING COULD LEAD ONE TO CONCLUDE THAT THE COUNTRY IS OUT OF CONTROL. THAT'S FAR FROM TRUE. COLOMBIA IS A PROSPEROUS, FUNCTIONING

DEMOCRACY THAT TRAGICALLY SEEMS TO HAVE LEARNED TO LIVE WITH A VERY HIGH LEVEL OF MAYHEM. COLOMBIA'S ELITE IS PRO-AMERICAN AND SOPHISTICATED. THE MIDDLE CLASS REPRESENTS AN INDUSTRIOUS, TRAINED WORK FORCE. FOREIGN BUSINESSES AND FOREIGN INVESTMENT ARE WELCOMED. THE ECONOMY IS ROBUST AND CONSERVATIVELY MANAGED, ALTHOUGH AS IN OTHER LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES, THERE IS A DESPERATELY POOR CLASS. BOGOTA, "THE ATHENS OF SOUTH AMERICA," IS A BEAUTIFUL CLEAN CITY WITH SOME OF LATIN AMERICA'S BEST

UNIVERSITIES. THIS IS NOT BEIRUT, WHERE WAR RAGED IN THE STREETS. IT IS A COSMOPOLITAN PLACE WHERE DEATH IN MANY FORMS LURKS CONSTANTLY FOR THE UNWARY OR UNPROTECTED.

4. A FACTOR MARKING THE EVOLUTION OF COLOMBIAN VIOLENCE SINCE THE 1950S IS THAT IT HAS BECOME MORE MULTIPLE AND COMPLEX; TO THE POINT WHERE IT'S MORE APPROPRIATE TO SPEAK IN THE PLURAL, I.E., OF THE "VIOLENCES." THE VIOLENT AND THEIR VICTIMS HAVE BECOME SO INTERTWINED, THE ALLIANCES SO SHIFTING THAT IT HAS BEEN SAID THAT THE VIOLENCE HAS QEACHED THE POINT OF BEING "EVERYONE AGAINST EVERYONE." ANOTHER FACTOR IS THE REGIONAL NATURE OF MUCH OF THE BLOODLETTING. BECAUSE COLOMBIA IS A COLLAGE OF REGIONS,

MANY MANIFESTATIONS OF THE VIOLENCE ARE FAR MORE PROMINENT IN SOME AREAS OF THE COUNTRY THAN IN OTHERS, GIVING A REGIONAL "TWIST" THAT COMPLICATES ANY ANALYSIS.

5. PART OF THE COMPLEXITY OF THE SCENE IS THAT THE VARIOUS TYPES OF VIOLENCE AND THEIR PERPETRATORS REFUSE TO REMAIN SEPARATE AND EASILY CATEGORIZED. THEY TEND TO COMPLEMENT EACH OTHER, CONVERGE AND COMBINE, AS WELL AS CONFLICT. MEANWHILE, VIOLENCE BEGETS VIOLENCE, LEADING TO THE FORMATION OF PRIVATE JUSTICE GROUPS SUCH AS THE RURAL/RIGHTIST SELF-DEFENSE/PARAMILITARY GROUPS AND THE URBAN/LEFTIST POPULAR MILITIAS WHO CARRY OUT "VIOLENCE AGAINST OTHER VIOLENCE." ANOTHER MANIFESTATION OF THE COMPLEX LINKAGES ARE THE INTERRELATIONSHIPS BETWEEN

[redacted] UNCLASSIFIED

POLITICAL VIOLENCE AND OTHER TYPES, E.G., THE DUAL INSURGENT AND VIGILANTE ROLES OF URBAN POPULAR MILITIAS.

THE THREE MAIN ADVERSARIES: STATE, GUERRILLAS, NARCOS

6. COLOMBIA'S THREE PRINCIPAL WARRING ADVERSARIES AND THEIR APPENDAGES ARE THE STATE AND ITS SECURITY FORCES, THE GUERRILLAS AND THEIR POPULAR MILITIAS, AND NARCO-TRAFFICKERS AND THEIR BANDS OF SICARIOS (AS WELL AS THE LINKS THAT BOTH THE SECURITY FORCES AND NARCOS HAVE TO PARAMILITARY GROUPS). THE MAIN ADVERSARIES HAVE RELATIONSHIPS OF ACCOMMODATION AND CONFRONTATION WITH EACH OF OTHERS, DEPENDING ON THE REGION AND TIME. ADDED TO THAT MIX IS DRUG MONEY, WHICH HAS HAD A TREMENDOUSLY CORRUPTING INFLUENCE ON EVERYONE IT HAS TOUCHED, E.G., PARAMILITARY GROUPS AND THE GUERRILLAS (INCLUDING APPARENTLY SOME POPULAR MILITIAS). ROUNDING OUT THE PICTURE ARE COMMON CRIMINALS WHO OFTEN GRADUATE INTO MORE ORGANIZED FORMS OF VIOLENCE BY JOINING BANDS OF SICARIOS OR POPULAR MILITIAS.

TAKING UP ARMS IN SELF DEFENSE

7. MUCH OF THE VIOLENCE RESULTS FROM WHAT COLOMBIANS SEE AS THE LEGITIMATE RIGHT TO SELF DEFENSE. COLOMBIA, ESPECIALLY IN RURAL AREAS AND FOR THOSE OPERATING OUTSIDE THE LAW, IS A DOG-EAT-DOG WORLD. COLOMBIA'S VIOLENT ACTORS PREY ON ONE ANOTHER. IN THE EARLY 1980S, THE KINGPINS OF THE MEDELLIN CARTEL HELPED FORM THE PARAMILITARY GROUP, "MAS" ("DEATH TO KIDNAPPERS") AFTER THE M-19 GUERRILLA GROUP KIDNAPPED FABIO OCHOA'S

DAUGHTER. PABLO ESCOBAR'S FATHER WAS ONCE KIDNAPPED BY COMMON CRIMINALS. LEADING TRAFFICKER AND PARAMILITARY LEADER LEONIDAS VARGAS VARGAS (ARRESTED JANUARY 6) HAS BEEN KIDNAPPED TWICE, FIRST BY FARC GUERRILLAS, THEN BY THE M-19. FARC GUERRILLAS IN META DEPARTMENT KIDNAPPED EMERALD KING AND PARAMILITARY LEADER VICTOR CARRANZA'S BROTHER IN 1992. THE FARC'S 6TH FRONT ABDUCTED THE SISTER OF CALI CARTEL KINGPIN JOSE SANTACRUZ LONDONO IN CAUCA IN SEPTEMBER. IT'S NO COINCIDENCE THAT THE OCHOAS, ESCOBAR, VARGAS AND CARRANZA ALL HAVE TURNED TO PARAMILITARY GROUPS IN SELF DEFENSE AND USED THEM TO RETALIATE AGAINST THEIR ENEMIES; WITH BLOODY RESULTS.

UNDERSIZED SECURITY FORCES PROVIDE LITTLE SECURITY

8. THE GAVIRIA ADMINISTRATION AGREES WITH PRACTICALLY ALL OBSERVATIONS THAT A STRONG UNDERLYING CAUSE OF THE VIOLENCE IS THE CONTINUING HISTORICAL WEAKNESS OF THE STATE AND ITS SECURITY FORCES. THE VIOLENCE IS ALL PERVASIVE AND THE GOVERNMENT CAN'T STOP IT. IT IS A GIVEN IN COLOMBIA, A COLLAGE OF REGIONS SEPARATED BY MOUNTAINS, THAT WHERE THE GOVERNMENT PRESENCE IS WEAK OR NON-EXISTENT, LOCAL VIOLENCE SUPPLANTS THE STATE, LEADING OTHERS TO TAKE UP ARMS IN DEFENSE IN A SPIRAL OF MAYHEM AND INSECURITY.

9. COLOMBIA LONG HAS HAD A RELATIVELY SMALL SECURITY FORCE (IN COMPARISON TO OTHER LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES) FOR ITS POPULATION AND TOPOGRAPHY. HISTORICALLY, COLOMBIA'S UNDERSIZED ARMED FORCES HAVEN'T HAD THE CAPACITY TO CONTROL SUBVERSIVE OR OUTLAW GROUPS EVEN WHEN THEY LACKED THE TREMENDOUS FINANCIAL RESOURCES OF TODAY'S TRAFFICKERS AND GUERRILLAS. THE GAVIRIA ADMINISTRATION REALIZES THE PROBLEM, AND HAS CONTINUED TO INCREASE THE NUMBER OF MEN AND WOMEN IN UNIFORM, AS WELL AS THE ARMY'S COUNTER-INSURGENCY FORCES. THEY ALSO ARE SYSTEMATICALLY EXPANDING GOVERNMENT CONTROL INTO ISOLATED AND UNDERPOPULATED PARTS OF THE NATIONAL TERRITORY BY MEANS OF INCREASED SECURITY-FORCE PRESENCE.

IMPUNITY AND A LARGE POOR CLASS: A DEADLY DUO

10. ONE MANIFESTATION OF THE WEAKNESS OF THE STATE THAT CONTRIBUTES TO THE VIOLENCE IS THE UBIQUITUOUS IMPUNITY THAT REIGNS IN THE COUNTRY, WHERE ALMOST NO ONE BELIEVES THE GOVERNMENT CAN GUARANTEE HIS OR HER SECURITY OR THAT THE CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM WILL PUNISH AN OFFENDER. A LEADING COLOMBIAN VIOLENTOLOGIST ONCE TOLD POLOFF THAT AFTER HIS APARTMENT WAS BURGLARIZED, IT DIDN'T EVEN CROSS HIS MIND TO REPORT THE CRIME TO THE POLICE. THE IMPUNITY, BESIDES ENTICING MORE TO TURN TO CRIME, LEADS MANY TO TURN TO VIOLENT PRIVATE-JUSTICE.

11. IMPUNITY AND A CHRONICALLY POOR CLASS ARE A DEADLY COMBINATION. ANOTHER VIOLENTOLOGIST HAS TOLD POLOFF THAT THE INSURGENCY, NARCO-TRAFFICKING, RANSOM KIDNAPPING AND COMMON CRIME ARE ALL CAMPESINO RESPONSES TO THE SAME PROBLEM, RURAL UNEMPLOYMENT. HE JUST AS WELL COULD HAVE EXTENDED HIS VISION TO THE CITIES, WHERE UNEMPLOYMENT ALSO IS A MAJOR PROBLEM. AS WE PREVIOUSLY HAVE REPORTED, THE LINE BETWEEN ARCH-ENEMY NARCO SICARIOS AND GUERRILLA MILITIAMEN IS A FINE ONE. THE TWO GROW UP AND LIVE IN THE SAME POOR BARRIOS, AND THE ACQUISITION OF MONEY IS A DRIVING FORCE; BOTH NARCO-TRAFFICKERS AND GUERRILLA GROUPS PAY A SALARY. INDEED, COLOMBIAN GUERRILLA GROUPS EARN A SUBSTANTIAL PORTION OF THEIR LIVELIHOOD FROM DRUGS. A BOGOTA NEWSPAPER COLUMNIST RECENTLY LABELED ALL OF

MOST VIOLENCE OCCURS IN RURAL AREAS

12. DESPITE THE FACT THAT 70 PERCENT OF THE POPULATION LIVES IN URBAN AREAS, THE GOVERNMENT SAYS THE MAJORITY OF VIOLENCE OCCURS IN RURAL AREAS. (FYI: HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS PERSISTENTLY SAY THAT CAMPESINOS ARE THE MAIN VICTIMS OF THE VIOLENCE.) DEFENSE MINISTER RAFAEL PARDO, WHO HAS STUDIED COLOMBIA'S VIOLENCE AND IS AN EXPERT ON THE PROBLEM, HAS SAID THAT MORE THAN 50 PERCENT OF HOMICIDES AND KIDNAPPINGS AND MORE THAN 70 PERCENT OF TERRORIST ACTS TAKE PLACE IN RURAL AREAS. "IT IS RURAL COLOMBIA THAT WITHOUT A DOUBT IS THE PRINCIPAL SCENE OF THE VIOLENCE AND INSECURITY IN COLOMBIA," PARDO SAID.

13. OF COURSE AN INFLUENCE ON THE RURAL LAWLESSNESS IS THE ABSENCE OF A PERMANENT SECURITY-FORCE PRESENCE IN MANY AREAS. IF THERE'S ONE REALITY SHARED BY COLOMBIA'S VARIOUS REGIONS, IT IS THE ABSENCE OF THE GOVERNMENT IN

NRC'S OFFICE OF INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS. THE PRIMARY PURPOSE OF THE VISIT HAS TO DISCUSS WORK IN THE AREA OF RISK-BASED REGULATION BEING DONE AT THE MEXICAN FEDERAL COMMISSION OF ELECTRICITY (CFE) AND THE NATIONAL COMMISSION ON NUCLEAR SECURITY AND SAFEGUARDS (CNSNS). THE VISIT ALSO INCLUDED DISCUSSION OF GENERAL NUCLEAR SAFETY MATTERS, INCLUDING EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS, AND NRC/CNSNS COOPERATION UNDER THEIR NUCLEAR TECHNICAL EXCHANGE ARRANGEMENT. END SUMMARY.

2, ON JANUARY 26, COMMISSIONER CURTISS MET WITH CFE OFFICIALS AND TOURED THE LAGUNA VERDE NUCLEAR POWER PLANT. HE ALSO VISITED THE TRAINING SIMULATOR (BUILT BY THE MEXICAN INSTITUTE FOR ELECTRICAL RESEARCH) AND THE PLANT'S PUBLIC INFORMATION CENTER.

3. THE PLANT MANAGER, RAFAEL FERNANDEZ DE LA GARZA, ALONG WITH HIS STAFF, DISCUSSED THE STATUS OF LAGUNA VERDE AND CFE'S ORGANIZATION. TRAINING AND WASTE HANDLING WERE ALSO SUBJECTS OF DISCUSSION. EVERADO ORTEGA, HEAD OF LICENSING AND NUCLEAR SAFETY AT THE PLANT, GAVE A SEPARATE PRESENTATION ON EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS. ALONG WITH CNSNS, CFE OFFICIALLY REPORTS TO THE GOM SECRETARY OF ENERGY, MINES AND PARASTATAL INDUSTRIES (SEMIP). HOWEVER, ALONG WITH PEMEX (THE MEXICAN NATIONAL PETROLEUM COMPANY), CFE HAS CABINET STATUS AND CAN ALSO REPORT DIRECTLY TO THE PRESIDENT. CFE HAS MORE THAN 100,000 EMPLOYEES, INCLUDING ITS NUCLEAR, HYDRO AND OTHER COMPONENTS, AND HAS A BUDGET LARGER THAN MOST MEXICAN STATES.

UNCLASSIFIED

4. LAGUNA VERDE UNIT I (654 MWE) IS THE LARGEST UNIT IN THE CFE SYSTEM. IT UNDERWENT REFUELING LAST FALL AND IS NOW OPERATING AT 100 PERCENT POWER. ON DECEMBER 20, 1992, THE REACTOR EXPERIENCED A SCRAM WHILE OPERATING AT 100 PERCENT POWER. THIS HAS CAUSED BY A DECREASE IN FEEDWATER FLOW. CNSNS OFFICIALS TOLD THE VISITING NRC GROUP THAT THE EVENT HAS NOT REPORTED TO THE IAEA (IRS) BECAUSE CNSNS ONLY REPORTS EVENTS ON A SCALE (INES) OF THREE OR HIGHER TO THE AGENCY. THIS EVENT HAS RATED BETWEEN ZERO AND ONE. OVERALL, THE LAGUNA VERDE FACILITY APPEARED TO BE EXCEPTIONALLY WELL MAINTAINED. PLANT HOUSEKEEPING PRACTICES, WHICH SERVE TO LIMIT RADIOACTIVE CONTAMINATION WITHIN THE PLANT, WERE EXEMPLARY.

5. LAGUNA VERDE UNIT II APPEARS TO BE ON SCHEDULE FOR COMPLETION BY LATE 1994 OR EARLY 1995. HYDROTESTING WAS COMPPLETED EARLY AND FUEL LOADING MAY BEGIN DURING THE FIRST HALF OF NEXT YEAR. ELECTION YEAR CONSIDERATIONS MIGHT, HOWEVER, SLOW THIS SCHEDULE DOWN SOMEWHAT. THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION WILL TAKE PLACE IN AUGUST OF 1994, AND NUCLEAR ENERGY COULD BECOME AN ISSUE.

6. MEXICAN SENSITIVITIES OVER NUCLEAR POWER WERE ILLUSTRATED BY AN ARTICLE THAT APPEARED IN THE MEXICAN MAGAZINE "PROCESO" SHORTLY BEFORE COMMISSIONER CURTISS' VISIT. ACCORDING TO MR. FERNANDEZ, THE ARTICLE, WHICH SUGGESTED THAT THERE ARE SERIOUS DEFECTS IN THE LAGUNA VERDE REACTOR, CONTAINED SOME FACTS BUT PRESENTED THEM IN A MISLEADING WAY.

7. LAGUNA VERDE'S SIMULATOR, WHICH WAS DOWN FOR MAINTENANCE, WAS BUILT BY THE IIE. CFE HAD PREVIOUSLY INDICATED A NEED FOR NRC ASSISTANCE IN MAKING THE SIMULATOR OPERATE. HOWEVER, AFTER A REVIEW BY NRC TECHNICAL STAFF, IT WAS DETERMINED THAT NRC ASSISTANCE WAS NOT APPROPRIATE SINCE NRC ASSISTANCE AND REVIEW COULD POSSIBLY CONSTRUED AS ENDORSEMENT OF THE QUALITY OF THE SIMULATOR.

THAT LAGUNA VERDE UNIT I WAS OPERATING WELL AND WAS ON A PAR WITH OTHER PLANTS HE HAS VISITED IN THE U.S., FRANCE, SWEDEN, ETC. HE ALSO MENTIONED NRC'S AVAILABILITY FOR FURTHER COOPERATION ON THE CONSTRUCTION OF LAGUNA VERDE UNIT II.

9. ON JANUARY 27, COMMISSIONER CURTISS MET WITH ING. MIGUEL MEDINA VAILLARD, DIRECTOR GENERAL OF CNSNS, AND

UNCLASSIFIED

OTHER MEXICAN NUCLEAR OFFICIALS. DURING A SEPARATE MEETING WITH MEDINA, COMMISSIONER CURTISS NOTED THAT HE: (1) HAD HELD DETAILED AND USEFUL DISCUSSIONS WITH MR. FERNANDEZ AND HIS STAFF; (2) WAS PLEASED WITH THE DETAILED KNOWLEDGE OF THE CFE STAFF; AND, (3) CONSIDERED TRAINING ON THE CFE SIMULATOR OF 140 HOURS COMPARABLE TO THEQHIGH END OF THE SPECTRUM IN U.S. PLANTS. COMMISSIONER CURTISS EXPRESSED SOME CONCERN ABOUT THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN THE TRAINING DEPARTMENT AND THE OPERATIONS DEPARTMENT AND THE LIMITED EXCHANGE OF PERSONNEL BETWEEN THE TWO.

10. MEDINA TOLD CURTISS THAT REGULATORS TEND TO BE LESS OPTIMISTIC THAN THE UTILITY WITH RESPECT TO THE TIMING FOR COMPLETION OF LAGUNA VERDE UNIT II. HE SAID THAT FUEL LOADING SHOULD GO FORWARD ABOUT A YEAR FROM NOW, BUT OBSERVED THAT POLITICS MAY BECOME INVOLVED AND CAUSE A DELAY. HE ALSO NOTED THAT THE "PROCESO" ARTICLE COULD HAVE SOME IMPACT.

11. COMMISSIONER CURTISS NOTED THAT BILL VESELEY'S WORK IN THE AREA OF RISK-BASED REGULATION HAS BEEN OF INTEREST TO NRC, AS IS THE UPCOMING WORKSHOP ON THE SUBJECT TO BE HELD IN VERACRUZ. HE ALSO STATED THAT A HIGH-LEVEL DELEGATION WOULD BE COMING TO MEXQCO TO DISCUSS RISK-BASED REGULATION. FOLLOWING THE SEPARATE MEETING WITH ING. MEDINA, COMMISIONER CURQISS HELD DISCUSSIONS WITH CFE AND CNSNS STAFF ON THE SUBJECT OF RISK-BASED REGULATION.

12. LATER THAT DAY, COMMISSIONER CURTISS MET WITH THE RECENTLY APPOINTED GOM UNDERSECRETARY FOR ENERGY, DR. ROGELIO GASCA NERI. THEIR CONVERSATION WAS BRIEF AND INFORMAL AND FOCUSED ON THE PROSPECTS FOR NUCLEAR ENERGY IN THE U.S. AND MEXICO.

13. COMMISSIONER CURTISS ALSO MET WITH AMEMBASSY MEXICO ACTING DCM TED WILKINSON TO BRIEF HIM ON HIS VISIT.

14. NRC COMMENT: THE EXCELLENT PLANNING AND ASSISTANCE PROVIDED BY THE EMBASSY MEXICO CITY SCIENCE OFFICE, PARTICULARLY THAT OF SCIENCE ATTACHE STEVE TAQLOR WHO ACCOMPANIED THE NRC GROUP TO ITS MEXICO CITY MEETINGS, CONTRIBUTED SIGNIFICANTLY TO THE SUCCESS OF THIS VISIT AND IS GREATLY APPRECIATED. END NRC COMMENT. NEGROPONTE

20. MENCHU TUM, RIGOBERTA: 1992 NOBEL PEACE PRIZE WINNER RIGOBERTA MENCHU TUM WAS BORN IN A RURAL QUICHE VILLAGE IN 1959. SHE WORKED DURING HER YOUTH AS A MIGRANT FARM WORKER AND AS A MAID IN GUATEMALA CITY. SHE HAS NO FORMAL EDUCATION, AND DID NOT LEARN SPANISH UNTIL SHE WAS 19. HER AUTOBIOGRAPHY, "I, RIGOBERTA," PUBISHED IN 1983, WAS WRITTEN BY VENEZUELAN WRITER ELIZABETH BURGOS-DEBRAY BASED ON TAPE-RECORDED INTERVIEWS DURING A WEEKLONG VISIT TO PARIS. THE BOOK RECOUNTS HOW GUATEMALA'S CIVIL WAR PROMPTED MENCHU TO BECOME ACTIVE IN INDIGENOUS AND HUMAN RIGHTS CAUSES. HER FATHER, VICENTE MENCHU, WAS AMONG COMMITTEE OF PEASANT UNITY (CUC) LEADERS KILLED DURING THE 1980 TAKEOVER OF THE SPANISH EMBASSY IN GUATEMALA. SHE FLED TO MEXICO IN 1982 AFTER HER MOTHER AND SEVERAL BROTHERS WERE KILLED. IN SEPTEMBER 1982, SHE FOUNDED THE UNITED REPRESENTATIVES OF THE GUATEMALAN OPPOSITION (RUOG), AN INTERNATIONAL DISSIDENT GROUP. SINCE DEPARTING GUATEMALA, SHE HAS RETURNED SEVERAL TIMES, BUT ONLY FOR BRIEF PERIODS OF TIME. CONAVIGUA USUALLY COORDINATES HER VISITS. MENCHU HAS BECOME PROMINENT INTERNATIONALLY AS A SPOKESPERSON ON INDIGENOUS ISSUES, BUT HER SUPPORT WITHIN GUATEMALA'S 21 INDIGENOUS ETHNIC GROUPS IS UNCLEAR. MANY SPECULATE THAT SHE MAY RUN FOR POLITICAL OFFICE IN THE 1995 GENERAL ELECTION, BUT SHE IS TOO YOUNG TO QUALIFY AS A CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT.

CINCSO FOR POLAD

E.O. 12356: DECL:OADR
TAGS: PHUM, PGOV, GT
SUBJECT: GUATEMALAN ARMY PRISONERS: VOLUNTARY DEFECTORS OR ILLEGAL CAPTIVES?

1. (U) SUMMARY: TWO EX-GUERRILLAS RECENTLY ACCUSED GUATEMALAN MILITARY INTELLIGENCE OF HOLDING OTHER FORMER REBELS IN CLANDESTINE PRISONS. THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT DENIED THOSE CLAIMS ON FEBRUARY 24, BUT ADMITTED ON FEBRUARY 26 THAT 3 CAPTURED EX-GUERRILLAS ARE CURRENTLY SERVING IN ARMY RANKS. THE ARMY'S CLAIM THAT THE EX-REBELS JOINED THE ARMY VOLUNTARILY HAS NOT BEEN VERIFIED INDEPENDENTLY. THE DISPUTE IS A PROPAGANDA BACKDROP TO UNHRC MEETINGS NOW UNDERWAY IN GENEVA. END SUMMARY.

GUERRILLA ACCUSATIONS

2. (U) UNITED NATIONS HUMAN RIGHTS COMMITTEE (UNHRC) MEETINGS IN GENEVA HAVE SPARKED CONTROVERSY IN GUATEMALA OVER THE ALLEGED EXISTENCE OF CLANDESTINE ARMY PRISONS. ACCORDING TO GUATEMALAN PRESS REPORTS, FORMER GUATEMALAN GUERRILLAS SANTIAGO CABRERA LOPEZ AND JAIME ADALTO AGUSTIN RECINOS TESTIFIED BEFORE THE UNHRC THAT GUATEMALAN MILITARY INTELLIGENCE ILLEGALLY DETAINED THEM AND OTHER CAPTURED GUERRILLAS IN CLANDESTINE MILITARY PRISONS.

HABEUS CORPUS REQUEST

3. (U) ON FEBRUARY 23, THE MEXICO-BASED GUATEMALAN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (CDHG) FAXED A HABEUS CORPUS PETITION ("RECURSO DE EXHIBICIONES PERSONALES") TO THE GUATEMALAN SUPREME COURT. THE PETITION SOUGHT ACCESS TO SEVERAL EX-GUERRILLAS CABRERA AND AGUSTIN REPORTEDLY SAW WHILE DETAINED. PRESIDENT SERRANO, IN HIS CAPACITY AS COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, AND DEFENSE MINISTER GARCIA FORMALLY DENYING ERRILLAS. THE

GUATEM 02435 08 OF 02 012389Z 021246 5862345

SUPREME COURT REJECTED THE CDHG PETITIONS THE FOLLOWING DAY BASED ON THOSE DENIALS.

4. (U) AT A FEBRUARY 24 PRESS CONFERENCE, THE DEFENSE MINISTER CONFIRMED THAT CABRERA AND RECINOS HAD SPENT TIME AT A CHIMALTENANGO MILITARY BASE. THE MINISTER SAID THEY DEFECTED FROM GUERRILLA RANKS, SOUGHT ARMY PROTECTION, AND THEN FLED THE CHIMALTENANGO BASE. GARCIA DENOUNCED ALLEGATIONS OF CLANDESTINE PRISONS AS AN ATTEMPT TO SMEAR THE ARMY. HE SPECIFICALLY DENIED KNOWLEDGE OF EX-GUERRILLAS IDENTIFIED IN THE CDHG PETITION, AND THE EXISTENCE OF CLANDESTINE PRISONS.

BACKPEDALLING

5. (U) THE ARMY CHANGED ITS TUNE ON FEBRUARY 26, WHEN A MILITARY SPOKESMAN ACKNOWLEDGED THAT 3 PERSONS LISTED IN THE CDHG PETITION WERE INDEED LIVING ON ARMY BASES. ACCORDING TO PRESS REPORTS, THE DEFENSE MINISTRY LOCATED THE MEN IN SAN MARCOS AND PETEN. THEY WERE TRANSFERRED TO A LOCATION WHERE A JUDGE REPORTEDLY CONFIRMED THEY WERE SERVING VOLUNTARILY IN THE ARMED FORCES.

COMMENTS

6. (C) WE HAVE NO IDEA WHETHER THE GUERRILLAS' ACCUSATIONS ARE ACCURATE, BUT NOTE THAT THEIR PRESENCE IN GENEVA AT THIS TIME OF YEAR IS NO COINCIDENCE.

THEIR CLAIMS -- WHETHER ACCURATE OR NOT -- APPEAR DESIGNED TO AFFECT VOTING ON WHETHER UNHRC SHOULD REVIEW GUATEMALAN UNDER THE "ADVISORY SERVICES" (ITEM 21) OR "COUNTRY SITUATIONS" (ITEM 12) CATEGORY.

7. (C) POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS ASIDE, THE EX-GUERRILLAS' CLAIMS ARE NOT BEYOND THE REALM OF POSSIBILITY. WE UNDERSTAND THE ARMY FREQUENTLY INVITES URNG DESERTERS TO JOIN GOVERNMENT RANKS, AND WOULD NOT BE SURPRISED IF FORMER REBELS ARE LIVING AT ARMY BASES. THE KEY QUESTION IS WHETHER THEY ARE SERVING IN THE ARMY VOLUNTARILY. ONLY AN INDEPENDENT OBSERVER CAN RESOLVE THAT ISSUE, BUT THERE HAVE BEEN NO CALLS TO

DATE FOR THIRD-PARTY VERIFICATION. WE HAVE ALSO RECEIVED PAST REPORTS OF CLANDESTINE PRISONS, BUT HAVE NO IDEA IF THERE IS A FACTUAL BASIS FOR THE EX-REBELS' CLAIMS IN THAT REGARD. WE REMAIN CONCERNED THAT, AFTER 33 YEARS OF GUERRILLA WARFARE, NEITHER SIDE HAS -- OR WILL ADMIT TO HAVING -- PRISONERS FROM THE OTHER.

3. CONGRESSIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMITTEE: GUATEMALAN CONGRESSIONAL EFFORTS ON HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES HAVE BEEN DISAPPOINTING IN RECENT YEARS. OLIVERIO GARCIA RODAS, THE CONGRESSIONAL FLOOR LEADER FOR THE PRESIDENT'S MAS PARTY, HAS BEEN COMMITTEE PRESIDENT FOR THE PAST TWO YEARS. FATHER ANDRES GIRON HEADED THE COMMISSION BEFORE GARCIA. NEITHER HAS PURSUED HUMAN RIGHTS AGGRESSIVELY. GARCIA CLAIMS TO HAVE SOLID STATISTICAL INFORMATION BASED ON HIS OWN RESEARCH, BUT HE HAS SO FAR NOT FOUND THE TIME TO SHARE IT WITH US. HE PROBABLY FEELS CONSTRAINED DUE TO AFFILIATIONS WITH THE PRESIDENT'S PARTY. GIRON NEVER APPEARED TO TAKE HIS COMMITTEE PRESIDENCY SERIOUSLY, ALTHOUGH HE DID AND DOES SPEAK OUT ON CONTROVERSIAL ISSUES.

4. COPREDEH (COMISION PRESIDENCIAL COORDINADORA DE LA POLITICA DEL EJECUTIVO EN MATERIA DE DERECHOS HUMANOS): WAS ESTABLISHED BY PRESIDENT SERRANO IN AUGUST 1991 TO COORDINATE EXECUTIVE BRANCH ACTION AND POLICY ON HUMAN RIGHTS CASES AND ISSUES. PRESIDENTIAL ADVISOR BERNARDO NEUMANN, ONE OF SERRANO'S MOST TRUSTED CIVILIAN ADVISORS, WAS APPOINTED COPREDEH PRESIDENT. NEUMANN'S FAILING HEALTH PREVENTED COPREDEH FROM HIRING A STAFF, LOCATING OFFICES, AND COMPLETING OTHER ADMINISTRATIVE ARRANGEMENTS UNTIL EARLY 1992. COPREDEH IS CURRENTLY OPEN AND OPERATING, BUT WAS YET TO PRODUCE TANGIBLE RESULTS, PARTIALLY BECAUSE GOG OFFICIALS ARE SPLIT OVER WHETHER THE COMMISSION SHOULD COORDINATE GOG ACTIONS OR SERVE MERELY AS A HUMAN RIGHTS SPOKESMAN. ITS FIRST HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT, PRODUCED IN MID-1992, WAS SUPERFICIAL. COPREDEH CHIEF INVESTIGATOR MARIO CIFUENTES IS A JACK-OF-ALL TRADES WHO IS WELL-CONNECTED IN GUATEMALAN SECURITY CIRCLES. SARAH TERCERO WORKED IN THE PRESIDENTIAL PRESS OFFICE BEFORE TRANSFERRING TO COPREDEH. RAMSES CUESTAS WAS THE COPREDEH STAFFER ASSIGNED TO THE FEBRAURY 1993 EIMET HUMAN RIGHTS COURSE IN GUATEMALA CITY.

5. HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN: GUATEMALA'S 1985 CONSTITUTION ESTABLISHED THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE TO PROMOTE RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND TO MONITOR DEVELOPMENTS. CONGRESS ELECTS THE OMBUDSMAN TO A FIVE-YEAR TERM. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OPERATIONAL INDEPENDENCE IS SIMILAR TO THAT OF THE U.S. GENERAL ACCOUNTING OFFICE, WHICH ANSWERS ULTIMATELY TO CONGRESS BUT HAS A MANDATE TO FUNCTION APOLITICALLY. THE TIRED

AND ELDERLY GONZALO MENENDEZ DE LA RIVA. THE FATHER OF CURRENT FOREIGN MINISTER GONZALO MENDENDEZ PARK. WAS THE FIRST OMBUDSMAN. MENENDEZ STEPPED DOWN IN DECEMBER 1989 TO BE REPLACED BY RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO, A CAREER POLITICIAN WHO WAS WON PRAISE FOR NON-PARTISAN ACTIVISM. MANY REGARD DE LEON AS THE CURRENT FRONTRUNNER IN THE 1995 PRESIDENTIAL RACE. UNDER DE LEON'S LEADERSHIP, THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE EARNED ITS CURRENT REPUTATION AS THE MOST RELIABLE SOURCE IN GUATEMALA FOR INFORMATION ON HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES. IN AUGUST 1992, DE LEON WAS SWORN FOR A NEW FIVE-YEAR TERM OF OFFICE. AUGUSTO WILLEMSEN DIAZ AND EUGENIA MORALES DE SIERRA ARE HIS DEPUTIES.

6. INTERIOR MINISTRY: THE INTERIOR ("GOBERNACION") MINISTRY COORDINATOR ON HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES IS DR. MARCO ANTONIO SAGASTUME GEMMEL. HIS OFFICE HAS PREPARED VARIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS EDUCATIONAL MATERIALS IN COORDINATION WITH COPREDEH. A SERIES OF BOOKLETS EXPLAINS THE ORIGIN, NATURE, THEORY, AND APPLICATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS. THE INTERNATIONAL DECLARATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS DOCUMENTS HAVE ALSO BEEN TRANSLATED INTO INDIGENOUS LANGUAGES. THE INTERIOR MINISTRY DISTRIBUTES THOSE MATERIALS WITH ASSISTANCE FROM COPREDEH.

7. MILITARY LIAISON: THE GUATEMALAN ARMY MAINTAINS CONTACT WITH OUTSIDE GOVERNMENTS, ORGANIZATIONS, AND ACTIVISTS THROUGH LIAISON OFFICERS AND OFFICIAL SPOKESMAN JULIO YON RIVERA. LIAISON OFFICERS MONITOR HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES CLOSELY, AND ATTEND INTERNATIONAL MEETINGS, INCLUDING THE ANNUAL HUMAN RIGHTS CONFERENCE IN GENEVA. YON IS NOT GENERALLY CONSIDERED AN ACCURATE SOURCE OF INFORMATION; HIS PUBLIC COMMENTS ON HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES OFTEN DO MORE HARM THAN GOOD TO THE ARMY'S IMAGE.

8. PRESIDENTIAL ADVISORS: PRESIDENT SERRANO'S CHIEF POLICY ADVISORS ON HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES FALL ROUGHLY INTO "SOFTLINE" AND "HARDLINE" CAMPS. THE "SOFTLINE" GROUP, WHICH FAVORS MORE OPENNESS AND ACCOMODATION WITH HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS, INCLUDES COPREDEH PRESIDENT BERNARDO NEUMANN, AND CIVILIAN ADVISORS AMILCAR BURGOS AND ERNESTO VITERI. THE "HARDLINE" CAMP CONSISTS OF FOREIGN MINISTER GONZALO MENENDEZ PARK, PEACE NEGOTIATOR MANUEL CONDE, AND TOP MILITARY OFFICERS. PRESIDENTIAL POLITICAL ADVISOR JUAN DAVID ALEMAN HAS APPARENTLY NOT TAKEN SIDES, AT LEAST FOR THE TIME

BEING. (92 GT 011477)

9. SOCIAL WELFARE OFFICE: THE PRESIDENTIAL

SECRETARIAT ESTABLISHED A SOCIAL WELFARE ("BIENESTAR SOCIAL") OFFICE DEDICATED TO FIRST LADY MAGDA BIANCHI DE SERRANO'S PERSONAL INTEREST IN STREET CHILDREN ISSUES. GOVERNMENT PUBLIC RELATIONS PERSONNEL GIVE PROMINENT COVERAGE TO MRS. SERRANO'S EFFORTS. THE GOVERNMENT'S PERFORMANCE ON THE STREET CHILDREN ISSUE HAS DRAWN CRITICISM FROM CASA ALIANZA AND OTHER PRIVATE GROUPS, GENERATING PERSONAL TENSION BETWEEN MRS. SERRANO AND ACTIVISTS. MIRIAM RODRIGUEZ DE CELADA IS A KEY SOCIAL WELFARE OFFICE STAFFER.

10. ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE: THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE WAS ESTABLISHED IN 1990 TO PROVIDE

LEGAL REPRESENTATION TO HUMAN RIGHTS VICTIMS. THE OFFICE HAS HANDLED THE DIANA ORTIZ, MYRNA MACK, MOISES CISNEROS, JULIO QUEVEDO, AND CAJOLA EVICTION CASES. BISHOP GERARDI, WHO WAS BISHOP OF QUICHE IN THE EARLY 1980'S, SUPERVISES POLICY AND OPERATIONS. OFFICE DIRECTOR RONALTH OCHAETA MANAGES DAY-TO-DAY AFFAIRS WITH THE ASSISTANCE OF ATTORNEY FERNANDO LOPEZ. THE OFFICE WILL SOON FACE A PERSONNEL SHORTAGE BECAUSE OCHAETA IS SCHEDULED TO LEAVE GUATEMALA IN MID-1993 FOR ONE YEAR OF ADDITIONAL LEGAL STUDIES AT NOTRE DAME UNIVERSITY. OCHAETA'S PENDING DEPARTURE MAY EXPLAIN WHY THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE OFFERED A SENIOR POSITION TO FORMER DEPUTY HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN CESAR ALVAREZ GUADAMUZ, WHO HAS YET TO RESPOND FORMALLY. ACTIVISM BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE HAS GENERATED TENSION WITH THE

SERRANO ADMINISTRATION ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS.

11. CONFREGUA (CONFERENCIA DE RELIGIOSOS GUATEMALTECOS): CONFREGUA IS A RELIGIOUS, HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVIST ORGANIZATION THAT HAS TAKEN THE LEAD ON THE SISTER DIANA ORTIZ CASE AND OTHERS. CONFREGUA COORDINATES LEGAL AND PUBLICITY EFFORTS WITH THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE. BOTH THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE AND CONFREGUA HAVE EXTENSIVE OVERSEAS CONTACTS CALLED UPON FREQUENTLY FOR INTERNATIONAL EXPRESSIONS OF CONCERN IN SPECIFIC CASES. CONFREGUA LAWYER RODOLFO DE LEON AND OTHER STAFF ATTORNEYS ALSO MAINTAIN CLOSE CONTACT WITH GUATEMALAN POPULAR ORGANIZATIONS.

GUATEMALAN ORGANIZATIONS & ACTIVISTS
---

12. AEU (ASOCIACION DE ESTUDIANTES UNIVERSITARIOS): THE STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION AT SAN CARLOS UNIVERSITY (AEU) HAS TRADITIONALLY BEEN AT THE FOREFRONT OF THE GUATEMALAN POLITICAL OPPOSITION. MOST AEU LEADERS ARE PROFESSIONAL STUDENTS IN THEIR MID- TO LATE-20'S. AEU LEADER VICTOR CUDIEL APPEARS FREQUENTLY IN THE GUATEMALAN MEDIA ADVOCATING OPPOSITION CAUSES. STUDENT ACTIVISTS HAVE BEEN KIDNAPPED AND MURDERED IN THE PAST; THERE HAVE ALSO BEEN CREDIBLE DEATH THREATS TO AEU LEADERS WITHIN THE PAST YEAR. THE EMBASSY HAS COMMUNICATED CONCERN TO GOG OFFICIALS OVER SUCH THREATS.

13. CASA ALIANZA: CASA ALIANZA PROVIDES REFUGE AND

PROTECTION FOR GUATEMALAN STREET CHILDREN, AND IS AFFILIATED WITH COVENANT HOUSE IN THE UNITED STATES. CASA ALIANZA IS ALSO IN TOUCH WITH AND RECEIVES ASSISTANCE FROM A GERMAN AFFILIATE DIRECTED BY FRANZ NUCKLENBRUCH, WHO HAS MADE SEVERAL WELL-PUBLICIZED VISITS TO GUATEMALA. COVENANT HOUSE PRESIDENT ANCIT SISTER MARY ROSE MACGREADY VISITED GUATEMALA AND TWICE CALLED ON THE U.S. CHIEF OF MISSION IN 1992. BRUCE HARRIS, A BRITISH CITIZEN, DIRECTS COVENANT HOUSE'S CENTRAL AMERICAN REGIONAL OPERATIONS. HE RE-LOCATED

FROM GUATEMALA TO MEXICO CITY AFTER RECEIVING DEATH THREATS, BUT VISITS GUATEMALA FREQUENTLY. EUGENIA MONTERROSO IS CASA ALIANZA'S GUATEMALA COORDINATOR. JOSE GIRON VILLATORO, A CASA ALIANZA LAWYER, REPORTED DEATH THREATS IN LATE 1992.

14. CIEPRODH (CENTRO DE INVESTIGACION, ESTUDIO Y PROMOCION DE LOS DERECHOS HUMANOS): FACTOR MENDEZ, A SOCIAL ACTIVIST SINCE HIS UNIVERSITY DAYS SOME TWO DECADES AGO, FOUNDED CIEPRODH IN THE LATE 1980'S AS A THINK TANK ON SOCIAL AND HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES. CIEPRODH

CONDUCTS LONG-TERM STUDIES WHILE MENDEZ REMAINS PERSONALLY ACTIVE IN VARIOUS SOCIAL CAUSES. IN OCTOBER 1992, HE AND SEVERAL OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS ATTENDED A WASHINGTON D.C. CONFERENCE ON TORTURE IN GUATEMALA THAT RAISED THE IRE OF THE GUATEMALAN PRESIDENT AND DEFENSE MINISTER. AN ACTIVIST ON THE LOCAL PEACE PROCESS SCENE, "EL FACTOR" ALSO RECENTLY TRAVELED TO GENEVA TO LOBBY FOR GUATEMALA BEING TREATED UNDER UNHRC AGENDA ITEM 12.

15. CERJ (CONSEJO DE COMUNIDADES ETNICAS RUNUJEL JUNAM): 44-YEAR-OLD EX-SCHOOLTEACHER ANILCAR MENDEZ FOUNDED CERJ IN 1987 TO REPRESENT INDIGENOUS CAMPESINO INTERESTS IN QUICHE. THE GROUP HAS A GUATEMALA CITY OFFICE, BUT IS HEADQUARTERED IN SANTA CRUZ DEL QUICHE. CERJ FOCUSSED INITIALLY ON CIVIL PATROL VIOLATIONS, BUT NOW ADDRESSES A WIDE RANGE OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL ISSUES. MENDEZ HAS RECEIVED HUMAN RIGHTS AWARDS FROM THE KENNEDY AND CARTER FOUNDATIONS, AND IS WELL-CONNECTED TO GROUPS OVERSEAS. MENDEZ AND OTHER CERJ MEMBERS HAVE REPORTED RECEIVING NUMEROUS DEATH THREATS. "RUNUJEL JUNAM" TRANSLATES TO "WE ARE ALL EQUAL" IN AN INDIGENOUS LANGUAGE. MENDEZ TOLD THE EMBASSY RECENTLY THAT HE AND HIS FAMILY MAY LEAVE GUATEMALA IN MID-1993 FOR A ONE-YEAR SABBATICAL OF REST AND ENGLISH STUDIES IN THE SAN FRANCISCO AREA.

16. CONAVIGUA (COORDINADORA NACIONAL DE VIUDAS DE GUATEMALA): CONAVIGUA IS A WIDOWS' ORGANIZATION FOUNDED IN 1988. THE GROUP WAS FORMED AFTER FORMER PRESIDENT CEREZO PROMISED TO MAKE 18 MILLION QUETZALES AVAILABLE FOR WIDOWS' AND ORPHANS' PROGRAMS. CEREZO NEVER MADE GOOD ON HIS PROMISE, BUT CONAVIGUA NOW BOASTS 11,000 MEMBERS, 95 PER CENT OF WHOM ARE INDIGENOUS. ROSALINA TUYUC, THE MOST PROMINENT CONAVIGUA LEADER, MAY BE GUATEMALA'S MOST ARTICULATE INDIGENOUS SPOKESPERSON AFTER RIGOBERTA MENCHU. TUYUC IS ORIGINALLY FROM SAN JUAN COMALAPA, CHIMALTENANGO. HER HUSBAND DISAPPEARED IN MAY 1985; SHE HAS A SMALL CHILD. TUYUC REMARRIED IN FEBRUARY 1993. AMCITS

AFFILIATED WITH THE MARIN INTERFAITH TASK FORCE HAVE PROVIDED OFFICE ASSISTANCE TO CONAVIGUA.

17. GAM (GRUPO DE APOYO MUTUO): GAM WAS FOUNDED IN 1984 AND ENJOYED A VIRTUAL MONOPOLY ON THE GUATEMALAN HUMAN RIGHTS SCENE UNTIL THE 1987 ARRIVAL OF CERJ. GAM FOUNDER NINETH MONTENEGRO DE GARCIA BROADENED THE GROUP'S ORIGINAL FOCUS ON DISAPPEARANCES TO INCLUDE A WIDE VARIETY OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL ISSUES. MONTENEGRO HAS FADED FROM VIEW IN RECENT YEARS, AT LEAST PARTIALLY DUE TO ALLEGATIONS OF FINANCIAL IMPROPRIETIES. COMPETITION FROM OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS AND INTERNAL DIVISIONS HAVE DIMINISHED GAM'S PRESTIGE AND EFFECTIVENESS. IN EARLY 1992, A GAM FACTION BROKE AWAY TO FORM FAMDEGUA, A NEW ORGANIZATION FOCUSSING ON POLITICAL DISAPPEARANCES. THAT GROUP HAS NOT BEEN HEARD FROM SINCE IT WAS REPORTEDLY ESTABLISHED. MIGUEL MORALES MORALES CONTROLS GAM IN ITS CURRENT FORM.

18. GIRON, FATHER ANDRES: FATHER GIRON WON INTERNATIONAL RECOGNITION IN THE MID-1980'S AS A LAND REFORM ACTIVIST. HE WAS ELECTED TO CONGRESS IN THE 1990 ELECTION UNDER THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC BANNER. HE STILL LEADS A GROUP THAT PROVIDES ADVICE AND ASSISTANCE TO SQUATTERS PREPARING LAND INVASIONS. HE HAS FAILED, HOWEVER, TO LIVE UP TO HIGH HOPES MANY HAD FOR HIM A HALF DOZEN YEARS AGO, AND IS NOW WIDELY SEEN AS A CHARLATAN. IN 1992, GIRON SENT A LETTER TO

THEN-AMBASSADOR STROOCK COMPLAINING OF DEATH THREATS. WHEN GIRON MET SHORTLY THEREAFTER WITH THE AMBASSADOR,

THE ONLY TOPIC OF CONVERSATION WAS WHETHER THE USG COULD FUND A PROJECT GIRON WAS SPONSORING.

19. MACK, HELEN: HELEN MACK IS THE SISTER OF GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK, WHO WAS MURDERED BY 2 ASSAILANTS ON SEPTEMBER 11, 1990. HELEN WAS THE ACCUSING PARTY IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS AGAINST NOEL DE JESUS BETETA ALVAREZ, MYRNA'S CONVICTED MURDERER. SHE WAS THE 1992 RECIPIENT OF THE "RIGHT LIVELIHOOD" AWARD, WIDELY KNOWN AS THE ALTERNATIVE NOBEL. IN PRIVATE LIFE, HELEN IS OFFICE MANAGER AND NO. 2 AT A FIRM THAT BUILDS LOW-COST HOUSING FOR THE POPULAR SECTOR. MANY SPECULATE THAT SHE MAY HAVE A FUTURE IN POLITICS.

20. MENCHU TUM, RIGOBERTA: 1992 NOBEL PEACE PRIZE WINNER RIGOBERTA MENCHU TUM WAS BORN IN A RURAL QUICHE VILLAGE IN 1959. SHE WORKED DURING HER YOUTH AS A MIGRANT FARM WORKER AND AS A MAID IN GUATEMALA CITY. SHE HAS NO FORMAL EDUCATION, AND DID NOT LEARN SPANISH UNTIL SHE WAS 19. HER AUTOBIOGRAPHY, "I, RIGOBERTA," PUBISHED IN 1983, WAS WRITTEN BY VENEZUELAN WRITER ELIZABETH BURGOS-DEBRAY BASED ON TAPE-RECORDED INTERVIEWS DURING A WEEKLONG VISIT TO PARIS. THE BOOK RECOUNTS HOW GUATEMALA'S CIVIL WAR PROMPTED MENCHU TO BECOME ACTIVE IN INDIGENOUS AND HUMAN RIGHTS CAUSES. HER FATHER, VICENTE MENCHU, WAS AMONG COMMITTEE OF PEASANT UNITY (CUC) LEADERS KILLED DURING THE 1980 TAKEOVER OF THE SPANISH EMBASSY IN GUATEMALA. SHE FLED TO MEXICO IN 1982 AFTER HER MOTHER AND SEVERAL BROTHERS WERE KILLED. IN SEPTEMBER 1982, SHE FOUNDED THE UNITED REPRESENTATIVES OF THE GUATEMALAN OPPOSITION (RUOG), AN INTERNATIONAL DISSIDENT GROUP. SINCE DEPARTING GUATEMALA, SHE HAS RETURNED SEVERAL TIMES, BUT ONLY FOR BRIEF PERIODS OF TIME. CONAVIGUA USUALLY COORDINATES HER VISITS. MENCHU HAS BECOME PROMINENT INTERNATIONALLY AS A SPOKESPERSON ON INDIGENOUS ISSUES, BUT HER SUPPORT WITHIN GUATEMALA'S 21 INDIGENOUS ETHNIC GROUPS IS UNCLEAR. MANY SPECULATE THAT SHE MAY RUN FOR POLITICAL OFFICE IN THE 1995 GENERAL ELECTION, BUT SHE IS TOO YOUNG TO QUALIFY AS A CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT.

21. UASP (UNIDAD DE ACCION SINDICAL Y POPULAR): UASP IS AN UMBRELLA GROUP FOR VARIOUS POPULAR ORGANIZATIONS, INCLUDING CERJ, GAM, AEU, CONAVIGUA, AND OTHERS. ORGANIZATION REPRESENTATIVES TO UASP FREQUENTLY APPEAR TOGETHER TO MAKE JOINT STATEMENTS ON SPECIFIC CASES OR ISSUES. UASP REFLECTS AN ATTEMPT BY POPULAR ORGANIZATIONS TO ACHIEVE STRENGTH IN NUMBERS.

22. AMERICA'S WATCH: AMCIT DAVID HOLIDAY IS THE AMERICA'S WATCH REPRESENTATIVE FOR CENTRAL AMERICA. HE SPLITS HIS TIME BETWEEN GUATEMALA AND EL SALVADOR.

23. AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL: AMNESTY HAS NO PERMANENT PRESENCE IN GUATEMALA; IT RELIES ON OTHER SOURCES FOR INFORMATION ON CURRENT DEVELOPMENTS.

24. CENTER FOR HUMAN RIGHTS LEGAL ACTION: THE CENTER IS A 4-PERSON OFFICE ESTABLISHED IN 1988 IN WASHINGTON, D.C. TO FOCUS ON GUATEMALAN HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES. AMCIT FRANK LARUE WORKS IN THE WASHINGTON OFFICE. LARUE, TOGETHER WITH RIGOBERTA MENCHU, IS A PROMINENT MEMBER

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

OF THE DISSIDENT POLITICAL GROUP, RUOG, MENTIONED IN PARAGRAPH 28, AND HE WORKS AS A LOBBYIST FOR THE GUERRILLA UMBRELLA GROUP, THE URNG. AMCIT ATTORNEY ANA

GALLAGHER IS THE CENTER'S REPRESENTATIVE IN GUATEMALA.

25. PEACE BRIGADES: PEACE BRIGADES IS A MULTI-NATIONAL ORGANIZATION THAT ACCOMPANIES AND THEREBY PROTECTS GUATEMALAN HUMAN RIGHTS LEADERS. SOME TEAM MEMBERS ARE AMCITS.

26. ROBERT F. KENNEDY MEMORIAL CENTER FOR HUMAN RIGHTS: CERJ LEADER ANILCAR MENDEZ RECEIVED THE RFK CENTER'S ANNUAL HUMAN RIGHTS AWARD IN 1990. BRITISH CITIZEN ALICE JAY, WHO WORKED PREVIOUSLY WITH CERJ, IS THE RFK CENTER REPRESENTATIVE IN GUATEMALA.

27. SHOW, CLYDE: AMCIT CLYDE SHOW IS A RENOWNED FORENSIC ANTHROPOLOGIST WHO IS DIRECTING EXHUMATIONS OF CLANDESTINE CEMETERIES IN QUICHE WITH ASSISTANCE FROM AMCIT ANDREW KAUFMAN, SON OF A TOP AMERICA'S WATCH OFFICIAL.

28. UNITED NATIONS: U.N. HUMAN RIGHTS OBSERVER CHRISTIAN TOMUSCHAT VISITS GUATEMALA EVERY FEW MONTHS TO MONITOR THE LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. HE PREPARES AN INFLUENTIAL ANNUAL REPORT FOR THE UNITED NATIONS HUMAN RIGHTS COMMITTEE HEADQUARTERED IN GENEVA. U.N. SCRUTINY OF GUATEMALA IS A PERENNIAL SOURCE OF CONTROVERSY AT UNHRC MEETINGS HELD EVERY YEAR IN FEBRUARY. GUATEMALA CURRENTLY RECEIVES UNHRC "ADVISORY SERVICES" (1993 AGENDA ITEM NO. 21), BUT ACTIVISTS FAVOR WEIGHTENED SCRUTINY UNDER THE "COUNTRY SITUATIONS" CATEGORY (1992 AGENDA ITEM NO. 12). U.N. OBSERVER URUGUAYAN HUGO LORENZO HAS ASSISTED TOMUSCHAT AND IS PRESENTLY MONITORING THE RETURN OF REFUGEES. MANY SPECULATE THAT LORENZO MAY REMAIN IN GUATEMALA AS A FULL-TIME HUMAN RIGHTS OBSERVER AND ASSISTANT TO TOMUSCHAT.

29. WOLA (WASHINGTON OFFICE ON LATIN AMERICA): WOLA MONITORS THE LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION AND PREPARES DETAILED REPORTS, BUT HAS NO FULL-TIME PRESENCE IN GUATEMALA.

30. WITNESS FOR PEACE: DELEGATIONS OF CONCERNED AMCITS VISIT GUATEMALA ON STUDY TOURS SPONSORED BY WITNESS FOR PEACE.

E.O. 12356: N/A
TAGS: PHUM, PINR, GT
SUBJECT: MYRNA MACK FOUNDATION ESTABLISHED IN GUATEMALA

1. SUMMARY: THE FAMILY OF SLAIN GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK CHANG HAS ESTABLISHED A FOUNDATION TO SPONSOR HUMAN RIGHTS SEMINARS AND TECHNICAL WORKSHOPS, AND TO PROVIDE LEGAL COUNSELLING FOR HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE VICTIMS. END SUMMARY.

2. GOALS: THE MACK FAMILY HAS ESTABLISHED A MYRNA MACK FOUNDATION TO HONOR THE SLAIN GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST. HELEN MACK, MYRNA'S SISTER, TOLD HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER OVER LUNCH ON MARCH 18 THAT THE FOUNDATION HOPES TO SPONSOR SEMINARS AND TRAINING COURSES, AND TO PROVIDE ADVICE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE VICTIMS AND THEIR FAMILIES. NEVERTHELESS, THE MACKS HAVE NOT PUBLICIZED THE FOUNDATION FOR FEAR OF A BACKLASH FROM REPRESSIVE ELEMENTS.

3. ACTIVITIES: OVER THE NEXT YEAR, THE FOUNDATION PLANS TO HOLD TWO HUMAN RIGHTS SEMINARS AND FOUR TECHNICAL WORKSHOPS. THE FIRST SEMINAR IS TENTATIVELY SLATED FOR JUNE 1993, BUT PREPARATIONS ARE STILL IN PRELIMINARY STAGES. WORKSHOPS WILL TEACH JUDICIAL AND POPULAR SECTOR PARTICIPANTS TECHNICAL SKILLS NEEDED TO TAKE CASES TO COURT AND CONVICT HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATORS. HELEN BELIEVES COURSES ON CRIME SCENE ANALYSIS, FORENSICS, ETC. WILL PRODUCE MORE CONVICTIONS BY PREVENTING JUDGES FROM THROWING CASES OUT OF COURT FOR LACK OF EVIDENCE. BOTH GUATEMALAN AND FOREIGN EXPERTS WOULD BE INVITED TO TEACH STUDENTS, WHO MIGHT INCLUDE GOG OFFICIALS.

4. COUNSELLING: THE FOUNDATION'S MOST INTERESTING

INNOVATION IS THE PROPOSAL TO PROVIDING LEGAL COUNSELLING FOR HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE VICTIMS AND THEIR FAMILIES. HELEN HOPES TO PREVENT RECURRENCE OF LEGAL DEFECTS IN PAST HUMAN RIGHTS CASES DUE TO IGNORANCE OF

EVIDENTIARY AND JUDICIAL PROCEDURES. HELEN RECOUNTED, FOR EXAMPLE, HOW THE MORGUE SENT HER THE BLOOD-STAINED CLOTHES MYRNA WAS WEARING ON THE DAY OF HER MURDER. SHE WASHED THE CLOTHING AND UNWITTINGLY DESTROYED VITAL EVIDENCE BECAUSE SHE COULD NOT BEAR TO SEE HER SISTER'S BLOOD. SIMILARLY, THE WIDOW OF POLICE INVESTIGATOR JOSE MERIDA ESCOBAR UNWITTINGLY PREVENTED FULL INVESTIGATION OF HER HUSBAND'S 1991 MURDER WHEN SHE DESTROYED HIS MACK MURDER INVESTIGATION NOTES AND ANONYMOUS LETTERS CONTAINING DEATH THREATS. OTHER ACTIVISTS -- HELEN SPECIFICALLY MENTIONED CONAVIGUA LEADER ROSALINA TUYUC -- HAVE ENCOURAGED PLANS TO PROVIDE SUCH COUNSELLING.

5. STAFF: HELEN AND THREE OTHER MACK FAMILY MEMBERS ARE ON THE FOUNDATION BOARD. THEY HAVE HIRED A 26-YEAR-OLD LAWYER AND A SECRETARY. THE LAWYER WAS EMPLOYED ON THE RECOMMENDATION OF TRUSTED (BUT UNSPECIFIED) FRIENDS. HE REPORTEDLY HAS A CIVIL LAW BACKGROUND AND LITTLE CRIMINAL EXPERIENCE, BUT IS JUDGED RELIABLE AND -- MOST IMPORTANT TO THE MACKS -- HAS NO POLITICAL AFFILIATIONS OR BACKGROUND. HELEN REMARKED THAT HER FAMILY SOUGHT APOLITICAL EMPLOYEES TO AVOID CRITICISM THAT THE FOUNDATION OR ITS STAFF HAVE A POLITICAL AGENDA. COMMENT: BISHOP GERARDI, WHO SUPERVISES THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE, TOLD EMBOFFS IN A SEPARATE CONVERSATION SEVERAL MONTHS AGO

THAT HIS ORGANIZATION HAS A SIMILAR POLICY OF HIRING ONLY EMPLOYEES WITH NO PAST POLITICAL HISTORY. END COMMENT.

6. FACILITIES: THE MACKS HAVE RENTED SPACE IN A BUILDING JUST 2 1/2 BLOCKS FROM THE U.S. EMBASSY IN GUATEMALA CITY. THEY PURCHASED OFFICE FURNITURE PENDING DELIVERY AT THIS WRITING. HELEN WALKED HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER OVER TO THE OFFICE IMMEDIATELY AFTER LUNCH, BUT STAFF MEMBERS WERE NOT PRESENT AND HELEN HAD NO KEY. THE OFFICE DOOR IS NOT MARKED, PRESUMABLY TO AVOID SECURITY PROBLEMS.

7. FUNDING: THE FOUNDATION HAS AN INITIAL BUDGET OF APPROXIMATELY USD 220,000: USD 100,000 FROM THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITY (EEC); USD 50,000 HELEN WILL RECEIVE AS THE 1992 "RIGHT LIVELIHOOD" (ALTERNATIVE NOBEL) AWARD WINNER; AND USD 70,000 THE MACKS HOPE TO RECEIVE FROM PRIVATE DONORS. IT WAS UNCLEAR WHETHER THE FOUNDATION HAD RECEIVED THE EEC MONEY, BUT HELEN NOTED THAT "RIGHT LIVELIHOOD" AND PRIVATE FUNDS HAD YET TO ARRIVE.

8. COMMENT: THE COUNSELLING SERVICE APPEARS DESIGNED TO FILL THE GAP WE SEE BETWEEN THE ROLES OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE AND THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE INVESTIGATES AND DENOUNCES ABUSES; THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE LITIGATES CASES IN COURT. NO CURRENT ORGANIZATION ASSISTS POTENTIAL LITIGANTS WITH CASE PREPARATION. ESTABLISHMENT OF THE FOUNDATION'S PROPOSED COUNSELLING SERVICE WOULD BE A MAJOR ADVANCE IN EFFORTS TO PUNISH GUATEMALAN HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATORS.

9. COMMENT (CONT.): WE ARE LESS SANGUINE, HOWEVER, ABOUT FOUNDATION PLANS TO SPONSOR SEMINARS AND WORKSHOPS. OUR IMPRESSION IS THAT THOSE EFFORTS WOULD ONLY DUPLICATE THE WORK OF OTHER ACTIVISTS AND ORGANIZATIONS. WE OBSERVE NO LACK OF SEMINARS -- BOTH WITHIN GUATEMALA AND OVERSEAS -- ON THE LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. AS FOR WORKSHOPS, HUMAN RIGHTS

SUBJECT: CRISTIANI CALLS FOR GENERAL AMNESTY

REFS: A) 92 SAN SALVADOR 01133 B) 92 SAN SALVADOR 01462

1. ON THE EVE OF THE PUBLIC RELEASE OF THE ANXIOUSLY AWAITED TRUTH COMMISSION REPORT, PRESIDENT CRISTIANI HAS CALLED FOR THE ADOPTION OF A GENERAL, UNCONDITIONAL AMNESTY FOR THOSE ACCUSED OF HAVING COMMITTED POLITICAL CRIMES DURING THE CIVIL WAR. ON BOTH MARCH 14 AND 15 CRISTIANI TOLD THE PRESS THAT A GENERAL AMNESTY IS NECESSARY TO ENSURE NATIONAL RECONCILIATION. A GENERAL AMNESTY, HE ARGUED, WOULD ALLOW THE TRUTH COMMISSION EPORT TO CLOSE A SAD CHAPTER IN EL SALVADOR'S HISTORY AND ENABLE THE COUNTRY TO LOOK TO THE FUTURE.

2. CRISTIANI PUBLICLY NOTED THAT LAST WEEK THE GOES HAD CONVOKED A MEETING OF THE POLITICAL PARTIES TO DISCUSS THE POSSIBILITY OF ISSUING A GENERAL AMNESTY (WHICH WOULD AMPLIFY THE QUALIFIED AMNESTY ISSUED IN FEBRUARY, 1992; REFS). AS PORTRAYED BY CRISTIANI, THE POLITICAL PARTIES SUPPORT THE CONCEPT OF A GENERAL AMNESTY. HOWEVER, IN ITS MARCH 15 PRESS RELEASE ON THE TRUTH COMMISSION REPORT THE FMLN REJECTED AN IMMEDIATE AMNESTY UNTIL A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION IS COMPLETED OF DEATH SQUADS AND ALL OF THE TRUTH COMMISSION'S RECOMMENDATIONS ARE IMPLEMENTED.

SUBMITTING TO THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY A GENERAL AMNESTY DRAFT BILL BEFORE THE END OF THE MONTH, AND IT APPEARS THAT THERE IS WIDESPREAD SUPPORT FOR SUCH A MEASURE. THERE IS A STRONG POSSIBILITY THAT A GENERAL AMNESTY WOULD COVER NOT ONLY HIGH PROFILE CASES (I.E., THE JESUIT MURDERS) BUT ALSO (AND TO US MORE IMPORTANTLY) THOSE INVOLVING THE MURDER OF U.S. CITIZENS, SUCH AS THE PICKETT/DAWSON, ZONA ROSA AND THE MARYKNOLL NUN CASES. WE WILL REPORT SEPTEL REACTIONS TO THE PRESIDENT'S PROPOSAL FOR A GENERAL AMNESTY, HOW THE PROPOSAL MESHES WITH THE TRUTH COMMISSION'S RECOMMENDATIONS AND WHAT WILL PROBABLY BE THE PROPOSAL'S IMPACT ON THE CASES INVOLVING U.S. CITIZENS. 1. (C) SUMMARY. THE TRUTH COMMISSION REPORT RECOMMENDS, INTER ALIA, THAT: MORE THAN 40 MILITARY OFFICERS BE DISMISSED FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS; BOTH GOVERNMENT AND FMLN FIGURES RESPONSIBLE FOR SUCH VIOLATIONS BE BARRED FROM PUBLIC OFFICE FOR TEN YEARS (THIS INCLUDES JOAQUIN VILLALOBOS); A SPECIAL INVESTIGATION OF DEATH SQUADS BE UNDERTAKEN; CIVILIAN CONTROL OVER THE MILITARY BE STRENGTHENED; AND JUDICIAL REFORMS BE UNDERTAKEN, INCLUDING A COMPLETE CHANGEOVER IN THE COMPOSITION OF THE SUPREME COURT. SUMMARY OF REPORT AT PARA. 15. THE FOUR FRIENDS' PERMREPS, IN DISCUSSIONS IN NEW YORK, INDICATED THAT PRES. CRISTIANI SHOULD BE ALLOWED TO MANAGE THE AMNESTY ISSUE IN HIS OWN WAY. END SUMMARY.
REPORT PRESENTED PUBLICLY
2. (U) UN/SYG BOUTROS-GHALI PRESENTED TO THE PUBLIC ON MARCH 15 AT UN HEADQUARTERS IN NEW YORK THE REPORT OF

DECLASSIFIED
Special Project (1994)

THE COMMISSION ON THE TRUTH REGARDING KEY HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS WHICH OCCURRED DURING THE WAR IN EL SALVADOR. THE COMMISSION CONSISTS OF FORMER COLOMBIAN PRESIDENT BELISARIO BETANCUR, FORMER VENEZUELAN FM REINALDO FIGUEREDO, AND THOMAS BUERGENTHAL, A LAW PROFESSOR AT GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY. THE CEREMONY TOOK PLACE BEFORE A LARGE AUDIENCE WHICH INCLUDED REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FOUR FRIENDS (MEXICO, SPAIN, COLOMBIA AND VENEZUELA), THE OTHER LATIN AMERICAN DELEGATIONS, THE MEMBERS OF THE UN SECURITY COUNCIL, U/SYG GOULDING, A/SYG DE SOTO, REPRESENTATIVES OF MANY NGO'S WHICH COOPERATED WITH THE COMMISSION, REPRESENTATIVES OF THE SALVADORAN CATHOLIC HIERARCHY AND

OF THE FMLN, AS WELL AS SALVADORAN PERMREP CASTANEDA.

3. (U) AN ENGLISH LANGUAGE SUMMARY OF THE REPORT WAS FAXED TO IO/UNP, ARA/CEN AND EMBASSY SAN SALVADOR MARCH 15 (AND IS REPORTED AT PARA. 15). COMPLETE TEXT OF REPORT W/ANNEX (AND UN/SYG'S SPEECH) SENT TO EMBASSY SAN SALVADOR MARCH 15 VIA FEDERAL EXPRESS. COMPLETE TEXT WAS ALSO HAND CARRIED TO DEPARTMENT MARCH 15 BY FRAN FERNANDEZ (ARA/CEN).

SYG'S SPEECH

4. (U) UN/SYG STRESSED THAT ALTHOUGH PROGRESS HAS BEEN ACHIEVED, MUCH REMAINS TO BE DONE, ESPECIALLY REGARDING MILITARY REFORM, JUDICIAL REFORM, DEVELOPMENT OF THE NEW POLICE, AND LAND TRANSFERS. HE CALLED UPON COPAZ TO WORK ON IMPLEMENTING REFORMS IN A COOPERATIVE SPIRIT, AND CALLED UPON SALVADORANS TO IMPLEMENT THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE TRUTH COMMISSION REPORT AS REQUIRED BY THE PEACE AGREEMENT. THE SYG SAID SALVADORAN SOCIETY WOULD NEVER BE ABLE TO PUT THE WAR BEHIND IT WITHOUT THE "CATHARSIS" OF FACING THE TRUTH PUBLICLY AND SAID THE REPORT SHOULD BE PUBLICIZED THROUGHOUT EL SALVADOR. HE NOTED THIS WOULD HELP RESOLVE ONE OF THE CAUSES OF THE WAR: IMPUNITY. HE ALSO CALLED UPON SALVADORANS TO CONTEMPLATE "FORGIVENESS" WHEN CONSIDERING THE REPORT.

BETANCUR'S SPEECH - FORGIVENESS AND AMNESTY

5. (U) FORMER PRES. BETANCUR SPOKE FOR THE TRUTH COMMISSION. HE NOTED, INTER ALIA, THAT FORGIVENESS IS

UP TO DEMOCRATIC SALVADORAN SOCIETY TO DECIDE UPON.

COMMENT: SINCE PRES. CRISTIANI'S PROPOSAL REGARDING AMNESTY WAS ALREADY KNOWN IN NEW YORK, BOTH THE SYG'S AND BETANCUR'S REFERENCES TO FORGIVENESS AND PARDONS ARE SEEN BY MANY AS INDICATING THAT JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS ARE NOT REQUIRED BY THE REPORT. END COMMENT.

8. (C) THE FOUR FRIENDS' PERMREPS, TOGETHER WITH USUN MISSOFFS, MET LATE AFTERNOON MARCH 15 WITH FMLN LEADERS HANDAL, SAMAYOA, GUADALUPE MARTINEZ AND MORENO (SEE REF. B FOR REPORT OF PRIOR USUN MEETING WITH THE SAME FMLN TEAM). SHAFICK HANDAL, IN RESPONSE TO THE FOUR'S REQUEST FOR FMLN VIEWS REGARDING THE REPORT, OBSERVED THAT "FEAR HAS RETURNED TO EL SALVADOR" IN THE WAKE OF GEN. PONCE'S STATEMENT ON MARCH 12 (REF. A) AND A RECENT THE PAMPHLET PUBLISHED BY THE ESAF. ACCORDING TO HANDAL, THESE REPRESENT THE "HEART OF THE MILITARY'S THINKING" AND RETURN TO THE OLD LANGUAGE OF CONFLICT AND COMMUNIST WORLD CONSPIRACY.

9. (C) IN LIGHT OF THE ABOVE, HANDAL NOTED, THOSE IN PUBLIC OFFICE CITED IN THE TRUTH COMMISSION'S REPORT SHOULD RESIGN IMMEDIATELY, IN ORDER TO RESTORE PUBLIC CONFIDENCE THAT THE PEACE PROCESS WILL NOT SLIDE BACKWARDS. IN ADDITION, HANDAL ARGUED, THE JUDICIARY MUST BE REFORMED AS RECOMMENDED BY THE TRUTH COMMISSION AND JUDICIAL PROCEEDING SHOULD BE INITIATED AGAINST THOSE CITED IN THE REPORT AS HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATORS. HANDAL NOTED THAT AN AMNESTY SHOULD BE GRANTED ONLY AFTER THESE JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS HAVE DEMONSTRATED THAT THE SALVADORAN JUDICIAL SYSTEM IS CAPABLE OF HANDLING SUCH CASES IN ORDER TO REASSURE SOCIET
Y THAT THERE WILL BE NO RETURN TO "IMPUNITY."

SSIFIED

10. (C) SAMAYOA DISAGREED, POINTING OUT THAT JUDICIAL PROCEEDING WOULD BE LENGTHY AND IMPRACTICAL, SINCE EVIDENCE PRESENTED TO THE TRUTH COMMISSION IS CONFIDENTIAL AND NOT AVAILABLE TO THE COURTS. GUADALUPE MARTINEZ NOTED THAT THE AMNESTY WOULD CONTRIBUTE MORE TO NATIONAL RECONCILIATION IF IT WERE MADE IN THE CONTEXT OF FULL COMPLIANCE WITH THE COMMISSION'S RECOMMENDATIONS AND IF A SHORT PERIOD OF TIME WERE ALLOWED TO PERMIT PUBLIC DISCUSSION AND THE CONSTRUCTION OF A BROAD-BASED CONSENSUS IN FAVOR OF AMNESTY. GUADALUPE MARTINEZ STRESSED THAT THE FMLN WAS COMMITTED TO ACCEPTING THE TRUTH COMMISSION REPORT IN FULL. SHE POINTE
D OUT THAT
FMLN LEADERS WERE NAMED IN THE REPORT, WHICH RECOMMENDS THEY BE BARRED FROM PUBLIC OFFICE FOR A DECADE (COMMENT: THIS INCLUDES MARTINEZ. END COMMENT), YET THE FMLN STILL BACKS THE REPORT FULLY, AS AN EXAMPLE TO SALVADORAN SOCIETY. WITHOUT THIS PERIOD OF DISCUSSION, THE FEAR WILL PERSIST THAT EVEN THOUGH THE REPORT WAS PUBLISHED, THE AMNESTY MEANS "BUSINESS AS USUAL."

HE STRESSED THAT ONCE THE TRUTH IS KNOWN, THE CHURCH WILL FOCUS ON FORGIVENESS AND RECONCILIATION. 15. (U) BEGIN TEXT OF SUMMARY OF TRUTH COMMISSION REPORT:

BEGIN TEXT. SUMMARY

INTRODUCTION

THE COMMISSION ON THE TRUTH (HEREIN "TRUTH COMMISSION) WAS SO NAMED BECAUSE OF ITS VERY PURPOSE AND FUNCTION HAVE BEEN TO SEEK, FIND AND MAKE PUBLIC THE TRUTH ABOUT THE ACTS OF VIOLENCE COMMITTED BY BOTH SIDES IN EL SALVADOR DURING A CIVIL WAR IN WHICH MORE THAN 75,000 SALVADORANS WERE KILLED. THIS REPORT ATTEMPTS TO SET OUT, WITH DETAILED EXAMPLES BASED ON EXTENSIVE TESTIMONY AND INVESTIGATION, RESPONSIBILITY FOR SOME OF THE WORST AND MOST WIDESPREAD VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN EL SALVADOR BETWEEN 1980 AND JULY 1991.

PEACE IS ALWAYS MADE BY THOSE WHO HAVE FOUGHT THE WAR. WITH THE SUPPORT OF THE UNITED NATIONS, THE

PARTIES IN CONFLICT EXPLICITLY ESTABLISHED THIS COMMISSION AND GAVE IT ITS MANDATE UNDER THE PEACE ACCORD. IN SO ACTING, THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR AND THE GUERRILLAS OF THE FARABUNDO MARTI NATIONAL LIBERATION FRONT (FMLN) ABANDONED FRATRICIDE AND

EMBRACED THE PRINCIPLE THAT THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR ACTS OF VIOLENCE MUST BE PUBLICLY RECOGNIZED, THAT VICTIMS MUST BE REMEMBERED AND THAT THE PERPETRATORS MUST BE IDENTIFIED.

THIS REPORT IS BASED ALSO ON THE PRINCIPLE THAT INDIVIDUALS, EVEN THOSE CAUGHT UP IN THE FURY OF CIVIL WAR AND THE ORDERS OF SUPERIORS, ARE ACCOUNTABLE FOR THEIR ACTIONS. BY COMMITTING THEMSELVES TO REMEMBER THE TRAGIC VIOLENCE OF THEIR RECENT PAST AND BY CALLING FOR ACCOUNTABILITY IN THEIR NEW NATIONAL QUEST FOR PEACE, THE SALVADORAN PEOPLE AND THEIR LEADERS HAVE SET A STANDARD THAT OFFERS HOPE IN A WORLD RAVAGED DAILY BY NEWLY TERRIBLE CIVIL WARS AND GROSS ABUSES OF HUMAN RIGHTS. FOR THEIR VISION AND THEIR COURAGE IN EMBRACING THESE ENDS, THE GOVERNMENT, THE FORMER GUERRILLAS AND THE PEOPLE OF EL SALVADOR DESERVE THE PRAISE AND RESPECT OF THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY. THE MEMBERS OF THE TRUTH COMMISSION BELIEVE THAT EL SALVADOR'S COMMITMENT TO FACE THE PAST WILL GO FAR TO STRENGTHEN

THE DETERMINATION TO FIND OUT THE TRUTH, TO PUT AN END TO IMPUNITY AND COVER-UP, AND TO ENCOURAGE RECONCILIATION BY MEANS OF DEMOCRATIC PROCESSES INSTEAD OF VIOLENCE.

BITTER THOUGH THE TRUTH MAY PROVE TO BE IN SOME CASES, RECOGNIZING WHAT HAPPENED IN EL SALVADOR IS THE FIRST ESSENTIAL STEP TO ASSURING THAT IT WILL NOT HAPPEN AGAIN. FOR MORE THAN A DECADE A CONVULSION OF VIOLENCE SEIZED EL SALVADOR. THE ARMY, SECURITY FORCES AND DEATH SQUADS LINKED TO THEM COMMITTED MASSACRES, SOMETIMES OF HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE AT A TIME. THEY ALSO CARRIED OUT TARGETED ASSASSINATIONS OF MANY OTHERS, INCLUDING THE COUNTRY'S ARCHBISHOP AND SIX JESUIT PRIESTS.

THE FMLN GUERRILLAS ALSO FOLLOWED A LOGIC OF VIOLENCE THAT LED TO GRAVE HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. THEY KILLED, KIDNAPPED AND DISAPPEARED CIVILIANS, DISSIDENTS WITHIN THE REBEL MOVEMENT, PUBLIC OFFICIALS, MAYORS, JUDGES AND UNARMED U.S. MILITARY PERSONNEL.

THIS OUTBURST OF VIOLENCE HAS DEEP ROOTS IN A HISTORY OF VIOLENCE IN EL SALVADOR THAT PERMITTED POLITICAL OPPONENTS TO BE DEFINED AS ENEMIES TO BE ELIMINATED. A MENTALITY OF VIOLENCE AFFECTED ALL SIDES IN THE WAR. IT WAS REINFORCED BY THE LACK OF A CREDIBLE JUDICIAL SYSTEM. SUCH HATRED, KILLING AND ACCEPTANCE OF INJUSTICE MUST NEVER AGAIN BE ALLOWED IN EL SALVADOR TO DESTROY DIALOGUE, TOLERANCE AND RECONCILIATION.

TRUTH ALONE, HOWEVER, IS NOT ENOUGH TO ATTAIN THE FURTHER GOAL OF NATIONAL RECONCILIATION AND REUNITING THE SALVADORAN FAMILY. FORGIVENESS ALSO IS INDISPENSABLE. THE ABUSES AND THE PAIN INFLICTED ON TENS OF THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE IN EL SALVADOR WILL NOT AND SHOULD NOT BE FORGOTTEN. IT IS THE COMMISSION'S HOPE THAT THE SENSE OF JUSTICE THAT TRUTH GIVES VOICE TO, WILL, IN TIME, HELP THEM TO FORGIVE.

BY ACCEPTING THE CHALLENGE OF TRUTH AND OF PEACE, THE GOVERNMENT AND THE FORMER GUERRILLAS IN EL SALVADOR HAVE ASSUMED A SPECIAL RESPONSIBILITY. SALVADORAN SOCIETY--A SOCIETY OF SACRIFICE AND HOPE--IS WATCHING THEM FROM THE VANTAGE POINT OF HISTORY. THE FUTURE OF THE NATION SUMMONS THEM, A NATION WHICH IS MOVING FORWARD UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF ONE DOMINANT IDEA: TO LIFT ITSELF OUT OF THE RUINS IN ORDER TO HOLD HIGH, LIKE A BANNER, THE VISION OF ITS FUTURE. IT IS THE COMMISSION'S HOPE THAT A MORE JUST EL SALVADOR WILL ARISE FROM THE ASHES OF WAR IN WHICH ALL SIDES WERE UNJUST.

THE MANDATE AND METHODOLOGY OF THE TRUTH COMMISSION

THE COMMISSION WAS COMPOSED OF THREE INTERNATIONAL NOTABLES SELECTED BY THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS IN CONSULTATIONS WITH THE PARTIES: BELISARIO BENTANCUR, FORMER PRESIDENT OF COLOMBIA; REINALDO FIGUEREDO PLANCHART, FORME
R FOREIGN MINISTER OF VENEZUELA; AND THOMAS BUERGENTHAL, PROFESSOR OF LAW, GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY.

THE COMMISSION WAS NOT ESTABLISHED AS A JUDICIAL BODY. INSTEAD, IT WAS GIVEN SIX MONTHS UNDER THE TERMS OF THE SALVADORAN PEACE ACCORDS TO CARRY OUT FOUR MAIN TASKS: TO CLARIFY THE WORST HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES OF WAR BY ALL SIDES; TO STUDY WITH SPECIAL CARE THE IMPUNITY WITH WHICH THE SALVADORAN MILITARY AND SECURITY FORCES COMMITTED ABUSES; TO MAKE LEGAL, POLITICAL OR ADMINISTRATIVE RECOMMENDATIONS TO PREVENT A REPEAT OF PAST ABUSES; AND FINALLY, TO STIMULATE NATIONAL RECONCILIATION. BOTH THE GUERRILLAS AND THE GOVERNMENT COMMITTED THEMSELVES TO CARRY OUT THE COMMISSION'S RECOMMENDATIONS.

ALL WITNESSES WHO REQUESTED IT, WERE GUARANTEED CONFIDENTIALITY TO PROTECT THEIR LIVES AND ENCOURAGE FRANKNESS. II. THE FMLN

IN BROAD TERMS, THE COMMISSION FINDS THE FMLN RESPONSIBLE FOR HAVING COMMITTED "GRAVE ACTS OF VIOLENCE" INCLUDING ASSASSINATIONS, DISAPPEARANCES AND KIDNAPPINGS DURING THE WAR THAT VIOLATED HUMAN RIGHTS AND HUMANITARIAN LAW. THE COMMISSION RECEIVED MORE THAN 800 DENUNCIATIONS OF GRAVE VIOLATIONS BY THE FMLN, INCLUDING NEARLY 400 KILLINGS AND OVER 300 DISAPPEARANCES.

THE COMMISSION CALLS ON THE FMLN TO RENOUNCE FOREVER ALL FORMS OF VIOLENCE IN THE PURSUIT OF POLITICAL ENDS.

III. THE ARMED FORCES

THE VAST MAJORITY OF ABUSES STUDIED BY THE COMMISSION WERE COMMITTED BY MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES OR GROUPS ALLIED TO THEM. IN ORDER TO PROMOTE THE URGENT NEED IN EL SALVADOR TO PROFESSIONALIZE THE

REMAIN A POTENTIAL MENACE. THE COMMISSION RECEIVED TESTIMONY ON MORE THAN 800 VICTIMS OF DEATH SQUADS.

El Salvador Human Rights Special Project (1993)

THIS PROBLEM IS SO SERIOUS THAT THE COMMISSION CALLS FOR A SPECIAL INVESTIGATION OF DEATH SQUADS IN ORDER TO REVEAL AND THEN PUT AN END TO SUCH ACTIVITY. THE COMMISSION IS ESPECIALLY CONCERNED BY THE CLOSE RELATION BETWEEN THE MILITARY, HIRED ASSASSINS AND EXTREMISTS WITHIN THE SALVADORAN BUSINESS COMMUNITY AND SOME AFFLUENT FAMILIES, WHO RESORTED TO KILLING TO SETTLE DISPUTES. THIS PRACTICE MUST END. THE COMMISSION ALSO IS CONCERNED THAT SALVADORAN EXILES LIVING IN MIAMI HELPED ADMINISTER DEATH SQUAD ACTIVITIES BETWEEN 1980 AND 19B3, WITH APPARENTLY LITTLE ATTENTION FROM THE U.S. GOVERNMENT. SUCH USE OF AMERICAN TERRITORY FOR ACTS OF TERRORISM ABROAD SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED AND NEVER ALLOWED TO BE REPEATED.

V. THE JUSTICE SYSTEM

THE COMMISSION FINDS THAT THE SYSTEM OF JUSTICE IN EL SALVADOR IS HIGHLY DEFICIENT. IT MAKES SEVERAL RECOMMENDATIONS TO ADDRESS THIS PROFOUND PROBLEM THAT PERMITTED THE ABUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN EL SALVADOR.

(1) THE REPORT CALLS FOR THE IMMEDIATE IMPLEMENTATION OF CONSTITUTIONAL REFORMS REQUIRING THE TURNOVER OF THE PRESENT MEMBERS OF THE SUPREME COURT. IN PARTICULAR, THE PRESIDENT OF THE COURT, DR. MAURICIO GUTIERREZ CASTRO, IS CITED FOR UNPROFESSIONAL CONDUCT.

(2) BRING ABOUT A TRUE SEPARATION OF POWERS BETWEEN THE EXECUTIVE, LEGISLATURE AND THE JUDICIARY IN ORDER TO DE-POLITICIZE THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE AND IN PARTICULAR THE SUPREME COURT IN EL SALVADOR.

(3) THE POWER OF THE HEAD OF THE SUPREME COURT AND ITS CENTRALIZED POWER OVER THE REST OF THE JUDICIARY SHOULD BE REDUCED.

(4) THE REPORT CALLS FOR THE ALREADY CREATED INDEPENDENT JUDICIAL COUNCIL TO MADE TRULY INDEPENDENT, SO THAT IT CAN OVERSEE THE FUNCTIONING OF THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM. THIS GROUP WILL REVIEW THE PROFESSIONAL CAPACITY OF ALL SERVING JUDGES. THIS GROUP SHOULD BE GIVEN THE POWER TO APPOINT OR REMOVE JUDGES, TAKING THAT POWER AWAY FROM THE SUPREME COURT.

RELEASED
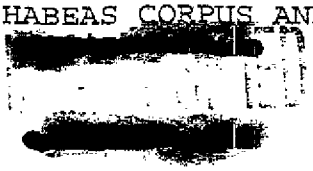
Special Project (1993)

(6) EXTRA-JUDICIAL CONFESSIONS SHOULD BE PROHIBITED; THE RIGHT TO A LAWYER SHOULD BE STRENGTHENED; STRICT LIMITS SHOULD BE PLACED ON PRE-TRIAL DETENTION; THOSE WHO CAN ORDER DETENTIONS SHOULD BE LIMITED AND DEFINED; THE RIGHT OF HABEAS CORPUS AND THE



PRESUMPTION OF INNOCE
NCE SHOULD BE STRENGTHENED.

(7) A LIST SHOULD BE KEPT AND MADE PUBLIC OF ALL DETENTION CENTERS AND ALL THOSE WHO ARE DETAINED IN THEM.

(8) THE NEW CIVILIAN NATIONAL POLICE FORCE SHOULD BE FULLY SUPPORTED.

VI. HUMAN RIGHTS

EL SALVADOR NEEDS TO FORTIFY AWARENESS OF AND RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS. THE NEW OFFICE OF THE NATIONAL COUNSEL FOR THE DEFENSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS SHOULD BE STRENGTHENED AND EXTENDED TO HAVE REGIONAL OFFICES IN EACH DEPARTMENT OF THE COUNTRY. OFFICIALS IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE SHOULD BE ALLOWED ACCESS ANYWHERE IN THE COUNTRY. THE CONSTITUTION SHOULD GUARANTEE HUMAN RIGHTS. EL SALVADOR SHOULD RATIFY AND IMPLEMENT ALL MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORDS NOT ALREADY

VII. PUNISHMENT

THE COMMISSION FEELS JUSTICE DEMANDS PUNISHMENT FOR THE VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS. BUT IT IS NOT ITSELF CONSTITUTED TO SPECIFY SANCTIONS AND RECOGNIZES THAT THE PRESENT SALVADORAN JUDICIAL SYSTEM IS INCAPABLE OF FAIRLY ASSESSING AND CARRYING OUT PUNISHMENT. THEREFORE, THE COMMISSION FEELS IT CANNOT RECOMMEND JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS IN EL SALVADOR AGAINST THE PERSONS NAMED IN ITS REPORT UNTIL AFTER JUDICIAL REFORMS ARE CARRIED OUT.

VIII. NATIONAL RECONCILIATION

THE COMMISSION BELIEVES THAT JUSTICE ALSO DEMANDS THAT THE VICTIMS OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS BY ALL SIDES IN THE WAR BE PUBLICLY RECOGNIZED AND BE GIVEN MATERIAL COMPENSATION. THE REPORT LISTS THE NAMES OF MORE THAN 18,000 VICTIMS IT RECEIVED TESTIMONY ON. THE REPORT CALLS FOR A SPECIAL FUND TO BE ESTABLISHED FOR THIS PURPOSE. IT WILL GIVE RESOURCES BY THE GOVERNMENT AND BE SUPPORTED BY A RECOMMENDATION THAT ONE PERCENT OF ALL FOREIGN AID BE DIRECTED TO THE FUND. THE COMMISSION EXPRESSES THE HOPE THAT THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY WILL ASSIST THE GOVERNMENT OF EL SALVADOR TO CARRY OUT THIS RECOMMENDATION.

A NATIONAL MONUMENT SHOULD BE ERECTED, LISTING THE [redacted]

NAMES OF ALL THE VICTIMS OF THE WAR. A NATIONAL ANNUAL HOLIDAY SHOULD BE DECLARED TO REMEMBER THE DEAD AND CELEBRATE RECONCILIATION.

THIS REPORT SHOULD BE DISCUSSED AND ANALYZED AT A NATIONAL PUBLIC FORUM IN EL SALVADOR.

THE COMMISSION CALLS ON THE UNITED NATIONS TO MONITOR COMPLIANCE WITH ALL RECOMMENDATIONS MADE HERE, AS AGREED BY THE PARTIES TO THE PEACE ACCORD.

1. (C) POLOFF VISITED POPAYAN, THE CAPITAL OF CAUCA, ONE OF COLOMBIA'S MOST CONFLICTIVE REGIONS, MARCH 2-3. CAUCA ATTRACTED WORLD ATTENTION IN DECEMBER 1991 WHEN 20 INDIANS WERE KILLED BY A PARAMILITARY SQUAD IN

WHAT WAS CALLED COLOMBIA'S FIRST AMAPOLA (HEROIN POPPY) MASSACRE. ONE OF COLOMBIA'S SMALLEST AND POOREST DEPARTMENTS, RURAL AND INDUSTRY-LESS CAUCA, WHERE LAND IS THE ONLY SOURCE OF WEALTH, IS HOME TO BOTH COLOMBIA'S LARGEST INDIGENOUS POPULATION AND ITS MOST INTRACTABLE LAND DISPUTES. IT WAS PRIMARILY TO WIN BACK LAND LOST TO LARGE LANDOWNERS THAT CAUCA'S INDIANS, WHO WIELD POWER OUT OF PROPORTION TO THEIR NUMBERS, FORMED THE REGIONAL INDIGENOUS COUNCIL OF CAUCA (CRIC) IN 1971. BY ALMOST ALL MEASURES, CRIC HAS SUCCEEDED, HAVING RECOUPED MORE THAN 80,000

HECTARES, WITH THE HELP OF INCORA, THE GOVERNMENT'S LAND REFORM AGENCY.

2 (U) CAUCA ALSO WAS HOME TO THE INDIGENOUS GUERRILLA GROUP, QUINTIN LAME, WHICH MADE PEACE IN 1991, AND NOW BELONGS TO THE AD/M-19 ON THE NATIONAL LEVEL. QUINTIN LAME EX-COMBATANTS, HOWEVER, HAVE HAD MORE SUCCESS THAN THEIR CAUCA M-19 COMRADES IN TURNING THEIR SWORDS INTO PLOWSHARES.

3. (C) WHILE CAUCA TRADITIONALLY HAS PRODUCED MARIJUANA AND COCA, THE NEW SCOURGE OF AMAPOLA, PRIMARILY PRODUCED BY INDIANS, NOW IS CONSIDERED ITS PRINCIPAL SECURITY THREAT. TO ITS SURPRISE, HOWEVER, THE GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN JOINED BY A WELCOME ALLY IN THE FIGHT AGAINST AMAPOLA, THE INDIANS' OWN LEADERS, WHO FEAR AMAPOLA WILL FINISH THE DESTRUCTION, BEGUN BY COLOMBUS, OF THEIR CULTURE. SINCE A MAY 1992 INDIGENOUS/GOVERNMENT ACCORD KNOWN AS "LA MINGA," INDIANS HAVE MANUALLY ERADICATED THOUSANDS OF HECTARES OF AMAPOLA WITHOUT VIOLENCE OR GLYPHOSATE. WHILE CAUCA WAS UNDERGOING AERIAL SPRAYING AT THE TIME OF POLOFF'S VISIT, INDIGENOUS AREAS, THANKS TO "LA MINGA," WERE NOT.

4. (U) FIRST AND FOREMOST OF CAUCA'S OTHER SECURITY CONCERNS IS THE GUERRILLAS, WHO BESIDES PLAYING A SIGNIFICANT ROLE IN POPPY PRODUCTION, ALSO ARE INVOLVED IN RANSOM KIDNAPPING, EXTORTION AND ROAD PIRACY. IN THE POLITICAL ARENA, CAUCA IS IN THE MIDST OF A TRANSFORMATION, AS CIVIC MOVEMENTS BEAT THE TWO

TRADITIONAL PARTIES IN THE 1992 MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS. MEANWHILE, COLOMBIA'S NEW CONSTITUTION, UNDER THE BANNER OF "TERRITORIALITY," HAS CREATED A CONFLICT BETWEEN PRIVATE PROPERTY RIGHTS AND THE INDIGENOUS' COMMUNAL OWNERSHIP TO USHER IN THE 21ST CENTURY. END

CALOTO -- COLOMBIA'S FIRST AMAPOLA MASSACRE

6. (U) CAUCA ATTRACTED INTERNATIONAL ATTENTION IN DECEMBER 1991 WHEN 20 PAEZ INDIANS WERE MASSACRED BY A PARAMILITARY SQUAD IN CALOTO IN NORTHERN CAUCA. THE VICTIMS BELONGED TO A COMMUNITY OF SQUATTERS OCCUPYING A CORNER OF THE "EL NILO" ESTATE. AFTER YEARS PASSED WITHOUT RESOLUTION OF THE DISPUTE, THE OWNER APPARENTLY SOLD THE FARM (PROBABLY AT AN EXORBITANT PRICE THAT INCORA COULDN'T PAY) TO NARCOS APPARENTLY WANTING TO CULTIVATE AMAPOLA. AFTER THE INDIANS FAILED TO HEED SEVERAL WARNINGS, THE NARCOS, WITH THE AID OF LOCAL SECURITY FORCES (A POLICE MAJOR AND THE COMMANDER OF THE LOCAL POLICE ANTI-NARCOTICS UNIT FACE ADMINISTRATIVE BUT NO CRIMINAL CHARGES; REFTEL), USED VIOLENCE TO REMOVE THEM. A FEW MONTHS LATER, THE GOVERNMENT EXPROPRIATED AND DISTRIBUTED THE LAND TO THE VICTIMS' FAMILIES. VARIOUS PERSONS WITH WHOM POLOFF MET CITED CALOTO AS THEIR WORST FEARS COME TRUE OF WHAT COULD RESULT FROM A MIXING OF AMAPOLA AND CAUCA'S TRADITIONAL LAND CONFLICTS.

THE CAUCA'S 37 COUNTIES (MUNICIPIOS) LIVE IN POVERTY.

(U) WEALTH IN CAUCA HAS ALWAYS BEEN IN THE LAND, BUT WHILE THE AGRICULTURAL SECTOR HAS MAINTAINED ITS PREMIER POSITION IN THE DEPARTMENT'S ECONOMY, IT CONTINUES TO BE BASICALLY LABOR-INTENSIVE, WITH A RELATIVELY LOW APPLICATION OF TECHNOLOGY, CAPITAL AND AGGREGATE VALUE. INDEED, CAUCA CONTINUES TO HAVE VERY LITTLE INDUSTRY, LIMITING EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES FOR ITS 800,000 RESIDENTS.

10. CRIC AND THE NON-VIOLENT INDIGENOUS MOVEMENT

11. (U) IN 1971, CAUCA'S EMERGING INDIAN MOVEMENT GAVE BIRTH TO THE REGIONAL INDIGENOUS COUNCIL OF CAUCA (CRIC). AMONG THE ORGANIZATION'S OBJECTIVES WERE TO STRENGTHEN THE POSITION OF THE "CABILDOS" (INDIAN COMMUNITY GOVERNING COUNCILS), PRESERVE INDIGENOUS HISTORY, LANGUAGE AND CUSTOMS, AND END THE FEUDAL, SEMI-SERVILE "TERRAJE" SYSTEM, WHEREBY INDIANS PAID TERRATENIENTES (LARGE LANDOWNERS) RENT IN THE FORM OF LABOR TO LIVE ON AND FARM A PARCEL OF THE ESTATE. CRIC'S TOP PRIORITY, HOWEVER, WAS "TO RECUPERATE THE LANDS OF THE ORIGINAL RESGUARDOS (RESERVATIONS)," ACQUIRED FROM THE SPANIARDS BUT TAKEN BY TERRATENIENTES.

12. (C) AS CRIC MARKS ITS 22ND BIRTHDAY, IT CAN ONLY BE TERMED A SUCCESS, HAVING ACHIEVED ALL OF ITS OBJECTIVES, INCLUDING THE "RECUPERATION" OF MORE THAN 80,000 HECTARES. TODAY, CAUCA'S INDIANS LIVE IN 48 RESGUARDOS OCCUPYING A SIXTH OF CAUCA'S 29,000 SQUARE KILOMETERS. EVERYONE POLOFF SPOKE WITH SAID THE HISTORICAL TERRATENIENTE/INDIAN LAND CONFLICT WAS MOSTLY RESOLVED. REGIONAL INCORA (LAND REFORM AGENCY) HEAD GUERRERO TOLD POLOFF HIS STAFF RECENTLY HAD LISTED THE DEPARTMENT'S 10 TOUGHEST LAND DISPUTES; ONLY ONE WAS BETWEEN A TERRATENIENTE AND INDIANS. MEANWHILE, CRIC'S SUCCESS HAS SPAWNED COPYCAT REGIONAL INDIGENOUS COUNCILS IN OTHER DEPARTMENTS.

13. (C) CRIC'S SUCCESS IN "RECUPERATING" LAND HAS NOT BEEN WITHOUT STRUGGLE. FROM THE START, CRIC HAS EMPLOYED A POLICY OF OCCUPYING PROPERTIES TO CREATE A CONFLICT INCORA WOULD BE FORCED TO DEFUSE. ONE CRIC REP SAID THAT EVERY TIME INCORA ANNOUNCES THAT IT HAS DISTRIBUTED "X" NUMBER OF HECTARES TO "X" NUMBER OF CAMPESINOS OR INDIANS, WHAT IT FAILS TO MENTION IS HOW MANY PEOPLE LOST THEIR LIVES TO GET INCORA TO ACT. THE CRIC REPS SAID THE GOC AT TIMES ACTS OUT OF CONCERN FOR ITS IMAGE ABROAD. ONE CRIC REP SAID "INCORA ALWAYS ACTS WHEN SOMETHING LIKE CALOTO HAPPENS." WHEN POLOFF REPEATED CRIC'S CRITICISM TO INCORA CHIEF GUERRERO, HE RESPONDED, "COLOMBIA IS LIKE ANYWHERE ELSE IN THE WORLD; NO ONE GETS ANYTHING WITHOUT A STRUGGLE."

INDIANS LAG BEHIND THOSE FOR THE DEPARTMENT IN GENERAL. ONE OF CRIC'S PRESENT FOCUSES IS TO PROVIDE THE INDIGENOUS COMMUNITIES WITH NEEDED SOCIAL SERVICES, THUS FILLING THE VOID LEFT BY AN ABSENT GOVERNMENT.

15. (U) MEANWHILE, CAUCA'S INDIGENOUS MOVEMENT IS NOT WITHOUT ITS DIVISIONS. CRIC IS DOMINATED BY CAUCA'S (AND COLOMBIA'S) LARGEST TRIBE, THE PAECES. WHILE SOME GUAMBIANOS (CAUCA'S SECOND LARGEST TRIBE) LIVE ON PAEZ RESGUARDOS, AND THUS BELONG TO CRIC, MOST GUAMBIANO COMMUNITIES BELONG TO ANOTHER MOVEMENT, THE INDIGENOUS AUTHORITIES OF COLOMBIA. PAECES AND GUAMBIANOS HAVE OFTEN COMPETED FOR THE SAME LAND.

QUINTIN LAME AND THE ARMED INDIAN MOVEMENT

16. (U) ANOTHER DIVISION IN THE INDIAN MOVEMENT WAS OVER "FORMS OF STRUGGLE." CRIC HAD ALWAYS ADVOCATED

NON-VIOLENCE; HOWEVER, IT'S TACTIC OF OCCUPYING PROPERTIES EARNED A VIOLENT RESPONSE FROM TERRATENIENTES, WHO FORMED SELF-DEFENSE AND PARAMILITARY GROUPS (SELF-DEFENSE GROUPS WITH GOVERNMENT SECURITY FORCE COLLABORATION) TO PROTECT THEIR PROPERTY. INITIALLY, INDIANS SOUGHT THE PROTECTION OF THE GUERRILLA GROUPS OPERATING IN THE REGION -- THE FARC AND M-19. THE COMMUNITIES, HOWEVER, FOUND THE GUERRILLAS HIGH-HANDED, AND CONFLICTS EVENTUALLY AROSE, ESPECIALLY WITH THE FARC, MOTIVATING THE COMMUNITIES TO LOOK TOWARD A HOMEGROWN SELF-DEFENSE FORCE FORMED AND CONTROLED BY THE CABILDOS.

17. (U) WITH HELP FROM THE M-19, THE "QUINTIN LAME ARMED MOVEMENT" WAS BORN IN 1984, NAMED AFTER QUINTIN LAME, AN INDIAN WHO FROM 1914-18 LED AN ARMED RESISTANCE TO THE DISMANTLING OF CAUCA'S RESGUARDOS. THE NEW GUERRILLA GROUP WAS FORMED TO DEFEND THE COMMUNITIES AGAINST (1) THE TERRATENIENTES' VIOLENT RESPONSE TO THE LAND OCCUPATIONS, AND (2) THE FARC'S INCREASING ATTEMPTS TO PENETRATE AND DOMINATE THE RESGUARDOS. WHILE THE INDIGENOUS LEADERS WITH WHOM POLOFF MET ALWAYS SPOKE OF QUINTIN LAME IN ITS EARLY STAGE AS BEING A PURELY SELF-DEFENSE GROUP, REGIONAL PNR CHIEF FERNANDEZ SAID IT WAS CLEAR THE COMMUNITIES FROM THE START HAD USED QUINTIN LAME AS AN OFFENSIVE WEAPON TO ASSIST THEIR PENETRATION AND OCCUPATION OF ESTATES.

18. (U) ANOTHER QUINTIN LAME FUNCTION WAS ACTING AS AN INTERNAL POLICE FORCE FOR THE RESGUARDOS, WHERE LAND DISPUTES ARE COMMON BETWEEN DIFFERENT INDIAN COMMUNITIES LIVING IN THE SAME RESGUARDO (E.G., PAECES VS. GUAMBIANOS) AS WELL AS BETWEEN INDIVIDUAL FAMILIES. COMMON CRIME AND PERSONAL CONFLICTS ALSO ARE COMMON.

19. (U) WHAT INITIALLY DISTINGUISHED QUINTIN LAME FROM COLOMBIA'S OTHER INSURGENT GROUPS (BESIDES BEING COMPOSED ALMOST EXCLUSIVELY OF INDIANS) WAS ITS LIMITED SCOPE, GOALS AND OBJECTIVES. QUINTIN LAME LACKED IDEOLOGY, NATIONAL OBJECTIVES AND OPPOSITION TO THE POLITICAL/ECONOMIC SYSTEM AS A WHOLE.

20. (U) THOSE DISTINCTIONS BEGAN TO BLUR IN THE LATE 1980S, HOWEVER, MUCH TO THE DISSATISFACTION OF THE INDIGENOUS COMMUNITIES THAT HAD CREATED THE ARMED GROUP IN THE FIRST PLACE. QUINTIN LAME JOINED THE OTHER INSURGENT GROUPS IN THE GUERRILLA COORDINATING TOLD POLOFF QUINTIN LAME HAD FAILED AT THE ONE TASK FOR WHICH IT WAS CREATED -- TO DEFEND THE COMMUNITIES. [ ] ATTRIBUTED MUCH OF THE PROBLEM TO THE FACT THAT, AS A GUERRILLA GROUP, QUINTIN LAME HAD TO STAY ON THE MOVE, WHEREAS TO BE EFFECTIVE, A SELF-DEFENSE AND/OR INTERNAL POLICE FORCE NEEDED TO MAINTAIN A PERMANENT PRESENCE.

22. (C) [ ] UNTIL RECENTLY, [ ] THE FARC AND ELN HAD RESPECTED QUINTIN LAME'S DECISION; HOWEVER, SINCE PRESIDENT GAVIRIA DECREED A STATE OF INTERNAL DISTURBANCE IN NOVEMBER, ALLOWING HIM TO BEGIN AN ALL-OUT, INTEGRAL WAR AGAINST THEM, [ ] THE FARC AND ELN HAD INCREASINGLY MADE INCURSIONS INTO CAUCA RESGUARDOS, AND HAD BEEN MORE ABUSIVE IN THEIR DEALINGS WITH THE COMMUNITIES AND THEIR CABILDOS. [ ] THE PEACE TALKS AND THE INTERNATIONAL ATTENTION THEY ATTRACTED HAD KEPT THE GUERRILLAS ON THEIR BEST BEHAVIOR, BUT THAT NOW WITH THE PEACE PROCESS DEAD AND THE BATTLE FOR PUBLIC OPINION LOST, THE GUERRILLAS HAVE NOTHING TO PURSUE BUT MILITARY AND TERRITORIAL GAINS, AND NEED BE LESS CONCERNED ABOUT HOW THEY ACHIEVE THEM. 23. (C) THE FARC AND ELN ARE NOT WITHOUT SUPPORT IN THE COMMUNITIES, [ ] WHAT THEY OFFER IS "JUSTICE." THE COLOMBIAN NATIONAL POLICE (CNP) DOESN'T ENTER THE RESGUARDOS, AND THE UNARMED CABILDOS ARE RELUCTANT TO GET INVOLVED. THE FARC AND ELN PROVIDE A SOMETIMES WELCOMED POLICE PRESENCE AND PRIVATE JUSTICE.

24. (C) IN WHAT COULD BE TERMED A VICIOUS CIRCLE, [ ] THERE RECENTLY HAD BEEN RENEWED CLAMOR FOR AN INDIGENOUS SELF-DEFENSE FORCE. THE INDIGENOUS SOCIAL ASSOCIATION (ASI), [ ] AND CRIC, HOWEVER, WERE ARGUING AGAINST, SAYING SUCH A FORCE WOULD BE NO MORE SUCCESSFUL IN PROVIDING PROTECTION THAN QUINTIN LAME, WHILE AN ILLEGAL ARMED GROUP WOULD ATTRACT A VIOLENT RESPONSE FROM THOSE IT WAS INTENDED TO DEFEND AGAINST AS WELL AS FROM THE SECURITY FORCES. FURTHERMORE, HAVING ARMED MEN IN THE COMMUNITIES WOULD BE A PROBLEM ITSELF; THEY WOULD DISOBEY THE CABILDOS, AS WELL AS USE THEIR GUNS FOR PERSONAL REASONS. B1 1.5(d)

DEMISE OF QUINTIN LAME RESOLVED THE DISPUTE INSIDE THE INDIAN MOVEMENT BETWEEN THOSE FAVORING AND OPPOSING ARMED STRUGGLE, AND THUS HAS ENABLED CRIC AND EX-QUINTIN LAME GUERRILLAS TO NOW WORK TOGETHER. DESPITE ITS NAME, ASI IS MORE THE POLITICAL ARM OF THE INDIGENOUS MOVEMENT, WITH CRIC PERFORMING THE SOCIAL WORK.

26. (U) FORMER QUINTIN LAME GUERRILLAS HAVE HAD A RELATIVELY EASY TIME OF REINTEGRATION INTO CIVILIAN LIFE. BECAUSE OF THE UNIQUE CHARACTERISTICS OF THE INDIGENOUS CULTURE AND QUINTIN LAME AS A GUERRILLA GROUP, THE COMBATANTS NEVER WERE FULLY DIVORCED FROM THEIR REGION, FAMILIES, COMMUNITIES AND LAND. BECAUSE THE COMMUNITIES HAD SUPPORTED THE INSURGENCY, THE EX-COMBATANTS WERE WELCOMED BACK.

TERRATINIENTES, THERE'S THE ALSO HISTORICAL CONFLICT BETWEEN PAECES AND GUAMBIANOS, AS WELL AS CONFLICTS BETWEEN INDIANS AND/OR CAMPESINOS AND/OR BLACKS. POLOFF WAS TOLD OF A RECENT DISPUTE WHERE INDIANS AND BLACKS HAD OCCUPIED THE SAME ESTATE AT ABOUT THE SAME TIME. INCORA WORKED OUT AN AGREEMENT WHEREBY EACH GROUP WOULD GET HALF THE PROPERTY. ADDED TO THESE OLDER, MORE TRADITIONAL CONFLICTS ARE THOSE INVOLVING LARGE VALLE DEL CAUCA SUGAR CANE GROWERS, WHO HAVE BEEN BUYING UP LARGE TRACTS IN NORTHERN CAUCA, AND, AS IN THE CASE OF EL NILO, NARCOS BUYING PROPERTY TO CULTIVATE AMAPOLA.

30. (U) INCORA SEES AS ITS PRIORITY THE RESOLUTION OF CONFLICTS BEFORE THEY TURN VIOLENT, AND IT HAS BEEN SUCCESSFUL. IT IS NO SMALL FEAT THAT INCORA HAS GREATLY RESOLVED THE MOST VIOLENT CONFLICT, THAT BETWEEN INDIANS AND TERRATINIENTES OVER FORMER

AMAPOLA AND LA MINGA

32. (U) BOTH THE NATIONAL AND DEPARTMENTAL GOVERNMENTS CONSIDER A NEW SCOURGE -- THE CULTIVATION OF AMAPOLA (HEROIN POPPIES) -- WHICH HIT CAUCA IN 1991, TO NOW BE CAUCA'S PRINCIPAL SECURITY THREAT. CAUCA IS ONE OF THE DEPARTMENTS WITH THE LARGEST NUMBER OF HECTARES UNDER AMAPOLA CULTIVATION. ONE GOVERNMENT STUDY

REPORTS THAT AMAPOLA CULTIVATIONS HAVE BEEN FOUND IN

18 OF CAUCA'S 37 COUNTIES.

33. (U) WHILE AMAPOLA IS RELATIVELY NEW, CAUCA HAS TRADITIONALLY PRODUCED PRIMARY MATERIALS FOR NARCO-TRAFFICKING, FIRST MARIJUANA THEN COCA. WHAT'S DIFFERENT ABOUT AMAPOLA IS THAT WHILE MOST MARIJUANA AND COCA CULTIVATION IN THE DEPARTMENT HAS BEEN BY CAMPESINOS, THE AMAPOLA IS OVERWHELMINGLY GROWN BY INDIANS. WHILE CULTIVATIONS ALSO EXIST AT LOWER ALTITUDES (MOSTLY BELONGING TO CAMPESINOS), AMAPOLA IS BEST GROWN ABOVE 2,000 METERS, WHERE THE VAST MAJORITY OF CAUCAS INDIGENOUS RESGUARDOS AND COMMUNITIES ARE FOUND, IN EASTERN CAUCA IN COLOMBIA'S CENTRAL CORDILLERA (MOUNTAIN RANGE).

34. (U) POLOFF FOUND A CONSENSUS THAT INDIANS AND CAMPESINOS HAD TURNED TO AMAPOLA BECAUSE TRADITIONAL AGRICULTURE WASN'T PROFITABLE IN CAUCA EXCEPT FOR LARGE SCALE LIVESTOCK RAISING OR THE SUGAR CANE PLANTATIONS IN THE NORTH, PARTLY DUE TO THE LACK OF CREDIT AND INFRASTRUCTURE, INCLUDING ROADS. WITH AMAPOLA ON THE OTHER HAND, THE NARCOS OFFER FREE SEEDS AND SOME OF THE MONEY UP FRONT.

35. (C) [ ] THE AMAPOLA PRODUCTION WAS CONTROLED BY THE URDINOLAS' NORTHERN VALLE DEL CAUCA CARTEL. [ ] PARTIALLY ATTRIBUTED A RECENT FALL IN PRICES TO THE SERIOUS DAMAGE DONE TO THE MARKETING INFRASTRUCTURE BY THE APRIL 1992 ARREST OF CARTEL HEAD IVAN URDINOLA AND MORE RECENT ARRESTS

AND SURRENDERS OF OTHER KEY ORGANIZATION MEMBERS.

36. (U) WHILE THE ODDS WOULD SEEM AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT IN FIGHTING THE AMAPOLA SCOURGE IN CAUCA, IT HAS ACQUIRED A VERY IMPORTANT ALLY IN THE STRUGGLE, I.E., THE INDIANS THEMSELVES. NOT ONLY DOES THE GOVERNMENT VIEW AMAPOLA AS THE DEPARTMENT'S PRINCIPAL SECURITY THREAT, BUT THE CABILDOS AND CRIC CONSIDER IT THE PRINCIPAL THREAT TO THEIR POWER AND INFLUENCE AS WELL AS TO THE INDIGENOUS CULTURE AND WAY OF LIFE.

37. (U) WHILE THE INDIANS LIVE IN COMMUNITIES AND FARM COMMUNALLY IN ACCORD WITH THE COLLECTIVE NATURE OF CULTURE, THE AMAPOLA USUALLY IS GROWN IN SMALL PRIVATE PLOTS. THE RELATIVE INDIVIDUAL WEALTH OF COMMUNITY MEMBERS CULTIVATING AMAPOLA HAS GENERATED INDIVIDUALITY, MATERIALISM, NEGLECT OF FOOD CROPS, DISRESPECT FOR THE CABILDOS, AND VIOLENCE. CRIC,

MEANWHILE, THE INDIGENOUS VALUE THE ENVIRONMENT, BUT BECAUSE AMAPOLA GROWS BETTER IN VIRGIN LAND AND BECAUSE GROWERS HAVE BEEN LOOKING TO HIDE THEIR CULTIVATIONS FROM AUTHORITIES, A LOT OF AMAPOLA HAS BEEN GROWN IN ISOLATED, NOT PREVIOUSLY CULTIVATED AREAS, RESULTING IN A GREAT DEAL OF DEFORESTATION AND SUBSEQUENT RELATED ECOLOGICAL PROBLEMS.

38. (C) THE RESULT OF THE INDIGENOUS LEADERS' FEARS WAS AN INITIATIVE BY THEM TO GET THEIR COMMUNITIES TO ERADICATE THE AMAPOLA THEMSELVES, WITHOUT VIOLENCE OR GLYPHOSATE. IN MAY 1992, REPRESENTATIVES OF THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT, CRIC AND THE CABILDOS SIGNED AN AGREEMENT KNOWN AS THE "MINGA" (A TRADITIONAL INDIGENOUS CONFERENCE TO CONVOKE FORCES TO

UNCLASSIFIED [redacted]

COLLECTIVELY ACCOMPLISH A TASK), WHEREBY THE INDIANS PROMISED TO MANUALLY ERADICATE AMAPOLA IN THEIR COMMUNITIES IN EXCHANGE FOR GOVERNMENT DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE, TO BE ADMINISTERED BY PNR. THE GOC IS PRESENTLY IN THE MIDST OF SPRAYING AMAPOLA CULTIVATIONS IN CAUCA, BUT INDIGENOUS AND GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES ALIKE TOLD POLOFF INDIGENOUS AREAS WERE NOT BEING SPRAYED. WHILE THE INDIANS HAVE MANUALLY ELIMINATED THOUSANDS OF HECTARES, CRIC LEADERS SAID THE MINGA WAS FALLING APART BECAUSE THE GOC HAD NOT COMPLIED WITH ITS END OF THE DEAL. PNR OFFICIALS TOLD POLOFF THEY HAD JUST COMPLETED STUDY OF WHAT ASSISTANCE THE COMMUNITIES NEEDED, AND THAT IT WOULDN'T BE LONG BEFORE THE AID BEGAN TO FLOW.

THE GUERRILLAS

39. (U) FIRST AND FOREMOST OF CAUCA'S OTHER SECURITY CONCERNS IS THE GUERRILLAS, WHO ARE INVOLVED IN NARCO-TRAFFICKING (PARTICULARLY AMAPOLA PRODUCTION), RANSOM KIDNAPPING, ABDUCTION OF SECURITY FORCE PERSONNEL, EXTORTION, ROAD PIRACY, MURDERING CAMPESINOS AND INDIANS BELIEVED TO BE COLLABORATING WITH THE SECURITY FORCES, AMBUSHES AND ATTACKS ON THE SECURITY FORCES, ASSAULTS ON TOWNS, AND FORCED RECRUITMENT.

40. (U) FOUR FARC AND THREE ELN FRONTS (INCLUDING THE MANUEL VASQUEZ CASTANO, ONE OF THE ELN'S MOST RADICAL) OPERATE IN CAUCA. SINCE THE EPL, M-19 AND QUINTIN LAME MADE PEACE IN 1990-91, THERE HAVE FROM TIME TO TIME BEEN REPORTS OF VARIOUS DISSIDENT BANDS OF THE THREE GROUPS OPERATING IN THE DEPARTMENT, BUT THEIR EXISTENCE APPEARS TO HAVE BEEN SHORT-LIVED OR NEVER SUBSTANTIATED.

41. (C) AS IN THE REST OF COLOMBIA, THE FARC AND ELN HAVE MOVED INTO THE AREAS OF CAUCA VACATED BY THE NOW DISARMED M-19 AND QUINTIN LAME. THE FARC AND ELN HAVE DIVIDED UP CAUCA, WITH THE FARC TAKING THE NORTH AND THE ELN THE SOUTH. WHILE IT'S THE FARC THAT HAS MOVED INTO MOST OF THE INDIGENOUS AND BEST AMAPOLA PRODUCING TERRITORY, ELN FRONTS ALSO ARE INVOLVED IN POPPY CULTIVATION. THE GUERRILLAS GUARD AMAPOLA CROPS, AND IN SOME CASES APPEAR TO HAVE THEIR OWN.

POLITICS

44. (U) CAUCA IS IN THE MIDST OF A POLITICAL TRANSITION. THE DEPARTMENT SHARES WITH THE REST OF COLOMBIA POLITICAL DOMINATION BY THE TWO TRADITIONAL PARTIES, THE LIBERALS AND CONSERVATIVES, WHO ALONG WITH THE CATHOLIC CHURCH HAVE SUPPORTED THE INTERESTS OF THE DEPARTMENT'S ELITE, THE TERRITENIENTES, WHILE ENGAGING IN A STYLE OF POLITICS CHARACTERIZED BY CLIENTALISM AND CORRUPTION.

45. (U) IN 1988, CIVIC MOVEMENTS COMPOSED OF INDIANS, CAMPESINOS, BLACKS, LEFTISTS AND OTHERS FORMED IN VARIOUS COUNTIES TO COMPETE IN COLOMBIA'S FIRST MAYORAL ELECTIONS. THEIR MODERATE SUCCESS WAS EXTENDED IN 1990, AND IN THE MARCH 1992 BALLOTING, CIVIC MOVEMENTS WON MOST OF THE DEPARTMENT'S MAYORAL RACES.

46. (U) CRIC, ASI, THE M-19, AS WELL AS THE PATRIOTIC UNION (UP; THE ELECTORAL FRONT OF THE COLOMBIAN COMMUNIST PARTY, THE POLITICAL SIBLING OF THE FARC GUERRILLAS) HAVE ALL PARTICIPATED. THE MIX IS DIFFERENT IN EACH COUNTY. THE BIGGEST MOVEMENT, MACIZO COLOMBIANO, HAS RUN CANDIDATES IN SEVERAL SOUTHERN CAUCA COUNTIES. ELSEWHERE, EACH COUNTY MAY HAVE ITS OWN MOVEMENT.

UNCLASSIFIED

47. (U) MEANWHILE, THE CIVIC MOVEMENTS' SUCCESS HAS LED TO A DIVISION IN THE DOMINANT LIBERAL PARTY BETWEEN "TRADITIONALISTS" AND "REFORMISTS." THE TRADITIONALISTS (LED BY AMONG OTHERS SEN. AURELIO IRAGORRI) WANT TO CONTINUE POLITICS AS USUAL, WHILE THE REFORMISTS (LED BY GOV. TEMISTOCLES ORTEGA NARVAEZ) BELIEVE THE CIVIC MOVEMENTS' SUCCESS SPELLS CONTINUED TROUBLE FOR THE LIBERALS UNLESS THEY REFORM. SOME REFORMISTS, STILL A MINORITY IN THE PARTY, SUPPORTED CIVIC MOVEMENTS IN THE LAST MAYORAL ELECTIONS AGAINST TRADITIONALIST LIBERAL CANDIDATES.

48. (U) THE QUESTION FOR THE CIVIC MOVEMENTS IS WHERE TO GO FROM HERE. SO FAR, THEY HAVE LIMITED THEMSELVES TO MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS. WHILE THERE'S BEEN TALK OF COMPETING IN 1994 CONGRESSIONAL AND GUBERNATORIAL ELECTIONS, THAT WOULD REQUIRE A YET-TO-BE-CONSTRUCTED

49. (U) THANKS TO COLOMBIA'S NEW 1991 CONSTITUTION, CAUCA'S CHRONIC LAND CONFLICTS ARE ABOUT TO ENTER THE 21ST CENTURY, UNDER THE BANNER OF "TERRITORIALITY." TRANSITORY ARTICLES 329 AND 330 PROVIDE FOR "INDIGENOUS TERRITORIAL ENTITIES" (ETI), THE EXACT POWERS AND BOUNDARIES OF WHICH ARE STILL TO BE DETERMINED BY THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT IN CONSULTATION WITH THE INTERESTS INVOLVED. WHAT IS CLEAR IS THAT ETIS WILL BE COMPOSED OF THE AREAS SURROUNDING EACH RESGUARDO. THE INDIAN COMMUNITIES WILL HAVE YET-TO-BE-DEFINED POWERS OVER THEIR SURROUNDING ETI, INCLUDING "TO COLLECT AND DISTRIBUTE FUNDS" AND "ENSURE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LEGAL RULES CONCERNING LAND USE AND SETTLEMENT."

UNCLASSIFIED

50. (U) ARTICLES 329 AND 330 HAVE SET UP A CLASSIC CONFLICT BETWEEN THE COMMUNAL PROPERTY OWNERSHIP OF THE INDIGENOUS COMMUNITIES AND THE PRIVATE PROPERTY RIGHTS PRESENTLY ENJOYED IN THE EVENTUALLY ETIS. IN CAUCA, SO FAR ONLY CRIC HAS PRESENTED TO THE GOVERNMENT A PROPOSAL FOR IMPLEMENTING THE ETIS. PNR DIRECTOR FERNANDEZ AND ANUC CAMPESINO ACTIVISTS TOLD POLOFF THE NEW INDIGENOUS TERRITORIALITY ALREADY HAS LED TO VIOLENCE BY CAMPESINOS FUNDED AND ARMED BY NARCOS CONCERNED ABOUT THEIR OWN PRIVATE PROPERTY RIGHTS. MEANWHILE, WHILE THE POTENTIAL FOR CONFLICT IS LESS CLEAR, TRANSITORY ARTICLE 55 GIVES THE PACIFIC COAST'S BLACK COMMUNITIES THE RIGHT TO COLLECTIVE OWNERSHIP OF LANDS THEY HAVE SETTLED.

51. (C) CAUCA SUFFERS FROM VARIOUS PERPETRATORS OF VIOLENCE: GUERRILLAS, NARCOS, SELF-DEFENSE AND PARAMILITARY GROUPS, COMMON CRIMINALS AS WELL AS FROM ABUSES BY SECURITY FORCES. THERE SEEMED TO BE AGREEMENT AS TO THE REASONS: (1) THE DEPARTMENT'S RURAL POVERTY AND SCARCITY OF URBAN EMPLOYMENT, (2) THE MULTI-ETHNICITY OF THE DEPARTMENT'S POPULATION (INDIANS, MESTIZOS, BLACKS AND WHITES), WHICH COMPLICATES CONFLICTS, (3) THE SAME ABSENCE OF A CIVIL STATE PRESENCE (HOSPITALS, SCHOOLS, ROADS, ETC.) AND A PERMANENT SECURITY FORCE PRESENCE SUFFERED BY RURAL COLOMBIA IN GENERAL, AND (4) THE SAME IMPUNITY SUFFERED BY ALL OF COLOMBIA.

UNCLASSIFIED

52. (C) THAT SAID, POLOFF FOUND A CERTAIN OPTIMISM AMONG THE GOVERNMENT AND NGO FIGURES WITH WHOM HE MET. COLOMBIA REALLY HAD CHANGED AND IT DID HAVE A NEW CONSTITUTION AND THOSE CHANGES HAD REACHED RURAL CAUCA. THERE NOW ARE THREE INDIGENOUS SENATORS (TWO FROM CAUCA). INDEED, FOUR INDIANS HAD PARTICIPATED IN THE CONSTITUTIONAL ASSEMBLY (THREE FROM CAUCA). THE NEW CONSTITUTION'S PROVISIONS FOR "TERRITORIALITY" OFFERED CAUCA'S INDIANS AND BLACKS MORE CONTROL OVER THEIR LIVES. MEANWHILE, THE POLITICAL SYSTEM WAS EVOLVING, WITH THE TRADITIONAL PARTIES REFORMING IN RESPONSE TO THE END OF THEIR HEGEMONY, AS THOSE TRADITIONALLY EXCLUDED FROM POLITICS MADE INROADS. EVEN WHERE CAUCA'S MOST INTRACTABLE PROBLEM, LAND CONFLICTS, AND THE FRIGHTENING NEW SCOURGE, AMAPOLA, WERE CONCERNED, POLOFF FOUND BELIEF THAT THE WORST WAS ALREADY BEHIND THE DEPARTMENT, I.E., THAT INCORA, WITH A PUSH FROM CRIC, HAD THE MOST CONFLICTIVE LAND

GUATEMALA ARA 3

E.O. 12356: DECL:OADR
TAGS: PHUM, PGOV, GT
SUBJECT: MACK MURDER CASE: HELEN MACK SEEKS PROSECUTION OF INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS

REF: GUATEMALA 01874

1. (C) SUMMARY: A GUATEMALAN APPELLATE COURT HELD A MARCH 22 PUBLIC HEARING TO REVIEW THE TRIAL VERDICT IN THE MYRNA MACK MURDER CASE, AND TO CONSIDER WHETHER FURTHER PROCEEDINGS ARE APPROPRIATE AGAINST THE CONVICTED MURDERER'S SUPERIORS. HELEN MACK CALLED FOR CONFIRMATION OF THE FEBRUARY 12 MURDER CONVICTION OF NOEL DE JESUS BETETA ALVAREZ, AND PROSECUTION OF BETETA'S MILITARY SUPERIORS AS INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS OF THE CRIME. THE GUATEMALAN ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE SUPPORTED THE TRIAL VERDICT AND FURTHER INVESTIGATION OF POSSIBLE INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS. A GOVERNMENT LAWYER ARGUED, HOWEVER, THAT NO EVIDENCE SUPPORTED IMMEDIATE CHARGES AGAINST BETETA'S IMMEDIATE SUPERIORS NAMED BY HELEN MACK AS THOSE GIVING THE ORDERS FOR MACK'S MURDER. PRESS REPORTS MISTAKENLY PORTRAYED THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE POSITION AS ADVOCATING NO FURTHER INVESTIGATION BECAUSE BETETA "CLEARLY ACTED ALONE." BETETA'S LAWYER ADVOCATED REVERSING THE TRIAL VERDICT. END SUMMARY.

MANDATORY APPEALS UNDERWAY

2. (U) REFTEL REPORTED THE FEBRUARY 12 CONVICTION IN A GUATEMALAN TRIAL COURT OF NOEL DE JESUS BETETA ALVAREZ FOR THE 1990 MURDER OF GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK CHANG. THE TRIAL JUDGE SENTENCED BETETA TO 25 YEARS IN PRISON FOR THE MACK MURDER AND ANOTHER 5 YEARS FOR ASSAULTING HERBERT EMILIO RAMIREZ IN A SEPARATE, BUT CONSOLIDATED CASE. UNDER GUATEMALAN LAW, CRIMINAL CONVICTIONS ARE SUBJECT TO MANDATORY APPEALS THAT CAN RESULT IN CONFIRMATION, REVERSAL, OR MODIFICATION OF

TRIAL COURT VERDICTS AND SENTENCES. BETETA'S CONVICTION THUS MOVED THE MACK CASE INTO THE APPELLATE PHASE.

TRIAL VERDICT DEBATED

3. (U) ON MARCH 22, THE APPELLATE COURT HANDLING THE MACK CASE HELD ITS FIRST PUBLIC HEARING TO CONSIDER: (1) WHETHER THE BETETA'S TRIAL VERDICT AND SENTENCE WERE APPROPRIATE; AND (2) WHETHER ADDITIONAL PROCEEDINGS AGAINST BETETA'S MILITARY SUPERIORS WERE WARRANTED. THE MACK FAMILY'S ATTORNEY FAVORED CONFIRMATION OF BETETA'S SENTENCE, BUT A DOUBLING OF THE QUETZALES 10,000 (APPROXIMATELY USD 2,000) IN CIVIL DAMAGES BETETA MUST PAY RAMIREZ. THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE ALSO SUPPORTED CONFIRMATION OF THE TRIAL VERDICT. BETETA'S LAWYER ARGUED HIS CLIENT SHOULD BE FOUND INNOCENT, CLAIMING NO CONCRETE FACTS OR PROOF INCRIMINATED HIS CLIENT.

INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS PURSUED

4. (U) HELEN MACK ADDRESSED THE COURT TO ADVOCATE ADDITIONAL PROCEEDINGS AGAINST BETETA'S MILITARY SUPERIORS. SHE ACCUSED GEN. EDGAR AUGUSTO GODOY GAITAN, COL. JUAN VALENCIA OSORIO, AND MAJ. JUAN GUILLERMO OLIVA CARRERA -- ALL OF WHOM WERE IN BETETA'S CHAIN OF COMMAND IN THE PRESIDENTIAL SECURITY GUARD ("ESTADO MAYOR PRESIDENCIAL") -- OF BEING THE CRIME'S INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS. HELEN REPORTEDLY TOLD THE COURT SHE WAS "CONVINCED MYRNA ENTERED INTO THE LIFE OF NOEL BETETA BY A WRITTEN OR VERBAL ORDER AS AN ASSIGNMENT, A TASK TO BE ACHIEVED, A FACT TO ESTABLISH WITHIN GENERAL GUIDELINES FOR IDEOLOGICAL REPRESSION AND ABNORMAL METHODS." THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE ADVOCATED FURTHER INVESTIGATIONS TO IDENTIFY POSSIBLE INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS. THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE DID NOT BELIEVE, HOWEVER, THAT AVAILABLE EVIDENCE WAS SUFFICIENT TO OPEN PROCEEDINGS AGAINST ANY PARTICULAR PERSON IN BETETA'S CHAIN-OF-COMMAND. A GOVERNMENT ATTORNEY ARGUED THAT BETETA'S HAVING REPORTED TO CERTAIN INDIVIDUALS DID NOT PROVE THOSE PERSONS WERE THE INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS OF THE MACK MURDER.

7. (C) THE BETETA CONVICTION WAS A LANDMARK, BUT GUATEMALA'S IMPUNITY PROBLEM CANNOT BE RESOLVED WITHOUT PUNISHMENT OF THOSE ORDERING POLITICALLY-MOTIVATED HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. ACCORDING TO MARCH 23 GUATEMALAN PRESS REPORTS, THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE ARGUED AT THE HEARING THAT FURTHER PROCEEDINGS AGAINST BETETA'S SUPERIORS WERE INAPPROPRIATE. HELEN MACK TOLD HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER ON THE MORNING OF MARCH 23 THAT SHE LEFT THE HEARING WITH A SIMILAR INTERPRETATION. ON THE AFTERNOON OF MARCH 23, HOWEVER, COHEN SPOKE WITH THE GOVERNMENT LAWYER ASSIGNED TO THE MACK CASE. THE GOVERNMENT ATTORNEY CONFIRMED GOG SUPPORT FOR FURTHER INVESTIGATIONS, BUT RELUCTANCE TO PRESS FORMAL CHARGES AGAINST SPECIFIC INDIVIDUALS WITHOUT ANY CONCRETE EVIDENCE. WE PLAN TO MONITOR AND ENCOURAGE ONGOING EFFORTS TO IDENTIFY AND PROSECUTE THE MACK MURDER'S INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS.

E.O. 12356: DECL:OADR
TAGS: PHUM, PREF, PGOV, GT
SUBJECT: GUATEMALAN OMBUDSMAN ACCUSES ARMY OF LUCAS PEREZ TADEO MURDER

REF: GUATEMALA 01936

1. (C) SUMMARY: THE GUATEMALAN HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN HAS ACCUSED ARMY PERSONNEL OF KIDNAPPING, TORTURING, AND MURDERING HUEHUETENANGO PEASANT LUCAS PEREZ TADEO ON AUGUST 31, 1992. THOSE CHARGES ECHO SIMILAR CLAIMS IN AN OCTOBER 1992 AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL REPORT. HUEHUETENANGO MILITARY PERSONNEL DENIED ARMY INVOLVEMENT IN A FEBRUARY 1993 REPORT TO SUPERIORS, BUT THE DEFENSE MINISTER PLEDGED ON MARCH 22 TO RE-OPEN THE INVESTIGATION. THE PEREZ CASE WILL FURTHER STRAIN DETERIORATING RELATIONS BETWEEN THE OMBUDSMAN AND THE ARMY. END SUMMARY.

MURDER

2. (U) ON MARCH 18, GUATEMALAN HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO ACCUSED ARMY TROOPS OF THE AUGUST 31, 1992 KIDNAPPING, TORTURING, AND MURDERING OF HUEHUETENANGO PEASANT LUCAS PEREZ TADEO. PEREZ REPORTEDLY ATTENDED A CIVIL PATROL MEETING, RETURNED HOME, AND THEN LEFT TO WORK A FIELD LOCATED OUTSIDE THEIR VILLAGE IN NENTON. WHEN HE FAILED TO RETURN HOME, VILLAGERS BEGAN SEARCHING FOR HIM ON SEPTEMBER 1. THEY INQUIRED INTO HIS WHEREABOUTS ON SEPTEMBER 2 AT THE NEARBY "LAS PALMAS" MILITARY BASE. A BASE CAPTAIN REPORTEDLY SUGGESTED PEREZ MIGHT BE FOUND NEAR A ROAD JUST OUTSIDE TOWN.

ALLEGED ARMY INVOLVEMENT

3. (U) ON SEPTEMBER 3, VILLAGERS LOCATED PEREZ'S BODY UNDER A MOUND OF EARTH. THE CORPSE SHOWED SIGNS OF TORTURE AND STRANGULATION. VILLAGERS FOUND A MILITARY-TYPE LASSO ON TOP OF THE MOUND. THEY ALSO DISCOVERED ARMY BOOT TRACKS LEADING TOWARD THE "LAS PALMAS" BASE, AND EMPTY, MILITARY-STYLE FOOD TINS.

WITNESSES REPORTED ARMY PERSONNEL PATROLLED NEAR THE MURDER SCENE ON THE NIGHT OF PEREZ'S DEATH. SOLDIERS FROM THE BASE, ALL OF WHOM WERE SUBSEQUENTLY TRANSFERRED FROM THE AREA, REPORTEDLY GAVE GIFTS TO PEREZ'S WIFE AND BROTHER AFTER THE MURDER. BASED ON THE ABOVE EVIDENCE, THE OMBUDSMAN CONCLUDED MILITARY PERSONNEL COMMITTED THE MURDER.

MILITARY INVESTIGATIONS

4. (U) ON SEPTEMBER 8, 1992, THE OMBUDSMAN REQUESTED A DEFENSE MINISTRY REPORT ON THE CASE. "LAS PALMAS" BASE PERSONNEL CONDUCTED AN INVESTIGATION AND FOUND NO MILITARY INVOLVEMENT. THE DEFENSE MINISTRY FORWARDED THE INVESTIGATION REPORT, DATED FEBRUARY 12, 1993, TO THE OMBUDSMAN. AFTER THE OMBUDSMAN MADE HIS REPORT PUBLIC, DEFENSE MINISTER JOSE DOMINGO GARCIA SAMAYOR PLEDGED AT A MARCH 22 NEWS CONFERENCE TO CONDUCT FURTHER INVESTIGATIONS. GARCIA CONCEDED THE POSSIBILITY THAT "LAS PALMAS" PERSONNEL WERE RESPONSIBLE AS INDIVIDUALS, BUT ADDED THAT SUCH INVOLVEMENT WOULD IMPLY NO GUILT FOR THE ARMY AS AN INSTITUTION.

COLLISION COURSE

5. (C) THE OMBUDSMAN'S REPORT ECHOES FINDINGS OF AN OCTOBER 1992 REPORT BY AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL, WHICH HAS NO GUATEMALA OFFICE. THE ONLY NEW DEVELOPMENTS SINCE LAST OCTOBER ARE DENIALS BY "LAS PALMAS" PERSONNEL OF ARMY INVOLVEMENT IN THE CASE, AND THE DEFENSE MINISTER'S PROMISE TO RE-INVESTIGATE. THUS, THE OMBUDSMAN'S REPORT IS SIGNIFICANT NOT BECAUSE IT INCLUDES NEW CHARGES, BUT RATHER BECAUSE: (1) DE LEON IS THE FIRST PROMINENT GUATEMALAN TO PUBLICLY ACCUSE ARMY PERSONNEL OF MURDERING PEREZ; (2) THE OMBUDSMAN HAS FORCED THE ARMY TO ACKNOWLEDGE POSSIBLE RESPONSIBILITY AND INVESTIGATE FURTHER; AND (3) THE REPORT PUTS DE LEON YET AGAIN ON A COLLISION COURSE WITH MILITARY LEADERS.

SOURING RELATIONS

6. (C) OVER THE PAST SIX MONTHS, VARIOUS CLASHES WITH MILITARY BRASS HAVE BROUGHT RELATIONS BETWEEN THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE AND THE ARMY TO A LOW POINT. IN SEPARATE DECLARATIONS, THE OMBUDSMAN IMPLIED MILITARY INVOLVEMENT IN THE MYRNA MACK MURDER, AND ARMY COERCION OF WITNESSES PROVIDING INCRIMINATING TESTIMONY AGAINST CERJ LEADER ANILCAR MENDEZ. DE LEON'S HARD-HITTING 1992 ANNUAL REPORT ON HUMAN RIGHTS IN GUATEMALA ALSO DISPLEASED MILITARY LEADERS. IN EARLY 1993, HE CONFIDED TO A FOREIGN DIPLOMAT HIS FEAR THAT ARMY PERSONNEL WOULD BLAME HIM IF THE UNITED NATIONS HUMAN RIGHTS COMMITTEE (UNHRC) APPROVED "COUNTRY SITUATION" (ITEM 12) TREATMENT FOR GUATEMALA (REFTEL). UNHRC DID NOT CONDEMN GUATEMALA UNDER ITEM 12, BUT DE LEON'S ANXIETY OVER THE VOTING REFLECTED PALPABLE TENSION BETWEEN THE OMBUDSMAN AND MILITARY LEADERS. THE ULTIMATE OUTCOME OF THE PEREZ CASE IS ANYONE'S GUESS, BUT ADDITIONAL TENSION IS A VIRTUAL CERTAINTY.

WHY BOTHER?

7. (C) THE PROSPECT OF YET ANOTHER CLASH WITH THE ARMY OVER A CASE AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL ALREADY PUBLICIZED RAISES THE QUESTION WHY DE LEON ISSUED A REPORT, AND WHY NOW. THE OMBUDSMAN'S REPORT STATES HE WAS LEGALLY COMPELLED TO ISSUE PUBLIC FINDINGS IN RESPONSE TO THE FORMAL COMPLAINT RECEIVED AT THE OMBUDSMAN'S

United States Department of State
Office of FOI, Privacy, & Classification Review
Review Authority: MOSKOWITZ, SAM
Date: 07/31/95
Case ID: 95122281

HUEHUETENANGO OFFICE. ARMY CRITICISM IN THE MENDEZ CASE, WHERE THE OMBUDSMAN ISSUED FINDINGS BEFORE RECEIVING A MILITARY RESPONSE TO CHARGES, PRESUMABLY CAUSED DE LEON TO WAIT FOR ARMY INVESTIGATION RESULTS BEFORE SPEAKING OUT. WE ASSUME HE DID NOT ACT IMMEDIATELY AFTER RECEIVING THE "LAS PALMAS" REPORT IN FEBRUARY FOR FEAR OF AFFECTING THE OUTCOME OF UNHRC VOTING, WHICH CONCLUDED IN MID-MARCH. THE OMBUDSMAN THUS ISSUED HIS REPORT AS SOON AS CIRCUMSTANCES PERMITTED, NOTWITHSTANDING THE FACT THAT HIS REPORT COMES MORE THAN 7 MONTHS AFTER PEREZ'S DEATH.

GUATEMALANIZATION

8. (C) COMMENT: THE DEFENSE MINISTER'S PUBLIC RESPONSE ON THE PEREZ CASE TO THE OMBUDSMAN -- BUT NOT TO AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL -- REFLECTS ONGOING "GUATEMALANIZATION" OF HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES. THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY WAS AT THE FOREFRONT OF EARLY HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISM IN GUATEMALA BECAUSE LOCAL ACTIVISTS FELT TOO VULNERABLE TO SPEAK FREELY. NOT ONLY IS THAT NO LONGER THE CASE, BUT THE GUATEMALAN

ARMY APPARENTLY FEELS MORE ACCOUNTABLE TO THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, A GUATEMALAN INSTITUTION, THAN TO AMNESTY, A LEADING INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS. THE CONTINUING PRESENCE OF GUATEMALAN ACTORS AT THE FOREFRONT OF THE NATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS DEBATE IS A MAJOR ADVANCEMENT.

SUBJECT: Appointment Request: Guatemalan Nobel Peace Prize Laureate Rigoberta Menchu Tum

REQUEST: Office Call requested by Ms. Menchu

PURPOSE: -- Signal U.S. commitment to human rights in Guatemala

-- Express our interest in a peaceful settlement to the 32-year-old guerrilla insurgency.

-- Express our support for the repatriation of Guatemalan refugees from Mexico.

OTHER APPOINTMENTS SOUGHT: Ms. Menchu has also requested a meeting with President Clinton at the White House. She will address the Congressional Human Rights Caucus and meet with Members of Congress.

BACKGROUND: Ms. Menchu is closely identified with the rights of indigenous people and the mass repatriation of Guatemalan refugees from Mexico. Because she is a fierce critic of human rights abuses and is sympathetic to URNG negotiating goals, her award caused the GOG considerable discomfort. Since receiving the Nobel prize, Ms. Menchu has travelled widely in Europe. She has generally met with your counterparts, but in Italy was received by the Pope and President Scalfaro.

TIMING: Ms. Menchu is in Washington from April 26 - May 1, but is unavailable April 28.

LOCATION: Your Office.

the area a decade ago.

"I heard the army shooting and ran, thinking only of myself," Cano said. "My family tried to run, but they shot them. Now I am the only one left."

Tomas Sica Ramos gestured across an immense river valley below Caba toward distant mountains.

"These mountains saved our lives when we fled the army," Sica said with a shake of his head. "They hid us and provided roots and plants to eat. We could not carry food with us, and many died of hunger."

Army attacks have decreased in recent years because of pressure from two elected civilian governments and increased international attention to Guatemala's civil war. That has allowed the Maya to built more permanent villages and plant crops.

Some villagers said they hope further international support will give them more protection from the army and allow them to re-enter Guatemalan society on their own terms.

But the prospect of peace has touched off a struggle for land between the resistance villages and nearby army-controlled towns.

A recent public meeting in the nearby army town of Chajul turned ugly over the question of land. Many people in Chajul say they have the right to the more fertile land being farmed by people in Caba and other pro-guerrilla communities.

But peasants like Solanto, who said he lost 18 relatives during the war, said he and his neighbors will never give up their homes.

"We paid for this land with our blood," he said.

NUN IDENTIFIES 10 RAPISTS, LAWYER SAYS
Houston Chronicle
24 March 1993 p.16A

GUATEMALA CITY—American nun Diana Ortiz has identified 10 men she says raped and tortured her in November 1989, her lawyer said Tuesday.

Attorney Shawn Roberts, who accompanied Ortiz to Guatemala this week to seek prosecution of those who allegedly attacked her, said Ortiz identified the men from photographs in National Police archives. Ortiz previously said three men attacked her.

The 34-year-old Roman Catholic nun, from Grants, N.M., testified previously that she was kidnapped by men in uniform from a convent in Antigua, about 30 miles from Guatemala City. She said her captors beat and raped her, burned her more than 100 times with cigarettes and lowered her into a pit containing bodies and rats.

Ortiz, a member of the Ursuline Sisters of Mount St. Joseph, a religious community based near Owensboro, Ky., returned to Guatemala last April to help move the case through Guatemala's slow judicial system, but complained of lack of cooperation. Guatemalan officials have said her story contains inconsistencies and they are not convinced the crimes took place.

GUATEMALAN PEACE TALKS BREAK DOWN
San Francisco Chronicle
31 March 1993 p.11A

Reuters

MEXICO CITY—The latest round of peace talks aimed at ending Guatemala's 33-year-old civil war ended yesterday without success, dashing hopes for a cease-fire and leaving both sides unsure of what steps to take next.

Negotiators for the government and rebels left the Mexican capital with no date announced for another round of talks.

"After long and intense hours of negotiation, the government delegation returned to its initial position of inflexibility," the Guatemala National Revolutionary Unity said in a statement.

Before the talks began last week, some diplomats were predicting that the two sides would fix the date for a cease-fire in the long war because of progress made in negotiating rounds earlier this year.

But the mediator, Monsignor Rodolfo Quezada Toruno, said disagreements over a proposed commission to investigate human rights abuses prevented an accord.

NICARAGUA

NICARAGUA BESET BY STRIFE, WEAK ECONOMY
San Francisco Chronicle

by John Otis

MANAGUA—After days of attempting to mediate an armed siege at the Nicaraguan Embassy in Costa Rica last week, frustrated officials opted for a more sentimental approach.

They brought in a mariachi band to serenade the three former Contra rebels inside who were holding 16 hostages. The tuxedo-clad trio provided a blast of horns and guitars, but the gunmen would not budge. On Thursday, they released five more hostages, but that still left 11.

When it comes to settling Nicaragua's political disputes, no one seems to possess the right formula. As a result, President Violeta Chamorro has been plagued by many of the problems that crippled the country during the Sandinista revolution of the 1980s.

Now at the halfway point of her six year term, Chamorro is credited with ending the civil war in 1990 and bringing inflation under control.

But gunbattles between former Contra rebels and Sandinistas are on the rise. The economy is stagnant and dependent on foreign donations. Some of Chamorro's former backers have deserted her, and the country seems to be more polarized by the day.

At issue—as it has been for several years—is Chamorro's tactical alliance with the Sandinistas, the country's strongest political party and still the dominant force in the military.

The policy was designed to guarantee stability and Sandinista support during a difficult post-war transition, but it is a shaky arrangement and often seems to be on the verge of unraveling.

The 12-party National Opposition Union (UNO), which backed Chamorro in the 1990 election, says she is co-governing with the Sandinistas and has turned against her. The hostage-takers at the embassy in Costa Rica are demanding that she fire General Humberto Ortega, the Sandinista head of the armed forces, and Antonio Lacayo, her all-powerful chief of staff.

Chamorro could probably ride out the political storm if the economy were healthy, but Nicaragua is trapped in a stubborn recession. Farm credit has dried up, and production has dropped; unemployment and underemployment top 50 percent; and Managua's streets are dotted with beggars and prostitutes.

The frustration is especially evident in the north. Complaining of poverty and Sandinista harassment, hundreds of Contras have rearmed. Although another full-scale war appears unlikely, 84 former rebels, army soldiers and civilians have been killed in sporadic combat since December.

Chamorro's promise to pay compensation for, or return to their previous owners, the factories, farms and homes confiscated by the Sandinistas has given her serious problems. Many properties are in the hands of armed peasants who received land for the first time under the Sandinistas.

The government now says that returning the 18,000 properties under dispute would be impractical and could spark more violence. In most cases, it is offering 20-year bonds equal to the assessed value of

SUBJECT: CHARGES DROPPED AGAINST AMILCAR MENDEZ

1. GUATEMALAN HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVIST AMILCAR MENDEZ TOLD HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER ON MARCH 31 THAT "PUBLIC INTIMIDATION" CHARGES PENDING AGAINST HIM IN A SANTA CRUZ DEL QUICHE CRIMINAL COURT HAVE BEEN DROPPED. QUICHE AUTHORITIES ACCUSED MENDEZ OF "PUBLIC INTIMIDATION" FOR ALLEGEDLY PROVIDING BOMBS TO TWO QUICHE PEASANTS IN OCTOBER 1992. MENDEZ RETURNED TO GUATEMALA TO FACE THOSE CHARGES IN NOVEMBER 1992 WITH A FOREIGN DELEGATION THAT INCLUDED U.S. CONGRESSMAN PETER KOSTMEYER.

2. MENDEZ PROVIDED HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER WITH A COPY OF A MARCH 29 JUDICIAL ORDER DROPPING CHARGES AND PERMITTING HIM TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY. THE GUATEMALAN ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE REPORTEDLY PLANS TO APPEAL THE RULING. IN THE MEANTIME, HOWEVER, CHARGES REMAIN PENDING AGAINST THE TWO PEASANTS, WHO ARE STILL IN A SANTA CRUZ JAIL.

3. MENDEZ EXPECTED THE LOCAL PRESS TO REPORT HIS COURT VICTORY ON APRIL 1, THE SAME DAY HE PLANS TO DEPART GUATEMALA FOR A PRE-PLANNED, 1-2 MONTH TRIP TO THE UNITED STATES. MENDEZ WILL STAY IN SAN FRANCISCO WITH HIS WIFE AND CHILDREN WITH FINANCIAL SUPPORT FROM THE ROBERT F. KENNEDY MEMORIAL CENTER FOR HUMAN RIGHTS. MRS. MENDEZ AND SEVERAL MENDEZ CHILDREN ARE ALREADY IN SAN FRANCISCO, WHERE THEY HAVE BEEN RESTING.

SUBJECT: ANATOMY OF A DEATH THREAT

1. (LOU) STARTING FRIDAY, MARCH 26TH, SOME TWENTY-FOUR POPULAR SECTOR LEADERS AND WORKING JOURNALISTS BEGAN RECEIVING IDENTICAL COPIES OF AN ANONYMOUS DEATH THREAT. TWO OF THE JOURNALIST-RECIPIENTS PRINTED A SUMMARY OF THE MESSAGE IN THEIR NEWSPAPERS ON SUNDAY, MARCH 28TH. TYPED AND PHOTOCOPIED AND SENT IN AN UNMARKED ENVELOPE, THE MESSAGE IS WRITTEN FROM A POINT OF VIEW THAT IS CLEARLY RIGHT WING. VOCABULARY AND SYNTAX SUGGEST THAT IT WAS DRAFTED BY A PERSON OR PERSONS WITH APPROXIMATELY A SECONDARY SCHOOL EDUCATION.

2. (U) TEXTUALLY, THE TRANSLATED THREAT READS AS FOLLOWS: (QUOTE) WARNING!!!! THE FOLLOWING INDIVIDUALS WILL BECOME OUR OBJECTIVES STARTING ON MARCH 31ST AT 00 HOURS BECAUSE THEY ARE SPOKESMEN, DEFENDERS AND SYMPATHIZERS OF THE SUBVERSION AND ITS ORGANIZATIONS. BECAUSE THEY ARE THE CAUSE OF, AND LIVE FROM, THE LOSS OF PRESTIGE OF THOSE OF US WHO TRULY FIGHT FOR THE FREEDOM AND PEACE OF OUR COUNTRY. THE FOLLOWING INDIVIDUALS LEND THEIR NEWSPAPERS, THEIR TIME AND EFFORTS TO THE SUBVERSION AND ARE, BY DEED OR OMISSION, ACCOMPLICES OF THE SELF-NAMED "COMMANDERS" LIVING IN LUXURIOUS HOTELS IN EUROPE AND MEXICO; OTHERS ARE THE SPEARHEAD OF THE SUBVERSION WHO HAVE RETURNED TO THE COUNTRY, TAKING ADVANTAGE OF THE CONSOLIDATION OF THE STATE OF LAW. IF SOME HAVE BEEN FOOLED, IT WOULD BE ADVISABLE THAT THEY CORRECT THEIR ACTIONS AND PUBLICLY DECLARE SO; OTHERWISE, THEY WILL ENCOUNTER DEATH SOONER, RATHER THAN LATER, AND THIS WAY WE WILL ACCOMPLISH OUR MISSION FOR THE WELL-BEING AND THE FUTURE OF OUR CHILDREN AND OF GUATEMALA. ALL THE PEOPLE WHO KNOW THE PUBLIC SUBVERSIVES ACTING WITH IMPUNITY ARE WARNED TO AVOID BEING NEAR THEM BECAUSE THEY CAN ALSO SUFFER THE SAME UNFORTUNATE CONSEQUENCES, AND FOR THIS REASON WE FREE OURSELVES OF ANY GUILT IF THIS WARNING IS NOT FOLLOWED. THE PUBLIC SUBVERSIVES CAN SAVE THEIR LIVES AND PROPERTIES IN TWO WAYS: PUBLICLY RENOUNCE THEIR DESTABILIZING ACTIVITIES, OR FIND NEW HORIZONS IN ANOTHER PART OF THE WORLD.

3. (C) COMMENT: THE MISSION IS ACQUAINTED WITH A NUMBER OF THESE POPULAR LEADERS AND JOURNALISTS. HUGO ARCE AND CARLOS RAFAEL SOTO ARE WELL-KNOWN LEFT-LEANING JOURNALISTS WHO FREQUENTLY CRITICIZE THE GOVERNMENT, AND WHO HAVE BEEN VARIOUSLY IDENTIFIED BEFORE BY RIGHT WING IDEOLOGUES AS "DESTABILIZERS". RODOLFO AZMITIA JIMENEZ IS AMILCAR MENDEZ'S ATTORNEY, AND ON THE STAFF OF CIEPRODH. BYRON MORALES IS THE HEAD OF UNSITRAGUA LABOR GROUP. RICARDO STEIN WORKS FOR THE UNDP, SPECIFICALLY IN THE AREA OF THE PEACE TALKS. ROMEO MONTERROSA IS A UASP (ORGANIZATION OF POPULAR GROUPS) LEADER. VICTOR GUDIEL IS THE CURRENT AEU (UNIVERSITY STUDENT ASSOCIATION) PRESIDENT. HAROLDO SANCHEZ IS A JOURNALIST REPUTED TO HAVE LEFTIST INCLINATIONS, PRESENTLY INVOLVED WITH USAID'S CENTRAL AMERICAN JOURNALISTS PROJECT.

1/2 C O N F I D E N T I A L GUATEMALA 003710/01

BYRON BARRERA IS A PROMINENT LEFTIST JOURNALIST, RECENTLY RETURNED FROM EXILE FOLLOWING AN ASSASINATION ATTEMPT SEVERAL YEARS AGO IN WHICH HE WAS WOUNDED AND HIS WIFE WAS KILLED. DANILO RODRIGUEZ IS A FORMER FAR GUERRILLA, SINCE AMNESTIED, WHO WRITES CRITICAL NEWSPAPER ARTICLES AND HAS BEEN ATTEMPTING TO FORM A LEFTIST POLITICAL PARTY. USIS CONTACTED SEVERAL OF THE JOURNALISTS OVER THE PAST WEEKEND, SEEKING THEIR REACTIONS TO THE THREAT. ALL THOSE CONTACTED INDICATED THAT THEY BELIEVE THAT THE THREAT IS SERIOUS, AND WILL BE TAKING PRECAUTIONS. NONE OF THE JOURNALISTS APPEARS READY, HOWEVER, TO FLEE.

4. (C) OVER THE PAST DECADE OR MORE, HUNDREDS OF SIMILAR ANONYMOUS DEATH LISTS HAVE BEEN CIRCULATED IN GUATEMALA. MANY HAVE PROVEN SPURIOUS, BUT OTHERS HAVE TURNED OUT TO BE DEADLY SERIOUS. ALTHOUGH WE HAVE NO EVIDENCE EITHER WAY, TAKING THE COMMENTS OF THE VERY FEW INDIVIDUALS CONTACTED AT FACE VALUE, WE CANNOT RULE OUT THE POSSIBILITY THAT THIS COULD BE THE REAL THING. WE ALSO NOTE WITH CONCERN THAT WHILE ALL MAJOR NEWSPAPERS AND THE ELECTRONIC MEDIA HAVE GIVEN THIS STORY BROAD COVERAGE, INCLUDING EDITORIALS DECRYING AN APPARENT RETURN TO A PRACTICE OF "THE BAD OLD DAYS", OTHERWISE ONLY THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN AND, IN GOVERNMENT CIRCLES, THE PRESIDENT'S PUBLIC RELATIONS SECRETARY HAVE COMMENTED ON THE SITUATION. THE PUBLIC RELATIONS SECRETARY'S OFFER TO PROVIDE PROTECTION HAS MET WITH PRIVATE SKEPTICISM AND DERISION AMONG MISSION PRESS CONTACTS. THE DEADLINE LAID DOWN BY THOSE WHO PUT OUT THE THREAT IS MIDNIGHT TONIGHT. WE WILL WATCH CAREFULLY TO SEE WHAT HAPPENS FROM HERE ON OUT.

E.O. 12356: DECL:OADR
TAGS: CASC, PHUM, PINS, PGOV, PINR, GT
SUBJECT: GUATEMALAN CLANDESTINE PRISONS & THE CASE OF "COMMANDANTE EVERARDO"

REF: GUATEMALA 02435

1. (C) SUMMARY: TWO EX-GUERRILLAS CLAIM THAT A TOP GUATEMALAN GUERRILLA COMMANDER HAS BEEN SPOTTED AT A CLANDESTINE PRISON. THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT DENIES HOLDING THE GUERRILLA, AND SAYS HE MAY HAVE DIED IN COMBAT AND BEEN BURIED ON GUATEMALA'S SOUTH COAST. THE GUERRILLA'S COMMON-LAW WIFE, WHO IS AN ANCIT ATTORNEY, HAS REQUESTED EMBASSY ASSISTANCE IN EXHUMING THE GRAVE WHERE HE MAY BE INTERRED. SHE EXPECTS TO TRAVEL TO GUATEMALA IN A MONTH OR SO TO OBSERVE THE EXHUMATION. A FOREIGN DELEGATION THAT MAY INCLUDE U.S. CONGRESSIONAL PARTICIPANTS WILL PROBABLY ACCOMPANY HER. END SUMMARY.

BACKGROUND

2. (C) REFTEL REPORTED CLAIMS BY FORMER GUATEMALAN GUERRILLAS SANTIAGO CABRERA LOPEZ AND JAIME ABALTO AGUSTIN RECINOS THAT THEY WERE HELD IN CLANDESTINE MILITARY PRISONS PRIOR TO THEIR ESCAPE AND FEBRUARY 1993 RE-APPEARANCE IN GENEVA. CABRERA AND RECINOS ALSO REPORTED THAT, WHILE DETAINED, THEY SAW GUERRILLA LEADER EFRAIN BAMACA VELASQUEZ. BAMACA REPORTEDLY DISAPPEARED AFTER A MARCH 12, 1992 CLASH BETWEEN GOVERNMENT AND GUERRILLA TROOPS NEAR RETALHULEU. THE REPORT OF CABRERA AND RECINOS RENEWED EFFORTS DESCRIBED BELOW TO DETERMINE BAMACA'S WHEREABOUTS.

"COMMANDANTE EVERARDO"

3. (C) BAMACA WAS A GUATEMALAN GUERRILLA WHO FOUGHT UNDER THE NOM DE GUERRE "COMMANDANTE EVERARDO." [redacted] (AND HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER ON MARCH 26 THAT THE ARMY HAS TRACKED "EVERARDO'S" MOVEMENTS SINCE THE EARLY 1980'S. "EVERARDO" REPORTEDLY FOUGHT IN AN INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE DURING THE FINAL SANDINISTA OFFENSIVE AGAINST THE SOMOZA GOVERNMENT, AND SUBSEQUENTLY ROSE TO BECOME A TOP ORPA FIELD COMMANDER

B1

SNB6887 GUATEM 03794 00 OF 03 021730Z

THAT "EVERARDO" WAS A FRONT-MAN: B1
ORPA PROMOTED HIM MORE BECAUSE HE WAS INDIGENOUS (TO PLEASE INDIGENOUS TROOPS) THAN FOR HIS TACTICAL SKILLS IN THE FIELD. [redacted] CLAIMED THAT, DESPITE "EVERARDO'S" HIGH RANK, A HISPANIC OFFICER REALLY CONTROLLED THE UNIT IN WHICH HE SERVED. B1

ANCIT WIFE

4. (C) THE EMBASSY BECAME INVOLVED IN EFFORTS TO LOCATE "EVERARDO" AT THE REQUEST OF ANCIT JENNIFER HARBURY, A 42-YEAR-OLD ATTORNEY RESIDENT IN AUSTIN, TEXAS. HARBURY TOLD HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER SHE MET "EVERARDO" IN 1990, AND THEY WERE MARRIED IN SEPTEMBER 1991; SHE KNEW THAT "EVERARDO" HAD BEEN AN ORPA GUERRILLA FOR 17 YEARS. THE MARRIAGE WAS NOT REGISTERED, BUT SHE AND "EVERARDO" EXCHANGED VOWS, LIVED TOGETHER IN TEXAS AS HUSBAND AND WIFE, AND HELD THEMSELVES OUT AS MARRIED TO FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC. HARBURY CLAIMS THAT, UNDER THOSE CIRCUMSTANCES, SHE AND "EVERARDO" ENTERED INTO AN "INFORMAL" MARRIAGE RECOGNIZED UNDER TEXAS ANNOTATED CIVIL STATUTES SECTION 1.91.

5. (C) HARBURY CALLED HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER FROM THE U.S. ON MARCH 9, 1993 TO REQUEST EMBASSY ASSISTANCE IN: (1) INQUIRING OF GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS ABOUT "EVERARDO'S" WHEREABOUTS; AND (2) ARRANGING FOR AN EXHUMATION AT A GRAVE WHERE HE MAY BE BURIED. HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER PLEDGED TO ASSIST IN ANY WAY POSSIBLE, BUT REQUESTED NO PUBLICITY CONCERNING SUCH EFFORTS; HARBURY AGREED TO THAT REQUEST. SHE ALSO FORWARDED A PRIVACY ACT WAIVER ON MARCH 23 THAT IMPOSES NO RESTRICTIONS ON U.S. OFFICIALS REGARDING DISCUSSION OF THE CASE.

HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE ASSISTANCE

6. (C) HARBURY CONTACTED THE EMBASSY AFTER HER PREVIOUS EFFORTS THROUGH THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE FAILED. HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO TOLD EMBOFFS ON MARCH 18 THAT HE BECAME INVOLVED IN THE CASE AFTER DISCREET INQUIRIES FROM BISHOP QUEZADA TORUNO AND THE USMG. DE LEON APPROACHED THE DEFENSE MINISTER AND OTHER GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, AND WAS TOLD "EVERARDO" WAS PROBABLY BURIED IN AN UNMARKED GRAVE IN RETALHULEU. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE SUBSEQUENTLY REQUESTED AND RECEIVED PERMISSION TO EXHUME THE GRAVE. LABORERS WERE DIGGING UP THE GRAVE WHEN THEN-ATTORNEY GENERAL ACISCLO VALLADARES STOPPED THE PROCEEDING, CLAIMING THE EXHUMATION WAS ILLEGAL BECAUSE NO FAMILY MEMBERS WERE PRESENT, NOR WAS THERE ANY OTHER MEANS BY WHICH TO IDENTIFY THE CADAVER (DENTAL RECORDS, X-RAYS OF BROKEN BONES, DNA, JEWELRY, CLOTHING, ETC.). VALLADARES SUBSEQUENTLY CONFIRMED THOSE EVENTS IN A MID-MARCH 1993

CONVERSATION WITH CHARGE AND ADCON. DE LEON ASSUMES THAT PRESSURE FROM THE ARMY PROMPTED VALLADARES' ARRIVAL AT THE SCENE. HARBURY CLAIMS SHE AND OTHER INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS WERE PRESENT, AND OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE PHOTOGRAPHS AT THE GRAVE SCENE SHOW A WOMAN ABOUT HARBURY'S AGE. HOWEVER, HARBURY WAS REPORTEDLY AFRAID TO IDENTIFY HERSELF AS "EVERARDO'S" WIFE, SO THE EXHUMATION WAS NOT COMPLETED.

USG INQUIRIES

7. [redacted] AFTER SPEAKING WITH DE LEON, EMBOFFS MADE DISCREET INQUIRIES TO GUATEMALAN MILITARY AND CIVILIAN OFFICIALS. ON MARCH 26 [redacted] HUMAN RIGHTS B1

OFFICER DISCUSSED THE CASE WITH [redacted] CONFIRMED THAT: (1) THE MILITARY DEFINITELY DID NOT HAVE "EVERARDO" (THE MILITARY SAID THEY HAD NEVER HEARD OF THE NAME "BAMACA" UNTIL AFTER THE GUERRILLA LEADER'S CAPTURE); AND (2) HE WAS PROBABLY BURIED IN RETALHULEU. [redacted] PLEDGED MILITARY COOPERATION WITH FUTURE EXHUMATION EFFORTS; HE BELIEVED HARBURY HAD NO REASON TO FEAR RETURNING TO GUATEMALA FOR THE EXHUMATION. ON MARCH 22, HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER MADE A SIMILAR INQUIRY TO A PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (COPREDEH) STAFFER. ACCORDING TO THAT OFFICIAL, THE GOVERNMENT HAD RECEIVED AN INQUIRY FROM UNITED NATIONS HUMAN RIGHTS EXPERT CHRISTIAN TOMUSCHAT ABOUT "EVERARDO'S" WHEREABOUTS. COPREDEH IS PREPARING AN OFFICIAL RESPONSE STATING THE POSITION OUTLINED BY [redacted] IN THE MEANTIME, THE DEFENSE MINISTER PROVIDED A SIMILAR ACCOUNT TO JOURNALISTS. THE MOD CALLED CONGEN MARCH 30

TO CLARIFY STATEMENTS HE INDICATED HAD BEEN MISCONSTRUED BY THE PRESS AND PROVIDED A COPY OF HIS PRESS RELEASE. WHEN CONGEN INQUIRED IF THE MILITARY WOULD COOPERATE IN THE EXHUMATION, HE SAID THEY HAD NO ROLE IN IT, IT WAS IN THE HANDS OF THE JUDGE, BUT OF COURSE THEY WOULD NOT OPPOSE.

USG FOLLOW-UP

8. (C) EMBOFFS ARE FOLLOWING UP WITH BOTH POLITICAL AND CONSULAR EFFORTS. ON THE POLITICAL SIDE, HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER SPOKE WITH HARBURY ON MARCH 30 TO COMMUNICATE THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT POSITION, AS RELATED TO US. HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER NOTED THAT WE HAD CONTACTED BOTH MILITARY AND CIVILIAN OFFICIALS, BUT PROVIDED NO FURTHER SPECIFICS. HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER ALSO OFFERED TO ACT AS A CONFIDENTIAL CONDUIT FOR FUTURE MESSAGES BETWEEN HARBURY AND THE GOG, AND VICE VERSA. THE EMBASSY'S AMERICAN CITIZENS' SERVICES OFFICER IS ALSO IN CONTACT WITH HARBURY TO OFFER ADVICE ON EXHUMATION PROCEDURES. WE HAVE EMPHASIZED TO HARBURY THE NEED TO: (1) SEEK GUATEMALAN LEGAL REPRESENTATION; (2) OBTAIN CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE TO IDENTIFY "EVERARDO" (PREFERABLY, DENTAL RECORDS OR OTHER ITEMS MENTIONED IN PARA 6 ABOVE); AND (3) SEEK ASSISTANCE FROM A FOREIGN FORENSICS EXPERT (GUATEMALA LACKS ADEQUATE FORENSIC EXPERTISE). HARBURY TOLD HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER ON MARCH 30 SHE EXPECTED TO MAKE A FORMAL EXHUMATION REQUEST SOON, HOPEFULLY WITH LEGAL ASSISTANCE FROM THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE. SHE EXPECTS TO RETURN TO GUATEMALA IN A MONTH OR SO WITH A FOREIGN DELEGATION TO OBSERVE THE EXHUMATION. THE DELEGATION MAY INCLUDE CONGRESSIONAL PARTICIPATION, ACCORDING TO HARBURY.

COMMENT

9. (C) EMBOFFS HAVE STRESSED DURING ALL CONVERSATIONS WITH HARBURY AND OTHERS THAT OUR INVOLVEMENT IN THIS CASE DOES NOT IMPLY IN ANY WAY THAT WE ARE TAKING SIDES IN GUATEMALA'S ARMED CONFLICT. WE ARE PROVIDING APPROPRIATE ASSISTANCE TO AN AMCIT SEEKING TO LOCATE HER SPOUSE, HENCE OUR EFFORTS ON HARBURY'S BEHALF. WE EXPECT TO PROVIDE ADDITIONAL CONSULAR ASSISTANCE WITH THE EXHUMATION. NEVERTHELESS, OUR EFFORTS HAVE TURNED UP LITTLE INFORMATION NOT ALREADY KNOWN TO HARBURY, THE OMBUDSMAN, AND THE GOG. WE HAVE NO INDEPENDENT INFORMATION NOT PREVIOUSLY KNOWN CONCERNING "EVERARDO'S" CURRENT WHEREABOUTS, AND WHETHER HE IS DEAD OR ALIVE.

1. USMISSION AND EMBASSY MEXICO ARE REQUESTED TO RAISE WITH THE AGENCY AND THE GOM THE FOLLOWING REQUEST FOR SUPPLY OF LOW ENRICHED URANIUM (LEU) FUEL FOR RELOAD OF THE LAGUNA VERDE NUCLEAR POWER PLANT IN MEXICO.

2. THE U.S. NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION HAS RECEIVED AN APPLICATION (XSNM02741) FROM SIEMENS POWER CORPORATION FOR AUTHORIZATION TO EXPORT TO MEXICO 40 KILOGRAMS OF U-235 CONTAINED IN 800 KILOGRAMS OF URANIUM

ENRICHED TO A MAXIMUM OF 5 PERCENT IN THE FORM OF URANIUM OXIDE PELLETS INCORPORATED INTO FUEL ASSEMBLIES FOR UNIT 1 OF THE LAGUNA VERDE NUCLEAR POWER PLANT.

3. THE PROPOSED EXPORT TO MEXICO COULD TAKE PLACE PURSUANT TO THE AGREEMENT OF COOPERATION BETWEEN THE U.S. AND THE IAEA, AS AMENDED, THE U.S.-IAEA-MEXICO PROJECT AND SUPPLY AGREEMENTS OF 1974 FOR THE LAGUNA VERDE NUCLEAR POWER PLANT (INFCIRC/203 AND INFCIRC/203/ADD 1) AND THE ASSOCIATED NOTE DATED

NOVEMBER 17, 1978 FROM THE PERMANENT MISSION OF MEXICO IN VIENNA.

4. IN ORDER TO APPROVE THE REQUESTED EXPORT, THE U.S. NEEDS CONFIRMATION THAT THE AGENCY AND THE GOVERNMENT OF MEXICO AGREE THAT THE ABOVE CITED ARRANGEMENTS WILL APPLY TO THE PROPOSED ADDITIONAL SUPPLY OF NUCLEAR MATERIAL. NO NEW OR AMENDED SUPPLY AGREEMENT WOULD BE NEEDED FOR CONTINUED SUPPLY SINCE THE LAGUNA VERDE AGREEMENTS' UNLIKE RESEARCH REACTOR PROJECT AND SUPPLY AGREEMENTS, PROVIDE FOR LIFETIME SUPPLY OF THE REACTOR.

TALKING POINTS

-- I would like to congratulate you on the historic meeting which took place in Mexico in April between representatives of your government and the insurgents. Thanks to your efforts, Guatemala now has a chance for peace.

-- We stand ready to help you establish this peace as well as strengthen civilian democratic institutions, reinvigorate your economy and combat the peril of narcotics.

-- On these issues you can count on Ambassador Tom Stroock who is an old friend of mine and has my full support as my personal representative in Guatemala.

-- (IF ASKED TO NAME A SPECIAL ENVOY TO GUATEMALA) I have full faith and confidence in the work of Ambassador Stroock, who is a trusted advisor of mine, and do not feel a special envoy is warranted.

-- As you know, we have $50 million in ESF which we will use to support an economic adjustment program developed with the IMF. We are awaiting your government's movement towards an agreement with the IMF (a letter of intent to reach agreement would be satisfactory) before moving to disburse these funds.

-- In addition to our ESF, we are also providing $28 million in Development Assistance and $26 million in food assistance.

-- Your government has already taken numerous positive steps on human rights. We fully recognize that the changes will take time and that the rule of law cannot take place overnight. But I hope we can work closely together in this important area.

-- I would like to thank you for your personal intervention to move the case of the murder of Michael Devine forward. I hope that those who perpetrated this crime will soon be brought to justice.

-- As you know, the Administration lobbied hard to reduce the conditioning language for assistance to Guatemala proposed in the House.

-- It is clear that Congress, while recognizing the steps your government has taken so far on human rights, is going to want to see action. This is the legacy of their disappointment with your predecessor, President Cerezo.

-- I appreciate your government's assistance in the recent interdiction of a 400 kilogram shipment of cocaine.

-- Our two governments will have to continue to work closely together to combat the scourge of narcotics.

SUBJECT: SHE'S BACK| RIGOBERTA VISITING GUATEMALA

1. (U) NOBEL PEACE PRIZE WINNER RIGOBERTA MENCHU RETURNED TO GUATEMALA APRIL 14 FOR THE DAY LATER ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION OF THE COMMITTEE OF PEASANT UNITY (CUC). IN DECLARATIONS TO THE PRESS, RIGOBERTA SAID THAT WHILE HERE, SHE WILL BEGIN PREPARATIONS FOR THE FIRST WORLD MEETING OF INDIGENOUS PEOPLE, TO BE HELD IN CHIMALTENANGO, POSSIBLY IN LATE JUNE. THE NOBEL LAUREATE ALSO WILL TAKE STEPS TO ESTABLISH A LOCAL BRANCH OF THE "VICENTE MENCHU FOUNDATION" (TO BE HEADQUARTERED IN MEXICO), NAMED AFTER HER DECEASED-FATHER (A CUC FOUNDER) AND INITIALLY FUNDED WITH NOBEL WINNINGS.

2. (U) IN REFERRING TO THE PEACE TALKS, MENCHU DEMANDED THAT THE "CIVIL SECTORS" BE ALLOWED TO SIT DIRECTLY AT THE NEGOTIATING TABLE. COINCIDENT WITH HER ARRIVAL, THE TWO MAIN CIVIL SECTOR GROUPS -- THE

We have no indication that President Serrano has plans to meet himself with people on the death threat list. However, he has ordered that protection be provided if requested, and Min Gobernacion Perdomo has agreed to meet with them. See today's Guatemala 4271 and previous. In fact, Rachel Garst (and perhaps others) has just been sent a written invitation to come in and see Vice Minister Napoleon Gutierrez. Meanwhile, Jeff Moon has just spoken with Amcit Rachel Garst from list -- She and others threatened have a meeting scheduled with Atty Genl Tuna Valladares at 8:30 Mon a.m. Apr 19. They will requst a full investigation and protection of NGO offices (only). They had a meeting with Bernardo Neumann, the head of the GOG Human Rights Office (COPREDEH) today which went very well. Harkin staffer Sweeney had apparently talked directly with Neumann concerning Garst. She is to call us on Monday to report on the meeting with the Atty Genl. Rgds, Geo

PS: We are seeking meetings with Quezada or Permuth first thing after they return from Mexico -- don't know yet when that'll be.

SUBJECT: [redacted] STRINGER THREATENED IN GUATEMALA B6

1. CONFIDENTIAL -- ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: [redacted] REPORTS BEING SURVEILLED AND RECEIVING ANONYMOUS TELEPHONE THREATS IN GUATEMALA CITY. SHE DOES NOT WANT THE SITUATION TO BE PUBLICIZED, BUT HAS REQUESTED A DISCREET APPROACH TO GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS EXPRESSING CONCERN ABOUT THREATS TO UNSPECIFIED FOREIGN JOURNALISTS. END SUMMARY. B6

"PERSONAL" MATTER

3. ON APRIL 19, [redacted] CALLED HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER REQUESTING AN APPOINTMENT. HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER DOES NOT KNOW [redacted] PERSONALLY, BUT GRANTED THE REQUEST WHEN TOLD SHE WISHED TO DISCUSS A "PERSONAL" MATTER. LATER THAT DAY, [redacted] VISITED THE EMBASSY, WHERE SHE INFORMED HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER AND PRESS ATTACHE OF THREATS RECEIVED RECENTLY. [redacted] SPECIFICALLY ASKED THE EMBASSY NOT TO PUBLICIZE THE SITUATION. SHE NONETHELESS REQUESTED THAT EMBOFFS RAISE THE MATTER DISCREETLY -- WITHOUT IDENTIFYING HER PERSONALLY -- WITH GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AT AN APPROPRIATE OFFICIAL OR SOCIAL OCCASION. B6

SURVEILLANCE

4. [redacted] EXPLAINED THAT A STRANGE INCIDENT ON FRIDAY, APRIL 16 PROMPTED HER EMBASSY VISIT. WHEN SHE RETURNED HOME THAT EVENING AFTER DINNER, SHE SPOTTED A UNKNOWN MAN ON THE OPPOSITE SIDE OF THE ROAD. [redacted] DESCRIBED HIM AS A "BLACK MAN WITHOUT BLACK FEATURES," SPECULATING THAT HE MIGHT HAVE BEEN SOMEONE FROM B6

GUATEMALA'S CARIBBEAN COAST. THE MAN WAS LOOKING BOTH AT A PAPER AND HER APARTMENT BUILDING.

5. SHE LATER LEARNED THAT THE MAN APPROACHED THE BUILDING SUPERINTENDENT AND THE SUPERINTENDENT'S WIFE SEEKING INFORMATION ABOUT [redacted] HE INQUIRED ABOUT HER NAME (WHICH HE APPEARED TO KNOW ALREADY), NATIONALITY (AMERICAN OR FRENCH?), AND PROFESSION. [redacted] WAS TOLD THAT THE NAME [redacted] WITH WHOM SHE LIVES, WAS WRITTEN ON THE PAPER THE MAN CARRIED. THE UNKNOWN VISITOR TOLD THE SUPERINTENDENT THAT HE NEEDED INFORMATION BECAUSE [redacted] HAD APPLIED FOR A USD 25,000 LOAN FROM THE WORKERS' BANK ("BANCO DE TRABAJADORES"); [redacted] DENIES MAKING ANY SUCH LOAN APPLICATION. B6 B6 B6 B6

6. ON SATURDAY, APRIL 17, THE SUPERINTENDENT'S DAUGHTER REPORTEDLY ADVISED [redacted] OF ANOTHER SUSPICIOUS INCIDENT OCCURRING THE PREVIOUS WEDNESDAY, APRIL 14. AN UNKNOWN MAN (IT WAS NOT CLEAR WHETHER IT WAS THE SAME INDIVIDUAL SPOTTED APRIL 16) MANAGED TO GAIN ENTRY TO THE APARTMENT BUILDING AND WAS LOOKING FOR A WOMAN WITH AN UNFAMILIAR NAME. WHEN THE MAN REFUSED TO LEAVE, THE DAUGHTER CALLED HER FATHER. THE FATHER REPEATED THAT NOBODY LIVING IN THE BUILDING HAD THAT NAME. THE MAN THEN INDICATED HE WANTED TO SPEAK WITH THE WOMAN LIVING IN [redacted] APARTMENT. B6 B6

TELEPHONE THREATS

7. BEGINNING ON OR ABOUT APRIL 2, [redacted] HAS BEEN RECEIVING 3 OR 4 ANONYMOUS TELEPHONE CALLS AT THE APARTMENT EACH DAY. THE CALLER HUNG UP AFTER SAYING NOTHING. ON FRIDAY, APRIL 16, HOWEVER, THE CALLER ASKED TO SPEAK WITH "HER" ("ELLA"). [redacted] WHO ANSWERED THE PHONE, SUGGESTED THE CALLER HAD THE WRONG NUMBER. THE CALLER WAS INSISTENT, HOWEVER, CLAIMING "HILARIO FROM NEW YORK" WAS TELEPHONING [redacted] KNOWS NOBODY FROM NEW YORK). THE CALLER THEN ASKED TO SPEAK WITH "KENYA" BEFORE HANGING UP. THERE HAVE BEEN NO SIMILAR CALLS SINCE THEN. B6 B6 B6

SEVERAL TARGETS

8. [redacted] ACCORDING TO [redacted] ALL APARTMENT RESIDENTS HAVE BEEN ACTIVE IN CONTROVERSIAL ISSUES, SO THREATS COULD BE INTENDED TO INTIMIDATE ANY OR ALL OF THEM. B6 B6

9. [redacted] SAID SHE HAS RECENTLY BEEN INVESTIGATING AND/OR FILED STORIES ON THE REFUGEE RETURN, THE PAVONCITO PRISON UPRISING, AND THE DEVINE AND ORTIZ CASES. SUBJECT: Appointment Request: Guatemalan Nobel Peace Prize Laureate Rigoberta Menchu Tum

PURPOSE: -- Signal U.S. commitment to human rights in Guatemala

-- Express our interest in a peaceful settlement to the 32-year-old guerrilla insurgency.

-- Express our support for the repatriation of Guatemalan refugees from Mexico.

OTHER APPOINTMENTS SOUGHT: Ms. Menchu has also requested a meeting with President Clinton at the White House. She will address the Congressional Human Rights Caucus and meet with Members of Congress.

BACKGROUND: Ms. Menchu is closely identified with the rights of indigenous people and the mass repatriation of Guatemalan refugees from Mexico. Because she is a fierce critic of human rights abuses and is sympathetic to URNG negotiating goals, her award caused the GOG considerable discomfort. Since receiving the Nobel prize, Ms. Menchu has travelled widely in Europe. She has generally met with your counterparts, but in Italy was received by the Pope and President Scalfaro.

TIMING: Ms. Menchu is in Washington from April 26 - May 1, but is unavailable April 28.

LOCATION: Your Office.

ON CHARGE AT THE EMBASSY ON APRIL 21. THE FOLLOWING REPORT DRAWS ON THEIR CONVERSATION AND DOCUMENTS PROVIDED BY MENCHU.

VICENTE MENCHU FOUNDATION

4. THE PURPOSE OF MENCHU'S VISIT WAS TO SOLICIT FUNDS FOR THE VICENTE MENCHU FOUNDATION, WHICH IS SEEKING DONATIONS IN THE U.S., GUATEMALA, AUSTRALIA, AUSTRIA, BELGIUM, CANADA, DENMARK, FRANCE, GERMANY, GREAT BRITAIN, HOLLAND, IRELAND, ITALY, MEXICO, NORWAY, SPAIN, SWEDEN, AND SWITZERLAND. MENCHU ESTABLISHED THE FOUNDATION AFTER RECEIVING THE NOBEL PRIZE TO

HONOR OF HER FATHER, WHO DIED A DECADE AGO DURING THE ACTIVIST OCCUPATION OF THE SPANISH EMBASSY IN GUATEMALA CITY.

GOALS

5. ACCORDING TO DOCUMENTS PROVIDED BY MENCHU, THE FOUNDATION'S PURPOSE IS TO:

-- CONTRIBUTE TO THE GUATEMALA PEACE PROCESS
-- SUPPORT EFFORTS TO ACHIEVE ETHNIC, CULTURAL, POLITICAL AND IDEOLOGICAL UNITY IN GUATEMALA
-- PROMOTE ENFORCEMENT OF HUMAN RIGHTS, ESPECIALLY THOSE OF INDIGENOUS PERSONS
-- ASSIST COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS; AND
-- ENCOURAGE EFFORTS TO INCREASE CIVIL SECTOR PARTICIPATION IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS

THE FOUNDATION HOPES TO ACHIEVE THOSE GOALS THROUGH SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNICAL EXCHANGES, RESEARCH ACTIVITIES, INFORMATION CAMPAIGNS, AND INTER-INSTITUTIONAL AGREEMENTS.

STRUCTURE

6. MENCHU IS FOUNDATION PRESIDENT, AND WILL HAVE THE LAST WORD ("LA ULTIMA PALABRA") IN ALL MATTERS. THE EXECUTIVE BOARD ("CONSEJO DIRECTIVO") IS COMPRISED OF MENCHU, ONE OF HER PERSONAL SECRETARIES, AND THE HEADS OF FOUNDATION COUNTRY OFFICES. THE ADVISORY BOARD ("CONSEJO CONSULTIVO") CONSISTS OF UNSPECIFIED

AN OFFICE IN GUATEMALA HEADED BY FRENCH CITIZEN ANDRE BESSIERES, WHO ACCOMPANIED MENCHU TO THE MEETING WITH CHARGE. BESSIERES IS A DEVELOPMENT SPECIALIST RESIDENT IN GUATEMALA FOR MORE THAN 20 YEARS. MENCHU, DEFENSIVELY NOTING THE IRONY OF HER APPOINTMENT OF A FOREIGNER, SAID SHE WOULD HAVE PREFERRED AN INDIGENOUS OFFICE DIRECTOR IN GUATEMALA, BUT SHE CHOSE BESSIERES FOR HIS DEVELOPMENT EXPERTISE AND THE DECREASED LIKELIHOOD OF GOVERNMENT REPRESSION AGAINST A FOREIGNER. FUNDING

7. MENCHU DONATED NOBEL PRIZE AWARD MONEY TO THE FOUNDATION AS AN ENDOWMENT, BUT TOLD CHARGE SHE HOPES TO RAISE FUNDS SUFFICIENT TO PREVENT HAVING TO DIP INTO THOSE RESOURCES. FOUNDATION LITERATURE STATES THAT THE FOUNDATION EXPECTS TO RECEIVE FUNDING FROM: NOBEL PRIZE MONEY; DONATIONS OF LAND AND FACILITIES; AND CASH GIFTS. THE FOUNDATION HAS LAUNCHED A FUNDRAISING CAMPAIGN AND ESTABLISHED A TARGET OF U.S. DOLLARS 2,500,000 FOR 1993. "FRIENDS OF THE VICENTE MENCHU FOUNDATION" GROUPS IN THE COUNTRIES SPECIFIED ABOVE WILL SOLICIT FUNDS FROM GOVERNMENTAL AND NON-GOVERNMENTAL SOURCES. EACH SUCH GROUP WILL COVER ITS OWN EXPENSES. FOUNDATION BANK ACCOUNTS WILL BE OPENED IN MEXICO, THE UNITED STATES, AND EUROPE.

8. MENCHU DELIVERED A PERSONAL LETTER REQUESTING USG FUNDING. CHARGE SIDESTEPPED THE ISSUE, ASKING MENCHU TO BE SURE TO CONTACT A.I.D. FOR FUNDING WHEN SPECIFIC PROJECT GOALS ARE ESTABLISHED. BESSIERES, WHO SAID HE HAS WORKED WITH A.I.D. IN THE PAST, CLAIMED THE FOUNDATION DOES NOT SEEK INDEPENDENT RESPONSIBILITY FOR SPECIFIC PROJECTS, PREFERRING INSTEAD TO SUPPLEMENT EFFORTS OF OTHERS BY STIMULATING PROJECTS THAT HAVE FAILED TO ADVANCE AS HOPED.

SECURITY

9. MENCHU ALSO DISCUSSED HER NEED FOR SECURITY IN

GUATEMALA, ASKING IF THE USG COULD PROVIDE FUTURE ASSISTANCE FOR HER SECURITY. UNLIKE MEXICO, WHERE PRESIDENT SALINAS HAS OFFERED PRESIDENTIAL GUARD ("ESTADO MAYOR PRESIDENCIAL") SECURITY FOR THE INDEFINITE FUTURE, MENCHU RECEIVES NO SUCH OFFICIAL SECURITY IN GUATEMALA. DURING THIS AND PREVIOUS VISITS, THE FRENCH AMBASSADOR PROVIDED A BULLET-PROOF CAR. SHE WONDERED, HOWEVER, IF THE USG COULD PROVIDE SIMILAR ASSISTANCE IF THE FRENCH CANNOT CONTINUE DOING SO. (COMMENT: MRS. MITTERRAND HAS BEEN A STRONG MENCHU SUPPORTER IN FRANCE. WE SPECULATE THAT DECLINING POLITICAL FORTUNES OF MRS. MITTERRAND'S HUSBAND EXPLAINS MENCHU'S CONCERN OVER CONTINUED FRENCH SECURITY SERVICES. END COMMENT.) CHARGE RESPONDED BY CITING RESTRICTIONS ON PROVISION OF SECURITY AND LOGISTICAL ASSISTANCE TO NON-USG OFFICIALS. CHARGE PROMISED, HOWEVER, TO MAKE AN INQUIRY TO WASHINGTON IF THE FRENCH PROVED UNABLE TO ASSIST.

INDIGENOUS SUMMIT

10. MENCHU ALSO MENTIONED THAT A LONG-PLANNED INDIGENOUS SUMMIT HAS BEEN SCHEDULED FOR MAY 24-28 IN CHIMALTENANGO. AS U.N. GOODWILL AMBASSADOR DURING INTERNATIONAL INDIGENOUS PEOPLES YEAR, MENCHU HAS TAKEN A SPECIAL INTEREST IN THE PROJECT. ACCORDING TO A DOCUMENT PREPARED BY MENCHU'S PERSONAL SECRETARIAT, UNESCO WILL FUND THE EVENT, WHICH WILL BE ATTENDED BY REPRESENTATIVES FROM THE AMERICAS AND ASIA. MENCHU INDICATED THAT ONE OF HER GOALS IS TO EXTEND INTERNATIONAL INDIGENOUS YEAR INTO AN INTERNATIONAL INDIGENOUS DECADE.

SUBJECT: TORTURED STREET CHILD UPDATE; CHARGE RAISES ISSUE WITH PRESIDENT SERRANO

REF: A) STATE 0116178; B) GUATEMALA 04244

1. CONFIDENTIAL -- ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES ARE INVESTIGATING REPORTS THAT A STREET CHILD WAS TORTURED BY POLICEMEN ON MARCH 14, 1993. NEVERTHELESS, PRESIDENT SERRANO TOLD CHARGE ON APRIL 23 THAT THE GOG WILL HAVE NO PERSONAL CONTACT WITH CASA ALIANZA REGIONAL DIRECTOR BRUCE HARRIS BECAUSE HARRIS INSULTED THE GOG AT A FEBRUARY CONFERENCE IN NORWAY. END SUMMARY.

BACKGROUND

3. REFTELS REPORTED THAT GUATEMALAN POLICEMEN ALLEGEDLY BURNED AN UNIDENTIFIED GUATEMALAN STREET CHILD 29 TIMES WITH CIGARETTES ON MARCH 14. CASA ALIANZA GUATEMALA DIRECTOR EUGENIA MONTERROSO PROVIDED MORE DETAILS ON THE CHILD, SUBSEQUENTLY IDENTIFIED AS JULIO CESAR REYES, DURING AN APRIL 26 MEETING WITH HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER. ACCORDING TO MONTERROSO, REYES CAME TO CASA ALIANZA'S GUATEMALA CITY OFFICE AFTER THE MARCH 14 INCIDENT ACCOMPANIED BY 2 HONDURAN STREET CHILDREN. CASA ALIANZA OFFERED HIM LODGING, BUT REYES DECLINED.

RETURN TO STREET LIFE

4. REYES SUBSEQUENTLY FLED TO HONDURAS WITH NEITHER ASSISTANCE FROM CASA ALIANZA GUATEMALA NOR OFFICIAL DOCUMENTATION. (NOTE: MONTERROSO SAID IT IS NOT UNCOMMON FOR GUATEMALAN STREET CHILDREN TO APPEAR IN HONDURAS, AND VICE VERSA. IN FACT, CASA ALIANZA IS INTRODUCING A POLICY OF ASSISTING STREET CHILDREN ONLY IN THEIR COUNTRIES OF ORIGIN TO DISCOURAGE THE PHENOMENON. END NOTE.) UNAWARE OF HIS WHEREABOUTS, STREET COUNSELORS SEARCHED UNSUCCESSFULLY FOR REYES IN GUATEMALA CITY. CASA ALIANZA'S TEGUCIGALPA OFFICE SUBSEQUENTLY CONTACTED GUATEMALA CITY COUNTERPARTS REGARDING MEDICAL TREATMENT FOR AND REPATRIATION OF REYES. THE LEGAL SECTION OF THE GUATEMALA CITY OFFICE ARRANGED PROPER DOCUMENTATION AND FACILITATED REYES'S RETURN TO THE GUATEMALAN CAPITAL.

5. ACCORDING TO MONTERROSO, REYES STAYED AT A CASA ALIANZA FACILITY FOR SEVERAL DAYS AFTER RETURNING TO GUATEMALA CITY. HE THEN DECIDED TO LEAVE (ALL STAYS AT THE CASA ALIANZA CRISIS CENTER ARE VOLUNTARY), AND IS NOW LIVING ON THE STREET. CASA ALIANZA STREET COUNSELORS SEE HIM FROM TIME TO TIME DURING THEIR REGULAR ROUNDS IN GUATEMALA CITY.

GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATING

6. MEANWHILE, GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS ARE INVESTIGATING. ON APPROXIMATELY APRIL 14 (THE DAY AFTER THE TELEVISION REPORT NOTED REFTEL B), AN ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE STAFFER CALLED ON CASA ALIANZA SEEKING ALL AVAILABLE CASE INFORMATION. CASA ALIANZA REPORTEDLY PROVIDED BACKGROUND REPORTS, PHOTOGRAPHS, AND A HONDURAN MEDICAL REPORT. THE STAFFER ALSO SOUGHT AN INTERVIEW WITH THE VICTIM, BUT DIFFICULTIES IN LOCATING REYES ON THE STREETS HAVE PREVENTED THE INTERVIEW FROM OCCURRING. CASA ALIANZA ALSO CONTACTED THE NATIONAL POLICE DIRECTOR REGARDING THE CASE.

7. ACCORDING TO MONTERROSO, REYES CAN IDENTIFY HIS ATTACKERS, BUT IS RELUCTANT TO COOPERATE WITH INVESTIGATORS. NEVERTHELESS, MONTERROSO HAS FILED A FORMAL COMPLAINT WITHIN THE PAST WEEK IN A GUATEMALA CITY COURT. A COURT OFFICIAL REPORTEDLY TOLD HER THAT ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE OFFICIALS HAVE EXPRESSED INTEREST IN PURSUING THE CASE.

PRESIDENT INCENSED

8. PER REFTEL (A) REQUEST, CHARGE DISCUSSED CASA ALIANZA WITH PRESIDENT SERRANO ON APRIL 23. SERRANO INITIALLY BRUSHED ASIDE THE APPROACH, BUT BECAME VISIBLY UPSET WHEN CHARGE INSISTED ON SUGGESTING THAT THE GOG CONTACT CASA ALIANZA REGIONAL DIRECTOR BRUCE HARRIS REGARDING THE CASE. SERRANO TOLD CHARGE THAT NOT ONLY IS HARRIS A "LIAR," BUT THAT IT IS GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT POLICY TO HAVE NO CONTACT WITH HIM. HARRIS MAY ENTER AND DEPART GUATEMALA FREELY, BUT GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS (HE SPECIFIED THE EXECUTIVE AND JUDICIAL BRANCHES) WILL NOT MEET WITH HIM ON ANY MATTER. OTHER CASA ALIANZA REPRESENTATIVES REMAIN FREE TO MEET WITH GOG OFFICIALS TO COORDINATE POLICY AND PROGRAMS FOR STREET CHILDREN; IN FACT, SERRANO NOTED HE WOULD ENCOURGE SUCH CONTACTS.

9. SERRANO EXPLAINED THAT HE DECIDED TO "BREAK RELATIONS" WITH HARRIS AFTER THE LATTER'S ALLEGED OUTRAGEOUS CONDUCT AT A HUMAN RIGHTS CONFERENCE HOSTED BY THE NORWEGIAN PARLIAMENT. MRS. SERRANO, OTHER GOG REPRESENTATIVES AND A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE GUATEMALAN SUPREME COURT ALSO ATTENDED. MRS. SERRANO GAVE A SPEECH DESCRIBING GOG PROGRAMS FOR STREET CHILDREN. HARRIS CRITICIZED THOSE EFFORTS IN SUBSEQUENT REMARKS. ACCORDING TO THE PRESIDENT, HARRIS HYPOCRITICALLY SWITCHED FROM SAYING POSITIVE THINGS HERE LAST WINTER AND THEN SAID JUST THE OPPOSITE ABROAD. ALLEGEDLY INSULTED GUATEMALA BY DESCRIBING GUATEMALA AS A STATE WITH A POLICY OF MARMING CHILDREN. NOT ONLY WERE HIS CHARGES FALSE, ACCORDING TO SERRANO, BUT HARRIS HAD BRUSHED ASIDE OR IGNORED SERRANO ADMINISTRATION EFFORTS TO PROTECT STREET CHILDREN. THE PRESIDENT TOLD CHARGE THAT HARRIS' COMMENTS WERE SO INSULTING THAT NORWEGIAN PARLIAMENTARIANS FELT IT NECESSARY TO APOLOGIZE TO MRS. SERRANO AND OTHER GOG DELEGATES FOR HIS BEHAVIOUR. SERRANO SUGGESTED THAT EMBASSY OFFICIALS CONTACT HIS WIFE PERSONALLY AND THE PRESIDENT OF THE SUPREME COURT TO OBTAIN A MORE COMPLETE RUN-DOWN OF THIS INCIDENT.

COOPERATIVE AGREEMENT AFFECTED

10. GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT DISPLEASURE WITH HARRIS HAS APPARENTLY STALLED NEGOTIATIONS ON A NEW GOG-CASA ALIANZA COOPERATIVE AGREEMENT. ACCORDING TO MONTERROSO, CASA ALIANZA DECLINED IN NOVEMBER 1992 TO RENEW A 1-YEAR AGREEMENT WITH THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE. CASA ALIANZA WAS TROUBLED BY BOTH THE DEPARTURE OF VALLADARES

AND A PERCEIVED LACK OF COMMITMENT AT THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE. SINCE THEN, CASA ALIANZA PREPARED A REVISED DRAFT AGREEMENT THAT WOULD INCLUDE THE INTERIOR MINISTRY, POLICE, AND OTHER GOG ORGANIZATIONS IN ADDITION TO THE PUBLIC MINISTRY. CASA ALIANZA FORWARDED THE NEW DRAFT IN JANUARY 1993 -- SHORTLY BEFORE THE ILL-FATED NORWEGIAN CONFERENCE. MONTERROSO TOLD HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER THAT HER ORGANIZATION IS STILL WAITING FOR A GOG RESPONSE. SERRANO'S CONVERSATION WITH CHARGE SUGGESTED THERE WILL BE NO REPLY ANY TIME SOON, PARTICULARLY IF HARRIS IS SUPPOSED TO BE INVOLVED IN THE TALKS.

11. WE WILL BE CONTACTING MRS. SERRANO, SUPREME COURT OFFICIALS AND HARRIS TO OBTAIN MORE DETAILS OF HARRIS' ALLEGED OFFENSE. WE MAY THEN TRY TO HELP BOTH SIDES PATCH THINGS UP.

SUBJECT: THREATS TO GUATEMALAN JUDGES HEARING MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS CASES

1. (U) SUMMARY: GUATEMALAN APPELLATE JUDGES CURRENTLY REVIEWING APPEALS IN THE DEVINE, MACK AND "TRAILEROS" HUMAN RIGHTS CASES HAVE RECEIVED TELEPHONIC AND WRITTEN THREATS. THE GUATEMALAN EXECUTIVE AND JUDICIAL BRANCHES HAVE REPORTEDLY OFFERED PROTECTION. END SUMMARY.

2. (C) THE FOLLOWING REPORT DRAWS ON CONSUL GENERAL'S APRIL 26 CONVERSATIONS WITH A GUATEMALAN APPELLATE JUDGE AND HELEN MACK, AS WELL AS PRESS REPORTS.

TELEPHONIC & WRITTEN THREATS

3. (U) ACCORDING TO GUATEMALAN PRESS REPORTS, JUDGES ASSIGNED TO THE FOURTH APPELLATE COURT ("SALA CUARTA DE APELACIONES") IN GUATEMALA CITY HAVE RECEIVED TELEPHONIC AND WRITTEN THREATS. CURRENTLY PENDING BEFORE THE COURT ARE APPEALS IN THE MICHAEL DEVINE, MYRNA MACK CHANG, AND "TRAILEROS" CASES. PRESS REPORTS HIGHLIGHTED THE FACT THAT MILITARY PERSONNEL ARE PRINCIPAL SUSPECTS IN ALL THREE CASES. (COMMENT: ALL APPEALS TO MILITARY COURT DECISIONS ARE SENT TO THIS APPEALS COURT. END COMMENT.)

4. (U) ON APRIL 26, THE "TELEPRENSA" EVENING TELEVISION NEWS INCLUDED AN INTERVIEW WITH AN UNIDENTIFIED JUDGE FROM THE COURT. THE JUDGE, WHOSE VOICE WAS HEARD BUT WHOSE PICTURE WAS NOT SHOWN, STATED THAT "WE HAVE BEEN CONSTANTLY THREATENED" ON THE TELEPHONE. HE ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT A THREAT LETTER WAS ALSO RECEIVED ON FRIDAY, APRIL 23. THE LETTER INCLUDED ALLEGATIONS OF JUDICIAL CORRUPTION, SO THE JUDGE SPECULATED THAT IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN PREPARED BY A DISAPPOINTED LITIGANT.

5. (C) CONSUL GENERAL SPOKE ON APRIL 26 WITH THE CHIEF JUDGE OF THE COURT. THE JUDGE CONFIRMED RECEIPT OF THREATS DESCRIBED ABOVE. HE PROMISED TO FORWARD TO THE EMBASSY A COPY OF THE LETTER, BUT HAS YET TO DO SO. [redacted] B1,B3 [redacted] CONSUL GENERAL INVITED THE CHIEF JUDGE TO CONTACT THE EMBASSY IF FURTHER APPROPRIATE ASSISTANCE WERE REQUIRED.

GOVERNMENT PROTECTION OFFERED

6. (U) THE "TELEPRENSA" REPORT ALSO INCLUDED INTERVIEWS EARLIER THAT DAY WITH LUIS ALBERTO MAZARIEGOS, PRESIDENT OF THE GUATEMALAN JUDGE AND MAGISTRATES ASSOCIATION, AND OLGA LUCY RODRIGUEZ, A JUDICIAL BRANCH OFFICIAL. MAZARIEGOS SPOKE WITH REPORTERS AFTER A MEETING WITH NATIONAL POLICE DIRECTOR, LEOPOLDO ARMANDO GUERRA. ACCORDING TO MAZARIEGOS, THE POLICE DIRECTOR WAS WILLING TO PROVIDE PROTECTION FOR THE JUDGES AND THEIR FAMILIES. THE JUDGES WOULD BE REQUIRED TO MAKE A FORMAL REQUEST, BUT MAZARIEGOS BELIEVED SUCH ASSISTANCE WOULD EXTEND TO JUDGES BOTH IN THE CAPITAL AND OUTLYING DEPARTMENTS. (COMMENT: THE REFERENCE TO JUDGES OUTSIDE GUATEMALA CITY PRESUMABLY RELATES TO JUDGES IN JALAPA WHO RECENTLY REPORTED RECEIVING DEATH THREATS IN UNRELATED CASES. END COMMENT.) MAZARIEGOS WOULD NOT SPECULATE ON HOW SERIOUS THE THREATS WERE, OBSERVING ONLY THAT PRUDENCE MADE IT ADVISABLE TO TAKE THEM SERIOUSLY.

7. (U) THE JUDICIAL BRANCH IS ALSO REPORTEDLY WILLING TO PROTECT THE JUDGES. RODRIGUEZ TOLD "TELEPRENSA" REPORTERS THAT JUDICIAL BRANCH OFFICIALS ARE AWARE OF THE SITUATION AND "WE ARE WILLING TO PROVIDE ALL PROTECTION REQUIRED." THE APRIL 27 EDITION OF THE GUATEMALA CITY DAILY NEWSPAPER "SIGLO XXI" REPORTED THAT JULIO RIVERA CLAVERIA, THE PRINCIPAL ASSISTANT OF SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT JUAN JOSE RODIL PERALTA, HAS INVITED THE JUDGES TO COORDINATE APPROPRIATE PROTECTION WITH JUDICIAL BRANCH AUTHORITIES.

8. (U) "SIGLO XXI" ALSO REPORTED THAT VICE INTERIOR MINISTER NAPOLEON GUTIERREZ, WHO WAS A JUDGE ON THE FOURTH APPELLATE (SAME) COURT PRIOR TO ASSUMING HIS PRESENT POSITION, CALLED ON THE THREATENED JUDGES ON APRIL 26. GUTIERREZ REPORTEDLY OFFERED FULL INTERIOR MINISTRY PROTECTION.

OTHER REACTION

9. (U) ACCORDING TO "TELEPRENSA," HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO EXPRESSED HIS "ENERGETIC CONDEMNATION" OF THE THREATS ON APRIL 26. THE OMBUDSMAN REPORTEDLY ISSUED A PRESS RELEASE NOTING THAT THE COURT IS ABOUT TO ISSUE DECISIONS IN THE DEVINE, MACK AND "TRAILEROS" CASES. THE STATEMENT REPORTEDLY EMPHASIZED THAT SUSPECTS IN ALL THREE CASES ARE MILITARY PERSONNEL.

10. (C) ON THE MORNING OF APRIL 26, CONSUL GENERAL ALSO SPOKE WITH HELEN MACK, MYRNA'S SISTER. HELEN ASKED IF THE USG PLANNED TO ISSUE A STATEMENT REGARDING THE THREATS; CONSUL GENERAL DEFERRED COMMENT.

COMMENT

11. (C) WE AGREE WITH MAZARIEGOS THAT THE THREATS SHOULD BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY, BUT BELIEVE A USG STATEMENT WOULD BE INAPPROPRIATE. THE GUATEMALAN EXECUTIVE AND JUDICIAL BRANCHES APPEAR TO BE FULLY AWARE OF THE PROBLEM, AND HAVE OFFERED APPROPRIATE PROTECTION. UNDER THESE CIRCUMSTANCES, A USG STATEMENT IN OUR VIEW WOULD NOT ENHANCE SECURITY FOR THE JUDGES. WE WOULD PREFER TO KEEP OUR POWDER DRY FOR CASES WHERE AN EXPRESSION OF USG INTEREST IS NECESSARY TO ENCOURAGE GOG ACTION. THUS, WE RECOMMEND WITHHOLDING COMMENT UNLESS THE SITUATION DETERIORATES FURTHER.

SUBJECT: GUATEMALAN COURT AFFIRMS MYRNA MACK MURDER CONVICTION

1. (U) ON APRIL 29, A GUATEMALAN APPELLATE COURT AFFIRMED THE TRIAL COURT CONVICTION OF NOEL DE JESUS BETETA ALVAREZ FOR THE 1990 MURDER OF GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK CHANG. THE APPELLATE TRIBUNAL ALSO CONFIRMED THE 30-YEAR PRISON SENTENCE HANDED DOWN BY THE TRIAL JUDGE. JUDGES HEARING APPEALS IN THE CASE RECEIVED NUMEROUS, ANONYMOUS THREATS IN RECENT WEEKS.

2. (U) IN AN APRIL 29 TELEVISED INTERVIEW, HELEN MACK CHARACTERIZED THE DECISION AS AN "HISTORIC JUDGEMENT BECAUSE IT REPRESENTS A FIRST CRACK IN THE WALL OF IMPUNITY". HELEN OBSERVED THAT THE CONVICTION REPRESENTED CONDEMNATION NOT JUST OF BETETA, BUT OF THE SECURITY FORCES AS AN INSTITUTION. SHE BELIEVED THE DECISION WOULD GIVE GUATEMALANS HOPE THAT INDEPENDENT JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES WILL ENFORCE THE RULE OF LAW.

3. (U) HELEN CRITICIZED THE APPELLATE COURT, HOWEVER, FOR DISMISSING CHARGES AGAINST BETETA'S PRESIDENTIAL SECURITY GUARD ("ESTADO MAYOR PRESIDENCIAL") SUPERIORS. SHE FOUND THE APPELLATE DECISION NOT TO PURSUE CHARGES AGAINST FORMER PRESIDENTIAL GUARD CHIEF HECTOR AUGUSTO GODOY GAITAN, JUAN JOSE LARIOS, JUAN JOSE DEL CID MORALES, JUAN VALENCIA OSORIO, AND JUAN GUILLERMO OLIVA CARRERA INCONSISTENT WITH TRIAL COURT FINDINGS THAT THE MACK MURDER WAS POLITICALLY-MOTIVATED. HELEN BELIEVED ADDITIONAL PROCEEDINGS WERE WARRANTED BECAUSE BETETA WAS ASSIGNED TO THE ESTADO MAYOR AND HE ALLEGEDLY USED THAT ORGANIZATION'S MATERIAL & HUMAN INFRASTRUCTURE TO COMMIT THE MURDER.

GUATEM 04882 3816142 015459 S075544

4. (C) COMMENT: THIS BRINGS TO A CLOSE ONE OF GUATEMALA'S MOST PROMINENT HUMAN RIGHTS CASES IN RECENT YEARS. HELEN IS CORRECT THAT THE BETETA CONVICTION IS A LANDMARK IN THE STRUGGLE AGAINST IMPUNITY. WE SHARE HER DISAPPOINTMENT THAT THE COURT DISMISSED CHARGES AGAINST BETETA'S SUPERIORS, BUT AGREE WITH APPELLATE JUDGES THAT NOTHING MORE THAN CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE IMPLICATED THE ACCUSED INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS. THE ONLY REMAINING QUESTION IS WHETHER BETETA WILL ACCEPT HIS 30-YEAR SENTENCE QUIETLY, OR FEEL THE NEED TO SPEAK UP AND PERHAPS IMPLICATE OTHERS INVOLVED.

SUBJECT: Overhaul of Guatemalan Patrol Boats

ISSUE FOR DECISION

Whether to approve an exception to current policy to allow the import of three Guatemalan patrol boats for overhaul.

ESSENTIAL FACTORS

The Guatemalan Defense Ministry has signed a $1 million contract with the U.S. firm, Network Marine of Louisiana, to overhaul the first three of nine 65-foot patrol boats. Department approval of a temporary import license must be obtained before the boats can be brought to the United States for servicing.

On December 21, 1990, we suspended military assistance and commercial sales of defense articles and services to the Guatemalan Armed Forces due to concerns over human rights violations (Tab 1). There is no legal prohibition to the overhaul, but an exception to the policy of denial is required..

DISCUSSION

ARA, INM, and PM recognize that serious human rights problems continue to exist in Guatemala, and human rights are at the top of the bilateral agenda. However, the reports issued earlier this year by the Guatemalan human rights ombudsman, the independent U.N. rapporteur, and the U.S. recognized that the situation has somewhat improved. In addition, the U.S. is working closely with President Serrano to support the ongoing peace process, the success of which is key to substantially improving the human rights situation.

The U.S. is also working closely with Guatemala in countering narcotics trafficking. Effective interdiction efforts in Mexico and the Caribbean have shifted the flow of

We have, however, very important counter-narcotics (CN) programs with Guatemala, and it is primarily in our interest that these proceed. Effective interdiction efforts in Mexico and the Caribbean have shifted the flow of narcotics to Central America where there is increasing maritime trafficking. If approved, the boats will be used in our joint CN programs. Cooperation with Guatemala is critical to our efforts to implement a regional CN strategy.

We believe that the overhaul should be allowed in the interests of our CN programs. The overhaul should proceed on condition that the GOG commits to using the three boats principally for CN purposes. Denying the license would not be in our interests at a time when we wish to advance progress in the peace process, human rights, and counter-narcotics.

Both Louisiana senators and the respective congressman have expressed their strong interest in seeing the license approved. While Guatemala's human rights record is closely scrutinized on the Hill, any negative congressional reaction is likely to be muted by the nature of the items and the small size of the transaction.

At the time we suspended military assistance to Guatemala, we announced publicly our concern over the killing of American citizen Michael Devine by members of the Guatemalan military and laid out as a benchmark resolution of the case against those responsible for the murder. We informed the GOG - but never announced publicly - that four other benchmarks had to be met before we could resume military assistance. HA bases its opposition to this license request on the failure to meet the single, crucial benchmark of the Devine case. The case still remains unresolved to our full satisfaction: five enlisted men were convicted by a military tribunal, but the captain in command was acquitted. That verdict is now under appeal. HA recognizes that the original benchmarks were somewhat ambiguous and that there has been movement to meet them. ARA maintains that President Serrano's government has met the other benchmarks and made significant movement in the Devine case.

RECOMMENDATION

That you approve an exception to policy and allow the temporary import for overhaul of three Guatemalan patrol boats provided the GOG commits to using the boats principally for CN purposes. (ARA, INM, and PM support; HA opposes).

SUMMARY & HIGHLIGHTS

2. (C) DELIBERATIONS AT UNITED NATIONS HUMAN RIGHTS COMMITTEE (UNHRC) MEETINGS IN GENEVA DOMINATED GUATEMALAN HEADLINES IN EARLY MARCH. ON MARCH 10, THE UNHRC VOTED TO CONTINUE ITEM 21 "ADVISORY SERVICES" TO GUATEMALA. GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS WERE RELIEVED THAT ITEM 12 "COUNTRY SITUATIONS" TREATMENT WAS NOT APPROVED, AND THANKED THE USG FOR SUPPORT ON THE ISSUE. (GT 02987; GT 02950)

3. (U) ON MARCH 26, UNKNOWN PERSONS DISTRIBUTED A 1-PAGE DOCUMENT THREATENING 24 ACTIVISTS, JOURNALISTS, AND DEVELOPMENT EXPERTS WITH DEATH. AMCIT RACHEL GARST, A DEVELOPMENT EXPERT, WAS INCLUDED ON THE LIST. SEVERAL

PERSONS LISTED RECEIVED FOLLOW-UP TELEPHONE THREATS, BUT THERE WERE NO VIOLENT INCIDENTS. THE EMBASSY EXPRESSED CONCERN ABOUT THE CASE TO THE HIGHEST LEVELS OF THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT. CHARGE AND HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER DEMONSTRATED PUBLIC SUPPORT BY MEETING WITH THREATENED ACTIVISTS (INCLUDING GARST) AT AN EVENT COVERED BY THE PRESS. AS OF THIS WRITING, THE MATTER APPEARS TO HAVE SUBSIDED QUIETLY. (GT 04538; GT 04271; GT 04010; GT 03996; GT 03845; GT 03710)

4. (C) THE GOG'S DECISION TO FILE CRIMINAL CHARGES AGAINST CERJ LEADER AMILCAR MENDEZ WAS FRONT-PAGE NEWS IN NOVEMBER 1992, BUT A JUDGE'S MARCH 29 DISMISSAL OF ALL CHARGES WAS NEVER REPORTED. MENDEZ DEPARTED GUATEMALA ON APRIL 1 (AND HAS NOT RETURNED AS OF THIS WRITING) FOR A PRE-PLANNED TRIP TO THE SAN FRANCISCO AREA, WHERE HE PLANS TO TRAVEL LATER THIS YEAR FOR AN EXTENDED SABATTICAL. (GT 03591; GT 02636) MEANWHILE, SOME OF AMILCAR'S HALF-SIBLINGS CLAIMED ON MARCH 25 THAT PERSISTENT THREATS CAUSED THEM TO CONSIDER GOING INTO OVERSEAS EXILE. VARIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES LEAD US TO BELIEVE NON-POLITICAL FACTORS ARE BEHIND THEIR DESIRE TO RE-LOCATE. (GT 03518)

POLITICAL & OTHER EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS

5. (U) CIUDAD PERONIA MASSACRE: THE GUATEMALAN SUPREME COURT AFFIRMED ON APRIL 13 A LOWER COURT'S IMPOSITION OF THE DEATH PENALTY AGAINST EX-SOLDIER NICHOLAS GUTTIERREZ CRUZ FOR THE JANUARY 16, 1992 MASSACRE OF 4 CIVILIANS IN CIUDAD PERONIA, AN SQUATTERS SETTLEMENT OUTSIDE GUATEMALA CITY. CRUZ'S ONLY REMAINING APPEALS ARE TO THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT, AND A PERSONAL PLEA FOR MERCY TO THE PRESIDENT. (GT 04181)

6. (U) CUC QUIM, JULIO: ON APRIL 12, A GUATEMALA CITY MILITARY TRIAL COURT CONVICTED 7 MOBILE MILITARY POLICEMEN (PMA) AND FOUND 1 INNOCENT OF THE APRIL 10, 1992 SHOOTING OF SAN CARLOS UNIVERSITY STUDENT JULIO CUC QUIM. THOSE FOUND GUILTY WERE SENTENCED TO 4 YEARS AND 10 MONTHS IMPRISONMENT. APPEALS HAVE BEEN FILED.

7. (LOU) DEVINE, MICHAEL: ON MARCH 5, IN A HEARING AT THE APPEALS COURT, MRS. DEVINE WAS REPRESENTED BY A SUBSTITUTE ATTORNEY DUE TO THE SERIOUS AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT HER LAWYER, ENRIQUE GONZALEZ, SUFFERED A WEEK BEFORE. DURING THE HEARING, ONE OF THE ACCUSED PRISONERS RECANTED HIS PREVIOUS SWORN STATEMENT STATING WHO HAD COMMITTED THE MURDER. HE SAID HE HAD BEEN THREATENED BY THE FBI AND FORCED TO TAKE A LIE-DETECTOR TEST. KNOWING HE HAD BEEN IN PRISON FOR OVER A YEAR WITH THOSE HE HAD ACCUSED OF DOING THE DEED, FEW OBSERVERS BELIEVED HIS ALLEGATIONS. FOUR SOLDIERS RELEASED FROM JAIL A YEAR AGO WERE SUPPOSED TO APPEAR AT

THE HEARING, BUT THEIR MILITARY SUPERVISORS DID NOT PERMIT THE NECESSARY ARRANGEMENTS. WHEN THEY ARRIVED LATE, THEY SPOKE TO ONE OF THE 5 APPEALS COURT JUDGES, CONFIRMING THEIR PREVIOUS ACCUSATIONS AS TO WHO COMMITTED AND ORDERED THE CRIME. WHEN THEY ALSO EXPRESSED FEARS FOR THEIR SAFETY, THE EMBASSY SOUGHT AND RECEIVED ASSURANCES FROM THE PRESIDENT AND THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE THAT THEY WOULD RECEIVE PROTECTION. THE FOUR RETURNED TO THE CAPITAL FOR A MARCH 24 PROCEDURE, WHERE THEY RATIFIED THEIR ACCUSATIONS, AND REITERATED THAT CAPTAIN HUGO CONTRERAS HAD ORDERED THE CRIME. THE APPEALS COURT'S DECISION IS EXPECTED DURING THE FIRST WEEK OF MAY; WE HOPE THE COURT WILL A CONVICT THE CAPTAIN, AND UPHOLD THE LOWER COURT'S 30-YEAR SENTENCE OF THE SOLDIERS.

8. (U) MACK, MYRNA: ON APRIL 29, A GUATEMALAN APPELLATE COURT UPHELD THE CONVICTION AND 33-YEAR PRISON SENTENCE OF NOEL DE JESUS BETETA ALVAREZ FOR THE 1990 MURDER OF GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK CHANG. CHARGES AGAINST BETETA'S MILITARY SUPERIORS WERE DISMISSED. THE

10. (C) BAMACA VELASQUEZ, EFRAIN ("COMMANDANTE EVERARDO"): "EVERARDO" WAS A TOP URNG FIELD COMMANDER WHO DISAPPEARED AFTER A FEBRUARY 1992 CLASH WITH GOVERNMENT TROOPS NEAR RETALHULEU. TWO FORMER URNG GUERRILLAS CLAIMED IN FEBRUARY 1993 THAT THEY SPOTTED "EVERARDO" IN 1992 AT A CLANDESTINE GUATEMALAN ARMY PRISON. THE GUATEMALAN ARMY DENIES HOLDING "EVERARDO", AND CLAIMS HE IS PROBABLY BURIED AT AN UNMARKED GRAVE NEAR THE SITE OF THE RETALHULEU BATTLE. "EVERARDO'S" AMCIT COMMON-LAW WIFE, JENNIFER HARBURY, SOUGHT UNSUCCESSFULLY IN MID-1992 TO EXHUME THE GRAVE WHERE HE IS BELIEVED TO BURIED; THE GOG PREVENTED COMPLETION OF THE EXHUMATION. HARBURY NOW SEEKS EMBASSY AND HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE ASSISTANCE IN ANOTHER EXHUMATION ATTEMPT. IN LATE APRIL, SOME 30 U.S. CONGRESSMEN SIGNED A LETTER EXPRESSING INTEREST IN THE CASE. (GT 03794)

11. (C) ORTIZ, SISTER DIANA: SISTER DIANA ORTIZ, ACCOMPANIED BY A DELEGATION OF 8 OTHERS, RETURNED TO GUATEMALA MARCH 21 AND SPENT FIVE DAYS COMPLETING JUDICIAL PROCEDURES REQUESTED BY THE COURT. SHE IDENTIFIED 10 POLICEMEN FROM PHOTOS AS MEN "WHO RESEMBLED HER CAPTORS." FINISHED RETRACING HER STEPS FROM THE TIME OF HER KIDNAPPING UNTIL SHE WAS PICKED UP THE MORNING FOLLOWING HER RELEASE, AND (CONTRADICTING PREVIOUS AFFIDAVITS) IDENTIFIED THE HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY'S HONOR GUARD BRIGADE AS THE PLACE SHE WAS DETAINED AND TORTURED. IN HER FINAL PRESS STATEMENT, SISTER DIANA INDICATED THAT IF THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT DOES NOT PROVIDE JUSTICE IN HER CASE, SHE WILL PRESENT IT TO THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE. WE DO NOT EXPECT HER TO RETURN TO GUATEMALA, NOR DO WE ANTICIPATE SHE WILL FEEL JUSTICE HAS BEEN DONE HERE.

12. (C) CIMIENTOS LAND CASE: AMILCAR MENDEZ AND CERJ HAVE PUBLICIZED COMPLAINTS BY PEASANTS HOLDING TITLE TO LAND CURRENTLY OCCUPIED BY AN ARMY BASE IN CIMIENTOS, QUICHE. THERE IS NO DOUBT THAT THE PEASANTS HOLD LEGAL TITLE TO THE LAND. THE CIMIENTOS BASE COMMANDER TOLD DAO PERSONNEL IN LATE APRIL THAT THE ARMY PLANNED TO MOVE THE BASE A SHORT DISTANCE TO RETURN THE LAND TO THE TITLE HOLDERS.

13. (C) GOMEZ LOPEZ, CARLOS RANFERI: POPULAR LEADERS CONTINUE TO CLAIM THAT THE FEBRUARY 25 SHOOTING OF QUETZALTENANGO LABOR LEADER GOMEZ WAS POLITICALLY-MOTIVATED. NEVERTHELESS, THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE AND GUATEMALAN MILITARY INTELLIGENCE HAVE TOLD THE EMBASSY IN SEPARATE CONVERSATIONS THAT EVIDENCE SUGGESTS GOMEZ WAS WOUNDED DURING A COMMON

ON MARCH 5, 2 STUDENTS DECLINING TO ATTEND A RALLY AND CONTRIBUTE FUNDS WERE ALLEGEDLY BEATEN UP BY STUDENTS SUBSEQUENTLY CENSURED BY THE USAC RECTOR. YOUTH GANGS TRIED TO DISRUPT THE ANNUAL "HUELGA" PARADE ON APRIL 1, BUT STUDENTS ROUNDED UP THE CULPRITS AND FORCED THEM TO PARADE SEMI-NUDE THROUGH DOWNTOWN GUATEMALA CITY.

15. (U) POST OFFICE SCANDAL: ON MARCH 26, THE GUATEMALAN POSTAL WORKERS UNION AND HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN EXPOSED A SECRET GOVERNMENT MAIL INTERCEPTION UNIT AT THE POST OFFICE. (GT 03403) THE OMBUDSMAN ATTRIBUTED RESPONSIBILITY ON APRIL 13 TO THE PRESIDENTIAL SECURITY GUARD ("ESTADO MAYOR PRESIDENCIAL"). (GT 04216; GT 3977; GT 03551)

REYES FLED TO HONDURAS, WHERE HE RECEIVED MEDICAL TREATMENT, AND THEN RETURNED TO GUATEMALA WITH CASA ALIANZA ASSISTANCE. HE REFUSED LODGING AT CASA ALIANZA'S CRISIS CENTER, AND HAS RETURNED TO LIFE ON THE STREET. GUATEMALAN AUTHORITIES ARE INVESTIGATING, AND TRYING TO LOCATE HIM FOR AN INTERVIEW. (GT 04696; GT 04244) STREET CHILDREN HENRY YUBANI ALVAREZ AND FRANCISCO TZIAC WERE SHOT IN DOWNTOWN GUATEMALA CITY ON APRIL 17 AND 22, RESPECTIVELY. CASA ALIANZA BELIEVES A PRIVATE SECURITY GUARD KILLED ALVAREZ AND OFF-DUTY MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WOUNDED TZIAC. THE VICTIMS' PETTY THEIVERY APPEARED RELATED TO BOTH SHOOTINGS. (GT 04628)

18. (U) TUYUC, ROSALINA: RISING TENSION BETWEEN THE GUATEMALAN ARMY AND CONAVIGUA LEADER ROSALINA TUYUC ERUPTED IN LATE FEBRUARY AND EARLY MARCH INTO A PUBLIC SPAT BETWEEN THE DEFENSE MINISTER AND TUYUC. THE DEFENSE MINISTER AND MILITARY SPOKESMAN ACCUSED TUYUC OF BEING AN EGP GUERRILLA IN 1980-82. TUYUC RESPONDED BY DENOUNCING "PSYCHOLOGICAL (MILITARY) REPRESSION" AND BY FILING A COURT COMPLAINT WHICH WAS SUBSEQUENTLY DISMISSED. THE CONTROVERSY SUBSIDED WITHOUT A

SUBJECT: GUATEMALAN ARMY OFFICER CONVICTED OF DEVINE MURDER ESCAPES

REF: A) GT 05401; B) GT 05045; C) GT 03466 & PREVIOUS

1. (C) SUMMARY: FOREIGN MINISTER MENENDEZ PARK HAS ADVISED CHARGE THAT THE ARMY CAPTAIN CONVICTED ON MAY 11 FOR THE 1990 MURDER OF AMCIT MICHAEL DEVINE HAS ESCAPED FROM CUSTODY; A SEARCH IS UNDERWAY. GUATEMALA CITY NEWSPAPERS REPORTED MORNING MAY 13 THAT THE ARMY WAS IN "DISAGREEMENT" ("INCONFORMIDAD") WITH THE CONTRERAS CONVICTION. THE ARMY PRESS SPOKESMAN HAD ASSURED DEFENSE ATTACHE THAT NO SUCH STATEMENT HAD BEEN MADE BEFORE THE EMBASSY RECEIVED WORD OF THE CONTRERAS ESCAPE. A USG STATEMENT WELCOMING THE CONVICTION RECEIVED WIDESPREAD GUATEMALA MEDIA COVERAGE ON MAY 12-13. END SUMMARY.

CONVICTED ARMY CAPTAIN ESCAPES

[redacted] ON MAY 13 THAT CONTRERAS HAD ESCAPED. FOREIGN MINISTER GONZALO MENENDEZ PARK OFFICIALLY ADVISED CHARGE OF THE SAME LATE IN THE AFTERNOON. CONTRERAS AND SIX ENLISTED MEN WERE CONVICTED ON MAY 11 FOR THE 1990 MURDER OF AMCIT MICHAEL DEVINE. MILITARY INTELLIGENCE (D-2) REPORTS HAVING SEALED ALL BORDERS AND LAUNCHED AN ALL-OUT SEARCH FOR CONTRERAS.

PRESS REPORTS: ARMY DISSATISFIED

4. (U) EARLIER ON MAY 13, THE GUATEMALAN CITY DAILY NEWSPAPERS "SIGLO XXI" AND "PRENSA LIBRE" REPORTED THAT, ACCORDING TO ARMY SPOKESMAN JULIO YON RIVERA, THE GUATEMALAN ARMY WAS IN "DISAGREEMENT" ("INCONFORMIDAD") WITH THE CONVICTION OF CAPTAIN CONTRERAS. ARTICLES IMPLIED YON AGREED WITH THE TWO MILITARY JUDGES ON THE APPELLATE PANEL WHO DISSENTED FROM THE DECISION TO CONVICT THE CAPTAIN. YON REPORTEDLY OBSERVED THAT THE MILITARY MEMBERS OF THE COURT REACHED THEIR DECISION TO DISSENT AFTER CAREFUL STUDY OF THE CASE. REPORTS ALSO NOTED CONTRERAS'S PLANS TO APPEAL HIS CONVICTION.

ARMY SPOKESMAN REPORTEDLY MISQUOTED

5. (C) YON TOLD DEFENSE ATTACHE ON THE MORNING OF MAY 13 THAT HE WAS MISQUOTED. YON ACKNOWLEDGED SPEAKING WITH A "PRENSA LIBRE" REPORTER AND ANOTHER UNIDENTIFIED JOURNALIST, BUT NEVER SPOKE WITH A "SIGLO XXI" REPRESENTATIVE. HE DENIED ISSUING AN OFFICIAL ARMY STATEMENT DISAGREEING WITH THE DECISION. ACCORDING TO YON, HE TOLD "PRENSA LIBRE" THE ARMY RESPECTS THE LAW AND THE JUDICIARY'S DUTY TO ADMINISTER JUSTICE, AND COOPERATES WITH THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM. YON CHARACTERIZED THE CONTRERAS CONVICTION AS JUDICIAL CONDEMNATION OF AN INDIVIDUAL IN THE ARMY, BUT NOT OF THE ARMY AS AN INSTITUTION. YON SAID HIS COMMENTS REGARDING THE MILITARY JUDGES WERE REPRINTED OUT OF CONTEXT: HE REPLIED TO A QUESTION ABOUT WHY THE MILITARY JUDGES DISSENTED FROM THE DECISION TO CONVICT CONTRERAS WITHOUT ENDORSING THE JUDGES' VIEWS. YON TOLD DEFENSE ATTACHE HE WOULD SEEK CORRECTION AND/OR RETRACTION OF THE "SIGLO XXI" AND "PRENSA LIBRE" REPORTS.

5/12 USG STATEMENT DISTRIBUTED WIDELY

6. (U) MEANWHILE, THE USG STATEMENT ISSUED BY THE

EMBASSY (REF A) WITH DEPARTMENT AUTHORIZATION RECEIVED WIDE MEDIA COVERAGE. MAY 12 EDITIONS OF TELEVISION EVENING NEWS PROGRAMS BROADCAST A VIDEOTAPE OF CHARGE READING THE USG STATEMENT. "SIGLO XXI" AND "PRENSA LIBRE" CARRIED THE STATEMENT ON MAY 13.

5/13 EMBASSY STATEMENT RELEASED

7. (U) ON THE AFTERNOON OF MAY 13, THE EMBASSY ISSUED THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT REGARDING THE CONTRERAS ESCAPE:

THE UNITED STATES EMBASSY HAS BEEN INFORMED BY THE GOVERNMENT OF GUATEMALA THAT GUATEMALAN ARMY CAPTAIN HUGO ROBERTO CONTRERAS ALVARADO HAS ESCAPED. WE DO NOT HAVE THE DETAILS. THE UNITED STATES EMBASSY IS EXTREMELY DISAPPOINTED AT THIS DEVELOPMENT. CONTRERAS' CONVICTION WAS A MAJOR ADVANCE FOR EFFORTS TO END IMPUNITY IN GUATEMALA; HIS ESCAPE IS A MAJOR SETBACK. THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT EXPECTS THE GOVERNMENT OF GUATEMALA TO TAKE ALL POSSIBLE STEPS TO RECAPTURE CONTRERAS AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.

COMMENT

8. (C) CONVICTIONS OF CONTRERAS AND THE SIX ENLISTED MEN WERE A LANDMARK FOR THE GUATEMALAN JUSTICE SYSTEM. TO OUR KNOWLEDGE, CONTRERAS IS THE FIRST GUATEMALAN ARMY OFFICER CONVICTED FOR ISSUING ORDERS TO COMMIT A HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATION. IF NOT RECAPTURED, HIS ESCAPE WILL UNDO ANY BENEFITS THAT MIGHT HAVE ACCRUED TO THE ARMY UPON RESOLUTION IN THE COURTS OF THE DEVINE CASE.

SUMMARY

2. IN THE AFTERMATH OF THE ESCAPE OF CPT. CONTRERAS, PRESIDENT SERRANO HAS ORDERED THE ARREST OF THE BASE COMMANDER AND OTHERS RESPONSIBLE FOR CONTRERAS'S SECURITY. A SHAKEN SERRANO, TALKING NERVOUSLY OF COUP TREMORS, RESPONDED TO THE CHARGE'S STRONG DEMARCHE ON THE ESCAPE AND NEED TO RECAPTURE CONTRERAS BY SEEKING FULL USG COOPERATION IN THAT EFFORT. HOWEVER, WHEN CHARGE PERSISTED THAT THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE ESCAPE, INCLUDING THE ZAVALA BRIGADE COMMANDER, SHOULD BE REPLACED, SERRANO DEMURRED AND BECAME AGGRESSIVE, CLAIMED THAT HE KNEW MIRANDA WAS INNOCENT OF COMPLICITY, IMPLIED THAT MIRANDA HAS ARMY BACKING AND THAT HE MUST PROCEED CAUTIOUSLY OR RISK A COUP. SERRANO PROMISED A FULL INVESTIGATION. WE DOUBT SERRANO WAS TELLING ALL HE KNOWS. END SUMMARY

3. THE CHARGE, ACCOMPANIED BY ECON COUNSELOR, LED OFF HIS MAY 14 MEETING WITH PRESIDENT SERRANO BY ASKING FOR NEWS OF CAPTAIN CONTRERAS, WHO HAD ESCAPED FROM CUSTODY AT A MILITARY BASE FOLLOWING HIS CONVICTION FOR COMPLICITY IN THE MURDER OF MICHAEL DEVINE (REFTEL). (OTHER SUBJECTS OF DISCUSSION WILL BE REPORTED SEPTELS.) THE CHARGE REMINDED THE PRESIDENT OF THE ENORMOUS INTEREST IN THE UNITED STATES IN THE MICHAEL DEVINE CASE. THE ESCAPE OF CONTRERAS REINFORCED THE PERCEPTION OF IMPUNITY FOR MILITARY OFFICERS THAT IS SO DETRIMENTAL TO HIS ADMINISTRATION.

4. PRESIDENT SERRANO IMMEDIATELY DESCRIBED HIS OWN PAIN AND DEMORALIZATION AT THE EVENT. HE EMPHASIZED THAT IT WAS ONE OF THE MOST DIFFICULT MATTERS THAT HAS FACED HIS GOVERNMENT, BRINGING INTO QUESTION ALL THAT HE IS TRYING TO DO WITHIN THE MILITARY INSTITUTION.

5. SERRANO EXPLAINED THAT HE HAD ORDERED THAT MORNING THE ARREST OF COLONEL LUIS FELIPE MIRANDA TREJO, THE COMMANDER OF THE MARISCAL ZAVALA BRIGADE, FROM WHERE CONTRERAS ESCAPED, AS WELL AS THE OFFICER CHARGED WITH THE SECURITY OF THE BARRACKS WHERE CONTRERAS WAS HELD. DRAWING WITH HIS FINGER ON THE CARPET, SERRANO DEMONSTRATED HOW CONTRERAS HAD BEEN ATTENDING

CLASSES OF THE MILITARY STUDIES CENTER (CEM) DURING HIS CUSTODY ACROSS A STREET FROM HIS BARRACKS, GOING BACK AND FORTH FREQUENTLY. HAVING ESTABLISHED THAT PATTERN, WHEN THE TIME CAME HE WAS ABLE TO GET AWAY. CHARGE REPLIED THAT HE UNDERSTOOD THAT CONTRERAS WAS UNDER ARREST DURING THE TRIAL PHASE, AND THEREFORE HAD TO BE GUARDED. WHO WAS RESPONSIBLE, CHARGE ASKED, FOR HAVING PERMITTED HIS RELEASE TO ATTEND CLASSES? VERY UNCHARACTERISTICALLY, SERRANO DID NOT ANSWER IMMEDIATELY, GROPED AND FUMBLED OVER HIS WORDS, APPEARED TO BE TROUBLED, LOOKED DOWN AT THE CARPET AS HE TRIED TO THINK AND THEN SAID THAT HE UNDERSTOOD THAT ATTENDING MILITARY CLASSES WAS PERMITTED IN THESE CIRCUMSTANCES. (NOTE: THE PRESS CARRIES CONFLICTING ACCOUNTS OF THIS DETAIL, SOME NOTING THAT SINCE CONTRERAS HAD BEEN ABSOLVED BY THE LOWER COURT, SUCH LICENSE WAS PERMITTED. WE WILL CHECK THIS OUT. IT APPEARED FROM SERRANO'S REACTION THAT HE FELT CAUGHT IN A BIND: EITHER THE COMMANDER WAS IMPLICATED IN THE ESCAPE, OR HE HAD PERMITTED THE CONDITIONS, THROUGH NEGLIGENCE, TO ALLOW IT TO HAPPEN.)

6. WITHOUT DOUBT, SERRANO CONTINUED, LOWER RANKING MILITARY OFFICERS AT THE BASE HAD BEEN INVOLVED IN THE ESCAPE. APPARENTLY NO TRAIL HAD BEEN LEFT, HE NOTED, IN CONTRAST WITH THE ESCAPE OF THE PERONIA MURDER CONVICTS (IN WHICH CASE SERRANO HAD FIRED THE COMMANDING GENERAL, GONZALEZ TARACENA, AS A RESULT). SERRANO WENT ON TO DESCRIBE COL. MIRANDA AS ONE OF THE VERY BEST OFFICERS IN THE MILITARY, UPRIGHT AND INCORRUPTIBLE -- AN EXEMPLARY SOLDIER. FOR THAT REASON, HE SAID, "I HAVE NO DOUBT" THAT MIRANDA HIMSELF WAS NOT INVOLVED IN THE ESCAPE. NONETHELESS, HE WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE BASE AND MUST TAKE RESPONSIBILITY FOR WHAT OCCURRED THERE.

7. RETURNING TO HIS PAINFUL DECISION TO ARREST MIRANDA, SERRANO EMPHASIZED THAT THIS WAS THE FIRST TIME IN GUATEMALAN HISTORY THAT A COMMANDER HAD BEEN PLACED UNDER ARREST. HOWEVER, AS COMMANDER IN CHIEF, HIS DUTY WAS CLEAR. HE ALSO HAD TO ACT IMMEDIATELY. BUT THE MILITARY OFFICER CORPS HAS BEEN BADLY SHAKEN BY HIS ACTION, HE SAID. BY WAY OF ADDING CONTEXT, SERRANO NOTED THAT ARMY CAPTAINS AND MAJORS UNIFORMLY BELIEVE IN CONTRERAS' INNOCENCE OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE MURDER, AND WERE THEREFORE INCENSED AT THE VERDICT. THUS, THE DECISION CAUSED A MJOR UNSETTLING OF THE OFFICER CORPS. IN ADDITION, HE SAID, MIRANDA IS HIGHLY REGARDED BY THE ENTIRE OFFICER CORPS, AND THE MARISCAL ZAVALA BRIGADE IS THE MOST RESPECTED UNIT; THE "HEART OF THE ARMY". BECAUSE OF THE

UNPRECEDENTED NATURE OF THE EVENT, HE HAD MET WITH THE HIGH COMMAND (DEFENSE MINISTER AND CHIEF OF STAFF) DURING THE MORNING TO DISCUSS THE ISSUE AND HAD ASKED THEM TO STAND BESIDE HIM WHEN HE ANNOUNCED HIS ARREST DECISION LATER IN THE DAY. HE ALSO REPORTED THAT HE HAD TALKED PERSONALLY WITH COL. MIRANDA, WHO HAD BROKEN DOWN IN TEARS, BUT SAID HE UNDERSTAND WHY THE PRESIDENT NEEDED TO ACT. SERRANO CONTINUED THAT MIRANDA WOULD BE HELD IN CUSTODY PENDING FURTHER INVESTIGATION OF THE CIRCUMSTANCES SURROUNDING THE ESCAPE.

8. CHARGE TOLD SERRANO SEVERAL TIMES THAT SEVERE ACTION MUST BE TAKEN AGAINST MIRANDA AND OTHERS; IT WOULD NOT BE ENOUGH TO HAVE HIM ARRESTED AND THEN EVENTUALLY RELEASED, LEAVING MIRANDA IN COMMAND OF THE ZAVALA BRIGADE. RESPECT FOR THE SYSTEM OF JUSTICE WAS AT STAKE, AS WAS CIVILIAN SUPREMACY OVER THE ARMED FORCES, CHARGE EMPHASIZED. AS THE COMMANDER, RESPONSIBILITY FOR CONTRERAS' ESCAPE MUST BE PLACED AT MIRANDA'S DOOR AND HE SHOULD PAY THE SAME PRICE AS GONZALEZ TARACENA, EVEN IF THE INVESTIGATION DOES NOT DEMONSTRATE DIRECT COLLUSION, CHARGE CONCLUDING, ALLUDING AGAIN TO THE VERY HIGH INTEREST OF THE US GOVERNMENT IN THIS CASE.

9. SERRANO BECAME AGGRESSIVE AND, RAISING HIS VOICE, SAID HE WAS NOT GOING TO ACCEPT DEMANDS FROM A FOREIGN GOVERNMENT WHEN SOMETHING AS CRITICAL AS THE PRESERVATION OF DEMOCRACY IN GUATEMALA WAS AT STAKE. CHARGE REMINDED SERRANO THAT NO ONE MORE THAN THE U.S. HAS SUPPORTED CIVILIAN SUPREMACY, WORKED TO CONSOLIDATE DEMOCRACY IN GUATEMALA AND ASSISTED HIM IN THE EFFORT TO ACHIEVE PEACE IN NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE URNG, A FUNDAMENTAL ELEMENT OF THAT DEMOCRATIC CONSOLIDATION.

10. CALMING DOWN, SERRANO CAUTIONED THAT HE HAD TO MOVE VERY, VERY SLOWLY. THE MILITARY FEEL UNDER ATTACK FROM ALL SIDES: THE URNG IS NOW MAKING UNACCEPTABLE DEMANDS (READ REDUCTIONS AND A PURGE) IN THE PEACE TALKS; THEY ARE UNDER RELENTLESS FIRE DOMESTICALLY AND INTERNATIONALLY ON "UNJUSTIFIED" HUMAN RIGHTS GROUNDS; THE DOMESTIC LEFT IS BECOMING MORE ACTIVE; VIOLENT STREET DEMONSTRATIONS ARE CAUSING AN APPEARANCE OF ANARCHY THAT THE MILITARY CANNOT BROOK (N.B. ARMY IS CONSTITUTIONALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR INTERNAL SECURITY. END NOTE.); AND NOW THEY SEE ONE OF THEIR COLLEAGUES GOING TO PRISON DUE TO INTERNATIONAL PRESSURE. "THAT IS THEIR PERCEPTION." (CHARGE COMMENTED THAT THEY MUST LEARN TO ACCEPT DECISIONS OF THE COURTS; SERRANO AGREED, ADDING "WHETHER THEY LIKE THEM OR NOT".) HE SAID THAT HE WAS IN AN EXTREMELY DELICATE SITUATION, SINCE HIS ACTION AGAINST MIRANDA AND OTHER MILITARY OFFICERS COULD BE TAKEN AS GROUNDS FOR A COUP BY SOME. IN ELABORATING ON THAT POINT, HE NOTED THAT THIS SITUATION WAS FRAUGHT WITH MORE DANGER OF SERIOUS ALIENATION OF THE MILITARY THAN HAD BEEN HIS DECISIONS TO REMOVE TWO MINISTERS OF DEFENSE, THE COMMANDER OF THE NAVY AND THE CHIEF OF THE AIR BASE DURING HIS TERM IN OFFICE. "WE MUST BE CAUTIOUS AND MOVE SLOWLY," HE REITERATED.

11. REPEATING THAT THE MOST IMPORTANT POINT WAS TO FIND CONTRERAS, SERRANO SAID THAT THERE IS A POSSIBILITY THAT CONTRERAS MAY BE HIDING AT A FRIEND'S PRIVATE FARM IN EL SALVADOR. IN THAT CONNECTION, HE REQUESTED THE FULL COOPERATION AND ASSISTANCE OF ALL AGENCIES OF THE USG, WORKING WITH THE SALVADORANS AND PERHAPS THE MEXICANS AND HONDURANS, TO HELP FIND CONTRERAS. "NO ONE ELSE CAN REALLY HELP US," HE SAID. THE CHARGE ASSURED HIM THAT WE HAD ALREADY BEEN IN CONTACT WITH OUR EMBASSIES IN EL SALVADOR AND MEXICO AND WOULD DO ANYTHING WE CAN TO HELP IN THE SEARCH FOR CONTRERAS. SERRANO ASKED THAT WE FOLLOW UP IN HONDURAS AS WELL.

12. THE CHARGE THEN STRESSED THE IMPORTANCE OF A FULL INVESTIGATION OF THE CIRCUMSTANCES SURROUNDING THE ESCAPE AND ASKED THAT THE EMBASSY BE PROVIDED COMPLETE REPORTS FREQUENTLY ON THE STATUS OF THE INVESTIGATION. PRESIDENT SERRANO RETORTED QUICKLY THAT SUCH AN INVESTIGATION IS OF COURSE BEING DOING ON HIS ORDERS AND HE WILL BE PLEASED TO SHARE THE RESULTS WITH THE EMBASSY, AS PROGRESS IS MADE.

13. FINALLY, SERRANO READ TO THE CHARGE A COPY OF THE PRINTED STATEMENT THAT HE HAD RELEASED DURING THE DAY, ANNOUNCING THE ARREST OF THE MILITARY OFFICERS. AN INFORMAL ENGLISH TRANSLATION OF THE STATEMENT IS IN PARAGRAPH 12 BELOW.

COMMENT

14. PRESIDENT SERRANO SEEMED GENUINELY PAINED BY THE ESCAPE OF CAPTAIN CONTRERAS AND PREOCCUPIED WITH CONCERN ABOUT HIS RELATIONSHIP WITH THE MILITARY IN THE AFTERMATH OF HIS DECISION TO ARREST COL MIRANDA. (PARENTHETICALLY, HE LEARNED OF CONTRERAS' ESCAPE FROM THE ARMY AFTER WE DID!) HE WAS OBVIOUSLY UNWILLING, AT LEAST FOR THE MOMENT, TO CONSIDER THE REMOVAL OF MIRANDA FROM THE MILITARY. INDEED, HIS EXPLOSIVE REACTION TO CHARGE'S INSISTENCE ON PUNISHMENT FOR ALL THOSE INVOLVED IN THE ESCAPE, REGARDLESS OF RANK, TOUCHED NOT ONLY HIS PRIDE, BUT HIS INSTINCT FOR SURVIVAL. HIS PRAISE FOR BOTH COL. MIRANDA AND THE MILITARY AS AN INSTITUTION IN HIS PUBLIC STATEMENT (SEE BELOW), IS A CLEAR REFLECTION OF THE NEED HE PERCEIVES TO PUBLICLY BEND OVER BACKWARDS TO REASSURE THE MILITARY. AT THE SAME TIME, HIS EXCESSIVE DEFENSE OF MIRANDA'S ALLEGED INNOCENCE OF INVOLVEMENT IN THE ESCAPE, BEFORE AN INVESTIGATION IS COMPLETE, SMACKS US OF OBSEQUIOUSNESS TOWARD THE ARMY AND PERHAPS EVEN AN ATTEMPT TO PRECLUDE THIS LINE OF INQUIRY. CHARGE HAS SENSE THAT SERRANO WAS HOLDING INFORMATION BACK -- FOR EXAMPLE WHEN HE GROPED FOR AN ANSWER AND LOOKED AWAY IN THE FACE OF A DIRECT AND SIMPLE QUESTION, AND WHEN HE MADE AN ALLUSION TO CONTRERAS "POSSIBLY" BEING IN EL SALVADOR. WE ARE CONSIDERING WHAT STEPS TO TAKE TO REGISTER USG DISPLEASURE IF CONTRERAS IS NOT CAPTURED SOON AND IF THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR HIS ESCAPE ARE NOT ADEQUATELY PUNISHED.

15. INFORMAL EMBASSY TRANSLATION OF PRESS RELEASE FOLLOWS:

FOR THE GOVERNMENT IT IS A LAMENTABLE FACT THAT CAPTAIN HUGO CONTRERAS ALVARADO, WHO HAD BEEN CONDEMNED BY THE COURTS TO 20 YEARS PRISON, HAS ESCAPED FROM GENERAL HEADQUARTERS MARISCAL ZAVALA, WHICH PUTS THE GOVERNMENT IN A GRAVE SITUATION, PRESIDENT SERRANO ELIAS AFFIRMED TODAY IN AN IMPROVISED PRESS CONFERENCE AT THE LA AURORA AIRPORT TERMINAL.

HE AFFIRMED THAT AS THE MILITARY IS TOTALLY DISPOSED TO RESPECT AND ACT WITH RESPECT FOR THE STATE OF LAW AND THE LEGALITY OF THE COUNTRY, HE WANTS TO MAKE ABSOLUTELY CLEAR THAT THIS IS NOT AN ACTION OF THE INSTITUTION NOR WAS IT DONE WITH THE CONSENT OR CONNIVANCE OF THE HIGH COMMAND OF THE ARMY NOR OF THOSE WHO ARE IN CHARGE OF MARISCAL ZAVALA (MILITARY HEADQUARTERS).

THE LEADER ANNOUNCED THAT THIS MORNING THE HIGH COMMAND OF THE ARMY, CONSTITUTED BY THE MINISTER OF NATIONAL DEFENSE, THE CHIEF OF STAFF AND HE AS COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE ARMY, MADE A SERIOUS EVALUATION OF WHAT HAPPENED AND, WORRIED BY WHAT HAPPENED, TOOK DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS THAT UNFORTUNATELY AFFECT VERY CAPABLE OFFICERS WHO HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH THIS ESCAPE, BUT UNFORTUNATELY WITHIN THE MILITARY INSTITUTION WHAT HAPPENS OR DOES NOT HAPPEN IN A COMMAND IS THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE COMMANDER.

IT IS BECAUSE OF THIS, INDICATED PRESIDENT SERRANO ELIAS, THAT THE HIGH COMMAND OF THE ARMY DECIDED TODAY TO PUT UNDER ARREST THE COMMANDER OF MARISCAL ZAVALA, COL. LUIS FELIPE MIRANDA, THE CHIEF OF THE GUARDIA; THE HEAD OF THOSE WHO WERE ON DUTY AT THE TIME OF THE ESCAPE; AND TO TAKE DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS AGAINST THE SOLDIERS THAT BECAUSE OF ERRORS IN THEIR VIGILANCE MADE THE ESCAPE POSSIBLE.

PRESIDENT SERRANO ELIAS MADE CLEAR THAT HE VIEWED THIS WITH GREAT CONCERN BECAUSE OF SOME THOUGHT THAT THERE COULD HAVE BEEN SOME TYPE OF COMPLICITY "OF WHICH I AM CERTAIN THERE WAS NONE", NONETHELESS THEY HAVE TO CARRY OUT INVESTIGATIONS UNTIL THEIR ULTIMATE CONSEQUENCES AND THE SANCTIONS HAVE BEEN IMPOSED THAT ARE DEEMED NECESSARY.

THE PRESIDENT ADDED THAT THIS IS THE FIRST TIME THAT A COMMANDER HAS BEEN PUT UNDER ARREST, WHICH IS UNDOUBTEDLY DIFFICULT FOR THE MILITARY, FOR WHICH REASON HE RECOGNIZED THE GREAT MORAL PERSON AND OFFICER THAT COL MIRANDA IS, AND HE IS CERTAIN THAT HE IS NOT GUILTY; BUT UNFORTUNATELY THE COMMAND IS HIS RESPONSIBILITY.

(SERRANO) REVEALED THAT HE, ACCOMPANIED BY THE HIGH COMMAND, HAD AN INTERVIEW THIS MORNING WITH COL MIRANDA, TO INFORM HIM OF THE DECISION THAT THEY HAD TAKEN, WHICH WAS IN RESPECT FOR THE PRESTIGE AND GOOD NAME OF THE ARMED INSTITUTION, AS THAT INSTITUTION HAS THE DUTY AND THE CONVICTION TO PROTECT THE STATE OF LAW AND THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM OF THE COUNTRY.

PRESIDENT SERRANO ELIAS INDICATED THAT HE WAS COMMUNICATING THE ABOVE TO THE PEOPLE OF GUATEMALA AND THEY COULD BE CERTAIN THAT ACTIONS ARE BEING TAKEN TO LOCATE CAPTAIN CONTRERAS AND GIVE HIM ALL POSSIBLE OPPORTUNITIES TO CONTINUE HIS DEFENSE WITH THE GUARANTEES THAT THE LEGAL SYSTEM IN GUATEMALA PROVIDES.

THE LEADER RECALLED THAT THE CASE IS NOT CLOSED, THAT THERE ARE STILL PROCEEDINGS AND HE HAS TO BE PUT UNDER DETENTION IN ORDER THAT THE PROCEEDINGS CAN BE CONCLUDED.

(SERRANO) RESPONDED THAT WHEN HE (CONTRERAS) IS LOCATED, HE WILL IMMEDIATELY BE PUT IN A DETENTION CENTER OF GREATER SECURITY; HE AFFIRMED THAT THE FACT THAT HE HAS FLED MAY BE BECAUSE OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE DEATH OF MICHAEL DEVINE, BUT

PERHAPS HE DECIDED TO FLEE BECAUSE OF THE CIRCUMSTANCES AND PRESSURES (HE FACED).

(SERRANO) EMPHASIZED THAT THE ARMY AS AN INSTITUTION HAS THE OBLIGATION TO DETERMINE HIS WHEREABOUTS AND TO RETURN HIM (CONTRERAS) IN ORDER THAT THE PROCESS CAN BE TERMINATED AND THAT THIS IS THE DECISION OF THE HIGH COMMAND OF THE ARMY.

GUATEMALA, MAY 14, 1993

ON JUNE 2, THE JUDGE IN THE CRIMINAL COURT OF ZACATECOLUCA DENIED A REQUEST FOR AMNESTY FOR THE FIVE EX-NATIONAL GUARDSMEN SERVING OUT THEIR THIRTY-YEAR SENTENCES FOR THE RAPE AND MURDER OF FOUR AMERICAN CHURCHWOMEN, THREE NUNS AND A SOCIAL WORKER, ON DECEMBER 2, 1980. IN HER STATEMENT, JUDGE LILA DE GUERRERO INDICATED THAT THE RAPE AND MURDER OF THE CHURCHWOMEN WERE COMMON CRIMES, UNCONNECTED TO A POLITICAL CRIME. THE IDEA IS TO HOLD MEETINGS IN THE SPIRIT OF THE ESQUIPULAS II ACCORDS TO SEEK SOLUTIONS TO GUATEMALA'S PROBLEMS. MENCHU'S PROPOSAL IS DESIGNED TO ENSURE THAT POLITICAL LEADERS TAKE INTO ACCOUNT THE VIEWS OF POPULAR SECTORS. POPULAR GROUPS TO BE INVITED WOULD INCLUDE UASP (AN UMBRELLA GROUP FOR VARIOUS STUDENT, LABOR, AND OTHER ACTIVISTS GROUPS), COCIPAZ (A MODERATE POPULAR GROUP), AND THE CIVIL SECTORS COORDINATING GROUP (A LEFTIST POPULAR GROUP). ALL OF THE ABOVE GROUPS HAVE ATTEMPTED IN THE PAST TO [redacted]

PARTICIPATE IN ONE WAY OR ANOTHER IN GUATEMALAN PEACE TALKS.

5. MENCHU SAID SHE COMMENCED EFFORTS TO GAIN SUPPORT FOR THE PROPOSAL ON THE PREVIOUS DAY, JUNE 2, WHEN SHE MET WITH ARCHBISHOP PENADOS, BISHOP QUEZADA, AND THE PAPAL NUNCIO. QUEZADA REPORTEDLY RESPONDED FAVORABLY TO THE PROPOSAL, BUT MENCHU SAID SHE HOPED THE IDEA WOULD SURFACE PUBLICLY THROUGH A PETITION BY MENCHU AND POPULAR GROUPS TO THE ARCHBISHOP, WHO WOULD BE INVITED TO CONVOKE CONSULTATIVE MEETINGS. QUEZADA WOULD THEN PRESIDE OVER THE GATHERINGS.

6. CHARGE ASKED MENCHU SEVERAL TIMES FOR DETAILS ON POPULAR SECTOR DEMANDS AND POSSIBLE MECHANISMS FOR ACHIEVING CONCRETE RESULTS. CONFESSING THAT SHE WAS THINKING OUT LOUD, MENCHU REPEATED CLAIMS THAT POPULAR SECTORS HAVE NOT BEEN HEARD DURING THE CURRENT POLITICAL CRISIS, BUT OFFERED FEW OTHER SPECIFICS. HOWEVER, WHEN CHARGE ASKED IF THE INTENTION WAS TO OPEN A DIALOGUE WITH THOSE MOST ACTIVE IN TRYING TO FIND A SOLUTION TO THE IMPASSE (E.G. POLITICAL PARTIES, RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO, CACIF, ETC.,) SHE RULED IT OUT. THOSE INVOLVED IN THE EVENTS OF JUNE 1 HAVE DISCREDITED THEMSELVES WITH THE POPULAR SECTORS, SO THEY REFUSE TO DEAL WITH THEM.

3. THE AMBASSADOR ACCOMPANIED BY POLCOUNS CALLED ON NEW GUATEMALAN FOREIGN MINISTER ARTURO FAJARDO MALDONADO, THE AFTERNOON OF JUNE 22 FOR AN INITIAL WORKING MEETING TO ESTABLISH A SOLID BASIS FOR COOPERATION WITH THE NEW ADMINISTRATION OF PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO. THE FONMIN CONFIRMED THAT HE HAD RECEIVED THE NON-PAPER FROM AMBASSADOR MULET (REF A). HE OBSERVED THAT IT WOULD NOT BE POSSIBLE FOR ANY GOVERNMENT TO RESOLVE GUATEMALA'S STAGGERING PROBLEMS IN THE TWO AND ONE HALF YEARS IN OFFICE AVAILABLE TO DE LEON. THE OBJECTIVE WOULD BE TO ACHIEVE A SOLID BASIS FOR PROGRESS TO BE MADE FARTHER IN THE FUTURE. HE STRESSED THAT DEALING WITH GUATEMALA'S INTERNAL POLITICAL SITUATION, INCLUDING ENHANCING RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS AND EMPHASIS ON COUNTER-NARCOTICS, WOULD BE THE TOP PRIORITY.

4. ON COUNTER-NARCOTICS, THE AMBASSADOR CONFIRMED THAT PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO HAD APPROVED NIGHT INTERDICTION FLIGHTS AND THAT WE WERE READY TO GO. THE

FOREIGN MINISTER AGREED THAT THIS CAPABILITY WAS VERY IMPORTANT FOR DETERRING THE USE OF GUATEMALAN TERRITORY FOR NARCOTICS SMUGGLING. IN RESPONSE TO HIS QUESTION WHAT OTHER COUNTER-NARCOTICS ISSUES WERE OF IMMEDIATE INTEREST, THE AMBASSADOR NOTED THAT HAVING TRUSTWORTHY AND CAPABLE GUATEMALAN PERSONNEL TO WORK WITH WAS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT FOR US. SHE NOTED THAT, FOR EXAMPLE, WE HAD CONFIDENCE IN THE CURRENT HEAD OF THE TREASURY POLICE'S DEPARTMENT OF ANTI-NARCOTICS OPERATIONS, LT. COL. SOSA. SHE OBSERVED THAT THERE HAD BEEN A PROBLEM IN THE MINISTRY OF GOVERNMENT PREVIOUSLY, AND THAT WE HAD HAD TO CUT OFF OUR COUNTER-NARCOTICS ASSISTANCE AND COOPERATION UNTIL CERTAIN PERSONS OF QUESTIONABLE INTEGRITY WERE REPLACED.

5. THE FONMIN AGREED WHOLEHEARTEDLY THAT INTEGRITY WAS ESSENTIAL AND SAID THAT THE GOVERNMENT WAS PRESENTLY LOOKING FOR CAPABLE AND HONEST CIVILIANS TO STAFF THE MINISTRY OF GOVERNMENT. ON THE RELATED MATTER OF THE PUBLIC MINISTRY, THE AMBASSADOR STRESSED THAT IT WOULD BE IMPORTANT WHO WAS NAMED AS THE NEW ATTORNEY GENERAL. ACTING ATTORNEY GENERAL TUNA VALLADARES WAS NOT REGARDED HIGHLY IN WASHINGTON BY THOSE FAMILIAR WITH GUATEMALAN AFFAIRS. FAJARDO REPLIED THAT THE PRESIDENT INTENDS TO REPLACE HIM. THE FONMIN DID NOT

THINK THAT FORMER ATTORNEY GENERAL ACISCLO VALLADARES (TECHNICALLY STILL THE ATTORNEY GENERAL ALBEIT SUSPENDED) WOULD BE ONE OF THE CONTENDERS BECAUSE HE WAS ONLY TRYING TO USE THE OFFICE FOR A POLITICAL SPRINGBOARD. RATHER, SOMEONE WHO WAS OBJECTIVE AND SOLID WOULD BE NECESSARY, WHICH WAS ALSO TRUE FOR THE

POSITION OF MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT.

6. ON ECONOMICS, THE AMBASSADOR NOTED THAT WE WOULD WORK TO GET DEBT REDUCTION FOR GUATEMALA UNDER THE ENTERPRISE FOR THE AMERICAS INITIATIVE. THAT WILL BE DIFFICULT, HOWEVER, BECAUSE OF THE LIMITED RESOURCES AVAILABLE TO THE USG FOR DEBT REDUCTION. GUATEMALA WOULD NEED TO BE PUT FORWARD AS A SPECIAL CASE. THE GOG MUST PUT TOGETHER A STRONG ECONOMIC PROGRAM TO BE ELIGIBLE FOR SUCH REDUCTION AND CONVINCE THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY OF ITS CONTINUING COMMITMENT TO SOUND ECONOMIC POLICIES.

INTERNAL REASONS FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE MILITARY WITHIN A DEMOCRATIC SYSTEM. THE AMBASSADOR RESPONDED THAT, AS SHE HAD TOLD THE PRESIDENT, WE WERE READY TO RECOMMENCE WITH THE CIVIC ACTION EXERCISE FUERTES CAMINOS '94. HE HAD AGREED THAT IT WOULD BE VALUABLE

AND HAD COMMUNICATED HIS SUPPORT TO THE MOD. CONCERNING INTERNATIONAL MILITARY EDUCATION AND TRAINING, WHICH WAS ON CONGRESSIONAL HOLD, WE WERE PREPARED TO PUT FORWARD A PACKAGE OF PROPOSALS. AS TO THE MATERIAL ASSISTANCE SUSPENDED IN DECEMBER 1990 FOR HUMAN RIGHTS REASONS, THAT WAS A MORE COMPLICATED CASE, AND WOULD HAVE TO BE CONSIDERED FURTHER. THE RETURN OF CONTRERAS WOULD BE A VERY POSITIVE MOVE, AS WOULD A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION OF THE DEVINE CASE.

8. THE AMBASSADOR STRESSED THAT, IF THE PRESIDENT FELT MILITARY ASSISTANCE WAS KEY TO CONSOLIDATING DEMOCRACY IN GUATEMALA, THE GOG SHOULD MAKE THAT INTEREST WIDELY KNOWN IN WASHINGTON. IN THIS REGARD, IN THE CASE OF IMET IT WOULD BE IMPORTANT TO SEEK BROAD TRAINING, NOT LIMITED TO TRADITIONAL MILITARY SUBJECTS. EXAMPLE WOULD BE INSTRUCTION ON HUMAN RIGHTS, MILITARY JUSTICE AND DEFENSE MANAGEMENT. MOREOVER, IT WOULD BE IMPORTANT TO INCLUDE CIVILIANS IN THESE COURSES. THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT UNDER PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO'S LEADERSHIP SHOULD MAKE CLEAR THAT IT CONSIDERS SUCH MILITARY ASSISTANCE NOT ONLY DESIRABLE BUT VITAL TO THE MAINTENANCE OF DEMOCRACY IN GUATEMALA.

9. FAJARDO IN HIS WELCOMING REMARKS HAD STRESSED THAT GUATEMALA WAS INTERESTED IN COOPERATING WITH THE U.S. ON A NEW BASIS. THERE WAS NOW MORE REASON THAN BEFORE FOR MILITARY ASSISTANCE. HE SAID THAT THE GOG RECOGNIZED THAT CONGRESS IS A MAJOR FACTOR ON THE U.S. SIDE, AND COMMENTED THAT IT MIGHT BE USEFUL FOR HIM TO GO TO WASHINGTON TO MAKE GUATEMALA'S CASE. THE

AMBASSADOR RESPONDED THAT, SHOULD HE DECIDE TO DO THIS, IT WOULD BE HELPFUL FOR HIM TO PROVIDE ASSURANCES ON THE CONTINUITY OF GUATEMALA'S MACROECONOMIC POLICY. IN THIS REGARD, IT WOULD BE IMPORTANT FOR THE PRESIDENT TO FIRST OUTLINE HIS POLICY AND NAME HIS ECONOMIC TEAM.

10. THE AMBASSADOR THEN NOTED THAT GUATEMALA HAD MADE A MAJOR CONTRIBUTION TO REGIONAL STABLITY BY ITS RECOGNITION OF BELIZE, AND EXPRESSED THE HOPE THAT THIS ISSUE WOULD NOT BE REOPENED. THE FONMIN'S RESPONSE WAS THAT IT WILL BE IMPORTANT TO BE CAUTIOUS SINCE THIS IS AN EXPLOSIVE ISSUE. MANY PEOPLE ARE SHOPPING FOR HEADS BECAUSE OF SERRANO'S ACTIONS ON BELIZE. THE AMBASSADOR NOTED THAT SHE HAD RAISED BELIZE WITH THE PRESIDENT, WHO HAD SAID THAT HE DID NOT PLAN TO REOPEN THE ISSUE. SHE THEN EXPRESSED APPRECIATION TO THE FONMIN FOR GUATEMALA'S STRAIGHTFORWARD SUPPORT ON HAITI. FAJARDO RESPONDED THAT, AS A MATTER OF PRINCIPLE, IT WAS ESSENTIAL TO BACK UP THE OAS'S POLICY WHICH HAD BEEN KEY IN RESOLVING GUATEMALA'S CONSTITUTIONAL CRISIS.

11. THE AMBASSADOR THEN BROUGHT UP WORKER RIGHTS AND GSP. SHE NOTED THAT GUATEMALA HAD BEEN GIVEN AN ADDITIONAL SIX MONTHS ON WORKER RIGHTS TO DEMONSTRATE THAT FURTHER PROGRESS WILL BE MADE, AND IT WAS IMPORTANT TO KEEP PRESSING FORWARD. ON IPR, THERE WOULD BE ANOTHER YEAR TO ASSURE FULL PROTECTION. THE FONMIN RESPONDED THAT HE RECOGNIZED THE IMPORTANCE OF THIS ISSUE.

12. AMBASSADOR PASSED TO FONMIN A COPY OF THE

CONGRATULATORY LETTER LETTER FROM PRESIDENT CLINTON TO PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO (REF B), WHICH HAD PREVIOUSLY BEEN DELIVERED TO THE PRESIDENT.

13. COMMENT: THIS WAS A USEFUL AND WIDE-RANGING INITIAL EXCHANGE. EXCEPT ON BELIZE, WHERE FAJARDO MAY NOT BE SYMPATHETIC, WE SHARED AN OBVIOUS COMMUNITY OF VIEWS. THE DISCUSSION TRACKED VERY WELL, IN FACT, WITH THE AMBASSADOR'S DISCUSSION WITH GUATEMALAN AMBASSADOR TO THE US MULET THE FOLLOWING DAY (SEPTEL). FAJARDO APPEARS A SOLID AND EXPERIENCED DIPLOMAT WHICH SHOULD MAKE OUR JOB EASIER, AND HE SPEAKS EXCELLENT ENGLISH WHICH WILL BE OF HELP IN PRESENTING HIS GOVERNMENT'S CASE WHEN HE GOES TO WASHINGTON (N.B. HE NOTED HE IS INTERESTED IN AN EARLY TRIP, AND MADE IT CLEAR THAT HE WOULD ANTICIPATE BEING RECEIVED BY THE SECRETARY.) WE

2. DURING THE AMBASSADOR'S COURTESY CALL, SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT JUAN JOSE RODIL PERALTA EMPHASIZED INCESSANTLY HIS INNOCENCE OF WRONGDOING AND CORRUPTION, CHARGING HIS ENEMIES WITH THE POLITICAL PROBLEMS HE NOW FACES. STRONG ON THE ANTI-NARCOTICS FIGHT, RODIL PROMISED TO STIMULATE ACTION ON PENDING EXTRADITION CASES AND TO ESTABLISH A WORKING GROUP WITH THE EMBASSY TO KEEP THE EXTRADITION PROCESS MOVING. NOTING HIS BUDGETARY PROBLEMS, HE THREATENED RESIGNATION IF THE JUDICIAL BRANCH'S BUDGET IS NOT TRIPLED NEXT YEAR. WITHOUT SUCH AN INCREASE, HE MAINTAINED, HE CANNOT IMPLEMENT THE MAJOR CRIMINAL PROCEDURES REFORM, AND WOULD HAVE TO DELAY ITS ENTRY INTO

FORCE. RAISING THE DEVINE CASE, RODIL PROMISED THAT THE COURTS WOULD NOT BEND TO ARMY OR OTHER PRESSURE TO OVERTURN THE CONVICTION OF CAPT CONTRERAS, IN EXCHANGE FOR CONTRERAS SURRENDER. WE TAKE RODIL'S PROTESTATIONS OF INNOCENCE AND PROFESSED MOTIVES WITH A GRAIN OF SALT. HE IS, NONETHELESS, AN ACTIVIST CHIEF JUSTICE, WHO MAY WELL RIDE OUT THE CURRENT POLITICAL STORM TO FINISH HIS TERM (IN 1998) UNLESS HE DECIDES TO SEEK HIGHER POLITICAL OFFICE BEFORE THAT TIME. END SUMMARY

METHINKS HE DOTH PROTEST TOO MUCH

3. AMBASSADOR ACCOMPANIED BY POLCOUNS CALLED ON PRESIDENT OF SUPREME COURT RODIL JULY 1. FOR FIRST HALF HOUR, RODIL REGALED THE AMBASSADOR WITH HOW HE IS BEING UNFAIRLY SINGLED OUT FOR CRITICISM BY THE "INSTANCIA DE CONSENSO NACIONAL" ("INSTANCIA") IN ITS EFFORT TO PURIFY THE GOVERNMENT. HE DENIED ANY TRUTH TO ANY HINT OF SCANDAL, AND DISMISSED ALL CHARGES AS UNFOUNDED RUMOR STARTED BY HIS POLITICAL ENEMIES. AS HE PUT IT, EVERYONE IN GUATEMALA WHO WEARS A NECKTIE THINKS IT IS HIS DUE TO BE ABLE TO FIX ANY COURT PROCEEDING WITH MONEY AND A COUPLE OF PHONE CALLS. HE SPECIFICALLY MENTIONED ONE CASE WHERE HE HAD REFUSED A TWO MILLION QUETZAL BRIBE OFFERED BY A CLOSE FRIEND WHO HAD BEEN HIRED AS A DEFENSE ATTORNEY. THE PERSONS INVOLVED IN THAT CASE WERE NOW AMONG HIS BITTEREST ENEMIES, BECAUSE HE HAD REFUSED TO "PLAY THE GAME." COMMENT: HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER HAS HEARD AT LEAST ONE STORY TO THE CONTRARY FROM A RELIABLE SOURCE. THE WIFE OF A TOP MILITARY OFFICER REPORTEDLY INQUIRED SEVERAL MONTHS AGO TO RODIL'S TOP AIDE, SUPREME COURT GENERAL SECRETARY JULIO RIVERA CLAVERIA, ABOUT A TRAFFIC ACCIDENT INVOLVING ONE OF HER RELATIVES. SHE WAS ASTONISHED TO FIND THE COURT CASE FILE DELIVERED TO HER SEVERAL DAYS LATER, EFFECTIVELY ENSURING NO FURTHER PROCEEDINGS AGAINST THE RELATIVE. END COMMENT.

4. RODIL SUGGESTED THAT HE WHO PAYS THE BRIBE IS AS GUILTY OF CORRUPTION AS HE WHO ACCEPTS IT. PERHAPS BOTH SHOULD BE HELD RESPONSIBLE. HE NOTED THAT CANCELING OR DENYING U.S. VISAS TO JUDGES WE HAVE REASON TO BELIEVE ARE CORRUPT (I.E. IN NARCOTICS-RELATED CASES) IS PROBABLY NOT AN EFFECTIVE SANCTION, ESPECIALLY WHERE RURAL JUDGES ARE CONCERNED. THE AMBASSADOR STRESSED THAT OUR PURPOSE IN DOING SO IS NOT LIMITED TO PREVENTING TRAVEL TO THE U.S. BUT ALSO TO SEND A STRONG SIGNAL WHICH WE HOPE WILL RESULT IN THEIR INDICTMENT AND PROSECUTION.

TIME TO GET OUT OF THE KITCHEN?

5. RODIL CLAIMED SEVERE FINANCIAL PROBLEMS WITHIN THE JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION. HE SEEMED DEFENSIVE, AND SAID HE WOULD RESIGN IF HE DID NOT GET ADEQUATE FUNDING FOR THE JUDICIAL BRANCH OF

THE GOVERNMENT IN THE NEXT BUDGET (WHICH MUST BE APPROVED BY NOVEMBER 30). "AFTER ALL," HE SAID, "I AM NOT HERE JUST TO WARM THE CHAIR." HE ACKNOWLEDGED DEEP DIFFERENCES OF VIEW WITH SERRANO AND CONFIRMED THAT HE AND THE FORMER PRESIDENT HAD NOT SEEN EYE-TO-EYE ON THE FUNDING NECESSARY TO OPERATE THE COURT SYSTEM ADEQUATELY. HE SAID 300 MILLION QUETZALES (ABOUT $60 MILLION) PER YEAR WAS NECESSARY; AT PRESENT, HE COULD COUNT ON ONLY Q98 MILLION. THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NEW PENAL PROCEDURES CODE, WITH ITS SUBSTANTIAL REQUIREMENTS FOR COURTROOMS AND TRAINING, WOULD ITSELF COST Q48 MILLION ANNUALLY (PRESUMABLY INCLUDED IN THE Q300 FIGURE MENTIONED PREVIOUSLY). HE CONSIDERED THE PENAL PROCEDURES CODE A MAJOR POSITIVE REFORM (WE AGREE), BUT SAID IF HE COULD NOT GET ADEQUATE ADDITIONAL

FUNDING, HE WOULD HAVE TO POSTPONE SWITCHING OVER TO THE NEW PROCEDURE BY A YEAR. HE SUGGESTED PERHAPS POOLING INTERNATIONAL FUNDS (INCLUDING FROM THE U.S.) WITH HIS BUDGETED FUNDS TO OPERATE THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM MORE EFFECTIVELY. WHEN THE AMBASSADOR REMINDED HIM WE HAD TO MEET STRICT ACCOUNTIBILITY STANDARDS WHICH HE HAS PREVIOUSLY HAD DIFFICULTY

WITH, HE DID NOT PURSUE THIS APPROACH FURTHER. (COMMENT: SERRANO'S CHARGES OF BLACKMAIL BY RODIL TO TRIPLE THE COURT'S BUDGET WERE AMONG THE JUSTIFICATIONS THAT THE FORMER PRESIDENT USED FOR HIS MAY 25 AUTOGOLPE. END COMMENT)

EXTRADITION: WHATEVER YOU WANT

6. RODIL TALKED A TOUGH LINE ON COUNTER NARCOTICS. HE SUGGESTED THAT WE CONSIDER SOME SORT OF AGREEMENT THAT WOULD PERMIT GUATEMALA TO EXPEL TO THE UNITED STATES NON-GUATEMALAN CITIZENS CHARGED WITH NARCOTICS OFFENSES IN THE US, WITHOUT FOLLOWING THE CURRENTLY TORTUOUS EXTRADITION PROCEDURES. (WE AGREE IT'S A GOOD IDEA TO EXPEL SUCH PERSONS TO THE US, BUT DO NOT BELIEVE ANOTHER AGREEMENT IS NECESSARY, EXCEPT AS A FEATHER IN RODIL'S CAP.)

7. RODIL ALSO SPOKE OF THE NEED TO PASS LEGISLATION SETTING OUT A SIMPLIFIED EXTRADITION PROCEDURE (WE AGREE SIMPLIFICATION IS NECESSARY. HOWEVER, THE CURRENT PROCEDURE WAS LAID DOWN BY JUDICIAL FIAT IN 1953, AND COULD BE CHANGED THE SAME WAY -- SEEKING LEGISLATION COULD REOPEN THE QUESTION WHETHER GUATEMALAN CITIZENS SHOULD BE SUBJECT TO EXTRADITION.) IN THE MEANTIME, HE SUGGESTED WE PROVIDE TO HIM (YET AGAIN) A LIST OF

THE PENDING EXTRADITION CASES (THERE ARE NINE, THREE ACTIVE) SO HE COULD FOLLOW UP ON THEM. UPON FURTHER REFLECTION, HE SUGGESTED THE EMBASSY MEET WITH A GOG INTERAGENCY GROUP (PRESUMABLY COURT, POLICE AND PUBLIC MINISTRY) TWICE A MONTH TO DISCUSS WHERE EACH CASE STANDS IN ORDER TO PUSH IT ALONG, AND PERHAPS TO DISCUSS WAYS TO FACILITATE BROADER COOPERATION. THE AMBASSADOR READILY AGREED. WE WILL MEET WITH A COURT

REPRESENTATIVE NEXT WEEK, TO SEE WHAT WE CAN ACHIEVE.

DRUGS ARE BAD

8. RODIL STRESSED THE SERIOUS THREAT THAT DRUGS POSE TO GUATEMALAN YOUTH, SOCIETY AND GOVERNMENT. THE AMBASSADOR PRESSED RODIL ON THE NEED TO ENFORCE THE NEW COUNTERNARCOTICS LAW. HE AGREED IN PRINCIPLE, BUT AGAIN CITED A SHORTAGE OF FUNDS. HE ALSO (CORRECTLY) NOTED THE NEED FOR THE CONGRESS TO PASS THE LAW ON THE PUBLIC MINISTRY, WHICH WILL DEMARCATE ITS INVESTIGATION/PROSECUTION POWERS AND RESPONSIBILITIES (VIS-A-VIS THE MINISTRY OF GOVERNMENT AND THE COURTS).

DEVINE AGAIN

9. DECLINING TO MENTION WHO MIGHT HAVE BEEN INVOLVED OR WHEN, RODIL REPORTED THAT CERTAIN PERSONS HAD APPROACHED HIM ON BEHALF OF THE ARMY, RAISING THE POSSIBLITY THAT CAPTAIN CONTRERAS MIGHT RETURN ON A BASIS THAT HE WOULD BE GIVEN A "FAIR TRIAL" ON AN APPEAL FROM HIS PRESENT CONVICTION. RODIL SNORTED THAT WHAT THEY WANTED WAS ASSURANCES THAT HIS CONVICTION WOULD BE REVERSED, ON WHICH (HE SAID) HE GAVE THEM NO COMFORT. HE CLAIMED TO HAVE REPEATEDLY ENCOURAGED THE JUDGES WHO LATER CONVICTED CONTRERAS THAT THEY SHOULD RULE HONESTLY BASED ON THE LAW AND EVIDENCE, AND NOT BE SWAYED BY THREATS, PROMISES OR POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS. HE WAS NOT ABOUT TO REVERSE THIS ON FINAL APPEAL.

10. COMMENT: RODIL IS A KNIGHT IN SHINING ARMOR, BY HIS OWN

ADMISSION, WHO ONLY NEEDS TO TREBLE HIS BUDGET TO SAVE THE

COUNTRY. WE ARE SKEPTICAL ABOUT HIS MOTIVES. ON THE OTHER HAND, SINCE HE IS ON THE POLITICAL DEFENSIVE, WE BELIEVE HE MAY BE PREPARED TO TREAD THE STRAIGHT AND NARROW TO TRY TO REGAIN SOME CREDIBILITY AND PERHAPS WITHSTAND PRESSURES TO FORCE HIM TO RESIGN FROM AN OFFICE WHICH OTHERWISE IS HIS UNTIL 1998, RPT 1998 (UNLESS HE SHOULD DO SO SOONER TO RUN FOR PRESIDENT IN 1995). WE RECOMMEND REFTEL ON HIS BACKGROUND.

TAGS: PHUM, PGOV, PREL, PINS, PTER, GT
SUBJECT: CHANGES COMING ON HUMAN RIGHTS

REF: GUAT 7436 (NOTAL)

1. CONFIDENTIAL -- ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: [redacted] B1
[redacted] TOLD US JULY 13 THAT, IN CONJUNCTION WITH [redacted] HE IS PREPARING A SET OF RECOMMENDATIONS ON RESTRUCTURING THE "ESTADO MAYOR PRESIDENCIAL" (EMP). THESE RECS WILL BE PRESENTED TO THE PRESIDENT UPON HIS RETURN FROM THE IBERO-AMERICAN SUMMIT AND HOPEFULLY IMPLEMENTED BY THE END OF JULY. AMONG PLANNED ALTERATIONS ARE CHANGING THE EMP'S NAME, SPLITTING IT INTO A MILITARY-RUN ADMIN/SECURITY BRANCH AND A CIVILIAN-LED ANALYTICAL BRANCH, "ARCHIVOS," THE PRESIDENTIAL INTELLIGENCE UNIT, WOULD ESSENTIALLY BE ELIMINATED, CHANGES WILL ALSO BE RECOMMENDED IN THE MILITARY LAW CODE AND WITH THE ARMY'S POLICE ROLE. THE PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSON (COPREDEH) WILL BE ENERGIZED AND BECOME A REAL POINT OF CONTACT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEMS. [redacted]
[redacted] B1
[redacted] THE BAMACA CASE WAS DISCUSSED, [redacted] THE NEED TO BE HELPFUL IN THIS MATTER. END SUMMARY.

3. [redacted] POLOFF HELD A WIDE-RANGING JULY 13 BREAKFAST MEETING FOCUSED ON HUMAN RIGHTS. [redacted] B1
[redacted]

[redacted] B1

DE LEON-UN SECGEN TO MEET ON HUMAN RIGHTS EXPERT

[redacted] B1

THE PEACE PROCESS

[redacted] B1
[redacted] SAID THAT THE GOG IS STILL REFINING ITS PEACE PROPOSAL AND HAS NOT YET OFFICIALLY SENT IT TO THE URNG. HE CLAIMED THAT THE ARMY KNOWS THE ONLY REAL ISSUE IS ITS FUTURE AND THE NEW MILITARY COMMAND IS OF THE OPINION "LET'S SETTLE THIS AND END THE WAR."

CHANGES IN ESTADO MAYOR PRESIDENCIAL

7. [redacted]
AND AS REPORTED IN DAO CHANNELS, WIDE-RANGING CHANGES ARE PLANNED IN THE "ESTADO MAYOR PRESIDENCIAL." [redacted] THE PRESIDENCY STAFF WILL MEET TOMORROW TO BEGIN DRAFTING THE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR CHANGE. THIS LIST WILL BE DONE BY THE TIME THE PRESIDENT RETURNS JULY 18 FROM BRAZIL AND THE CHANGES, [redacted] WILL BE IMPLEMENTED BY THE END OF JULY. POLOFF SUGGESTED [redacted] THAT IF THE CHANGES BE MADE, THEY BE GIVEN SUFFICIENT PUBLICITY. [redacted] SAID THAT THE GOG WANTED TO MAKE THE CHANGES PRIOR TO AN AUGUST 2 UN HUMAN RIGHTS MEETING IN GENEVA [redacted] B1

8. WHAT IS PLANNED? THE SUGGESTIONS GOING TO THE PRESIDENT WILL INCLUDE SPLITTING THE ESTADO MAYOR IN TWO: ONE SIDE DEALING WITH ADMINISTRATIVE AND SECURITY MATTERS AND THE OTHER SIDE BEING AN ANALYTICAL BRANCH. THE ADMIN/SECURITY SIDE WILL BE HEADED BY A MILITARY OFFICER, WITH THE ANALYTICAL SIDE RUN BY A CIVILIAN. THE ANALYSIS SIDE WILL REPLACE "ARCHIVOS." THE PRESIDENTIAL INTELLIGENCE BRANCH WITH A DESERVEDLY UNSAVORY REP. "ARCHIVOS" WILL CEASE BEING AN OPERATIONAL ORGANIZATION, WITH ITS 150 OR SO PERSONNEL TRANSFERRED BACK TO WHEREVER THEY CAME FROM (MAINLY THE ARMY).

9. POLOFF THEN ASKED IF ANYONE IN "ARCHIVOS" WOULD BE TRIED FOR THEIR PAST DEEDS. [redacted] HAS LOOKED INTO THAT POSSIBILITY, BUT THERE IS NO LEGAL EVIDENCE TO CONVICT ANYONE. [redacted] THAT HE IS PRETTY SURE WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR WHAT, BUT THE ENTIRE ORGANIZATION IS A "LITTLE MAFIA" AND NO PROOF EXISTS. THE MOST THAT CAN BE DONE, THEREFORE, IS TO TRANSFER THESE PEOPLE OUT AND GIVE THEM POOR ASSIGNMENTS. B1

WHAT ELSE?

10. AMONG OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS THAT WILL BE MADE, [redacted] WILL BE TO CHANGE THE MILITARY LEGAL CODE. POLOFF COMMENTED THAT HE FELT THE EMBASSY/U.S. MILITARY COULD BE HELPFUL IN SUCH AN EFFORT. ALL MILITARY PERSONNEL WILL ALSO BE WITHDRAWN FROM THE POLICE AND THE COMBINED ARMY-POLICE "HUNAPU" TASK FORCES CONSIGNED FOREVER TO THE DUSTBIN OF HISTORY (ALREADY ESSENTIALLY DONE, BUT NOT PUBLICIZED). B1

A REAL POINT OF CONTACT

11. POLOFF THEN COMMENTED THAT A NUMBER OF HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS HAVE TOLD HIM THEY LACK A REAL POINT OF CONTACT IN THE NEW GOVERNMENT. ESSENTIALLY, THEY FEEL ADRIFT, WITHOUT EVEN A PERSONAL CONTACT INSIDE THE PRESIDENCY. WHILE THEY MAY BE EXAGGERATING, THEIR POINT WAS VALID. [redacted] THE HOPE IS THAT COPREDEH (THE PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION) WILL ASSUME THIS ROLE. UNDER SERRANO, HE CONTINUED, IT LOST ALL CREDIBILITY. DE LEON INTENDS TO HAVE IT OPERATE IN A DYNAMIC FASHION, INCLUDING OUTREACH TO HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS. B1

12. AS A CONCRETE DISPLAY OF HIS INTEREST IN ENERGIZING COPREDEH, DE LEON WILL TOUR ITS INSTALLATIONS (A SHORT TOUR) ON JULY 19 AND PUBLICLY NAME JORGE CABRERA ITS NEW DIRECTOR. [redacted] WHO SAID HE HAD NOT PROPOSED CABRERA'S NAME. THE NEW COPREDEH HEAD IS CURRENTLY AT THE UNIVERSITY OF LANDIVAR. HE PLAYED A ROLE IN HELPING ORGANIZE COPREDEH WHEN IT BEGAN, BUT CUT TIES TO IT ONCE IT BECAME, IN HIS VIEW, SIMPLY A PROPAGANDA TOOL. [redacted] FOR COPREDEH TO PROPERLY FUNCTION, IT MUST BE ABLE TO COUNT ON THE SUPPORT OF THE PUBLIC MINISTRY (ATTORNEY GENERAL), THE GOVERNMENT MINISTRY (THE POLICE), THE DEFENSE MINISTRY AND THE FOREIGN MINISTRY (TO EXPLAIN ITS WORK AT AN INTERNATIONAL LEVEL). THE "PLAN" IS TO INVOLVE ALL THESE BODIES IN COPREDEH'S WORK. [redacted] B1

CASES

13. THE DISCUSSION THEN TURNED TO SPECIFIC HUMAN RIGHTS CASES, WITH POLOFF MENTIONING THAT U.S. CITIZEN JENNIFER HARBURY IS IN GUATEMALA TO SEEK THE WHEREABOUTS OF HER GUERRILLA COMANDATE HUSBAND EFRAIN BAMACA. (NOTE: IN A JULY 9 MEETING WITH CONOFF AND POLOFF, HARBURY REQUESTED THAT WE MAKE HER PRESENCE AND CASE KNOWN TO THE GOG. POLOFF HAS SEPARATELY MENTIONED THE MATTER TO THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE AND COPREDEH.) HE SUGGESTED THAT IT WAS IN THE GOG INTEREST TO DO ALL POSSIBLE TO HELP HARBURY, INCLUDING POSSIBLY CONTACTING HER.

14. [redacted] RESPONDED THAT HE WAS WELL AWARE OF THE CASE AND BELIEVED IT A URNG SET-UP ("MONTAGE"). HE EXPECTS THE MATTER WILL REMAIN RELATIVELY QUIET UNTIL AFTER AN EXHUMATION OF THE GRAVE SUPPOSEDLY CONTAINING HARBURY'S COMMON-LAW HUSBAND. NEVERTHELESS, HE RECOGNIZED THAT THE CASE WAS SENSITIVE AND WOULD MENTION IT TO MOD ENRIQUEZ IN A MEETING LATER JULY IS OVER THE CHANGES MENTIONED ABOVE. [redacted] SAID THAT HE WOULD CALL DE LEON'S ATTENTION TO THE MATTER UPON THE PRESIDENT'S RETURN FROM BRAZIL. B1

15. POLOFF ALSO RAISED THE DEVINE CASE. [redacted] HE CONFIRMED PAST REPORTS THAT CONTRERAS IS IN GUATEMALA AND WILLING TO GIVE HIMSELF UP IF GUARANTEED AN APOLITICAL HEARING. CONTRARY TO SOME OTHER INFO, [redacted] DE LEON WAS WILLING TO GIVE THIS GUARANTEE, BUT DID NOT KNOW HOW HE COULD DO SO UNTIL [redacted] NONETHELESS, GARCIA CATALAN (CONTRERAS' SUPERIOR) WILL BE REMOVED FROM HIS COMMAND. B1

16. [redacted] WAS ASKED ABOUT REPORTS OF A RECENT MASSACRE IN THE PETEN. (NOTE: ON JULY 7, POLICE IN PETEN LOCATED NINE BODIES IN TWO NEARBY AREAS. ACCORDING TO PRESS REPORTS, THE BODIES SHOW SIGNS OF TORTURE, THE SKULLS HAVING BEEN CRUSHED. A FORENSIC DOCTOR STATED THAT FIVE OF THE PERSONS FOUND IN ONE AREA APPARENTLY HAD BEEN KILLED AT LEAST NINETY DAYS EARLIER. ONLY ONE OF THESE PERSONS, HENRY ROBBELL NOACK, HAS BEEN IDENTIFIED. [redacted] ANSWERED THAT HE THOUGHT THIS WAS A CRIMINAL MATTER.) B1

[redacted] ANSWERED THAT HE THOUGHT THIS WAS A CRIMINAL MATTER, POSSIBLY INCLUDING DRUG TRAFFICKERS. [redacted] NOACK INTENDS TO PURSUE THE MATTER.

COMMENT: IMPORTANT ALTERATIONS

17. THE CHANGES [redacted] ALONG LINES OF REF AND DAO REPORTING, ARE IMPORTANT AND FAR-REACHING. IF THEY OCCUR AS PLANNED, THEY WILL BE A CONCRETE SIGN THAT DE LEON IS ATTEMPTING TO PERMANENTLY CHANGE GUATEMALA'S HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. THIS, OF COURSE, DOES NOT MEAN THAT THREATS OR OTHER PROBLEMS WILL END ALL AT ONCE. THIS IS A LONG-RANGE PROJECT AND, EVEN UNDER THE BEST OF CIRCUMSTANCES, SOME REVERSES WILL OCCUR. WE WILL ENCOURAGE THE GOG TO MEET ITS END OF JULY TARGET AND CONTINUE MOVING FORWARD FROM THERE. B1

MEMORANDUM

to: Len Kusnitz, POL

date: August 6, 1993

subject: Meeting with Jennifer Harbury

I met yesterday with Jennifer Harbury and her friend, Pat Davis, who works for the Guatemala Human Rights office in Washington, D.C. Jennifer picked up some documents which she had left with me for safekeeping and said that she feels that she is making good progress with her case thus far. She provided me with the following information:

1. She confirmed that she has hired Antonio Argueta as her attorney, and said that she was meeting with him later on August 5th. He has not yet submitted the formal request for the exhumation, but is in the process of preparing it. I gave her a copy of a request for an exhumation from March 1992 criminal case in which an American citizen was killed and buried as XX to use as a sample (Jorge Amador case).

2. Jennifer said that in addition to talking with as many human rights groups as possible, she is also making the rounds visiting other Embassies and has gotten solid support from Ambassadors and other Embassy officials. I asked her which embassies and she said principally European embassies and those of the Friends Group from the peace process (Mexico, Venezuela, Colombia etc). She also expressed appreciation for Ambassador McAfee's support and characterized the Ambassador's role as "extremely helpful."

3. Jennifer said that she had already met with the judge in Retalhuleu to explain her case and that he was supportive of the idea of going ahead with the exhumation. He is the same judge who authorized the aborted exhumation attempt last year and is understandably a little nervous about the whole situation. The judge asked that the formal exhumation request ("memorial") be as complete and specific as possible and provide as many details as possible, so that he will have no reason not to approve the request.

4. She asked if someone from the Embassy could accompany her on the day of the exhumation and I said that I thought so, that it seemed like a good idea to me and that we had done it before in another exhumation case, but that I would have to check with my boss (I now know that this was discussed in Country Team and it was agreed that a consular officer should be present.). I told Jennifer that if the exhumation takes place while I am still here, I would be interested in accompanying her, because it would be nice to know the end of the story having followed it since March.

5. We discussed the logistics of what would happen if the body is or isn't identified, and I said that it would probably be necessary to have a funeral home representative present. I suggested that the lawyer should spell out exactly what we want in case the body is or is no identified - the memorial should specify that if the identity is confirmed, the body should be released to the wife, that if it is definitely proven not be be Bamaca, it should be reburied, and that in the case of doubt where further test is needed, permission should be granted for the body to be transferred to a hospital in the capital for further tests. Jennifer said that she thought any necessary tests could be done in Retalhuleu in the morgue. I said that it's still better to request permission to transfer the body to the capital just in case it turns out to be necessary.

6. Jennifer said that she is hopeful that the formal exhumation request will be submitted next week and that the judge will set the date for the exhumation within 10-15 days. She has arranged for a forensic expert from the U.S. as well as other international witnesses to be present at the exhumation. She will let me know as soon as there is any news about the exhumation.

CHINESE SMUGGLING

5. AT THE REQUEST OF THE AMBASSADOR, THE PRESIDENT RECEIVED THE AMBASSADOR ACCOMPANIED BY THE DEFENSE ATTACHE IN THE PRESIDENTIAL HOUSE DURING THE AFTERNOON OF 2 AUGUST. THE AMBASSADOR IMMEDIATELY THANKED PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO FOR HIS GOVERNMENT'S COLLABORATION WITH THE USG OVER THE ISSUE OF CHINESE ALIENS BEING SMUGGLED TO THE U.S., AND SPECIFICALLY THE BOATLOAD OF CHINESE ILLEGALS CURRENTLY BEING HELD BY THE GUATEMALAN NAVY AT PUERTO QUETZAL. SHE COMMENDED GOG COOPERATION IN WORKING OUT A FORMULA TO RESOLVE THIS AND FUTURE CASES AND THE PRESIDENT'S RECENT STATEMENTS IN HONDURAS WHICH SUPPORTED REGIONAL MEASURES TO DEAL WITH THIS PROBLEM.

---

6. THE AMBASSADOR REVIEWED WITH THE PRESIDENT THE SCHEDULE AND SUGGESTED PUBLIC STATEMENTS FOR THE VISIT OF GENERALS SULLIVAN AND JOULWAN, MAKING CLEAR ITS OBJECTIVE OF SUPPORT FOR DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT, FOR HIM AND FOR HIS MOD. THE PRESIDENT FULLY AND APPRECIATIVELY CONCURRED AND REMARKED THAT THE VISIT WAS BOTH TIMELY AND VERY IMPORTANT FOR GUATEMALA. PRESIDENT DE LEON SAID THAT HE IS MEETING

CLANDESTINE PRISONS

8. AMBASSADOR MCAFEE TOLD THE PRESIDENT THAT SHE HAD DISCUSSED THE ISSUE OF CLANDESTINE PRISONS WITH THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE A FEW DAYS EARLIER. EVEN THOUGH THE ARMY MAY BE CORRECT IN STATING THERE ARE NO SUCH PRISONS, THE ARMY HAS KEPT CAPTURED INSURGENTS IN ITS CUSTODY, THUS LEAVING HIM AND THE MOD OPEN TO ATTACK. THE AMBASSADOR URGED THE PRESIDENT TO SEIZE THE MOMENT AND THE INITIATIVE. THE PRESIDENT RESPONDED THAT HE KNEW THIS ISSUE WELL; THAT HE KNEW INSURGENTS WHO TURN THEMSELVES IN TO THE ARMY ARE SUBSEQUENTLY USED BY THE ARMY. HE ADDED THAT THE INSURGENTS SEE NO OTHER ALTERNATIVE AND THUS DO SO FOR SURVIVAL. ECHOING THE AMBASSADOR'S COMMENTS, HE ALSO UNDERSTOOD THAT GUERRILLA WARS WERE NOT CHILD'S PLAY. HE WAS INTERESTED IN OUR PERCEPTION OF THE MOD'S REACTION WHICH WE REPORTED AS INITIALLY REJECTION AND THEN

CONTEMPLATIVE.

9. DE LEON CARPIO REMARKED THAT IT WAS DIFFICULT TO DETERMINE WHICH COMBATANTS WERE "FORCED" AND WHICH ONES "VOLUNTEER" TO COOPERATE. THE AMBASSADOR MENTIONED THE BAMACA CASE (A MISSING GUERRILLA WHO ALLEGEDLY WAS CAPTURED AND HELD BY THE GUATEMALAN ARMY) AND AN UPCOMING EXHUMATION AS AN EXAMPLE OF AN ACCUSATION THAT COULD HURT THE PRESIDENT AND SERIOUSLY UNDERMINE HIS CREDIBILITY AND THAT OF THE MOD. THE PRESIDENT EXPRESSED DOUBT THAT THE REMAINS SCHEDULED TO BE EXHUMED WOULD BE THOSE OF BAMACA. THE AMBASSADOR CAUTIONED THE PRESIDENT THAT IF BAMACA WERE STILL AROUND, HE SHOULD TAKE ACTION TO ENSURE THAT NOTHING UNTOWARD HAPPEN TO HIM. THE PRESIDENT ASSURED THE AMBASSADOR THAT HE FULLY UNDERSTOOD THE POINT SHE WAS MAKING ABOUT CLANDESTINE JAILS.

THE JOCOPILAS PAC

10. AMBASSADOR MCAFEE SUGGESTED TO THE PRESIDENT THAT HE SHOULD DO SOMETHING ABOUT THE VOLUNTEER SELF-DEFENSE COMMITTEE (ALSO CALLED SELF-DEFENSE PATROL-PAC) OF THE VILLAGE OF SAN PEDRO DE JOCOPILAS, A PAC RENOWNED FOR ITS ABUSES. (PAC MEMBERS WERE REPORTEDLY AMONG THOSE VILLAGERS WHO SUMMARILY SHOT AND KILLED 11 PERSONS THE VILLAGERS BELIEVED TO BE CRIMINALS.) SHE STATED THAT THE ISSUE OF THE JOCOPILAS PAC REPRESENTED A GOOD OPPORTUNITY FOR THE PRESIDENT TO MAKE A POINT -- TO MAKE AN EXAMPLE OF HIS NEW POLICIES TOWARD SUCH ABUSES. SHE ALSO MENTIONED THAT THE ARMY REPORTEDLY HAD ADMONISHED THIS SAME PAC TO STOP CONDUCTING FORCED RECRUITMENT OF VILLAGERS TO FILL THE PAC'S RANKS. (COMMENT: HE MADE NO COMMITMENT, BUT DID JOT A NOTE TO HIMSELF. END COMMENT.)

THE TORUSCHAT THEME LED THE PRESIDENT TO MENTION THE GOVERNMENT'S HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION (COPREDH). THE PRESIDENT TOLD THE AMBASSADOR THAT HE HAD APPOINTED THREE NEW PERSONALITIES TO DIRECT COPREDH ACTIVITIES: JORGE CABRERA, DENIS ALONZO MAZARIEGOS, AND RAMSES CUESTAS. THE PRESIDENT REMARKED THAT COPREDH NOW WOULD BE RESTRUCTURED AND BETTER ORGANIZED FOR ITS HUMAN RIGHTS RESPONSIBILITIES.

REFUGEES

13. THE PRESIDENT REPORTED HIS APPOINTMENT OF RODRIGUEZ

WEAVER AS THE NEW DIRECTOR OF THE COMMISSION FOR THE REPATRIATION OF REFUGEES (CEAR), STATING THAT RODRIGUEZ POSSESSED THE QUALITIES NECESSARY TO ENSURE THAT CEAR PROVIDED ASSISTANCE TO THE REFUGEES. THE AMBASSADOR MENTIONED HER RECENT VISIT TO THE CEAR FACILITIES IN HUEHUETENANGO AND THE UNHCR OFFICES IN NENTON IN NORTHERN HUEHUETENANGO, AND SAID THAT CEAR APPEARED TO BE ACCOMPLISHING ITS LOGISTICS SUPPORT FUNCTIONS. SHE ADDED THAT THE MOST SERIOUS PROBLEM WAS THE LAND ISSUE. THE PRESIDENT READILY AGREED.

14. THE PRESIDENT STRESSED THAT REFUGEES SHOULD RETURN TO GUATEMALA IN AN ORDERLY MANNER. HE EMPHASIZED THE GOOD INTENTIONS ON THE PART OF THE GOVERNMENT, AND HOPED THAT FUTURE REPATRIATIONS WOULD GO WELL, WHILE EMPHASIZING THAT REFUGEES NEED TO RESPECT AGREEMENTS REACHED. RESPONDING TO THE AMBASSADOR'S CONCERNS ABOUT AVAILABLE LAND, THE PRESIDENT INDICATED THAT THE GOG WAS GOING TO PURCHASE A FARM IN HUEHUETENANGO TO BE USED IN SUPPORT OF THE NEXT GROUP OF REFUGEE FAMILIES. THE PEACE PROCESS

4. A/S WATSON SAID THE U.S. SUPPORTS PRESIDENT DE LEON'S EFFORTS TO INVIGORATE THE PEACE PROCESS. HE ASKED MENCHU FOR HER VIEWS ON THE PEACE PROCESS.

5. MENCHU RESPONDED THAT SHE HAD HOPED TO RETURN TO GUATEMALA AND SET UP HER INDIGENOUS FOUNDATION BUT H NOT BEEN ABLE TO DO SO. SHE SAID THE SERRANO "AUTOGOLPE" DERAILED OR AT LEAST DELAYED PLANS FOR T FOUNDATION'S ESTABLISHMENT IN GUATEMALA. SHE SAID T GUATEMALAN PEOPLE WANT MORE DEMOCRACY, ESPECIALLY AT LOCAL LEVEL, MAYBE EVEN AUTONOMY FOR THE INDIGENOUS. SHE SAID THAT DE LEON'S COMING TO THE PRESIDENCY AFT HIS HIGHLY COURAGEOUS AND SUCCESSFUL TENURE AS HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN HAD RAISED HOPES IN GUATEMALA WHIC POINTED OUT THAT IT WAS DE LEON WHO USED TO LOAN HER BULLET-PROOF CAR WHEN THE EEC COUNTRIES COULD NOT). SHE SAID HIS FIRST TASK AS PRESIDENT IS TO WORK TO RESTORE THE LEGITIMACY OF THE DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTION

MENCHU'S VISITS TO GUATEMALA AND GENEVA

6. MENCHU EXPRESSED CONCERN THAT THREATS AGAINST HUM RIGHTS ACTIVISTS HAVE RESUMED. SHE PLANS TO RETURN T GUATEMALA O/A AUGUST 22-30 TO SURVEY THE SITUATION. S IS CONCERNED ABOUT HER SAFETY AS THE GOG WILL NOT PROVIDE HER A BULLET-PROOF VEHICLE. SHE SAID SHE MU DEPEND ON THE EEC FOR HER SAFETY. MENCHU SAID THE MURDER OF CENTRIST POLITICIAN JORGE CARPIO IS "A POWERFUL MESSAGE" FROM THE FORCES AGAINST CHANGE. SH HAS NO PLANS TO MEET DE LEON DURING HER EIGHT DAYS I GUATEMALA, BUT WOULD NOT BE ADVERSE TO DOING SO.

7. IMMEDIATELY AFTER HER STAY IN BOLIVIA, MENCHU PLA TO GO TO GENEVA TO SPEAK TO THE UNHRC SUB-COMMISSION. SHE IS ALSO WORKING ON PUTTING TOGETHER AN "INDIGENOU PEOPLE'S SUMMIT" IN MEXICO WITH THE HELP OF THE UN, MEXICAN CULTURAL INSTITUTE, AND INTERNATIONAL NGO'S.

8. RETURNING TO THE TOPIC OF THE PEACE PROCESS, MENC SAID THERE MUST BE FIRST A PROCESS OF SEEKING WIDE SOCIAL SUPPORT. SHE SEES HERSELF AS RELATIVELY INACT IN THIS PROCESS. SHE BEMOANED THE FACT THAT DE LEON SAID THE NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE URNG WERE NOT HIS TOP PRIORITY. SHE WAS ALSO CRITICAL OF MSGR. QUEZADA FOR NOT HAVING MADE A SOLID PEACE PROPOSAL.

UN OR OAS ROLE?

9. WATSON ASKED MENCHU FOR HER OPINION ON UN OR OAS INVOLVEMENT IN THE PEACE EFFORT. SHE SAID NATIONAL RECONCILIATION MUST PRECEDE ANY UN OR OAS INVOLVEMENT SHE SAID THE CURRENT POLITICAL SITUATION AND THE PEAC PROCESS ARE VERY CONFUSED. SHE CLAIMED THAT THERE SE TO BE A MOVE UNDERWAY FOR THE CNR TO HOLD ANOTHER "NATIONAL DIALOGUE" SIMILAR TO THE ONE HELD IN 1989. THAT, SHE SAID, MEANS MSGR. QUEZADA IS EFFECTIVELY OU OF THE PEACE BUSINESS. ANY EFFECTIVE NATIONAL DIALOG SHE CLAIMED, WOULD HAVE TO INCLUDE PARTICIPATION BY T URNG--NO SUCH PROVISIONS HAVE BEEN MADE. SHE IS VER PESSIMISTIC ABOUT THE PEACE PROCESS AS WELL AS ABOU DEMOCRACY. ACCORDING TO MENCHU, THE POLITICAL PA ARE FAILING TO HONOR THEIR PROMISES. THE CIVIL REMAIN IN ACTION AND ARE COMMITTING HUMAN RIGHT VIOLATIONS. JOURNALISTS ARE BEING THREATENED. HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE IS NOW A VERY INSTITUTION. DE LEON IS MOVING, DESPITE INTE SUPPORT, MUCH TOO SLOWLY IN ADDRESSING BAS

BOLIVIA'S INDIGENOUS EXAMPLE?

10. ACCORDING TO MENCHU, GUATEMALA NEEDS WHAT BOLIVIA HAS, TO WIT, THE BEGINNINGS OF INDIGENOUS INTEGRATION INTO THE POLITICAL LIFE OF THE COUNTRY. SHE SAID THE ELECTION OF VICTOR HUGO CARDENAS, AN AYMARA INTELLECTUAL, AS BOLIVIAN VICE-PRESIDENT GIVES HOPE TO INDIGENOUS PEOPLE ALL OVER LATIN AMERICA. SHE SAID SHE HAS PROPOSED TO DE LEON THE CREATION OF A MINISTRY OF MAYAN AFFAIRS; DE LEON HAS SO FAR REFUSED TO GO ALONG.

11. WATSON ASKED, "WHAT CAN YOU DO TO HELP DE LEON SUCCEED?" MENCHU REPLIED THAT HER PRESENCE IN GUATEMALA IS NOT USEFUL. SHE RETURNED TO HER CONCERNS FOR HER SAFETY AND MENTIONED RUMORS THAT GENERAL GUILO WILL BE NAMED THE NEXT MOD; SHE CALLED HIM A HARD-LINER. SHE SAID THE GOG HAS TO FOCUS ON CREATING THE CONDITIONS FOR THE RETURN OF 38-46-000 REFUGEES FROM MEXICO. SHE ALSO SAID THE U.S. SHOULD NOT YET RETURN GUATEMALANS NOW LIVING IN THE U.S. SHE PREDICTED THAT A VARIETY OF LABOR AND OTHER SOCIAL UNREST WILL SOON BEGIN.

MENCHU IN MEXICO

12. RETURNING TO THE TOPIC OF HER PERSONAL PLANS, MENCHU SAID THAT HER FOUNDATION WILL OPEN OFFICES SOON IN MEXICO. THE GOM, SHE SAID, HAS GIVEN HER A HOUSE ("LA CASA DEL PREMIO NOBEL") WHERE SHE WILL LIVE. SHE DOES NOT PLAN TO TAKE UP PERMANENT RESIDENCE IN GUATEMALA ANY TIME SOON. SHE SAID SHE RELIES ON INFORMATION FROM GUATEMALA PROVIDED HER BY CAMPESINO LEADER ROSALIND TUYUC. AT THE END OF HER CONVERSATION, SHE ADMITTED THAT INCREASINGLY HER ONLY CONCERN IS THE INDIGENOUS TOPIC.

COMMENT:

13. CLEARLY, MENCHU IS NOT UP-TO-DATE ON EVENTS IN GUATEMALA AND SEEMS TO HAVE VERY WEAK GRASP OF THE DETAILS. SHE IS DEPENDENT ON SECOND-HAND INFORMATION AND SEEMS EXTREMELY CONCERNED FOR HER PERSONAL SAFETY. SHE SEEMS MUCH MORE INTERESTED IN SEIZING HERSELF UP IN HER FOUNDATION THAN IN SEEKING TO PLAY A MAJOR ROLE IN HER COUNTRY'S EFFORTS TO END A THIRTY-YEAR-CONFLICT.

14. THIS MESSAGE WAS CLEARED BY A/S WATSON.

1. THIS IS AN ACTION REQUEST.

2. THE COSTA RICAN EMBASSY HAS FORWARDED UNDER DIPLOMATIC NOTE A REQUEST FROM LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DEPUTY AND PRESIDENT OF THE SPECIAL INVESTIGATIVE COMMISSION ON LA PENCA SONIA RODRIGUEZ FOR AN APPOINTMENT WITH THE PRESIDENT, FOR THE PURPOSE OF INVESTIGATING THE MAY 30, 1984 LA PENCA BOMBING. NSC STAFF HAS ADVISED THAT SUCH A MEETING IS NOT POSSIBLE; DEPT OFFICIALS WOULD BE WILLING--BUT ARE NOT REQUESTING-,TO MEET WITH RODRIGUEZ TO GAIN A FIRSTHAND SENSE OF THE SCOPE AND PROGRESS OF THE INVESTIGATION.

3. ACCORDINGLY, EMBASSY IS REQUESTED TO DELIVER THE FOLLOWING DIPLOMATIC NOTE TO THE FOREIGN MINISTRY, WITH A COURTESY COPY TO DEPUTY RODRIGUEZ. FYI: WHITE HOUSE STAFF REPORTS THAT RODRIGUEZ' ORIGINAL MARCH MEETING REQUEST WAS NEVER RECEIVED BY THE WHITE HOUSE.

PICTURE OF CURRENT EVENTS IN GUATEMALA. SHE IS CONCERNED ABOUT VIOLENCE AND THE NEGATIVE EFFECT THIS WILL HAVE ON POPULAR GROUPS. SHE REVIEWED HER MEETING LAST WEEK WITH THE PRESIDENT, NOTING THAT HE SEEMED UNWILLING TO LISTEN TO ANYTHING THAT DID NOT FOCUS DIRECTLY ON HIS BATTLE TO PURGE CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME COURT. MENCHU LAMENTED THE CONTINUED ABUSE OF POWER BY PACS, AND STRESSED THAT ANY PURGE OF GOVERNMENT BE DIRECTED DOWNWARDS TOWARDS THE PROVINCES, THE MUNICIPALITIES, AND THE PACS. SHE EXPLAINED HER INTEREST IN HAVING THE GOG SIGN A HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORD WITH THE URNG, TO BRING PEACE OF MIND TO THE PEOPLE. SHE FURTHER HINTED THAT SHE WOULD BE SEEKING DONATIONS TO HELP IN THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE VICENTE MENCHU FOUNDATION. END SUMMARY.

3. NOBEL PRIZE WINNER RIGOBERTA MENCHU TUM CALLED ON AMBASSADOR AUGUST 30 TO DISCUSS CURRENT EVENTS IN GUATEMALA. SHE STRESSED HER PREOCCUPATION WITH THE

UNCLASSIFIED

STATE OF TENSION SHE SAID SHE HAS FOUND IN GUATEMALA, LAMENTING THAT EVERY TIME SHE RETURNS FOR A VISIT THERE APPEARS TO BE ANOTHER CRISIS. WHILE NOTING HER SUPPORT FOR PRESIDENT DE LEON'S EFFORTS TO PURIFY CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME COURT, SHE ADDED THAT PURIFICATION NEEDS TO TAKE PLACE AT ALL LEVELS. THE PEOPLE ARE CLAMORING FOR A CLEANSING AT THE PROVINCIAL AND VILLAGE LEVELS, WHERE CORRUPTION AND IMPUNITY HAVE BEEN THE NORM FOR DECADES. NOTING THAT SHE HAS TALKED WITH A WIDE VARIETY OF POPULAR GROUPS SINCE HER RETURN LAST WEEK, SHE STATED THAT IT WAS CLEAR TO HER THAT THE PEOPLE, PARTICULARLY OUTSIDE OF THE CAPITAL CITY, HAVE OTHER PRIORITIES.

THEY WANT TO CLEAN UP THEIR VILLAGE GOVERNMENTS ON AN IMMEDIATE BASIS, SO THAT THEY CAN BE CERTAIN THE SCARCE FUNDS AVAILABLE WILL BE USED TO ADDRESS PROBLEMS WHICH ARE MOST IMPORTANT TO THE PEOPLE; I.E. SCHOOLS, ROADS, WATER SYSTEMS, ETC.

4. RIGOBERTA STATED THERE IS A NEED FOR A "COYUNTURA" IN GUATEMALA, WHICH WILL ALLOW ALL GUATEMALANS TO ADDRESS THE NATION'S PROBLEMS. THIS SHOULD INCLUDE A CLEANSING NOT ONLY OF GOVERNMENT ORGANIZATIONS AND INSTITUTIONS, BUT OF HOW GUATEMALANS ACT AS A NATION. SHE SAID THIS SHOULD ADDRESS THE PACS IN PARTICULAR, TO EITHER ABOLISH THEM OR BRING THEM UNDER THE CONTROL OF LOCAL CITIZENS. THE NOBEL PRIZE WINNER SAID SHE WAS PARTICULARLY DISCOURAGED WHEN SHE MET LAST WEEK WITH THE PRESIDENT TO HEAR HIM PRAISE THE PACS. THIS PRESIDENTIAL BLESSING INDICATED TO HER THAT DE LEON WAS ONLY FOCUSED ON HIS IMMEDIATE BATTLE TO CLEANSE CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME COURT, AND WAS NOT THINKING OF LONGER-TERM PROBLEMS, SUCH AS THE PACS OR THE DETERIORATING ECONOMIC SITUATION. WORKERS NEED WAGE INCREASES AND CAMPESINOS NEED GUARANTEES FOR THEIR SECURITY FROM ABUSES BY PACS. IN TOO MANY LOCALITIES THE PAC LEADERS HAVE BECOME LOCAL CHIEFS OR WAR-LORDS, AND ARE HOLDING THE PEOPLE HOSTAGE. THIS SITUATION COULD DETERIORATE, UNLESS ADDRESSED BY THE PRESIDENT, INTO A CIVIL WAR BETWEEN RIVAL PAC FACTIONS FIGHTING FOR LOCAL DOMINANCE.

5. MENCHU SAID SHE HAD URGED THE PRESIDENT TO OPEN UP A DIALOGUE WITH ALL SECTORS OF SOCIETY, TO WORK WITH THEM

TO FIND A PEACEFUL SOLUTION TO THE NATION'S MULTITUDE OF PROBLEMS. SHE ADDED THAT SHE TOLD DE LEON THAT HE SHOULD NOT BE THE ONE CALLING FOR MASSIVE PROTEST

MARCHES, AS THIS IS THE ROLE OF THOSE WHO REPRESENT THE POPULAR SECTORS (SUCH AS RIGOBERTA). THE PRESIDENT SHOULD BE ABOVE THE FRAY, WORKING WITH ALL SECTORS TO FIND VIABLE SOLUTIONS. SUCH GROUPS AS THE NATIONAL CONSENSUS COMMISSION, THE MULTISECTORAL FORUM, OR THE MAYAN COMMISSION FOR CONSENSUS SHOULD BE MADE MORE OF A PART OF THE PRESIDENT'S PROGRAM, AS THEY HAVE THE ABILITY TO MUSTER LARGE PROTESTS AGAINST THOSE WHO REFUSE TO UNDERSTAND THE NATIONAL DESIRE FOR A NEW POLITICAL ORIENTATION. UNFORTUNATELY, SHE ADDED, THE PRESIDENT DID NOT SEEM TO UNDERSTAND HER POINT, AND ONLY REITERATED THAT HE WOULD CALL FOR NATIONAL PROTESTS IF CONGRESSIONAL AND SUPREME COURT OFFICIALS REFUSE TO CEDE TO HIS DEMANDS FOR A CLEANSING.

6. TURNING TO THE PEACE PROCESS, RIGOBERTA SAID SHE HAD

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

URGED DE LEON TO OPEN CONSULTATIONS IMMEDIATELY WITH BISHOP QUEZADA SO THAT THE BISHOP COULD BE THE LEADING FORCE IN A NATIONAL CONSULTATION ON THE PEACE ACCORD. THE PRESIDENT SHOULD AGREE TO SIGN THE HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORD, TO HELP INSTILL IN THE PEOPLE A SENSE OF SECURITY. THIS IS NEEDED TO OPEN THE SPACE FOR THE NATIONAL DIALOGUE HEADED BY BISHOP QUEZADA. RIGOBERTA EMPHASIZED THAT PEOPLE ARE FEARFUL OF SPEAKING OUT ON THE PURGE OF CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME COURT BECAUSE THEY HAVE NO GUARANTEE THAT IF THEY DO SO, THEY WILL NOT BE SUBJECTED TO VIOLENCE OR THE THREAT OF VIOLENCE. (COMMENT: DOZENS OF JOURNALISTS, BUSINESSMEN, LABOR LEADERS AND OTHERS HAVE PUBLICLY CALLED FOR PURGES, AND NAMED NAMES. RIGOBERTA HAS LONG BEEN VERY CONCERNED ABOUT HER PERSONAL SECURITY. END COMMENT.)

7. ASKED BY THE AMBASSADOR WHAT BENEFIT THE HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORD MIGHT HAVE, MENCHU RESPONDED THAT HAVING THE VERIFICATION SYSTEM IN PLACE WOULD GREATLY REDUCE HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. SHE NOTED THAT IN EL SALVADOR THE VERIFICATION PROCESS HAS HAD THE IMMEDIATE EFFECT OF REDUCING THE NUMBER OF THREATS BY AT LEAST 80 PERCENT. FURTHER, HAVING A FUNCTIONING VERIFICATION SYSTEM IN GUATEMALA WOULD ACT AS A BRAKE ON THE ILLEGAL, VIOLENT ACTS OF PACS. SHE WAS CERTAIN THAT IF THE VERIFICATION TEAMS WERE TO TAKE STRONG ACTIONS IN CONDEMNING THESE ILLEGAL ACTS, THE BULK OF THE PACS WOULD BE RELUCTANT TO CONTINUE ACTING ILLEGALLY BECAUSE THEY WOULD NOT WELCOME PUBLIC SCRUTINY.

8. FINALLY, RIGOBERTA NOTED THAT SHE WAS ALSO IN

COUNTRY TO CONTINUE WORKING ON THE ESTABLISHING OF THE VICENTE MENCHU FOUNDATION. SHE SAID SHE WOULD MOST LIKELY SEEK ASSISTANCE FROM THE U.S.G. AT SOME FUTURE DATE, ONCE SHE HAS A CLEARER CONCEPT OF HOW THIS FOUNDATION WILL BE STRUCTURED.

9. AMBASSADOR TOOK THE OPPORTUNITY TO NOTE OUR CONCERNS THAT THE CURRENT SITUATION SEEMED RIPE FOR SOME GROUPS TO DESTABILIZE THE DE LEON GOVERNMENT. THE AMBASSADOR NOTED THAT THE PRESIDENT HAD CLARIFIED HIS STATEMENTS ABOUT MASSIVE PROTESTS, BUT THE POSSIBILITY OF DEMONSTRATIONS GETTING OUT OF HAND WERE STILL OF CONCERN. SHE URGED RIGOBERTA TO USE HER INFLUENCE WITH POPULAR GROUPS TO ENSURE THAT THEY UNDERSTAND AS WELL THE POTENTIAL FOR THOSE TO INSTIGATE VIOLENCE WHO WANT TO SEE THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION FAIL, AND TO DISCOURAGE THEM. THE U.S.G., THE AMBASSADOR REITERATED, WOULD LIKE TO SEE THE CONTINUATION OF CHANGE, TO MAKE THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT MORE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE PEOPLE, BUT THAT THIS IS MORE LIKELY TO BE SUCCESSFUL IF IT IS DONE IN A PEACEFUL MANNER.

UNCLASSIFIED

8. COMMENT: WE SHARE THE VIEWS EXPRESSED BY MISS MENCHU THAT PURIFICATION NEEDS TO EXPAND MUCH FURTHER THAN JUST CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME COURT, BUT DO NOT SEE THE PICTURE TO BE AS BLEAK AS SHE PAINTED IT. THE PROCESS OF CHANGE WILL TAKE TIME AND PATIENCE, AND LEADERS SUCH AS MENCHU HAVE A RESPONSIBILITY TO MAKE CERTAIN THE PEOPLE UNDERSTAND THIS.

2. SUMMARY: OVER DINNER ON AUGUST 30, PRESIDENT DE LEON DISCUSSED SEVERAL HUMAN RIGHTS TOPICS IN RESPONSE TO QUERIES FROM THE AMBASSADOR. THE AMBASSADOR RAISED THE PAC'S, CLANDESTINE JAILS AND GUERRILLA EFRAIN BAMACA, AND THE RELEASE OF A PURPORTED GUERRILLA. DE LEON VOLUNTEERED HIS VIEWS ON A PUBLIC MINISTRY SUCCESSOR, REFUGEES, POLICE INADEQUACIES, AND CPR'S. THE MEETING, WHICH COVERED THE POLITICAL CRISIS AND DE LEON'S HOPES FOR ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE (SEPTELS) ALSO TOUCHED ON THE PEACE PROCESS. END SUMMARY.

3. THE PRESIDENT INVITED THE AMBASSADOR FOR DINNER ON AUGUST 30. DCM ACCOMPANIED. FOLLOWING DISCUSSION OF OTHER TOPICS, THE AMBASSADOR MENTIONED THAT SHE HAS RECENTLY HAD DISCUSSIONS WITH SEVERAL HUMAN RIGHTS NGO'S. WHILE THEY TOUCHED ON MANY SUBJECTS, THEY WERE UNIFORMLY CRITICAL OF ABUSES BY PACS (CIVIL DEFENSE COMMITTEES) AND THE APPARENT IMPUNITY WITH WHICH THEY OPERATE. DE LEON NOTED THAT PACS NEED TO EXIST WHILE THE INSURGENCY CONTINUES, BUT HE AGREED WITH THE ASSESSMENT THAT PACS OFTEN ACT OUTSIDE THE LAW. THE PROBLEM IS THAT GUATEMALA'S INVESTIGATIVE CAPABILITIES

TO PUNISH ABUSES ARE EXTREMELY WEAK. HE NOTED THAT IN THE KILLING TWO MONTHS AGO OF HIS COUSIN, JORGE CARPIO, THE AUTHORITIES ARE ONLY NOW ARRIVING AT A CONCLUSION. INDICATIONS ARE THAT IT WAS A COMMON CRIME, DESPITE ACCUSATIONS BY THE CARPIO FAMILY TO THE CONTRARY, HE NOTED PARANTHETICALLY, BUT THE POINT IS THAT IT IS VERY

DIFFICULT TO GET SOLID INVESTIGATIONS. DE LEON SAID HE HAD TOLD THE GUATEMALAN ARMY HE WAS VERY UPSET BY THE INCIDENT AT COLOTENANGO WHERE PAC MEMBERS OPENED FIRE WITHOUT PROVOCATION ON DEMONSTRATORS. HE INDICATED THAT A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION IS UNDERWAY AND HE HAS TOLD THE ARMY THAT HE EXPECTS RESULTS.

4. DE LEON THEN TURNED TO THE SUBJECT OF CPR'S (POPULAR COMMUNITIES IN RESISTANCE). HE IS CONCERNED THAT PEOPLE IN CPR'S LIVE IN UTTER MISERY IN REMOTE AREAS, AND THAT THEY ARE SUPPORT GROUPS FOR THE URNG. HE HAS BEEN TOLD BY THE ARMY THAT MEMBERS OF THE CPRS ARE GRADUALLY FILTERING DOWN FROM THE MOUNTAIN REDOUBTS TO LIVE IN VALLEYS CLOSER TO CIVILIZATION, BUT HE WANTS TO VERIFY THIS PERSONALLY. HE NOTED THAT THE CPR ISSUE WOULD BE RESOLVED AUTOMATICALLY WITH A PEACE SETTLEMENT, SINCE MOST OF THEM RESIDE IN THESE REDOUBTS OUT OF FEAR, CONTINUALLY FUELED BY URNG AGENTS, OF ARMY OR PAC REPRISALS. HOWEVER, DE LEON DOES NOT FEEL HE SHOULD WAIT FOR A PEACE ACCORD, IF MEASURES CAN BE TAKEN TO HELP CPR MEMBERS NOW. HE HAS TOLD THE ARMY HE WOULD LIKE TO VISIT CPR COMMUNITIES AND PERSONALLY ENCOURAGE THEM TO ABANDON THEIR MOUNTAIN HIDEAWAYS, AND REASSURE THEM ABOUT THEIR SAFETY, SO THAT THEY WILL SETTLE IN COMMUNITIES WITH MORE ACCESS TO CIVILIZATION, INCLUDING HEALTH CARE, EDUCATION AND OTHER NECESSITIES. IF THAT DOES NOT WORK, HOWEVER, HE IS PREPARED TO TRY TO BRING SOME SERVICES TO THE CPRS, PARTICULARLY ELEMENTARY

HEALTH CARE.

---

5. TURNING TO THE TOPIC OF REFUGEES, DE LEON NOTED THAT HE HAS BEEN INFORMED THAT APPROXIMATELY 900 FAMILIES DESIRE TO RETURN TO GUATEMALA THIS YEAR FROM MEXICO. HE BELIEVES THAT THESE WILL HAVE LAND AWAITING THEM AND HE'S OPPOSED TO THEIR RETURN IF LAND IS NOT AVAILABLE. HE NOTED THAT THE INHABITANTS OF POLIGONO 14 (NOW CALLED "LA VICTORIA 20 DE ENERO") LIVE IN SORROWFUL CONDITIONS, DESPITE THE LEADERSHIP QUALITIES OF THE PERMANENT COMMISSIONS AND THE AVAILABILITY OF RESOURCES. "LA VICTORIA" IS NOW A PERMANENT REFUGEE CAMP, NOT A SETTLED COMMUNITY. HE ALSO BELIEVES THAT "LA VICTORIA" SERVES AS A RESOURCE BASE FOR THE URNG. HE WANTS TO AVOID REPLICATION OF THE "LA VICTORIA" SITUATION WITH OTHER RETURNING REFUGEES.

SAVED BY THE ARMY

6. IN RESPONSE TO THE AMBASSADOR'S QUESTION ABOUT A REFUGEE LEADER FROM MEXICO WHO RECENTLY VISITED

GUATEMALA UNDER UNHCR AUSPICES (AND IS PURPORTED TO BE A GUERRILLA COMMANDANTE), DE LEON REVEALED HIS PERSONAL INVOLVEMENT IN THE CASE. THE INDIVIDUAL HAD RETURNED UNDER UNHCR PROTECTION BUT MADE AN UNAUTHORIZED SIDE

TRIP TO HIS FORMER VILLAGE. WHEN THE LOCAL PEOPLE DISCOVERED HIS PRESENCE, A MOB FORMED, BEGAN TO BEAT HIM, AND WOULD HAVE LYNCHED HIM BUT FOR THE INTERVENTION OF POLICE AND MILITARY OFFICERS WHO ARRIVED.

7. DESPITE THE CONVICTION IN THE COMMUNITY AND BY THE ARMY THAT THE INDIVIDUAL IS A COMANDANTE WHO WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR SEVERAL MURDERS IN THE 1980S, DE LEON REVEALED THAT HE ORDERED THE MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT TO ARRANGE FOR THE INDIVIDUAL'S RELEASE. HE SAID HE DID SO BECAUSE HE, DE LEON, REALIZED THAT THE GOVERNMENT HAD NO SOLID EVIDENCE AGAINST THE INDIVIDUAL AND, IN ANY CASE, THE SIX-HOUR LIMITATION ON HOLDING A PERSON WITHOUT A COURT ORDER HAD PASSED. (THIS TECHNICAL REQUIREMENT IS HONORED MORE IN THE BREACH THAN THE OBSERVANCE, BUT IN THIS CASE DE LEON WAS ABLE TO USE IT TO AVOID AN INTERNATIONAL INCIDENT.) THE INDIVIDUAL WAS TURNED OVER TO UNHCR AND REMOVED TO MEXICO.

8. THE AMBASSADOR MENTIONED THAT SHE HAD RECENTLY MET WITH JENNIFER HARBURY, THE AHCIT WIFE OF MISSING GUERRILLA LEADER EFRAIN BAMACA. FOLLOWING SOME DISCUSSION ABOUT THE RECENT EXHUMATION AND STATEMENTS MADE BY HARBURY TO THE AMBASSADOR REGARDING HER (HARBURY'S) CONVICTION THAT BAMACA REMAINS ALIVE (GUATEMALA 09845), DE LEON REVEALED THAT HE IS AWARE OF MANY CASES IN WHICH GUERRILLAS HAD DEFECTED AND BECAME AGENTS FOR THE ARMED FORCES. HE PERSONALLY HAD BEEN IN TOUCH WITH SIX SUCH GUERRILLA DEFECTORS, BUT NONE OF THEM HAD BEEN DETAINED IN SO-CALLONDESTINE JAILS" FOR ANY PERIOD OF TIME, ACCORDING TO DE LEON. WITH RESPECT TO BAMACA SPECIFICALLY, DE LEON SAID THAT WHEN HE WAS HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE HAD ASSURED HIM THAT BAMACA IS NOT BEING HELD AND THAT SUCH ASSURANCE HAS BEEN REAFFIRMED. THE AMBASSADOR REITERATED THAT SHE STILL HAS UNCERTAINTIES ABOUT THE POSSIBLE EXISTENCE OF DETAINED COMBATENTS AND THAT, IF THERE ARE ANY, AND IF BAMACA OR OTHERS ARE STILL ALIVE AND HELD, IT WOULD BE VERY IMPORTANT THAT THEY BE SAFEGUARDED. DE LEON TOOK THE POINT.

PUBLIC MINISTRY

9. IN RESPONSE TO THE AMBASSADOR'S QUESTION ABOUT THE PUBLIC MINISTRY, DE LEON SAID

10. AT SEVERAL POINTS DURING THE CONVERSATION, DE LEON ALLUDED TO THE PEACE PROCESS. HE SAID HE WOULD LIKE TO MOVE MUCH FASTER TOWARD NEGOTIATIONS, BUT OTHER PRIORITIES, PARTICULARLY NAMING HIS KEY MINISTERS AND ADVISORS, THE CONSOLIDATION OF DEMOCRACY AND THE EFFORT TO CLEANSE INSTITUTIONS SUCH AS THE CONGRESS HAD TO TAKE PRIORITY. HE HOPES TO FOCUS ON MOVING HIS PEACE AGENDA FORWARD ONCE THE CURRENT POLITICAL CRISIS IS OVERCOME. HE SAID THAT HE HOPES TO GET THE UN TO "COME IN SERIOUSLY" AND HELP COMMENCE NEGOTIATIONS.
COMMENT
11. DE LEON, THE FORMER OMBUDSMAN, STILL HAS HUMAN RIGHTS MUCH ON HIS MIND AND IS AWARE OF ITS PRIORITY FOR US. HE ALSO APPEARS TO BE UNCOMFORTABLE THAT HE HAS NOT BEEN ABLE TO DEVOTE AS MUCH TIME TO HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES, AS WELL AS TO THE PEACE PROCESS, AS HE WOULD LIKE, GIVEN THE DEMANDS ON HIM RELATED TO THE CONFRONTATION WITH CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME COURT, AS WELL AS THE NEED TO BUILD A POPULAR BASE THROUGH HIS FREQUENT TRIPS TO THE COUNTRYSIDE. ~~LIMITED OFFICIAL USE~~

GOCR LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICIALS HAVE MADE POSITIVE INDENTIFICATION OF THE FINGERPRINTS OF THE LA PENCA BOMBER SUSPECT, PER ANKER HANSEN, WITH THOSE OF ARGENTINE EPR TERRORIST VITAL ROBERTO GAGUINE. ALTHOUGH GOCR PUBLIC PROSECUTOR JOSE MARIA TIJERINO HAS PUBLICLY ACCEPTED THE MATCH-UP OF THE FINGERPRINTS, HE HAS ALSO TOLD THE PRESS THAT THERE HAS BEEN NO CONFIRMATION OF GAUGINE'S REPORTED DEATH IN A 1989 ATTACK ON THE LA TABLADA MILITARY BASE IN ARGENTINA.

2. CONSPIRACY THEORY: WITH THE IDENTITY QUESTION APPARENTLY SOLVED, THE COSTA RICAN PROSECUTORS CONTINUE TO SPECULATE ON WHO WAS BEHIND THE CRIME. ACCORDING TO PRESS ACCOUNTS, JORGE CHAVARRIA, THE PROSECUTOR IN THE LA PENCA CASE, WANTS TO WIDEN HIS SEARCH FOR THE MORAL AUTHORS OF THE BOMBING. CHAVARRIA CONCLUDES ON THE BASIS OF THE NEW EVIDENCE THAT GAGUINE WAS PROBABLY A DOUBLE OR EVEN TRIPLE AGENT, WORKING FOR BOTH THE SANDINISTAS AND THE CIA,

BUT ALSO WORKING IN CONJUNCTION WITH MANUEL NORIEGA AND INDIRECTLY WITH THE MEDELLIN DRUG CARTEL. CHAVARRIA'S CONSPIRACY THEORY RESTS PRIMARILY ON THE FACT THAT GAUGINE LIVED IN PANAMA FOR TWO YEARS BEFORE THE 1985 BOMBING ATTACK. CHAVARRIA'S PRESUMPTION IS THAT NORIEGA WAS PROTECTING GAUGINE AND USING THE ARGENTINE TERRORIST FOR HIS OWN ENDS. CHAVARRIA STATED THAT ALL THE ABOVE PARTIES--THE SANDINISTAS, THE CIA AND THE MEDELLIN CARTEL--WERE INTERESTED IN SEEING PASTORA ELIMINATED AND THAT NORIEGA MANAGED TO SERVE EACH BY SENDING GAUGINE ON

LIMITED OFFICIAL USE

HIS DEADLY MISSION. CHAVARRIA ALSO REASSERTED HIS BELIEF THAT AMCIT JOHN HULL POSSESSED PRIOR KNOWLEDGE OF THE ASSASSINATION ATTEMPT AND ANNOUNCED THAT HE WILL CONTINUE HIS CASE AGAINST HULL AND MAINTAIN THE PENDING EXTRADITION REQUEST.

3. COMMENT: THE PUBLIC PROSECUTORS' ACCEPTANCE OF THE FINGERPRINT MATCH-UP IS AN IMPORTANT STEP FORWARD, PARTICULARLY GIVEN THEIR EARLIER REJECTION OF THE FINGERPRINTS FROM PANAMA. HOWEVER, THEIR RELUCTANCE TO GIVE UP ON A CIA CONNECTION TO THE BOMBING IS AN ANNOYING REMINDER THAT THE CASE AND ITS ATTENDANT BAD PUBLICITY FOR THE U.S. WILL PROBABLY DRONE ALONG IN COSTA RICA FOR SOME TIME TO COME.

SUBJECT: ROASTING IN RETALHULEU: THE EXHUMATION OF "COMMANDANTE EVERARDO"

REF. A. GUATEMALA 3794

1. SUMMARY. EXHUMATION CARRIED OUT ON AUG. 17, 1993 IN RETALHULEU OF GRAVE WHICH REPORTEDLY CONTAINED REMAINS OF GUATEMALAN GUERRILLA EFRAIM BAMACA VELASQUEZ, SPOUSE OF AMCIT JENNIFER HARBURY, PROVED THAT THE BODY IN GRAVE WAS NOT BAMACA. US FORENSIC EXPERT AND GUATEMALAN FORENSIC TEAM PARTICIPATED IN EXHUMATION, AT WHICH BOTH GOG AND INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS OBSERVERS WERE PRESENT, AS WAS CONOFF. HARBURY BELIEVES THAT HER HUSBAND IS BEING HELD IN A CLANDESTINE PRISON IN GUATEMALA. GOG ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE WILL CONTINUE INVESTIGATION INTO BAMACA'S WHEREABOUTS. CASE HAS ATTRACTED ATTENTION OF INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS AND US CONGRESS. FOLLOWING DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE EXHUMATION IS PROVIDED FOR DEPARTMENT'S INFORMATION IN THE EVENT OF FUTURE QUESTIONS. END SUMMARY.

2. AMCIT JENNIFER KRISTINA HARBURY (DPOB OCT. 27, 1951, MARYLAND, PPT. 700148199 ISSUED SEPT. 14, 1992, MEXICO CITY) HAS BEEN IN CONTACT WITH EMBASSY SINCE MARCH 1993 CONCERNING EFFORTS TO LOCATE HER GUATEMALAN HUSBAND, GUATEMALAN CITIZEN EFRAIM BAMACA VELASQUEZ. BAMACA, BORN JUNE 18, 1957 IN SAN MARCOS DEPARTMENT, GUATEMALA, WHO FOUGHT IN GUATEMALAN GUERRILLA GROUP UNDER THE NAME "COMMANDANTE EVERARDO." BAMACA WAS REPORTED BY GUATEMALAN MILITARY TO HAVE BEEN KILLED IN A MARCH 1992 CLASH BETWEEN GOVERNMENT AND GUERRILLA TROOPS NEAR RETALHULEU, AND TO HAVE BEEN BURIED IN THE RETALHULEU CEMETERY IN AN UNMARKED GRAVE.

3. FROM MARCH - JULY 1993 HARBURY SPOKE MANY TIMES WITH HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICER AND CONOFF CONCERNING PLANS TO REQUEST BAMACA'S EXHUMATION, AS SHE WAS UNCONVINCED THAT THE MAN BURIED IN RETALHULEU WAS REALLY BAMACA. SHE HAD INTERVIEWED EX-GUERRILLAS WHO CLAIMED TO HAVE RECENTLY SEEN BAMACA ALIVE IN A CLANDESTINE DETENTION CENTER IN GUATEMALA. EMBOFFS ADVISED HARBURY TO RETAIN PRIVATE LEGAL COUNSEL AND PROVIDED HER WITH INFORMATION ON HOW TO REQUEST JUDICIAL APPROVAL FOR AN EXHUMATION.

4. HARBURY CAME TO GUATEMALA ON JULY 8, 1993 AND RETAINED LIC. ANTONIO ARGUETA, A WELL-KNOWN HUMAN RIGHTS LAWYER, TO REPRESENT HER. LIC. REMBERTO LEONEL RUIZ BARRIENTOS, THE JUDGE IN THE SECOND COURT OF THE FIRST INSTANCE IN RETALHULEU, ORDERED THAT THE EXHUMATION TAKE PLACE ON AUG. 17, 1993 AND APPROVED HARBURY'S REQUEST TO BRING IN OUTSIDE FORENSIC EXPERTS. AT HARBURY'S REQUEST, CONOFF ATTENDED EXHUMATION.

5. THE EXHUMATION BEGAN AS SCHEDULED AT 8:30 A.M. IN HOT, STEAMY RETALHULEU CEMETERY. A FEW SCRAWNY PALM TREES PROVIDED THE ONLY BITS OF SHADE AROUND THE AREA DESIGNATED FOR "XX" (UNIDENTIFIED PERSONS) BURIALS. THERE WERE REPORTEDLY FOUR BODIES BURIED IN THE XX PLOT. THERE ARE NO RECORDS TO MARK EXACT LOCATIONS OF BODIES, SO CEMETERY EMPLOYEE MADE HIS BEST GUESS AS TO THE LOCATION OF THE MARCH 1992 GRAVE CONTAINING THE BODY OF A GUERRILLA. IN ADDITION TO THE JUDGE AND COURT OFFICIALS, DR. OBANDO DE LEON, THE GOVERNMENT FORENSIC DOCTOR WHO HAD PERFORMED THE AUTOPSY ON THE GUERRILLA BODY IN MARCH 1992 ATTENDED THE EXHUMATION. ALSO PRESENT WERE OFFICIALS FROM THE PUBLIC MINISTRY, HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE AND SEVERAL INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS. REPRESENTATIVES FROM AT LEAST THREE GUATEMALAN NEWSPAPERS, A LOCAL RADIO STATION AND REUTERS NEWS AGENCY WERE ALSO PRESENT. THE PUBLIC MINISTRY REPRESENTATIVE FROM GUATEMALA CITY WAS ACCOMPANIED BY A VIDEO CAMERAMAN, WHO TAPED MOST OF THE DAY'S PROCEEDINGS (AND KINDLY GAVE CONOFF A COPY OF THE VIDEO). IN TOTAL THERE WERE ABOUT 35 PEOPLE AT THE EXHUMATION SITE, NOT INCLUDING THE CROWD OF GUATEMALAN PASSERSBY, WHICH INCREASED AS THE DAY WORE ON. A HELICOPTER FLEW PERIODICALLY IN CIRCLES ABOVE THE CEMETERY. CONOFF COULD NOT MAKE OUT THE MARKINGS ON THE HELICOPTER BUT THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE REPRESENTATIVE SAID THAT IT BELONGED TO THE MOBILE MILITARY POLICE (POLICIA MILITAR AMBULANTE).

6. THE INITIAL WORK OF REMOVING THE EARTH WENT QUICKLY, BUT ONCE THE WORKERS CAUGHT SIGHT OF THE PLASTIC BAG IN WHICH THE BODY WAS BURIED, THE FORENSIC TEAM BEGAN DIRECTING THE GRAVEDIGGERS AND THE WORK SLOWED TO A PAINSTAKING PACE. THE FORENSIC TEAM MEMBERS (TWO GERMANS, AN AMERICAN AND TWO GUATEMALANS) HAD BEEN TRAINED BY AMERICAN FORENSIC ANTHROPOLOGIST DR. CLYDE SNOW, AND HAD CONSIDERABLE EXPERIENCE IN RECENT EXHUMATIONS OF CLANDESTINE COMMON GRAVES FROM THE EARLY 1980'S. MS. HARBURY HAD ALSO HIRED DR. MICHAEL CHARNEY, A DISTINGUISHED AMERICAN FORENSIC DOCTOR WHO HAS TESTIFIED IN MANY CRIMINAL CASES IN U.S. COURTS.

7. IT WAS SHORTLY AFTER 11:00 A.M. WHEN THE FIRST BONE FRAGMENTS IDENTIFIABLE TO THE UNTRAINED EYE WERE SIFTED FROM THE DIRT. WORK WAS SLOW AS THE FORENSIC TEAM USED SMALL BRUSHES AND COLANDERS TO SIFT THROUGH ALL THE DIRT SO AS NOT TO MISS ANYTHING OF SIGNIFICANCE. THE FIRST BODY UNCOVERED HAD PROBABLY BEEN BURIED FOR A LONG TIME, AS THERE WAS NO NOTICEABLE FLESH ON THE BONES AND, THANKFULLY, NO UNPLEASANT ODOR FROM THE GRAVE. UNFORTUNATELY, HOWEVER, A FEW HUNDRED FEET AWAY ANOTHER EXHUMATION WAS GOING ON, THIS ONE OF A BODY WHICH HAD ONLY BEEN DEAD A WEEK. THE SMELL WAS NAUSEATING AND THE WIND

SEEMED TO BLOW INCESSANTLY FROM THE NEW GRAVE TOWARDS THE GROUP GATHERED AROUND THE XX GRAVES. THE COMBINATION OF ODOR AND BLAZING SUN WAS ENOUGH TO CAUSE EVEN THE MOST STOIC AND EXPERIENCED JOURNALISTS TO BLANCH. CONOFF AND SEVERAL OTHER NON-SMOKERS QUICKLY DECIDED TO TRY LIGHTING UP AND FOUND THE SMELL OF CIGARETTE SMOKE A GREAT IMPROVEMENT OVER THE NATURAL ODOR PERMEATING THE CEMETERY.

8. AT ABOUT 11:30 A.M. THE SKULL WAS REMOVED AND PLACED IN A PLASTIC DISH. HARBURY EXAMINED THE SKULL AND DETERMINED THAT IT WAS NOT HER HUSBAND'S, PRINCIPALLY BECAUSE OF A METAL CROWN ON A FRONT TOOTH, WHICH HER HUSBAND DID NOT HAVE. NOT ONLY WAS THIS SKULL NOT BAMACA'S, IT WAS CLEAR THAT THIS WAS NOT THE BODY OF THE GUERRILLA WHICH HAD BEEN BURIED IN MARCH 1992. THE SKULL WAS INTACT AND DID NOT MATCH THE DESCRIPTION OF THE CRUSHED SKULL OF THE MARCH 1992 BODY GIVEN IN DR. OBANDO'S LEGAL FORENSIC REPORT. BECAUSE OF THE CLOSE SPACING OF THE XX GRAVES, THE WRONG BODY HAD BEEN EXHUMED.

9. AFTER CONSULTATION BETWEEN THE JUDGE AND THE CEMETERY WORKERS, THE GRAVEDIGGERS BEGAN WORKING ON A NEW EXCAVATION VERY CLOSE TO THE FIRST ONE. AT THAT POINT, CONOFF LEFT THE CEMETERY FOR ABOUT AN HOUR TO TELEPHONE EMBASSY AND FIND A COLD DRINK AND SOME TOWELS FOR PEOPLE TO USE TO COVER THEIR FACES AGAINST THE ODOR. WHEN CONOFF RETURNED AT ABOUT 12:45 P.M., A SECOND BODY HAD JUST BEEN DUG UP. WORK WENT MUCH FASTER ON THIS GRAVE. UNFORTUNATELY, IT WAS ALSO NOT THE RIGHT BODY, AS IT HAD NO OLIVE GREEN UNIFORM. HARBURY ALSO EXAMINED THE SKULL ON THIS BODY AND STATED THAT IT HAD A TOOTH EXTRACTION WHICH HER HUSBAND DID NOT HAVE.

10. SPIRITS BEGAN TO LAG AS THE SECOND WRONG BODY WAS REPLACED IN ITS GRAVE, AND THERE WERE MUTTERINGS ABOUT GIVING UP THEN AND THERE. CONOFF HAD A CHANCE TO SPEAK TO JUDGE AND POINTED OUT THAT UNLESS ALL FOUR GRAVES IN THE XX PLOT WERE EXAMINED, THERE WOULD BE NO DEFINITIVE SOLUTION TO THE CASE. HARBURY AND HER LAWYER ALSO CONSULTED AT LENGTH WITH JUDGE. IN AN EFFORT TO MOVE THE PROCEEDINGS ALONG, TWO GROUPS OF MEN BEGAN OPENING THE REMAINING TWO XX GRAVES. TO EVERYONE'S RELIEF, THE THIRD GRAVE WHICH WAS OPENED CONTAINED THE BODY OF THE GUERRILLA BURIED IN MARCH 1992.

11. AS SOON AS IT WAS OBVIOUS THAT THERE WAS AN OLIVE GREEN UNIFORM ON TOP OF THE PLASTIC BODY BAG IN THE THIRD GRAVE, HOPES SOARED. THE UNIFORM WAS CAREFULLY LIFTED OUT AND ARRANGED ON A STRETCHER. THE UNIFORM WAS PLAIN OLIVE GREEN, AND APPEARED TO BE FOR A PERSON OF SLIGHT BUILD WHO WAS ABOUT 5 FEET TALL. CONOFF, WHO IS FIVE FOOT THREE INCHES TALL, NOTICED THAT THE UNIFORM WOULD HAVE FIT A PERSON SEVERAL INCHES SHORTER AND OF A MUCH SLIMMER BUILD THAN HERSELF. AFTER THE UNIFORM WAS LAID OUT, THE ENTIRE PLASTIC BODY BAG WAS CAREFULLY LIFTED OUT OF THE GRAVE. CONOFF WAS STANDING NEAR DR. OBANDO WHEN THIS HAPPENED AND HEARD HIM CONFIRM THAT THIS WAS THE MARCH 1992 BODY (HIS WORDS IN SPANISH WERE "ESO ES EL, ESO ES" AND SIMILAR PHRASES). THE CRUSHED SKULL AND THE UNIFORM MATCHED THE DESCRIPTIONS IN DR. OBANDO'S WRITTEN 1992 AUTOPSY REPORT ON THE BODY. THIS BODY HAD OBVIOUSLY BEEN BURIED FOR CONSIDERABLY LESS TIME THAT THE PREVIOUS TWO, AS IT HAD A STRONG ODOR.

12. AS DARK CLOUDS WERE GATHERING FOR AN AFTERNOON RAINSTORM, THE BODY IN ITS PLASTIC BAG WAS CARRIED INTO THE CEMETERY MORGUE. THE MORGUE IS A SIMPLE CEMENT BUILDING WITH A COUPLE OF TABLES, A SINK AND NO ELECTRICITY. A HOOKUP WAS MADE TO A PICKUP TRUCK BATTERY TO PROVIDE ELECTRICITY FOR A LANTERN. THE MORGUE WAS JAMMED WITH LOCAL PEOPLE (INCLUDING CHILDREN) BY THIS TIME AND THE SMELL WAS REVOLTING. ALTHOUGH THE CROWD AND THE SMELL MADE IT DIFFICULT TO GET CLOSE TO THE TABLE, CONOFF COULD CLEARLY SEE DR. CHARNEY EXMANING THE SKULL AND POINTING OUT FEATURES TO HARBURY. HARBURY AND DR. CHARNEY CONCLUDED THAT THE SKULL WAS NOT THAT OF EFRAIM BAMACA. THE TEETH ON THIS SKULL HAD UPPER FRONT CROWNS, AN UPPER EXTRACTION, AND NO LOWER EXTRACTION. BAMACA HAD NO UPPER EXTRACTIONS BUT DID HAVE A LOWER EXTRACTION. DR. CHARNEY ALSO CALCULATED THE BODY'S AGE AT DEATH AT BETWEEN 18-20 YEARS OLD, AS DETERMINED BY EXAMINATION OF THE PUBIC BONES. BAMACA WAS 35 YEARS OLD WHEN HE DISAPPEARED.

13. AT ABOUT 2:45 P.M., AS PEOPLE BEGAN MOVING OUTDOORS TO FLEE THE SMELL IN THE MORGUE, THE RAINCLOUDS BURST OPEN AND DRENCHED THE CROWD. OFFICIALS OF THE PUBLIC MINISTRY AND HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, AS WELL AS THE JUDGE, LEFT AFTER CONFIRMING THAT THE BODY WAS NOT BAMACA. HARBURY AND HER LAWYER SUPERVISED THE CEMETERY WORKERS IN THE REINTERMENT OF THE YOUNG GUERRILLA'S BODY. (NOTE: HARBURY ARRANGED FOR A PRIEST TO GIVE A BURIAL SERVICE FOR ALL THE GRAVES THE NEXT DAY.). THE FIRST PRIORITY ON EVERYONE'S MINDS WAS DEFINITELY SHOWERS AND CLEAN CLOTHES.

14. AS HARBURY WAS COMING OUT OF THE MORGUE, SHE SPOKE DIRECTLY TO CONOFF AND STATED THAT THE BODY WAS DEFINITELY NOT HER HUSBAND'S. DR. CHARNEY CONFIRMED THIS TO CONOFF IN SEPARATE CONVERSATION LATER THAT AFTERNOON AT HOTEL. BEFORE HEADING BACK TO THE CITY, CONOFF STOPPED IN TO TALK TO JUDGE AND TO THANK HIM FOR STICKING WITH THE EXHUMATION PROCEDURE UNTIL THE END. THE JUDGE, WHO HAD RECEIVED RECENT THREATS RELATED TO THE CASE, ASSURED CONOFF THAT THE CASE WOULD REMAIN OPEN UNTIL BAMACA IS IDENTIFIED. MINISTERIO PUBLICO OFFICIAL ALSO TOLD CONOFF THAT THE MP WOULD ALSO CONTINUE INVESTIGATING THE CASE, AND THE MP ISSUED A PRESS STATEMENT TO THIS EFFECT.

15. SEPTELS REPORT ON HARBURY'S MEETINGS WITH AMBASSADOR AND WITH GOG OFFICIALS, AS WELL AS ON A HUNGER STRIKE SHE BEGAN SEPT. 7, 1993. HARBURY TOLD CONOFF SEPT. 4 THAT SHE PLANS TO RETURN TO THE U.S. BEFORE THE END OF SEPTEMBER TO CONTINUE TO PUBLICIZE HER CASE BEFORE THE OAS, THE UN AND OTHER INTERNATIONAL FORA. ABOVE DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE EVENTS OF AUGUST 17, 1993 IS INTENDED TO PROVIDE DEPARTMENT WITH INFORMATION TO ANSWER ANY QUESTIONS WHICH MAY ARISE IN THE FUTURE ABOUT THE EXHUMATION.

16. SENATOR PHIL GRAMM WROTE TO AMBASSADOR IN EARLY JULY TO EXPRESS INTEREST IN THIS CASE. IN MARCH OF THIS YEAR, 32 U.S. CONGRESSMAN WROTE TO THEN PRESIDENT SERRANO EXPRESSING CONCERN ABOUT THE WHEREABOUTS OF EFRAIM BAMACA VELASQUEZ. KEANE##

1. AFTER A SERIES OF MEETINGS WITH GOG OFFICIALS AND WITH MEMBERS OF THE OAS HUMAN RIGHTS DELEGATION CURRENTLY VISITING GUATEMALA, AMCIT JENNIFER HARBURY BEGAN A 24 HOUR A DAY PUBLIC HUNGER STRIKE SEPT. 7. HER STATED PURPOSE IS TO PRESSURE THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY TO REVEAL THE WHEREABOUTS OF HER HUSBAND, URNG MEMBER EFRAIM BAMACA VELASQUE, AKA COMMANDANTE EVERARDO. HARBURY AND COMPANIONS HAVE SET UP A MAKESHIFT ALTAR WITH BANNERS AND CANDLES ON THE GRASS DIVIDER ON AVENIDA REFORMA DIRECTLY ACROSS FROM THE OLD MILITARY POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL, WHICH NOW HOUSES MILITARY CIVIC AFFAIRS OFFICES. HARBURY WAS INTERVIEWED ON RADIO AND TELEVISION ON SEPT. 7, AND WAS THE SUBJECT OF MAJOR ARTICLES IN DAILY NEWSPAPERS SEPT. 8.

2. CONOFFS HAVE UNOBTRUSIVELY MET SEVERAL TIMES EACH DAY WITH HARBURY, WHO SEEMS TO BE HOLDING UP WELL DESPITE THE RAINY WEATHER AND SUFFOCATING DIESEL FUMES FROM THE CONSTANT BUS TRAFFIC. SHE REPORTS THAT WHAT SHE IS DOING IS A FAST, NOT A HUNGER STRIKE, AND THAT SHE PLANS TO MAINTAIN HER VIGIL FOR ONLY SEVEN DAYS.

SHE DRINKS WATER BUT TAKES NO NOURISHMENT, AND HAS BLANKETS AND PLASTIC SHEETS FOR SHELTER. HARBURY IS ALWAYS ACCOMPANIED BY AT LEAST ONE OTHER PERSON. HARBURY NOTED THAT SHE MADE A CONSCIOUS DECISION NOT TO ASK GUATEMALAN FRIENDS TO ACCOMPANY HER TO ELIMINATE ANY POSSIBLE DANGER OF REPRISALS AGAINST THEM AFTER SHE LEAVES GUATEMALA. HER COMPANIONS ARE PRINCIPALLY U.S. AND CANADIAN HUMAN RIGHTS WORKERS. SHE REPORTS THAT PASSING NATIONAL POLICE FREQUENTLY QUESTION HER, BUT HAVE NOT THREATENED HER IN ANY WAY. NO GUATEMALAN MILITARY PERSONNEL HAVE CONTACTED HARBURY SINCE SHE BEGAN THE VIGIL.

3. CONOFF MET WITH HARBURY SEPT. 4 TO ASK ABOUT HER AUGUST 30 MEETING WITH MINISTER OF DEFENSE GENERAL ENRIQUEZ. SHE REPORTED THAT THE GENERAL WAS CORDIAL AND NON-COMMITAL, AND SAID THAT HE SEEMED OBVIOUSLY UNCOMFORTABLE DISCUSSING THE CASE. ACCORDING TO HARBURY, THE GENERAL AT FIRST MAINTAINED THAT THE ARMY'S CLAIM THAT THE GUERRILLA BODY BURIED IN THE RETALHULEU CEMETERY WAS BAMACA WAS A SIMPLE MIX-UP. HARBURY THEN ASKED THE GENERAL HOW IT WAS POSSIBLE THAT THE ARMY HAD PROVIDED THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE A DETAILED PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION OF BAMACA IN SPRING 1992 WHICH WAS ACCURATE TO THE CENTIMETER, IF BAMACA HAD NOT BEEN IN ARMY CAPTIVITY AT THAT TIME. HARBURY SAID THAT THE GENERAL SEEMED VISIBLY SURPRISED AND UPSET BY THIS QUESTION, AND DID NOT PROVIDE ANY RESPONSE. AT THE SEPT. 4 MEETING, HARBURY MENTIONED HER PLAN TO MEET WITH MEMBERS OF THE OAS HUMAN RIGHTS DELEGATION NOW VISITING GUATEMALA, BUT MADE NO MENTION OF A PLANNED HUNGER STRIKE.

4. COMMENT. HARBURY'S CALM AND LOGICAL EXPLANATION OF THE PURPOSE OF HER VIGIL, AND HER READING OF THE NAMES OF 36 URNG MEMBERS BELIEVED TO BE CLANDESTINELY HELD BY THE ARMY, MADE FOR A PERSUASIVE INTERVIEW. IT REMAINS TO BE SEEN WHETHER HER ACTIONS WILL ELICIT ANY RESPONSE FROM THE GOG OR THE MILITARY. ALTHOUGH THE PRESENCE OF THE OAS HUMAN RIGHTS DELEGATION CERTAINLY HELPS CALL ATTENTION TO HARBURY'S CAUSE, EVEN THE OAS IS OVERSHADOWED BY THE CURRENT PUBLIC FUROR OVER "DEPURACION" OF THE CONGRESS AND COURTS. SUBJECT: FONMIN FAJARDO CALL RE JENNIFER HARBURY

1. SUMMARY: FONMIN FAJARDO CONTACTED ME SEPTEMBER 10 TO EXPRESS CONCERNS ABOUT JENNIFER HARBURY'S HUNGER STRIKE. I URGED GOG TO CONTINUE HANDS OFF APPROACH, NOTING THAT HARBURY'S FAST WAS TO END MONDAY EVENING, AND SUGGESTED THAT GOG TAKE STEPS TO ENSURE HARBURY'S PERSONAL SAFETY. HARBURY TOLD CONOFFS SEPTEMBER 12 THAT SHE WILL RETURN TO U.S. ON TUESDAY. SHE PLANS TO PRESS HER CAMPAIGN FOR INFORMATION ON HER HUSBAND AND THE OTHER ALLEGED URNG "DESAPARECIDOS" BY URGING THAT CONGRESS AND INTERNATIONAL DONORS CUT OFF ASSISTANCE TO THE GOG. END SUMMARY

2. FONMIN FAJARDO CALLED ME ON SEPTEMBER 10 TO SAY THAT THE GOG IS CONCERNED ABOUT THE ACTIVITIES OF JENNIFER HARBURY. HE SAID THAT THE GOG UNDERSTANDS HER PAIN AND ACCEPTS AS LEGITIMATE HER ATTEMPTS TO SEEK HER HUSBAND. IN THAT VEIN, HE SAID THE GOG WOULD BE PREPARED TO HAVE HER VISIT ANY JAILS SHE DESIRES.

3. NEVERTHELESS, HE CONTINUED, HER ACTIVITIES ARE NOW BECOMING AN INTERFERENCE IN THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF GUATEMALA. (HE DID NOT SPECIFY, BUT HE WAS UNDOUBTEDLY REFERRRING TO HER "FAST" IN FRONT OF THE HOME OF THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE, HER STATEMENTS TO THE PRESS ALLEGING THE EXISTENCE OF CLANDESTINE JAILS, ETC.) FAJARDO ASKED IF THERE IS ANY WAY, TOGETHER, WE COULD DEAL WITH THIS SITUATION. AND SUGGESTED THAT IT MIGHT BE USEFUL FOR SOMEONE FROM THE EMBASSY TO TALK WITH HER. (HE DID NOT SPECIFY, BUT THE IMPLICATION WAS TO ASK HER TO DESIST.)

4. I REPLIED THAT CONSULAR OFFICIALS OF THE MISSION HAVE BEEN IN DAILY CONTACT WITH HER, AND AS A RESULT MY UNDERSTANDING WAS THAT SHE WOULD BE WINDING UP HER "FAST" IN A COUPLE OF DAYS. I SAID I WOULD DOUBLE CHECK THAT AND CALL HIM BACK. I DID NOT ADDRESS HIS IMPLICATION THAT WE URGE HER TO TAKE ANY SPECIFIC ACTION.

5. AFTER CONFIRMING WITH CONSULAR OFFICERS OUR INFORMATION ABOUT HARBURY'S INTENTIONS, I TOLD FAJARDO THAT SHE HAD ADVISED US HER "FAST" WOULD LAST SEVEN DAYS, WHICH MEANT IT SHOULD BE FINISHED ON MONDAY NIGHT, SEPTEMBER 13. MOREOVER, SHE HAD INFORMED CONOFFS SHE INTENDED TO LEAVE GUATEMALA ON SEPTEMBER 15. MOREOVER, OUR UNDERSTANDING, BASED ON CONVERSATIONS WITH HER, WAS THAT SHE INTENDED NO ADDITIONAL ACTIVITIES IN GUATEMALA TO DRAW ATTENTION TO HERSELF. I COUNSELED FAJARDO NOT TO TAKE ANY ACTION TO INTERFERE WITH HER ACTIVITIES, NOTING THAT THE PRESS HAD ALREADY GIVEN HER AMPLE COVERAGE.

6. CONTINUING, I URGED FAJARDO TO ENSURE THAT HER WELL-BEING IS PROTECTED, BY A DISCREET VIGILANCE FROM A DISTANCE. I NOTED MY CONCERN THAT THERE HAS BEEN A RASH OF BOMBINGS IN THE CITY RECENTLY, INCLUDING THE BOMBING OF THE NEW HEADQUARTERS OF GAM, A HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP. FAJARDO ACKNOWLEDGED THAT IT WOULD BE PRUDENT TO TAKE STEPS TO ENSURE HER SAFETY WITHOUT INTERFERING WITH HER, AND UNDERTOOK TO FOLLOW UP. IN CLOSING, FAJARDO SAID HE WOULD ADVISE OTHERS IN THE GOVERNMENT OF THE INFORMATION I PROVIDED AND WOULD GET BACK TO ME IF THERE IS ANY OTHER NEWS TO REPORT.

7. THE NEXT MORNING'S PRINT MEDIA CARRIED ARTICLES REPORTING ON STATEMENTS BY PRESIDENT DE LEON TO THE EFFECT THAT HE WAS WILLING TO MEET WITH MS. HARBURY IN ORDER TO ENCOURAGE HER TO DESIST IN HER "HUNGER STRIKE". HE SAID THAT "IT IS WORRISOME FROM THE HUMANE POINT OF VIEW (WHAT SHE IS DOING) BUT SHE IS IN HER RIGHTS TO EXERCISE SUCH PRESSURE. UNFORTUNATELY, WHAT SHE IS REQUESTING IS OUTSIDE OUR ABILITY TO GIVE. HE (HER HUSBAND, EFRAIM BAMACA) WITHOUT DOUBT DIED IN COMBAT AND IS BURIED SOMEWHERE AS WAS HAPPENED WITH MANY OTHER GUATEMALANS."

SUBJECT: FONMIN FAJARDO CALL RE JENNIFER HARBURY

8. HARBURY CONFIRMED TO CONOFFS ON SUNDAY THAT SHE WILL END HER FAST AS SCHEDULED ON MONDAY EVENING AND PLANS TO RETURN TO THE UNITED STATES ON TUESDAY. SHE SAID THAT EFFORTS TO CONTACT PRESIDENT DE LEON'S OFFICE IN ORDER TO ARRANGE A MEETING HAD BEEN UNSUCCESSFUL. THE PRESIDENT WAS REPORTEDLY OUT OF TOWN.

9. PRINT MEDIA FOR MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 13 QUOTE HARBURY AS STATING THAT HER FAST WILL END AT 2000 HOURS MONDAY WITH A PRESS CONFERENCE, AND THAT SHE WILL RETURN TO THE UNITED STATES TUESDAY. HARBURY PLANS TO MEET WITH THE CONGRESS, THE UNITED NATIONS, OAS, AND THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE (SIC) PROBABLY

MEANS USTR IN CONNECTION WITH GSP REVIEW) TO URGE THAT FOREIGN ASSISTANCE TO GUATEMALA BE SUSPENDED UNTIL THE GOG PROVIDES INFORMATION ON THE FATE OF BAMACA AND 26 OTHER URNG MEMBERS ALLEGEDLY HELD BY THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY

10. COMMENT: FAJARDO SEEMED GREATLY RELIEVED TO HEAR THAT HARBURY'S FAST IS SCHEDULED TO END MONDAY AND THAT SHE WILL BE GONE SOON. HE CAUGHT MY IMPLICIT WARNING THAT IT WOULD BRING NO GOOD FOR THE GOG TO INTERFERE IN ANY WAY WITH HER, AND WOULD RE-IGNITE PRESS COVERAGE OF A STORY THAT WAS WITHERING. WE SUSPECT THAT THE URGE TO GET HER TO DESIST MAY HAVE BEEN PROMPTED BY DISCOMFORT WITHIN THE MILITARY ABOUT CONTINUING PRESS COVERAGE ABOUT

ALLEGATIONS OF CLANDESTINE PRISONS. FORTUNATELY, DE LEON'S PUBLIC STATEMENT REGARDING HER RIGHT TO APPLY PRESSURE IN THIS WAY SHOULD STANNCH ANY INCIPIENT EFFORT TO INTERFERE. PERHAPS MORE IMPORTANT IN THE BROADER SCHEME OF THINGS, IT ALSO RATCHETS HIGHER THE ENVELOPE OF FREEDOM TO PETITION FOR ALL THOSE WITH HUMAN RIGHTS COMPLAINTS.

11. COMMENT CONTINUED: BARBOUR WILL NOW TAKE HER CAMPAIGN TO PRESS THE GOG ON THE FATE OF HER HUSBAND AND OTHER ALLEGED URNG "DESAPARECIDOS" TO THE UNITED STATES, WHERE SHE WILL SEEK SUPPORT FOR AN ECONOMIC "STICK". DESPITE THE HIGH LEVEL ATTENTION THAT SHE RECEIVED HERE, HER MEETINGS WITH DEFENSE MINISTER ENRIQUEZ AND OTHERS AND GOG COOPERATION IN A HIGHLY PUBLICIZED SERIES OF EXHUMATIONS (SEPTEL) HAVE NOT DEVELOPED ANY NEW INFORMATION ABOUT HER HUSBAND'S WHEREABOUTS. SHE REMAINS CONVINCED THAT THE ARMY IS RESPONSIBLE FOR AND AWARE OF HER HUSBAND'S FATE. END COMMENT.

SUBJECT: HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS REMAIN DISAPPOINTED IN DE LEON

REF: A) GT 10862 B) GT 8843 C) GT 9385 D) USDAO GT 11853

1. CONFIDENTIAL -- ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: REPRESENTATIVES OF MAJOR LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS BELIEVE THAT PRESIDENT DE LEON HAS SO FAR FAILED TO IMPROVE THE HUMAN RIGHTS CLIMATE IN GUATEMALA. IN SEPARATE CONVERSATIONS, SEVERAL REPRESENTATIVES EXPRESSED CONCERNS THAT THE CURRENT POLITICAL CRISIS COULD UNLEASH A WAVE OF VIOLENCE. THEY ALSO CLAIMED THAT DE LEON HAD NOT YET ACTED TO STEM ABUSES BY RURAL CIVIL PATROLS (PACS), AND THAT THE PRESIDENT MAY IN FACT HAVE ENCOURAGED THEIR RECENT AGGRESSIVENESS WITH HIS STATEMENTS OF SUPPORT. THE ACTIVISTS CITED A LACK OF MOVEMENT IN THE INVESTIGATION INTO THE ATTACK ON PROTESTERS AT COLOTENANGO AS EVIDENCE OF THE GOVERNMENT'S RELUCTANCE TO CONFRONT THE PACS.

3. ALL GROUPS PROFESSED CONTINUED RESPECT FOR DE LEON'S PERSONAL COMMITMENT TO HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE NOTED THE GOG'S INCREASED RESPONSIVENESS TO INQUIRIES, BUT MANY EXPRESSED DOUBT THAT ONE MAN CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE. UNDERSTANDABLY, THEY WANT AN IMMEDIATE AND COMPLETE BREAK FROM THE PAST. THE SAD REALITY IS THAT CHANGE HERE WILL CONTINUE TO BE SLOW AND EVOLUTIONARY. END SUMMARY.

4. DURING RECENT VISIT, ARA/PPC HUMAN RIGHTS SPECIALIST KEVIN SULLIVAN (ACCOMPANIED BY POLOFF) HELD A SERIES OF MEETINGS (AUG 30-31) WITH MAJOR LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS, INCLUDING THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE, GRUPO DE APOYO MUTUO (GAM), COORDINADORA NACIONAL DE VIUDAS DE GUATEMALA (CONAVIGUA), CONSEJO DE COMUNIDADES ETNICAS RUNUJEL JUNAM (CERJ), CASA ALIANZA AND ACTIVIST HELEN MACK. THE MEETINGS' PURPOSE WAS TO DISCUSS WHETHER PRESIDENT DE LEON HAD BEEN ABLE TO IMPROVE

GUATEMALA'S HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN HIS FIRST THREE MONTHS IN OFFICE. THE AMBASSADOR HAD POSED THE SAME QUESTION TO A GATHERING OF REPRESENTATIVES FROM THE GROUPS (REF A) AT A LUNCH THE PREVIOUS WEEK.

5. GROUPS DIFFERED SOMEWHAT IN THEIR ASSESSMENTS OF THE CURRENT SITUATION, BUT AGREED ON A NUMBER OF POINTS. ALL EXPRESSED GRAVE CONCERN ABOUT THE POSSIBILITY THAT THE CURRENT CONFRONTATIONS OVER THE ISSUE OF "DEPURACION" COULD UNLEASH VIOLENCE. SEVERAL ACTIVISTS INTIMATED THAT THOSE FACED WITH DISMISSAL FROM THE CONGRESS OR SUPREME COURT MIGHT HIRE GUNMEN TO INTIMIDATE OR ELIMINATE OPPONENTS. THE REPRESENTATIVES ALSO AGREED ON THE NEED TO RESTRAIN WHAT THEY VIEWED AS THE INCREASING AGGRESSIVENESS OF RURAL CIVIL PATROLLERS (PACS). ALTHOUGH MOST GROUPS ACKNOWLEDGED THAT THE PACS WOULD ALMOST CERTAINLY CONTINUE TO EXIST UNTIL A PEACE AGREEMENT WAS SIGNED, ALL URGED THAT THE PRESIDENT MAKE CLEAR THAT PACS CANNOT OPERATE WITH IMPUNITY. SOME POINTED OUT THAT THE PRESIDENT'S AUG 4 PRESS CONFERENCE HAD LEFT THEM WITH THE IMPRESSION THAT PACS OPERATE WITH IMPUNITY. DURING THAT PRESS CONFERENCE DE LEON SAID HE DID NOT PLAN TO DISSOLVE THE PACS, AS CALLED FOR BY MANY GROUPS, UNTIL A PEACE SETTLEMENT IS REACHED WITH THE URNG AND THE URNG SUBVERSION CEASES (REF B). ALL ACTIVISTS CONSIDERED THE SHOOTINGS BY THE PAC AT COLOTENANGO TO BE SENDING A SIGNAL, AND REGRETTED DE LEON'S APPARENT FAILURE TO DEMAND PROGRESS IN THE INVESTIGATION.

6. NOTE: ON AUG 30, THE PRESIDENT INFORMED THE AMBASSADOR THAT HE HAD TOLD THE ARMY HE WAS VERY UPSET BY THE INCIDENT. DE LEON ALSO STATED A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION WAS UNDERWAY (REF C). DURING A RECENT CONVERSATION WITH THE DAO, THE MILITARY ZONE COMMANDER FOR COLOTENANGO STATED THE ARMY HAD COMPLETED THEIR INVESTIGATION AND THAT HE HAS BEEN TRYING TO GET THE PUBLIC MINISTRY REPRESENTATIVES TO DO LIKEWISE. NO FURTHER DETAILS HAVE BEEN RELEASED CONCERNING THE ARMY INVESTIGATION. A PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS ADVISOR TOLD POLOFF AND DAO THAT THE JUDGE WAS ISSUED AN ARREST ORDER FOR THREE PAC MEMBERS (REF D -- ANOTHER CONTACT CLAIMS 14 ARREST ORDERS HAVE BEEN ISSUED). BOTH THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE AND THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE HAVE CHARGED THE PAC WITH AN UNPROVOKED ATTACK WHICH LED TO THE DEATH AND INJURIES AT COLOTENANGO.

THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN

7. DEPUTY OMBUDSMAN AUGUSTO WILLEMSEN SAID THAT WHILE IT WAS TOO EARLY TO MAKE A DEFINITIVE JUDGMENT, HE SAW LITTLE SUBSTANTIVE CHANGE IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION UNDER DE LEON. HE BELIEVED THAT IT WAS NOT TOO EARLY TO CRITICIZE THE NEW GOVERNMENT IN A CONSTRUCTIVE WAY ABOUT ITS FAILURE TO TAKE STRONGER MEASURES TO IMPROVE RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS.

WILLEMSEN NOTED THAT DE LEON DID APPEAR TO HAVE THE POLITICAL WILL TO TAKE ACTION, BUT THAT SO FAR THE MILITARY DID NOT APPEAR TO HAVE CHANGED ITS WAYS, PARTICULARLY WITH RESPECT TO PACS. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE RELEASED THAT DAY ITS PRELIMINARY FINDINGS ON THE SHOOTING AT THE COLOTENANGO DEMONSTRATION, WHICH BLAMED THE LOCAL PACS FOR FIRING AT THE BACKS OF FLEEING MARCHERS. WILLEMSEN POINTED OUT THAT THE

Office of FOI, Privacy, & Classification Review
Review Authority: MOSKOWITZ, SAM

LOCAL JUDGE HANDLING THE OFFICIAL INVESTIGATION HAD DONE NOTHING AS YET BECAUSE HE FEARED WHAT THE PAC MIGHT DO TO HIM. THIS KIND OF FEAR WAS STILL PERVASIVE, WILLEMSEN CLAIMED, AND WOULD NOT BE DISPELLED UNTIL DE LEON MADE IT CLEAR THAT PAC'S COULD NO LONGER OPERATE WITH IMPUNITY. HE OPINED THAT GUATEMALA SHOULD BE ASSIGNED A U.N. SPECIAL RAPPORTEUR AT THE NEXT SESSION OF THE UNHRC.

ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE

8. FERNANDO LOPEZ OF THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE ON HUMAN RIGHTS ALSO SAW LITTLE SUBSTANTIVE CHANGE IN THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION'S RECORD ON HUMAN RIGHTS. WHILE THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE HAD FOUND GOVERNMENT OFFICES MORE RESPONSIVE TO THEIR INQUIRIES UNDER DE LEON, LOPEZ BELIEVED THAT THE SITUATION ON THE GROUND HAD GOTTEN WORSE. THE OFFICE WAS CURRENTLY DEALING WITH 6 KIDNAPPING CASES THAT HAD OCCURRED SINCE THE MAY AUTO-COUP, AS WELL AS NEW REPORTS OF THE SAME KINDS OF DEATH-THREATS THAT HAD BECOME COMMON BEFORE THE COUP. FOUR OF THE KIDNAPPING VICTIMS WERE UNION LEADERS. CIRCUMSTANCES IN EACH OF THE CASES

SUGGESTED INVOLVEMENT BY PERSONS POSSIBLY CONNECTED WITH THE SECURITY FORCES: THE PARTICIPATION OF 2 OR 3 CARS, THE TYPE OF WEAPONS USED AND THE PRESENCE OF COMMUNICATIONS RADIOS. THE OFFICE HAD ALSO NOTED FROM MARCH 1993 ONWARD AN INCREASE IN REPORTS OF THREATS AGAINST CAMPESINOS WHO REFUSED TO PARTICIPATE IN PACS. THIS TREND CONTINUED UNABATED, LOPEZ REPORTED. HE ADDED THAT THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH SUPPORTING THE CONTINUED EXISTENCE OF PACS APPEARED TO HAVE BEEN INTERPRETED BY SOME PACS AS A GREEN LIGHT TO OPERATE WITH IMPUNITY.

9. (NOTE: AS REGARDS THE LABOR KIDNAPPINGS, THE AMBASSADOR RAISED THIS ISSUE WITH MOD GEN. ENRIQUEZ ON SEPTEMBER 6 URGING HIM TO GET WORD TO THOSE RESPONSIBLE TO CEASE AND DESIST. IN THE ENSUING MONTH, THERE HAVE BEEN NO NEW INCIDENTS OF THIS TYPE INVOLVING LABOR LEADERS REPORTED TO THE EMBASSY. END NOTE.)

GRUPO DE APOYO MUTUO (GAM)

10. NINETH MONTENEGRO DE GARCIA, LEADER OF GAM, EXPRESSED DEEP CONCERN THAT, DURING THE CURRENT INSTITUTIONAL CRISIS, "TRADITIONAL FORCES" MIGHT BEGIN SENDING OUT ARMED SQUADS TO KILL, KIDNAP OR INTIMIDATE THOSE THEY PERCEIVE AS HOSTILE TO THEIR INTERESTS. SHE EMPHASIZED THAT THE ATMOSPHERE IN THE COUNTRY AS A WHOLE, AND IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMUNITY IN PARTICULAR, WAS EXTREMELY TENSE. SHE SHOWED POLOFFS PROPAGANDA LEAFLETS PURPORTING TO COME FROM

THE URNG WHICH IMPLIED COOPERATION BETWEEN GAM AND OTHER GROUPS WITH THE URNG. SHE CLAIMED THAT THE LEAFLETS WERE DISINFORMATION ISSUED BY "TRADITIONAL FORCES" TO INCRIMINATE CIVIL SECTOR GROUPS.

11. DE GARCIA PRAISED PRESIDENT DE LEON FOR PROMISING TO STRENGTHEN THE PUBLIC MINISTRY AND THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, BUT CRITICIZED WHAT SHE CONSIDERED HIS LACK OF DYNAMISM AND INDECISION IN THE PERIOD FOLLOWING HIS ELECTION. HE HAD TAKEN TOO LONG TO INITIATE THE "DEPURACION" AND LOST TOO MUCH MOMENTUM, SHE SAID. DE GARCIA ALSO CHARGED THAT DE LEON HAD SUPPORTED THE PACS TOO STRONGLY. SHE DID NOT BELIEVE THAT THE PACS NEEDED TO BE DISSOLVED, BUT CERTAINLY CONTROLLED. SHE ADDED THAT HER OFFICE HAD RECEIVED FEWER REPORTS OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS RECENTLY, AND THAT IN HER VIEW A GREATER SPACE FOR PUBLIC ACTIVISM HAD OPENED UP SINCE DE LEON'S ASSUMPTION OF THE PRESIDENCY.

CASA ALIANZA

12. CASA ALIANZA DIRECTOR EUGENIA MONTERROSO ESTIMATED THAT HER ORGANIZATION CURRENTLY HAD CONTACT WITH APPROXIMATELY 900 "STREET CHILDREN", 500 IN CASA ALIANZA'S RESIDENCE FACILITIES AND 400 MORE STILL ON THE STREET. CHILDREN ARE STILL FREQUENTLY BEATEN BY POLICE AND PRIVATE GUARDS, FORCED TO SWALLOW THE SNIFFING GLUE TO WHICH THEY ARE ADDICTED, AND FORCED

TO PARTICIPATE IN PETTY CRIME RINGS. MONTERROSO NOTED THAT IN RECENT MONTHS REPORTS OF THESE ABUSES HAVE DECLINED, BUT ADDED THAT THE CLIMATE OF FEAR HAS CHANGED LITTLE. HER LEGAL ASSISTANT, EDGAR TOLEDO, ALSO DESCRIBED ANONYMOUS DEATH THREATS HE PERSONALLY HAD RECEIVED RECENTLY. MONTERROSO WAS NOT CONVINCED THAT THE MILITARY PERSONNEL CHANGES PRESIDENT DE LEON HAS INSTITUTED WOULD HAVE ANY EFFECT ON THE ARMED FORCES AS AN INSTITUTION. (NOTE: CASA ALIANZA'S RELATIONS WITH THE POLICE ARE NOW MUCH IMPROVED, DRIVEN BY THE SPECIAL ATTENTION TO THE AFFAIRS OF MINORS BEING GIVEN BY NEW POLICE CHIEF CIFUENTES. CASA ALIANZA'S DIRECTORS ALSO RECENTLY MET WITH PRESIDENT DE LEON.)

HELEN MACK

13. HELEN MACK ECHOED THE IMPRESSIONS OF OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS THAT DE LEON'S CHANGES IN THE MILITARY HIGH COMMAND HAVE NOT CHANGED THE INSTITUTION'S INDEPENDENT CULTURE. SHE ALSO SHARED THE OPINION THAT THE GOG'S FAILURE TO INVESTIGATE THE COLOTENANGO INCIDENT WAS A CLEAR SIGN THAT IT LACKED THE RESOLVE TO CONFRONT PACS. SHE PRAISED THE U.S. ROLE IN PUSHING RESOLUTION OF KEY CASES (INCLUDING THAT OF HER SISTER, MYRNA), CLAIMING THAT JUDGES FELT MORE ABLE TO DELIVER FAIR VERDICTS WHEN U.S. PRESSURE WAS PRESENT. MACK SAID THAT IN ORDER TO MAKE A REAL DIFFERENCE IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION, THE GOG MUST 1) END IMPUNITY; 2) END WHAT SHE DESCRIBED AS THE "NEW POLICY" OF PROVOCATION BY THE PACS; AND 3)

FUNDAMENTALLY CHANGE THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE MILITARY BY REVISING ALL TRAINING TO EMPHASIZE THE PRINCIPLES OF HUMAN RIGHTS. SHE ADVOCATED A STRONG ROLE FOR THE U.S. MILITARY IN SUCH A REVAMPING OF INSTITUTIONAL TRAINING, PERHAPS IN PARTNERSHIP WITH THE INTER-AMERICAN INSTITUTE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS.

CERJ

14. CERJ EXEC BOARD MEMBER JUSTINA TZUC CLAIMED THAT DE LEON HAD CHANGED AS PRESIDENT -- NOW THE MILITARY RUNS HIM. SHE CHARACTERIZED HIM AS A GOOD MAN THAT IS POWERLESS TO ACT ALONE. SHE ACKNOWLEDGED THAT DE LEON'S ABILITY TO REMOVE THE SENIOR COMMANDERS OF THE MILITARY SUGGESTED THAT HE DID EXERCISE SOME POWER, BUT DENIED SEEING ANY SIGNS OF IMPROVEMENT IN GUATEMALA'S HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. SHE NOTED THAT MANY WHO REFUSE TO PARTICIPATE IN PACS STILL DISAPPEAR, AND CLAIMED THAT CERJ HAS RECEIVED NEW REPORTS OF SUCH INCIDENTS SINCE DE LEON'S ELECTION AS

COMMENT

15. LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS HAVE AN INSTITUTIONAL BIAS TOWARDS A DARK VIEW OF THE COUNTRY'S HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. IN ADDITION, THEY (UNDERSTANDABLY) WANT ALL VIOLATIONS TO END IMMEDIATELY, NOT ACKNOWLEDGING THAT CHANGE TAKES TIME. WHILE THEY MAY OVERSTATE THE CASE IN SOME INSTANCES, AND OVERLOOK POSITIVE MOVES BY THE GOG.

SIGNIFICANT HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS REMAIN FAR TOO FREQUENT IN GUATEMALA.

1. LOU - NOFORN -- ENTIRE TEXT.

2. FOLLOWING IS THE 1993 COUNTRY HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT FOR GUATEMALA.

3. INTRODUCTION

GUATEMALA'S 1985 CONSTITUTION CALLS FOR ELECTION BY UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE OF A ONE-TERM PRESIDENT, A

UNICAMERAL CONGRESS, AND MUNICIPAL OFFICERS; IT MANDATES AN INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY AND A HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, WHO IS ELECTED BY AND REPORTS TO CONGRESS. IN JANUARY, IN ACCORD WITH THE CONSTITUTION AND ITS INTERNAL RULES, CONGRESS ELECTED A NEW PRESIDENT OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

MIDWAY THROUGH HIS FIVE YEAR TERM, AFTER RISING STREET PROTESTS, PRESIDENT JORGE SERRANO SUSPENDED SEVERAL SECTIONS OF THE CONSTITUTION AND DISSOLVED CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME AND CONSTITUTIONAL COURTS ON MAY 25. DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL REACTION WAS EXTREMELY NEGATIVE TO THIS EXTRA-CONSTITUTIONAL MOVE. THE PRESSURE LED TO SERRANO BEING PEACEFULLY AND CONSTITUTIONALLY DEPOSED ON JUNE 1. CONGRESS AND THE COURTS BEING CALLED BACK INTO SESSION. EARLY MORNING JUNE 6, AFTER A VOTE BY CONGRESS AS PRESCRIBED BY THE CONSTITUTION, THEN-HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO WAS ELECTED TO FINISH SERRANO'S PRESIDENTIAL TERM ENDING IN JANUARY 1996. ON JULY 29, CONGRESS ELECTED THEN-CONSTITUTIONAL COURT MAGISTRATE JORGE MARIO GARCIA LAGUARDIA TO FINISH DE LEON CARPIO TERM AS HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN. MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS TOOK PLACE IN MUCH OF THE COUNTRYSIDE IN EARLY MAY. ON SEPTEMBER 26, THE PRESIDENT CALLED FOR A REFERENDUM TO REMOVE ALLEGEDLY CORRUPT CONGRESSMEN AND SUPREME COURT OFFICIALS.

THE ARMED FORCES OPERATE WITH CONSIDERABLE INSTITUTIONAL AND LEGAL AUTONOMY, PARTICULARLY IN SECURITY AND MILITARY MATTERS. PRESIDENT DE LEON, AS

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, HAS REPLACED TWO DEFENSE MINISTERS. THE 43,000-MAN ARMY, WHICH HAS

GUATEM 11452 01 OF 17 141811Z 022243 S087664

RESPONSIBILITY FOR NATIONAL SECURITY, HAS BEEN FIGHTING A LEFTIST INSURGENCY FOR MORE THAN THREE DECADES. THE ARMY'S MOBILE MILITARY POLICE (PMA) GUARDS KEY FACILITIES AND TRADITIONALLY HAS AN ANTI-CRIME ROLE. TOTAL MILITARY EXPENDITURES FOR 1993, ACCORDING TO GOVERNMENT-PUBLISHED BUDGET FIGURES, WERE APPROXIMATELY $120 MILLION, AN INCREASE OF APPROXIMATELY $5 MILLION OVER THE 1992 FIGURE. EACH YEARS' TOTAL REPRESENTS APPROXIMATELY 8 PERCENT OF THE OVERALL GOVERNMENT BUDGET.

THE NATIONAL POLICE (12,000 STRONG) AND TREASURY POLICE (2,000) REPORT TO THE INTERIOR MINISTER. THE "HUNAPU" ANTI-CRIME TASK FORCE PATROLS COMPOSED OF NATIONAL POLICE, TREASURY POLICE, AND MOBILE MILITARY POLICE WERE ELIMINATED IN 1993. PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO CONTINUED ON THE PATH BEGUN BY FORMER PRESIDENT SERRANO IN APPOINTING A CIVILIAN (IN THIS CASE WITH PREVIOUS EXPERIENCE ON THE PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION) AS NATIONAL POLICE CHIEF IN AUGUST, AS WELL AS OTHER CIVILIANS TO SENIOR POSITIONS IN THE POLICE AND MINISTRY OF INTERIOR. THE DE LEON CARPIO ADMINISTRATION REMOVED ALL MILITARY PERSONNEL FROM THE POLICE ON AUGUST 27.

SOME 500,000 MEN SERVE IN VOLUNTARY CIVIL SELF-DEFENSE COMMITTEES, COMMONLY CALLED CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS (PAC'S), SOME OF WHICH CONDUCT COUNTERINSURGENCY PATROLS IN RURAL AREAS. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN AND THE CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORT THAT SOME PAC MEMBERS WERE COMPELLED TO JOIN, IN VIOLATION OF THE CONSTITUTION. SECURITY FORCES AND ESPECIALLY PAC'S WERE REPORTED TO HAVE COMMITTED NUMEROUS SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS IN 1993.

THE AGRICULTURE-BASED, PRIVATE SECTOR-ORIENTED GUATEMALAN ECONOMY IS PROJECTED TO GROW APPROXIMATELY 4.0 PERCENT IN 1993, WHICH WOULD PRODUCE AN INCREASE IN PER CAPITA INCOME OF ABOUT 1.0 PERCENT. INFLATION IS PROJECTED TO REACH 10-12 PERCENT. GUATEMALA HAS CONTINUED UNDER A STANDBY AGREEMENT WITH THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND, DESPITE FISCAL AND

OF MINES AND EXPLOSIVES, INCLUDING IN RURAL CIVILIAN AREAS, AND THE USE OF CHILDREN IN COMBAT. GUERRILLA ATTACKS ON INFRASTRUCTURE TARGETS CONTINUED THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.

RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

SECTION 1: RESPECT FOR THE INTEGRITY OF THE PERSON, INCLUDING FREEDOM FROM

A. POLITICAL AND OTHER EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLING

POLITICALLY MOTIVATED KILLINGS CONTINUED IN 1993, WITH THE STATISTICS PRESENTING A MIXED PICTURE. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN LISTED 138 CASES OF EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS THROUGH AUGUST 15. THOUGH NOT STRICTLY COMPARABLE DUE TO THE DIFFERENT TIME PERIODS AND CATEGORIES COVERED BY LAST YEAR'S OMBUDSMAN'S MID-YEAR REPORT, EXTRAJUDICIAL MURDERS IN THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1992 WERE PLACED BY THE OMBUDSMAN AT 48 CONFIRMED EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS AND 289 COMPLAINTS PENDING. THE OMBUDSMAN'S 1992 FULL-YEAR STATISTICS CONFIRMED 48 EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS FOR THE ENTIRE COUNTRY. OF THE 48 EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, 36 POLITICALLY MOTIVATED MURDERS WERE ATTRIBUTED TO GOVERNMENT SECURITY FORCES AND 12 WERE ATTRIBUTED TO GUERRILLAS. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED 66 EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS FOR THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1993 AS COMPARED TO 198 DURING THE FIRST 6 MONTHS OF 1992 AND 284 FOR ALL OF 1992, BUT DID NOT BREAK DOWN THE FIGURES ACCORDING TO THE RESPONSIBLE ORGANIZATION.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL, AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS HAVE FOUND EVIDENCE OF KILLINGS BY PAC'S. PAC LEADERS ARE FEARED IN MANY RURAL COMMUNITIES. THEY ENJOY ARMY BACKING AND OFTEN DE FACTO IMMUNITY FROM PROSECUTION. DESPITE SOME IMPROVEMENT, SECURITY FORCES ARE RARELY HELD ACCOUNTABLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS, THE GOVERNMENT FAILED TO FULLY INVESTIGATE, DETAIN, AND PROSECUTE PERPETRATORS OF EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS. IN 1993, A TEAM OF FORENSIC ANTHROPOLOGISTS CONTINUED WORKING TO LOCATE CORPSES OF VICTIMS KILLED AND BURIED IN THE EARLY 1980'S AT CLANDESTINE RURAL CEMETERIES.

WHILE THE BEHAVIOR OF THE MILITARY SHOWED SOME IMPROVEMENT IN 1993, THE ARMED FORCES AND ESPECIALLY CIVIL PATROLS FREQUENTLY THREATENED HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS. CIVIL PATROLS WERE INVOLVED IN THE KILLINGS OF HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS. THE RUKUJEL JUNAM COUNCIL OF ETHNIC COMMUNITIES (CERJ) IS A RURAL-BASED HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION DEDICATED MAINLY TO OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY SERVICE IN PAC'S. VARIOUS CERJ MEMBERS WERE THREATENED OR KILLED IN 1993. TOMAS LARA CIPRIANO, A CERJ AND UNITED PEASANTS COMMITTEE (CUC) MEMBER IN JOYABAJ WAS KILLED APRIL 30 BY PAC MEMBERS. ACCORDING TO FAMILY MEMBERS AND WITNESSES. CERJ'S GUATEMALA CITY OFFICE WAS BROKEN INTO ON MAY 8.

TEN PERSONS, FROM TWO SEPARATE FAMILIES, TOOK REFUGE

IN THE SANTA CRUZ DEL QUICHE CERJ OFFICE ON JUNE 18 AFTER BEING THREATENED WITH DEATH FOR NOT PARTICIPATING IN THE PAC'S AND FOR BEING CERJ MEMBERS. CHARGES AGAINST CERJ LEADER ANILCAR MENDEZ FOR ALLEGEDLY PROVIDING EXPLOSIVES TO GUERRILLAS IN OCTOBER 1992 WERE DROPPED IN MARCH. CAPTAIN ANIBAL ROBERTO LANDAVERI, COMMANDER OF THE CHIUL, QUICHE STOCKADE, WAS ARRESTED IN MAY FOR HAVING THREE CERJ MEMBERS BEATEN ON HIS BASE. HE HAS BEEN THROWN OUT OF THE ARMY AND IS BEING TRIED FOR ILLEGAL DETENTION, ABUSE OF AUTHORITY, COERCION AND CAUSING INJURIES.

FORMER CORPORAL NICOLAS GUTIERREZ CRUZ, CONVICTED IN THE JANUARY 15, 1991 KILLING OF FOUR PERSONS IN "CUIDAD PERONIA," EXHAUSTED HIS LEGAL APPEALS WHEN THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT RULED JULY 23 AGAINST HIS REQUEST TO VOID THE DEATH SENTENCE AGAINST HIM. PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO COMMUTTED HIS SENTENCE TO THIRTY YEARS IN EARLY OCTOBER. A FELLOW EX-SOLIDIER CONVICTED IN THE KILLINGS REMAINS AT LARGE AFTER HAVING ESCAPED ON MAY 9, 1992. ON MAY 17, 1993 AN APPELLATE COURT SENTENCED AN ARMY ENLISTED MAN TO TWO YEARS IN PRISON FOR NEGLIGENCE IN ALLOWING THE ESCAPE.

ON MARCH 19, THEN-HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN DE LEON ACCUSED ARMY TROOPS IN THE AUGUST 31, 1992 KIDNAPING, TORTURE AND MURDER OF HUEHUETENANGO PEASANT LUCAS PEREZ TADEO. IN RESPONSE THE ARMY PROMISED A FULL INVESTIGATION, THOUGH NO RESULTS HAVE BEEN FORTHCOMING.

ON MAY 1, CIVIL PATROLLERS IN JOCOPILAS SURROUNDED A HOUSE AND KILLED 11 INHABITANTS (INCLUDING AN UNBORN CHILD). MANY OF THE 11 WERE KNOWN AS CRIMINALS IN THE COMMUNITY AND, THE DAY OF THEIR DEATHS, ARE SAID TO HAVE ROBBED ONE FAMILY AND RAPED THREE WOMEN. POLICE ARE SAID TO HAVE ARRIVED PRIOR TO THE KILLINGS, BUT LEFT AFTER BEING INTIMIDATED BY THE PAC.

ON APPEAL OF AN EARLIER ACQUITTAL, QUICHE PAC CHIEFS MANUEL PEREBAL AJTZALAM AND MANUEL LEON LARES WERE CONDEMNED TO THIRTY YEARS IN PRISON JULY 13 FOR THE FEBRUARY 17, 1991 KILLING OF JUAN PEREBAL XIRUM AND HIS SON, AND THE INJURING OF ANOTHER SON. THOSE ATTACKED HAD TESTIFIED AGAINST PEREBAL IN THE CASE OF SEBASTIAN VELASQUEZ MEJIA, A COMMUNITY LEADER OPPOSED TO THE PAC'S WHO WAS KIDNAPED AND LATER FOUND DEAD.

ON AUGUST 18, AN APPEALS COURT SENTENCED TWENTY-TWO FORMER POLICE OFFICERS, WHO FORMED PART OF A "HUNAPU" PATROL, TO 30 YEARS IN PRISON FOR THE APRIL 16, 1992 DEATH OF UNIVERSITY STUDENT JULIO RIGOBERTO CU QUIN AND FOR INJURING SIX OTHER STUDENTS. EARLIER, ON JULY 22, SEVEN PHA MEMBERS OF THE SAME PATROL WERE SENTENCED TO 14 YEARS (4 COMMUTABLE) FOR THE DEATH.

ON AUGUST 3, HUEHUETENANGO PAC MEMBERS FIRED ON MARCHERS DEMANDING THE DISSOLUTION OF THE CIVIL PATROLS, KILLING JUAN CHONAY PABLO AND WOUNDING TWO OTHERS. WITNESSES REPORT HAVING SUBSEQUENTLY RECEIVED THREATS FROM PAC MEMBERS. PAC LEADER EFRAIN DOMINGO MORALES, FROM THE TOWN OF XEMAL IN THE SAME

AREA, WAS MURDERED BY UNKNOWN PERSONS IN MID-SEPTEMBER. TWO CAMPESINOS FROM XEMAL, COLOTENANGO IN HUEHUETENANGO WERE KILLED SEPTEMBER 26, A SURVIVING FAMILY MEMBER CLAIMING BY PAC MEMBERS.

THERE WAS SOME PROGRESS IN CERTAIN OTHER HIGH-PROFILE CASES. FORMER GOVERNMENT SECURITY AGENT NOEL DE JESUS BETETA ALVAREZ WAS SENTENCED IN FEBRUARY TO 30 YEARS FOR THE 1990 MURDER OF GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK CHANG AND THE UNRELATED BEATING OF A MINOR. THE CONVICTION IS NOW BEING APPEALED, WITH PLANTIFF HELEN MACK ALSO SEEKING PROSECUTION OF THE ALLEGED MILITARY "INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS" OF THE CRIME. ON SEPTEMBER 1, THE KUANCSO THINK-TANK MYRNA MACK WORKED AT WAS BROKEN INTO AND DEATH THREATS LEFT AGAINST HELEN MACK. ON SEPTEMBER 23, BETETA BRIEFLY ESCAPED FROM JAIL IN A LARGE PRISON BREAK. HE WAS RECAPTURED FIVE HOURS LATER AND HAS BEEN CHARGED FOR PARTICIPATING IN THE ESCAPE.

ON MAY 11, AN APPELLATE COURT SENTENCED CAPT. HUGO CONTRERAS TO 28 YEARS FOR PLANNING THE 1990 KIDNAPING THAT LED TO THE DEATH OF U.S. CITIZEN MICHAEL DEVINE AND CONFIRMED THE 30 YEAR SENTENCES FOR SIX ENLISTED MEN. AFTER HEARING OF THE VERDICT, HOWEVER, CONTRERAS ESCAPED FROM MILITARY CUSTODY AND REMAINS AT LARGE. CIRCUMSTANCES SURROUNDING THE ESCAPE HAVE NOT BEEN ADEQUATELY EXPLAINED. ONE ENLISTED MAN WAS GIVEN A TWO-YEAR SUSPENDED SENTENCE FOR NOT BEING AT HIS POST WHEN CONTRERAS ESCAPED. ON AUGUST 11, A HIGHER APPEALS COURT CONFIRMED THE DEVINE CASE

SENTENCES, LEAVING THE DEFENDANTS' ONLY REMAINING RECOURSE TO THE SUPREME COURT. SENIOR OFFICERS INVOLVED IN COVERING UP THE CASE HAVE NOT BEEN BROUGHT TO TRIAL.

THERE WAS NO PROGRESS IN RESOLVING THE 1988 "WHITE VAN" CASE, THE 1989 DISAPPEARANCES AND MURDERS OF UNIVERSITY STUDENTS, THE 1990 HECTOR OQUELI COLINDRES AND GILDA FLORES KILLINGS, THE 1990 DISAPPEARANCE OF MARIA TIU TOJIN AND HER DAUGHTER, THE 1991 MURDER OF POLICE DETECTIVE JOSE LUIS MERIDA ESCOBAR, THE 1991 DISAPPEARANCE OF DIEGO DOMINGO MARTIN, OR PAST KIDNAPINGS AND MURDERS OF VARIOUS CERJ MEMBERS. DECISION HAS BEEN APPEALED. THE GOVERNMENT'S FREQUENT INABILITY TO CONTROL OR SANCTION THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS OFFENSES IS A MAJOR IMPEDIMENT TO HUMAN RIGHTS PROGRESS.

B. DISAPPEARANCE

THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE LISTED 34 CASES OF FORCED

DISAPPEARANCES UP TO MID-AUGUST 1993. FINAL STATISTICS FOR 1992 SHOWED 18 CONFIRMED FORCED DISAPPEARANCES, OF WHICH 4 WERE ATTRIBUTED TO THE STATE AND 6 TO THE GUERRILLAS. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED 16 FORCED DISAPPEARANCES FOR THE FIRST 6 MONTHS OF 1993, AS COMPARED TO 11 IN ALL OF 1992. FOUR OF THE 16 CASES WERE PRESUMED POLITICAL IN NATURE, WITH THE OTHER 12 UNDER INVESTIGATION. REPORTS LINKED MANY POLITICAL DISAPPEARANCES TO PERSONS CONNECTED WITH THE ARMED FORCES. THE GOVERNMENT DID NOT IDENTIFY OR PROSECUTE THE PERPETRATORS OF ANY OF THE ABOVE DISAPPEARANCES.

ON JUNE 17, UNION ACTIVIST ELIZABETH RECINOS WAS KIDNAPPED ALONG WITH A COMPANION. THOUGH THE COMPANION WAS QUICKLY RELEASED, RECINOS WAS HELD FOR FOUR DAYS, DRUGGED AND BEATEN. PRESIDENT DE LEON CONDEMNED THE KIDNAPING AND THE POLICE CONDUCTED AN INVESTIGATION, THOUGH NO ARRESTS WERE MADE. THE POLICE INITIALLY LABELED THIS A "SELF-KIDNAPING."

ON JULY 11, UNION OFFICIAL WALTER MANUEL NAJERA MOLINA WAS KIDNAPED AND INTERROGATED ABOUT UNION ACTIVITIES FOR THREE HOURS BY FOUR ARMED MEN, DURING WHICH TIME HE WAS BEATEN. DURING HIS QUESTIONING, NAJERA WAS ASKED ABOUT POPULAR AND HUMAN RIGHTS LEADERS, WHOM HIS CAPTIVES LINKED TO THE GUERRILLAS.

GUERRILLA FORCES KIDNAPED SAN MARCOS PAC MEMBERS MARGARITO LOPEZ AND OBDULIO ZAPETA ON AUGUST 7 AND DIEGO CHEL MATOM, AN ARMY ENLISTED MAN RIDING AN

INTER-URBAN BUS IN QUICHE, THREE DAYS LATER. THEIR WHEREABOUTS ARE UNKNOWN.

GUATEM 11452 05 OF 17 141813Z 022246 S087701

ON SEPTEMBER 1, A MEMBER OF A POPULAR SECTOR GROUP ADVOCATING A PURGE OF ALLEGED CORRUPT CONGRESSIONAL AND SUPREME COURT OFFICIALS, OLGA MARINA RUANO CRUZ, WAS ABDUCTED AND BEATEN BEFORE BEING RELEASED A DAY LATER.

C. TORTURE AND OTHER CRUEL, INHUMAN, OR DEGRADING TREATMENT OR PUNISHMENT

THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE LISTED TWO CASES OF TORTURE IN THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1993. IT DID NOT DOCUMENT ANY CASES OF TORTURE IN 1992. BOTH CASES LISTED BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE INVOLVE THE TEMPORARY KIDNAPING AND BEATING UNTIL UNCONSCIOUS OF THE VICTIMS. IN ONE CASE, A MALE STUDENT WAS PICKED UP BY THREE UNIDENTIFIED MEN ON MARCH 27, HELD FOR THREE DAYS AND ASKED ABOUT STUDENT LEADERS. THE OTHER CASE OCCURRED IN APRIL, THE FEMALE VICTIM APPARENTLY NOT BEING ASKED ANY QUESTIONS.

AS IN PAST YEARS, MANY BODIES WERE FOUND THROUGHOUT GUATEMALA BEARING SIGNS OF SEVERE DISFIGUREMENT OR POST-MORTEM MUTILATION. THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS OF MISTREATMENT BY SECURITY FORCES, INCLUDING USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE BY POLICE AT THE TIME OF ARREST AND OF ABUSIVE TREATMENT OF PERSONS IN RURAL AREAS BY THE ARMY, CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS, MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, AND POLICE. GANGS AND OTHER CRIMINALS, AS WELL AS GUERRILLAS, ALL USE EXCESSIVE AND ABUSIVE FORCE.

CASA ALIANZA, AN ORGANIZATION DEDICATED TO PROTECTING THE HUMAN RIGHTS OF STREET CHILDREN, REPORTED IN MARCH THAT STREET CHILD JULIO CESAR REYES WAS PICKED UP BY TWO PERSONS DRESSED AS CIVILIANS AND BURNED ON HIS ARM 29 TIMES BY A CIGARETTE. REYES CLAIMS TO HAVE RECOGNIZED THE TWO AS POLICE OFFICERS. ON MAY 23, A STREET CHILD REPORTED HAVING ACID THROWN AT HIM BY THE POLICE. NO PROGRESS IS EVIDENT IN EITHER CASE. CASA ALIANZA ALSO REPORTED THAT ON APRIL 17 AND 22, STREET CHILDREN HENRY YUBANI ALVAREZ AND FRANCISCO TZIAC WERE SHOT IN DOWNTOWN GUATEMALA CITY. CASA ALIANZA BELIEVES THAT A PRIVATE SECURITY GUARD KILLED ALVAREZ AND OFF-DUTY MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WOUNDED TZIAC, BOTH SHOT POSSIBLY DUE TO PETTY THIEVERY. THERE WERE NUMEROUS REPORTS OF POLICEMEN BEATING OR ILLEGALLY DETAINING STREET CHILDREN.

AN ACCORD BETWEEN CASA ALIANZA AND THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE WHICH RAN OUT IN NOVEMBER 1992 WAS NOT RENEWED IN 1993 DUE TO PROBLEMS AT THE GOVERNMENT OFFICE INVOLVING THE SUSPENSION OF THE THEN-ATTORNEY GENERAL. ON AUGUST 16, THE NEW CIVILIAN POLICE DIRECTOR MET WITH CASA ALIANZA AS ONE OF HIS FIRST PUBLIC ACTS AND EXPRESSED HIS COMMITMENT TO RESPECTING THE RIGHTS OF STREET CHILDREN AND PUNISHING POLICE OFFICERS AND OTHERS WHO ABUSE THE CHILDREN. CASA ALIANZA ANNOUNCED AFTER THE VISIT THAT IT AND THE POLICE WILL COORDINATE EFFORTS IN PROGRAMS AGAINST STREET CHILDREN DRUG ADDICTION AND ABUSE. THE POLICE DIRECTOR HAS ASSUMED PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE DEPARTMENT'S MINOR'S DIVISION. ON SEPTEMBER 24, PRESIDENT DE LEON MET WITH CASA ALIANZA OFFICIALS.

D. ARBITRARY ARREST, DETENTION, OR EXILE

A COURT-ISSUED ARREST WARRANT IS REQUIRED UNLESS A PERSON IS CAUGHT IN THE ACT OF COMMITTING A CRIME. POLICE MAY NOT DETAIN A SUSPECT FOR OVER 6 HOURS WITHOUT BRINGING HIM BEFORE A JUDGE. THE LAW PROVIDES FOR BAIL, ACCESS TO LAWYERS, AND LIMITS TO 28 DAYS THE TIME ANYONE MAY BE HELD, AFTER WHICH HE MUST BE CHARGED OR FREED. AUTHORITIES MUST PRODUCE DETAINEES ON COURT REQUEST. EXILE IS PROHIBITED UNDER THE CONSTITUTION.

DESPITE THESE LEGAL SAFEGUARDS, THERE ARE FREQUENT CREDIBLE REPORTS OF ARBITRARY ARREST, INCOMMUNICADO DETENTION BY SECURITY FORCES AND FAILURE TO ADHERE TO THE PRESCRIBED TIME LIMITS. SOME PERSONS DETAINED ILLEGALLY AND RELEASED SUBSEQUENTLY REPORTED HAVING BEEN HELD AT SAFE HOUSES ALLEGEDLY OPERATED BY SECURITY FORCES. THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR ILLEGAL DETENTIONS ROUTINELY IGNORE WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS.

THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE HAS CHARGED THAT PRISONERS ARE SOMETIMES NOT RELEASED IN A TIMELY FASHION AFTER FINISHING THEIR SENTENCE DUE TO THE FAILURE OF JUDGES TO ISSUE THE NECESSARY COURT ORDER.

INVESTIGATIONS DURING THE SERRANO PRESIDENCY INTO THE ACTIVITIES OF FORMER IZABAL DEPARTMENT GOVERNOR LILIAN VASQUEZ DE GUZMAN AND ALLEGED CORRUPTION BY FORMER HEALTH MINISTER MIGUEL MONTEPEQUE APPEARED POLITICALLY MOTIVATED. MONTEPEQUE WAS SUBSEQUENTLY CLEARED OF CHARGES. VASQUEZ DE GUZMAN WENT INTO SELF-IMPOSED TEMPORARY EXILE IN MID-FEBRUARY. THE PROBLEM OF POLITICALLY MOTIVATED INVESTIGATIONS HAS GREATLY LESSENED SINCE THE ACCESSION OF DE LEON CARPIO TO THE PRESIDENCY.

FOLLOWING THE JUNE END OF THE "AUTO-COUP," A NUMBER OF OFFICIALS FLED INTO EXILE, INCLUDING FORMER PRESIDENT SERRANO AND EX-VICE PRESIDENT ESPINA. THE GOVERNMENT IS SEEKING THEIR EXTRADITION.

E. DENIAL OF FAIR PUBLIC TRIAL

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR AN INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY COMPOSED OF A COURT OF CONSTITUTIONALITY, A SUPREME COURT, APPEALS COURTS, AND SEVERAL COURTS OF SPECIAL JURISDICTION, SUCH AS LABOR COURTS. MILITARY

COURTS HAVE JURISDICTION OVER MILITARY PERSONNEL, INCLUDING MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WHO COMMIT CRIMES WHILE ON OFFICIAL BUSINESS, BUT NOT CIVILIAN PAC MEMBERS, THUS LIMITING THE ABILITY OF CIVIL COURTS TO PROSECUTE PERSONS UNDER MILITARY CONTROL IN HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE CASES. CIVILIAN TRIALS ARE PUBLIC AFTER THE FIRST 15 DAYS, DEDICATED TO AN INITIAL INVESTIGATIVE PHASE THAT IS CLOSED TO THE PUBLIC; DEFENDANTS HAVE THE RIGHT TO BE PRESENT AT TRIALS AND TO LEGAL REPRESENTATION. AN APPEALS COURT AUTOMATICALLY REVIEWS CONVICTIONS.

THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM IS INEFFECTIVE. IN A SERIOUS EFFORT TO IMPROVE THE EFFICACY OF THE LEGAL SYSTEM, THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE IS BEING CHANGED TO INTRODUCE ORAL PROCEEDINGS (IN BOTH SPANISH AND INDIGENOUS LANGUAGES) OPEN TO THE PUBLIC AND TO SET UP A VIABLE PUBLIC DEFENDER PROGRAM.

MOST HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS ARE NOT INVESTIGATED;

SECURITY FORCE PERSONNEL ARE RELUCTANT TO INVESTIGATE CASES INVOLVING COLLEAGUES. POLICE ARE ALSO RELATIVELY FEW IN NUMBER AND LACK NEEDED RESOURCES AND TRAINING. JUDGES ARE SUSCEPTIBLE TO INTIMIDATION AND CORRUPTION AND SUFFER LOW PAY, BAD WORKING CONDITIONS AND LOW MORALE. THE SUPREME COURT AND SOME LOWER COURT JUDGES ARE UNDER PUBLIC PRESSURE TO RESIGN FOR ALLEGED CORRUPTION AND POLITICIZATION OF THE LEGAL SYSTEM. THE HEAD OF THE SUPREME COURT CLAIMED IN EARLY SEPTEMBER THAT HE RECEIVED DEATH

THREATS AS PART OF THE CAMPAIGN TO FORCE HIS RESIGNATION. PUBLIC CONFIDENCE IN THE LEGAL SYSTEM IS LOW.

SOME JUDGES SUCCEED IN BEING EXCUSED FROM HEARING PROMINENT CASES AFTER ALLEGING DEATH THREATS. A TOTAL OF 12 DIFFERENT JUDGES WERE EXCUSED FROM THE MYRNA MACK CHANG CASE, FOR EXAMPLE. THE APPEALS COURT JUDGES WHO HEARD THE MACK, DEVINE AND "TRAILEROS" CASES REPORT HAVING RECEIVED THREATS IN 1993. IN ADDITION, OFFICIALS FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S AND HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICES HAVE RECEIVED THREATS.

CHARGES CONTINUE TO BE PUBLICLY MADE THAT THE SUPREME COURT PRESSURES LOWER COURT JUDGES TO DECIDE CASES IN LINE WITH ITS WISHES. IN JANUARY, THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT RULED THAT THE SUPREME COURT PRACTICE OF ARBITRARILY TRANSFERRING JUSTICES WAS UNCONSTITUTIONAL, LIMITING ONE MEANS OF INTERFERING IN LOWER COURT CASES. THIS DECISION WAS REAFFIRMED IN ANOTHER CONSTITUTIONAL COURT RULING ON JUNE 24.

THERE ARE NO KNOWN POLITICAL PRISONERS. IN AUGUST 1993, THE WIFE OF GUERRILLA EFRAIN BAMACA CLAIMED HE WAS BEING HELD IN A CLANDESTINE PRISON AFTER RESULTS OF AN EXHUMATION OF HIS SUPPOSED GRAVE PROVED NEGATIVE. THE ARMY ADMITS TO HOUSING FORMER GUERRILLAS ON MILITARY BASES WHO COOPERATE WITH THE ARMED FORCES. ONE OF THESE EX-GUERRILLAS, ANGEL OSORIO, WAS KILLED AUGUST 19 BY ACTIVE URNG MEMBERS

AFTER LEAVING A QUICHE MILITARY BASE TO VISIT HIS FAMILY AND BEING STOPPED AT A GUERRILLA ROADBLOCK.

F. ARBITRARY INTERFERENCE WITH PRIVACY, FAMILY, HOME, OR CORRESPONDENCE

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR THE INVIOLABILITY OF HOME, CORRESPONDENCE AND PRIVATE DOCUMENTS, PROVISIONS THAT ARE NOT ALWAYS RESPECTED. ELEMENTS OF THE SECURITY FORCES CONTINUE TO MONITOR PRIVATE COMMUNICATIONS. MANY HUMAN RIGHTS MONITORS REPORTED RECEIVING THREATS IN THE FORM OF SURVEILLANCE, TELEPHONE CALLS, AND ANONYMOUS LETTERS.

ON MARCH 26, THE GUATEMALAN POSTAL WORKERS UNION AND THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN EXPOSED A SECRET GOVERNMENT MAIL INTERCEPTION UNIT LOCATED AT THE CENTRAL POST OFFICE. THE OMBUDSMAN ATTRIBUTED RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE LETTER-OPENING OPERATION TO "ARCHIVOS." THIS UNIT HAS BEEN DISBANDED.

OFFICIALS ENFORCING THE MILITARY DRAFT TRADITIONALLY ENTER HOMES AND PLACES OF BUSINESS WITHOUT LEGALLY REQUIRED COURT ORDERS. THE ARMY HAS ATTEMPTED TO CURB SUCH ABUSES IN QUICHE BY SETTING UP A DRAFT BOARD CONSISTING OF THE ZONE MILITARY COMMANDER, THE LOCAL REPRESENTATIVE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, AND OTHER CIVILIAN LEADERS. UNDER RECRUITMENT PRACTICES ALSO ADOPTED IN OTHER DEPARTMENTS, POTENTIAL RECRUITS RECEIVE THREE INDUCTION NOTICES. AFTER WHICH THEY ARE ARRESTED IF THEY DO NOT REPORT FOR ENLISTMENT. UNDER GUATEMALAN LAW, SUCH ARRESTS MUST BE EFFECTED PURSUANT TO A COURT ORDER. IN ADDITION, A NEW MILITARY RECRUITMENT LAW IS UNDER CONSIDERATION IN CONGRESS.

ACTIVISTS CRITICIZE DRAFT PROCEDURES FOR NOT ADDRESSING THE FACT THAT INDIGENOUS MEN SERVE IN THE ARMED FORCES MORE FREQUENTLY THAN NON-INDIGENOUS MEN. CREDIBLE REPORTS OF FORCED RECRUITMENT CONTINUE, WITH A SPATE OF THESE COMING IN LATE JANUARY. ON JULY 27, IN WHAT WAS SAID TO BE THE FIRST CASE OF ITS KIND OUTSIDE A CITY, JALAPA PEASANT JUAN ANGEL MORALES LIMA FILED SUIT CLAIMING HE WAS A VICTIM OF FORCED RECRUITMENT. IN SEPTEMBER, ALVARO ENRIQUE MADRID MATTA WAS RELEASED FROM THE ARMY DUE TO HIS BEING A MINOR AFTER THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN

FILED SUIT SEPTEMBER 14 CLAIMING MADRID HAD BEEN ILLEGALLY RECRUITED IN AUGUST.

THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRES THAT PAC SERVICE BE VOLUNTARY. HOWEVER, ARMY OFFICERS, MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, AND PAC LEADERS OFTEN PRESSURE MEN IN CONFLICTIVE AREAS TO BECOME PAC MEMBERS. THERE ARE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT SOME WHO REFUSE TO SERVE HAVE BEEN KILLED OR SUFFERED OTHER ABUSES.

G. USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN INTERNAL CONFLICTS

GUATEMALA'S ARMED INTERNAL CONFLICT ENTERED ITS 33ND YEAR IN 1993 AND CONTINUED TO BE A MAJOR CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS BY BOTH GOVERNMENT AND GUERRILLA FORCES. AFTER A PROMISING FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR, PEACE TALKS COLLAPSED IN EARLY MAY. HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES AND THE TIMING OF A PROPOSED CEASE-FIRE WERE PRIMARY AREAS OF DISAGREEMENT. THE DE LEON CARPIO GOVERNMENT IS PURSUING A RENEWAL OF THE PEACE TALKS UNDER A FORMAT ALLOWING GREATER PARTICIPATION BY OTHER GROUPS IN GUATEMALAN SOCIETY.

CONGRESSIONAL PRESIDENT LOBO DUBON AND SEVERAL OTHER CONGRESSMEN WERE THREATENED FOLLOWING A FEBRUARY MEETING WITH THE URNG COMANDANTES IN MEXICO. GOVERNMENT PEACE COMMISSION MEMBERS ALSO RECEIVED THREATS IN THE FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR.

A WAVE OF BOMBINGS OCCURRED IN THE CAPITAL IN FEBRUARY, TARGETS INCLUDING SERRANO'S SOLIDARITY ACTION MOVEMENT PARTY HEADQUARTERS AND THE HEADQUARTERS OF THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY. FOUR CAPITAL CITY BANKS WERE ALSO BOMBED AND NUMEROUS COUNTRYSIDE ELECTRICAL TOWERS WERE BLOWN UP IN JANUARY AND FEBRUARY. THE PERPETRATORS WERE NEVER APPREHENDED, BUT RIGHTWING AND LEFTWING GROUPS WERE THOUGHT TO BE RESPONSIBLE. ELECTRICAL TOWERS ARE A FAVORITE TARGET OF GUERRILLA BOMBERS.

ANOTHER WAVE OF BOMBINGS OCCURRED IN SEPTEMBER,

APPARENTLY TIED TO A POLITICAL STRUGGLE INVOLVING EFFORTS TO LEGALLY REMOVE ALLEGED CORRUPT CONGRESSMEN AND SUPREME COURT OFFICIALS FROM OFFICE. COMMERCIAL INSTITUTIONS, CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY HEADQUARTERS, THE GUATEMALAN JURISTS ASSOCIATION AND THE OFFICES OF A GAM, A HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP ACTIVE IN THE REMOVAL EFFORT, WERE TARGETS. SHOTS ALSO WERE FIRED NEAR GAM LEADER NINETH MONTENEGRO DE GARCIA'S HOME ON SEPTEMBER 11 AND SOME CONGRESSIONAL DEPUTIES AND THE SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT CLAIMED TO HAVE RECEIVED DEATH THREATS. NO ONE HAS BEEN APPREHENDED FOR THESE ATTACKS AND THREATS.

COMMUNITIES OF PEOPLE IN RESISTANCE (CPR) CLAIMED ARMY HARASSMENT THROUGHOUT THE YEAR, INCLUDING LATE EVENING HELICOPTER OVERFLIGHTS AND RESTRICTION OF COMMERCE. ON AUGUST 23, TWO FORMER PAC MEMBERS STATED THEY HAD BEEN FORCED EARLIER IN THE YEAR TO HARASS A CPR BY PAC LEADERS AND A MILITARY OFFICER. ON FEBRUARY 27, EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE SECRETARY BISHOP RAMAZZINI ANNOUNCED THAT SOME 500 GUATEMALANS HAD FLED TO MEXICO TO AVOID ARMY OPERATIONS IN CUARTO PUEBLO, QUICHE. THEY LATER RETURNED. ON SEPTEMBER 8 AND 28, PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO MET WITH A CPR DELEGATION TO DISCUSS THEIR COMPLAINTS.

GUERRILLA FORCES RECRUITED CHILDREN INTO THEIR RANKS. GOVERNMENT TROOPS FOUND A 10-YEAR-OLD CHILD

GUERRILLA AFTER A MARCH 9 ARMED ENGAGEMENT NEAR RAXHUJA, ALTA VERAPAZ. WOUNDED, THE CHILD WAS EVACUATED TO A GUATEMALA CITY MILITARY HOSPITAL. IN ANOTHER CASE, ON JUNE 17, THIRTEEN YEAR-OLD MARIO IXCAL WAS CAPTURED NEAR LA LIBERTAD, PETEN AFTER BEING WOUNDED IN A ARMY-GUERRILLA CLASH. TREATED AND RELEASED TO THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, IXCAL SAID HIS URNG UNIT CONTAINED TWO OTHER YOUNG BOYS. DOCUMENTED CASES OF CIVILIANS BEING INJURED BY GUERRILLA MINES ALSO OCCURRED IN 1993.

ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE, REGULARLY PRODUCE AND DISTRIBUTE PUBLICATIONS. THESE CIRCULATE FREELY, AND THEIR CONCLUSIONS AND ASSERTIONS ARE WIDELY REPORTED IN OTHER PUBLICATIONS AND IN THE BROADCAST MEDIA.

RADIO AND TELEVISION STATION OWNERS HAVE COMPLAINED THAT INADEQUATE PROTECTIONS EXIST AGAINST INDIRECT GOVERNMENT PRESSURE. SPECIFICALLY, THEY CHARGE LICENSING AND RENEWAL PROCEDURES HAVE BEEN USED TO THREATEN RADIO OR TELEVISION STATIONS THAT ARE CRITICAL OF THE GOVERNMENT, SECURITY FORCES, OR POWERFUL INDIVIDUALS. UNDER SERRANO, NEWSPAPERS ALSO COMPLAINED ABOUT GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE, ESPECIALLY REGARDING EFFORTS TO SILENCE CRITICISM OF THE PRESIDENT, HIS FAMILY, AND ALLEGED WRONGDOING BY SECURITY FORCES.

NO JOURNALISTS OR MEDIA FIGURES DISAPPEARED OR WERE KILLED IN 1993, BUT SEVERAL REPORTED RECEIVING DEATH THREATS AND WERE INCLUDED ON A 24-PERSON "DEATH LIST" THAT APPEARED IN LATE MARCH AND A SEPARATE LIST THAT APPEARED IN EARLY OCTOBER. ON FEBRUARY 4, A SHOT WAS FIRED AT THE FATHER OF "SIGLO XXI" COLUMNIST AND FREQUENT CRITIC OF THEN-PRESIDENT SERRANO, MARTA ALTOALGUIRRE. CREDIBLE REPORTS OF THREATS AGAINST TWO FOREIGN JOURNALISTS ALSO OCCURRED IN THE FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR. IN ADDITION, "CRONICA" MAGAZINE RECEIVED THREATS AFTER PUBLISHING A FEBRUARY STORY CRITICAL OF SERRANO. THE FORMER PRESIDENT WAS BLAMED BY MANY JOURNALISTS FOR MAKING NEGATIVE COMMENTS ABOUT THE PRESS AND, IN THAT WAY, "LEGITIMIZING" ATTACKS AGAINST THEM.

THE LOW POINT FOR PRESS FREEDOM IN 1993 CAME DURING THE AUTO-COUP, WHEN NEWSPAPERS, MAGAZINES, RADIO AND TV STATIONS WERE SUBJECTED TO CENSORSHIP. RADIO AND TELEVISION STATIONS ALSO WERE FORCED TO BROADCAST STANDARDIZED GOVERNMENT PROGRAMMING FOR EXTENDED PERIODS. "CRONICA" HAD SEVERAL THOUSAND COPIES OF ITS MAGAZINE REPORTING ON THE COUP SEIZED BY SECURITY

FORCES. THESE COPIES WERE FOUND BURNED BY A ROADSIDE IN LATE JULY. A NUMBER OF JOURNALISTS REFUSED TO

COOPERATE WITH AUTHORITIES DURING THE COUP; THEY WERE NOT HARMED AS CENSORSHIP QUICKLY BROKE DOWN AND A FREE PRESS RETURNED AFTER SERRANO'S FALL.

SINCE THE COUP, THE MEDIA HAS SUFFERED NO GOVERNMENTAL RESTRICTIONS OR HARASSMENT. PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO'S ADMINISTRATION HAS OPENLY SUPPORTED PRESS FREEDOM. INCIDENTS OF INDIVIDUAL CASES OF POLICE HARASSMENT OF JOURNALISTS SINCE THE COUP, THOUGH, HAVE OCCURRED. ON AUGUST 6, TWO JOURNALISTS COVERING A STUDENT DISTURBANCE WERE THREATENED BY POLICE. THE NEW POLICE DIRECTOR (SWORN-IN LESS THAN AN HOUR EARLIER) WENT TO THE SCENE OF THE ALTERCATION. THE THREE OFFICERS HAVE BEEN DISCIPLINED, AND ONE IS CURRENTLY AWAITING TRIAL.

THE PRESIDENT'S OPEN ATTITUDE NOTWITHSTANDING, THE PRESS CONTINUED TO RECEIVE SOME THREATS. ON AUGUST 1 SHOTS WERE FIRED AGAINST DAILY "SIGLO XXI." PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO ORDERED AN INVESTIGATION, BUT NO ONE HAS BEEN CHARGED. IN MID-AUGUST, A TV JOURNALIST WHO INTERVIEWED TWO URNG COMANDANTES RECEIVED THREATS.

DESPITE HARASSMENT, THE NEWS MEDIA REPORTED ALL MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS STORIES AND PUBLICIZED COMMUNIQUES FROM THE URNG, LEFTIST GROUPS, AND OTHERS OPPOSED TO THE GOVERNMENT OR ITS POLICIES. BOTH MAJOR PRESS ASSOCIATIONS DENOUNCED INCIDENTS RESTRICTING FREEDOM

OF THE PRESS AND VOWED TO CONTINUE COVERAGE OF SENSITIVE TOPICS. ONE OF THESE ASSOCIATIONS HAS AGREED TO SERVE ON AN INTERIOR MINISTRY ADVISORY BOARD. JOURNALISTS ADMIT THAT SELF-CENSORSHIP STEMMING FROM FEAR OF REPRISAL CONTINUES TO IMPEDE FULL INVESTIGATIVE REPORTING ON A VARIETY OF TOPICS, INCLUDING ALLEGED GOVERNMENT HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, CORRUPTION OF GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND INFLUENTIAL POLITICIANS, ASPECTS OF NARCOTRAFFICKING, AND ISSUES AFFECTING THE ECONOMIC INTERESTS OF POWERFUL INDIVIDUALS. AN EXAMPLE OF THE LATTER PRACTICE OCCURRED IN EARLY SEPTEMBER WHEN IT WAS ALLEGED THAT NEWSPAPERS, CONCERNED ABOUT LOSING SUBSTANTIAL ADVERTISING REVENUE FROM A MAJOR SOFT-DRINK COMPANY, REFUSED TO CARRY A PAID ANNOUNCEMENT FROM A TRADE UNION COMPLAINING ABOUT COMPANY PRACTICES.

B. FREEDOM OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION

THE CONSTITUTION GUARANTEES THE RIGHTS OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION: PARADES, RALLIES, MARCHES, FORUMS, DEBATES, AND SEMINARS ON VARIOUS TOPICS, INCLUDING HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE PEACE PROCESS, TOOK PLACE OPENLY AND FREELY THROUGHOUT THE YEAR. DURING SERRANO'S AUTO-COUP, STREET DEMONSTRATIONS WERE A FACTOR IN FOCUSING PUBLIC DISAPPROVAL OF HIS ACTIONS. ALTHOUGH RALLIES WERE OFFICIALLY BANNED DURING THAT PERIOD, MOST OF THESE DEMONSTRATIONS WERE PEACEFUL. ONLY ONE DEMONSTRATION IS KNOWN TO HAVE BEEN BROKEN UP BY SECURITY FORCES. WITH SERRANO'S EXIT FROM OFFICE, CONSTITUTIONAL GUARANTEES OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION WERE RESTORED.

PRIOR TO THE COUP, THERE WAS A PLETHORA OF DEMONSTRATIONS, SOME INVOLVING VIOLENCE BETWEEN POLICE AND MARCHERS. SOME DEMONSTRATORS ALSO CLAIMED LATER HARASSMENT BY SECURITY FORCES DUE TO THEIR MARCH PARTICIPATION. ON MAY 11, A STUDENT PROTESTING AT CONGRESS WAS SHOT BY A CONGRESSIONAL BODYGUARD. HE DIED A DAY LATER; THE BODYGUARD WHO ALLEGEDLY FIRED THE SHOT REMAINS A FUGITIVE.

FREEDOM OF POLITICAL ASSOCIATION IS GUARANTEED UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, ALTHOUGH ORGANIZATIONS NOMINALLY REQUIRE LEGAL STATUS, A CUMBERSOME AND EXPENSIVE PROCEDURE. THE PEACE BRIGADES, AN INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS MONITORING ORGANIZATION, HAS BEEN UNABLE TO OBTAIN RECOGNITION DESPITE PERSISTENT EFFORTS. THE ABSENCE OF LEGAL STATUS DOES NOT, HOWEVER, PREVENT PEACE BRIGADES AND OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS FROM OPERATING OPENLY.

C. FREEDOM OF RELIGION

GUATEM 11452 1Ø OF 17 141814Z Ø22251 S087774
PRACTICE. RELIGIOUS PERSONNEL ARE SOMETIMES THREATENED FOR POLITICAL REASONS. ABOUT 7Ø PER CENT OF THE POPULATION IS NOMINALLY CATHOLIC, BUT MANY OTHER FAITHS OPERATE FREELY, ESPECIALLY EVANGELICAL PROTESTANTISM. FORMER PRESIDENT SERRANO IS AN EVANGELICAL PROTESTANT. CURRENT PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO IS A PRACTICING CATHOLIC.

D. FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT WITHIN THE COUNTRY, FOREIGN TRAVEL, EMIGRATION, AND REPATRIATION

THE GOVERNMENT DID NOT RESTRICT FOREIGN TRAVEL, NOR DID IT REVOKE CITIZENSHIP FOR POLITICAL REASONS. MOVEMENT INSIDE GUATEMALA WAS UNRESTRICTED EXCEPT IN SOME CONFLICTIVE AREAS. GUERRILLAS CONTINUED TO ESTABLISH ROAD BLOCKS, ASSAULT PRIVATE CITIZENS TO DEMAND "WAR TAXES," ATTACK AND DRAIN PETROLEUM TRUCKS, AND LIMIT TRAVEL IN CERTAIN RURAL AREAS. THE ARMY AND PAC'S ALSO LIMITED TRAVEL IN SOME AREAS.

NOBEL LAUREATE AND INDIGENOUS LEADER RIGOBERTA MENCHU VISITED GUATEMALA SEVERAL TIMES IN 1993 AND TRAVELED TO RURAL AREAS. LEADERS OF THE UNITED REPRESENTATION OF GUATEMALA IN EXILE (RUOG) ALSO VISITED. OTHER POLITICALLY ACTIVE GUATEMALANS WHO HAD GONE INTO EXILE RETURNED FOR FREQUENT STAYS WITHOUT HARASSMENT.

REPATRIATION OF REFUGEES CONTINUED. AN ESTIMATED 2,5ØØ REFUGEES RETURNED TO GUATEMALA ON JANUARY 2Ø IN A LARGE CARAVAN OF BUSES, COMING TO THE CAPITAL FOR A PEACEFUL DEMONSTRATION PRIOR TO CONTINUING ON TO THE POLIGONO 14 RESETTLEMENT SITE NEAR THE MEXICAN BORDER IN QUICHE PROVINCE. BY THE END OF JUNE, A TOTAL OF 3,632 REFUGEES HAD RETURNED UNDER THE SPONSORSHIP OF INTERNATIONAL GROUPS AND THE GOVERNMENT'S COMMITTEE ON REFUGEE AFFAIRS.

ON AUGUST 25, A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE GUATEMALAN REFUGEE COMMUNITY IN MEXICO, JOAQUIN JIMENEZ BAUTISTA, WAS BEATEN BY A CROWD INCLUDING PAC MEMBERS IN TODOS SANTOS, HUEHUETENANGO. JIMENEZ HAD RETURNED TO GUATEMALA AUGUST 17 AS PART OF A REFUGEE GROUP SEARCHING FOR RESETTLEMENT SITES. ON THE DAY OF THE BEATING, HE HAD LEFT THE GROUP, RETURNING FOR A VISIT TO HIS FORMER VILLAGE. CROWD MEMBERS LATER FORMALLY CHARGED JIMENEZ WAS A KNOWN GUERRILLA, WHO PARTICIPATED IN MURDERS IN THE 1980'S. JIMENEZ WAS

BRIEFLY DETAINED BY POLICE AFTER A MILITARY PATROL PREVENTED THE MOB FROM LYNCHING HIM. JIMENEZ WAS RELEASED BY ORDER OF THE MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT AND RETURNED TO MEXICO ON AUGUST 26.

SECTION 3: RESPECT FOR POLITICAL RIGHTS: THE RIGHT OF CITIZENS TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT

GUATEMALANS HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT BY PEACEFUL AND DEMOCRATIC MEANS. UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE BY SECRET BALLOT EXISTS FOR THOSE 18 YEARS OF AGE AND OLDER; THERE ARE NO PROPERTY OR LITERACY REQUIREMENTS. VOTING IS NOT MANDATORY. THE LAST NATIONAL ELECTIONS, WHICH INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS FOUND FREE AND FAIR, WERE HELD IN JANUARY 1991. FAIR AND FREE MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS IN MANY RURAL AREAS OF GUATEMALA WERE HELD ON MAY 8, 1993. MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES MAY NOT VOTE.

FOLLOWING THE LEGAL AND CONSTITUTIONAL REMOVAL OF PRESIDENT SERRANO AND VICE PRESIDENT ESPINA, RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO WAS ELECTED PRESIDENT BY A CONGRESSIONAL VOTE AND SWORN-IN JUNE 6, AS PRESCRIBED BY THE CONSTITUTION. ARTURO HERBRUGER, WHO WAS HEAD OF GUATEMALA'S INDEPENDENT SUPREME ELECTORAL TRIBUNAL UNTIL RETIRING IN EARLY JUNE, WAS ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT BY CONGRESS ON JUNE 18.

INDIGENOUS PEOPLE ENJOY EQUAL RIGHTS UNDER THE CONSTITUTION. THERE ARE SOME INDIGENOUS CONGRESSMEN, ARMY OFFICERS (INCLUDING ONE GENERAL), GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, AND JUDGES. NEVERTHELESS, PERVASIVE DISCRIMINATION LIMITS OPPORTUNITIES FOR INDIGENOUS PEOPLE TO ASSUME PROMINENT ROLES IN GUATEMALAN POLITICS.

SECTION 4: GOVERNMENTAL ATTITUDE REGARDING INTERNATIONAL AND NON-GOVERNMENTAL INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGED VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS AND ORGANIZATIONS ARE PERMITTED TO OPERATE IN GUATEMALA, BUT MEMBERS

SUFFERED THREATS AND VIOLENCE FROM SECURITY FORCES AND PAC'S. AS NOTED IN SECTION 1.A., MEMBERS OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION CERJ WERE KILLED AND THREATENED IN 1993. MEMBERS OF CONAVIGUA, AN INDIGENOUS WIDOWS ORGANIZATION PROMINENT IN THE ADVOCACY OF WOMEN'S AND HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES, ALSO RECEIVED THREATS. THE OFFICE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN AND THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REMAINED THE MOST RELIABLE SOURCES OF OBJECTIVE INFORMATION ON HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES, ISSUING MANY REPORTS CRITICAL OF BOTH THE GOVERNMENT AND THE GUERRILLAS. CONGRESS ELECTED JORGE MARIO GARCIA LAGUARDIA HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN TO REPLACE DE LEON CARPIO.

RELATIONS BETWEEN THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH AND THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE WERE TENSE AT TIMES IN THE FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR, THOUGH AFTER THE ELECTION OF DE LEON CARPIO AS PRESIDENT, MATTERS IMPROVED CONSIDERABLY. HIGH-RANKING GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS WORKING IN THE FIELDS OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND JURISPRUDENCE HAVE COMPLAINED PUBLICLY AND PRIVATELY OF RECEIVING THREATS STEMMING FROM THEIR INTEREST IN RESOLVING CASES RELATED TO HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, OFFICIAL CORRUPTION, AND NARCOTRAFFICKING. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE CONTINUED TO ENJOY WIDESPREAD PUBLIC SUPPORT AND RESPECT.

PRIOR TO THE MID-YEAR CHANGE IN ADMINISTRATIONS, THE GOVERNMENT OFFICIALLY WELCOMED, BUT AT TIMES CRITICIZED, INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS. BOTH LOCAL AND INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS WERE CRITICIZED BY PRESIDENT SERRANO AND MEMBERS OF HIS CABINET, WHO ACCUSED THEM OF INTENTIONALLY DISTORTING GUATEMALA'S HUMAN RIGHTS RECORD FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES. FOLLOWING DE LEON'S TAKING OFFICE, THE GOVERNMENT MADE CLEAR ITS WILLINGNESS AND COMMITMENT TO RECEIVE INTERNATIONAL AND DOMESTIC HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS. SENIOR GUATEMALAN OFFICIALS MET NUMEROUS FOREIGN AND INTERNATIONAL OFFICIALS AND ACTIVISTS. UNITED NATIONS HUMAN RIGHTS EXPERT CHRISTIAN TOMUSCHAT VISITED IN JANUARY AND RECEIVED THE COOPERATION OF THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT AND WIDESPREAD PRESS COVERAGE. AN OAS HUMAN RIGHTS DELEGATION VISITED IN SEPTEMBER. FOREIGN FORENSIC ANTHROPOLOGISTS AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS TOOK PART IN

THE LOCATION AND EXHUMATION OF CLANDESTINE CEMETERIES.

INDIGENOUS PEOPLE:

ONE-HALF OF THE POPULATION IS CULTURALLY INDIGENOUS AND THE REST HISPANIC. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE REMAIN LARGELY OUTSIDE THE COUNTRY'S POLITICAL, ECONOMIC, SOCIAL, AND CULTURAL MAINSTREAM. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE SUFFERED MOST OF THE SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES DESCRIBED ABOVE. RURAL INDIGENOUS MEN WERE MORE LIKELY THAN URBAN COUNTERPARTS TO BE DRAFTED BY THE ARMY OR RECRUITED FORCIBLY BY GUERRILLA GROUPS.

RURAL INDIGENOUS PEOPLE HAVE LIMITED EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES AND THUS HAVE LIMITED EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES. ILLITERACY IS PREVALENT IN INDIGENOUS COMMUNITIES. MANY INDIGENOUS GUATEMALANS DO NOT SPEAK SPANISH. LINGUISTIC BARRIERS HINDER INTERACTION WITH THE GOVERNMENT AND LIMIT ACCESS TO PUBLIC SERVICES, INCLUDING THE JUDICIARY, BECAUSE FEW OFFICIALS SPEAK INDIGENOUS LANGUAGES. INDIGENOUS PERSONS ARRESTED FOR CRIMES ARE OFTEN AT A DISADVANTAGE DUE TO THEIR LACK OF SPANISH. THE GOVERNMENT'S OFFICE OF PUBLIC DEFENSE PROVIDES JUDICIAL TRANSLATING SERVICES, BUT IS NOT SUFFICIENTLY STAFFED TO COPE WITH THE PROBLEM. UNDER THE NEW PENAL CODE, THE GOVERNMENT WILL BE REQUIRED TO PROVIDE TRANSLATING SERVICES TO ALL IN NEED.

WOMEN:

WOMEN ARE ACTIVE IN THE LABOR FORCE, ESPECIALLY IN THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY, AGRICULTURE, RETAIL BUSINESS, AND IN LOWER-PAYING PUBLIC SECTOR JOBS. SEVERAL

WOMEN HOLD PROMINENT POLITICAL POSITIONS, INCLUDING CABINET POSTS. DESPITE LEGAL PROTECTION, WOMEN FACE JOB DISCRIMINATION AND RECEIVE LOWER PAY THAN MEN. CONAVIGUA REPORTS THAT VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN, INCLUDING DOMESTIC VIOLENCE, REMAINS COMMON BUT RECEIVES LITTLE ATTENTION. CRIMINAL SEXUAL VIOLENCE OFTEN GOES UNREPORTED BY VICTIMS AND RELATIVELY FEW RAPE CASES COME TO COURT. OCCASIONALLY CASES OF RAPE TRACED TO INDIVIDUAL SOLDIERS OR GUERRILLAS ARE REPORTED. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE MONITORS VIOLATIONS OF WOMEN'S RIGHTS.

PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES:

ARTICLE 53 OF THE CONSTITUTION GUARANTEES STATE PROTECTION FOR DISABLED PERSONS. NONETHELESS, GIVEN THE HIGH UNEMPLOYMENT RATE IN GUATEMALA, AND PREVAILING SOCIAL NORMS, PHYSICALLY DISABLED PERSONS ARE DISCRIMINATED AGAINST IN EMPLOYMENT PRACTICES. THIS IS NOT A GOVERNMENT POLICY, BUT FEW RESOURCES ARE DEVOTED TO COMBAT THIS PROBLEM. NO LEGISLATION EXISTS MANDATING ACCESSIBILITY FOR THE DISABLED.

CHILDREN:

THE PROBLEM OF STREET CHILDREN (SECTION 1.C.) IS A SERIOUS ONE IN MAJOR GUATEMALAN CITIES. THESE CHILDREN ARE OFTEN RECRUITED INTO THIEVERY OR PROSTITUTION RINGS. THE GOVERNMENT AND A NUMBER OF NGO'S HAVE YOUTH CENTERS, BUT THE FUNDS DEVOTED TO THESE ARE INADEQUATE FOR THE PROBLEM. IN AUGUST, THE GOVERNMENT OPENED A SCHOOL IN SAN JOSE PINULA DEVOTED TO THE REHABILITATION OF STREET CHILDREN. ESTIMATES OF STREET CHILDREN IN ALL OF GUATEMALA RANGE BETWEEN 1,500 AND 5,000, WITH THE MAJORITY OF THESE YOUTHS CONCENTRATED IN GUATEMALA CITY.

GUATEMALA RECENTLY BECAME A SIGNATORY TO THE UNITED NATIONS CONVENTION ON THE RIGHTS OF THE CHILD AND HAS PLEDGED TO REVISE ITS LAWS IN LINE WITH THE CONVENTION. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, ALONG WITH A COMMISSION OF 25 GOVERNMENTAL AND NON-GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS IS REVISING THE CURRENT CODE. THE NEW DRAFT CODE CONTAINS PROVISIONS

SECTION 6: WORKER RIGHTS

A. THE RIGHT OF ASSOCIATION.

THE CONSTITUTION AND THE 1947 LABOR CODE, AS AMENDED, PROVIDE WORKERS FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION AND THE RIGHT TO FORM AND JOIN TRADE UNIONS. THE LABOR CODE WAS AMENDED IN LATE 1992 TO FACILITATE FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION, TO STRENGTHEN THE RIGHTS OF WORKING WOMEN, TO INCREASE PENALTIES FOR VIOLATIONS OF LABOR LAWS, AND TO ENHANCE THE ROLE OF THE LABOR MINISTRY AND LABOR COURTS IN ENFORCING THE LABOR CODE. ALL WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO FORM OR JOIN UNIONS, INCLUDING PUBLIC SECTOR EMPLOYEES, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF MEMBERS OF SECURITY FORCES. IN FEBRUARY, A DECREE WAS PASSED TO RESTRICT ORGANIZING OF WORKERS IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR, BY GIVING A BROAD, THOUGH NOT UNREASONABLE, INTERPRETATION TO "ESSENTIAL SERVICES." THIS DECREE WAS WITHDRAWN, HOWEVER, FOLLOWING PROTESTS BY PUBLIC SECTOR EMPLOYEES AND THE MINISTER OF LABOR. EFFORTS TO FORM A TRADE UNION OR ASSOCIATION FOR NATIONAL POLICE OFFICERS WAS STYMIED FOR MOST OF 1993, BUT BY LATE 1993 A NEW DIRECTOR OF THE NATIONAL POLICE OPENED A DIALOGUE WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THIS GROUP. BETWEEN 5 AND 8 PERCENT OF THE WORK FORCE IS ORGANIZED. THE 898 UNIONS IN THE COUNTRY ARE INDEPENDENT OF GOVERNMENT AND POLITICAL PARTY DOMINATION.

THE LABOR CODE AMENDMENTS SIMPLIFIED THE PROCESS FOR UNIONS SEEKING LEGAL STATUS, WHICH HAD BEEN CRITICIZED AS EXCESSIVELY CUMBERSOME, BY ELIMINATING A NUMBER OF PROVISIONS, INCLUDING ONE THAT REQUIRED

THE PRESIDENT OF THE COUNTRY TO SIGN THE FINAL PAPERS. IN 1993 (NUMBER AVAILABLE IN DECEMBER) UNIONS WERE APPROVED WITH AN AVERAGE WAITING PERIOD

OF (NUMBER AVAILABLE IN DECEMBER). NONETHELESS, EXPERIENCE DURING 1993 DEMONSTRATED THAT PROBLEMS STILL EXIST. THE ILO'S COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS ON THE APPLICATION OF CONVENTIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS REPORTED IN MID-1993 THAT SOME OF THE AMENDMENTS TO THE LABOR CODE MAY MAKE IT MORE DIFFICULT FOR WORKERS TO FORM UNIONS. THE ILO COMMITTEE REQUESTED THE GOVERNMENT OF GUATEMALA TO TAKE NECESSARY MEASURES TO MAKE THE LEGISLATION MORE FLEXIBLE AND TO BRING ALL LABOR LEGISLATION INTO LINE WITH REQUIREMENTS OF CONVENTION NUMBER 87. A TRIPARTITE PANEL OF GUATEMALANS IS EXPLORING HOW THESE PROBLEMS MIGHT BE OVERCOME THROUGH ADMINISTRATIVE ACTIONS. THIS INCLUDES EFFORTS BY THE MINISTRY OF LABOR TO FIND WAYS TO REDUCE THE NUMBER OF STEPS REQUIRED TO REGISTER A UNION. BY REVISING INTERNAL REGULATIONS, THE MINISTRY PLANS TO REDUCE THE NUMBER OF STEPS REQUIRED FROM THE CURRENT 48 TO 15.

WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO STRIKE. LABOR CODE PROCEDURES MAKE LEGAL STRIKES CUMBERSOME. THE ILO COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS STRESSED THE DIFFICULTIES LIKELY TO BE ENCOUNTERED BY UNIONS IN COMPLYING WITH THE REQUIREMENT THAT TWO-THIRDS OF THE WORKERS VOTE TO APPROVE A STRIKE. THE FEW STRIKES WHICH DO OCCUR ARE GENERALLY CALLED WITHOUT LEGAL AUTHORIZATION, AND IN PRACTICE THE GOVERNMENT MAKES NO EFFORT TO INTERVENE ON THE BASIS OF ILLEGALITY. NONETHELESS, THE LACK OF LEGAL SANCTION FOR A STRIKE CAN BE USED AS A THREAT AGAINST STRIKERS. ORGANIZED LABOR'S STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES, A RELUCTANCE TO ACTIVELY ORGANIZE THE UNORGANIZED, A RESULTANT PAUCITY OF MEMBERSHIP FUNDS, AND A POOR OVERALL ECONOMIC SITUATION WITH HIGH UNEMPLOYMENT AND UNDEREMPLOYMENT LIMIT THE DURATION OF VIRTUALLY ALL STRIKES.

THE LAW PROTECTS WORKERS FROM RETRIBUTION FOR FORMING AND PARTICIPATING IN TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES. COMPLIANCE WITH THE LAW, HOWEVER, VARIES FROM INDUSTRY TO INDUSTRY. TRADE UNION LEADERS AND INDIVIDUAL WORKERS COMPLAIN THAT WORKERS HAVE BEEN THREATENED WITH THE LOSS OF THEIR JOBS, OR PHYSICAL HARM, FOR THEIR INTEREST IN FORMING A UNION. ONE UNION LEADER WAS DISCHARGED IN LATE 1992 BY A STATE-OWNED ENTERPRISE FOR PARTICIPATING IN A SEMINAR SPONSORED BY THE AFL-CIO, DESPITE CLEAR CONTRACT

LANGUAGE WHICH WOULD PERMIT SUCH TRAINING. ALTHOUGH A LOWER LABOR COURT ORDERED THE COMPANY TO REINSTATE THIS LEADER, THERE WAS NO FINAL ACTION ON THIS CASE DURING 1993. THIS CASE IS OF INTEREST SINCE THE LOWER LABOR COURT ACTED QUICKLY. UNION LEADERS AND OTHER INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS OBSERVERS AGREE THAT LABOR COURTS ARE GENERALLY SLOW IN HEARING COMPLAINTS, AND IN ISSUING DECISIONS RELATED TO COMPLAINTS BY WORKERS AND UNIONISTS THAT THEIR RIGHTS TO FORM AND JOIN TRADE UNIONS ARE NOT PROTECTED.

DURING THE YEAR TRADE UNION LEADERS AND MEMBERS WERE AMONG THOSE SUBJECTED TO A VARIETY OF ABUSES, SUCH AS THREATS, KIDNAPPINGS, AND PHYSICAL HARM. IN SOME INSTANCES THESE ABUSES APPEAR TO HAVE BEEN DIRECTLY TIED TO LABOR ACTIVITIES, BUT GIVEN THE HIGH INCIDENCE OF VIOLENCE IN GUATEMALA IT IS GENERALLY DIFFICULT TO DISTINGUISH BETWEEN ACTS WHICH MAY BE ASSOCIATED WITH A PERSON'S POLITICAL OR TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES AND THOSE WHICH ARE COMMON CRIMINAL ACTS. THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS DURING THE YEAR OF THREATS OF VIOLENCE AGAINST UNION LEADERS OR MEMBERS, INCLUDING IN THE HIGH-PROFILE "MAQUILA" (DRAWBACK, OR IN-BOND EXPORT) SECTOR. PUBLIC SECTOR UNION LEADERS ALSO REPORTED RECEIVING THREATS AGAINST THEMSELVES AND THEIR FAMILIES, USUALLY COINCIDING WITH UNION DEMANDS FOR IMPROVED BENEFITS.

BY LAW, UNION LEADERS MAY SERVE ONLY ONE TERM IN A PARTICULAR UNION OFFICE, BUT, BY ROTATING UNION POSITIONS, THE SAME PERSONS CAN STAY ON UNION EXECUTIVE BOARDS FOR EXTENDED PERIODS OF TIME. THE CONSTITUTION AND THE 1992 LAW PROTECT THE RIGHT OF POLITICAL PARTICIPATION FOR INDIVIDUALS, INCLUDING TRADE UNION LEADERS. DURING 1993, TRADE UNION LEADERS BECAME MORE INVOLVED IN NATIONAL POLITICAL AFFAIRS, PARTICULARLY DURING THE POLITICAL TURMOIL FOLLOWING THE RESIGNATION OF FORMER PRESIDENT SERRANO AND THE MOVE TO PURGE CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME COURT. UNIONS MAY AND DO FORM FEDERATIONS AND CONFEDERATIONS AND JOIN INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS.

WITH VERY FEW EXCEPTIONS, TRADE UNIONS DEPEND ON ASSISTANCE RECEIVED FROM INTERNATIONAL CONTACTS.

A "SOLIDARITY" MOVEMENT IS ACTIVE, CLAIMING APPROXIMATELY 100,000 MEMBERS IN OVER 350 COMPANIES. UNIONS MAY LEGALLY CONTINUE TO OPERATE IN WORKPLACES WHICH HAVE SOLIDARITY ASSOCIATIONS, AND WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHOOSE BETWEEN THE TWO, OR BELONG TO BOTH. THE GOVERNMENT VIEWS THESE ASSOCIATIONS AS CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS WHICH NEED NOT INTERFERE WITH THE FUNCTIONING OF TRADE UNIONS. ARTICLE 214 OF THE AMENDED LABOR CODE STIPULATES THAT TRADE UNIONS HAVE THE EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY OVER WORK CONDITIONS ON BEHALF OF WORKERS. UNIONISTS CHARGE THAT SOLIDARITY ASSOCIATIONS ARE PROMOTED BY MANAGEMENT TO AVOID THE FORMATION OF TRADE UNIONS, OR TO RIVAL EXISTING LABOR UNIONS. THERE ARE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT, AT TIMES, DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES ARE NOT ADHERED TO IN THE FORMATION AND MANAGEMENT OF SOME OF THESE ASSOCIATIONS, AND WORKERS ARE UNABLE TO PARTICIPATE FULLY AND FREELY IN DECISION MAKING. SIMILAR CREDIBLE CHARGES ARE MADE AGAINST SOME TRADE UNION ORGANIZATIONS.

AT THE REQUEST OF TRADE UNION LEADERS, THE INDEPENDENT HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, THROUGH HIS OFFICE FOR ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL ISSUES, FOLLOWS COMPLAINTS RELATED TO TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES. UNION LEADERS AND WORKERS FILED A NUMBER OF COMPLAINTS WITH THE OMBUDSMAN DURING THE YEAR. IN JULY, THE INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION'S (ILO) COMMITTEE ON

THE APPLICATION OF CONVENTIONS NOTED THE SERIOUS SITUATION OF VIOLENCE AND INSECURITY WHICH EXISTS IN GUATEMALA, AS WELL AS THE "DIFFICULT TRANSITION TOWARDS DEMOCRACY" UNDERWAY IN THE COUNTRY. IT ASKED FOR "TOTAL AND UNCONDITIONAL RESPECT" BY THE NEW GOVERNMENT TO THE OBSERVATIONS OF THE COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS.

B. THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY

WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY, BUT ARE OFTEN DENIED THIS RIGHT BY ANTI-UNION ACTIONS OF EMPLOYERS. THE PRACTICE OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING IS LIMITED, MOREOVER, BY THE WEAK STRUCTURE OF THE UNION MOVEMENT, THE LACK OF CUSTOM WITH THIS PRACTICE, AND BY THE PREFERENCE OF

MANAGEMENT IN MANY CASES TO AVOID FORMAL TIES WITH TRADE UNIONS. THERE ARE SOME WELL-WRITTEN COLLECTIVE CONTRACTS IN FORCE, WHICH ARE HONORED BY BOTH MANAGEMENT AND THE UNIONS. IN OTHER INSTANCES, HOWEVER, CONTRACTS HAVE BEEN OPENLY IGNORED AND VIOLATED BY BOTH TRADE UNION LEADERS AND MANAGEMENT. MOST WORKERS, EVEN THOSE ORGANIZED BY TRADE UNIONS, DO NOT HAVE COLLECTIVE CONTRACTS TO COVER THEIR WAGES AND WORKING CONDITIONS. WAGES RECEIVED BY THE BULK OF THE WORK FORCE TEND TO BE THE MINIMUM WAGES

ESTABLISHED BY A BIPARTITE COMMISSION, WHICH OPERATES UNDER THE TUTELAGE OF THE MINISTRY OF LABOR.

AMENDMENTS TO THE LABOR CODE PROVIDED THAT WORKERS CANNOT BE DISMISSED FOR PARTICIPATING IN THE FORMATION OF A TRADE UNION. WORKERS OR UNION LEADERS MUST FILE COMPLAINTS WITH THE LABOR INSPECTORS TO RESOLVE COMPLAINTS RELATED TO DISMISSALS FOR THIS ACTION. ARTICLE 78 OF THE LABOR CODE ESTABLISHED THE RIGHT OF EMPLOYERS TO FIRE WORKERS FOR CAUSE AND PERMITS WORKERS TO APPEAL THEIR DISMISSAL TO THE LABOR COURTS, BUT DOES NOT REQUIRE THE REINSTATEMENT OF ANY WORKER FIRED WITHOUT CAUSE. ARTICLE 209, AS REVISED, PROHIBITS EMPLOYERS FROM FIRING WORKERS FOR UNION ORGANIZING AND PROTECTS THEM FOR 60 DAYS FOLLOWING THE OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF APPROVAL OF THE UNION. IN ADDITION, ARTICLE 223 NOW PROHIBITS EMPLOYERS FROM FIRING ANY MEMBER OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF A UNION AND PROTECTS THEM FOR AN ADDITIONAL 12 MONTHS AFTER THEY ARE NO LONGER ON THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. IF FIRED FOR CAUSE, THIS CAN ONLY BE MADE EFFECTIVE AFTER A TRIAL AND A COURT RESOLUTION HAS BEEN ISSUED.

LABOR COURTS RESPONSIBLE FOR ENFORCING LABOR LAWS CONTINUED GENERALLY TO BE INEFFECTIVE, ACCORDING TO UNION OFFICIALS. IN AN EFFORT TO RELIEVE THE OVERWHELMING WORKLOAD OF THE LABOR COURTS, THREE NEW COURTS WERE TO HAVE BEEN CREATED IN 1992/93. FOR BUDGET REASONS, THIS WAS NOT DONE, AND EFFORTS TO RESTRUCTURE AND MODERNIZE THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM MADE

NO HEADWAY. ONE NEW COURT WAS ORGANIZED IN MARCH 1993, BUT HAS NOT FUNCTIONED. A HEAVY BACKLOG OF LABOR CASES CONTINUES TO CLOG THE COURTS.

ENFORCEMENT OF THE LABOR CODE HAS BEEN SPOTTY, DUE IN PART TO THE SCARCITY OF LABOR INSPECTORS, THE LACK OF ADEQUATE TRAINING AND RESOURCES, AND THE STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES IN THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM. THE MINISTRY OF LABOR HIRED 37 NEW LABOR INSPECTORS IN MID-SEPTEMBER, AND PROVIDED THEM WITH TRAINING AND RESOURCES TO CARRY OUT THEIR FUNCTIONS. SOME WERE ASSIGNED IN RURAL AREAS TO GIVE GREATER ATTENTION TO THE LACK OF PROTECTION OF WORKER RIGHTS FOR RURAL WORKERS. ENFORCEMENT IS EXPECTED TO IMPROVE ONCE THESE INSPECTORS ARE IN PLACE.

LABOR LAWS AND REGULATIONS APPLY THROUGHOUT GUATEMALA, INCLUDING IN THE FEW EXPORT PROCESSING ZONES IN THE COUNTRY. THE LAWS GOVERNING EXPORT PROCESSING ZONES ARE NOT DISCRIMINATORY ON THE SUBJECT OF ORGANIZING TRADE UNIONS OR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING. WHILE UNION LEADERS OFTEN BLAME EMPLOYER PRESSURES AND UNOFFICIAL RESTRICTED ACCESS TO THE ZONES FOR THEIR VIRTUAL INABILITY TO ORGANIZE WORKERS IN THESE ZONES, LABOR CONDITIONS IN THESE ZONES ARE NO DIFFERENT THAN THOSE FOUND OUTSIDE OF THE ZONES. WORKERS AND TRADE UNION LEADERS CHARGE THAT ALL WORKERS, INCLUDING THOSE IN EXPORT PROCESSING ZONES, RECEIVE LOW WAGES, WORK LONG HOURS WITHOUT LEGALLY REQUIRED OVERTIME PAY, AND TOIL UNDER POOR WORKING CONDITIONS. WHILE LABOR MINISTRY INSPECTORS FILED

NUMEROUS COMPLAINTS BEFORE THE LABOR COURTS ON THESE CHARGES, FEW OF THESE CASES WERE RESOLVED DUE TO INEFFICIENCIES WITHIN THE COURT SYSTEM AND TO LEGAL MANEUVERING WHICH EMPLOYERS CAN USE TO PROLONG THE HEARING PROCESS.

C. PROHIBITION OF FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR

THE CONSTITUTION BARS FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR AND THE PRACTICE DOES NOT EXIST. HUMAN RIGHTS AND INDIGENOUS GROUPS CONTINUE TO CHARGE THAT COERCED PARTICIPATION, PARTICULARLY OF INDIGENOUS PEOPLES, IN THE PAC'S VIOLATES PROHIBITIONS AGAINST FORCED LABOR. THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS OF ISOLATED INSTANCES OF UNPAID PAC MEMBERS BEING USED TO PROVIDE FREE MANUAL LABOR, BUT NO SYSTEMATIC PATTERN OF SUCH

PRACTICE WAS ESTABLISHED. CHARGES THAT WORKERS IN SOME "MAQUILA" FACTORIES ARE FORCED TO WORK OVERTIME, OR GIVEN DRUGS TO HELP THEM WORK LONGER, ARE UNDER INVESTIGATION BY THE MINISTER OF LABOR.

D. MINIMUM AGE FOR THE EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN

ALTHOUGH THE CONSTITUTION BARS EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS

UNDER THE AGE OF 14, CHILDREN BELOW THIS MINIMUM AGE ARE REGULARLY EMPLOYED IN THE FORMAL AND INFORMAL SECTORS OF THE ECONOMY. LAWS GOVERNING THE EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS ARE NOT EFFECTIVELY ENFORCED, DUE TO THE SHORTAGE OF QUALIFIED LABOR INSPECTORS AND STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES OF THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM. ONLY 5,000 MINORS HAVE LEGAL PERMISSION FROM THE LABOR MINISTRY TO WORK. THOSE WORKING WITHOUT LEGAL PERMISSION ARE OPEN TO EXPLOITATION, GENERALLY RECEIVING NO SOCIAL BENEFITS, NO SOCIAL INSURANCE, NO PENSION OR VACATIONS, NO SEVERANCE PAY, AND ARE PAID AT BELOW THE MINIMUM WAGE LEVEL. THE LABOR MINISTRY HAS A PROGRAM TO EDUCATE MINORS, THEIR PARENTS, AND EMPLOYERS ON THE RIGHTS OF MINORS IN THE LABOR MARKET. ECONOMIC NECESSITY, HOWEVER, FORCES MOST FAMILIES TO HAVE THEIR CHILDREN SEEK SOME TYPE OF EMPLOYMENT TO SUPPLEMENT THE FAMILY INCOME.

E. ACCEPTABLE CONDITIONS OF WORK

MINIMUM WAGES ARE SET BY LAW. DUE TO A VARIETY OF FACTORS, MOST IMPORTANTLY THE SHARP VARIANCE BETWEEN THE OVERSUPPLY OF LABOR AND THE LIMITED DEMAND FOR IT, THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR MOST UNSKILLED AND SEMISKILLED WORKERS IS THE PREVAILING WAGE CEILING, AND NOT THE MORE COMMONLY ACCEPTED WAGE FLOOR. WIDESPREAD, CREDIBLE REPORTS INDICATED THE MINIMUM WAGE IS COMMONLY, IF ILLEGALLY, NOT PAID TO SIGNIFICANT NUMBERS OF RURAL AND URBAN WORKERS. THE

CURRENT MINIMUM WAGE, ESTABLISHED BY LAW IN LATE 1991, FOR COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL WORKERS IS 11.60

QUETZALS PER DAY, BUT THESE WORKERS MUST ALSO RECEIVE AN HOURLY BONUS PAYMENT OF 0.30 CENTAVOS. IT IS THEREFORE COMMONLY STATED THAT THE MINIMUM WAGE IS 14.00 FOR AN 8-HOUR WORK DAY. THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR FARM WORKERS IS 10.60 QUETZALS, BUT THEY RECEIVE 0.20 CENTAVOS AS A MANDATORY BONUS, WHICH MAKES THEIR ACTUAL MINIMUM DAILY WAGE 11.60 QUETZALS. IN SEPTEMBER, WHEN THE EXCHANGE RATE WAS 5.75 QUETZALS TO ONE U.S. DOLLAR, THE MINIMUM DAILY WAGE FOR INDUSTRIAL/COMMERCIAL WORKERS IN U.S. DOLLARS WAS $2.42. FOR AGRICULTURAL WORKERS IT WAS $2.00.

THIS MINIMUM WAGE DOES NOT PROVIDE A DECENT STANDARD OF LIVING; GOVERNMENT STATISTICS INDICATE THE MINIMUM WAGE SHOULD BE AT LEAST THREE TIMES HIGHER THAN CURRENTLY ESTABLISHED. AN ESTIMATED 80 PERCENT OF THE POPULATION LIVES BELOW THE GUATEMALAN POVERTY LINE, INCLUDING APPROXIMATELY 70 PERCENT OF THOSE EMPLOYED.

A BILATERAL COMMITTEE REPRESENTING LABOR AND MANAGEMENT IS NAMED EACH YEAR TO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR INCREASES IN THE MINIMUM WAGE. IN THE EVENT THAT AGREEMENT IS NOT POSSIBLE, THE GOVERNMENT MAY DECREE SUCH INCREASES. THE MINIMUM WAGE WAS INCREASED IN LATE 1991 BY 78.5 PERCENT. THE MINIMUM WAGE WAS NOT INCREASED IN 1993, WHEN INFLATION WAS APPROXIMATELY 12 PERCENT.

THE LEGAL WORKDAY IS 8 HOURS AND THE WORKWEEK IS 44 HOURS; BUT A TRADITION OF MUCH LONGER HOURS REMAINS IN PLACE DUE TO ECONOMIC CONDITIONS. THE AMENDED LABOR CODE CONTINUES THE TRADITION OF PROVIDING ALL WORKERS A REQUIRED WEEKLY REST PERIOD OF AT LEAST 24 HOURS. TRADE UNION LEADERS AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS CHARGE THAT WORKERS ARE COMMONLY FORCED TO WORK OVERTIME, OFTEN WITHOUT OVERTIME PREMIUM PAY, TO MEET WORK REQUIREMENTS. LABOR INSPECTORS REPORT THAT NUMEROUS INSTANCES WERE UNCOVERED OF SUCH ABUSES, BUT INEFFICIENCIES IN THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM INHIBIT ADEQUATE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW.

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY STANDARDS ARE INADEQUATE. AS WITH OTHER ASPECTS OF THE LABOR LAW, ENFORCEMENT OF STANDARDS THAT DO EXIST IS ALSO GENERALLY INADEQUATE. TRAINING COURSES FOR LABOR INSPECTORS IN HEALTH AND SAFETY STANDARDS WERE

SUBJECT: GOG MAY LIST FORMER PRISONERS AND CURRENT COLLABORATORS

1. [redacted] -- ENTIRE TEXT.

2. IN THE COURSE OF A RUSHED OCTOBER 7 LUNCH WITH DATT AND POLMIL OFF. AN ARMY OFFICER DEALING WITH [redacted] TOLD US THAT JENNIFER HARBURY, THE U.S. CITIZEN WIFE OF EFRAIN BAMACA (COMANDANTE EVERADO) HAS FILED AN INTER-AMERICAN COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS CASE CHARGING THE GOG WITH HOLDING HER HUSBAND AND OTHER GUERRILLA PRISONERS IN CLANDESTINE CELLS. OUR SOURCE JUDGED THE COMPLAINT POLITICALLY MOTIVATED AND OF LITTLE SUBSTANCE. AS PART OF ITS EFFORT TO REPLY TO THE CHARGES, THE GOG MAY SEEK TO PROVE HARBURY NEVER MARRIED BAMACA.

3. RECITING A LIST OF ORPA FOUNDERS, THE ARMY OFFICIAL TOLD US THAT MANY LOCAL COMANDANTES HAVE DIED AND BEEN BURIED IN PLACES UNKNOWN TO THE GOG. THAT BAMACA'S BODY WAS NOT FOUND IN RETALHULEU PROVES NOTHING. IN ANY CASE, AS ANOTHER PART OF ITS EFFORT TO WIN THE PR BATTLE AROUND THE CASE, OUR INTERLOCUTOR SAID THE MILITARY MAY/MAY PRODUCE A LIST OF GUERRILLAS WHO HAVE TURNED THEMSELVES IN AND BEEN ALLOWED TO RETURN TO THEIR HOME VILLAGES, AS WELL AS THOSE WHO HAVE JOINED THE ARMY AS COLLABORATORS.

4. COMMENT: WE ARE NOT SURE THAT THE GOG STRATEGY OF ATTACKING HARBURY'S BONAFIDES WILL GENERATE ANYTHING BUT ILL-WILL. WHILE GOG IDENTIFICATION OF STILL-LIVING EX-GUERRILLAS WOULD BE A POSITIVE PR STEP, IT MIGHT PUT THE LIVES OF THESE PERSONS AT RISK. IT ALSO WILL NOT SATISFY THOSE CLAIMING THE ARMY RUNS CLANDESTINE PRISONS. BY THE SAME TOKEN, IF THIS CASE SHOULD TAKE OFF, WE WOULD NOT BE SURPRISED TO SEE THE GOG MORE LOUDLY ASK WHY THE URNG HOLDS NO GOVERNMENT PRISONERS.

SUBJECT: THE THREE STOOGES: SENSATIONAL ALLEGATIONS

SUMMARY

1. (U) TWO EX-SOLDIERS, CURRENTLY SERVING THIRTY YEAR SENTENCES FOR THE KILLING OF AMCIT MICHAEL DEVINE, MADE ACCUSATIONS OF HIGH-LEVEL MILITARY INVOLVEMENT IN VARIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS CASES. THESE INMATES ON OCT 11 HAD OFFERED TO "TELL THE TRUTH" CONCERNING MILITARY INVOLVEMENT IN HUMAN RIGHTS CRIMES IN EXCHANGE FOR A REDUCTION IN THEIR PRISON SENTENCES.

2. (U) ON OCT 13, THEY RETRACTED THEIR EARLIER STATEMENTS, CLAIMING ANOTHER INMATE, JORGE GUILLERMO ALVARADO LEMUS, BRIBED THEM TO MAKE THESE FALSE ACCUSATIONS. LEMUS DENIED THESE ALLEGATIONS, STATING HE HAS NO MONEY. HE POINTED OUT THAT THE MEMBERS OF THE PRESIDENTIAL NATIONAL DEFENSE STAFF HAD BEEN MAKING VARIOUS VISITS TO THE PRISON TO NEGOTIATE WITH THESE TWO EX-SOLDIERS. SOLBAL, HERNANDEZ AND LEMUS HAD APPEARED TOGETHER AT THE OCT 11 PRESS CONFERENCE AT WHICH THE ORIGINAL ALLEGATIONS WERE MADE. LEMUS HAD UP TO NOW BEEN THE GROUP'S SPOKESMAN AND LEADER. END SUMMARY.

OCT 11 PRESS CONFERENCE

3. (U) PRESS CONFERENCE. ON OCT 11, PRISON INMATES, HERNANDEZ, SOLBAL AND LEMUS, HELD A PRESS CONFERENCE IN WHICH THEY PROMISED TO GIVE DETAILS CONCERNING HUMAN RIGHTS CASES IN EXCHANGE FOR A REDUCTION IN THEIR PRISON SENTENCES. THE INMATES PROMISED TO REVEAL THE TRUTH CONCERNING THE MICHAEL DEVINE MURDER, NAME THE INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS OF THE

MYRNA MACK KILLING, AND GIVE THE LOCATIONS OF CLANDESTINE CEMETERIES USED TO BURY HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE VICTIMS. ACCORDING TO NEWSPAPER EPOCA THE THIRD INMATE, LEMUS , IS SERVING A THREE YEAR CONVICTION FOR STEALING CARS. LEMUS CLAIMS AN AIR FORCE CAPTAIN, ARMY ENLISTED PERSONNEL AND ONE CONGRESSMAN DIRECT THIS GUATEMALAN STOLEN CAR RING.

4. (U) AT THE PRESS CONFERENCE, THE INMATES OFFERED FEW SPECIFIC DETAILS ABOUT HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. CONCERNING THE MICHAEL DEVINE CASE, THEY ALLEGED DEVINE WAS ACCUSED OF ROBBING A FIREARM AND WAS ASSASSINATED. THE CONVICTS CLAIMED FOUR (UNNAMED) OFFICERS WERE INVOLVED IN THE DEVINE KILLING AND THAT "A FEW" OF THOSE OFFICERS HAVE BEEN PROMOTED TO GENERAL.

5. (U) THE TWO EX-SOLDIERS CLAIMED THEY WERE PART OF A FOURTEEN MEMBER DEATH SQUAD UNIT WHICH TOOK ORDERS FROM THE D-2 (ARMY INTELLIGENCE). THEY ALLEGED THAT FOUR SUCH DEATH SQUADS EXISTED. SOLBAL, WHO CLAIMS TO HAVE DESERTED FROM THE FAR (REBEL ARMED FORCES OF THE URNG) EIGHT YEARS AGO, SAID THAT, AS A DEATH SQUAD MEMBER, HE HAD EXECUTED 20 TO 30 GUERRILLA SUPPORTERS. HERNANDEZ ADMITTED HE EXECUTED 35 PERSONS BETWEEN 1987 AND 1991.

6. (U) SOLBAL AND HERNANDEZ REITERATED EARLIER STATEMENTS OF OCT 10 THAT UNTIL LAST WEEK THEY HAD BEEN ON THE ARMY PAYROLL RECEIVING Q600 PER MONTH. THEY CLAIMED A D-2 OFFICER, CAPTAIN SOSA, HAD VISITED THEM RECENTLY, OFFERING THEM $US 50,000 IN EXCHANGE FOR NOT REVEALING THE NAMES OF THE MILITARY LEADERS INVOLVED IN THESE CRIMES AND THE LOCATIONS OF THE CLANDESTINE CEMETERIES.

7. (U) THE INMATES ALSO ACCUSED THE DEA OF [redacted] INVOLVED IN DRUG TRAFFICKING. THE CONVICTS CLA[redacted] THEY HAVE CONTACTED INTERNATIONAL AND NATIONAL [redacted] RIGHTS GROUPS (ORGANIZATION OF AMERICAN STATES INTERAMERICAN COMMISSION FOR HUMAN RIGHTS (CIDH) AND THE MYRNA MACK FOUNDATION), THE US EMBASSY, AND THE GOG CONCERNING ALL THESE ALLEGATIONS BUT HAD BEEN IGNORED BY THESE ENTITIES.

RESPONSE TO PRESS CONFERENCE

8. (U) GOVERNMENT. ON OCT 11, THE HEAD OF INVESTIGATIONS OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE (PUBLIC MINISTRY), CLAUDIO PORRAS, VISITED THE INMATES. THE INMATES TOLD PORRAS THEY WOULD NOT MAKE ANY REVELATIONS WITHOUT A GOVERNMENT PROMISE OF A REDUCTION IN SENTENCE, PROTECTION FOR THEM AND THEIR FAMILIES, AND THAT THE LAW WILL ALSO BE APPLIED EQUALLY TO THE INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS OF THESE CRIMES. ON OCT 12, THE ATTORNEY GENERAL RESPONDED TO REPORTERS THAT THE GOVERNMENT WILL INVESTIGATE THE CHARGE BUT THAT THE INMATES WERE ATTEMPTING TO BLACKMAIL THE GOVERNMENT INTO ACTION CONTRARY TO THE LAW.

9. (C) DCM RAISED ISSUE OF INMATES' CHARGES WITH THE ATTORNEY GENERAL ON OCTOBER 12, NOTING STRONG U.S. INTEREST IN FULL INVESTIGATION OF ANY LEADS WHICH INVOLVE THE DEVINE OR MACK CASES, AS WELL AS CLANDESTINE CEMETERIES. GUERRA ASSURED DCM THAT THERE WOULD BE A THOROUGH INQUIRY -- HE WOULD PERSONALLY GO TO THE JAIL TO INTERVIEW THE INMATES AND TAKE DEPOSITIONS, IN ADDITION TO THE EFFORTS OF HIS STAFF. HE HE NOTED THAT HIS FIRST ACTION UPON LEARNING OF THE INMATES' ACCUSATIONS WAS TO CALL THE MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT (MOG) AND REQUEST IMMEDIATE ACTION TO REDOUBLE SECURITY FOR THE THREE INMATES TO ENSURE NO HARM BEFELL THEM. THE MOG PROMISED TO DO SO (AND PUBLICLY STATED ON OCTOBER 12 THAT THE GOG WOULD INSURE THEIR PROTECTION).

10. (C) WHILE PROVIDING ASSURANCES TO MAKE A FULL INQUIRY, GUERRA EXPRESSED DOUBTS ABOUT THE MOTIVES OF THE INMATES. HE NOTED THAT GUATEMALA HAS NO [illegible] PROVISION IN FORCE FOR A REDUCTION OF SENTENCE UNDER THESE CIRCUMSTANCES, SO HE PONDERED WHETHER THE INMATES WERE DECEIVED BY POLITICIANS INTO MAKING SUCH ACCUSATIONS IN ORDER TO EMBARRASS THE DE LEON GOVERNMENT. HE SPECULATED THAT THIS WAS A POLITICAL "SHOW" MOUNTED TO DIVIDE THE ARMY FROM THE MILITARY, EMBARRASS DE LEON AND DIRECT PUBLIC ATTENTION FROM THE ANTI-CORRUPTION DRIVE. HE HINTED THAT THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS WERE BEHIND IT. (IN THAT VEIN, THE MINISTER OF HEALTH TOLD DCM ON OCTOBER 13 HE HAD INFORMATION THAT THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS HAD ORCHESTRATED RECENT VIOLENCE AMONG "STUDENTS" (ACTUALLY USING PAID THUGS AND PROVOCATEURS) TO GIVE THE IMPRESSION DE LEON CANNOT KEEP PUBLIC ORDER).

11. (U) HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS. POLOFF SPOKE TO OFFICERS OF THE MYRNA MACK FOUNDATION WHO ARE GENERALLY SKEPTICAL OF THE CLAIMS MADE BY THESE INMATES. VIVIAN MACK, THE SISTER OF MYRNA MACK, BELIEVES BETETA IS NOT INVOLVED WITH THESE PRISONERS, CONTRARY TO THEIR CLAIMS. RATHER, THESE THREE

CONVICTS ARE MENTIONING THE NAMES OF MYRNA MACK AND BETETA TO GAIN MORE PUBLICITY AND SUPPORT FOR THEIR CAUSE, SAID VIVIAN. HOWEVER, THE FOUNDATION HAS RELEASED A PUBLIC STATEMENT CALLING FOR THE GOVERNMENT TO FULLY INVESTIGATE THESE CLAIMS. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, JORGE MARIO GARCIA LAGUARDIA, HAS ALSO CALLED ON THE GOVERNMENT TO INVESTIGATE. GARCIA CLAIMS HIS ORGANIZATION HAS INTERVENED IN THIS CASE TO SUPERVISE THE INVESTIGATIONS.

12. (U) GRUPO DE APOYO MUTO. ON OCT 11, NINETH MONTENEGRO DE GARCIA, THE LEADER OF GRUPO DE APOYO MUTO (GAM), MET WITH THE INMATES TO OBTAIN SPECIFIC INFORMATION CONCERNING THE GROUPS' ALLEGATIONS. MONTENEGRO REMINDED REPORTERS HER GROUP WAS FORMED OVER TEN YEARS AGO FOR THE PURPOSE OF TRYING TO OBTAIN INFORMATION CONCERNING THE DISAPPEARANCES OF FAMILY MEMBERS. MARIO POLANCO, ANOTHER GAM OFFICER AND MONTENEGRO'S HUSBAND, TOLD POLOFF THE INMATES GAVE HER NO SPECIFIC INFORMATION AND THAT THEY WOULD NOT GIVE ANY INFORMATION TILL THE GOVERNMENT AGREES TO NEGOTIATE WITH THEM. GAM FEELS THE GOG SHOULD TALK TO THIS GROUP AND INVESTIGATE THEIR CLAIMS AS THIS MAY BE THE ONLY WAY TO FIND OUT THE TRUTH ABOUT SOME OF THE DISAPPEARANCES. POLANCO FELT BECAUSE OF THE ALLEGATIONS IN THE DEVINE CASE THE USG SHOULD ACT AS A MEDIATOR BETWEEN THE CONVICTS AND THE GOG. POLOFF TOLD POLANCO THAT IT IS NOT APPROPRIATE FOR THE USG TO MEDIATE SUCH ISSUES, BUT WE ARE VERY INTERESTED IN GETTING AT THE TRUTH, AND THE USG EXPECTS THE GOG TO CONDUCT A FULL INVESTIGATION.

13. (C) WE HAVE RECEIVED LETTERS, FACSIMILES AND TELEPHONE CALLS FROM INMATE LEMUS, FROM MID-SEPTEMBER TO EARLY OCTOBER, MAKING VARIOUS ALLEGATIONS. LEMUS, WHO MAKES NO CLAIM TO ANY PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE OF ARMY HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES, IDENTIFIES HIMSELF AS A NEWSPAPER REPORTER, A FORMER COLOMBIA UNIVERSITY STUDENT, A FATHER OF US-BORN CHILDREN AND SAYS IS SERVING TIME IN JAIL FOR DRUG OFFENSES (WE UNDERSTAND HE IS IN PRISON FOR CAR THEFT, NOT NARCOTICS OFFENSES). LEMUS CLAIMED THE EMBASSY DOES NOT LIKE HIM BECAUSE HE HAS IDENTIFIED CORRUPTION WITHIN THE DEA ORGANIZATION. (NOTE: THE EMBASSY HAS NO INFORMATION, NEGATIVE OR POSITIVE, ON JORGE GUILLERMO LEMUS ALVARADO). POLOFF REPEATEDLY TOLD LEMUS THAT THE USG WOULD BE CONTACTING HIM SHOULD WE DECIDE THAT HIS ALLEGATIONS WOULD BE USEFUL TO THE RESOLUTION OF THE DEVINE CASE. LEMUS ADMITTED THAT HE HAD ALSO CONTACTED THE MYRNA MACK FOUNDATION AND THE CIDH BUT THEY HAD IGNORED HIM.

14. (C) AN ADDITIONAL SIGNER OF THE CORRESPONDENCE SENT TO US, WHO, LIKE LEMUS' PRISON MATES WAS ALSO CONVICTED IN THE MURDER OF DEVINE, DECIDED NOT TO ATTEND THE OCT 11 CONFERENCE AND APPEARS TO HAVE DISASSOCIATED HIMSELF FROM THIS GROUP. BETETA HAS DISCLAIMED ANY ASSOCIATION WITH THIS GROUP AND DENIES HAVING MADE ANY STATEMENTS TO THEM REGARDING THE MACK CASE.

15. (C) WE ARE NOT SURPRISED AT THE RETRACTION BY THE TWO MURDERERS OF DEVINE WHEN THEY WERE FACED WITH MAKING FORMAL STATEMENTS TO THE ATTORNEY GENERAL, AND WE DOUBT THAT SUCH LOW-RANKING SOLDIERS WOULD HAVE HAD ACCESS TO HARD EVIDENCE OF INVOLVEMENT IN THE DEVINE MURDER BY SENIOR GUATEMALAN ARMY OFFICERS, AS WELCOME AS THAT WOULD BE. CONSUL GENERAL WILL MEET WITH CAROL DEVINE AND HER ADVISOR IN THE NEXT FEW DAYS TO DISCUSS THESE ALLEGATIONS AND REVIEW CURRENT STATUS OF EFFORTS TO IDENTIFY THE INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS OF MICHAEL DEVINE'S MURDER. AS TO THE MACK CASE, IT DOES NOT APPEAR THAT BETETA WAS EVER INVOLVED IN AN EFFORT TO PARLAY INFORMATION IN RETURN FOR A REDUCTION IN SENTENCE. WE ARE PUZZLED BY THE ROLE OF LEMUS, WHO APPARENTLY IS A SELF-PROMOTER WHO HAD HAD NO CONTACT WITH MILITARY OR, INDEED, WITH ANY HUMAN RIGHTS CASE. NONETHELESS, SUCH PUBLIC ALLEGATIONS IN A SOCIETY WHICH CAN EASILY LEAD TO VIOLENT RETRIBUTION CANNOT BE TOTALLY DISREGARDED, AND WE HAVE ASKED THE ATTORNEY GENERAL TO FULLY INVESTIGATE THE CHARGES. END COMMENT.

DENUNCIA

LA COMISIÓN INTERAMERICANA DE DERECHOS HUMANOS

Esta Denuncia ante la Comisión Interamericana de Derechos Humanos (llamada en adelante "La Comisión") trata de la desaparición y el asesinato de Nicholas Chapman Blake perpetrado por Guatemala, y el continuo encubrimiento del crimen en violación de la Convención Americana de Derechos Humanos (llamada en adelante "La Convención"). Esta denuncia la presentan Joanne Hoeper, Samuel R. Miller, Margarita Gutierrez, Paul T. Lufkin y A. James Vázquez-Azpiri, abogados de la firma Morrison and Foerster localizada en el número 345 de la calle California, en San Francisco, California 94104. Los abogados actúan en representación del Grupo internacional de abogados para derechos humanos (International Human Rights Law Group), una organización sin nexos gubernamentales con sede en el número 1601 Connecticut Avenue., N.W., Suite 700, Washington, D.C. 20009 y en representación de Richard R. (Randy) Blake, Jr., y Samuel (Sam) Blake ("Peticionarios").

Los Peticionarios sostienen: (1) que Guatemala extrajudicialmente detuvo y ejecutó a Nicholas Blake en marzo de 1985; (2) que Guatemala ocasionó en forma violenta la "desaparición" de Nicholas Blake; [1] y que (3) Guatemala, desde

[1] El término "desaparición" tal como se utiliza en el texto significa el secuestro violento/ilegal de una persona por parte de las autoridades del gobierno y la negativa, por parte de las mismas, a reconocer dicho secuestro.

INTRODUCCION

Nicholas (Nick) Blake, ciudadano de los Estados Unidos y periodista, desapareció junto con Griffith (Griff) William Davis el 29 de marzo de 1985. Su desaparición occurrio lugar mientras se encontraban en las montañas Cuchumatanes, al noroeste de Guatemala, donde habían viajado con fines periodísticos de carácter investigativo. Durante siete años la familia Blake ha llevado a cabo una investigación ardua y costosa con el fin de averiguar qué le había sucedido a Nicholas, a pesar del encubrimiento del asunto por parte del gobierno, lo cual ha continuado hasta el día de hoy.

En junio de 1992 la familia Blake pudo al fin recuperar los restos de Nicholas y de Griffith cerca de la cima de una cordillera muy apartada en la región montañosa de Guatemala en cuyas proximidades se encuentra la aldea de El Llano. Las pruebas presentadas en esta denuncia establecen, sin lugar a dudas, que la Patrulla Civil de El Llano asesinó a Nicholas Blake porque consideró que era "simpatizante de la guerrilla". El ejército guatemalteco y los oficiales del gobierno civil iniciaron una campaña destinada a encubrir el crimen y a evitar que la familia Blake se enterara de la verdad. A tal punto llego el encubrimiento, que en 1987 el Ejército le dio órdenes a la Patrulla Civil de El Llano que cambiaran de lugar y quemaran los cadaveres de los dos hombres con el fin de eliminar cualquier indicio de los asesinatos.

La familia Blake presenta esta Denuncia con la esperanza que al fin se haga justicia y se llame a rendir cuentas a los responsables de la muerte de Nicholas. La Denuncia acusa a Guatemala de violar las disposiciones de la Convención: Articulo 1 (Obligación de respetar los derechos); Artículo 4 (Derecho a la vida); Artículo 5 (Derecho a la integridad personal); Artículo 7 (Derecho a la libertad personal); Artículo 13 (Libertad de pensamiento y de expresión); Artículo 22 (Derecho de circulación y de residencia) y Artículo 25 (Protección judicial). Los Peticionarios solicitan respetuosamente a la Comisión que ordene a Guatemala que investigue y castigue a los responsables de estas graves violaciones de los derechos humanos de Nicholas Blake y que pague una indemnización justa a la familia Blake.

RELACION DE LOS HECHOS

Desde que desaparecieron Nicholas Blake y Griffith Davis, la familia Blake ha estado en busca de la verdad, exponiendo sus vidas a gran riesgo, y a costa de grandes sacrificios económicos. Los miembros de esta familia han hecho más de veinte viajes a Guatemala y se han reunido, en repetidas ocasiones, con los funcionarios de más alto rango del Gobierno guatemalteco y de las Fuerzas Armadas de este país para solicitar que investiguen la desaparición de Nicholas Blake. Durante este tiempo, el Gobierno guatemalteco ha simulado cooperar con la familia cuando, de hecho, ha intentado obstaculizar la investigación de los Blake, engañándolos y ocultando la verdad. Los funcionarios del Gobierno y de las Fuerzas Armadas alternativamente han manifestado ignorancia sobre la muerte de Nicholas o han sugerido que Nicholas era un "subversivo" que había sido asesinado por la guerrilla. La realidad es que, como lo reconoció un oficial de alto rango de las Fuerzas Armadas en 1992, las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas se enteraron, casi de inmediato, que miembros de la Patrulla Civil de El Llano habían asesinado a Nicholas Blake y a Griffith Davis. Incluso es posible que el Ejército guatemalteco pudo haber autorizado los asesinatos directamente. El Ejército entonces trató de encubrir el delito ordenando a la Patrulla Civil de El Llano que quemara o enterrara los cuerpos e intimidando a los campesinos para que no revelaran lo que había sucedido.

Finalmente La familia Blake se enteró por fin de la muerte de Nicholas. La familia recuperó los restos de Nicholas y de Griffith y obtuvo una declaración, por escrito, reconociendo que la Patrulla Civil los había asesinado. Después de que se comprobó la muerte de Nicholas, la familia continuó en el empeño de recoger pruebas que involucraran a los responsables del asesinato. Durante este tiempo, el Gobierno guatemalteco aún no ha aceptado, en forma oficial, que es responsable de las muertes de Nicholas Blake y de Griffith Davis, ni ha reconocido su participación en el encubrimiento de las mismas.

La declaración que sigue describe los esfuerzos durante siete años por parte de la familia Blake para tratar de averiguar lo que le había sucedido a Nicholas y recobrar sus restos. La declaración está basada en el conocimiento personal de Sam y Randy Blake, hermanos de Nicholas Blake, en declaraciones de testigos en Guatemala y en documentos que obtuvo la familia Blake del Gobierno de los Estados Unidos de acuerdo con la Ley de libertad de información. [2]

I. NICHOLAS BLAKE

Nicholas Chapman Blake nació el 27 de agosto de 1957 en Nueva York (Declaraciones de Samuel Blake y Richard Blake, Documentos de prueba 10 y 14 de la Denuncia (Declaraciones de S. Blake y R. Blake, Párrafo 3)). Nicholas tenía 27 años cuando desapareció (ib.). En 1979 terminó sus estudios en la Universidad de Vermont donde obtuvo un título en Historia (ib. Párrafo 4). Escogió como carrera el periodismo y cuando fue asesinado en 1985 ya había trabajado como periodista para un número de revistas y periódicos (ib. párrafo 5). Durante varios años Nicholas viajó y vivió en América Central y escribió reportajes sobre temas económicos, políticos y sociales relacionados de esta región (ib.). En enero de 1983 Nicholas viajó a una pequeña aldea, conocida como "Finca San Francisco" al noroeste del Departamento de Huehuetenango en Guatemala, con el fin de investigar una masacre de campesinos perpetrada por el Ejército guatemalteco el año anterior. (ib.; Declaración de Michael Shawcross, Documento de prueba 15 (Declaración de Shawcross, Párrafo 2)).[3] También visitó varios campos de refugiados en la frontera con México y escribió artículos sobre estos campos (Declaraciones de S. Blake y N. Blake, Párrafo 5). Los artículos de Nicholas fueron publicados en Harper's y en otras publicaciones conocidas. (ib.).

II. NICHOLAS BLAKE Y GRIFFITH DAVIS VIAJAN A LA REGION MONTANOSA DE GUATEMALA Y SON ASESINADOS POR LA PATRULLA CIVIL DE LA ALDEA DE EL LLANO

A principios de 1985 Nicholas vivía en Antigua, Guatemala (ib., párrafo 7). Nicholas decidió escribir un reportaje sobre el EGP ("Ejército Guerrillero de los Pobres") cuyo centro de actividades estaba localizado al noroeste de la región montañosa de Guatemala. Varias publicaciones en Canadá y en los Estados Unidos, entre ellas el Toronto Globe, el Toronto Mail y el Philadelphia Inquirer, habían expresado interés en el reportaje. Nicholas decidió dirigirse a pie a las montañas Cuchumatanes, cerca de la frontera entre los Departamentos de Huehuetenango y Quiche al noroeste del país, con el fin de entrevistar a los guerrilleros. Esa región, que estaba muy militarizada y era zona de muchos combates, se conocía como "La Zona Roja" (Declaración de la profesora Jennifer Schirmer,

[3]En 1983 era necesario que Nicholas sacara un permiso del Ejército guatemalteco para poder viajar a la región montañosa. Al principio la base militar de la Zona 19 en Huehuetenango se negó a emitir el permiso, el cual le fue otorgado tan sólo después que Nicholas rehusó salir de la base sin que se lo dieran (Declaración de S. Blake y R. Blake, Párrafo 7).

Documento de prueba 20 (Declaración de Schirmer) Párrafo 23). El plan de Nicholas de visitar esa zona lo identificó para los militares como "simpatizante de la guerrilla" y una persona que escribiría artículos para la prensa criticando a Guatemala por el manejo de los derechos humanos en la región montañosa del país.(ib.). [4]

Inicialmente, Nicholas había planeado hacer un viaje de una semana con Michael Shawcross, un ciudadano británico que vivía en Guatemala. Debido a que Shawcross no pudo acompañarlo, Nicholas le pidió a Griffith Davis, una ciudadano de los Estados Unidos que vivía en Panajachel, que viajara con él. (Declaración de Shawcross, Párrafo 94).

Nicholas y Griffith se encontraron en el Hotel Central en Huehuetenango la noche del 25 de marzo de 1985.[5] El 26 de marzo viajaron en autobús desde Huehuetenango hasta la aldea de San Juan Ixcoy en las montañas. De allí salieron a pie ese mismo día por un sendero hacia Mixlaj. Pasaron a pie por las aldeas de San Francisco de las Flores y San José de las Flores. Al día

[4]Como lo explica la declaración de Jennifer Schirmer (Documento de prueba 20), las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas le tienen mucha desconfianza a los periodistas (ib. Párrafo 19). Así lo expresó un oficial del Ejército: --Nosotros no confiamos en los periodistas, especialmente si andan entrometiéndose en el campo. (ib.).

siguiente, 27 de marzo, Nicholas y Griffith fueron vistos nadando en el río en las afueras de Mixlaj. Nicholas y Griffith habían planeado salir a pie de Mixlaj hacia el este con la esperanza de localizar al EGP y llevar a cabo una entrevista para un reportaje de prensa. Sin embargo, el alcalde auxiliar de Mixlaj se negó a darles permiso para continuar hacia Sumal y los mandó por un sendero en dirección suroeste hacia Las Majadas. Ellos entonces continuaron a pie, pasaron por Las Majadas, y se dirigieron a la pequeña aldea de El Llano donde llegaron el 28 de Marzo.[6]

Justo Martínez, un maestro de escuela de Las Majadas que dio testimonio sobre la desaparición de Nicholas y de Griffith ha explicado en una declaración escrita lo que sucedió al llegar a El Llano:[7]

> Mientras se encontraban allí [El Llano], la Patrulla Civil los detuvo y les pidió identificación. Ellos tenían un permiso de la zona militar en Huehuetenango, pero a la Patrulla Civil le pareció extraño ver a esos norteamericanos. En ese tiempo la guerrilla estaba atacando esas comunidades y por lo tanto la Patrulla no confió en los americanos. Ellos [la Patrulla Civil] se pusieron en contacto con el destacamento militar de Las Majadas para averiguar qué debían hacer con ellos. En el destacamento les dijeron que los acompañaran [a los americanos] hasta la frontera con el Departamento de El Quiché. El comandante [de la Patrulla Civil] de El

[7]Como se explica más a fondo a continuación, durante una investigación que duró varios años, Martínez reconstruyó la ruta que siguieron Nicholas y Griffith y habló con residentes de El Llano, Las Majadas, San José Las Flores, Mixlaj y otras comunidades. Martínez hizo un resumen de su investigación en dos declaraciones escritas que se entregaron a la Embajada de los Estados Unidos en 1988 (Adjuntas como documentos de prueba 4 y 6) y en una declaración posterior que fue grabada en video por los abogados de los Peticionarios (adjunta como documento de prueba 2).

> Llano ordenó que los llevaran a la frontera entre Huehuetenango y El Quiché. La Patrulla los llevó por un sitio llamado Los Campamentos. Como la presencia de esos americanos no era de su agrado, un guardia llamado "Polo", Epólito [sic] Ramos García, le disparó a uno de ellos, matándolo instantáneamente. Cuando el otro americano se dio cuenta de lo que estaba sucediendo, trató de comunicarse por radio. Al ver esto, el guardia Candelario Cano Herrera le disparó pero no le dio muerte. Entonces Vicente Cifuentes, conocido como Chente Cifuentes le disparó [al americano], matándolo. Se cree, y lo corroboran los vecinos de estos guardias, que la razón por la cual los mataron fue que ellos pensaron que eran guerrilleros por lo que traían; ellos andaban con una grabadora, una cámara, mochilas, dinero en efectivo, quetzales y dólares. Y andaban sólos en el monte, qué más podían pensar. Así es que el lugar que se mencionó antes, Los Campamentos, es el sitio donde asesinaron a los norteamericanos y las personas responsables de los asesinatos son Polo, Candelario Cano Herrera y Vicente Cifuentes (Chente); ellos fueron los asesinos, pero la orden de matarlos se las dio Mario Cano, el comandante de la Patrulla.

De acuerdo con la información que obtuvo Martínez, los tres guardias civiles arrojaron los cuerpos entre una maleza muy tupida, a un lado del sendero, y los taparon con troncos de árboles. Dos años después, Mario Ajanel, un sargento del ejército guatemalteco con base en la Zona 19 en el Departamento de Huehuetenango, emitió una orden a la Patrulla Civil de El Llano para que quemaran los cuerpos. Emiterio Ramos, uno de los guardias civiles que llevaron a cabo la orden de quemar los cuerpos, le dijo a Justo Martínez lo siguiente:

abrieron un hueco poco profundo, pusieron la bolsa en el hueco y le prendieron fuego.

(Traducción de una declaración escrita a mano por J. Martínez, Documento de prueba 6). En mayo de 1988 un grupo de soldados guatemaltecos fue a Las Majadas y amenazó a los aldeanos para que no contaran lo que había sucedido con los dos americanos (ib.).

III. LA LUCHA DE LA FAMILIA BLAKE POR ENTERARSE DE LA VERDAD A PESAR DEL ENCUBRIMIENTO DE LOS HECHOS POR PARTE DE LAS FUERZAS ARMADAS DE GUATEMALA

Lo siguiente es un recuento del empeño y la tenacidad con que la familia Blake ha tratado de averiguar qué le pasó a Nicholas; y de la campaña, por parte del gobierno guatemalteco, para esconder la verdad.

A. La búsqueda inicial (1985)

Los familiares y los amigos de Nicholas y de Griffith empezaron a preocuparse en vista de que no habían regresado de su viaje el primero de abril, como habían planeado. La esposa de Griffith, Metchtild (Mikki) Lindken y un amigo, Lori Legator, fueron a la base militar guatemalteca en Sololá el 6 de abril y le pidieron ayuda al coronel de la base (Declaraciones de S. Blake y de R. Blake en el párrafo 11). El coronel estuvo de acuerdo en llamar por radio a la Base del Ejército en Huehuetenango. El 8 de abril, Lori Legator le informó a la Embajada de los Estados Unidos que Nicholas y Griffith estaban atrasados en su regreso. (Declaraciones de S. Blake y de R. Blake, Párrafo 12; cable de la Embajada, Abril de 1985, Documento de Prueba 31). El Día siguiente, 9 de abril, Lori Legator, Mikki Lindken y Mike Shawcross viajaron a la Ciudad de Guatemala y se reunieron con funcionarios de la Embajada de los Estados Unidos (Declaración de Shawcross, Párrafo 5). Mikki le entregó a la Embajada fotografías de Griffith y Mike Shawcross y explicó la ruta que los dos habían planeado tomar. (ib.).

De inmediato la Embajada de los Estados Unidos notificó a los comandantes de la zona del ejército guatemalteco en los Departamentos de Huehuetenango y El Quiché que los dos hombres no habían regresado, y solicitó ayuda para localizarlos. (Informe de William L. Ball III, del Departamento de Estado de los Estados Unidos al senador William Cohen, con fecha febrero 19, 1986, Documento de prueba 26 (Informe al Senador Cohen)).[8] El Ejército le aseguró a la Embajada que Nicholas y Griffith no se encontraban detenidos y prometió investigar la situación.[9] El 13 de abril el Departamento de Estado de los Estados Unidos llamó a Mary Blake, madre de Nicholas, para informarle que Nicholas había desaparecido en Guatemala (Informe al Senador Cohen).

Durante el mes siguiente, Mike Shawcross y Mikki Lindken buscaron a Nicholas y a Griffith. El 16 de abril, fueron a la Base Militar en Huehuetenango en busca de información sobre el paradero de los dos hombres. No lograron obtener ninguna información. También fueron a los pueblos de San Juan Ixcoy y Solalá a hablar con los alcaldes y los miembros de las Patrullas

[9]No fue sino siete años después, en noviembre de 1992, que el Teniente Coronel Otto Noack, miembro del Estado Mayor de las Fuerzas Armadas Guatemaltecas le confesó a Sam Blake que de hecho el Ejército se había enterado, "casi de inmediato", que la Patrulla Civil de El Llano había asesinado a los dos hombres (Declaración de S. Blake y de R. Blake, Párrafo 81).

Civiles. Lo único que lograron averiguar era que habían visto a Nicholas y a Griffith llegar en autobús a San Juan Ixcoy el 26 de marzo.

El 18 de abril dos funcionarios de la Embajada de los Estados Unidos viajaron en helicóptero a los Departamentos de Huehuetenango y El Quiché para investigar la desaparición de Nicholas y Griffith (Informe al Senador Cohen; Cable de la Embajada, abril de 1985, Documento de prueba 31). El grupo de la embajada reconstruyó la ruta que los dos hombres habían seguido desde San Juan Ixcoy el 26 de marzo, pasando por San Francisco de las Flores y Mixlaj, hasta llegar a El Llano. Se enteró el grupo que Nicholas y Griffith habían pasado la noche en El Llano y habían salido por la mañana por un sendero hacia Salquil [10] y confirmó que los viajeros nunca llegaron a Salquil. El grupo entonces regresó hasta Quilén Novillo, el único caserío habitado entre El Llano y Salquil, y se enteró que los dos americanos desaparecidos no habían estado allí.

El 24 de abril la familia Blake realizó el primero de más de veinte viajes a Guatemala en busca de Nicholas. En ese primer viaje, Randy y su madre Mary Blake se reunieron con el Coronel Byron Lima, comandante de la Región Militar del Departamento de El Quiché, Zona militar 20. El Coronel mostró la actitud del Ejército en relación con la desaparición de los dos hombres al decir que el hijo de la señora Blake era un

[10]El teniente a cargo de la guarnición militar en Las Majadas indicó que los aldeanos de El Llano le habían dicho que los dos americanos querían un permiso para ir a Sumal (Informe para el Senador Cohen). El teniente les negó la solicitud y les dijo que fueran a Salquil (ib.).

"simpatizante de la guerrilla" y un elemento "subversivo"; al mismo tiempo que fingía cooperar al indicar que había mandado 450 soldados a patrullar la región durante una semana para buscar a los desaparecidos. (Informe al Senador Cohen; Cable de la Embajada, el 21 de abril, 1985, Documento de prueba 31). De hecho, el Coronel Lima le confesó posteriormente a Sam Blake que la patrulla del Ejército guatemalteco no había salido específicamente a buscar a los dos americanos que estaban perdidos sino que era una patrulla de rutina. (Declaraciones de S. Blake y R. Blake, Párrafo 17).[11]

A fines de abril y de nuevo en junio, las fuerzas militares guatemaltecas informaron a la Embajada de los Estados Unidos que no habían descubierto ninguna información sobre el paradero de los dos hombres desaparecidos. Sin embargo, desde mayo hasta diciembre de 1985, varios miembros de la familia hicieron cuatro viajes más a Guatemala y continuaron presionando al gobierno guatemalteco para que efectuara una investigación a fondo. La respuesta del gobierno a la familia fue que Nicholas y Griffith eran simpatizantes de la guerrilla y queestaban en manos de la guerrilla o que la guerrilla los había matado. El gobierno no hizo nada para intentar de encontrar a los dos hombres. Por ejemplo, en mayo de 1985, el Coronel Morales, Portavoz de las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas, informó que uno de los americanos desaparecidos estaba con la guerrilla en la región montañosa y que el otro se encontraba en México. En junio de 1985, el Coronel Lima le dijo al Embajador de los Estados Unidos que estaba "99% seguro" que Nicholas y Griffith habían sido asesinados por los guerrilleros (Cable de la Embajada, junio 12 de 1985, Documento de prueba 32).[12]

B. Sam Blake viaja a El Llano (1986)

En marzo de 1986, Sam Blake regresó a Guatemala para reunirse con unos funcionarios de alto rango del gobierno guatemalteco. El 11 de marzo, Sam Blake se reunió con Vinicio Cerezo-Arévalo, el Presidente de Guatemala y con Héctor Gramajo, Jefe del Estado Mayor. (Declaración de S. Blake, Párrafo 20). También se entrevistó con el Coronel Mata Gálvez, Asesor del Presidente Cerezo-Arévalo sobre Seguridad Nacional. El Coronel Mata Gálvez insistió en que probablemente Nicholas había sido asesinado por los guerrilleros.[13] Como resultado de estas reuniones, Sam Blake fue llevado a la Base Militar de Huehuetenango en un helicóptero del ejército. Allí se reunió con el Coronel Hernández, Comandante de la Zona Militar 19 y con el Teniente Alejandro Elel, que había comandado la guarnición del ejército en Las Majadas, en marzo de 1985. Los oficiales negaron tener información sobre Nicholas y Griffith.

El teniente Elel aceptó ir con Sam Blake y un equipo de camarógrafos de la red de televisión americana CBS a El Llano para hablar con la Patrulla Civil de la aldea.[14] Cuando Sam y el Teniente Elel aterrizaron en El Llano, el Teniente conversó en privado con Mario Cano, jefe de la Patrulla Civil. Sam grabó en video la conversación a Cano. Cano declaró tan solo que los dos americanos habían pasado por El Llano y que habían salido a pie de la aldea con rumbo a Salquil. (Cable de la Embajada, de 1 de abril, 1985, Documento de prueba 27).

C. El Ejército guatemalteco ordena a la Patrulla civil de El Llanoque queme o entierre los cuerpos de Nichol y de Griffith (1987)

A fines del verano de 1987, dos periodistas de nombre Ambrose Evans-Pritchard y Paul Mulshine, fueron a El Llano para hacer preguntas sobre Nicholas y Griffith, pero no lograron obtener ninguna información nueva. Sin embargo, parece que sus averiguaciones causaron alarma entre las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas. Justo Martínez lo contó posteriormente a los Blake que en Agosto de 1987 el Ejército guatemalteco en Huehuetenango le dio orden a la Patrulla Civil de El Llano que quemaran o enterraran los cuerpos de los dos americanos para asi asegurarse que los cuerpos no fuerán descubiertos:

> Me contaron que en agosto de 1987 Daniel Velásquez, comandante de la Patrulla Civil de Las Majadas había recibido una orden de la

> Zona Militar de Huehuetenango. La orden decía que era necesario quemar o enterrar los restos de los americanos de inmediato. Daniel Velásquez llamó a Mario Cano de El Llano y le dijo que cumpliera con la orden que Velásquez había recibido. Mario Cano, Daniel Velásquez, Polo, Chente Cifuentes, Candelario López Herrera, "Tello" Emiterio López y Ezequiel Alvarado complieron con la orden. Fueron al sitio donde estaban escondidos [los cuerpos de Nicholas y Griffith]. Colocaron los restos en una bolsa y los llevaron a un kilómetro de distancia; allí hicieron un hueco poco profundo donde colocaron la bolsa. Después armaron una fogata como de cuatro pies de altura y una superficie de cuatro pies cuadrados. Todo esto me lo contó Emiterio Ramos, uno de los que cumplió la orden. Emiterio dijo que los huesos de las piernas eran muy largos y que Daniel Velásquez se quedó con los dientes que tenían empastes. Habían decidido quemar los huesos porque alguien, "un americano" había ido a investigar y había dicho que tenía una máquina que hablaba con la tierra y que era mejor que la gente contara todo lo que sabía.

Justo Martínez logró enterarse que el quen había dado la orden de quemar los cuerpos fue el Sargento Mario Ajanel, un militar adjunto a la rama (G-2) del servicio de inteligencia militar guatemalteco en la Zona militar de Huehuetenango.

Fue, por supuesto, mucho tiempo después cuando la familia Blake se enteró que, de hecho, las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas estaban tratando de encubrir los asesinatos. Durante todo ese tiempo, los oficiales del Ejército seguían insistiendo que no tenían información sobre lo que les había sucedido a los dos hombres y que estaban investigando las desapariciones.

D. Justo Martínez se entera que la Patrulla Cvilde El Llano asesinó a Nicholas y a Griffith (1988)

Finalmente en 1987, en el otoño, la familia Blake pudo enterarse por primera vez con claridad sobre la suerte que habían corrido Nicholas y Griffith. James Ellesen, un ciudadano norteamericano que había vivido muchos años en Guatemala, se enteró que un maestro de escuela de un pueblo pequeño cerca a El Llano tenía información sobre los dos hombres (Declaración de James Ellesen, Documento de prueba 12). Randy y Sam volaron a Guatemala en enero de 1988 y se reunieron con Ellesen. (ib.). Ellesen explicó que, con el apoyo de la Embajada, había logrado información sobre las desapariciones. El conocía al Sargento Mario Ajanel (el soldado que había ordenado a la Patrulla Civil de El Llano que quemara o enterrara los cuerpos de Nicholas y de Griffith) y que la había pedido que investigara los rumores que la Patrulla Civil de El Llano había asesinado a Nicholas y a Griffith. Según Ellesen, el Sargento Ajanel había hecho varios viajes a la región de El Llano y pudo confirmar la información. (ib.). Ellesen explicó también que le había pedido a su amigo Justo Martínez que continuara con la investigación (ib.).

Martínez era maestro de escuela en Las Majadas que queda a 45 minutos a pie de El Llano. Martínez vivía en Chiantla pero pasaba intervalos de dos semanas en Las Majadas, donde era maestro de escuela. Martínez aceptó hablar con las gentes de la región para tratar de averiguar qué había pasado con Nicholas y con Griffith.

Ellesen les dijo a los Blake que, en octubre de 1987, Martínez había podido confirmar que Nicholas y Griffith habían estado en El Llano en 1985; y aceptó pedirle a Martínez que continuara haciendo averiguaciones cuando regresara a Las Majadas después de la vacación anual de la escuela (ib.).

En el mismo viaje a Guatemala, Sam y Randy se reunieron con el Coronel Paco Ortega, jefe del servicio de inteligencia militar (G-2). Los Blake le dijeron al Coronel Ortega que habían recibido información que involucraba a la Patrulla Civil de El Llano en la desaparición de Nicholas y de Griffith y le pidieron que investigara el caso. También le pidieron al Coronel Ortega los nombres de los miembros de la Patrulla Civil de El Llano. El Coronel Ortega les aseguró la cooperación del Ejército y prometió conseguir los nombres de los miembros de la Patrulla. La familia Blake nunca recibió la lista de los nombres, a pesar de las solicitudes que una y otra vez hizo la Embajada de los Estados Unidos.

En Mayo de 1988, Sam y Randy regresaron a Guatemala para reunirse personalmente con Justo Martínez (Declaraciones de S. Blake y R. Blake, Párrafos 27 al 30). James Ellesen también estuvo presente. Martínez les contó cómo había asesinado la Patrulla Civil de El LLano a Nicholas y a Griffith. Les dijo que algunos de los camposinos habían escuchado a Mario Cano, el jefe de la Patrulla Civil, decir a los tres hombres que habían escoltado a Nicholas y a Griffith fuera del pueblo, que si querían, podían matar a los americanos. (ib.). Martínez recordó que dos años más tarde, la Patrulla había recibido órdenes del Ejército de esconder los cuerpos. Tambien les dijo que Rudy Granados, maestro de escuela de El Llano, tenía la cámara de Nicholas (ib.); véase Cable de la Embajada, enero de 1986, Documento de prueba 34).[15] Sam y Randy le pidieron a Martínez que regresara a El Llano de inmediato y tratara de localizar el sitio del entierro. Martínez estuvo de acuerdo. Al día siguiente informó a los Blake que:

> La gente dice que unos agentes de la zona militar de Huehuetenango han llegado y dicen que no hay que decir nada porque los "gringos" van a matar a todos en el pueblo si se enteran que ellos mataron a los americanos. Emiterio Ramos me mostró donde quemaron los restos y me contó todo lo que habían hecho con los demás. Esto pasó el 24 de mayo [1988]. En el lugar encontré troncos que no se habían consumido pero no encontré los restos. Cuando el señor Ellesen y yo estábamos en Guatemala [City] en 27 de mayo [para reunirnos con Sam y Randy Blake], la zona militar envió a Las Majadas en una camioneta a Felipe Alva, comisario militar de Chiantla y a unos oficiales vestidos de civiles y dijeron que iban a venir unas personas de los Estados Unidos y que todos debían decir que no sabían nada y que nunca los habían visto pasar por esa región. Estamos seguros que las Fuerzas Armadas saben quien asesinó a esos dos americanos pero no tienen interés en ayudar en la investigación.[16]

E. Las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas no efectúan ninguna investigación a pesar de que los asesinos de Nicholas y de Griffith ya han sido identificados (1988 - 1992)

[16]Los Blake le pidieron a Justo Martínez que pusiera su declaración por escrito y se la entregara a la Embajada de los Estados Unidos. Posteriormente Martínez se reunió con James Ellesen, quien escribió en inglés la declaración de Martínez y se la entregó a la Embajada. Esta declaración aparece arriba y en la página 8 y acompaña la Denuncia como Documento de prueba 6. La Embajada le pidió a Martínez una declaración escrita a máquina, la cual presentó Ellesen en Junio de 1988. Esta declaración se menciona en la página 8 y acompaña la Petición como Documento de prueba 5. [Traducción de la declaración de J. Martínez]

Durante el viaje que Sam y Randy hicieron en Mayo de 1988, se reunieron con el Coronel Leopoldo Pimental Recinos, recien nombrado Comandante de la Zona 19 en Huehuetenango, y con el Mayor Leonel Baides, jefe del servicio de inteligencia militar (G-2) para la Zona 19, quien tenía a su cargo la investigación de la desaparición de Nicholas Blake. (Cable de la Embajada, Junio de 1988, Documento de prueba 35.) El Coronel Baides les dijo a Sam y a Randy que le habían pedido que localizara y entrevistara a Mario Cano y a los miembros de la Patrulla Civil de El Llano que habían sido identificados como los asesinos de Nicholas y de Griffith. Sin embargo, el Coronel Baides les dijo a los Blake que no había podido localizar a los hombres o que no existían.[17] El primero de junio, el Embajador de los Estados Unidos se reunió con Héctor Gramajo, Ministro de Defensa guatemalteco, para hablar sobre la desaparición de Blake. (ib.).

Los Blake y la Embajada de los Estados Unidos siguieron insistiendo hasta que al fin, en diciembre de 1988, el jefe del servicio de inteligencia militar, el Coronel Paco Ortega, localizó finalmente a dos hombres para interrogarlos sobre la desaparición de Nicholas y de Griffith (Carta de Martha L. Sardinas, del Departamento de Estado de los Estados Unidos, a Sam Blake, Documento de prueba 29; Cable de la Embajada, diciembre de 1988, Documento de prueba 36). Según los funcionarios de la Embajada:

> Las autoridades guatemaltecas definitivamente no estaban preparadas para llevar a cabo una investigación minuciosa.... Los oficiales del servicio de inteligencia G-2 que tenían el asunto a su cargo, desconocían los detalles. Los oficiales del servicio de inteligencia básicamente dejaron el caso en manos de los americanos que estaban presentes [Coronel Hooker, Agregado a la Embajada de los Estados Unidos] para que fueran ellos los que llevaran a cabo la investigación.[18]

Los dos hombres insistieron que eran miembros de la Patrulla Civil en San José de las Flores y no en El LLano y dijeron que no habían tenido nada que ver con las desapariciones (ib.). El Agregado Militar a la Embajada de los Estados Unidos quien estuvo presente durante las entrevistas, le pidió al General Héctor Gramajo, Ministro de Defensa de Guatemala, una lista de todos los miembros de la Patrulla Civil en el Departamento de Huehuetenango a fin de verificar [por separado] la identidad de los dos hombres. Esa lista nunca llegó. (Véase Cable de la Embajada, abril 18 de 1989, Documento de prueba 37).[19]

Varios meses después Randy y su padre Richard Blake, Sr., se reunieron con el Coronel Ortega, quien les aseguró de nuevo que el Ejército estaba dispuesto a cooperar.

En Mayo de 1989, Justo Martínez pudo tomar fotografías de dos de los asesinos durante una fiesta en la aldea.[20] Las fotografías fueron entregadas a la Embajada y la Embajada de inmediato le dió copias al Coronel Ortega (Cable de la Embajada, Junio de 1989, Documento de prueba 38; Cable de la Embajada, Marzo de 1990, Documento de prueba 45). El Coronel Ortega prometió localizar y detener a los dos hombres (ib.). De nuevo, esto no se llevó a cabo a pesar de la contínua insistencia por parte de la Embajada de los Estados Unidos (Véase, por ejemplo, Cable de la Embajada, Julio de 1989, Documento de prueba 39); y las visitas adicionales a Guatemala que hicieron los Blake.

En agosto de 1989, unos funcionarios de la Embajada de los Estados Unidos se reunieron con el General Mata Gálvez, entonces Comandante de la Zona 19 en Huehuetenango. Mata Gálvez insistió que nunca le habían llegado fotografías de los asesinos (Cable de la Embajada, agosto de 1989, Documento de prueba 40). La Embajada le envió copias adicionales y Mata Gálvez prometió localizar a los dos hombres y a los demás palmilleros que Justo Martínez había identificado. (ib.; Cable de la Embajada, septiembre de 1989, Documento de prueba 41). En vista de que Mata Gálvez no cumplió con su promesa,[21] el Embajador Strook de los Estados Unidos se reunió varias veces con el General Héctor Gramajo (Cable de la Embajada, noviembre de 1989, Documento de prueba 42; cable de la Embajada, noviembre de 1989, Documento de prueba 43). El General Gramajo insistió con el Embajador Strook que si alguien entre el personal de las Fuerzas Armadas estaba involucrado en los asesinatos o en el encubrimiento de los mismos, dichos individuos serían llevados ante un tribunal civil para su enjuiciamiento (ib.). Finalmente, el 21 y el 26 de marzo de 1990, casi un año después de recibir las fotografías de los dos asesinos y dos años después de que se le dieran sus nombres, el General Mata Gálvez localizó a cuatro hombres para interrogarlos.[22] Los cuatro hombres, incluyendo a Mario Cano, jefe de la Patrulla Civil de El Llano, negaron haber participado en los asesinatos[23] (Cable de la Embajada, marzo de 1990, Documento de prueba 45).[24] En abril se informó a los funcionarios de la Embajada que se pondrían a su disposición tres hombres más para que fueran interrogados, pero los hombres no comparecieron (Cable de la Embajada, abril de 1990, Documento de prueba 46; cable de la Embajada, marzo de 1990, Documento de prueba 44). Las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas

[21]Como el ejército no cumplió con su promesa, la Embajada de los Estados Unidos concluyó que "a pesar de que la Embajada no tiene ninguna razón para creer que él [el General Mata-Gálvez] o el Ejército no tengan nada que ocultar en este asunto, las inexplicables demoras sugieren que eso es lo que está sucediendo" (ib.).

[22]Con anterioridad, en marzo, unas funcionarios de la Embajada habían viajado a Huehuetenango para interrogar de los testigos que el Ejército había prometido conseguir. La Embajada informó que "al igual que en ocasiones anteriores, las promesas de las Fuerzas Armadas de cooperar resultaron nulas y no se presentó ningún testigo en Huehuetenango" (Cable de la Embajada, Marzo de 1990, Documento de prueba 45).

insistieron en que habían enviado a unos guardias para recoger a los testigos ausentes, pero que los guardias habían regresado sin nadie (ib.). Varias semanas después, los funcionarios de la Embajada pudieron al fin entrevistar a Daniel Velásquez, jefe de la Patrulla Civil de Las Majadas y uno de los hombres que quemó los restos de Nicholas y de Griffith (Cable de la Embajada, abril de 1990, Documento de prueba 47). Velásquez también negó su participación. Las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas no han continuado con la investigación, y ninguno de estos individuos ha sido acusado de ningún crimen. Las Fuerzas Armadas tampoco han localizado ni interrogado al Teniente Elel, Comandante de la guarnición de Las Majadas, a pesar de haberse comprometido éste a hacerlo (ib.).

F. El Comisario militar de Chiantla y un miembro de la Patrulla Civil de El Llano llevan a los Blake hasta el sitio donde se encuentran los restos de Nicholas (1992)

La negativa por parte de las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas a llevar a cabo una investigación significativa resultó en el estancamiento de los esfuerzos de los Blake para llevar los asesinos ante la justicia y recobrar los restos de Nicholas, a pesar de que los Blake ya conocían la identidad de los asesinos. Inclusive la Embajada de los Estados Unidos le dijo a los Blake que no se podía hacer nada más. Los Blake acudieron entonces a Felipe Alva, el comisario militar y jefe de las Patrullas Civiles de la región de Chiantla.[25]

[25]La familia consideró también proporcionar fondos para un "Programa de acción cívica" con el fin de distribuir abastecimientos en la aldea de El Llano. El Coronel Perrussina, quien en ese tiempo era Comandante de la Zona militar 19, sugirió

La familia Blake conoció a Alva por primer vez en 1990. En aquel tiempo, Alva aceptó que era posible que la Patrulla Civil hubiera asesinado a Nicholas y a Griffith y les dijo a Randy y a Richard Blake, Sr., que era posible que él pudiera obtener información sobre el sitio donde se encontraban los restos de Nicholas y de Griffith. El 21 de junio de 1990, unos funcionarios de la Embajada de los Estados Unidos se reunieron con Alva en Huehuetenango (Cable de la Embajada, junio de 1990, Documento de prueba 48). Alva declaró que había localizado a alguien que, por 1,000 Quetzales (US $225), llevaría a la Embajada hasta los restos de Nicholas (ib.). Sam se reunió con Alva en enero de 1992. Alva aceptó entonces que si la familia le pagaba $10,000 el recobraba los restos de Nicholas. Sam aceptó las condiciones de Alva ya que él creía que era la única oportunidad que tenía la familia de recuperar los restos de Nicholas. Sam la entregó a Alva todo el dinero efectivo que tenía en ese momento.

Durante los meses siguientes, Alva habló varias veces por teléfono con Mike Shawcross y con Randy Blake. Pidió más dinero para "gastos" y confirmó que los restos de Nicholas y Griffith habían sido cambiados de sitio y quemados. Finalmente, el 16 de marzo de 1992, Alva le informó a Mike Shawcross que de hecho ya había recuperado los restos de Nicholas y exigió $1,000 el plan como una forma de generar buena voluntad en la aldea y así obtener información (Declaraciones de S. Blake y R. Blake en el Párrafo 54). El Coronel Perrussina entregó a los Blake una lista de abastecimientos que la familia debía comprar (ib.). Sin embargo, los Blake abandonaron el plan al quedar claro que la lista contenía únicamente abastecimientos militares que no eran de ayuda para la aldea de El Llano.

de inmediato. La familia Blake accedió al pedido de Alva y el 18 de marzo de 1992 Mike Shawcross voló a Huehuetenango para reunirse con Alva. Alva y otro hombre le dieron a Mike dos cajas de pino. Las cajas estaban forradas en satín y contenían tierra, fragmentos de huesos y dientes. El contenido de las cajas se mandó al Smithsonian Institution en Washington, D.C., donde los examinó el doctor Douglas Owsley, antropólogo forense y Jefe del Departamento de antropología forense del Smithsonian. El doctor Owsley concluyó que las cajas contenían parte de los restos de dos individuos. Pudo identificar a Griffith Davis, pero los restos no fueron suficientes para identificar a Nicholas Blake. (Declaración de S. Blake y R. Blake, Párrafos 62 y 63).

Como la familia Blake aún no tenía pruebas definitivas de la muerte de Nicholas, volvieron a ver a Alva y le pidieron que los llevara hasta el lugar del entierro. Alva aceptó con dos condiciones: (1) Que los Blake le pagaran de inmediato otros $2,000 y le prometieran por escrito pagar un total de $10,000 una vez que los restos de Nicholas fueran identificados en forma positiva; y (2) que los Blake prometieran por escrito no enjuiciar a los guardias civiles que habían asesinado a Nicholas y a Griffith. De nuevo la familia pensó que nos tenian más remedio que ponerse de acuerdo. El 19 de mayo de 1992, Mike Shawcross, en representación de los Blake, se reunió con Alva en Chiantla; le pagó los $2,000 y le entregó la declaración que había exigido. La declaración, firmada por Alva, incluye una confesión clara que indica que la Patrulla Civil de El Llano asesinó a Nicholas y a Griffith.[26]

En junio de 1992, Sam y Randy regresaron a Guatemala.[27] De acuerdo con los arreglos que habían hecho, se encontraron con Alva en Nebaj. El 12 de junio, Alva y un acompañante dirigieron un grupo de personas a la región montañosa. Entre ellas se encontraban Sam, Randy, Mike Shawcross, los doctores Owsley y Verano del Instituto Smithsonian, El Coronel Allen Cornell (Agregado militar a la Embajada de los Estados Unidos), Otto Noack Sierra, Teniente coronel del Ejército guatemalteco (miembro del personal del Departamento de defensa nacional de Guatemala), unos amigos de la familia y varios periodistas. Alva los llevó a un sitio que insistió que era el lugar del entierro. Sin embargo, los únicos restos que localizaron aparecieron en una bolsa plástica verde que había sido colocada allí por el acompañante de Alva para tratar de confundir al grupo.

El día siguiente, a insistencia de los Blake, Alva acompañó el grupo hasta El Llano. Los miembros de la Patrulla Civil que fueron interrogados insistieron que no conocían el paradero de ninguno de los hombres identificados como los asesinos de Nicholas y de Griffith. Los Blake dejaron a Alva en El Llano y se fueron manejando hasta Huehuetenango. Al día siguiente, 13 de junio, el tiempo impidió que la mayoría del grupo pudiera regresar a la región montañosa; sin embargo, a las 5:00 de la mañana, un grupo de guardias civiles de El Llano llevó a Alva hasta la ladera de la montaña, al lugar del entierro. Sam y Randy se reunieron con el Coronel Marín, comandante de la Base del Ejército en Huehuetenango. Durante la reunión, El Coronel Marín reconoció que era posible que La Patrulla Civil fuera responsable de la desaparición de Nicholas.

Finalmente, el 14 de junio, Felipe Alva y el resto del grupo volaron el lugar que había indicado Alva. Alva insistió que ese era, de hecho, el mismo lugar del entierro a donde lo habían llevado la madrugada del día anterior. Sin embargo, después de hora y media de búsqueda, Alva no pudo localizar el lugar exacto. El Teniente Coronel Noack voló de regreso a El Llano y regresó pocos minutos después con un miembro de la Patrulla Civil de El Llano.[28] El hombre señaló un lugar chamuscado en la ladera. Al excavar el lugar, se encontraron fragmentos de huesos y otros restos humanos. (Fotografías de la excavación, Documento de prueba 18). Sam y Randy encontraron unas monturas de metal de anteojos carbonizadas que reconocieron, o los de Nicholas. El doctor Owsley del Instituto Smithsonian examinó los restos recuperados del lugar y pudo identificar positivamente a Nicholas Blake. (Véase Documento de prueba 17).

IV. UN OFICIAL DEL EJERCITO GUATEMALTECO CONFIESA QUE EL EJERCITO SE ENTERO CASI DE INMEDIATO QUE UNOS GUARADIAS DE LA PATRULLA CIVIL HABIAN ASESINADO A NICHOLAS Y A GRIFFITH (1992)

Varios meses después, Sam se reunió con el Teniente Coronel Noack en los Estados Unidos. Durante esa reunión, Noack le confesó a Sam que las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas supieron "casi de inmediato" que la Patrulla Civil de El Llano había asesinado a Nicholas y a Griffith (Declaraciones de S. Blake y R. Blake, Párrafo 81). Las fuerzas Armadas no informaron a los Blake ni a la Embajada de los Estados Unidos a pesar de que habían solicitado una investigación en abril de 1985. (Cable de la Embajada, agosto de 1989, Documento de prueba 40.)

ALEGATO

I. EL GOBIERNO DE GUATEMALA ES LEGALMENTE RESPONSABLE DE LA DESAPARICION Y EL ASESINATO DE NICHOLAS BLAKE

Según las normas establecidas por la Corte Interamericana de Derechos Humanos (en adelante "la Corte"), cualquier acto que comete un organismo del estado o una entidad pública en violación de la Convención, se puede imputar al Estado parte. Como se demuestra a continuación, el gobierno de Guatemala creó las Patrullas Civiles guatemaltecas, éstas actúan bajo la autoridad y el control directo de las Fuerzas Armadas de la nación y son un órgano oficial del estado guatemalteco. Por lo tanto, se puede imputar a Guatemala la comisión de cualquier acto de las Patrullas Civiles.[29]

---

[29]Los cambios recientes en el gobierno de Guatemala, así sean de fondo, no eximen a Guatemala de su responsabilidad. La Corte ha indicado que, bajo el principio de la continuidad del estado según el derecho internacional, la responsabilidad por violaciones de derechos humanos subsiste con independencia de los cambios de

1. Las Patrullas Civiles son una rama oficial de las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas

Las Patrullas Civiles, conocidas en Guatemala como las "PACs" (Patrullas de autodefensa civil), se establecieron el primero de julio de 1982. (Departamento de Estado de los Estados Unidos, Informes de los países sobre derechos humanos, 1982, 525-26) Las Patrullas se establecieron por decreto oficial con el fin de establecer "el orden y la legalidad" en el país, como parte del "estado de sitio" que impuso el gobierno militar a nivel nacional. (ib.). Las Patrullas Civiles "aumentan el ejército, particularmente los comandantes en las regiones en conflicto" y "neutralizan o eliminan aquellos que rehusan integrarse a la vida normal". (Declaración de Schirmer, Párrafo 35). El Gobierno militar continuó su dependencia en las Patrullas Civiles para controlar a los campesinos guatemaltecos y para que fueran los ojos y los oídos de los comandantes locales del Ejército, inclusive después de levantarse el estado de sitio (Informe sobre la situación de los derechos humanos en Guatemala, Organización de Estados Americanos, 1982, Página 25; Declaración de Schirmer, Párrafo 25). La formación de las Patrullas Civiles y el control militar de las brigadas se adquirió existencia legal bajo las leyes guatemaltecas en 1986, con el entendimiento que eran "fuerzas auxiliares coordinadas por el Ministro de Defensa."[30] El oficial supero de las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas ha declarado abiertamente que las Patrullas Civiles son un instrumento oficial del Estado guatemalteco:

> Las Patrullas Civiles son un cuerpo auxiliar valioso que el Ejército puede utilizar sin reservas contra unidades terroristas. La sangre derramada por sus miembros hace que sea posible nuestra presencia aquí.

(Declaración de Schirmer, Párrafo 38) (Cita del ministro de Defensa de Guatemala, General Gramajo).

2. Las Fuerzas Armadas ejercen un control absoluto sobre las Patrullas Civiles.

El reclutamiento de guardias civiles ocurre prácticamente en todos los pueblos y aldeas de Guatemala. (Beatriz Manz, Refugees of a Hidden War: The Aftermath of Counterinsurgency in Guatemala, 70 [Los Refugiados de la guerra oculta: Efectos de la contra-insurgencia en Guatemala por Beatriz Manz] (State University of New York Press) (1988)). En 1983, había 900,000 hombres en las Patrullas Civiles (Declaración de Schirmer, Párrafo 25). En 1986, Americas Watch constató que los contingentes de mayor tamaño estaban localizados en los Departamentos del Quiché y Huehuetenango, la región donde Nicholas fue asesinado. (Civil Patrols in Guatemala [Patrullas civiles en Guatemala] Americas Watch (1986), Página 26).

Todos los hombres de 18 a 55 años tienen son obligados a prestar servicios, sin pago, de uno a cuatro días por la semana en las Patrullas Civiles. (ib. Página 23). Existe un sistema cruel de represalias contra aquellos que se resisten al reclutamiento forzoso.[31] Los deberes de los guardias civiles incluyen patrullar sus aldeas, informar sobre individuos desconocidos que penetran en la región y participar en primera línea en la ofensiva del Ejército contra la guerrilla. (Informe de una Misión a Guatemala del Grupo parlamentario británico de derechos humanos, "Amargo y cruel...", Grupo parlamentario de derechos humanos, 1985). El ejército depende de las Patrullas Civiles para llevar a cabo "el trabajo sucio," incluyendo ejecuciones extrajudiciales, torturas, detenciones ilegales, y desapariciones de personas que se sospecha como elementos subversivos. "Los individuos que no se presentan son simplemente denunciados a la base militar por un primer 'delito.' De allí en adelante los castigos son más severos. Puede que mantengan a los infractores durante días enteros en los refastos 'pozos de agua' u hoyos cerca del campamento militar o en el campamento mismo. Si la resistencia es más obvia, las represalias son aun más severas -- como en el caso de un hombre de edad que habló en contra del sistema de patrullas en un mitín y luego desapareció sin dejar rastro." El Ejército guatemalteco tiene a su cargo todos los detalles del sistema de las Patrullas Civiles, desde su iniciación hasta el contínuo reclutamiento de personal y sus funciones rutinarias. (Refugiados de una guerra oculta, páginas 69-70). Los oficiales del Ejército escogen, ellos mismos, a dos o tres personas para los puestos de comandantes en cada municipalidad. Los comandantes controlan a los jefes de brigada de menor rango, y cada jefe de brigada es responsable por un grupo de infantería. Los jefes de brigada tienen a su cargo la distribución y devolución de las armas que usan los guardias civiles. (ib.).

El control de las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas sobre todos los aspectos de las Patrullas Civiles lo corroboró un miembro de alto rango de las Fuerzas Armadas guatemaltecas en una carta pública a Ríos Montt, el presidente en aquella época:

> Los miembros de la defensa civil trabajan bajo la vigilancia de las Fuerzas Armadas. Son las Fuerzas Armadas quienes los guían, controlan y protegen. Por lo tanto, son parte del Ejército aún que insistan en negarlo los oficiales. Si eso no fuera así, serían paramilitares y, por lo tanto, estarían fuera de la ley.

3. El Ejército guatemalteco es responsable por la muerte de Nicholas Blake

Lo anterior demuestra que las Patrullas Civiles son una extensión del Ejército guatemalteco, y que actúan en representación del Ejército y bajo su dirección. La relación entre la Patrulla Civil de El Llano y el Ejército en la Zona 19, y el especial interés que tenía el Ejército en periodistas como Nicholas Blake confirma que la Patrulla Civil de El Llano en particular actuó en representación del Ejército guatemalteco cuando asesinó a Nicholas Blake y a Griffith Davis.

En 1985, en la región del norte de Huehuetenango, prácticamente todas las personas necesitaban un salvoconducto de las Patrullas Civiles para salir fuera de los pueblos. Tanto Beatriz Manz como Sheldon Davis documentaron la existencia de numerosos puestos de vigilancia en las carreteras de la región.[32] Los guardias estaban encargados de todos los sitios de entrada y salida del área y tenían que rendir cuentas directamente a las Fuerzas Armadas sobre todos los viajeros en la región.

Nicholas Blake era un periodista interesado en el conflicto político del norte de Huehuetenango. Como tal, le cajan automáticamente las sospechas; y el hecho que tenía un interés especial en los abusos de derechos humanos cometidos por el Ejército,[33] significaba que el Ejército lo consideraba un

"simpatizante de la guerrilla" y un "enemigo del estado" (Declaración de Schirmer, Párrafo 18). Es probable que las Fuerzas Armadas vigilaron a Nicholas durante toda su estadía en Guatemala (ib., Párrafo 32), y que el Ejército conocía con exactitud todos sus movimientos durante su viaje a la zona montañosa en marzo de 1985 (ib., Párrafo 33). De hecho, es casi seguro que el Ejército sabía, que la Patrulla Civil de El Llano había detenido e interrogado a Nicholas y a Griffith el 29 de marzo de 1985. Se ha comprobado que los campesinos de El Llano y Las Majadas le informaron a Justo Martínez que los guardias civiles habían ido a la guarnición de Las Majadas para preguntar si podían permitir que Nicholas y Griffith continuaran hacia Sumal. (Documento de prueba 4). Un oficial de alto rango del Ejército aceptó más tarde que el Ejército se había enterado, casi inmediatamente, que los dos hombres habían sido asesinados por la Patrulla Civil de El Llano.

El hecho que la Patrulla Civil de El Llano estaba armada confirma la responsabilidad del Ejército por los asesinatos. En mayo de 1985, apenas dos meses después del asesinato de Nicholas Blake, un agregado militar de los Estados Unidos calculó que únicamente de cinco a diez por ciento de los guardias civiles estaban armados con rifles. (Americas Watch, Patrullas Civiles en Guatemala, 1986, Página 28). Según sacerdote de Maryknoll, que vivia en Huehuetenango, "el tipo de armas que le entregan a los guardias generalmente refleja el grado de confianza del Ejército" (ib.). Puesto que la mayoría de los guardias civiles llevan "simplemente palos y machetes," (ib.)

el hecho que la Patrulla Civil de El Llano portara armas, y en particular los tres asesinos, Polo, Candelario Herrera y Vicente Cifuentes, demuestra la confianza que el Ejército tenía en estos hombres en particular.

4. La Corte ha establecido normas muy amplias para imputar a Estados partes las violaciones a la Convención

En el Fallo Velásquez, Comisión Interamericana de derechos Humanos (serie C) Número 4 (1988), la Corte explicó la amplitad de las circunstancias bajo las cuales la Convención puede imputar a un estado miembro. La Corte declaró que, "es imputable al estado toda violación a los derechos reconocidos por la Convención cumplida por un acto del poder público o de personas que actúan prevalidas de los poderes que ostentan por su carácter original. (Caso Velásquez, Párrafo 172). La Corte hizo notar, en términos aún más amplios que:

> es ilícita toda forma de ejercicio del poder público que viole los derechos reconocidos por la Convención. En tal sentido, en toda circunstancia en la cual un órgano o funcionario del Estado o de una institución de carácter público lesione indebidamente uno de tales derechos, se está ante un supuesto de inobservancia del deber de respeto consagrado en ese articulo.

(ib., Párrafo 169.) El hecho que los agentes del estado hayan actuado fuera de su mandato/autoridad o hayan violado alguna ley interna no afecta la imputabilidad. (ib., Párrafo 170). Para establecer la imputabilidad los peticionarios no tienen que demostrar que los actos que conforman las violaciones de la Convención fueron el resultado de órdenes oficiales o que el gobierno responsable estaba al tanto de las violaciones a todos los niveles. (ib., Párrafo 183). Por lo tanto, la Patrulla

Civil actuó como una rama oficial del Ejército y por lo tanto, Guatemala es responsable, ipso facto, de los asesinatos, ya sea que el Ejército guatemalteco autorizara o no autorizara oficialmente a la Patrulla Civil de El Llano para matar a Nicholas Blake y a Griffith Davis o estuviera o no al tanto de los asesinatos.

II. LAS ACCIONES DE GUATEMALA VIOLAN LOS ARTÍCULOS 1, 4, 5, 7, 13, 22, Y 25 DE LA CONVENCIÓN AMERICANA DE DERECHOS HUMANOS

La desaparición y asesinato de Nicholas Blake por las Patrullas Civiles, y la falta por Guatemala de investigar o castigar a los asesinos violan los Artículos 1, 4, 5, 7, 13, 22 y 25 de la Convención.

A. Guatemala violó el Artículo 1

El Artículo 1 (1) impone el deber a Guatemala de ""garantizar" el libre y pleno ejercicio de los derechos reconocidos en la Convención a toda persona sujeta a su jurisdicción....Como consecuencia de esta obligación los Estados deben provenir, investigar y sancionar toda violación de los derechos reconocidos por la Convención. (Opinión Velásquez, párrafo 166 (con énfasis)). La investigación:

> debe emprenderse con seriedad y no como una simple formalidad condenada de antemano a ser infructuosa. Debe tener un sentido y ser asumida por el Estado como un deber jurídico propio y no como una simple gestión de intereses particulares, que dependa de la iniciativa procesal de la víctima o de sus familiares o de la aportación privada de elementos probatorios, sin que la autoridad pública busque efectivamente la verdad.

(Opinión Velásquez, párrafo 177). El "deber de investigar...subsiste mientras se mantenga la incertidumbre sobre las suerte final de la persona desaparecida." (ib. a 181). "El derecho de los familiares de la víctima de conocer cuál fue el destino de ésta y, en su caso, dónde se encuentran sus restos, representa una justa expectativa que el Estado debe satisfacer con los medios a su alcance." (ib.)

La familia Blake pidió una investigación por Guatemala pocas semanas después de la desaparición de Nicholas y de Griffith. Guatemala violó sus obligaciones bajo el Artículo 1(1) por no investigar o enjuiciar, y por tomar medidas para encubrir los asesinatos y para ocultar la verdad.

Como un miembro de alto comando guatemalteco ha reconocido, la fuerzas militares guatemaltecas supieron casi inmediatamente que Nicholas Blake y Griffith Davis habían sido matados por la Patrulla Civil de El Llano. (Declaraciones de S.Blake y R.Blake, Párrafo 81). Sin embargo, las fuerzas militares no hicieron nada para informar a las familias y para así aliviar su sufrimiento. En vez de hacer esto, los oficiales del ejército y del gobierno emprendieron una campaña de no cooperación y de encubrimiento que sigue hasta lo presente.[1]

- La base militar de la zona 19 mandó a las patrullas civiles de El Llano y las Majadas que enterraran o quemaran los cadáveres para conseguir que no fueran encontrados por las familias;
- El comisionado militar de la región y unos oficiales de la zona militar 19 amenazaron en persona a los vecinos para impedir que relataran lo que había pasado;

- El ejército demoró o no intentó localizar a los asesinos y presentarlos para que fueran interrogados, a pesar de que el ejército fue proporcionado con sus nombres y sus fotografías;
- El ejército por fin localizó y preparó la interrogación de únicamente tres de los siete hombres que habían sido involucrados en los asesinatos e incineración de los restos; cuatro de estos hombres nunca fueron interrogados;
- El ejército no interrogó a los sospechados y dejo toda interrogación al personal de la embajada estadounidense;
- El ejército no hizo ningún esfuerzo para confirmar la identidad de los hombres que fueron interrogados;
- El ejército no proporcionó las listas de los miembros de la Patrulla Civil del area de El Llano que había prometido. Esto hubiera permitido a la familia Blake de verificar independientemente la identidad de los hombres que fueron interrogados;
- El ejército no presentó al comandante de la guarnición militar de Las Majadas para ser interrogado en 1990, a pesar de haber prometido presentarle;
- El ejército no interrogó al Profesor de escuela en El Llano, aunque existía información de que tenía en su posesión la camera fotográfica de Nicholas Blake;
- El ejército pretendió haber mandado patrullas al area de El Llano para buscar a los hombres al poco tiempo de su desaparición, cuando realmente no lo había hecho;

- Unos oficiales del ejército y del gobierno les dijeron a los Blake que Nicholas había sido matado por la guerrilla o había salido del país, cuando sabían que esto no era verdad; y
- Guatemala nunca inició un enjuiciamiento criminal, a pesar de haber emitido un certificado de muerte para Nicholas Blake, y de haber reconocido su muerte de esta manera.

B. Guatemala Violó el Artículo 4

El Artículo 4(1) de la Convención declara que

> Toda persona tiene derecho a que se respete su vida. Este derecho estará protegido por la ley ... Nadie puede ser privado de la vida arbitrariamente.

Guatemala violó el Artículo 4(1) en asesinar a Nicholas Blake.

C. Guatemala Violó el Artículo 5

El artículo 5(1) de la Convención declara que: "Toda persona tiene derecho a que se respete su integridad física, psíquica, y moral." El Artículo 5(2) declara, además, que "Nadie deber ser sometido a torturas ni a penas o tratos crueles, inhumanos o degradantes. Toda persona privada de libertad será tratada con el respeto debido a la dignidad inherente al ser humano."

La detención y asesinato a tiros de Nicholas Blake violo su integridad física y le sometió a tratos crueles, inhumanos y degradantes.

D. Guatemala Violó el Artículo 7

El Artículo 7 de la Convención declara que "toda persona tiene derecho a la libertad y la seguridad personales." El Artículo 7(2) declara que "nadie puede ser privado de su libertad física, salvo por las causas y en las condiciones fijadas de antemano por las Constituciones Políticas de los Estados partes o por las leyes dictados conforme a ellas." La Corte reconoció hace tiempo que...("el secuestro de la persona es un caso de privación arbitraria de libertad que convado sin demora ante un juez y a interponer los recursos adecuados para controlar la legalidad de su arresto, que infringe el Artículo 7..."). (opinión Velásquez, párrafo 155).

Guatemala violó el Artículo 7 en detener Nicholas Blake a la fuerza, y en matarlo.

E. Guatemala Violó el Artículo 13

El Artículo 13 de la Convención declara que, "toda persona tiene derecho a la libertad de pensamiento y de expresión. Este derecho comprende la libertad de buscar, recibir, y difundir informaciones e ideas de toda índole, sin consideración de fronteras, ya sea oralmente, por escrito o en forma impresa o artística, o por cualquier otro procedimiento de su elección. "Además, "el ejercicio del derecho previsto"en el Articulo 13 "no puede estar sujeto a previa censura."

Nicholas Blake era un escritor y periodista que intentaba escribir un reportaje sobre la guerrilla de la región montañosa de Guatemala. Era nada más que un periodista que seguía las fuentes de una historia. Guatemala violó el Artículo 13 en matar a Nicholas Blake, silenciándolo e impidiendo que publicara reportajes que criticaran al gobierno.[35]

F. Guatemala Violó el Artículo 22

El Artículo 22 de la Convención declara que, "Toda persona que se halle legalmente en el territorio de un Estado tiene derecho a circular por el mismo y a residir en él con sujeción a las disposiciones legales."

Nicholas Blake estaba legalmente en Guatemala cuando fue asesinado. En asesinarlo, Guatemala violó su derecho bajo el Artículo 22 de viajar sin peligro por el país.

G. Guatemala Violó el Artículo 25

El Artículo 25 de la Convención declara que "toda persona tiene derecho a un recurso sencillo y rápido o a cualquier otro recurso efectivo ante los jueces o tribunales competentes, que la ampare contra actos que violen sus derechos fundamentales reconocidos por la Constitución, la ley o la presente Convención, aún cuando tal violación sea cometida por personas que actúen en ejercicio de sus funciones oficiales." Además, bajo el Artículo 25(2)(a), los Estados partes, incluyendo a Guatemala, se comprometen "a garantizar que la autoridad competente prevista por el sistema legal del Estado decidirá sobre los derechos de toda persona que interponga tal recurso."

Guatemala violó el Artículo 25 en asesinar a Nicholas Blake sin proporcionarle ningún recurso ante la ley.

[35] En 1985 cuando Nicholas Blake fue asesinado, las fuerzas militares guatemaltecas tenían una sensibilidad especial hacia los periodistas que escribían sobre los abusos de derechos humanos en la zona montañosa (Declaración de Schirmer en el párrafo 13, 23). El ejército consideraba que periodistas como Nicholas que escribían sobre tales abusos eran "los enemigos del estado guatemalteco" (Declaración de Schirmer en el párrafo 23).

III. LOS RECURSOS QUE TIENEN A LAS LEYES SUS DISPOSICION LOS PETICIONARIOS BAJO GUATEMALTECAS, SON INEFICACES; POR LO TANTO, LOS PETICIONARIOS NO TIENEN OBLIGACIÓN DE AGOTAR DICHOS RECURSOS

Los peticionarios no interpusieron formalmente los remedios domésticos de la ley guatemalteca, porque tal interposición seria inútil. Bajo el Articulo 46(1)(a) de la Convención y la sentencia de la Corte en Velásquez Rodriguez, los peticionarios no tienen obligación de agotar estos remedios.

A. No existen recursos eficaces bajo el derecho guatemalteco

El esfuerzo de la familia Blake por averiguar el paradero de Nicholas Blake y para obtener un resultado justo en este asunto demuestra con énfasis la inexistencia de remedios eficaces bajo la ley guatemalteca para remediar las nefastas violaciones de los derechos humanos de Nicholas Blake. Como se describe en la relación de los hechos, miembros de la familia Blake viajaron a Guatemala más de veinte veces. Se reunieron en repetidas ocasiones con oficiales de los más altos rangos del gobierno y del ejército, entre ellos el Presidente de Guatemala, el consejero sobre seguridad nacional al Presidente, el jefe de personal, el jefe de inteligencia del ejército, y los comandantes de la base militar de Huehuetenango. Estos esfuerzos fueron en vano. Hasta esta fecha, ni el ejército ni el gobierno han tomado ninguna medida eficaz para investigar la desaparición de Nicholas Blake o para presentar a la justicia lo asesinos. La falta de investigación de parte de guatemala viola los Articulos 6, 7, y 9 de la Constitución Política guatemalteca. Estas prohíben detenciones clandestinas. Véase, por ejemplo el Articulo 6 de dicha Constitución ("Ninguna persona puede ser detenida o presa, si no por causa del delito o falta y en virtud de orden librada con apego a la ley por autoridad judicial competente...los detenidos deberán ser puestos a disposición de la autoridad judicial competente en un plazo que no exceda de [sic] seis horas, y no podrán quedar sujetos a ninguna otra autoridad.")

El hecho de que el gobierno guatemalteco no ha tomado ninguna medida de acción en el año pasado, después del hallazgo de los restos de Nicholas Blake, demuestra aún más la inutilidad de buscar un remedio bajo la ley guatemalteca. Al encontrar los restos en junio de 1992, Guatemala no podía seguir negando que los asesinatos habían ocurrido. Efectivamente, el 21 de agosto de 1992, las autoridades civiles del departamento de Huehuetenango publicaron una Certificación de Defunción (Documento de prueba 19) para Nicholas Blake, en la cual el gobierno reconoció oficialmente la muerte de Nicholas. Sin embargo, no se hizo ninguna investigación sobre la circunstancias de su fallecimiento. La falta de investigación por Guatemala de la desaparición y muerte de Nicholas Blake no es insólita. Al contrario, ocurre con frecuencia. Sin excepción, los estudios sobre la administración de la justicia en Guatemala han llegado a la conclusión de que no existen recursos eficaces para remediar los tremendos abusos de derechos humanos que ocurren en este país. Un nuevo estudio por Amnesty International observa que:

> Aunque en 1992 se presentaron denuncias en varios casos relacionados con la violación de derechos humanos, es aparente que la mayoría abrumadora de ellos no fueron investigados de una manera seria, y no produjeron castigo alguno. Las pocas investigaciones y denuncias criminales que sí se llevaron a cabo se implementaron de una manera defectuosa, y sufrieron demoras. Amnesty International, Guatemala: La impunidad, una cuestión de voluntad política, 32 (1993)(con énfasis) (el original en inglés). Además, el departamento de estado de los Estados Unidos determinó que:

> El sistema jurídico [en Guatemala] es ineficaz. La mayoría de violaciones de derechos humanos no se investigan; miembros de las fuerzas de seguridad resisten investigar casos que involucren a colegas. Los jueces son vulnerables a la intimidación y a la corrupción, y sufren de sueldos bajos, malas condiciones de trabajo, y baja moral.

Reportajes sobres las prácticas de derechos humanos en los países del mundo de 1992, 410 (con énfasis) (original en inglés).

1. El poder judicial guatemalteco no ha logrado proteger los derechos humanos

Aunque existen en la Constitución, legislación, e instituciones de justicia de Guatemala algunos mecanismos para la protección de derechos humanos, estos mecanismos no han conseguido que los jueces guatemaltecos puedan proteger derechos humanos. La incompetencia, la corrupción, y la falta de legitimidad "de poco a poco han convertido al sistema jurídico guatemalteco en un sistema que no funciona."[36]

a. El poder judicial no lleva a cabo enjuiciamientos por violaciones de los derechos humanos

Se supone que la mayoría de asesinatos políticos en Guatemala han sido cometidos por las fuerzas armadas y las Patrullas Civiles (Reportaje de la O.N.U. por Christian

---

[36] Véase generalmente, Americas Watch and Physicians for Human Rights, Guatemala: Getting Away with Murder (Agosto 1991)(original en inglés).

Tomuschat, 17). Sin embargo, casi nunca se adjudican culpables de las violaciones de derechos humanos. Con pocas excepciones, el poder judicial no ha detenido ni enjuiciado a las personas responsables por los asesinatos extrajudiciales y políticamente motivados. Se le ha llamado al poder judicial "la división mas débil del gobierno en Guatemala," y "un fracaso [en el enjuiciamiento] de los violadores de derechos humanos." (Americas Watch and Physicians for Human Rights, Guatemala: Getting Away with Murder, 6 (agosto 1991)(original en inglés). En una época tan reciente como 1991, un programa cooperativo entre la universidad de Harvard y la división jurídica guatemalteca se canceló dado a que el grupo de Harvard opinaba que "sus esfuerzos eran en vano en vista del contexto de una total falta de respeto por los derechos humanos y la falta de voluntad política para cambiar esta situación de parte del gobierno."[37]

Abundan los ejemplos del fracaso del poder judicial guatemalteco en remediar violaciones de derechos humanos:

* A finales de 1990, un tribunal de apelación guatemalteco puso en libertad a seis oficiales de la policía nacional que habían sido encarcelados por el secuestro y asesinato en 1987 de dos estudiantes universitarios. Según Americas Watch, los oficiales fueron puestos en libertad a pesar de que existían

Véase también C. Marquist, "Guatemala Ends Murder Probe with No Arrests", Miami Herald, 6 de julio, 1990 (ISLA 71).

pruebas en abundancia para ratificar una convicción de secuestro y asesinato contra los acusados.[38]

* En 1991 un trabajador en derechos humanos fue asesinado tras recibir un gran número de amenazas de muerte. Aunque sus parientes vieron su asesinato por los patrulleros civiles y presentaron una demanda ante el procurador de derechos humanos, solicitando una investigación, jamás se llevo a cabo una investigación y nunca se detuvo, denuncio, o interrogó a nadie.[39]

b. El poder judicial carece de competencia sobre las fuerzas armadas

En vista de que los tribunales militares guatemaltecos son los únicos que tienen competencia sobre el personal militar, el poder de las cortes civiles para enjuiciar al personal militar se ve aún más limitado. En los pocos casos que han sido referidos a tribunales militares, las investigaciones y procedimientos se llevan a cabo de una manera muy erradica, sufren demoras internas, y no resultan en acción definitiva alguna. Por ejemplo en septiembre de 1992, en un caso reaccionado al asesinato en 1990 del ciudadano estadounidense Michael Devine, el jefe de inteligencia de la base militar de El Petén fue absuelto a pesar de testimonio incontrovertido del juicio civil que indicaba que había ordenado el asesinato.[40] Un oficial de menor rango fue condenado, pero escapó casi inmediatamente de la cárcel.[41]

c. El mandamiento de exhibición personal no es un recurso eficaz en Guatemala

El recurso de exhibición personal contenido en el Artículo 263 de la Constitución guatemalteca sigue siendo un método ineficaz para remediar las violaciones de derechos humanos, sobre todo las violaciones relacionadas a los desaparecidos. En muchos casos, los tribunales no responden a las peticiones presentadas de parte de los desaparecidos. Por ejemplo, el Comité de Abogadas/os en Minnesota no recibió respuesta a cinco de las seis peticiones que presentó a principios de 1990. Las sexta petición recibió una respuesta negativa. [42] Varias otras organizaciones han comentado que sólo raramente reciben una respuesta oficial a sus peticiones de exhibición personal.[43] Muchos jueces no están dispuestos a asumir el riesgo de buscar agresivamente a los detenidos ilegalmente aunque algunos jueces sí observan el derecho de exhibición personal de la ley guatemalteca, la existencia actual de cárceles clandestinas hace inútil su búsqueda por los desaparecidos en instalaciones públicas.[44]

Se intimida y se amenaza a los jueces

Muchos jueces han recibido amenazas por mantener enjuiciamientos de Patrulleros Civiles o del ejército por supuestas violaciones de derechos humanos. "Se citan los efectos de las amenazas sobre los jueces" El Gráfico, 15 de octubre de 1991, 19.[45] Como resultado de esto, muchos jueces se resisten a investigar supuestos abusos de derechos humanos. Además, los patrulleros Civiles con frecuencia amenazan a testigos para evitar que éstos den testimonio. El gobierno no ofrece ninguna protección a estos testigos (ib., p. 55).

2. La policía no investiga los abusos de derechos humanos

El poder de investigación de la policía guatemalteca está limitada a causa de la subordinación de la policía a la autoridad militar y a causa de la escasez de policías. Hay únicamente tres mil policías civiles en el país entero de nueve millones de personas, y casi ninguno en las zonas rurales de Guatemala, donde las Patrullas Civiles mantienen poderes policïacos. (Véase Refugees of a Hidden War, 70). La policía se ve mas desanimada aún para llevar a cabo investigaciones a causa de las repercusiones que surgen por haber investigado a personas que están asociadas con, o son miembros de, las fuerzas de la seguridad. Tales repercusiones son ilustradas por el asesinato de Jose Mérida Escobar, el investigador policía encargado de la investigación sobre el notorio asesinato de la antropóloga Myrna Mack Chang.[46]

Aparentemente no existe ningún mecanismo a través del cual un juez pueda obligar a la policía de llevar a cabo una investigación. Un juez que fue entrevistado por Amnesty International observó que no tenía ninguna autoridad sobre la policía en investigaciones criminales, y que carecía de poder alguno al enfrentarse a la falta de cooperación por la policía en una investigación.[47]

B. No se tienen que agotar los recursos internos que carecen de eficacia

El Artículo 46(1)(a) de la Convención declara que peticiones presentadas a la Comisión serán admitidas solamente si "se hayan interpuesto y agotado los recursos de jurisdicción interna informe (sic) a los principios de Derecho internacional generalmente reconocidos." No obstante, el agotamiento de los recurso domésticos no será necesario cuando:

> No exista en la legislación interna del Estado de que se trata el debido proceso legal para la protección del derecho o derechos que se alega han sido violados.

Convención, Artículo 46(2)(a). El hecho que un Estado ofrece en nombre un debido proceso legal no es suficiente. La Corte en Velásquez Rodriguez observó que "los principios del Derecho Internacional generalmente reconocidos" citados en el Artículo 46(1)(a) comprenden no solamente la existencia formal de remedios domésticos, sino también su adecuación y efectividad (ib. párrafo 63). Para que se imponga la regla de agotamiento, un remedio debe ser "eficaz, es decir, capaz de producir el resultado para el cual ha sido concebido" (ib. párrafo 66). Un remedio será ineficaz si carece de virtualidad para obligar la autoridades de una nación, o si resulta peligrosa para los interesados intentarlo o no se aplica imparcialmente (ib.).

Como se ha comentado anteriormente, la experiencia de los Blake y el pésimo historial de Guatemala relativo a los derechos humanos demuestra que no existen remedios efectivos bajo la ley doméstica guatemalteca. Los peticionarios por lo tanto no están obligados a recurrir a estos remedios inútiles, y esta Petición debe ser admitida por la Comisión.

REPARACIÓN JUDICIAL QUE SE SOLICITA

Los hechos aquí escritos establecen sin lugar a duda que Guatemala violó la Convención en detener y ejecutar extrajudicialmente a Nicholas Blake, y en no investigar o someter a un procedimiento legal estos crimenes. Por lo tanto, los peticionarios solicitan respetuosamente que la Comisión declare lo siguiente:

1. En este caso, Guatemala ha violado su obligación legal de respetar y asegurar los derechos a la vida, la integridad personal, la libertad personal, la privacidad, el derecho de circulación, y la protección judicial, previstos en los Artículos 4, 5, 7, 13, 22, y 25 de la Convención y en el Articulo 1(1) de la misma Convención; y que

2 Guatemala ha violado su obligación bajo los Artículos 1 y 25 de la Convención de investigar de una manera apropiada y de remediar a través de los recursos domésticos las violaciones de los derechos humanos fundamentales de Nicholas Blake.

Adicionalmente, con referencia al Articulo 48 de la Convención los peticionarios solicitan respetuosamente que la Comisión busque, de parte de peticionarios, una solución amistosa de las denuncias de los peticionarias contra Guatemala, logrando tal solución amistosa únicamente cuando Guatemala acepte lo siguiente:

1. Guatemala comenzará inmediatamente una investigación imparcial y completa para averiguar los nombres y la ubicación de todas personas y entidades que sean responsables de las mencionadas violaciones de los derechos humanos de Nicholas Blake, e informará a la Comisión de los resultados de dicha investigación;

2. Guatemala enjuiciará y castigará a los responsables de estos crímenes según las provisiones de la ley guatemalteca y según las obligaciones de Guatemala bajo la Convención; y

3. Guatemala pagará daños compensatorios, daños morales, y reembolso por los gastos incurridos por los peticionarios en investigar la muerte y desaparición de Nicholas Blake.

Además, los peticionarios solicitan respetuosamente que la Comisión remita formalmente esta petición a la Corte Interamericana de Derechos Humanos, presentando pruebas y un alegato legal a favor de esta petición, y que solicite a la Corte que ordene lo siguiente:

1. Guatemala comenzará inmediatamente una investigación imparcial y completa para averiguar los nombres y la ubicación de todas personas y entidades que sean responsables de las mencionadas violaciones de los derechos humanos de Nicholas Blake, e informará a la Comisión de los resultados de dicha investigación;

2. Guatemala enjuiciará y castigará a los responsables de estos crímenes según las provisiones de la ley guatemalteca y según las obligaciones de Guatemala bajo la Convención; y

3. Guatemala pagará daños compensatorios, daños morales, y reembolso por los gastos incurridos por los peticionarios en investigar la muerte y desaparición de Nicholas Blake.

Adicionalmente, los peticionarios solicitan respetuosamente que la Comisión realize una audiencia si fuera necesaria y que publique, según las provisiones de los Artículos 51 a 54 de su Reglamento, en su próximo Informe Anual o en cualquier otro Informe Especial que la Comisión considere apropiado, todas deliberaciones, determinaciones, conclusiones, recomendaciones, y órdenes relacionados a las violaciones por Guatemala de la Convención Americana sobre Derechos Humanos en el caso de Nicholas Blake.

2. SUMMARY: CONSUL GENERAL AND DATT MET WITH FORMER GUATEMALAN ARMY SOLDIERS FRANCISCO SOLBAL SANTAY AND TIBURCIO HERNANDEZ HERNANDEZ ON OCTOBER 19 AT PAVONCITO DETENTION FACILITY. EMBOFFS REFERRED TO RECENT MEDIA COVERAGE OF INMATES' ALLEGATIONS ABOUT ARMY INVOLVEMENT IN PAST HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES, INCLUDING THE KILLING OF AMERICAN CITIZEN MICHAEL DEVINE, GUATEMALAN HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVIST MYRNA MACK, AND THE EXISTENCE OF CLANDESTINE CEMETERIES ON ARMY BASES (REFTEL), AND EXPRESSED THE USG INTEREST IN ANY INFORMATION THAT WOULD LEAD TO THE RESOLUTION OF THESE OR OTHER OUTSTANDING HUMAN RIGHTS CASES. THE INMATES DENIED KNOWING ANYTHING ABOUT THE DEVINE MURDER OR OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. END SUMMARY.

3. SOLBAY, THE SELF-DESIGNATED SPOKESPERSON FOR THE PAIR, STATED THAT THEY HAD NO INFORMATION ABOUT THESE OR ANY OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES, NOTING THAT HE AND TIBURCIO HERNANDEZ HAD BEEN SIMPLE SOLDIERS SERVING OUT THEIR ENLISTMENTS. WHEN PRESSED AS TO WHY THEY HAD GONE PUBLIC WITH THEIR INITIAL ALLEGATIONS, ACCOMPANIED BY A LETTER TO PRESIDENT DE LEON OFFERING TO TELL ALL IN RETURN FOR A REDUCTION IN THEIR 30

YEAR SENTENCES FOR THE MURDER OF MICHAEL DEVINE, SOLBAY SAID THAT THEY HAD BEEN MANIPULATED BY JORGE LEMUS, THE CONVICTED CAR THIEF WHO MANY IDENTIFY AS THE AUTHOR OF THIS DRAMA. SUBSEQUENTLY, THEY REALIZED THAT THEY HAD BEEN MISLED BY LEMUS INTO THINKING THAT THEY COULD OBTAIN REDUCTIONS IN THEIR SENTENCES BY RAISING HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. WHEN

PRESSED BY DATT AS TO WHY LEMUS WOULD RUN THE APPARENT RISK OF MAKING SUCH STRONG CHARGES AGAINST THE ARMY, SOLBAL REPLIED THAT LEMUS HAD DEVISED THE PUBLIC CAMPAIGN BECAUSE HE HAS PROBLEMS WITH QUOTE PEOPLE ON THE OUTSIDE (NOT FURTHER EXPLAINED) END QUOTE.

4. EMBOFFS REITERATED CONTINUING STRONG USG INTEREST IN IDENTIFYING THE INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS OF THE MICHAEL DEVINE MURDER, AND ASKED THE INMATES FOR DETAILS SUPPORTING THEIR ALLEGATIONS ABOUT KNOWING THE IDENTITIES OF SENIOR ARMY OFFICERS WHO HAD ORDERED THE KILLING. SOLBAL AGAIN DEMURRED, REITERATING THAT THEY KNEW NOTHING ABOUT THIS OR ANY OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS CASE, THAT THEY WERE IN JAIL OUT OF "BAD LUCK." CONSUL GENERAL PRESSED FOR INFORMATION ON CLANDESTINE CEMETERIES, NOTING THAT INMATES HAD SERVED IN PETEN FOR EXTENDED PERIODS OF TIME WITH UNITS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN INVOLVED IN ACTION AGAINST SUBVERSIVES. SOLBAY ONCE AGAIN RECITED HIS REFRAIN OF SIMPLE SOLDIERS WHO KNEW NOTHING.

5. EMBOFFS EMPHASIZED TO THE INMATES THAT WE WERE CONCERNED ABOUT THEIR SECURITY IN VIEW OF THE WIDE PUBLICITY GIVEN TO THEIR INITIAL ALLEGATIONS, AND ASKED WHETHER THE GOG HAD FOLLOWED THROUGH ON ITS PROMISE TO PROVIDE ADDITIONAL POLICE PROTECTION. SOLBAL SAID THAT HE WAS NOT AWARE OF ANY ADDITIONAL SECURITY MEASURES THAT HAD BEEN TAKEN, BUT STATED THAT THE PAIR DID NOT FEEL THREATENED. EMBOFFS

REFERRED TO THE ALLEGED SUICIDE DEATH OF PRISONER OLIVERO ANGEL ECHEVERRIA, WHO HAD ALSO MADE ALLEGATIONS ABOUT HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS BY THE ARMY, NOTING THAT ECHEVERRIA HAD BEEN FOUND ONLY A FEW CELLS AWAY FROM THEIR OWN CELL. SOLBAL REPLIED THAT HE KNEW ECHEVERRIA AND WAS AWARE OF HIS ALLEGATIONS, BUT DID NOT SEE ANY LINKAGE WITH HIS OWN SITUATION.

6. HAVING HIT A BRICK WALL, EMBOFFS CLOSED THE MEETING BY EXPRESSING INTEREST IN ANY INFORMATION THAT THE INMATES MIGHT HAVE CONCERNING HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, AND INDICATING THE WE WOULD AGAIN RAISE THE ISSUE OF THEIR PERSONAL SECURITY WITH THE GOG.

7. COMMENT: WE ARE SKEPTICAL OF INMATES' CLAIMS THAT THEY NOW KNOW NOTHING ABOUT ARMY INVOLVEMENT IN HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. IN RESPONSE TO DIRECT QUESTIONS ABOUT DETAILS OF THE MICHAEL DEVINE MURDER THAT ARE ON THE PUBLIC RECORD IN JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS AGAINST SOLBAL AND HERNANDEZ, THEY CLAIMED NO KNOWLEDGE, A CLEAR PREVARICATION. EARLIER IN THE

DAY, THE LAWYER FOR THE DEVINE FAMILY TOLD CONSUL GENERAL THAT THE ARMY HAD EITHER PRESSURED OR PAID THE PAIR TO RECANT. WE WILL CONTINUE TO PRESSURE THE GOG TO PROVIDE THE PAIR WITH EVERY OPPORTUNITY TO TELL THEIR STORY, AND TO PROTECT THEM IN THE MEANTIME. AMBASSADOR WILL RAISE THE ISSUE WITH THE PRESIDENT, AND THE DCM WILL MEET WITH ATTORNEY

PRISON INMATES RETRACTED THEIR STORIES ABOUT ARMY INVOLVEMENT IN PAST HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES DUE TO PRESSURE EXERTED AGAINST THEM BY THE MILITARY. THEY BELIEVE THAT THE GOG IS DELIBERATELY NOT PURSUING THIS MATTER AGGRESSIVELY TO AVOID EMBARRASSING THE ARMED FORCES. THESE ACTIVISTS CONSIDER THAT THE RECENT INMATE DEATH WHICH OCCURRED AT ANOTHER PRISON WAS A MURDER, NOT A SUICIDE AS ALLEGED BY PRISON AUTHORITIES. END SUMMARY.
3. ON OCT 14, POLOFF MET SEPARATELY WITH HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS FROM THE MYRNA MACK FOUNDATION, ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE AND AMERICA'S WATCH TO GET THEIR REACTION TO THE RETRACTION BY THE INMATES OF THEIR CHARGES AGAINST THE GUATEMALAN ARMY, AND TO THE ALLEGED SUICIDE DEATH OF PRISON INMATE OLIVERO ANGEL ECHEVERRIA (ALIAS COLONEL MATRES). THE ACTIVISTS ARE EXTREMELY DISAPPOINTED THAT THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION DID NOT CREATE AN ATMOSPHERE OF SECURITY FOR THESE INMATES BY PREVENTING THE MILITARY FROM CONTACTING THEM AND BY MOVING THE INMATES TO A MORE SECURE LOCATION. THEY FEEL THE GOVERNMENT IS NOT PURSUING THIS MATTER AGGRESSIVELY TO AVOID EMBARRASSING THE MILITARY. THESE HUMAN RIGHTS REPS

INMATE RETRACTION

4. ON OCT 13, THE TWO EX-SOLDIERS CURRENTLY SERVING A THIRTY YEAR SENTENCE FOR THE KILLING OF MICHAEL DEVINE RETRACTED THEIR OCT 11 ACCUSATIONS OF HIGH-LEVEL MILITARY INVOLVEMENT IN PAST HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. THESE VIOLATIONS INCLUDED THE MICHAEL DEVINE MURDER, THE MYRNA MACK KILLING AND THE LOCATION OF CLANDESTINE CEMETERIES UTILIZED TO BURY HUMAN RIGHTS VICTIMS. THE EX-SOLDIERS MADE THIS RETRACTION MINUTES BEFORE THE ARRIVAL OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL. THE TWO INMATES CLAIMED ANOTHER INMATE AND UP TO NOW THE SPOKESPERSON FOR THE GROUP, JORGE GUILLERMO ALVARADO LEMUS, MANIPULATED AND BRIBED THEM TO MAKE THESE FALSE ACCUSATIONS. THE TWO EX-SOLDIERS CLAIMED LEMUS PAID THEM $ US 50-100 A WEEK. LEMUS DENIED THESE ALLEGATIONS, STATING HE HAS NO MONEY. LEMUS TOLD REPORTERS THAT MEMBERS OF THE PRESIDENTIAL NATIONAL DEFENSE STAFF HAD BEEN VISITING THE EX-SOLDIERS ON A REGULAR BASIS PRIOR TO THEIR RETRACTION.

5. MACK FOUNDATION. VIVIAN MACK OF THE MACK FOUNDATION WAS OUTRAGED THAT THE GOVERNMENT DID NOT ISOLATE THESE INMATES FROM OUTSIDE VISITORS, PARTICULARLY THE MILITARY. SHE RECOUNTED THE STORY THAT APPEARED IN THE OCT 11 ISSUES OF VARIOUS DAILY NEWSPAPERS. THE NEWSPAPERS QUOTED THE INMATES, WHO SAID A CAPTAIN SOSA DIAZ FROM THE G-2 (ARMY INTELLIGENCE) OFFERED EACH INMATE $ US 50,000 TO KEEP SILENT ABOUT THESE ALLEGATIONS. VIVIAN COMMENTED THAT ORIGINALLY THERE WERE THREE INMATES WHO WERE

WILLING TO REVEAL THE TRUTH ABOUT HUMAN RIGHTS CRIMES IN EXCHANGE FOR A REDUCTION IN SENTENCE. JUST BEFORE THE NEWS CONFERENCE, ONE OF THE CONVICTS, OLIVERO ORELLANE VALDEZ, CHOSE NOT TO ATTEND. MACK CLAIMS ORELLANE TOOK THE ARMY'S BRIBE. SHE ALSO BELIEVES LEMUS' CLAIM THAT THE MILITARY HAD REPEATEDLY BEEN SENDING REPRESENTATIVES TO MEET WITH THE TWO EX-SOLDIERS AND THAT THIS MILITARY PRESSURE CAUSED THEM TO RETRACT THEIR STORY.

6. MACK IS DISAPPOINTED THAT THE GOVERNMENT HAS SO FAR NOT TAKEN ANY ACTION TO MOVE THE INMATES TO A SAFER LOCATION, WHEN THE GOVERNMENT HAD MADE PUBLIC STATEMENTS IT WOULD DO SO. SHE ALSO CLAIMED THE ATTORNEY GENERAL INCORRECTLY CITED THE LAW WHEN HE REPORTEDLY TOLD THE PRESS OCTOBER 6 THAT THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM CANNOT DO ANYTHING TILL THE CONVICTS MAKE A FORMAL ALLEGATION BEFORE A JUDGE. MACK CLAIMS UNDER GUATEMALAN LAW THESE TYPES OF ALLEGATIONS CAN BE MADE PUBLICLY, EITHER VERBAL OR WRITTEN, WITHOUT BEING PRESENTED BEFORE A JUDGE, AND THE GOVERNMENT MUST ACT. (COMMENT: THE ATTORNEY GENERAL TOLD THE DCM

OCTOBER 12 THAT HE MUST ACT IMMEDIATELY, ON HIS OWN INITIATIVE, TO INVESTIGATE THE CASE. HE AND HIS STAFF MEMBERS VISITED THE JAIL THE NEXT DAY. EITHER THE MEDIA MISREPRESENTED GUERRA'S REMARKS OR HE CHANGED HIS TUNE). IN SUMMARY, MACK BELIEVES THE GOVERNMENT HAS CHOSEN TO MAKE PUBLIC PRONOUNCEMENTS BUT TAKE NO REAL ACTION ON BEHALF OF THE PRISONERS

BECAUSE THEY DO NOT WANT TO CAUSE THE MILITARY ANY PUBLIC EMBARRASSMENT. MACK REQUESTED THAT THE USG PRESSURE THE GOG TO ENSURE THE INMATES' ORIGINAL CLAIMS ARE FULLY INVESTIGATED.

7. ARCHBISHOP' HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE.. FERNANDO LOPEZ OF THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE AGREED WITH THE COMMENTS MADE BY MACK THAT THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD HAVE ISOLATED THESE INDIVIDUALS FROM THE MILITARY. HE BELIEVES THE MILITARY PRESSURED THEM INTO CHANGING THEIR STORIES. (NOTE: IT IS COMMON PRACTICE IN GUATEMALA FOR THE MILITARY TO HAVE UNENCUMBERED VISITATION RIGHTS TO FORMER OR PRESENT SOLDIERS WHO ARE INCARCERATED). WHILE NOT DIRECTLY ACCUSING THE ADMINISTRATION OF A SLUGGISH INVESTIGATION TO PROTECT THE MILITARY, HE DOES FEEL THE GOVERNMENT COULD HAVE DONE AND STILL COULD DO MORE IF IT WERE REALLY INTERESTED IN LEARNING THE TRUTH FROM THESE INMATES.

8. LOPEZ DISTRUSTS LEMUS (THE STOLEN CAR THIEF) BUT BELIEVES SOLBAL (THE FORMER FAR GUERRILLA) DOES HAVE INFORMATION ABOUT ALLEGED MILITARY INVOLVEMENT IN PAST HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. EVEN PRIOR TO THE PRESS CONFERENCE, THE HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE HAD RECEIVED VARIOUS COMPLAINTS NAMING SOLBAL AS AN ASSASSIN IN THE PETEN.

9. LOPEZ TOOK THIS OPPORTUNITY TO VOICE HIS FEELINGS ABOUT BEING NAMED ON THE DEATH LIST THAT APPEARED TWO WEEKS AGO. HE FELT THE NAMES ON THE LIST REPRESENTED A CROSS SECTION OF INDIVIDUALS WHO HAVE A HIGH

CONFIDENTIAL

PROFILE IN GUATEMALA, HAVE PUBLICLY CRITICIZED THE GOVERNMENT OR INSTITUTIONS LIKE THE ARMED FORCES, AND HAVE FREQUENT CONTACT WITH THE US EMBASSY. LOPEZ FEELS SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT RODIL OR HIS SUPPORTERS INVENTED THE LIST TO GARNER SUPPORT FOR RODIL. THE DIRECTOR OF THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE SHARES THE VIEW HELD BY MANY GUATEMALANS THAT, PRIOR TO ASSUMING THE PRESIDENCY OF THE SUPREME COURT, JUAN JOSE RODIL INTIMIDATED HIS OPPONENTS BY FORCE. LOPEZ WAS PERSONALLY INSULTED TO HAVE HIS NAME ASSOCIATED WITH RODIL'S.

10. AMERICA' WATCH. DAVID HOLLIDAY, THE AMERICA'S WATCH REPRESENTATIVE FOR GUATEMALA, PAID A CALL ON POLOFF. HE HAD MET WITH THE THREE INMATES TWELVE HOURS PRIOR TO THEIR OCT 13 RETRACTION. HOLLIDAY STATED THE INMATES WOULD NOT GIVE ANY DETAILS OF THEIR ALLEGATIONS WITHOUT AN AGREEMENT WITH THE GOVERNMENT CONCERNING A REDUCTION IN SENTENCE. THE AMERICA'S WATCH REPRESENTATIVE BELIEVES THE MILITARY EITHER BRIBED THE THREE INMATES OR THREATENED TO KILL THEM. HOLLIDAY FEELS THE RESULT WAS PREDICTABLE -

THE INMATES RECANTED AND BLAMED SOMEONE WHO HAD THE LEAST TO GAIN AND THE MOST TO LOSE, LEMUS. THE HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVIST POINTED OUT LEMUS IS SERVING LESS THAN A THREE YEAR SENTENCE AND IT WOULD BE STUPID AND EXTREMELY FOOLHARDY FOR HIM TO RISK HIS LIFE ON FABRICATIONS. HOLLIDAY AGREES WITH LOPEZ THAT SOLBAL PROBABLY HAS SOME VALUABLE INFORMATION BASED ON HIS MILITARY ASSIGNMENTS IN THE PETEN AND HIS REPUTATION.

CONFIDENTIAL

11. HOLLIDAY TOLD POLOFF HE FELT LEMUS IS EXPERIENCING A MID-LIFE CRISIS AND THAT BY BEING THE SPOKESMAN FOR THIS GROUP LEMUS HAD HOPED TO ACHIEVE FAME AND FORTUNE. ACCORDING TO HOLLIDAY, LEMUS AND BETETA (THE CONVICTED KILLER OF MYRNA MACK) ARE FRIENDS AND HAVE SPOKEN BY TELEPHONE. BETETA IS INCARCERATED AT A CENTRAL DETENTION FACILITY WHILE LEMUS AND THE OTHERS ARE LOCATED AT PAVONCITO. (NOTE: A LEADING WEEKLY STATED THAT, AFTER BETETA ESCAPED FROM PRISON, LEMUS OFFERED TO SELL HIS STORY TO PERIODICALS) THE AMERICA'S WATCH REPRESENTATIVE BELIEVES LEMUS TRIED TO GET BETETA TO JOIN THIS GROUP FOR THE PRESS CONFERENCE SO HE COULD CORROBORATE THE ALLEGATIONS OF HIGH-LEVEL MILITARY INVOLVEMENT IN PAST HUMAN RIGHTS CRIMES. HOLLIDAY FEARS HOWEVER THAT, BETETA, WHO ALREADY FEARS FOR HIS LIFE, CHOSE NOT TO ATTEND THE PRESS CONFERENCE AND NOT TO BE PUBLICLY ASSOCIATED WITH THIS GROUP.

12. HOLLIDAY ECHOED THE CHARGE MADE BY MACK THAT THE GOG CHOSE NOT TO AGGRESSIVELY INVESTIGATE THESE ALLEGATIONS NOR PROVIDE FOR IMMEDIATE ISOLATION FOR FEAR THE INMATES MIGHT EMBARRASS OR INCRIMINATE THE ARMED FORCES. HOLLIDAY EXPRESSED DISBELIEF THAT THE SAME INSTITUTION THAT IS ACCUSED OF COMMITTING HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES CAN HAVE UNLIMITED ACCESS TO ITS ACCUSERS.

13. UPDATE. ACCORDING TO PRESS REPORTS, THE INMATES

CONFIDENTIAL

WERE PHYSICALLY EXAMINED ON OCT 15 PURSUANT TO A GOVERNMENT ORDER TO ENSURE THEY HAVE NOT BEEN ABUSED PHYSICALLY WHILE IN PRISON. IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE EXAMINATION, A JUDGE ASKED THE MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT TO SEND POLICEMEN TO THE FACILITIES WHERE LEMUS, HERNANDEZ, SOLBAL AND BETETA ARE INCARCERATED TO PROTECT THEM FROM HARM.

---

---

14. ALLEGED SUICIDE. ACCORDING TO PRESS REPORTS PRISON OFFICIALS CLAIM THAT ON OCT 9, OLIVERO ANGEL ECHEVERRIA (ALIAS COLONEL BATRES) COMMITTED SUICIDE. ECHEVERRIA HAD A HISTORY OF ARRESTS DATING BACK TO 1986, WHEN HE WAS CHARGED WITH AGGRAVATED ROBBERY. HIS OTHER ARRESTS SINCE THAT TIME HAVE BEEN FOR ATTEMPTED HOMICIDE, CAR THEFT AND ILLEGAL POSSESSION OF A FIREARM. ON SEP 23, ECHEVERRIA ESCAPED FROM THE CENTRAL DETENTION CENTER WITH BETETA AND 40 OTHER INMATES. THEY WERE RECAPTURED THE SAME DAY.

15. WHILE AUTHORITIES ARE INITIALLY DESCRIBING THE

DEATH AS A SUICIDE, THEY ARE NOT DISCOUNTING HE COULD HAVE BEEN KILLED BY OTHERS. ECHEVERRIA WAS HOUSED TWO CELLS AWAY FROM BETETA. THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE CLAIMS THAT THE DAY BEFORE ECHEVERRIA'S DEATH,

CONFIDENTIAL

BETETA'S MOTHER HAD VISITED THEIR OFFICE FEARING FOR HER SON'S LIFE. SHE CLAIMED THAT HER SON HAD SPOTTED A STRANGE PERSON ON THE PRISON GROUNDS WHO APPEARED TO BE MAKING MENTAL NOTES OF THE PRISON LAYOUT.

16. NATIONAL POLICE DIRECTOR MARIO CIFUENTES TOLD POLOFF THAT HE BELIEVES THE CAUSE OF DEATH WAS A LOVER'S QUARREL AMONG BETETA, ECHEVERRIA AND TONY, A HOMOSEXUAL INMATE WHO OCCUPIED THE CELL BETWEEN BETETA AND THE DECEASED, BUT DID NOT INDICATE WHETHER HE THOUGHT MURDER OR SUICIDE WAS INVOLVED. HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS BELIEVE ECHEVERRIA DID NOT COMMIT SUICIDE BUT WAS MURDERED. THESE GROUPS POINT TO THE PURPORTED NOTICEABLE GASH IN ECHEVERRIA'S NECK AND SAY THAT ECHEVERRIA COULD NOT HAVE DONE THAT TO HIMSELF. THESE GROUPS DO NOT KNOW WHY ECHEVERRIA WAS KILLED. HOWEVER, THEY DO NOT RULE OUT THAT THE ASSASSINS MIGHT BE TRYING TO SEND A MESSAGE TO BETETA TO KEEP QUIET ON THE ALLEGATIONS BY THE LEMUS GROUP. LEMUS HAS STATED PUBLICLY HE FEELS THE MILITARY KILLED ECHEVERRIA TO SEND THIS MESSAGE TO BETETA.

17. COMMENT. SECURITY AT GUATEMALAN PENAL INSTITUTIONS LEAVES MUCH TO BE DESIRED. WE WILL CONTINUE TO URGE THE GOG TO PURSUE INVESTIGATIONS VIGOROUSLY AND PROVIDE ADEQUATE SECURITY FOR THE SAFETY OF THESE PRISONERS. THE CONSUL GENERAL AND DATT VISITED THE PRISONERS OCTOBER 19 TO INTERVIEW THEM (REPORTED SEPTEL).

THE BILATERAL WORK AGREEMENT, CENTRAL AMERICAN SUMMIT ISSUES, CRITERIA FOR OAS SECGEN, DIANA ORTIZ CASE, FUERTES CAMINOS 94, WORKER RIGHTS, THE DRAFT LAW AGAINST APPLE IMPORTS, SUSPENSION OF MEAT IMPORTS AND NEED FOR SERVICEABLE FIRE TRUCKS AT THE GUATEMALA CITY AIRPORT. (IN VIEW OF ESQUIVEL DECISION NOT TO ATTEND CENTRAL AMERICAN SUMMIT IN GUATEMALA (REF E), AMBASSADOR DID NOT RPT NOT MAKE BELIZE DEMARCHE (REF F)). 3. THE AMBASSADOR EXPRESSED HER DISAPPOINTMENT IN NO UNCERTAIN TERMS THAT PRESIDENT DE LEON HAD VETOED THE LEGISLATION WHICH WOULD HAVE AUTHORIZED THE DEPENDENTS OF FOREIGN DIPLOMATS TO WORK IN GUATEMALA. SHE NOTED THE USG HAD BEEN PRESSING FOR A BILATERAL WORK AGREEMENT WITH GUATEMALA FOR FOUR YEARS (THE GOG HAD DECLINED TO IMPLEMENT AN EARLIER AGREEMENT ENTERED INTO BY EXCHANGE OF NOTES). SUCH BILATERAL AGREEMENTS WERE NOW IN EFFECT BETWEEN THE US AND 195 OTHER COUNTRIES. SHE REMINDED THE FONMIN THAT SHE HAD RAISED THE ISSUE WITH HIM PERSONALLY, AND THAT HE HAD INDICATED HIS SUPPORT.

4. FAJARDO, SOMEWHAT TAKEN ABACK, SAID THAT THE LEGISLATION HAD GONE DIRECTLY TO THE PRESIDENCY FROM THE CONGRESS. THE AMBASSADOR REJOINED THAT SHE UNDERSTOOD THE PRESIDENT (WHO WAS UNAWARE OF THE USG INTEREST) MADE HIS DECISION BASED ON AN

OPINION OF THE FOREIGN MINISTRY'S LEGAL OFFICE. IN ANY CASE, SHE STRESSED IT WAS IMPORTANT FOR THE MORALE OF US PERSONNEL THAT WHATEVER NECESSARY BE DONE, EITHER TO RESURRECT THE LEGISLATION OR ENTER INTO AN INFORMAL AGREEMENT THAT WILL PERMIT FAMILY MEMBERS TO WORK. THE FOREIGN MINISTER UNDERTOOK TO LOOK INTO THE MATTER AGAIN. HE ASKED THAT WE LET HIM KNOW WHAT LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES PERMIT THE DEPENDENTS OF US DIPLOMATS TO WORK.

5. AMBASSADOR MADE THE POINTS FOR THE CENTRAL AMERICAN SUMMIT (REF A) ON NAFTA, HAITI, ALIEN SMUGGLING, COUNTERNARCOTICS, CASC AND ARMS TRAFFICKING AND THE PDD (AND LEFT A NONPAPER). SPECIFICALLY ON NAFTA, FAJARDO REFERRED TO PAST STATEMENTS BY CENTRAL AMERICAN GOVERNMENTS ON THE IMPORTANCE OF A DOCKING MECHANISM. HE SAID GUATEMALA WOULD BE WILLING TO CONSULT WITH THE OTHER CENTRAL AMERICAN LEADERS TO SUPPORT A STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF NAFTA.

OAS SECGEN

6. AMBASSADOR MADE THE POINTS REF B, SETTING OUT THE CRITERIA WE BELIEVE IMPORTANT FOR SELECTION OF THE OAS SECGEN. FAJARDO REPLIED THAT THE CENTRAL AMERICAN GOVERNMENTS AND MEXICO AGREED THAT SOMEONE FROM THIS REGION (I.E. NOT SOUTH AMERICA) SHOULD BE CHOSEN. HE SAID THAT GUATEMALA HAD A COMMITMENT TO THE OTHER CENTRAL AMERICANS TO SUPPORT NIEHAUS AT THE MOMENT. SHOULD THAT NOT PROSPER, GUATEMALA WOULD FAVOR A HIGHLY EXPERIENCED TECHNOCRAT FOR THE POSITION. IN RESPONSE TO THE AMBASSADOR'S QUESTION, HE SAID HE WOULD NOT BE INCLINED IN FAVOR OF CRISTIANI, WHO IS A POLITICIAN, ALTHOUGH HE DID NOT RULE OUT THE CENTRAL AMERICANS CONSIDERING HIM.

7. FAJARDO REFERRED TO A SIMILAR DISCUSSION OF CRITERIA HE HAD HAD IN NEW YORK WITH A/S WATSON. FAJARDO DID NOT KNOW OF E.G. EDUARDO BOENINGER OF CHILE, BUT HAD DISCUSSED FM ABREU OF URUGUAY. OTHER NAMES WERE DANTE CAPUTO, ALEJANDRO FOXLEY AND CESAR GAVIRIA. THE AMBASSADOR STRESSED WE WOULD PREFER SOMEONE WHO CAN PUT THE OAS UP FRONT. IT WAS AGREED TO STAY IN TOUCH ON THE ISSUE.

DIANA ORTIZ

8. THE AMBASSADOR GAVE TO THE FONMIN A COPY OF A LETTER TO DE LEON FROM CHAIRMAN OF THE SENATE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE WILLIAM HATCHER AND SEVEN COLLEGUES, REQUESTING CERTAIN INFORMATION ON MILITARY PERSONNEL AND AUTHORIZATION OF ACCESS TO MILITARY INSTALLATIONS IN CONNECTION WITH THE DIANA ORTIZ HUMAN RIGHTS CASE. SHE STRESSED THIS WAS IMPORTANT, AND URGED THAT THE GOG PROVIDE THE INFORMATION AND THE AUTHORIZATION REQUESTED TO CONTRIBUTE TO CLEARING UP THIS LONG-STANDING CASE. FAJARDO PROMISED TO LOOK INTO THE ISSUE.

FUERTES CAMINOS '94

9. THE AMBASSADOR EXPLAINED WHAT THE FC-94 EXERCISE ENTAILED, AND, THAT WHILE IT WAS PRIMARILY INTENDED TO TRAIN US RESERVISTS, IT WOULD HAVE BENEFICIAL EFFECTS FOR THE PEOPLE IN THE AREAS WHERE THEY WOULD CONSTRUCT ROADS, SCHOOLS AND HOSPITALS. SHE NOTED THAT WE COULD SAY NO, A DECISION WHICH WOULD PLEASE CERTAIN HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS WHO ARE SKEPTICAL THAT SUCH EFFORTS ARE POSITIVE, BUT SAID WE BELIEVE IT WAS HELPFUL AND SHOULD PROCEED. SHE SAID THAT BOTH THE PRESIDENT AND THE MOD ARE IN FAVOR OF IT. SHE EXPLAINED THAT WE WOULD PREFER AN MOU SIGNED BY THE FONMIN AND HERSELF TO AUTHORIZE THE EXERCISE (REF C). ANOTHER ALTERNATIVE WOULD BE AN MOU SIGNED BY THE MOD, IN WHICH CASE THE FONMIN WOULD HAVE TO AUTHORIZE HIM TO SIGN. THE AMBASSADOR STRESSED THAT THE MATTER WAS URGENT, AND THAT SHE WOULD SEND OVER A COPY OF THE PROPOSED MOU TO FAJARDO

RIGHT AWAY. NOTING IT WAS NOW UNDERGOING TECHNICAL REVIEW BY THE ARMY. WITHOUT COMMITTING HIMSELF TO ANY PARTICULAR FORMAT, FAJARDO WAS RECEPTIVE TO THE EXERCISE IN PRINCIPLE. (NOTE: WE PURPOSELY DID NOT DELIVER A COPY TO HIM TO PERMIT THE MOD TO REVIEW THE DETAILS FIRST. THE AMBASSADOR GAVE A COPY TO PRESIDENT DE LEON ON OCT 22.)

WORKER RIGHTS

10. THE AMBASSADOR STRESSED THE IMPORTANCE OF THE WORKER RIGHTS ISSUE, AND OF THE UPCOMING HEARING FOR RETAINING GSP. FAJARDO RESPONDED THAT HE AGREED ON THE NEED TO IMPLEMENT THE MEASURES, AND NOTED THE GOG WAS SEEKING TO ACHIEVE AGREEMENT AMONG LABOR, BUSINESS AND THE GOVERNMENT. THE AMBASSADOR REPORTED THAT USG/GLEP REP STEVE COATS HAD HAD GOOD THINGS TO SAY ABOUT THE MINISTER OF LABOR, BUT SAID THAT HE HAD NOTED

LITTLE CHANGE ON THE GROUND AFTER COMING HERE SINCE 1988. FAJARDO STRESSED THE IMPORTANCE OF THE SUBSTANTIVE MEASURES WHICH HAD BEEN TAKEN, SUCH AS NEW COURTS AND INSPECTORS. BUT HE ALSO EXPRESSED CONCERNS ABOUT THE POLICY, WHICH HE CONSIDERED TO BE MOTIVATED BY PROTECTIONISM. THE AMBASSADOR RETORTED THAT WAS NOT THE LAW'S PURPOSE OR JUSTIFICATION, AND STRESSED THAT DEEDS, NOT JUST PROMISES WERE NEEDED NOW. FAJARDO NOTED THAT GUATEMALA WAS NOW PREPARING ITS PRESENTATION, BUT ACKNOWLEDGED RESERVATIONS BECAUSE HE SAID THE UNIONS HAVE THEIR OWN AGENDA. IN RESPONSE TO THE AMBASSADOR'S REMARKS ON THE IMPORTANCE OF A LEVEL PLAYING FIELD, FAJARDO GRUMBLED THAT THE PROBLEM WAS COMPLEX, BUT SAID GUATEMALA WAS TRYING TO DEAL WITH IT, ALSO IN THE AREA OF CABLE TELEVISION (IPR).

SOUR APPLES

11. THE AMBASSADOR ARGUED STRONGLY THAT THE PRESIDENT SHOULD VETO THE RECENTLY PASSED LEGISLATION RESTRICTING THE IMPORTATION OF APPLES, STRESSING THAT TO DO OTHERWISE WOULD BE A GATT VIOLATION (REF D - NONPAPER LEFT). FAJARDO MADE NO COMMITMENTS, BUT OBSERVED THAT COMMERCIAL ISSUES WERE OF GROWING IMPORTANCE, ESPECIALLY WITH NAFTA NOW LIKELY. IN RESPONSE TO HIS QUESTION, THE AMBASSADOR CONFIRMED THAT THE SUBSTANCE OF EAI WAS CONTINUING WITHOUT THE NAME. FAJARDO OBSERVED THAT THE FRAMEWORK AGREEMENT WAS VERY IMPORTANT, AND THE AMBASSADOR REPLIED THAT THE BILATERAL TRADE AGREEMENT WAS ALSO. FAJARDO SAID IT WOULD BE INCREASINGLY IMPORTANT TO ADDRESS COMMERCIAL ISSUES REGIONALLY, AND SUGGESTED WE CONSULT MORE OFTEN ON SUCH ISSUES.

CUBA LIBRE

12. FAJARDO RAISED THE ISSUE OF TRADE WITH CUBA, NOTING THAT THERE HAD BEEN RECENT EFFORTS IN THE CARIBBEAN TO ESTABLISH

CLOSER COMMERCIAL RELATIONS WITH THE ISLAND. THE AMBASSADOR CAUTIONED AGAINST ANY SUCH ACTIONS, WHICH COULD REDUCE UNIFIED PRESSURE FOR MOVING TOWARD DEMOCRACY IN CUBA.

MEAT

13. THE AMBASSADOR BROKE THE BAD NEWS TO THE FONMIN THAT REPEATED FAILURE BY GUATEMALAN MEATPACKERS TO IMPROVE THE SANITATION AT THEIR PLANTS HERE WOULD SHORTLY RESULT IN A SUSPENSION OF US MEAT IMPORTS FROM GUATEMALA FOR SANITARY REASONS. THE SUSPENSION WOULD HAVE TO REMAIN UNTIL THE CONDITIONS, ABOUT WHICH THE PACKERS HAD BEEN REPEATEDLY WARNED

WITHOUT EFFECT, WERE CORRECTED. IT WOULD TAKE SOME MONTHS FOR THE EXPORTS TO REQUALIFY. FAJARDO UNDERTOOK TO SEEK ACTION BY THE APPROPRIATE GOG MINISTRY TO SOLVE THE PROBLEMS. (NOTE: AGATT IS WORKING WITH MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE, WHICH WOULD PREFER TO DELIST THE PACKING PLANTS ITSELF, RATHER THAN HAVE USDA DO IT.)

AIRPORT SAFETY

14. THE AMBASSADOR ALSO BROKE THE NEWS THAT THE CONTINUATION OF US CARRIER FLIGHTS AT LA AURORA AIRPORT WAS THREATENED BY THE LACK OF ADEQUATE FIRE PROTECTION. THERE WERE APPARENTLY NO FUNCTIONING FIRETRUCKS, AND ONLY FOUR FIREMEN. THE RESPONSIBLE OFFICIALS IN THE GOG WERE AWARE OF THE PROBLEM, BUT SO FAR HAD NOT BEEN ABLE TO FIND A SOLUTION. AN FAA INSPECTOR WAS COMING LATER THIS WEEK TO EXAMINE THE PROBLEM. ACCORDING TO THE AMBASSADOR, PART OF THE PROBLEM WAS LACK OF FUNDS -- THE AIRPORT WAS NOT RECEIVING ITS SHARE OF THE DEPARTURE TAX, WHICH WOULD PERMIT REPAIR OF THE TRUCKS. AMERICAN AIRLINES HAD FIXED THEM ONCE AT ITS OWN EXPENSE, BUT COULD NOT BE EXPECTED TO DO SO AGAIN. ANOTHER WAS THAT THE GOG IS BARRED FROM BUYING USED FIRE FIGHTING EQUIPMENT, WHICH MAKES BUYING WHAT IS NEEDED EVEN MORE EXPENSIVE AND TIME-CONSUMING.

15. COMMENT: DESPITE THE LENGTHY MEETING IN WHICH WE WERE CLEARLY THE DEMANDEURS, THE CONVERSATION CLOSED CORDIALLY WITH A PROMISE TO LOOK INTO THE BILATERAL WORK AGREEMENT. THE FONMIN HAS BEEN PUT ON NOTICE ON A WHOLE RANGE OF ISSUES, AND WE WILL FOLLOW UP TO KEEP HIS FEET TO THE FIRE.

TAGS: PINS, PREL, PGOV, PHUM, SCUL, GT
SUBJECT: AMBASSADOR MEETS WITH BISHOP GERARDI

1. CONFIDENTIAL -- ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY. BISHOP GERARDI BELIEVES THE URNG IS NOT INTERESTED IN SERIOUS NEGOTIATION WITH A WEAK DE LEON ADMINISTRATION. THE PRELATE PREDICTS THE URNG WILL WAIT FOR THE CURRENT POLITICAL CRISIS AMONG THE THREE BRANCHES OF GOVERNMENT TO RESOLVE ITSELF BEFORE DECIDING TO NEGOTIATE IN EARNEST. GERARDI DOES NOT FORESEE THE ARMED FORCES CONTRIBUTING FURTHER INFORMATION CONCERNING PAST HUMAN RIGHTS CRIMES BUT BELIEVES THEY WILL TRY TO PREVENT FUTURE ABUSES. THE BISHOP COULD NOT PREDICT HOW THE CURRENT POLITICAL CRISIS WILL EVOLVE BUT SEES THE PRESIDENT AS ISOLATED AND FRIENDLESS. END SUMMARY.

3. ON OCT 25, AMB ACCOMPANIED BY POLOFF PAID A CALL ON BISHOP GERARDI, HEAD OF THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE, TO GET HIS VIEWS ON THE PEACE PROCESS, HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE CURRENT POLITICAL CRISIS AMONG THE THREE BRANCHES OF GOVERNMENT. THE MEETING BEGAN WITH A DISCUSSION OF MONSIGNOR PENADOS'S HEALTH. THE ARCHBISHOP FOR GUATEMALA IS CURRENTLY HOSPITALIZED FOR RUPTURED ULCERS. GERARDI STATED THAT PENADOS WAS RECOVERING BUT IS STILL IN SERIOUS CONDITION. HE ATTRIBUTED IT TO THE STRESS OF THE SITUATION. (COMMENT: THE ARCHBISHOP HAS BEEN THE OBJECT OF FREQUENT CONTROVERSY OVER HIS PUBLIC STATEMENTS RECENTLY.)

PEACE PROCESS

4. CHURCH'S ROLE. THE PRELATE DID NOT RULE OUT PARTICIPATION BY THE CHURCH (EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE) IN THE PERMANENT FORUM BUT BELIEVES THE FORUM WILL HAVE TO BE RESTRUCTURED FOR THE CHURCH TO FEEL IT CAN PLAY A USEFUL ROLE. IN ADDITION TO THE NATIONAL RECONCILIATION COMMISSION (CNR) HAVING TO BE RECONSTITUTED, GERARDI CAUTIONED ANY SUCCESSFUL NEGOTIATION MUST CONTAIN MECHANISMS TO ENSURE THE PROCESS WILL LEAD TO CONCRETE ACTION. THE BISHOP REMINDED THE AMBASSADOR, GUATEMALANS LIKE TO TALK AND NOT NECESSARILY RESOLVE ANYTHING. HE POINTED OUT A

FLAW OF PAST NEGOTIATIONS HAS BEEN THE INABILITY OF THE CHURCH OR OTHER GROUP TO USE ANYTHING OTHER THAN MORAL AUTHORITY TO FORCE THE PARTIES TO ACT.

5. GUERRILLAS. GERARDI DOES NOT BELIEVE THE GUERRILLAS ARE SERIOUSLY INTERESTED IN NEGOTIATING WITH THE DE LEON GOVERNMENT. IN HIS VIEW, THE GUERRILLAS SEE THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION AS WEAK AND THEY WILL CHOOSE TO WAIT AND SEE HOW THE CURRENT POLITICAL CRISIS EVOLVES BEFORE THEY DO ANY SERIOUS NEGOTIATING. THE PRELATE POINTED OUT THIS WAS THE SAME TACTIC THE URNG UTILIZED WHEN THEY SUSPECTED SERRANO WAS WEAKENING. GERARDI ADDED HE DOES NOT FEEL THE GUERRILLAS REPRESENT THE POPULAR SECTOR.

6. THE NEGOTIATION. GERARDI STRESSED MANY TIMES DURING THIS TWO-HOUR CONVERSATION THAT THE NEGOTIATION PROCESS SHOULD BE SEEN AS JUST THAT, WHERE BOTH THE URNG AND THE GOVERNMENT NEGOTIATORS ARE PLAYING FOR POLITICAL ADVANTAGE. HE FELT THAT, WHILE THE ARMED FORCES MAY HAVE WON THE WAR FOUGHT ON THE BATTLEFIELDS, THE URNG HAS SO FAR WON THE WAR FOUGHT IN THE POLITICAL ARENA AND IN THE PRESS. THE PRELATE ADDED THAT URNG REPRESENTATIVES ARE MORE ACCUSTOMED TO THE GIVE-AND-TAKE OF NEGOTIATIONS THAN THE ADMINISTRATION'S REPRESENTATIVES, WHO HE DESCRIBES AS HARD-LINERS WHO LACK DIPLOMACY AND STATESMANSHIP. GERARDI FEELS THE GUATEMALAN FOREIGN SERVICE ALSO SUFFERS FROM THESE DEFICIENCIES. THE BISHOP FELT THE OSLO FORMAT HELD GREATER PROMISE FOR CONSTRUCTIVE ACTION THAN ESQUIPULAS.

7. TRUTH COMMISSION. THE PRELATE BELIEVES A TRUTH COMMISSION MUST BE A NECESSARY PART OF A PEACE ACCORD. THE BISHOP REMINDED HIS LISTENERS THAT AFTER MONTHS OF NEGOTIATION, A NAME FOR THE COMMISSION HAD STILL NOT BEEN DECIDED. ADDITIONALLY, HE NOTED THE ARMED FORCES' RELUCTANCE TO REVEAL THE NAMES OF MILITARY PERSONNEL INVOLVED IN PAST WELL-KNOWN HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. HOWEVER, GERARDI THOUGHT THE ARMED FORCES, IF PRESSURED, MIGHT POSSIBLY AGREE THAT THE COMMISSION COULD REVEAL THE NAMES OF SOLDIERS WHO HAVE COMMITTED HUMAN RIGHTS CRIMES IF THE ACCUSED WOULD NOT BE LEGALLY LIABLE FOR THEIR PAST ACTIONS. GERARDI BELIEVES INTERNATIONAL PRESSURE IS CRITICAL TO ANY SUCCESS IN THIS AREA. A FORMULA ADAPTED TO GUATEMALA'S SITUATION WOULD HAVE TO BE FOUND. A COUNTRY WHOSE ARMY HAS NOT BEEN WEAKENED, SUCH AS CHILE, WOULD BE A MORE APPROPRIATE PARALLEL THAN EL SALVADOR WHICH IS REJECTED OUTRIGHT BY THE GUATEMALAN ARMY.

HUMAN RIGHTS

8. VIOLENCE. WHEN ASKED WHETHER CURRENT VIOLENCE COULD BE ATTRIBUTED TO POLITICAL MOTIVES OR DELINQUENCY, THE BISHOP STATED HE WAS NOT SURE. THE HUMAN RIGHTS DIRECTOR SAID HIS OFFICE HAS RECEIVED REPORTS OF PERPETRATORS ACTING IN A MILITARY FASHION WHEN THEY KIDNAP AND INTERROGATE THEIR VICTIMS. THE PRELATE CAUTIONED THAT BUSINESSMEN COULD BE HIRING THESE INDIVIDUALS, WHO MAY HAVE HAD SOME PAST MILITARY TRAINING, TO INTIMIDATE THEIR OPPOSITION, UNION AND POPULIST LEADERS.

9. ARMED FORCES. THE PRELATE THINKS THE ARMED FORCES HIERARCHY HAS SECRETLY MADE TWO INTERNAL DECISIONS CONCERNING HUMAN RIGHTS. FIRST, THEY WILL PREVENT THE COMMISSION OF FUTURE ABUSES IN THE FIELD. SECOND, THEY WILL NOT REVEAL ANY DETAILS CONCERNING PAST HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. IN HIS VIEW, THE ARMED FORCES BELIEVES THESE DECISIONS NECESSARY TO PROTECT ITSELF AS AN INSTITUTION. THE PRELATE MENTIONED TO THE AMBASSADOR THAT THE ENTIRE MILITARY HIGH COMMAND INCLUDING BOTH GENERALS ENRIQUEZ (MINISTER OF DEFENSE) AND QUILO (CHIEF OF NATIONAL DEFENSE STAFF) HAVE ALLEGEDLY BEEN INVOLVED IN PAST HUMAN RIGHTS CRIMES. THERE IS EVERY REASON FOR THEM TO CLOSE RANKS. THE HUMAN RIGHTS LEADER STATED BECAUSE OF THE CONTINUED INTRANSIGENCE BY THE ARMED FORCES AND TOTAL FRUSTRATION IN GETTING CRITICAL INFORMATION, HIS OFFICE HAS CONSIDERED CLOSING THE DIANA ORTIZ CASE. GERARDI FEELS THE EXISTING EVIDENCE IS TOO OLD AND INCOMPLETE TO EVER RESOLVE WHAT ACTUALLY HAPPENED. ADDITIONALLY, THE BISHOP FELT SISTER ORTIZ HAD BEEN EXCESSIVELY MANIPULATED BY HER ADVISERS (FRANK LARUE), WHO WERE MORE CONCERNED WITH A POLITICAL STATEMENT THAN SUCCESSFUL RESOLUTION OF HER CASE.

10 MICHAEL DEVINE. THE AMBASSADOR CHOSE THIS OPPORTUNITY TO TELL THE BISHOP THAT THE FOUR SOLDIERS INVOLVED IN THE MICHAEL DEVINE CASE WHO WERE REPORTED MISSING BY THE MILITARY WERE IN FACT IN THE U.S. SHE ALSO TOLD THE BISHOP THE ARMY WAS AWARE OF THIS FACT DESPITE THEIR PUBLIC STATEMENTS TO THE CONTRARY. ACCORDING TO NEWSPAPER REPORTS, THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE HAD FILED A LEGAL COMPLAINT CONCERNING THEIR DISAPPEARANCE. (NOTE: LATER, POLOFF SPOKE TO FERNANDO LOPEZ, THE LEGAL DIRECTOR OF THIS OFFICE, WHO SAID THE OFFICE WILL NOT BE FILING A COMPLAINT. HIS OFFICE IS WELL AWARE OF THE LOCATION OF THE SOLDIERS. LOPEZ SAID HE WAS BEING PRESSURED BY THE PRESS TO COMMENT.) THE TESTIMONY OF THESE SOLDIERS WAS CRUCIAL IN GETTING THE CONVICTION OF CAPTAIN CONTRERAS. THE AMBASSADOR ASKED THE BISHOP TO CLOSELY GUARD THE PRESENT LOCATION OF THE SOLDIERS.

POLITICAL CRISIS

11. GERARDI BELIEVES THE CURRENT POLITICAL SITUATION IS MORE CONFUSED THAN EVER. HE BELIEVES THE PRESIDENT IS WASTING AWAY AND BECOMING MORE AND MORE ISOLATED AND FRIENDLESS WITHOUT ANY BASIS OF SUPPORT OTHER THAN HIS OWN CONVICTIONS TO ATTEMPT TO IMPROVE THE GUATEMALAN POLITICAL PROCESS. THE PRELATE WAS NOT SURE THAT IF THE PUBLIC CALLED FOR CONGRESS TO RESIGN IN A PUBLIC REFERENDUM WHETHER THE CONGRESS WOULD RESIGN. WHEN ASKED WHETHER THE CHURCH COULD HAVE ANY INFLUENCE ON THE POLITICAL PARTIES, GERARDI

SAID NO. HE ALSO CRITICIZED POPULIST/HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS WHO HAVE DISASSOCIATED THEMSELVES FROM THE PRESIDENT AND ARE NOW CRITICIZING HIM WITHOUT ANY REALISTIC SOLUTIONS OF THEIR OWN. HE SINGLED OUT RIGOBERTA MENCHU'S RECENT STATEMENTS CRITICAL OF DE LEON AS AN EXAMPLE. THE ONLY ELEMENT WITH A COMPREHENSIVE PLAN AS ALWAYS, HE SAID, IS THE ARMY; IT IS THE ONLY REAL INSTITUTION IN THE COUNTRY AND THEREFORE IS ALWAYS ABLE TO OUTFLANK ITS OPPONENTS. NOT EVEN THE CHURCH, HE LAMENTED, IS DEVELOPED INSTITUTIONALLY IN GUATEMALA.

COMMENT

13. THE BISHOP'S VIEWS ON THE CURRENT POLITICAL SITUATION ARE OF INTEREST, PARTICULARLY HIS COMMENTS ABOUT THE POPULAR SECTORS ABANDONING THE PRESIDENT.

THEY APPEAR TO HAVE BECOME SO WRAPPED UP IN PROMOTING THEIR OWN PARTICULAR AGENDAS THAT THEY HAVE LOST SIGHT OF THE FACT THAT THIS PRESIDENT MAY REPRESENT THEIR LAST, BEST HOPE OF ACTUALLY IMPROVING SOCIAL JUSTICE IN GUATEMALA. GERARDI ENJOYS CREDIBILITY AMONG THE POPULAR SECTORS AND WILL HOPEFULLY SPREAD THIS WORD TO THEM: THAT THEY CANNOT AFFORD TO ALLOW THEIR DEMANDS FOR IMMEDIATE RESOLUTION OF ALL THEIR GRIEVANCES TO CLOUD THEIR JUDGMENT ABOUT WHAT THEY HAVE AT STAKE IN THE DE LEON GOVERNMENT. HOWEVER, WE ARE NOT SANGUINE; NOR IS GERARDI, THAT THEY WANT TO LISTEN TO SUCH A LESSON. ON THE UNCERTAINTIES SURROUNDING THE OUTCOME OF THE POLITICAL CRISIS, THE BISHOP SAID THAT FORTUNE TELLERS ARE OUT OF BUSINESS THESE DAYS. CLEARLY HE IS NOT OPTIMISTIC FOR HIS FRIEND RAMIRO, NOR FOR GUATEMALA.

SUBJECT: LIFTING THE HOLD ON THE PUBLIC MINISTRY

1. THIS IS AN ACTION MESSAGE.

2. (U) WE ARE MOVING FORWARD WITH MOST OF THE COMPONENTS OF OUR ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE (AOJ) PROGRAM WHICH WAS APPROVED SOME MONTHS AGO, INCLUDING THE SUPREME COURT AND UNIVERSITY OF SAN CARLOS. ANOTHER MAJOR COMPONENT OF THE PROJECT, THE "MINISTERIO PUBLICO," IS STILL ON CONGRESSIONAL HOLD. AS YOU RECALL, HILL CONDITIONALITY (REP. LEE HAMILTON) INCLUDED (1) CHANGING OF PUBLIC MINISTRY LEADERSHIP (TUNA) AND CERTAIN INDIVIDUALS IN THE INVESTIGATIONS UNIT CONNECTED TO THE D-2, SUCH AS WILLIAM LIGORRIA, (2) PASSAGE OF THE ORGANIC LAW ON THE PUBLIC MINISTRY, AND (3) MOVEMENT ON KEY HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES.

3. (U) THE FIRST CONDITION HAS CLEARLY BEEN MET WITH THE INSTALLATION OF TELESFORO GUERRA REPLACING TUNA AND THE OUSTER OF LIGORRIA AND A HOST OF OTHER CHARACTERS IN THE INVESTIGATIONS UNIT. WITH RESPECT TO THE HUMAN RIGHTS CASES, MACK MURDERER RETETA IS IN JAIL, DEVINE'S MURDERERS ARE SERVING 30-YEAR SENTENCES, EXCEPT FOR FUGITIVE CONTRERAS (A MAJOR SETBACK, OF COURSE) AND THERE WERE CONVICTIONS OR SEVERAL OTHER NOTORIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS CASES, SUCH AS THE HUMAPU ASSAULTS ON UNIVERSITY STUDENTS AND THE PEREBAL COUSINS. ALSO, PRESIDENT DE LEON INTERVENED DIRECTLY TO INSURE THE RELEASE OF REFUGEE REPRESENTATIVE (GUERRILLA LEADER) RAMIREZ IN HUEHUETENANGO.

4. (U) OBVIOUSLY, FLAWS REMAIN: (A) NO CONCLUSION YET TO THE COLOTENANGO-HUEHUETANGO PAC SHOOTING OF DEMONSTRATORS, DESPITE THE RECENT ARREST OF TWO OF 15 PAC MEMBERS BEING SOUGHT, (B) THE PERCEPTION THAT TWO ACCUSERS OF THE MILITARY RETRACTED THEIR ALLEGATIONS UNDER D-2 PRESSURE, (C) CONTINUED THREATS, KIDNAPPINGS AND KILLINGS, SOME OF WHICH APPEAR POLITICALLY MOTIVATED (D) A HARD LINE PEACE PROPOSAL, AND (E) CONTINUING IMPUNITY IN CERTAIN CASES.

5. (U) DESPITE THE FLAWS, (OR, BECAUSE SOME OF THE FLAWS RELATE TO FUNDAMENTAL WEAKNESSES OF THE PUBLIC MINISTRY) WE BELIEVE IT IS TIME TO LIFT THE HOLD. WE EMPHASIZE THAT THE MISSION TAKES A TWO-TIERED APPROACH TO THE HUMAN RIGHTS PROBLEM: 1) ENCOURAGING THE INVESTIGATION AND RESOLUTION OF INDIVIDUAL CASES AND PREVENTING FUTURE ABUSES, AND 2) ADDRESSING CHRONIC INSTITUTIONAL WEAKNESSES BY STRENGTHENING GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT INSTITUTIONS CHARGED WITH PROTECTING HUMAN RIGHTS AND PUNISHING THE VIOLATORS. OUR TWO GOALS ARE INEXTRICABLY LINKED SINCE RESOLUTION OF SPECIFIC CASES IS DEPENDENT ON ENHANCED GUATEMALAN INVESTIGATIVE AND PROSECUTORIAL CAPABILITIES.

6. (U) FURTHER BOLSTERING THE CASE FOR LIFTING THE HOLD IS THE NEED TO BEGIN TO TAKE STEPS TOWARD THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NEW PENAL PROCEDURES CODE (WHICH MAY BE DELAYED BEYOND DECEMBER.) THE AMBASSADOR HAS BROUGHT UP LIFTING THE HOLD ON THESE FUNDS TO VARIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS LEADERS AND NONE HAVE OBJECTED. HELEN MACK, FOUNDER OF THE MYRNA MACK FOUNDATION,

SPECIFICALLY FAVORED LIFTING THE HOLD FOR REASONS 1 AND 2 LISTED IN PARA 2. THE AMBASSADOR ASKS ARA TO INCORPORATE MISSION'S POINT OF VIEW IN PRESENTATIONS ON THE HILL DESIGNED TO ENLIST SUPPORT TO BEGIN THE PROCESS OF LIFTING THE HOLD. WHAT, IF ANYTHING, CAN WE DO FROM OUR END TO HELP?

7. (U) WITH RESPECT TO WHAT APPEARS TO BE A TECHNICAL ISSUE BUT IS FUNDAMENTAL, WE ASK THAT YOU CONSIDER TRYING TO GAIN ACCEPTANCE BY THE HILL THAT NO DISBURSEMENTS WILL TAKE PLACE TO THE "MINISTERIO PUBLICO" WITHOUT PASSAGE OF THE "LEY ORGANICA." THIS WOULD BE INSTEAD OF THE VIEW THAT NO OBLIGATION SHOULD TAKE PLACE WITHOUT ITS PASSAGE. OBVIOUSLY, THE POINT

IS THAT THE GUATEMALAN CONGRESS IS NOT FUNCTIONING NORMALLY AND MAY NOT BE ABLE TO EVEN CONSIDER THE DRAFT ORGANIC LAW FOR SOME TIME. MEANWHILE, WE NEED TO GET THE FUNDS OBLIGATED TO AVOID LOSING THEM.

Just When You Thought It Was Safe To encrypt Again

In 1991, Phil Zimmermann developed Pretty Good Privacy, a computer program that gives average computer users the power to make truly private e-mail using industrial-strength encryption techniques. At that time, Zimmermann feared the US would outlaw domestic use of strong encryption software, so he worked hard to bring out PGP while encryption was still legal. Released on the Internet free of charge, PGP quickly achieved worldwide popularity. The dreaded anti-encryption law never came to pass, but PGP's spread through the Net – where it quickly slipped past US borders – may have violated US export laws. The International Traffic In Arms Regulations (ITAR) prohibit the export of encryption software without a difficult-to-obtain State Department license. Violation is a felony.

In September 1993, two years after PGP's release, US customs agents served subpoenas to Viacrypt in Phoenix, Arizona, and Austin Code Works in Austin, Texas. The companies were required to produce documents for an "investigation of illegal exporting of encryption-related materials." Viacrypt is working closely with Zimmermann on a version of PGP for commercial use. Austin Code Works publishes information, worldwide, on encryption algorithms, including those in PGP.

Neither Zimmermann nor the two companies have been charged with any crimes as we go to press. All announced their resolve to defend consumer choice in encryption products. Grady Ward, president of Austin Code Works, claims its "source code algorithmic descriptions" of encryption techniques are unregulated "technical data," though the State Department views it as encryption software.

If the government charges Zimmermann, its claim should be straightforward: Zimmermann should have known that by releasing PGP on the Internet, it would swiftly be transported overseas without necessary government permission. In his defense, Zimmermann could assert he was not aware of the restrictions of the ITAR; he placed PGP only on domestic computers on the Internet, and never intended international distribution; and there was no "export" by Zimmermann, since foreigners on the Internet helped themselves to materials residing on US computers. Zimmermann's attorney, Philip Dubois, points out that charging Zimmermann would also raise fundamental civil rights issues. Does Zimmermann's PGP program enjoy the same First Amendment publication rights as books and newspapers?

Is there a connection between the PGP investigations and Clipper, a government-sponsored encryption device that competes with PGP while offering far less privacy for "national security" reasons? The government has claimed it will not make Clipper the only legal encryption device by outlawing all others, but its continuing investigation of PGP could knock out one of its biggest competitors. The US attorney's office wouldn't comment, but in the meantime, Dubois is setting up a legal defense fund on Zimmermann's behalf. Being a visual artist often means isolation – working alone for long hours in a studio. Stephanie Slade, president of SLADE Graphics, a Los Angeles-based electronics design company, wants to change that.

Slade has recently founded the International Painting Interactive (IPI) project, which hangs global electronic canvases on the Net, allowing artists from many cities to work together on joint digital paintings. The additions of each artist appear on the screen of every other participant.

IPI was demonstrated at Chicago's SIGGRAPH '92, when a hundred painters, video artists, graphic designers, and musicians in fourteen cities around the world worked together for 44 hours, creating numerous digital paintings. IPI allows visual artists to work synergistically with one another – an advantage that performance artists have always enjoyed. Slade explains that "visual artists, like musicians, can now jam together and express themselves in a collaborative spirit."

Slade, who won an Emmy for graphic design in 1986, (for the opening of the new Love American Style), is currently working with an organization called Knowledge Recovery Foundation Internationa She wants to generate another interactive project that will focus on indigenous cultures, to be presented in March 1994 at the first International Environmental Film Festival in New York City. Los Alamos's BBS of choice, Construction Net #6 is very technically oriented and a hub for anti-virus discussions. In a nutshell, this is a very hip, relatively unknown BBS. Midnight tiny sex? Life on the Internet seems strange enough already; steer clear of the IRC chat board. The IRC (or Internet Relay Chat) is a global, real-time conversation pit offering hundreds of channels and thousands of users. In every corner of the world, IRC provides a place where relationships begin and late-night boredom ends. There you can find botanists discussing psychoactive drugs, or singles looking for some midnight tiny sex – it all depends on which channel you join. Begun as an experiment in Finland, IRC has spread and grown into a fully distributed client-server system, much like NNTP-Usenet, with several clients available in C and elisp. Think of it as shortwave, with almost crystal reception and little to no interference. There are literally hundreds of channels to [illegible] discussion in English, German, Finnish, and Kanji to name only a few. Conversations continue round the clock in real-time, and engage virtual [illegible] around the globe. Yet surfer beware: things on IRC are not always as they appear. Everyone uses a handle (or fictitious screen name) on the board, which can cause ridiculous and sometimes embarrassing situations. On the lesbian channels, countless young men call themselves "Lisa" and "Robin," hoping to [illegible] amiable woman. Often, they unknowingly end up in the IRC hot tub with another man called "Janet." Those desperate to make such a connection should temper their enthusiasm. (While there are ways of finding out a user's real name, IRC 201 won't be taught until next semester.) Simply put,

The Spite Continues Barney, PBS's cloying purple dinosaur, is really an "evil supernatural entity who is training young children to be his unholy army of ultimate darkness." Or so says the quasi-religious paramilitary cadre of Anti-Barney Internet guerrillas who have declared war on the jurassic hellspawn. Jihad manifestos spatter daily onto a slew of Usenet newsgroups: alt.tv.barney; alt.tv.dinosaurs.die.die.die; alt.barney.dinosaur.die.die.die; and alt.sex.bestiality.barney. Tune in for answers to Barney questions you were afraid to ask: Is Barney the Beast and Dragon predicted in the biblical book of Revelations? What's the connection between Barney and McDonald's evil Grimace? And how can the Purple Scourge be stopped? (Clue: napalm). Remember: He's Big. He's Purple. He Must Be Destroyed.

◄ Goggle-Free Virtual Art Crosswire, brainchild of Ed Stastny of the OTIS Project, is the second in a continuing series of Net-based visual collaborations. More than 40 artists participated in this series of evolving images, two of which are shown on these pages. "Starter" images were uploaded to a public-access file library at sunsite.unc.edu where other participants could access, download, add, filter, and otherwise change the initial images. Images manipulated three times in this way were considered "finished," and exhibited online with filename codes delineating the artists's identities. To retrieve a file, type get filename-here.ext and be sure you're in binary mode (typing bin will accomplish this).

Pretty Good...Piracy? The US government has begun a strange campaign to clamp down on distributors of industrial-strength encryption programs, such as the popular (and controversial) PGP. It is unclear whether this is mere intimidation, or the portent of something more ominous to come – like the outlawing of unbreakable encryption altogether. The paranoid and cautious are stockpiling supplies now. Here's where to find PGP while it's still free and legal: black.ox.ac.uk 129.67.1.165; src.doc.ic.ac.uk 146.169.2.1; ftp.demon.co.uk 158.152.1.65; ghost.dsi.unimi.it 149.132.2.1; nic.funet.fi 128.214.6.100; soda.berkeley.edu 128.32.149.19.

Subject: Sam Blake re New York Times and Otto Noack

Blake called at 5 p.m. to relay the following:

o He has spoken with Tim Golden, the NYT correspondent in Mexico City, about his meeting with the President. Golden may call you to ask for comment, background o Otto Noack called Blake to say that he was extremely upset about Blake's statement in the petition that Noack had provided information to Blake that the G-2 in Huehuetenango knew about the Blake Davis killings shortly after they occurred. Blake is meeting with Noack tomorrow morning at 10 a.m. to discuss the situation. Says he is willing to issue a statement saying that he used Noack's information without permission if it will save Noack's career. He promised to call and let us know how his meeting with Noack goes.

Subject: Conversation with National Police Director ...

I had breakfast with National Police Director Mario Rene Cifuentes this morning at his request where we went over the following issues:

Devine Witnesses

Cifuentes was appreciative that we had let him know that the four army specialists being sought by the court had been paroled into the US and were safe. For his part, he intended to ask Migracion to find the record when they had left Guatemala, and simply give that info to the court in response to its request that he produce them.

[redacted]

B1

Refugees

The GOG refugee agency CEAR had asked the national police to withdraw the 60 man contingent they had sent to northern Quiche to assist with the refugee return from Mexico. Cifuentes was puzzled at the request, and was going to check with his officers on the spot as well as ACNUR director Michel Gabaudan before making a decision. (The police are providing security, in part to avoid military participation anathema to the returnees. It may be that the returnees are objecting to the presence of anyone in uniform.)

Lemus/Devine

I mentioned to Cifuentes that our Consul General would probably visit Lemus in prison in view of his claim to have a tape recording of the soldiers convicted for the murder "revealing" who the higher ups involved were. Cifuentes doubted that Lemus had anything useful and said he had no idea if such a tape existed.

UN Human Rights Expert

He said that UNHRC Expert Monica Pinto had declined to meet with Lemus. However, Cifuentes had talked to her for three hours, and told her "all" about the human rights situation.

1. LOU-NOFORN--ENTIRE TEXT.

2. THE INITIAL EDITED VERSION (VERSION 1) OF THE 1993 DRAFT REPORT ON HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES FOR GUATEMALA IS

TRANSMITTED HEREWITH. PLEASE PROVIDE RESPONSES TO ALL QUESTIONS AS WELL AS YOUR OWN COMMENTS AND ANY ADDITIONAL INFORMATION YOU BELIEVE IS RELEVANT. PLEASE KEY YOUR RESPONSES TO THE NUMBERED PARAGRAPHS OF THIS MESSAGE AND PROVIDE SPECIFIC LANGUAGE FOR PROPOSED CHANGES; DO NOT RPT NOT REWRITE AND RETRANSMIT THE FULL TEXT BACK TO THE DEPT. TO ENABLE THE DEPARTMENT TO MEET ITS LEGISLATIVELY MANDATED DEADLINE, YOU ARE REQUESTED TO RESPOND TO THIS MESSAGE AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. FYI: LEGISLATION THAT REQUIRES REPORTING ON MILITARY EXPENDITURES HAS BEEN CHANGED. A SEPARATE REPORT ON THIS SUBJECT WILL BE MADE TO THE CONGRESS. ANY REFERENCES TO MILITARY EXPENDITURES HAVE THEREFORE BEEN REMOVED FROM THE DRAFT REPORT. END FYI

3. A REMINDER: YOU SHOULD REPORT TO THE DEPARTMENT AS SOON AS POSSIBLE ANY SIGNIFICANT, HUMAN-RIGHTS-RELATED DEVELOPMENTS THAT OCCUR BETWEEN THE DATE OF SUBMISSION OF YOUR INITIAL DRAFT REPORT AND THE END OF THE CALENDAR YEAR. THANK YOU FOR YOUR EFFORTS TO DATE AND YOUR CONTINUING COOPERATION.

4. BEGIN TEXT OF REPORT:

5. GUATEMALA'S 1985 CONSTITUTION CALLS FOR ELECTION BY UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE OF A ONE-TERM PRESIDENT, A UNICAMERAL CONGRESS, AND MUNICIPAL OFFICERS; IT MANDATES AN INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY AND A HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, WHO IS ELECTED BY AND REPORTS TO CONGRESS. MIDWAY THROUGH HIS FIVE YEAR TERM, AFTER RISING STREET PROTESTS, PRESIDENT JORGE SERRANO SUSPENDED SEVERAL SECTIONS OF THE

CONSTITUTION AND DISSOLVED CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME AND CONSTITUTIONAL COURTS ON MAY 25. AFTER EXTREMELY NEGATIVE DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL REACTION TO THIS EXTRA-CONSTITUTIONAL MOVE, SERRANO WAS PEACEFULLY AND

CONSTITUTIONALLY DEPOSED ON JUNE 1. CONGRESS AND THE COURTS WERE CALLED BACK INTO SESSION, AND ON JUNE 6, CONGRESS, AS PRESCRIBED BY THE CONSTITUTION, ELECTED IBEN-HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO TO FINISH SERRANO'S PRESIDENTIAL TERM ENDING IN JANUARY 1996.

6. THE ARMED FORCES OPERATE WITH CONSIDERABLE INSTITUTIONAL AND LEGAL AUTONOMY, PARTICULARLY IN SECURITY AND MILITARY MATTERS. PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO, AS COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, REPLACED TWO DEFENSE MINISTERS WITH OFFICERS OF HIS OWN CHOOSING. THE 43,000-MAN ARMY, WHICH HAS RESPONSIBILITY FOR NATIONAL SECURITY, HAS FOUGHT A LEFTIST INSURGENCY FOR MORE THAN THREE DECADES. THE NATIONAL POLICE (12,000 STRONG) AND TREASURY POLICE (2,000) REPORT TO THE INTERIOR MINISTER AND SHARE RESPONSIBILITY FOR INTERNAL SECURITY WITH THE ARMY. A TARGET OF FREQUENT CRITICISM BY HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS, THE "HUNAPU" ANTI-CRIME TASK FORCE PATROLS--COMPOSED OF NATIONAL POLICE, TREASURY POLICE, AND MOBILE MILITARY POLICE (PMA)--WERE ELIMINATED IN 1993. THE NEW PRESIDENT APPOINTED A CIVILIAN AS NATIONAL POLICE CHIEF IN AUGUST, AS WELL AS OTHER CIVILIANS TO SENIOR POSITIONS IN THE POLICE AND MINISTRY OF INTERIOR, AND REMOVED ALL MILITARY PERSONNEL FROM THE POLICE ON AUGUST 27. SOME 500,000 MEN SERVE IN VOLUNTARY CIVIL SELF-DEFENSE COMMITTEES, COMMONLY CALLED CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS (PAC'S), SOME OF WHICH CONDUCT COUNTERINSURGENCY PATROLS IN RURAL AREAS.

THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN AND THE CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORT THAT SOME PAC MEMBERS WERE COMPELLED TO JOIN, IN VIOLATION OF THE CONSTITUTION. MEMBERS OF THE NATIONAL AND TREASURY POLICE, AND ESPECIALLY THE ARMY AND PAC'S COMMITTED NUMEROUS SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS IN 1993.

7. THE AGRICULTURE-BASED, PRIVATE SECTOR-ORIENTED GUATEMALAN ECONOMY WAS PROJECTED TO GROW APPROXIMATELY 4 PERCENT IN 1993, WHICH WOULD PRODUCE AN INCREASE IN PER CAPITA INCOME OF ABOUT 1.0 PERCENT. INFLATION WAS PROJECTED TO REACH 10-12 PERCENT. GUATEMALA HAS CONTINUED UNDER A STANDBY AGREEMENT WITH THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND, DESPITE FISCAL AND MONETARY DIFFICULTIES. THERE IS A MARKED DISPARITY IN INCOME DISTRIBUTION AND POVERTY IS PERVASIVE, PARTICULARLY IN THE LARGE INDIGENOUS COMMUNITY.

8. ALTHOUGH THERE WERE IMPROVEMENTS IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN 1993, SERIOUS ABUSES OCCURRED FREQUENTLY. STATISTICS PREPARED BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE SHOWED A SUBSTANTIAL DROP DURING THE FIRST HALF OF 1993 IN REPORTED EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, WITH LITTLE POSITIVE CHANGE IN OTHER CATEGORIES. (EMBASSY: THIS IS NOT CLEAR: IN SECTION 1.A. YOU NOTE THE OMBUDSMAN RECORDING AN INCREASE IN EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS THROUGH AUGUST 15. PLEASE EXPLAIN.) THE CIVIL PATROLS, MILITARY AND POLICE CONTINUED TO COMMIT A MAJORITY OF THE MAJOR VIOLATIONS, INCLUDING EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, POLITICAL KIDNAPINGS AND THREATS, UNDERLINED BY A MARCH "DEATH LIST" CONTAINING 24 NAMES AND AN OCTOBER LIST WITH 23

NAMES.

9. THE ELECTION OF PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO, PREVIOUSLY THE HIGHLY RESPECTED HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, RAISED HOPES THERE WOULD BE A RAPID IMPROVEMENT IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. THE NEW PRESIDENT ENCOURAGED HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS AND SHOWED A WILLINGNESS TO INVESTIGATE ABUSES AND TO MAKE STRUCTURAL CHANGES SUCH AS DISMANTLING THE "ARCHIVOS" MILITARY INTELLIGENCE UNIT AND RESTRUCTURING THE POLICE. NEVERTHELESS, THESE CHANGES FAILED TO REDUCE

DECONTROLLED/UNCLASSIFIED

THE ACTUAL NUMBER OF ABUSES COMMITTED BY GOVERNMENT FORCES. THE 33 YEAR-OLD INTERNAL INSURGENCY CONTINUED TO BE A MAJOR CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. BOTH THE SECURITY FORCES AND THE GUERRILLAS COMMITTED NUMEROUS AND SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. GUERRILLA ABUSES INCLUDED EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, KIDNAPINGS, FORCED LABOR RECRUITMENT, WIDESPREAD USE OF MINES AND EXPLOSIVES, INCLUDING IN RURAL CIVILIAN AREAS, AND THE USE OF CHILDREN IN COMBAT. GUERRILLA ATTACKS ON INFRASTRUCTURE TARGETS CONTINUED THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.

RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

SECTION 1 RESPECT FOR THE INTEGRITY OF THE PERSON, INCLUDING FREEDOM FROM:

A. POLITICAL AND OTHER EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLING

EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN LISTED 138 CASES (EMBASSY: WERE THESE BROKEN DOWN AS TO WHOM ATTRIBUTED?) OF EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS THROUGH AUGUST 15, FAR MORE THAN THE OMBUDSMAN'S 1992 FULL-YEAR STATISTICS WHICH CONFIRMED 48 EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED 66 EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS FOR THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1993 AS COMPARED TO 190 DURING THE FIRST 6 MONTHS OF 1992 AND 284 FOR ALL OF 1992, BUT DID NOT BREAK DOWN THE FIGURES ACCORDING TO THE RESPONSIBLE ORGANIZATION. (EMBASSY: ARE KILLINGS BY GUERRILLAS INCLUDED IN THESE NUMBERS? WHY THE LARGE DISCREPANCY BETWEEN THE OMBUDSMAN AND THE ARCHBISHOP'S HRO?)

11. THE SECURITY FORCES AND PERSONS ASSOCIATED WITH OR PROTECTED BY THE ARMY, SUCH AS THE CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS OR MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, COMMITTED A NUMBER OF THESE KILLINGS, MOST OF WHICH TOOK PLACE IN AREAS OF GUERRILLA CONFLICT. THE OMBUDSMAN, THE ATTORNEY GENERAL, AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS HAVE FOUND EVIDENCE OF KILLINGS BY PAC'S. PAC LEADERS ARE FEARED IN MANY RURAL COMMUNITIES. THEY ENJOY ARMY BACKING AND OFTEN DE FACTO IMMUNITY FROM PROSECUTION. LIKEWISE, MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY FORCES ARE RARELY HELD ACCOUNTABLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS.

12. CIVIL PATROLS CONTINUED TO BE ESPECIALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR KILLING HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS. PAC'S THREATENED AND KILLED MEMBERS OF THE RUKUJEL JUNAM COUNCIL OF ETHNIC COMMUNITIES (CERJ), A RURAL-BASED HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION DEDICATED MAINLY TO OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY SERVICE IN PAC'S. TOMAS LARA CIPRIANO, A CERJ AND UNITED

PEASANTS COMMITTEE (CUC) MEMBER IN JOYABAJ WAS KILLED APRIL 30 BY PAC MEMBERS, ACCORDING TO FAMILY MEMBERS AND WITNESSES.

13. TEN PERSONS, FROM TWO SEPARATE FAMILIES, TOOK REFUGE IN THE SANTA CRUZ DEL QUICHE CERJ OFFICE ON JUNE 18 AFTER BEING THREATENED WITH DEATH FOR NOT PARTICIPATING IN THE PAC'S AND FOR BEING CERJ MEMBERS. CHARGES AGAINST CERJ LEADER ANILCAR MENDEZ FOR ALLEGEDLY PROVIDING EXPLOSIVES TO GUERRILLAS IN OCTOBER 1992 WERE DROPPED IN MARCH. CAPTAIN ANIBAL ROBERTO LANDAVERI, COMMANDER OF THE CHIUL, QUICHE STOCKADE, WAS ARRESTED IN MAY FOR HAVING THREE CERJ MEMBERS BEATEN ON HIS BASE. HE WAS DISMISSED FROM THE ARMY AND TRIED FOR ILLEGAL DETENTION, ABUSE OF AUTHORITY, COERCION AND CAUSING INJURIES. (EMBASSY: ANY RESULTS OF THE TRIAL?)

14. ON AUGUST 3, HUEHUETENANGO PAC MEMBERS FIRED ON MARCHERS DEMANDING THE DISSOLUTION OF THE CIVIL PATROLS, KILLING JUAN CRONAY PABLO AND WOUNDING TWO OTHERS. WITNESSES REPORT HAVING SUBSEQUENTLY RECEIVED THREATS FROM PAC MEMBERS. PAC LEADER EFRAIN DOMINGO MORALES, FROM THE TOWN OF XEMAL IN THE SAME AREA, WAS MURDERED BY UNKNOWN PERSONS IN MID-SEPTEMBER. TWO CAMPESINOS FROM XEMAL, COLOTENANGO IN HUEHUETENANGO WERE KILLED SEPTEMBER 26, A SURVIVING FAMILY MEMBER CLAIMING BY PAC MEMBERS.

15. SECURITY FORCES WERE ALSO INVOLVED IN VIGILANTE KILLINGS OF CRIMINAL SUSPECTS. ON AUGUST 18, AN APPEALS COURT SENTENCED TWENTY-TWO FORMER POLICE OFFICERS, WHO FORMED PART OF A "HUNAPU" PATROL, TO 30 YEARS IN PRISON

FOR THE APRIL 10, 1992 DEATH OF UNIVERSITY STUDENT JULIO RIGOBERTO CU QUEN AND FOR INJURING SIX OTHER STUDENTS. EARLIER, ON JULY 22, SEVEN PNA MEMBERS OF THE SAME PATROL WERE SENTENCED TO 14 YEARS (4 COMMUTABLE) FOR THE DEATH.

16. FORMER CORPORAL NICOLAS GUTIERREZ CRUZ, CONVICTED IN THE JANUARY 15, 1991 KILLING OF FOUR PERSONS IN "CUIDAD PERONIA," EXHAUSTED HIS LEGAL APPEALS WHEN THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT RULED JULY 23 AGAINST HIS REQUEST TO VOID THE DEATH SENTENCE AGAINST HIM. PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO COMMUTED HIS SENTENCE TO THIRTY YEARS IN EARLY OCTOBER. A FELLOW EX-SOLDIER CONVICTED IN THE KILLINGS ESCAPED ON MAY 9, 1992; ON MAY 17, 1993 AN APPELLATE COURT SENTENCED AN ARMY ENLISTED MAN TO TWO YEARS IN PRISON FOR NEGLIGENCE IN ALLOWING THE ESCAPE. ON MARCH 19, THEN-HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN DE LEON ACCUSED ARMY TROOPS OF THE AUGUST 31, 1992 KIDNAPING, TORTURE AND MURDER OF HUEHUETENANGO PEASANT LUCAS PEREZ TADEO. ALTHOUGH THE ARMY PROMISED A FULL INVESTIGATION, NO RESULTS WERE REPORTED BY YEAR END.

17. ON MAY 1, CIVIL PATROL MEMBERS IN JOCOPILAS SURROUNDED A HOUSE AND KILLED 11 INHABITANTS (INCLUDING AN UNBORN CHILD). MANY OF THE 11 WERE KNOWN AS CRIMINALS IN THE COMMUNITY AND, THE DAY OF THEIR DEATHS, ARE SAID TO HAVE ROBBED ONE FAMILY AND RAPED THREE WOMEN. POLICE ARRIVED PRIOR TO THE KILLINGS, BUT LEFT AFTER BEING INTIMIDATED BY THE PAC. ON APPEAL OF AN EARLIER ACQUITTAL, QUICHE PAC CHIEFS MANUEL PEREBAL AJTZALAM AND MANUEL LEON LARES WERE SENTENCED TO THIRTY YEARS IN PRISON FOR THE FEBRUARY 17, 1991 KILLING OF JUAN PEREBAL

XIRUM AND HIS SON, AND THE INJURING OF ANOTHER SON. THOSE ATTACKED HAD TESTIFIED AGAINST PEREBAL IN THE CASE OF SEBASTIAN VELASQUEZ MEJIA, A COMMUNITY LEADER OPPOSED TO THE PAC'S WHO WAS KIDNAPED AND LATER FOUND DEAD.

18. PERSONS ASSOCIATED WITH THE SECURITY FORCES WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLING OF CHILDREN, ACCORDING TO THE CASA ALIANZA, A LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP DEDICATED TO STREET CHILDREN. IT REPORTED THAT STREET CHILDREN HENRY YUBANI ALVAREZ AND FRANCISCO TZIAC WERE SHOT IN DOWNTOWN GUATEMALA CITY ON APRIL 17 AND 22. CASA ALIANZA BELIEVES THAT A PRIVATE SECURITY GUARD KILLED ALVAREZ AND OFF-DUTY MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WOUNDED TZIAC, BOTH SHOT POSSIBLY DUE TO PETTY THIEVERY. ON MAY 11, A CONGRESSIONAL BODYGUARD SHOT A STUDENT PROTESTING AT CONGRESS. HE DIED A DAY LATER; THE BODYGUARD WHO ALLEGEDLY FIRED THE SHOT REMAINS A FUGITIVE.

19. THERE WAS SOME PROGRESS IN CERTAIN PAST HIGH-PROFILE CASES. FORMER GOVERNMENT SECURITY AGENT NOEL DE JESUS BETETA ALVAREZ WAS SENTENCED IN FEBRUARY TO 30 YEARS FOR THE 1990 MURDER OF GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK

LUIS ZURITA RETURNED TO GUATEMALA FROM EXILE. ON MARCH 19, FORMER REBEL ARMED FORCES POLITICAL LEADER GONZALO DANILO RODRIGUEZ RECEIVED OFFICIAL AMNESTY, ESTABLISHED A POLITICAL PARTY, AND BEGAN PUBLISHING POLITICAL ARTICLES FREQUENTLY IN THE LOCAL PRESS.

48. REPATRIATION OF REFUGEES CONTINUED. AN ESTIMATED 1,600 REFUGEES RETURNED TO GUATEMALA IN THE FIRST 8 MONTHS OF 1992 UNDER THE SPONSORSHIP OF INTERNATIONAL GROUPS AND THE GOVERNMENT'S COMMITTEE ON REFUGEE AFFAIRS. THE GOVERNMENT AND REPRESENTATIVES OF THE GUATEMALAN REFUGEE COMMUNITIES IN MEXICO SIGNED AN AGREEMENT ON OCTOBER 8 ALLOWING THE ORDERLY, VOLUNTARY, LARGE-SCALE RETURN OF REFUGEES TO THEIR HOMELAND.

SECTION 3 RESPECT FOR POLITICAL RIGHTS: THE RIGHT OF CITIZENS TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT

49. GUATEMALANS HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT BY PEACEFUL AND DEMOCRATIC MEANS. UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE BY SECRET BALLOT EXISTS FOR THOSE 18 YEARS OF AGE AND OLDER; THERE ARE NO PROPERTY OR LITERACY REQUIREMENTS. VOTING IS NOT MANDATORY. THE LAST NATIONAL ELECTIONS, WHICH INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS FOUND FREE AND FAIR, WERE HELD IN JANUARY 1991. MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES MAY NOT VOTE.

50. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE ENJOY EQUAL RIGHTS UNDER THE CONSTITUTION. THERE ARE SOME INDIGENOUS CONGRESSMEN, ARMY OFFICERS (INCLUDING ONE GENERAL), GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, AND JUDGES. NEVERTHELESS, PERVASIVE DISCRIMINATION LIMITS OPPORTUNITIES FOR INDIGENOUS PEOPLE TO ASSUME PROMINENT

ROLES IN GUATEMALAN POLITICS.

SECTION 4 GOVERNMENTAL ATTITUDE REGARDING INTERNATIONAL AND NONGOVERNMENTAL INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGED VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

51. LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS AND ORGANIZATIONS ARE PERMITTED TO OPERATE IN GUATEMALA, BUT MEMBERS SUFFERED THREATS AND VIOLENCE FROM SECURITY FORCES AND PAC'S. AS NOTED IN SECTION 1.A., MEMBERS OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION CERJ DISAPPEARED, WERE KILLED, AND WERE THREATENED IN 1992. THE OFFICE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS

TEXT OF TELEGRAM 93STATE 009516

OMBUDSMAN REMAINED THE MOST RELIABLE SOURCE OF OBJECTIVE INFORMATION ON HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES, ISSUING MANY REPORTS CRITICAL OF BOTH THE GOVERNMENT AND THE GUERRILLAS. CONGRESS REELECTED RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, AND HIS OFFICE MOVED INTO A NEW BUILDING IN DOWNTOWN GUATEMALA CITY WITH IMPROVED FACILITIES. RELATIONS BETWEEN THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH AND THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE WERE TENSE AT TIMES, AND HIGH-RANKING GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS WORKING IN THE FIELDS OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND JURISPRUDENCE HAVE COMPLAINED PUBLICLY AND PRIVATELY OF RECEIVING DEATH THREATS STEMMING FROM THEIR INTEREST IN RESOLVING CASES RELATED TO HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, OFFICIAL CORRUPTION, AND NARCOTRAFFICKING. THE OMBUDSMAN CONTINUED TO ENJOY WIDESPREAD PUBLIC SUPPORT AND RESPECT.

52. THE GOVERNMENT OFFICIALLY WELCOMED, BUT AT TIMES CRITICIZED, INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS. SENIOR GUATEMALAN OFFICIALS MET REPRESENTATIVES OF NUMEROUS

LIMITED OFFICIAL USE

LIMITED OFFICIAL USE

FOREIGN AND INTERNATIONAL OFFICIALS AND ACTIVISTS. UNITED NATIONS HUMAN RIGHTS EXPERT CHRISTIAN TOMUSCHAT RECEIVED THE COOPERATION OF THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT, AND HIS CRITICAL COMMENTS RECEIVED WIDESPREAD PRESS COVERAGE. FOREIGN FORENSIC ANTHROPOLOGISTS AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS TOOK PART IN THE LOCATION AND EXHUMATION OF CLANDESTINE CEMETERIES. NEVERTHELESS, THE DEFENSE MINISTER THREATENED TO PROSECUTE FORENSIC ANTHROPOLOGIST CLYDE SNOW FOR DEFAMATION AFTER SNOW ATTRIBUTED CERTAIN PAST HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES TO THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY. BOTH LOCAL AND INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS WERE CRITICIZED BY PRESIDENT SERRANO AND MEMBERS OF HIS CABINET, WHO ACCUSED THEM OF INTENTIONALLY DISTORTING GUATEMALA'S HUMAN RIGHTS RECORD FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES.

SECTION 5 DISCRIMINATION BASED ON RACE, SEX, RELIGION, LANGUAGE, OR SOCIAL STATUS

53. ONE-HALF OF THE POPULATION IS CULTURALLY INDIGENOUS AND THE REST HISPANIC. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE REMAIN LARGELY OUTSIDE THE COUNTRY'S POLITICAL, ECONOMIC, SOCIAL, AND CULTURAL MAINSTREAM. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE SUFFERED MOST OF THE SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES DESCRIBED ABOVE. RURAL INDIGENOUS MEN WERE MORE LIKELY THAN URBAN COUNTERPARTS TO BE DRAFTED BY THE ARMY OR RECRUITED FORCIBLY BY GUERRILLA GROUPS.

54. RURAL INDIGENOUS PEOPLE HAVE LIMITED EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES AND THUS HAVE LIMITED EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES. ILLITERACY IS PREVALENT IN INDIGENOUS COMMUNITIES. MANY GUATEMALANS DO NOT SPEAK SPANISH.

LINGUISTIC BARRIERS HINDER INTERACTION WITH THE GOVERNMENT AND LIMIT ACCESS TO PUBLIC SERVICES, INCLUDING THE JUDICIARY, BECAUSE FEW OFFICIALS SPEAK INDIGENOUS LANGUAGES.

55. WOMEN ARE ACTIVE IN THE LABOR FORCE, ESPECIALLY IN THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY, AGRICULTURE, RETAIL BUSINESS, AND IN LOWER-PAYING PUBLIC SECTOR JOBS. SEVERAL WOMEN HOLD PROMINENT POLITICAL POSITIONS, INCLUDING CABINET POSTS. DESPITE LEGAL PROTECTION, WOMEN FACE JOB DISCRIMINATION AND RECEIVE LOWER PAY THAN MEN. CONAVIGUA, AN INDIGENOUS WIDOWS' ORGANIZATION PROMINENT IN THE ADVOCACY OF WOMEN'S AND HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES, REPORTS THAT VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN, INCLUDING DOMESTIC VIOLENCE, REMAINS COMMON BUT RECEIVES LITTLE ATTENTION. CRIMINAL SEXUAL VIOLENCE OFTEN GOES UNREPORTED BY VICTIMS, AND RELATIVELY FEW RAPE CASES CAME TO COURT. THE DEPUTY HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, A WOMAN, MONITORS VIOLATIONS OF WOMEN'S RIGHTS.

SECTION 6 WORKER RIGHTS

A. THE RIGHT OF ASSOCIATION

56. THE CONSTITUTION AND THE 1947 LABOR CODE PROVIDE WORKERS FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION AND THE RIGHT TO FORM AND JOIN TRADE UNIONS. AS A RESULT OF A TRIPARTITE NEGOTIATING PROCESS INCLUDING LABOR, MANAGEMENT, AND GOVERNMENT, THE LABOR CODE WAS AMENDED IN LATE 1992 TO FACILITATE FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION, TO STRENGTHEN THE RIGHTS OF WORKING WOMEN, TO INCREASE PENALTIES FOR VIOLATIONS OF LABOR LAWS, AND TO ENHANCE THE ROLE OF THE LABOR MINISTRY AND LABOR COURTS IN ENFORCING THE LABOR CODE. THESE AMENDMENTS ENTERED INTO FORCE IN 1992. ALL WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO FORM OR JOIN UNIONS, INCLUDING PUBLIC SECTOR EMPLOYEES. BETWEEN 5 AND 8 PERCENT OF THE WORK FORCE IS ORGANIZED. THE 890 UNIONS IN THE COUNTRY ARE INDEPENDENT OF GOVERNMENT AND POLITICAL PARTY DOMINATION.

57. THE LABOR CODE AMENDMENTS SIMPLIFY THE PROCESS FOR UNIONS SEEKING LEGAL STATUS, WHICH HAS LONG BEEN CRITICIZED BY U.S. LABOR ORGANIZATIONS AS EXCESSIVELY CUMBERSOME, BY ELIMINATING A NUMBER OF PROVISIONS, INCLUDING ONE THAT REQUIRED THE PRESIDENT OF THE COUNTRY TO SIGN THE FINAL PAPERS. WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO

CPR DELEGATION TO DISCUSS THEIR COMPLAINTS.

45. BOMBINGS CONDUCTED BY UNKNOWN PERPETRATORS CONTINUED, WITH TARGETS INCLUDING SERRANO'S SOLIDARITY ACTION MOVEMENT PARTY HEADQUARTERS AND THE HEADQUARTERS OF THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY. FOUR BANKS WERE ALSO BOMBED AND NUMEROUS COUNTRYSIDE ELECTRICAL TOWERS WERE BLOWN UP IN JANUARY AND FEBRUARY. FURTHER BOMBINGS OCCURRED IN SEPTEMBER, APPARENTLY TIED TO A POLITICAL STRUGGLE INVOLVING EFFORTS TO REMOVE ALLEGED CORRUPT CONGRESSMEN AND SUPREME COURT OFFICIALS FROM OFFICE. COMMERCIAL INSTITUTIONS, CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY HEADQUARTERS, THE GUATEMALAN JURISTS ASSOCIATION AND THE OFFICES OF GAM, A HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP ACTIVE IN THE REMOVAL EFFORT, WERE TARGETS. SHOTS ALSO WERE FIRED NEAR GAM LEADER NINETH MONTENEGRO DE GARCIA'S HOME ON SEPTEMBER 11; SOME CONGRESSIONAL DEPUTIES AND THE SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT ALSO REPORTED DEATH THREATS. NO ONE WAS APPREHENDED FOR THESE ATTACKS AND THREATS.

46. (EMBASSY: PLEASE PROVIDE A FEW OTHER BRIEF EXAMPLES OF ABUSES BY GOVERNMENT FORCES. MOST OF THE EXAMPLES IN THIS SECTION APPEAR TO BE BY GUERRILLA GROUPS.)

47. GUERRILLA FORCES CONTINUED TO RECRUIT CHILDREN INTO THEIR RANKS. GOVERNMENT TROOPS FOUND A 10-YEAR-OLD CHILD GUERRILLA AFTER A MARCH 9 ARMED ENGAGEMENT NEAR RAXHUJA, ALTA VERAPAZ. WOUNDED, THE CHILD WAS EVACUATED TO A GUATEMALA CITY MILITARY HOSPITAL. IN ANOTHER CASE, ON JUNE 17, THIRTEEN YEAR-OLD MARIO IXCAL WAS CAPTURED NEAR LA LIBERTAD, PETEN AFTER BEING WOUNDED IN A ARMY-GUERRILLA CLASH. TREATED AND RELEASED TO THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, IXCAL SAID HIS URNG UNIT CONTAINED TWO OTHER YOUNG BOYS. DOCUMENTED CASES OF CIVILIANS BEING INJURED BY GUERRILLA MINES ALSO OCCURRED IN 1993.

SECTION 2 RESPECT FOR CIVIL LIBERTIES, INCLUDING:

A. FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS

48. THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION. HOWEVER, RADIO AND TELEVISION STATION OWNERS CHARGE THAT LICENSING AND RENEWAL PROCEDURES HAVE BEEN USED TO THREATEN STATIONS CRITICAL OF THE GOVERNMENT, SECURITY FORCES, OR POWERFUL INDIVIDUALS. UNDER SERRANO, NEWSPAPERS ALSO COMPLAINED ABOUT GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE, ESPECIALLY REGARDING EFFORTS TO SILENCE CRITICISM OF THE PRESIDENT, HIS FAMILY, AND ALLEGED WRONGDOING BY SECURITY

FORCES.

49. NO JOURNALISTS OR MEDIA FIGURES DISAPPEARED OR WERE KILLED IN 1993, BUT SEVERAL REPORTED RECEIVING DEATH THREATS AND WERE INCLUDED ON A 24-PERSON "DEATH LIST" THAT APPEARED IN LATE MARCH AND A SEPARATE LIST THAT APPEARED IN EARLY OCTOBER. ON FEBRUARY 4, A SHOT WAS FIRED AT THE FATHER OF SIGLO XXI COLUMNIST AND FREQUENT CRITIC OF THEN-PRESIDENT SERRANO, MARTA ALTOALGUIRRE. CREDIBLE REPORTS OF THREATS AGAINST TWO FOREIGN JOURNALISTS ALSO OCCURRED IN THE FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR. IN ADDITION, CRONICA MAGAZINE RECEIVED THREATS AFTER PUBLISHING A FEBRUARY STORY CRITICAL OF SERRANO. THE FORMER PRESIDENT WAS BLAMED BY MANY JOURNALISTS FOR MAKING NEGATIVE COMMENTS ABOUT THE PRESS AND, IN THAT WAY, "LEGITIMIZING" ATTACKS AGAINST THEM.

50. NEWSPAPERS, MAGAZINES, RADIO AND TV STATIONS WERE SUBJECTED TO CENSORSHIP WHEN PRESIDENT SERRANO ANNOUNCED HIS MAY 25 EXTRA CONSTITUTIONAL ACTIONS. RADIO AND

TELEVISION STATIONS ALSO WERE FORCED TO BROADCAST STANDARDIZED GOVERNMENT PROGRAMMING FOR EXTENDED PERIODS. SECURITY FORCES SEIZED SEVERAL THOUSAND COPIES OF THE CRONICA MAGAZINE ISSUE REPORTING SERRANO'S ACTIONS, WHICH WERE FOUND BURNED BY A ROADSIDE IN LATE JULY. A NUMBER OF JOURNALISTS REFUSED TO COOPERATE WITH AUTHORITIES DURING THE COUP; THEY WERE NOT HARMED AS CENSORSHIP QUICKLY BROKE DOWN AND A FREE PRESS RETURNED AFTER SERRANO'S FALL.

51. PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO'S ADMINISTRATION OPENLY

SUPPORTED PRESS FREEDOM, BUT INCIDENTS OF INDIVIDUAL CASES OF POLICE HARASSMENT OF JOURNALISTS CONTINUED. ON AUGUST 6, POLICE THREATENED TWO JOURNALISTS COVERING A STUDENT DISTURBANCE. THE NEW POLICE DIRECTOR DISCIPLINED THE THREE OFFICERS AND ONE IS CURRENTLY AWAITING TRIAL. (EMBASSY: ON WHAT CHARGES?) THE PRESIDENT'S OPEN ATTITUDE NOTWITHSTANDING, THE PRESS CONTINUED TO RECEIVE SOME THREATS. ALTHOUGH PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO ORDERED AN INVESTIGATION, NO ONE WAS CHARGED IN THE AUGUST 1 FIRING OF SHOTS AT THE DAILY SIGLO XXI. IN MID-AUGUST, A TV JOURNALIST WHO INTERVIEWED TWO URNG COMMANDANTES RECEIVED THREATS. (EMBASSY: PLEASE UPDATE AS APPROPRIATE.)

52. DESPITE HARASSMENT, THE NEWS MEDIA REPORTED ALL MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS STORIES AND PUBLICIZED COMMUNIQUES FROM THE URNG, LEFTIST GROUPS, AND OTHERS OPPOSED TO THE GOVERNMENT OR ITS POLICIES. BOTH MAJOR PRESS ASSOCIATIONS DENOUNCED INCIDENTS RESTRICTING FREEDOM OF THE PRESS AND VOWED TO CONTINUE COVERAGE OF SENSITIVE TOPICS. JOURNALISTS ADMIT, HOWEVER, THAT SELF-CENSORSHIP STEMMING FROM FEAR OF REPRISAL CONTINUES TO IMPEDE FULL INVESTIGATIVE REPORTING ON A VARIETY OF TOPICS, INCLUDING ALLEGED GOVERNMENT HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, CORRUPTION OF GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND INFLUENTIAL POLITICIANS, ASPECTS OF NARCOTRAFFICKING, AND ISSUES AFFECTING THE ECONOMIC INTERESTS OF POWERFUL INDIVIDUALS.

B. FREEDOM OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION

53. THE CONSTITUTION GUARANTEES THE RIGHTS OF PEACEFUL

ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION, BUT AUTHORITIES BANNED RALLIES AND SECURITY FORCES BROKE UP A DEMONSTRATION FOLLOWING SERRANO'S MAY 25 COUP. PRIOR TO THE COUP, THERE WAS A PLETHORA OF DEMONSTRATIONS, SOME INVOLVING VIOLENCE BETWEEN POLICE AND MARCHERS. SOME DEMONSTRATORS ALSO CLAIMED LATER HARASSMENT BY SECURITY FORCES DUE TO THEIR MARCH PARTICIPATION. STREET DEMONSTRATIONS WERE A FACTOR IN FOCUSING PUBLIC DISAPPROVAL OF HIS ACTIONS. WITH SERRANO'S EXIT FROM OFFICE, CONSTITUTIONAL GUARANTEES OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION WERE RESTORED.

54. FREEDOM OF POLITICAL ASSOCIATION IS GUARANTEED UNDER THE CONSTITUTION. ALTHOUGH ORGANIZATIONS NOMINALLY REQUIRE LEGAL STATUS, A CUMBERSOME AND EXPENSIVE PROCEDURE.

C. FREEDOM OF RELIGION

55. NO STATE RELIGION EXISTS. RELIGIOUS FREEDOM IS CONSTITUTIONALLY GUARANTEED AND IS RESPECTED IN PRACTICE. RELIGIOUS PERSONNEL ARE SOMETIMES THREATENED FOR POLITICAL REASONS. ABOUT 70 PER CENT OF THE POPULATION IS NOMINALLY CATHOLIC, BUT MANY OTHER FAITHS OPERATE FREELY, ESPECIALLY EVANGELICAL PROTESTANTISM.

D. FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT WITHIN THE COUNTRY,

DECONTROLLED/UNCLASSIFIED
LIMITED OFFICIAL USE

FOREIGN TRAVEL, EMIGRATION, AND REPATRIATION

56. THE GOVERNMENT DOES NOT RESTRICT FOREIGN TRAVEL, NOR DOES IT REVOKE CITIZENSHIP FOR POLITICAL REASONS. MOVEMENT INSIDE GUATEMALA WAS UNRESTRICTED EXCEPT WHERE

THE ARMY AND PAC'S LIMITED TRAVEL IN SOME AREAS OF CONFLICT. GUERRILLAS CONTINUED TO ESTABLISH ROAD BLOCKS, ASSAULT PRIVATE CITIZENS TO DEMAND "WAR TAXES," ATTACK AND DRAIN PETROLEUM TRUCKS, AND LIMIT TRAVEL IN CERTAIN RURAL AREAS.

57. REPATRIATION OF REFUGEES CONTINUED. AN ESTIMATED 2,500 REFUGEES RETURNED TO GUATEMALA ON JANUARY 20 IN A LARGE CARAVAN OF BUSES, GOING TO THE CAPITAL FOR A PEACEFUL DEMONSTRATION PRIOR TO CONTINUING ON TO A RESETTLEMENT SITE NEAR THE MEXICAN BORDER IN QUICHE PROVINCE. BY THE END OF JUNE, A TOTAL OF 3,632 REFUGEES HAD RETURNED UNDER THE SPONSORSHIP OF INTERNATIONAL GROUPS AND THE GOVERNMENT'S COMMITTEE ON REFUGEE AFFAIRS. (EMBASSY: PLEASE UPDATE WITH THE DECEMBER REPATRIATION.)

58. ON AUGUST 25, A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE GUATEMALAN REFUGEE COMMUNITY IN MEXICO, JOAQUIN JIMENEZ BAUTISTA, WAS BEATEN BY A CROWD INCLUDING PAC MEMBERS IN TODOS SANTOS, HUEHUETENANGO. JIMENEZ HAD RETURNED TO GUATEMALA AUGUST 17 AS PART OF A REFUGEE GROUP SEARCHING FOR RESETTLEMENT SITES. ON THE DAY OF THE BEATING, HE HAD LEFT THE GROUP, RETURNING FOR A VISIT TO HIS FORMER VILLAGE. CROWD MEMBERS LATER FORMALLY CHARGED JIMENEZ WAS A KNOWN GUERRILLA, WHO PARTICIPATED IN MURDERS IN THE 1980'S. JIMENEZ WAS BRIEFLY DETAINED BY POLICE AFTER A MILITARY PATROL PREVENTED THE MOB FROM LYNCHING HIM. JIMENEZ WAS RELEASED BY ORDER OF THE MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT AND RETURNED TO MEXICO ON AUGUST 26.

SECTION 3 RESPECT FOR POLITICAL RIGHTS: THE RIGHT OF CITIZENS TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT

59. GUATEMALANS HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT BY PEACEFUL AND DEMOCRATIC MEANS. UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE BY SECRET BALLOT EXISTS FOR THOSE 18 YEARS OF AGE AND OLDER; THERE ARE NO PROPERTY OR LITERACY REQUIREMENTS, BUT MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES MAY NOT VOTE. THE LAST NATIONAL ELECTIONS, WHICH INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS FOUND FREE AND FAIR, WERE HELD IN JANUARY 1991.

60. FOLLOWING THE REMOVAL OF PRESIDENT SERRANO AND VICE PRESIDENT ESPINA, RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO WAS ELECTED PRESIDENT BY A CONGRESSIONAL VOTE AND SWORN-IN JUNE 6, AS PRESCRIBED BY THE CONSTITUTION. ARTURO HERBRUGER, WHO WAS HEAD OF GUATEMALA'S INDEPENDENT SUPREME ELECTORAL TRIBUNAL UNTIL RETIRING IN EARLY JUNE, WAS ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT BY CONGRESS ON JUNE 18.

61. SEVERAL WOMEN HOLD PROMINENT POLITICAL POSITIONS, INCLUDING CABINET POSTS. (EMBASSY: HOW MANY WOMEN ARE IN SENIOR LEADERSHIP POSITIONS IN POLITICAL PARTIES AND THE GOVERNMENT? WHAT IS THEIR PROPORTION IN THE LEGISLATURE? ARE THERE DE FACTO OR DE JURE IMPEDIMENTS TO THEIR PARTICIPATION? IF NOT, WHY ARE WOMEN SO GREATLY UNDERRREPRESENTED? SEE PARA 39, STATE 244189.)

62. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE ENJOY EQUAL RIGHTS UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, AND SOME HAVE ATTAINED POSITIONS AS CONGRESSMEN, ARMY OFFICERS (INCLUDING ONE GENERAL), GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, AND JUDGES. NEVERTHELESS,

PERVASIVE DISCRIMINATION (SEE SECTION 5) LIMITS OPPORTUNITIES FOR INDIGENOUS PEOPLE TO ASSUME PROMINENT ROLES IN GUATEMALAN POLITICS.

SECTION 4 GOVERNMENTAL ATTITUDE REGARDING INTERNATIONAL AND NONGOVERNMENTAL INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGED VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

63. LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS AND ORGANIZATIONS ARE PERMITTED TO OPERATE IN GUATEMALA, BUT MEMBERS SUFFERED THREATS AND VIOLENCE FROM SECURITY FORCES AND PAC'S (SEE BELOW). AS NOTED IN SECTION 1.A., MEMBERS OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION CERJ WERE KILLED AND THREATENED, AND CERJ'S GUATEMALA CITY OFFICE WAS BROKEN INTO ON MAY 8. CONAVIGUA, AN INDIGENOUS WIDOWS ORGANIZATION PROMINENT IN THE ADVOCACY OF WOMEN'S AND HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES, ALSO RECEIVED THREATS. PRIOR TO THE MID-YEAR CHANGE IN ADMINISTRATIONS, PRESIDENT SERRANO AND MEMBERS OF HIS CABINET CRITICIZED BOTH LOCAL AND INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS, ACCUSING THEM OF INTENTIONALLY DISTORTING GUATEMALA'S HUMAN RIGHTS RECORD FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES. HIGH-RANKING GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS WORKING IN THE FIELDS OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND JURISPRUDENCE COMPLAINED PUBLICLY AND PRIVATELY OF RECEIVING THREATS STEMMING FROM THEIR INTEREST IN RESOLVING CASES RELATED TO HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, OFFICIAL CORRUPTION, AND NARCOTRAFFICKING.

64. RELATIONS BETWEEN THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH AND THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE WERE TENSE AT TIMES IN THE FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR; THOUGH AFTER THE ELECTION OF DE LEON CARPIO AS PRESIDENT, MATTERS IMPROVED CONSIDERABLY. THE

OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE CONTINUED TO ENJOY WIDESPREAD PUBLIC SUPPORT AND RESPECT; CONGRESS ELECTED JORGE MARIO GARCIA LAGUARDIA HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN TO REPLACE DE LEON CARPIO. THE NEW GOVERNMENT MADE CLEAR ITS WILLINGNESS AND COMMITMENT TO RECEIVE INTERNATIONAL AND DOMESTIC HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS. SENIOR GUATEMALAN OFFICIALS MET NUMEROUS FOREIGN AND INTERNATIONAL OFFICIALS AND ACTIVISTS.

65. THE PEACE BRIGADES, AN INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS MONITORING ORGANIZATION, WAS UNABLE TO OBTAIN GOVERNMENT RECOGNITION DESPITE PERSISTENT EFFORTS. THE ABSENCE OF LEGAL STATUS DID NOT, HOWEVER, PREVENT PEACE BRIGADES OR OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS FROM OPERATING OPENLY.

66. ON JUNE 17, UNION ACTIVIST ELIZABETH RECINOS WAS KIDNAPPED ALONG WITH A COMPANION. THOUGH THE COMPANION WAS QUICKLY RELEASED, RECINOS WAS HELD FOR FOUR DAYS, DRUGGED AND BEATEN. PRESIDENT DE LEON CONDEMNED THE KIDNAPING AND THE POLICE CONDUCTED AN INVESTIGATION, THOUGH NO ARRESTS WERE MADE. THE POLICE INITIALLY LABELED THIS A "SELF-KIDNAPING," ALTHOUGH THERE WERE MORE CREDIBLE CLAIMS THAT THE ACTION WAS MEANT AS A THREAT TO UNIONS AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS. ON JULY 11, UNION OFFICIAL WALTER MANUEL NAJERA MOLINA WAS KIDNAPED AND INTERROGATED ABOUT UNION ACTIVITIES FOR THREE HOURS BY FOUR ARMED MEN, DURING WHICH TIME HE WAS BEATEN. DURING HIS QUESTIONING, NAJERA WAS ASKED ABOUT VARIOUS POLITICAL AND HUMAN RIGHTS LEADERS, WHOM HIS CAPTIVES LINKED TO THE GUERRILLAS.

67. ON SEPTEMBER 1, A MEMBER OF A GROUP ADVOCATING A PURGE OF ALLEGED CORRUPT CONGRESSIONAL AND SUPREME COURT OFFICIALS, OLGA MARINA RUANO CRUZ, WAS ABDUCTED AND BEATEN BEFORE BEING RELEASED A DAY LATER. (EMBASSY: ANY INDICATION OF THE PRESUMED PERPETRATORS?)

68. WOMEN

69. DESPITE LEGAL PROTECTION, WOMEN FACE JOB DISCRIMINATION AND RECEIVE SIGNIFICANTLY LOWER PAY THAN MEN. THEY ARE PRIMARILY EMPLOYED IN LOW WAGE JOBS IN THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY, AGRICULTURE, RETAIL BUSINESS, AND THE PUBLIC SECTOR. (EMBASSY: ANY STATISTICS ON THIS?)

70. (EMBASSY: THE LAWYERS COMMITTEE ON HUMAN RIGHTS SAYS THAT WOMEN ARE LEGALLY INFERIOR IN A NUMBER OF ASPECTS: PLEASE ASSESS.)

73. IN RECENTLY SIGNING THE UNITED NATIONS CONVENTION ON THE RIGHTS OF THE CHILD, THE GOVERNMENT STATED ITS COMMITMENT TO CHILDREN'S HUMAN RIGHTS AND WELFARE (EMBASSY: IS THIS CORRECT? SEE PARA 50, STATE 244189), AND PLEDGED TO REVISE ITS LAWS IN LINE WITH THE CONVENTION. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, ALONG WITH A COMMISSION OF 25 GOVERNMENTAL AND NONGOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS, WAS REVISING THE CURRENT CODE, BUT AT YEAR END HAD NOT COMPLETED THE WORK. (EMBASSY: CORRECT? WE WILL NOT REPORT PROVISIONS OF THE NEW CODE UNTIL IT BECOMES LAW.)

74. THE ABUSE OF STREET CHILDREN (SECTION 1.C.) IS A SERIOUS PROBLEM IN MAJOR GUATEMALAN CITIES. ESTIMATES OF STREET CHILDREN IN ALL OF GUATEMALA RANGE BETWEEN 1,500 AND 5,000, WITH THE MAJORITY OF THESE YOUTHS CONCENTRATED IN GUATEMALA CITY. THESE CHILDREN ARE OFTEN RECRUITED INTO THIEVERY OR PROSTITUTION RINGS. THE GOVERNMENT AND A NUMBER OF NGO'S HAVE YOUTH CENTERS, BUT THE FUNDS DEVOTED TO THESE ARE INADEQUATE FOR THE PROBLEM. IN AUGUST, THE GOVERNMENT OPENED A SCHOOL IN SAN JOSE PINULA DEVOTED TO THE REHABILITATION OF STREET CHILDREN.

75. AN ACCORD BETWEEN CASA ALIANZA AND THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE WAS NOT RENEWED IN 1993 DUE TO PROBLEMS INVOLVING THE SUSPENSION OF THE TREH-ATTORNEY GENERAL. ON AUGUST 16, THE NEW CIVILIAN POLICE DIRECTOR MET WITH CASA ALIANZA AS ONE OF HIS FIRST PUBLIC ACTS AND

EXPRESSED HIS COMMITMENT TO THE RIGHTS OF STREET CHILDREN AND TO PUNISH POLICE OFFICERS AND OTHERS WHO ABUSE THEM. CASA ALIANZA ANNOUNCED AFTER THE VISIT THAT IT AND THE POLICE WILL COORDINATE PROGRAMS AGAINST STREET CHILDREN DRUG ADDICTION AND ABUSE.

76. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE

76. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE, COMPRISING ONE-HALF OF THE POPULATION, REMAIN LARGELY OUTSIDE THE COUNTRY'S POLITICAL, ECONOMIC, SOCIAL, AND CULTURAL MAINSTREAM. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE SUFFERED MOST OF THE SERIOUS HUMAN

STATE 379287 1721122 018261 S824788
RIGHTS ABUSES DESCRIBED THROUGHOUT THIS REPORT. RURAL INDIGENOUS MEN WERE MORE LIKELY THAN URBAN COUNTERPARTS TO BE DRAFTED BY THE ARMY OR RECRUITED FORCIBLY BY GUERRILLA GROUPS. ALTHOUGH INDIGENOUS PEOPLE ARE ACCORDED EQUAL RIGHTS BY THE CONSTITUTION, IN PRACTICE THEY HAVE ONLY MINIMAL PARTICIPATION IN DECISIONS AFFECTING THEIR LANDS, CULTURE, TRADITIONS AND ALLOCATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES. (EMBASSY: IS THIS CORRECT? SEE PARA 52, STATE 244189.)

78. RURAL INDIGENOUS PEOPLE HAVE LIMITED EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES AND, THUS HAVE LIMITED EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES. ILLITERACY IS PREVALENT IN INDIGENOUS COMMUNITIES. MANY INDIGENOUS GUATEMALANS DO NOT SPEAK SPANISH. LINGUISTIC BARRIERS HINDER INTERACTION WITH THE GOVERNMENT AND LIMIT ACCESS TO PUBLIC SERVICES, INCLUDING THE JUDICIARY, BECAUSE FEW OFFICIALS SPEAK INDIGENOUS LANGUAGES. INDIGENOUS PERSONS ARRESTED FOR CRIMES ARE OFTEN AT A DISADVANTAGE DUE TO THEIR LACK OF SPANISH.

THE GOVERNMENT'S OFFICE OF PUBLIC DEFENSE PROVIDES JUDICIAL TRANSLATING SERVICES, BUT IS NOT SUFFICIENTLY STAFFED TO COPE WITH THE PROBLEM. UNDER THE NEW PENAL CODE, THE GOVERNMENT WILL BE REQUIRED TO PROVIDE TRANSLATING SERVICES TO ALL IN NEED.

79. PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES

80. THE CONSTITUTION GUARANTEES STATE PROTECTION FOR DISABLED PERSONS. NONETHELESS, PHYSICALLY DISABLED PERSONS ARE DISCRIMINATED AGAINST IN EMPLOYMENT PRACTICES, AND FEW RESOURCES ARE DEVOTED TO COMBAT THIS PROBLEM OR OTHERWISE TO ASSIST PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES. THERE IS NO LEGISLATION MANDATING ACCESSIBILITY FOR THE DISABLED.

SECTION 6 WORKER RIGHTS

A. THE RIGHT OF ASSOCIATION.

81. THE CONSTITUTION AND THE 1947 LABOR CODE, AS AMENDED, PROVIDE WORKERS FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION AND THE RIGHT TO FORM AND JOIN TRADE UNIONS. THE LABOR CODE WAS AMENDED IN LATE 1992 TO FACILITATE FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION, TO STRENGTHEN THE RIGHTS OF WORKING WOMEN, TO INCREASE PENALTIES FOR VIOLATIONS OF LABOR LAWS, AND TO ENHANCE THE ROLE OF THE LABOR MINISTRY AND LABOR COURTS IN ENFORCING THE LABOR CODE. ALL WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO FORM OR JOIN UNIONS, INCLUDING PUBLIC SECTOR EMPLOYEES, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF MEMBERS OF SECURITY FORCES. IN FEBRUARY, A DECREE INTERPRETING "ESSENTIAL SERVICES" IN SUCH A WAY AS TO RESTRICT ORGANIZING PUBLIC SECTOR WORKERS WAS WITHDRAWN, FOLLOWING PROTESTS BY PUBLIC SECTOR EMPLOYEES AND THE MINISTER OF LABOR. AFTER NATIONAL POLICE OFFICERS FAILED TO FORM A TRADE UNION OR ASSOCIATION DURING MOST OF THE YEAR, THE NEW DIRECTOR OPENED A DIALOGUE WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THIS GROUP. BETWEEN 5 AND 8 PERCENT OF THE WORK FORCE IS ORGANIZED. THE 250 UNIONS IN THE COUNTRY ARE INDEPENDENT OF GOVERNMENT AND POLITICAL PARTY DOMINATION.

82. THE LABOR CODE AMENDMENTS SIMPLIFIED THE PROCESS FOR UNIONS SEEKING LEGAL STATUS, WHICH HAD BEEN CRITICIZED AS EXCESSIVELY CUMBERSOME, BY ELIMINATING A NUMBER OF PROVISIONS, INCLUDING ONE THAT REQUIRED THE PRESIDENT TO SIGN THE FINAL PAPERS. IN 1993 XXX UNIONS WERE APPROVED, WITH AN AVERAGE WAITING PERIOD OF XXX. (EMBASSY: PLEASE PROVIDE FIGURES FOR THE YEAR, INDICATING WHETHER THIS REPRESENTS A SIGNIFICANT IMPROVEMENT AND WHETHER SERIOUS

ARA/NEA REARCS

BACKLOGS CONTINUE IN THE UNION RECOGNITION PROCESS.)

63. NONETHELESS, EXPERIENCE DURING 1993 DEMONSTRATED THAT PROBLEMS STILL EXIST." EMBASSY: PLEASE SPECIFY WHAT KIND OF "PROBLEMS." IF THE GOVERNMENT REGISTRATION PROCESS IS STILL TOO BURDENSOME OR INTRUSIVE, OR IF TRADE UNIONISTS ARE STILL BEING DISMISSED FROM THEIR JOBS WHILE THE GOVERNMENT STALLS ON RECOGNITION, WE NEED TO SAY SO, AND WHY.) AN INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION (ILO) COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS REQUESTED THE GOVERNMENT TO BE MORE FLEXIBLE AND TO BRING ALL LABOR LEGISLATION INTO LINE WITH REQUIREMENTS OF ILO CONVENTION 87. A TRIPARTITE PANEL OF GUATEMALANS IS EXPLORING HOW THESE PROBLEMS

MIGHT BE OVERCOME THROUGH ADMINISTRATIVE ACTIONS, WHICH WOULD INCLUDE EFFORTS BY THE MINISTRY OF LABOR TO FIND WAYS TO REDUCE THE NUMBER OF STEPS REQUIRED TO REGISTER A UNION. BY REVISING INTERNAL REGULATIONS, THE MINISTRY PLANS TO REDUCE THE NUMBER OF STEPS REQUIRED FROM THE CURRENT 40 TO 15.

64. WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO STRIKE, BUT LABOR CODE PROCEDURES MAKE LEGAL STRIKES CUMBERSOME. THE ILO COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS CRITICIZED THE REQUIREMENT THAT TWO-THIRDS OF THE WORKERS VOTE TO APPROVE A STRIKE AND THE PROHIBITION OF STRIKES BY AGRICULTURAL WORKERS AT HARVEST TIME, AS WELL AS THOSE DEEMED BY THE GOVERNMENT TO AFFECT SERIOUSLY THE NATIONAL ECONOMY. THE FEW STRIKES WHICH DID OCCUR WERE GENERALLY CALLED WITHOUT LEGAL AUTHORIZATION, AND IN PRACTICE THE GOVERNMENT MADE NO EFFORT TO INTERVENE ON THE BASIS OF ILLEGALITY. NONETHELESS, THE LACK OF LEGAL SANCTION FOR A STRIKE CAN BE USED AS A THREAT AGAINST STRIKERS. ORGANIZED LABOR'S STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES, A RELUCTANCE TO ORGANIZE FORCEFULLY, THE PAUCITY OF MEMBERSHIP FUNDS, AND A POOR OVERALL ECONOMIC SITUATION WITH HIGH UNEMPLOYMENT AND UNDEREMPLOYMENT LIMIT THE DURATION OF VIRTUALLY ALL STRIKES.

65. THE LAW PROTECTS WORKERS FROM RETRIBUTION FOR FORMING AND PARTICIPATING IN TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES, BUT COMPLIANCE WITH THE LAW VARIES FROM INDUSTRY TO INDUSTRY. EMBASSY: THIS GENEROUS DESCRIPTION REGARDING VARYING COMPLIANCE PERFORMANCE FROM INDUSTRY TO INDUSTRY IS SIGNIFICANTLY AT VARIANCE WITH USG OBSERVATIONS OVER

THE YEARS THAT MOST EMPLOYERS ROUTINELY CIRCUMVENT OR VIOLATE THE LABOR CODE TO RESIST UNION ACTIVITY. MOREOVER, THERE IS NO MENTION EITHER HERE OR IN SECTION 6.B. OF THE INADEQUATE PENALTIES (E.G., DOES 20) PROVIDED BY THE LAW FOR VIOLATIONS. LAST YEAR'S REPORT WAS CRITICIZED BY A U.S. HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION FOR FAILING TO NOTE THESE POINTS. PLEASE REVIEW AND REVISE ACCORDINGLY.)

66. TRADE UNION LEADERS AND INDIVIDUAL WORKERS REPORTED THAT WORKERS WERE THREATENED WITH THE LOSS OF THEIR JOBS, OR PHYSICAL HARM, FOR THEIR INTEREST IN FORMING A UNION. THE INTERNATIONAL CONFEDERATION OF FREE TRADE UNIONS (ICFTU) ALLEGED THAT A WAVE OF ILLEGAL AND ARBITRARY MASS FIRINGS AND INTIMIDATION TOOK PLACE AT THE BEGINNING OF THE YEAR, INCLUDING THE DISMISSAL OF 515 UNION MEMBERS AT THE STATE FOREST AND WILDLIFE OFFICE AND THE FIRING OF 25 WORKERS FROM THE NATIONAL AGRARIAN REFORM INSTITUTE FOR JOINING A UNION. ONE UNION LEADER WAS DISCHARGED IN LATE 1992 BY A STATE-OWNED ENTERPRISE FOR PARTICIPATING IN A SEMINAR SPONSORED BY THE AFL-CIO, DESPITE CLEAR CONTRACT LANGUAGE WHICH WOULD PERMIT SUCH TRAINING. ALTHOUGH A LOWER LABOR COURT ACTED QUICKLY AND ORDERED THE COMPANY TO REINSTATE THIS LEADER, THERE WAS NO FINAL

ACTION ON THIS CASE DURING THE YEAR. THIS CASE WAS UNUSUAL BECAUSE UNION LEADERS AND OTHER INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS OBSERVERS AGREE THAT LABOR COURTS ARE GENERALLY SLOW IN HEARING COMPLAINTS, AS WELL AS IN ISSUING DECISIONS RELATED TO COMPLAINTS BY WORKERS AND UNIONISTS THAT THEIR RIGHTS TO FORM AND JOIN TRADE UNIONS ARE NOT PROTECTED.

67. TRADE UNION LEADERS AND MEMBERS WERE AMONG THOSE SUBJECTED TO A VARIETY OF ABUSES, SUCH AS THREATS, ASSASSINATION ATTEMPTS, KIDNAPINGS, AND PHYSICAL HARM (SEE SECTION 4). IN SOME INSTANCES THESE ABUSES APPEAR TO HAVE BEEN DIRECTLY TIED TO LABOR ACTIVITIES, BUT GIVEN THE HIGH INCIDENCE OF VIOLENCE IN GUATEMALA IT IS SOMETIMES DIFFICULT TO DISTINGUISH BETWEEN ACTS WHICH MAY BE ASSOCIATED WITH A PERSON'S POLITICAL OR TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES AND THOSE WHICH ARE COMMON CRIMINAL ACTS. (EMBASSY: WERE TRADE UNIONISTS MURDERED AND UNION HEADQUARTERS BOMBED IN 1993, AS IN 1992? IT IS NOT DIFFICULT TO DISCERN THAT THE BOMBING OF A TRADE UNION HEADQUARTERS IS RELATED TO TRADE UNION ACTIVITY. LAST YEAR'S REPORT WAS CRITICIZED BECAUSE IT SAID THERE WERE NO REPORTS OF DEATHS IN 1992, WHICH TURNED OUT NOT TO BE CORRECT. WE SHOULD NOT USE "PHYSICAL HARM" AS A EUPHEMISM FOR MURDER. PLEASE REVIEW AND MODIFY IF WARRANTED.)

68. PUBLIC SECTOR UNION LEADERS, AS WELL AS UNIONISTS IN THE HIGH-PROFILE "MAQUILA" (DRAWBACK, OR IN-BOND EXPORT) SECTOR, ALSO REPORTED RECEIVING THREATS AGAINST THEMSELVES AND THEIR FAMILIES, USUALLY COINCIDING WITH UNION DEMANDS FOR IMPROVED BENEFITS. (EMBASSY: IF THIS VIOLENCE WAS DIRECTED PREDOMINANTLY AGAINST LEFTWING TRADE UNIONS, E.G., UNSITRAGUA, WE SHOULD SAY SO EXPLICITLY.) THE ICFTU CHARGED THAT MANY TRADE UNIONISTS WERE FORCED INTO EXILE.

69. BY LAW, UNION LEADERS MAY SERVE ONLY ONE TERM IN A

PARTICULAR UNION OFFICE, BUT, BY ROTATING UNION POSITIONS, THE SAME PERSONS CAN STAY ON UNION EXECUTIVE BOARDS FOR EXTENDED PERIODS OF TIME. THE CONSTITUTION AND THE 1992 LAW PROTECT THE RIGHT OF POLITICAL PARTICIPATION FOR INDIVIDUALS, INCLUDING TRADE UNION LEADERS. DURING 1993, TRADE UNION LEADERS BECAME MORE INVOLVED IN NATIONAL POLITICAL AFFAIRS, PARTICULARLY DURING THE POLITICAL TURMOIL FOLLOWING THE RESIGNATION OF FORMER PRESIDENT SERRANO AND THE MOVE TO PURGE CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME COURT.

70. UNIONS MAY AND DO FORM FEDERATIONS AND CONFEDERATIONS AND JOIN INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS. WITH VERY FEW EXCEPTIONS, TRADE UNIONS DEPEND ON ASSISTANCE RECEIVED FROM INTERNATIONAL CONTACTS.

71. AN ACTIVE "SOLIDARITY" MOVEMENT CLAIMED APPROXIMATELY 100,000 MEMBERS IN OVER 350 COMPANIES. UNIONS MAY LEGALLY CONTINUE TO OPERATE IN WORKPLACES WHICH HAVE SOLIDARITY ASSOCIATIONS, AND WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHOOSE BETWEEN THE TWO, OR BELONG TO BOTH. THE GOVERNMENT VIEWS THESE ASSOCIATIONS AS CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS WHICH NEED NOT INTERFERE WITH THE FUNCTIONING OF TRADE UNIONS, SINCE THE AMENDED LABOR CODE STIPULATES THAT TRADE UNIONS HAVE THE EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY OVER WORK CONDITIONS ON BEHALF OF WORKERS. UNIONISTS CHARGE, HOWEVER, THAT SOLIDARITY ASSOCIATIONS ARE PROMOTED BY MANAGEMENT TO AVOID THE FORMATION OF TRADE UNIONS, OR TO RIVAL EXISTING LABOR UNIONS. THERE ARE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT, AT TIMES,

DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES ARE NOT ADHERED TO IN THE FORMATION

AND MANAGEMENT OF SOME OF THESE ASSOCIATIONS, AND WORKERS ARE UNABLE TO PARTICIPATE FULLY AND FREELY IN DECISION MAKING. SIMILAR CREDIBLE CHARGES ARE MADE AGAINST SOME TRADE UNION ORGANIZATIONS.

92. AT THE REQUEST OF TRADE UNION LEADERS, THE INDEPENDENT HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, THROUGH HIS OFFICE FOR ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL ISSUES, FOLLOWS COMPLAINTS RELATED TO TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES. UNION LEADERS AND WORKERS FILED A NUMBER OF COMPLAINTS WITH THE OMBUDSMAN DURING THE YEAR. EMBASSY: ANY RESULTS? HOW WERE THESE COMPLAINTS HANDLED?] IN JUNE, MEMBERS OF THE ILO COMMITTEE ON THE APPLICATION OF CONVENTIONS NOTED THE SERIOUS SITUATION OF VIOLENCE AND INSECURITY WHICH EXISTS IN GUATEMALA, INCLUDING MURDERS AND ABDUCTIONS "WITH THE PARTICIPATION OF THE ARMY AND DEATH SQUADS," AS WELL AS THE "DIFFICULT TRANSITION TOWARDS DEMOCRACY" UNDERWAY IN THE COUNTRY, AND ASKED FOR "TOTAL AND UNCONDITIONAL RESPECT" BY THE NEW GOVERNMENT TO THEIR OBSERVATIONS.

B. THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY

93. WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY, BUT ARE OFTEN DENIED THIS RIGHT BY ANTIUNION ACTIONS OF EMPLOYERS. THE PRACTICE OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING IS LIMITED, MOREOVER, BY THE WEAK STRUCTURE OF THE UNION MOVEMENT, THE LACK OF ESPERIENCE WITH THIS PRACTICE, AND BY THE PREFERENCE OF MANAGEMENT IN MANY CASES TO AVOID FORMAL TIES WITH TRADE UNIONS. WHILE SOME WELL-WRITTEN COLLECTIVE CONTRACTS ARE HONORED BY BOTH MANAGEMENT AND THE UNIONS, OTHER CONTRACTS WERE

OPENLY IGNORED AND VIOLATED BY BOTH PARTIES. MOST WORKERS, EVEN THOSE ORGANIZED BY TRADE UNIONS, DO NOT HAVE COLLECTIVE CONTRACTS TO COVER THEIR WAGES AND WORKING CONDITIONS. WAGES RECEIVED BY THE BULK OF THE WORK FORCE TEND TO BE THE MINIMUM WAGES ESTABLISHED BY A BIPARTITE COMMISSION, WHICH OPERATES UNDER THE TUTELAGE OF THE MINISTRY OF LABOR.

94. WORKERS CANNOT BE DISMISSED FOR PARTICIPATING IN THE FORMATION OF A TRADE UNION; COMPLAINTS IN THIS REGARD MUST BE FILED WITH THE LABOR INSPECTORS FOR RESOLUTION. THE LABOR CODE ESTABLISHED THE RIGHT OF EMPLOYERS TO FIRE WORKERS FOR CAUSE AND PERMITS WORKERS TO APPEAL THEIR DISMISSAL TO THE LABOR COURTS, BUT DOES NOT REQUIRE THE REINSTATEMENT OF ANY WORKER FIRED WITHOUT CAUSE. THE REVISED CODE PROHIBITS EMPLOYERS FROM FIRING WORKERS FOR UNION ORGANIZING AND PROTECTS THEM FOR 60 DAYS FOLLOWING THE OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF APPROVAL OF THE UNION. IT ALSO PROHIBITS EMPLOYERS FROM FIRING ANY MEMBER OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF A UNION AND PROTECTS THEM FOR AN ADDITIONAL 12 MONTHS AFTER THEY ARE NO LONGER ON THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. IF FIRED FOR CAUSE, THIS CAN ONLY BE MADE EFFECTIVE AFTER A TRIAL AND A COURT RESOLUTION HAS BEEN ISSUED.

95. LABOR COURTS RESPONSIBLE FOR ENFORCING LABOR LAWS CONTINUED GENERALLY TO BE INEFFECTIVE. EFFORTS TO RESTRUCTURE AND MODERNIZE THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM MADE NO HEADWAY. A HEAVY BACKLOG OF LABOR CASES CONTINUED TO CLOG THE COURTS.

96. THE SCARCITY OF LABOR INSPECTORS, THE LACK OF ADEQUATE TRAINING AND RESOURCES, AND STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES IN THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM RESULTED IN ONLY MINIMAL ENFORCEMENT OF THE LABOR CODE. THE MINISTRY OF

LABOR HIRED 37 NEW LABOR INSPECTORS IN MID-SEPTEMBER, NEARLY DOUBLING THE TOTAL, AND PROVIDED THEM WITH TRAINING AND RESOURCES TO CARRY OUT THEIR FUNCTIONS. SOME WERE ASSIGNED IN RURAL AREAS TO GIVE GREATER ATTENTION TO THE LACK OF PROTECTION OF WORKER RIGHTS FOR RURAL WORKERS IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE YEAR, THE MINISTRY OF LABOR SIGNIFICANTLY STEPPED UP ITS INSPECTIONS AND THE NUMBER OF CASES IT FILED IN THE COURTS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH THE LABOR LAW. (EMBASSY: IS THIS ACCURATE? -- BASED UPON GUATEMALA 12849.)

97. LABOR LAWS AND REGULATIONS APPLY THROUGHOUT GUATEMALA, INCLUDING IN THE FEW EXPORT PROCESSING ZONES (EPZ'S) IN THE COUNTRY. THE LAWS GOVERNING EPZ'S ARE NOT DISCRIMINATORY ON THE SUBJECT OF ORGANIZING TRADE UNIONS OR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING. (EMBASSY: WE PROPOSE TO DELETE THIS SECOND SENTENCE, WHICH IMPLIES THERE ARE SPECIAL LAWS FOR THE EPZ'S, CONTRADICTING THE FIRST SENTENCE; UNLESS YOU CAN RECONCILE THE TWO.) WHILE UNION LEADERS OFTEN BLAME EMPLOYER PRESSURES AND UNOFFICIAL RESTRICTED ACCESS TO THE EPZ'S FOR THEIR VIRTUAL INABILITY TO ORGANIZE WORKERS IN THESE ZONES, LABOR CONDITIONS IN THESE ZONES ARE NO DIFFERENT THAN THOSE FOUND OUTSIDE OF THE ZONES. (EMBASSY: PLEASE TAKE ANOTHER LOOK AT THIS STATEMENT. EPZ'S BY THEIR VERY NATURE CAN BY EXPLICITLY OR IMPLICITLY ANTIUNION. OR IS

THIS ASSERTION ANOTHER WAY OF ACKNOWLEDGING THAT "ALL GUATEMALA IS AN EPZ" AS STATED IN GUATEMALA 12849? WHILE THE LAW MAY NOT BE ANY MORE "DISCRIMINATORY" IN THE EPZ'S THAN IN THE REST OF THE COUNTRY (SENTENCE TWO), WHAT ABOUT APPLICATION OF THE LAWS? DON'T THE EPZ ENTERPRISES TRY HARDER TO AVOID UNIONS AND EVADE THE LABOR LAW, AND AREN'T THEY MORE CONSISTENTLY SUCCESSFUL, AND DON'T THE AUTHORITIES MORE CONSISTENTLY WINK AT VIOLATIONS IN THE EPZ'S THAN IN THE REST OF THE COUNTRY? PLEASE REVIEW AND REVISE ACCORDINGLY.)

98. WORKERS AND TRADE UNION LEADERS CHARGE THAT ALL WORKERS, INCLUDING THOSE IN EPZ'S, RECEIVE LOW WAGES, WORK LONG HOURS WITHOUT LEGALLY REQUIRED OVERTIME PAY, AND TOIL UNDER POOR WORKING CONDITIONS. WHILE LABOR MINISTRY INSPECTORS FILED NUMEROUS COMPLAINTS BEFORE THE LABOR COURTS ON THESE CHARGES, FEW OF THESE CASES WERE RESOLVED DUE TO INEFFICIENCIES WITHIN THE COURT SYSTEM, CORRUPTION AND POLITICAL CHICANERY, AND TO LEGAL MANEUVERING WHICH EMPLOYERS CAN USE TO PROLONG THE HEARING PROCESS.

C. PROHIBITION OF FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR

99. THE CONSTITUTION BARS FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR AND THE PRACTICE DOES NOT EXIST. HUMAN RIGHTS AND INDIGENOUS GROUPS CONTINUE TO CHARGE THAT COERCED PARTICIPATION, PARTICULARLY OF INDIGENOUS PEOPLES, IN THE PAC'S VIOLATES PROHIBITIONS AGAINST FORCED LABOR. THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS OF ISOLATED INSTANCES OF UNPAID PAC MEMBERS BEING USED TO PROVIDE FREE MANUAL LABOR, BUT NO SYSTEMATIC

PATTERN OF SUCH PRACTICE WAS ESTABLISHED.

D. MINIMUM AGE FOR THE EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN

100. ALTHOUGH THE CONSTITUTION BARS EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS UNDER THE AGE OF 14, CHILDREN BELOW THIS AGE ARE REGULARLY EMPLOYED IN THE FORMAL AND INFORMAL SECTORS OF THE ECONOMY. LAWS GOVERNING THE EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS ARE NOT EFFECTIVELY ENFORCED, DUE TO THE SHORTAGE OF QUALIFIED LABOR INSPECTORS AND STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES OF

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
ARA/NEA REARCS

THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM. ONLY 5,000 MINORS HAVE LEGAL PERMISSION FROM THE LABOR MINISTRY TO WORK. THOUSANDS WORKING WITHOUT LEGAL PERMISSION ARE OPEN TO EXPLOITATION, GENERALLY RECEIVING NO SOCIAL BENEFITS, NO SOCIAL INSURANCE, NO PENSION OR VACATIONS, NO SEVERANCE PAY, AND ARE PAID BELOW THE MINIMUM WAGE LEVEL. THE LABOR MINISTRY HAS A PROGRAM TO EDUCATE MINORS, THEIR PARENTS, AND EMPLOYERS ON THE RIGHTS OF MINORS IN THE LABOR MARKET. ECONOMIC NECESSITY, HOWEVER, FORCES MOST FAMILIES TO HAVE THEIR CHILDREN SEEK SOME TYPE OF EMPLOYMENT TO SUPPLEMENT THE FAMILY INCOME.

18I. (EMBASSY: ARE THERE COMPULSORY EDUCATION LAWS? IF SO, UP TO WHAT AGE? ARE THEY ENFORCED? PLEASE IDENTIFY ANY EXPORT INDUSTRIES IN WHICH CHILD LABOR IS SIGNIFICANT.)

E. ACCEPTABLE CONDITIONS OF WORK

182. MINIMUM WAGES ARE SET BY LAW. DUE TO A VARIETY OF FACTORS, MOST IMPORTANTLY THE OVERSUPPLY OF LABOR AND THE LIMITED DEMAND FOR IT, THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR MOST UNSKILLED AND SEMISKILLED WORKERS IS THE PREVAILING WAGE CEILING, AND NOT THE MORE COMMONLY ACCEPTED WAGE FLOOR. WIDESPREAD, CREDIBLE REPORTS INDICATED THE MINIMUM WAGE IS COMMONLY, IF ILLEGALLY, NOT PAID TO SIGNIFICANT NUMBERS OF RURAL AND URBAN WORKERS. (EMBASSY: DOES THE GOVERNMENT MAKE ANY EFFORT TO ENFORCE THE MINIMUM WAGE, AND DOES IT REGARD IT AS HOPELESS AND THROW UP ITS ARMS IN DESPAIR? OR IS IT GOVERNMENT POLICY NOT TO ENFORCE THE MINIMUM WAGE, INTENDING IT MORE AS A SOP, OR A BENCHMARK OF INTENTIONS, RATHER THAN A LEGAL REQUIREMENT?)

183. THE LAST INCREASE IN THE MINIMUM WAGE WAS IN LATE 1991, WHEN IT WAS RAISED BY 78.5 PERCENT. THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL WORKERS IS 2.42 (14 QUETZALS) FOR AN 8-HOUR WORK DAY, INCLUDING A REQUIRED HOURLY BONUS. THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR FARM WORKERS IS 2.09 (11.60 QUETZALS) PER DAY, INCLUDING A MANDATORY BONUS.

184. THIS MINIMUM WAGE DOES NOT PROVIDE A DECENT STANDARD OF LIVING; GOVERNMENT STATISTICS INDICATE THE MINIMUM WAGE SHOULD BE AT LEAST THREE TIMES HIGHER THAN CURRENTLY ESTABLISHED. AN ESTIMATED 80 PERCENT OF THE POPULATION LIVES BELOW THE GUATEMALAN POVERTY LINE, INCLUDING APPROXIMATELY 70 PERCENT OF THOSE EMPLOYED. A BILATERAL COMMITTEE REPRESENTING LABOR AND MANAGEMENT IS NAMED EACH YEAR TO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR INCREASES IN THE MINIMUM WAGE. IN THE EVENT THAT AGREEMENT IS NOT POSSIBLE, THE GOVERNMENT MAY DECREE SUCH INCREASES. THE MINIMUM WAGE WAS INCREASED IN LATE 1991 BY 78.5 PERCENT. THE MINIMUM WAGE WAS NOT INCREASED IN 1993, WHEN INFLATION WAS APPROXIMATELY 12 PERCENT.

185. THE LEGAL WORKDAY IS 8 HOURS AND THE WORKWEEK IS 44 HOURS, BUT A TRADITION OF MUCH LONGER HOURS REMAINS IN PLACE DUE TO ECONOMIC CONDITIONS. THE AMENDED LABOR CODE CONTINUES TO REQUIRE A WEEKLY REST PERIOD OF AT LEAST 24 HOURS. TRADE UNION LEADERS AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS CHARGE THAT WORKERS ARE COMMONLY FORCED TO WORK OVERTIME, OFTEN WITHOUT OVERTIME PREMIUM PAY, OR GIVEN DRUGS TO HELP THEM WORK LONGER, IN ORDER TO MEET WORK REQUIREMENTS. LABOR INSPECTORS REPORT THAT NUMEROUS INSTANCES WERE UNCOVERED OF SUCH ABUSES, BUT CORRUPTION (EMBASSY: CORRECT?) AND INEFFICIENCIES IN THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM INHIBIT ADEQUATE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW.

186. OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY STANDARDS ARE

INADEQUATE. AS WITH OTHER ASPECTS OF THE LABOR LAW, ENFORCEMENT OF STANDARDS THAT DO EXIST IS ALSO GENERALLY INADEQUATE. (EMBASSY: DO WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO REMOVE THEMSELVES FROM DANGEROUS WORKPLACE SITUATIONS WITHOUT JEOPARDY TO CONTINUED EMPLOYMENT?) TRAINING COURSES FOR LABOR INSPECTORS IN HEALTH AND SAFETY STANDARDS WERE PROVIDED, BUT THIS AREA IS NOT PERCEIVED AS A HIGH PRIORITY FOR THE RESOURCE-POOR MINISTRY. LEGISLATION REQUIRING COMPANIES WITH MORE THAN 50 EMPLOYEES TO PROVIDE ON-SITE MEDICAL FACILITIES FOR THEIR WORKERS IS NOT EFFECTIVELY ENFORCED, EVEN THOUGH MANY LARGE EMPLOYERS DO PROVIDE SUCH FACILITIES.

REF: (A) 93 GUATEMALA 11452, (B) 93 STATE 268947, (C) 93 GUATEMALA 11691

1. LOU-NOFORN--ENTIRE TEXT.

2. THE INITIAL EDITED VERSION (VERSION 1) OF THE 1993 DRAFT REPORT ON HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES FOR GUATEMALA IS

TRANSMITTED HEREWITH. PLEASE PROVIDE RESPONSES TO ALL QUESTIONS AS WELL AS YOUR OWN COMMENTS AND ANY ADDITIONAL INFORMATION YOU BELIEVE IS RELEVANT. PLEASE KEY YOUR RESPONSES TO THE NUMBERED PARAGRAPHS OF THIS MESSAGE AND PROVIDE SPECIFIC LANGUAGE FOR PROPOSED CHANGES; DO NOT RPT NOT REWRITE AND RETRANSMIT THE FULL TEXT BACK TO THE DEPT. TO ENABLE THE DEPARTMENT TO MEET ITS LEGISLATIVELY MANDATED DEADLINE, YOU ARE REQUESTED TO RESPOND TO THIS MESSAGE AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. FYI: LEGISLATION THAT REQUIRES REPORTING ON MILITARY EXPENDITURES HAS BEEN CHANGED. A SEPARATE REPORT ON THIS SUBJECT WILL BE MADE TO THE CONGRESS. ANY REFERENCES TO MILITARY EXPENDITURES HAVE THEREFORE BEEN REMOVED FROM THE DRAFT REPORT. END FYI

3. A REMINDER: YOU SHOULD REPORT TO THE DEPARTMENT AS SOON AS POSSIBLE ANY SIGNIFICANT, HUMAN-RIGHTS-RELATED DEVELOPMENTS THAT OCCUR BETWEEN THE DATE OF SUBMISSION OF YOUR INITIAL DRAFT REPORT AND THE END OF THE CALENDAR YEAR. THANK YOU FOR YOUR EFFORTS TO DATE AND YOUR CONTINUING COOPERATION.

4. BEGIN TEXT OF REPORT:

5. GUATEMALA'S 1985 CONSTITUTION CALLS FOR ELECTION BY UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE OF A ONE-TERM PRESIDENT, A UNICAMERAL CONGRESS, AND MUNICIPAL OFFICERS; IT MANDATES AN INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY AND A HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, WHO IS ELECTED BY AND REPORTS TO CONGRESS. MIDWAY THROUGH HIS FIVE YEAR TERM, AFTER RISING STREET PROTESTS, PRESIDENT JORGE SERRANO SUSPENDED SEVERAL SECTIONS OF THE

CONSTITUTION AND DISSOLVED CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME AND CONSTITUTIONAL COURTS ON MAY 25. AFTER EXTREMELY NEGATIVE DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL REACTION TO THIS EXTRA-CONSTITUTIONAL MOVE, SERRANO WAS PEACEFULLY AND

STATE 379287 172112Z 018261 S824788

CONSTITUTIONALLY DEPOSED ON JUNE 1. CONGRESS AND THE COURTS WERE CALLED BACK INTO SESSION, AND ON JUNE 6, CONGRESS, AS PRESCRIBED BY THE CONSTITUTION, ELECTED THEN-HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO TO FINISH SERRANO'S PRESIDENTIAL TERM ENDING IN JANUARY 1996.

6. THE ARMED FORCES OPERATE WITH CONSIDERABLE INSTITUTIONAL AND LEGAL AUTONOMY, PARTICULARLY IN SECURITY AND MILITARY MATTERS. PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO, AS COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, REPLACED TWO DEFENSE MINISTERS WITH OFFICERS OF HIS OWN CHOOSING. THE 43,000-MAN ARMY, WHICH HAS RESPONSIBILITY FOR NATIONAL SECURITY, HAS FOUGHT A LEFTIST INSURGENCY FOR MORE THAN THREE DECADES. THE NATIONAL POLICE (12,000 STRONG) AND TREASURY POLICE (2,000) REPORT TO THE INTERIOR MINISTER AND SHARE RESPONSIBILITY FOR INTERNAL SECURITY WITH THE ARMY. A TARGET OF FREQUENT CRITICISM BY HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS, THE "HUNAPU" ANTI-CRIME TASK FORCE PATROLS--COMPOSED OF NATIONAL POLICE, TREASURY POLICE, AND MOBILE MILITARY POLICE (PMA)--WERE ELIMINATED IN 1993. THE NEW PRESIDENT APPOINTED A CIVILIAN AS NATIONAL POLICE CHIEF IN AUGUST, AS WELL AS OTHER CIVILIANS TO SENIOR POSITIONS IN THE POLICE AND MINISTRY OF INTERIOR, AND REMOVED ALL MILITARY PERSONNEL FROM THE POLICE ON AUGUST 27. SOME 500,000 MEN SERVE IN VOLUNTARY CIVIL SELF-DEFENSE COMMITTEES, COMMONLY CALLED CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS (PAC'S), SOME OF WHICH CONDUCT COUNTERINSURGENCY PATROLS IN RURAL AREAS.

THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN AND THE CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORT THAT SOME PAC MEMBERS WERE COMPELLED TO JOIN, IN VIOLATION OF THE CONSTITUTION. MEMBERS OF THE NATIONAL AND TREASURY POLICE, AND ESPECIALLY THE ARMY AND PAC'S COMMITTED NUMEROUS SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS IN 1993.

7. THE AGRICULTURE-BASED, PRIVATE SECTOR-ORIENTED GUATEMALAN ECONOMY WAS PROJECTED TO GROW APPROXIMATELY 4 PERCENT IN 1993, WHICH WOULD PRODUCE AN INCREASE IN PER CAPITA INCOME OF ABOUT 1.0 PERCENT. INFLATION WAS PROJECTED TO REACH 10-12 PERCENT. GUATEMALA HAS CONTINUED UNDER A STANDBY AGREEMENT WITH THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND, DESPITE FISCAL AND MONETARY DIFFICULTIES. THERE IS A MARKED DISPARITY IN INCOME DISTRIBUTION AND POVERTY IS PERVASIVE, PARTICULARLY IN THE LARGE INDIGENOUS COMMUNITY.

8. ALTHOUGH THERE WERE IMPROVEMENTS IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN 1993, SERIOUS ABUSES OCCURRED FREQUENTLY. STATISTICS PREPARED BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE SHOWED A SUBSTANTIAL DROP DURING THE FIRST HALF OF 1993 IN REPORTED EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, WITH LITTLE POSITIVE CHANGE IN OTHER CATEGORIES. (EMBASSY: THIS IS NOT CLEAR; IN SECTION 1.A. YOU NOTE THE OMBUDSMAN RECORDING AN INCREASE IN EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS THROUGH AUGUST 15. PLEASE EXPLAIN.) THE CIVIL PATROLS, MILITARY AND POLICE CONTINUED TO COMMIT A MAJORITY OF THE MAJOR VIOLATIONS, INCLUDING EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, POLITICAL KIDNAPINGS AND THREATS, UNDERLINED BY A MARCH "DEATH LIST" CONTAINING 24 NAMES AND AN OCTOBER LIST WITH 23

NAMES.

9. THE ELECTION OF PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO, PREVIOUSLY THE HIGHLY RESPECTED HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, RAISED HOPES THERE WOULD BE A RAPID IMPROVEMENT IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. THE NEW PRESIDENT ENCOURAGED HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS AND SHOWED A WILLINGNESS TO INVESTIGATE ABUSES AND TO MAKE STRUCTURAL CHANGES SUCH AS DISMANTLING THE "ARCHIVOS" MILITARY INTELLIGENCE UNIT AND RESTRUCTURING THE POLICE. NEVERTHELESS, THESE CHANGES FAILED TO REDUCE

THE ACTUAL NUMBER OF ABUSES COMMITTED BY GOVERNMENT FORCES. THE 33 YEAR-OLD INTERNAL INSURGENCY CONTINUED TO BE A MAJOR CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. BOTH THE SECURITY FORCES AND THE GUERRILLAS COMMITTED NUMEROUS AND SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. GUERRILLA ABUSES INCLUDED EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, KIDNAPINGS, FORCED LABOR RECRUITMENT, WIDESPREAD USE OF MINES AND EXPLOSIVES, INCLUDING IN RURAL CIVILIAN AREAS, AND THE USE OF CHILDREN IN COMBAT. GUERRILLA ATTACKS ON INFRASTRUCTURE TARGETS CONTINUED THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.

RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

SECTION 1 RESPECT FOR THE INTEGRITY OF THE PERSON, INCLUDING FREEDOM FROM:

A. POLITICAL AND OTHER EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLING

EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN LISTED 138 CASES (EMBASSY: WERE THESE BROKEN DOWN AS TO WHOM ATTRIBUTED?) OF EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS THROUGH AUGUST 15, FAR MORE THAN THE OMBUDSMAN'S 1992 FULL-YEAR STATISTICS WHICH CONFIRMED 48 EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED 66 EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS FOR THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1993 AS COMPARED TO 190 DURING THE FIRST 6 MONTHS OF 1992 AND 284 FOR ALL OF 1992, BUT DID NOT BREAK DOWN THE FIGURES ACCORDING TO THE RESPONSIBLE ORGANIZATION. (EMBASSY: ARE KILLINGS BY GUERRILLAS INCLUDED IN THESE NUMBERS? WHY THE LARGE DISCREPANCY BETWEEN THE OMBUDSMAN AND THE ARCHBISHOP'S HRO?)

11. THE SECURITY FORCES AND PERSONS ASSOCIATED WITH OR PROTECTED BY THE ARMY, SUCH AS THE CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS OR MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, COMMITTED A NUMBER OF THESE KILLINGS, MOST OF WHICH TOOK PLACE IN AREAS OF GUERRILLA CONFLICT. THE OMBUDSMAN, THE ATTORNEY GENERAL, AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS HAVE FOUND EVIDENCE OF KILLINGS BY PAC'S. PAC LEADERS ARE FEARED IN MANY RURAL COMMUNITIES. THEY ENJOY ARMY BACKING AND OFTEN DE FACTO IMMUNITY FROM PROSECUTION. LIKEWISE, MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY FORCES ARE RARELY HELD ACCOUNTABLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS.

12. CIVIL PATROLS CONTINUED TO BE ESPECIALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR KILLING HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS. PAC'S THREATENED AND KILLED MEMBERS OF THE RUMUJEL JUNAM COUNCIL OF ETHNIC COMMUNITIES (CERJ), A RURAL-BASED HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION DEDICATED MAINLY TO OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY SERVICE IN PAC'S. TOMAS LARA CIPRIANO, A CERJ AND UNITED

PEASANTS COMMITTEE (CUC) MEMBER IN JOYABAJ WAS KILLED APRIL 30 BY PAC MEMBERS, ACCORDING TO FAMILY MEMBERS AND WITNESSES.

13. TEN PERSONS, FROM TWO SEPARATE FAMILIES, TOOK REFUGE IN THE SANTA CRUZ DEL QUICHE CERJ OFFICE ON JUNE 10 AFTER BEING THREATENED WITH DEATH FOR NOT PARTICIPATING IN THE PAC'S AND FOR BEING CERJ MEMBERS. CHARGES AGAINST CERJ LEADER ANILCAR MENDEZ FOR ALLEGEDLY PROVIDING EXPLOSIVES TO GUERRILLAS IN OCTOBER 1992 WERE DROPPED IN MARCH. CAPTAIN ANIBAL ROBERTO LANDAVERI, COMMANDER OF THE CHIUL, QUICHE STOCKADE, WAS ARRESTED IN MAY FOR HAVING THREE CERJ MEMBERS BEATEN ON HIS BASE. HE WAS DISMISSED FROM THE ARMY AND TRIED FOR ILLEGAL DETENTION, ABUSE OF AUTHORITY, COERCION AND CAUSING INJURIES. (EMBASSY: ANY RESULTS OF THE TRIAL?)

14. ON AUGUST 3, HUEHUETENANGO PAC MEMBERS FIRED ON MARCHERS DEMANDING THE DISSOLUTION OF THE CIVIL PATROLS, KILLING JUAN CHONAY PABLO AND WOUNDING TWO OTHERS. WITNESSES REPORT HAVING SUBSEQUENTLY RECEIVED THREATS FROM PAC MEMBERS. PAC LEADER EFRAIN DOMINGO MORALES, FROM THE TOWN OF XEMAL IN THE SAME AREA, WAS MURDERED BY UNKNOWN PERSONS IN MID-SEPTEMBER. TWO CAMPESINOS FROM XEMAL, COLOTENANGO IN HUEHUETENANGO WERE KILLED SEPTEMBER 26. A SURVIVING FAMILY MEMBER CLAIMING BY PAC MEMBERS.

15. SECURITY FORCES WERE ALSO INVOLVED IN VIGILANTE KILLINGS OF CRIMINAL SUSPECTS. ON AUGUST 18, AN APPEALS COURT SENTENCED TWENTY-TWO FORMER POLICE OFFICERS, WHO FORMED PART OF A "HUNAPU" PATROL, TO 30 YEARS IN PRISON

FOR THE APRIL 10, 1992 DEATH OF UNIVERSITY STUDENT JULIO RIGOBERTO CU QUEN AND FOR INJURING SIX OTHER STUDENTS. EARLIER, ON JULY 22, SEVEN PNA MEMBERS OF THE SAME PATROL WERE SENTENCED TO 14 YEARS (4 COMMUTABLE) FOR THE DEATH.

16. FORMER CORPORAL NICOLAS GUTIERREZ CRUZ, CONVICTED IN THE JANUARY 15, 1991 KILLING OF FOUR PERSONS IN "CUIDAD PERONIA," EXHAUSTED HIS LEGAL APPEALS WHEN THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT RULED JULY 23 AGAINST HIS REQUEST TO VOID THE DEATH SENTENCE AGAINST HIM. PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO COMMUTTED HIS SENTENCE TO THIRTY YEARS IN EARLY OCTOBER. A FELLOW EX-SOLIDIER CONVICTED IN THE KILLINGS ESCAPED ON MAY 9, 1992; ON MAY 17, 1993 AN APPELLATE COURT SENTENCED AN ARMY ENLISTED MAN TO TWO YEARS IN PRISON FOR NEGLIGENCE IN ALLOWING THE ESCAPE. ON MARCH 19, THEN-HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN DE LEON ACCUSED ARMY TROOPS OF THE AUGUST 31, 1992 KIDNAPING, TORTURE AND MURDER OF HUEHUETENANGO PEASANT LUCAS PEREZ TADEO. ALTHOUGH THE ARMY PROMISED A FULL INVESTIGATION, NO RESULTS WERE REPORTED BY YEAR END.

17. ON MAY 1, CIVIL PATROL MEMBERS IN JOCOPILAS SURROUNDED A HOUSE AND KILLED 11 INHABITANTS (INCLUDING AN UNBORN CHILD). MANY OF THE 11 WERE KNOWN AS CRIMINALS IN THE COMMUNITY AND, THE DAY OF THEIR DEATHS, ARE SAID TO HAVE ROBBED ONE FAMILY AND RAPED THREE WOMEN. POLICE ARRIVED PRIOR TO THE KILLINGS, BUT LEFT AFTER BEING INTIMIDATED BY THE PAC. ON APPEAL OF AN EARLIER ACQUITTAL, QUICHE PAC CHIEFS MANUEL PEREBAL AJTZALAM AND MANUEL LEON LARES WERE SENTENCED TO THIRTY YEARS IN PRISON FOR THE FEBRUARY 17, 1991 KILLING OF JUAN PEREBAL

XIRUM AND HIS SON, AND THE INJURING OF ANOTHER SON. THOSE ATTACKED HAD TESTIFIED AGAINST PEREBAL IN THE CASE OF SEBASTIAN VELASQUEZ MEJIA, A COMMUNITY LEADER OPPOSED TO THE PAC'S WHO WAS KIDNAPED AND LATER FOUND DEAD.

18. PERSONS ASSOCIATED WITH THE SECURITY FORCES WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLING OF CHILDREN, ACCORDING TO THE CASA ALIANZA, A LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP DEDICATED TO STREET CHILDREN. IT REPORTED THAT STREET CHILDREN HENRY YUBANI ALVAREZ AND FRANCISCO TZIAC WERE SHOT IN DOWNTOWN GUATEMALA CITY ON APRIL 17 AND 22. CASA ALIANZA BELIEVES THAT A PRIVATE SECURITY GUARD KILLED ALVAREZ AND OFF-DUTY MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WOUNDED TZIAC, BOTH SHOT POSSIBLY DUE TO PETTY THIEVERY. ON MAY 11, A CONGRESSIONAL BODYGUARD SHOT A STUDENT PROTESTING AT CONGRESS. HE DIED A DAY LATER; THE BODYGUARD WHO ALLEGEDLY FIRED THE SHOT REMAINS A FUGITIVE.

19. THERE WAS SOME PROGRESS IN CERTAIN PAST HIGH-PROFILE CASES. FORMER GOVERNMENT SECURITY AGENT NOEL DE JESUS BETETA ALVAREZ WAS SENTENCED IN FEBRUARY TO 30 YEARS FOR THE 1990 MURDER OF GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK

CHANG AND THE UNRELATED BEATING OF A MINOR. THE CONVICTION IS NOW BEING APPEALED, WITH PLAINTIFF HELEN MACK ALSO SEEKING PROSECUTION OF THE ALLEGED MILITARY "INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS" OF THE CRIME. ON SEPTEMBER 1, MYRNA MACK'S WORKPLACE WAS BROKEN INTO AND DEATH THREATS LEFT AGAINST HELEN MACK. ON SEPTEMBER 23, BETETA BRIEFLY ESCAPED FROM JAIL, BUT WAS RECAPTURED FIVE HOURS LATER AND CHARGED FOR THE ESCAPE.

20. ON MAY 11, AN APPELLATE COURT SENTENCED CAPT. HUGO CONTRERAS TO 20 YEARS FOR PLANNING THE 1990 KIDNAPING THAT LED TO THE DEATH OF U.S. CITIZEN MICHAEL DEVINE AND CONFIRMED THE 30 YEAR SENTENCES FOR SIX ENLISTED MEN. AFTER HEARING OF THE VERDICT, HOWEVER, CONTRERAS ESCAPED FROM MILITARY CUSTODY AND REMAINS AT LARGE. WHILE HIS ESCAPE SUGGESTED COMPLICITY OF THE MILITARY, THE ONLY PUNISHMENT WAS A 2 YEAR SUSPENDED SENTENCE GIVEN TO AN ENLISTED MAN FOR NOT BEING AT HIS POST WHEN CONTRERAS ESCAPED. SENIOR OFFICERS INVOLVED IN COVERING UP THE CASE HAVE NOT BEEN BROUGHT TO TRIAL. (EMBASSY: PLEASE UPDATE RE. THE CONVICTED DEVINE KILLERS WHO SAID THEY HAD INFORMATION ON INVOLVEMENT BY HIGHER-UPS.)

21. THERE WAS NO PROGRESS IN RESOLVING NUMEROUS OTHER CASES OF PAST EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, INCLUDING THE 1988 "WHITE VAN" CASE, THE 1989 DISAPPEARANCES AND MURDERS OF UNIVERSITY STUDENTS, THE 1990 HECTOR OQUELI COLINDRES AND GILDA FLORES KILLINGS, THE 1990 DISAPPEARANCE OF MARIA TIU TOJIN AND HER DAUGHTER, THE 1991 MURDER OF POLICE DETECTIVE JOSE LUIS MERIDA ESCOBAR, THE 1991 DISAPPEARANCE OF DIEGO DOMINGO MARTIN, OR PAST KIDNAPINGS AND MURDERS OF VARIOUS CERJ MEMBERS. ON MAY 5, AN APPEALS COURT UPHELD A LOWER COURT DECISION IN DISMISSING CHARGES AGAINST SIX MILITARY DEFENDANTS FOR THE 1991 "TRAILEROS" KILLINGS IN TAXISCO. THE DECISION HAS BEEN APPEALED. THE GOVERNMENT'S FREQUENT INABILITY TO CONTROL OR SANCTION THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS OFFENSES IS A MAJOR IMPEDIMENT TO HUMAN RIGHTS PROGRESS.

22. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE LISTED 34 CASES OF FORCED DISAPPEARANCES UP TO MID-AUGUST 1993. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED 16 FORCED DISAPPEARANCES FOR THE FIRST 6 MONTHS OF 1993, AS COMPARED TO 11 IN ALL OF 1992. FOUR OF THE 16 CASES WERE PRESUMED POLITICAL IN NATURE, WITH THE OTHER 12 UNDER INVESTIGATION. REPORTS LINKED MANY POLITICAL DISAPPEARANCES TO PERSONS CONNECTED WITH THE ARMED FORCES. THE GOVERNMENT DID NOT IDENTIFY OR PROSECUTE THE PERPETRATORS OF ANY OF THE ABOVE DISAPPEARANCES.

23. IN AUGUST 1993, THE WIFE OF GUERRILLA EFRAIN BAMACA CLAIMED HE WAS BEING HELD IN A CLANDESTINE PRISON AFTER RESULTS OF AN EXHUMATION OF HIS SUPPOSED GRAVE PROVED NEGATIVE. THE ARMY ADMITS TO HOUSING FORMER GUERRILLAS WHO COOPERATE WITH THE ARMED FORCES ON MILITARY BASES. ONE OF THESE EX-GUERRILLAS, ANGEL OSORIO, WAS KILLED AUGUST 19 BY ACTIVE URNG MEMBERS AFTER LEAVING A QUICHE MILITARY BASE TO VISIT HIS FAMILY AND BEING STOPPED AT A GUERRILLA ROADBLOCK.

24. GUERRILLA FORCES KIDNAPED SAN MARCOS PAC MEMBERS MARGARITO LOPEZ AND OBDULIO ZAPETA ON AUGUST 7 AND DIEGO CHEL MATOM, AN ARMY ENLISTED MAN RIDING AN INTER-URBAN BUS IN QUICHE, THREE DAYS LATER. THEIR WHEREABOUTS ARE UNKNOWN. (EMBASSY: PLEASE UPDATE.)

C. TORTURE AND OTHER CRUEL, INHUMAN, OR DEGRADING TREATMENT OR PUNISHMENT

25. ALTHOUGH THE CONSTITUTION PROHIBITS THE USE OF TORTURE (EMBASSY: IS THIS CORRECT?), THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE LISTED TWO CASES OF TORTURE IN THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1993. BOTH CASES LISTED BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE INVOLVED THE KIDNAPING AND BEATING UNTIL UNCONSCIOUS OF THE VICTIMS. IN ONE CASE, A MALE STUDENT WAS PICKED UP BY THREE UNIDENTIFIED MEN ON MARCH 27, BEATEN UNCONSCIOUS, HELD FOR THREE DAYS AND ASKED ABOUT STUDENT LEADERS. THE OTHER CASE OCCURRED IN APRIL. THE FEMALE VICTIM ALSO BEATEN UNCONSCIOUS BUT APPARENTLY NOT ASKED ANY QUESTIONS. (EMBASSY: WHO DO YOU THINK COMMITTED THESE ABUSES? POLICE, MILITARY, OTHERS? PLEASE CITE SUPPORTING EXAMPLES OF OTHER INSTANCES OF TORTURE, BEATINGS, ETC.)

26. THERE WERE OTHER CREDIBLE REPORTS OF MISTREATMENT BY SECURITY FORCES, INCLUDING USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE BY POLICE AT THE TIME OF ARREST AND OF ABUSIVE TREATMENT OF PERSONS IN RURAL AREAS BY THE ARMY, CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS, MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, AND POLICE. THE GOVERNMENT FAILED TO INVESTIGATE OR TAKE ANY OTHER ACTION IN RESPONSE TO SUCH REPORTS. OCCASIONALLY CASES OF RAPE TRACED TO INDIVIDUAL SOLDIERS WERE REPORTED, ALTHOUGH WITHOUT ANY ACTION BEING TAKEN.

27. CASA ALIANZA, AN ORGANIZATION DEDICATED TO PROTECTING THE HUMAN RIGHTS OF STREET CHILDREN, REPORTED IN MARCH THAT STREET CHILD JULIO CESAR REYES WAS PICKED UP BY TWO PERSONS HE RECOGNIZED AS POLICEMEN AND BURNED ON HIS ARM 29 TIMES BY A CIGARETTE. REYES CLAIMS TO HAVE RECOGNIZED THE TWO AS POLICE OFFICERS. ON MAY 23, A

STREET CHILD REPORTED HAVING ACID THROWN AT HIM BY THE POLICE. (EMBASSY: WHY WEREN'T THESE INCLUDED IN THE CITATIONS BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE?) THERE WERE NUMEROUS OTHER REPORTS OF POLICEMEN BEATING OR ILLEGALLY DETAINING STREET CHILDREN; THE AUTHORITIES TOOK NO ACTION IN ANY OF THESE INSTANCES.

D. ARBITRARY ARREST, DETENTION, OR EXILE

28. DESPITE LEGAL SAFEGUARDS, THERE WERE FREQUENT CREDIBLE REPORTS OF ARBITRARY ARREST, INCOMMUNICADO DETENTION BY SECURITY FORCES AND FAILURE TO ADHERE TO THE PRESCRIBED TIME LIMITS. A COURT-ISSUED ARREST WARRANT IS REQUIRED UNLESS A PERSON IS CAUGHT IN THE ACT OF COMMITTING A CRIME. POLICE MAY NOT DETAIN A SUSPECT FOR OVER 6 HOURS WITHOUT BRINGING HIM BEFORE A JUDGE. THE LAW PROVIDES FOR BAIL, ACCESS TO LAWYERS, AND LIMITS TO 20 DAYS THE TIME ANYONE MAY BE HELD, AFTER WHICH HE MUST BE CHARGED OR FREED. AUTHORITIES MUST PRODUCE DETAINEES ON COURT REQUEST.

29. SOME PERSONS DETAINED ILLEGALLY AND RELEASED SUBSEQUENTLY REPORTED HAVING BEEN HELD AT SAFE HOUSES ALLEGEDLY OPERATED BY SECURITY FORCES. THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR ILLEGAL DETENTIONS ROUTINELY IGNORE WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE ALSO CHARGED THAT PRISONERS ARE SOMETIMES NOT RELEASED IN A TIMELY FASHION AFTER FINISHING THEIR SENTENCE DUE TO THE FAILURE OF JUDGES TO ISSUE THE NECESSARY COURT ORDER.

30. INVESTIGATIONS DURING THE SERRANO PRESIDENCY INTO

THE ACTIVITIES OF FORMER IZABAL DEPARTMENT GOVERNOR LILIAN VASQUEZ DE GUZMAN AND ALLEGED CORRUPTION BY FORMER

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
ARA/NEA REARCS

HEALTH MINISTER MIGUEL MONTEPEQUE APPEARED POLITICALLY MOTIVATED. MONTEPEQUE WAS SUBSEQUENTLY CLEARED OF CHARGES; VASQUEZ DE GUZMAN WENT INTO SELF-IMPOSED TEMPORARY EXILE IN MID-FEBRUARY. THE PROBLEM OF POLITICALLY MOTIVATED INVESTIGATIONS WAS GREATLY LESSENED SINCE THE ACCESSION OF DE LEON CARPIO TO THE PRESIDENCY.

31. EXILE IS PROHIBITED UNDER THE CONSTITUTION AND IS NOT PRACTICED.

E. DENIAL OF FAIR PUBLIC TRIAL

32. THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM IS INEFFECTIVE AND OFTEN UNABLE TO ASSURE A FAIR TRIAL (SEE BELOW). THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR AN INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY COMPOSED OF A COURT OF CONSTITUTIONALITY, A SUPREME COURT, APPEALS COURTS, AND SEVERAL COURTS OF SPECIAL JURISDICTION, SUCH AS LABOR COURTS. HOWEVER, MILITARY COURTS HAVE JURISDICTION OVER MILITARY PERSONNEL, INCLUDING MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WHO COMMIT CRIMES WHILE ON OFFICIAL BUSINESS, THUS LIMITING THE ABILITY OF CIVIL COURTS TO PROSECUTE PERSONS UNDER MILITARY CONTROL IN HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE CASES. PAC MEMBERS ARE CIVILIANS AND NOT UNDER MILITARY JURISDICTION.

33. CIVILIAN TRIALS ARE PUBLIC AFTER THE FIRST 15 DAYS, DEDICATED TO AN INITIAL INVESTIGATIVE PHASE THAT IS CLOSED TO THE PUBLIC; DEFENDANTS HAVE THE RIGHT TO BE PRESENT AT TRIALS AND TO LEGAL REPRESENTATION. AN APPEALS COURT AUTOMATICALLY REVIEWS CONVICTIONS. THE

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE IS BEING CHANGED TO INTRODUCE ORAL PROCEEDINGS (IN BOTH SPANISH AND INDIGENOUS LANGUAGES) OPEN TO THE PUBLIC AND TO SET UP A VIABLE PUBLIC DEFENDER PROGRAM. (EMBASSY: HAVE THESE CHANGES ACTUALLY TAKEN PLACE?)

34. MOST HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS ARE NOT INVESTIGATED; SECURITY FORCE PERSONNEL ARE RELUCTANT TO INVESTIGATE CASES INVOLVING COLLEAGUES. POLICE ARE ALSO RELATIVELY FEW IN NUMBER AND LACK NEEDED RESOURCES AND TRAINING. JUDGES ARE SUSCEPTIBLE TO INTIMIDATION AND CORRUPTION AND SUFFER LOW PAY, BAD WORKING CONDITIONS AND LOW MORALE. THE SUPREME COURT AND SOME LOWER COURT JUDGES CAME UNDER PUBLIC PRESSURE TO RESIGN FOR CORRUPTION AND POLITICIZATION OF THE LEGAL SYSTEM.

35. SOME JUDGES SUCCEEDED IN BEING EXCUSED FROM HEARING PROMINENT CASES AFTER ALLEGING DEATH THREATS. A TOTAL OF 12 DIFFERENT JUDGES WERE EXCUSED FROM THE MYRNA MACK CHANG CASE, FOR EXAMPLE. THE APPEALS COURT JUDGES WHO HEARD THE MACK, DEVINE AND "TRAILEROS" CASES REPORT HAVING RECEIVED THREATS IN 1993. IN ADDITION, OFFICIALS FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S AND HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICES HAVE RECEIVED THREATS.

36. CHARGES CONTINUE TO BE PUBLICLY MADE THAT THE SUPREME COURT PRESSURES LOWER COURT JUDGES TO DECIDE CASES IN LINE WITH ITS WISHES. IN JANUARY, THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT RULED THAT THE SUPREME COURT PRACTICE OF ARBITRARILY TRANSFERRING JUSTICES WAS UNCONSTITUTIONAL, LIMITING ONE MEANS OF INTERFERING IN

LOWER COURT CASES.

37. THERE ARE NO KNOWN POLITICAL PRISONERS.

F. ARBITRARY INTERFERENCE WITH PRIVACY, FAMILY, HOME, OR CORRESPONDENCE

38. THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR THE INVIOLABILITY OF

STATE 379287 1721122 818261 S824788

HOME, CORRESPONDENCE AND PRIVATE DOCUMENTS, BUT THESE PROVISIONS ARE NOT ALWAYS RESPECTED. ELEMENTS OF THE SECURITY FORCES CONTINUE TO MONITOR PRIVATE COMMUNICATIONS. MANY HUMAN RIGHTS MONITORS REPORTED RECEIVING THREATS IN THE FORM OF SURVEILLANCE, TELEPHONE CALLS, AND ANONYMOUS LETTERS.

39. ON MARCH 26, THE GUATEMALAN POSTAL WORKERS UNION AND THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN EXPOSED A SECRET GOVERNMENT MAIL INTERCEPTION UNIT LOCATED AT THE CENTRAL POST OFFICE. THE OMBUDSMAN ATTRIBUTED RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE LETTER-OPENING OPERATION TO THE MILITARY INTELLIGENCE UNIT KNOWN AS "ARCHIVOS," WHICH WAS LATER DISBANDED.

40. OFFICIALS ENFORCING THE MILITARY DRAFT CONTINUED TO ENTER HOMES AND PLACES OF BUSINESS WITHOUT LEGALLY REQUIRED COURT ORDERS. THE ARMY ATTEMPTED TO CURB SUCH ABUSES IN QUICHE BY SETTING UP A DRAFT BOARD CONSISTING OF THE ZONE MILITARY COMMANDER, THE LOCAL REPRESENTATIVE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, AND OTHER CIVILIAN LEADERS. UNDER RECRUITMENT PRACTICES ALSO ADOPTED IN OTHER DEPARTMENTS, POTENTIAL DRAFTEES RECEIVE THREE INDUCTION NOTICES, AFTER WHICH THEY ARE ARRESTED IF

THEY DO NOT REPORT FOR ENLISTMENT. UNDER GUATEMALAN LAW, SUCH ARRESTS MUST BE EFFECTED PURSUANT TO A COURT ORDER.

41. CREDIBLE REPORTS OF FORCED RECRUITMENT CONTINUED, HOWEVER, PARTICULARLY IN LATE JANUARY. ON JULY 27, IN WHAT WAS SAID TO BE THE FIRST CASE OF ITS KIND OUTSIDE A CITY, JALAPA PEASANT JUAN ENGEL MORALES LIMA FILED SUIT CLAIMING HE WAS A VICTIM OF FORCED RECRUITMENT. IN SEPTEMBER, ALVARO ENRIQUE MADRID MATTA WAS RELEASED FROM THE ARMY DUE TO HIS BEING A MINOR AFTER THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN FILED SUIT SEPTEMBER 14 CLAIMING MADRID HAD BEEN FORCIBLY RECRUITED IN AUGUST.

42. THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRES THAT PAC SERVICE BE VOLUNTARY. HOWEVER, ARMY OFFICERS, MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, AND PAC LEADERS OFTEN PRESSURE MEN IN AREAS OF CONFLICT TO BECOME PAC MEMBERS. THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT SOME WHO REFUSED TO SERVE WERE KILLED OR SUFFERED OTHER ABUSES.

G. USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN INTERNAL CONFLICTS

43. GUATEMALA'S ARMED INTERNAL CONFLICT ENTERED ITS 33RD YEAR IN 1993 AND CONTINUED TO BE A MAJOR CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS BY BOTH GOVERNMENT AND GUERRILLA FORCES. AFTER A PROMISING FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR, PEACE TALKS COLLAPSED IN EARLY MAY. HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES AND THE TIMING OF A PROPOSED CEASE-FIRE WERE PRIMARY AREAS OF DISAGREEMENT. THE DE LEON CARPIO GOVERNMENT SOUGHT TO RENEW THE PEACE TALKS UNDER A FORMAT ALLOWING GREATER

PARTICIPATION BY OTHER GROUPS IN GUATEMALAN SOCIETY. (EMBASSY: PLEASE UPDATE AS APPROPRIATE.)

44. COMMUNITIES OF PEOPLE IN RESISTANCE (CPR) CLAIMED ARMY HARASSMENT THROUGHOUT THE YEAR, INCLUDING LATE EVENING HELICOPTER OVERFLIGHTS AND RESTRICTION OF COMMERCE. ON FEBRUARY 27, EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE SECRETARY BISHOP RAMAZZINI ANNOUNCED THAT SOME 500 GUATEMALANS HAD FLED TO MEXICO TO AVOID ARMY OPERATIONS IN CUARTO PUEBLO, QUICHE. THEY LATER RETURNED. ON AUGUST 23, TWO FORMER PAC MEMBERS STATED THAT PAC LEADERS AND A MILITARY OFFICER HAD FORCED THEM EARLIER IN THE YEAR TO HARASS A CPR (EMBASSY: MEMBER? GROUP? DEMONSTRATION? OR WHAT?). IN SEPTEMBER PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO MET WITH A

CPR DELEGATION TO DISCUSS THEIR COMPLAINTS.

45. BOMBINGS CONDUCTED BY UNKNOWN PERPETRATORS CONTINUED, WITH TARGETS INCLUDING SERRANO'S SOLIDARITY ACTION MOVEMENT PARTY HEADQUARTERS AND THE HEADQUARTERS OF THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY. FOUR BANKS WERE ALSO BOMBED AND NUMEROUS COUNTRYSIDE ELECTRICAL TOWERS WERE BLOWN UP IN JANUARY AND FEBRUARY. FURTHER BOMBINGS OCCURRED IN SEPTEMBER, APPARENTLY TIED TO A POLITICAL STRUGGLE INVOLVING EFFORTS TO REMOVE ALLEGED CORRUPT CONGRESSMEN AND SUPREME COURT OFFICIALS FROM OFFICE. COMMERCIAL INSTITUTIONS, CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY HEADQUARTERS, THE GUATEMALAN JURISTS ASSOCIATION AND THE OFFICES OF GAM, A HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP ACTIVE IN THE REMOVAL EFFORT, WERE TARGETS. SHOTS ALSO WERE FIRED NEAR GAM LEADER MINETH MONTENEGRO DE GARCIA'S HOME ON SEPTEMBER 11; SOME CONGRESSIONAL DEPUTIES AND THE SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT ALSO REPORTED DEATH THREATS. NO ONE WAS APPREHENDED FOR THESE ATTACKS AND THREATS.

46. (EMBASSY: PLEASE PROVIDE A FEW OTHER BRIEF EXAMPLES OF ABUSES BY GOVERNMENT FORCES. MOST OF THE EXAMPLES IN THIS SECTION APPEAR TO BE BY GUERRILLA GROUPS.)

47. GUERRILLA FORCES CONTINUED TO RECRUIT CHILDREN INTO THEIR RANKS. GOVERNMENT TROOPS FOUND A 10-YEAR-OLD CHILD GUERRILLA AFTER A MARCH 9 ARMED ENGAGEMENT NEAR RAXHUJA, ALTA VERAPAZ. WOUNDED, THE CHILD WAS EVACUATED TO A GUATEMALA CITY MILITARY HOSPITAL. IN ANOTHER CASE, ON JUNE 17, THIRTEEN YEAR-OLD MARIO IXCAL WAS CAPTURED NEAR LA LIBERTAD, PETEN AFTER BEING WOUNDED IN A ARMY-GUERRILLA CLASH. TREATED AND RELEASED TO THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, IXCAL SAID HIS URNG UNIT CONTAINED TWO OTHER YOUNG BOYS. DOCUMENTED CASES OF CIVILIANS BEING INJURED BY GUERRILLA MINES ALSO OCCURRED IN 1993.

SECTION 2 RESPECT FOR CIVIL LIBERTIES, INCLUDING:

A. FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS

48. THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION. HOWEVER, RADIO AND TELEVISION STATION OWNERS CHARGE THAT LICENSING AND RENEWAL PROCEDURES HAVE BEEN USED TO THREATEN STATIONS CRITICAL OF THE GOVERNMENT, SECURITY FORCES, OR POWERFUL INDIVIDUALS. UNDER SERRANO, NEWSPAPERS ALSO COMPLAINED ABOUT GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE, ESPECIALLY REGARDING EFFORTS TO SILENCE CRITICISM OF THE PRESIDENT, HIS FAMILY, AND ALLEGED WRONGDOING BY SECURITY

FORCES.

49. NO JOURNALISTS OR MEDIA FIGURES DISAPPEARED OR WERE KILLED IN 1993, BUT SEVERAL REPORTED RECEIVING DEATH THREATS AND WERE INCLUDED ON A 24-PERSON "DEATH LIST" THAT APPEARED IN LATE MARCH AND A SEPARATE LIST THAT APPEARED IN EARLY OCTOBER. ON FEBRUARY 4, A SHOT WAS FIRED AT THE FATHER OF SIGLO XXI COLUMNIST AND FREQUENT CRITIC OF THEN-PRESIDENT SERRANO, MARTA ALTOALGUIRRE. CREDIBLE REPORTS OF THREATS AGAINST TWO FOREIGN JOURNALISTS ALSO OCCURRED IN THE FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR. IN ADDITION, CRONICA MAGAZINE RECEIVED THREATS AFTER PUBLISHING A FEBRUARY STORY CRITICAL OF SERRANO. THE FORMER PRESIDENT WAS BLAMED BY MANY JOURNALISTS FOR MAKING NEGATIVE COMMENTS ABOUT THE PRESS AND, IN THAT WAY, "LEGITIMIZING" ATTACKS AGAINST THEM.

50. NEWSPAPERS, MAGAZINES, RADIO AND TV STATIONS WERE SUBJECTED TO CENSORSHIP WHEN PRESIDENT SERRANO ANNOUNCED HIS MAY 25 EXTRA CONSTITUTIONAL ACTIONS. RADIO AND

TELEVISION STATIONS ALSO WERE FORCED TO BROADCAST STANDARDIZED GOVERNMENT PROGRAMMING FOR EXTENDED PERIODS. SECURITY FORCES SEIZED SEVERAL THOUSAND COPIES OF THE CRONICA MAGAZINE ISSUE REPORTING SERRANO'S ACTIONS, WHICH WERE FOUND BURNED BY A ROADSIDE IN LATE JULY. A NUMBER OF JOURNALISTS REFUSED TO COOPERATE WITH AUTHORITIES DURING THE COUP; THEY WERE NOT HARMED AS CENSORSHIP QUICKLY BROKE DOWN AND A FREE PRESS RETURNED AFTER SERRANO'S FALL.

51. PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO'S ADMINISTRATION OPENLY

SUPPORTED PRESS FREEDOM, BUT INCIDENTS OF INDIVIDUAL CASES OF POLICE HARASSMENT OF JOURNALISTS CONTINUED. ON AUGUST 6, POLICE THREATENED TWO JOURNALISTS COVERING A STUDENT DISTURBANCE. THE NEW POLICE DIRECTOR DISCIPLINED THE THREE OFFICERS AND ONE IS CURRENTLY AWAITING TRIAL. (EMBASSY: ON WHAT CHARGES?) THE PRESIDENT'S OPEN ATTITUDE NOTWITHSTANDING, THE PRESS CONTINUED TO RECEIVE SOME THREATS. ALTHOUGH PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO ORDERED AN INVESTIGATION, NO ONE WAS CHARGED IN THE AUGUST 1 FIRING OF SHOTS AT THE DAILY SIGLO XXI. IN MID-AUGUST, A TV JOURNALIST WHO INTERVIEWED TWO URNG COMANDANTES RECEIVED THREATS. (EMBASSY: PLEASE UPDATE AS APPROPRIATE.)

52. DESPITE HARASSMENT, THE NEWS MEDIA REPORTED ALL MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS STORIES AND PUBLICIZED COMMUNIQUES FROM THE URNG, LEFTIST GROUPS, AND OTHERS OPPOSED TO THE GOVERNMENT OR ITS POLICIES. BOTH MAJOR PRESS ASSOCIATIONS DENOUNCED INCIDENTS RESTRICTING FREEDOM OF THE PRESS AND VOWED TO CONTINUE COVERAGE OF SENSITIVE TOPICS. JOURNALISTS ADMIT, HOWEVER, THAT SELF-CENSORSHIP STEMMING FROM FEAR OF REPRISAL CONTINUES TO IMPEDE FULL INVESTIGATIVE REPORTING ON A VARIETY OF TOPICS, INCLUDING ALLEGED GOVERNMENT HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, CORRUPTION OF GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND INFLUENTIAL POLITICIANS, ASPECTS OF NARCOTRAFFICKING, AND ISSUES AFFECTING THE ECONOMIC INTERESTS OF POWERFUL INDIVIDUALS.

B. FREEDOM OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION

53. THE CONSTITUTION GUARANTEES THE RIGHTS OF PEACEFUL

ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION, BUT AUTHORITIES BANNED RALLIES AND SECURITY FORCES BROKE UP A DEMONSTRATION FOLLOWING SERRANO'S MAY 25 COUP. PRIOR TO THE COUP, THERE WAS A PLETHORA OF DEMONSTRATIONS, SOME INVOLVING VIOLENCE BETWEEN POLICE AND MARCHERS. SOME DEMONSTRATORS ALSO CLAIMED LATER HARASSMENT BY SECURITY FORCES DUE TO THEIR MARCH PARTICIPATION. STREET DEMONSTRATIONS WERE A FACTOR IN FOCUSING PUBLIC DISAPPROVAL OF HIS ACTIONS. WITH SERRANO'S EXIT FROM OFFICE, CONSTITUTIONAL GUARANTEES OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION WERE RESTORED.

54. FREEDOM OF POLITICAL ASSOCIATION IS GUARANTEED UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, ALTHOUGH ORGANIZATIONS NOMINALLY REQUIRE LEGAL STATUS, A CUMBERSOME AND EXPENSIVE PROCEDURE.

C. FREEDOM OF RELIGION

55. NO STATE RELIGION EXISTS. RELIGIOUS FREEDOM IS CONSTITUTIONALLY GUARANTEED AND IS RESPECTED IN PRACTICE. RELIGIOUS PERSONNEL ARE SOMETIMES THREATENED FOR POLITICAL REASONS. ABOUT 78 PER CENT OF THE POPULATION IS NOMINALLY CATHOLIC, BUT MANY OTHER FAITHS OPERATE FREELY, ESPECIALLY EVANGELICAL PROTESTANTISM.

D. FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT WITHIN THE COUNTRY,

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
ARA/NEA REARCS

FOREIGN TRAVEL, EMIGRATION, AND REPATRIATION

56. THE GOVERNMENT DOES NOT RESTRICT FOREIGN TRAVEL, NOR DOES IT REVOKE CITIZENSHIP FOR POLITICAL REASONS. MOVEMENT INSIDE GUATEMALA WAS UNRESTRICTED EXCEPT WHERE

THE ARMY AND PAC'S LIMITED TRAVEL IN SOME AREAS OF CONFLICT. GUERRILLAS CONTINUED TO ESTABLISH ROAD BLOCKS, ASSAULT PRIVATE CITIZENS TO DEMAND "WAR TAXES," ATTACK AND DRAIN PETROLEUM TRUCKS, AND LIMIT TRAVEL IN CERTAIN RURAL AREAS.

57. REPATRIATION OF REFUGEES CONTINUED. AN ESTIMATED 2,500 REFUGEES RETURNED TO GUATEMALA ON JANUARY 20 IN A LARGE CARAVAN OF BUSES, GOING TO THE CAPITAL FOR A PEACEFUL DEMONSTRATION PRIOR TO CONTINUING ON TO A RESETTLEMENT SITE NEAR THE MEXICAN BORDER IN QUICHE PROVINCE. BY THE END OF JUNE, A TOTAL OF 3,632 REFUGEES HAD RETURNED UNDER THE SPONSORSHIP OF INTERNATIONAL GROUPS AND THE GOVERNMENT'S COMMITTEE ON REFUGEE AFFAIRS. (EMBASSY: PLEASE UPDATE WITH THE DECEMBER REPATRIATION.)

58. ON AUGUST 25, A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE GUATEMALAN REFUGEE COMMUNITY IN MEXICO, JOAQUIN JIMENEZ BAUTISTA, WAS BEATEN BY A CROWD INCLUDING PAC MEMBERS IN TODOS SANTOS, HUEHUETENANGO. JIMENEZ HAD RETURNED TO GUATEMALA AUGUST 17 AS PART OF A REFUGEE GROUP SEARCHING FOR RESETTLEMENT SITES. ON THE DAY OF THE BEATING, HE HAD LEFT THE GROUP, RETURNING FOR A VISIT TO HIS FORMER VILLAGE. CROWD MEMBERS LATER FORMALLY CHARGED JIMENEZ WAS A KNOWN GUERRILLA, WHO PARTICIPATED IN MURDERS IN THE 1980'S. JIMENEZ WAS BRIEFLY DETAINED BY POLICE AFTER A MILITARY PATROL PREVENTED THE MOB FROM LYNCHING HIM. JIMENEZ WAS RELEASED BY ORDER OF THE MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT AND RETURNED TO MEXICO ON AUGUST 26.

SECTION 3 RESPECT FOR POLITICAL RIGHTS: THE RIGHT OF CITIZENS TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT

59. GUATEMALANS HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT BY PEACEFUL AND DEMOCRATIC MEANS. UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE BY SECRET BALLOT EXISTS FOR THOSE 18 YEARS OF AGE AND OLDER; THERE ARE NO PROPERTY OR LITERACY REQUIREMENTS, BUT MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES MAY NOT VOTE. THE LAST NATIONAL ELECTIONS, WHICH INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS FOUND FREE AND FAIR, WERE HELD IN JANUARY 1991.

60. FOLLOWING THE REMOVAL OF PRESIDENT SERRANO AND VICE PRESIDENT ESPINA, RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO WAS ELECTED PRESIDENT BY A CONGRESSIONAL VOTE AND SWORN-IN JUNE 6, AS PRESCRIBED BY THE CONSTITUTION. ARTURO HERBRUGER, WHO WAS HEAD OF GUATEMALA'S INDEPENDENT SUPREME ELECTORAL TRIBUNAL UNTIL RETIRING IN EARLY JUNE, WAS ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT BY CONGRESS ON JUNE 18.

61. SEVERAL WOMEN HOLD PROMINENT POLITICAL POSITIONS, INCLUDING CABINET POSTS. (EMBASSY: HOW MANY WOMEN ARE IN SENIOR LEADERSHIP POSITIONS IN POLITICAL PARTIES AND THE GOVERNMENT? WHAT IS THEIR PROPORTION IN THE LEGISLATURE? ARE THERE DE FACTO OR DE JURE IMPEDIMENTS TO THEIR PARTICIPATION? IF NOT, WHY ARE WOMEN SO GREATLY UNDERRREPRESENTED? SEE PARA 39, STATE 244189.)

62. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE ENJOY EQUAL RIGHTS UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, AND SOME HAVE ATTAINED POSITIONS AS CONGRESSMEN, ARMY OFFICERS (INCLUDING ONE GENERAL), GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, AND JUDGES. NEVERTHELESS,

PERVASIVE DISCRIMINATION (SEE SECTION 5) LIMITS OPPORTUNITIES FOR INDIGENOUS PEOPLE TO ASSUME PROMINENT ROLES IN GUATEMALAN POLITICS.

SECTION 4 GOVERNMENTAL ATTITUDE REGARDING INTERNATIONAL AND NONGOVERNMENTAL INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGED VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

63. LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS AND ORGANIZATIONS ARE PERMITTED TO OPERATE IN GUATEMALA, BUT MEMBERS SUFFERED THREATS AND VIOLENCE FROM SECURITY FORCES AND PAC'S (SEE BELOW). AS NOTED IN SECTION 1.A., MEMBERS OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION CERJ WERE KILLED AND THREATENED, AND CERJ'S GUATEMALA CITY OFFICE WAS BROKEN INTO ON MAY 8. CONAVIGUA, AN INDIGENOUS WIDOWS ORGANIZATION PROMINENT IN THE ADVOCACY OF WOMEN'S AND HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES, ALSO RECEIVED THREATS. PRIOR TO THE MID-YEAR CHANGE IN ADMINISTRATIONS, PRESIDENT SERRANO AND MEMBERS OF HIS CABINET CRITICIZED BOTH LOCAL AND INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS, ACCUSING THEM OF INTENTIONALLY DISTORTING GUATEMALA'S HUMAN RIGHTS RECORD FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES. HIGH-RANKING GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS WORKING IN THE FIELDS OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND JURISPRUDENCE COMPLAINED PUBLICLY AND PRIVATELY OF RECEIVING THREATS STEMMING FROM THEIR INTEREST IN RESOLVING CASES RELATED TO HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, OFFICIAL CORRUPTION, AND NARCOTRAFFICKING.

64. RELATIONS BETWEEN THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH AND THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE WERE TENSE AT TIMES IN THE FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR, THOUGH AFTER THE ELECTION OF DE LEON CARPIO AS PRESIDENT, MATTERS IMPROVED CONSIDERABLY. THE

OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE CONTINUED TO ENJOY WIDESPREAD PUBLIC SUPPORT AND RESPECT; CONGRESS ELECTED JORGE MARIO GARCIA LAGUARDIA HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN TO REPLACE DE LEON CARPIO. THE NEW GOVERNMENT MADE CLEAR ITS WILLINGNESS AND COMMITMENT TO RECEIVE INTERNATIONAL AND DOMESTIC HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS. SENIOR GUATEMALAN OFFICIALS MET NUMEROUS FOREIGN AND INTERNATIONAL OFFICIALS AND ACTIVISTS.

65. THE PEACE BRIGADES, AN INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS MONITORING ORGANIZATION, WAS UNABLE TO OBTAIN GOVERNMENT RECOGNITION DESPITE PERSISTENT EFFORTS. THE ABSENCE OF LEGAL STATUS DID NOT, HOWEVER, PREVENT PEACE BRIGADES OR OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS FROM OPERATING OPENLY.

66. ON JUNE 17, UNION ACTIVIST ELIZABETH RECINOS WAS KIDNAPPED ALONG WITH A COMPANION. THOUGH THE COMPANION WAS QUICKLY RELEASED, RECINOS WAS HELD FOR FOUR DAYS, DRUGGED AND BEATEN. PRESIDENT DE LEON CONDEMNED THE KIDNAPING AND THE POLICE CONDUCTED AN INVESTIGATION, THOUGH NO ARRESTS WERE MADE. THE POLICE INITIALLY LABELED THIS A "SELF-KIDNAPING," ALTHOUGH THERE WERE MORE CREDIBLE CLAIMS THAT THE ACTION WAS MEANT AS A THREAT TO UNIONS AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS. ON JULY 11, UNION OFFICIAL WALTER MANUEL NAJERA MOLINA WAS KIDNAPED AND INTERROGATED ABOUT UNION ACTIVITIES FOR THREE HOURS BY FOUR ARMED MEN, DURING WHICH TIME HE WAS BEATEN. DURING HIS QUESTIONING, NAJERA WAS ASKED ABOUT VARIOUS POLITICAL AND HUMAN RIGHTS LEADERS, WHOM HIS CAPTIVES LINKED TO THE GUERRILLAS.

67. ON SEPTEMBER 1, A MEMBER OF A GROUP ADVOCATING A PURGE OF ALLEGED CORRUPT CONGRESSIONAL AND SUPREME COURT OFFICIALS, OLGA MARINA RUANO CRUZ, WAS ABDUCTED AND BEATEN BEFORE BEING RELEASED A DAY LATER. (EMBASSY: ANY INDICATION OF THE PRESUMED PERPETRATORS?)

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
ARA/NEA REARCS

SECTION 5 DISCRIMINATION BASED ON RACE, SEX, RELIGION, DISABILITY, LANGUAGE, OR SOCIAL STATUS

68. WOMEN

769 DESPITE LEGAL PROTECTION, WOMEN FACE JOB DISCRIMINATION AND RECEIVE SIGNIFICANTLY LOWER PAY THAN MEN. THEY ARE PRIMARILY EMPLOYED IN LOW WAGE JOBS IN THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY, AGRICULTURE, RETAIL BUSINESS, AND THE PUBLIC SECTOR. (EMBASSY: ANY STATISTICS ON THIS?)

70. (EMBASSY: THE LAWYERS COMMITTEE ON HUMAN RIGHTS SAYS THAT WOMEN ARE LEGALLY INFERIOR IN A NUMBER OF ASPECTS; PLEASE ASSESS.)

73. IN RECENTLY SIGNING THE UNITED NATIONS CONVENTION ON THE RIGHTS OF THE CHILD, THE GOVERNMENT STATED ITS COMMITMENT TO CHILDREN'S HUMAN RIGHTS AND WELFARE (EMBASSY: IS THIS CORRECT? SEE PARA 58, STATE 244189), AND PLEDGED TO REVISE ITS LAWS IN LINE WITH THE CONVENTION. THE HUMAN RIGHTS ONBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, ALONG WITH A COMMISSION OF 25 GOVERNMENTAL AND NONGOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS, WAS REVISING THE CURRENT CODE, BUT AT YEAR END HAD NOT COMPLETED THE WORK. (EMBASSY: CORRECT? WE WILL NOT REPORT PROVISIONS OF THE NEW CODE UNTIL IT BECOMES LAW.)

74. THE ABUSE OF STREET CHILDREN (SECTION 1.C.) IS A SERIOUS PROBLEM IN MAJOR GUATEMALAN CITIES. ESTIMATES OF STREET CHILDREN IN ALL OF GUATEMALA RANGE BETWEEN 1,500 AND 5,000, WITH THE MAJORITY OF THESE YOUTHS CONCENTRATED IN GUATEMALA CITY. THESE CHILDREN ARE OFTEN RECRUITED INTO THIEVERY OR PROSTITUTION RINGS. THE GOVERNMENT AND A NUMBER OF NGO'S HAVE YOUTH CENTERS, BUT THE FUNDS DEVOTED TO THESE ARE INADEQUATE FOR THE PROBLEM. IN AUGUST, THE GOVERNMENT OPENED A SCHOOL IN SAN JOSE PINULA DEVOTED TO THE REHABILITATION OF STREET CHILDREN.

75. AN ACCORD BETWEEN CASA ALIANZA AND THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE WAS NOT RENEWED IN 1993 DUE TO PROBLEMS INVOLVING THE SUSPENSION OF THE THEN-ATTORNEY GENERAL. ON AUGUST 16, THE NEW CIVILIAN POLICE DIRECTOR MET WITH CASA ALIANZA AS ONE OF HIS FIRST PUBLIC ACTS AND

EXPRESSED HIS COMMITMENT TO THE RIGHTS OF STREET CHILDREN AND TO PUNISH POLICE OFFICERS AND OTHERS WHO ABUSE THEM. CASA ALIANZA ANNOUNCED AFTER THE VISIT THAT IT AND THE POLICE WILL COORDINATE PROGRAMS AGAINST STREET CHILDREN DRUG ADDICTION AND ABUSE.

76. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE, COMPRISING ONE-HALF OF THE POPULATION, REMAIN LARGELY OUTSIDE THE COUNTRY'S POLITICAL, ECONOMIC, SOCIAL, AND CULTURAL MAINSTREAM. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE SUFFERED MOST OF THE SERIOUS HUMAN

RIGHTS ABUSES DESCRIBED THROUGHOUT THIS REPORT. RURAL INDIGENOUS MEN WERE MORE LIKELY THAN URBAN COUNTERPARTS TO BE DRAFTED BY THE ARMY OR RECRUITED FORCIBLY BY GUERRILLA GROUPS. ALTHOUGH INDIGENOUS PEOPLE ARE ACCORDED EQUAL RIGHTS BY THE CONSTITUTION, IN PRACTICE THEY HAVE ONLY MINIMAL PARTICIPATION IN DECISIONS AFFECTING THEIR LANDS, CULTURE, TRADITIONS AND ALLOCATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES. (EMBASSY: IS THIS CORRECT? SEE PARA 52, STATE 244189.)

78. RURAL INDIGENOUS PEOPLE HAVE LIMITED EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES AND, THUS HAVE LIMITED EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES. ILLITERACY IS PREVALENT IN INDIGENOUS COMMUNITIES. MANY INDIGENOUS GUATEMALANS DO NOT SPEAK SPANISH. LINGUISTIC BARRIERS HINDER INTERACTION WITH THE GOVERNMENT AND LIMIT ACCESS TO PUBLIC SERVICES, INCLUDING THE JUDICIARY, BECAUSE FEW OFFICIALS SPEAK INDIGENOUS LANGUAGES. INDIGENOUS PERSONS ARRESTED FOR CRIMES ARE OFTEN AT A DISADVANTAGE DUE TO THEIR LACK OF SPANISH.

THE GOVERNMENT'S OFFICE OF PUBLIC DEFENSE PROVIDES JUDICIAL TRANSLATING SERVICES, BUT IS NOT SUFFICIENTLY STAFFED TO COPE WITH THE PROBLEM. UNDER THE NEW PENAL CODE, THE GOVERNMENT WILL BE REQUIRED TO PROVIDE TRANSLATING SERVICES TO ALL IN NEED.

79. PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES

80. THE CONSTITUTION GUARANTEES STATE PROTECTION FOR DISABLED PERSONS. NONETHELESS, PHYSICALLY DISABLED PERSONS ARE DISCRIMINATED AGAINST IN EMPLOYMENT PRACTICES, AND FEW RESOURCES ARE DEVOTED TO COMBAT THIS PROBLEM OR OTHERWISE TO ASSIST PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES. THERE IS NO LEGISLATION MANDATING ACCESSIBILITY FOR THE DISABLED.

SECTION 6 WORKER RIGHTS

A. THE RIGHT OF ASSOCIATION.

81. THE CONSTITUTION AND THE 1947 LABOR CODE, AS AMENDED, PROVIDE WORKERS FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION AND THE RIGHT TO FORM AND JOIN TRADE UNIONS. THE LABOR CODE WAS AMENDED IN LATE 1992 TO FACILITATE FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION, TO STRENGTHEN THE RIGHTS OF WORKING WOMEN, TO INCREASE PENALTIES FOR VIOLATIONS OF LABOR LAWS, AND TO ENHANCE THE ROLE OF THE LABOR MINISTRY AND LABOR COURTS IN ENFORCING THE LABOR CODE. ALL WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO FORM OR JOIN UNIONS, INCLUDING PUBLIC SECTOR EMPLOYEES, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF MEMBERS OF SECURITY FORCES. IN FEBRUARY, A DECREE INTERPRETING "ESSENTIAL SERVICES" IN SUCH A WAY AS TO RESTRICT ORGANIZING PUBLIC SECTOR WORKERS WAS WITHDRAWN, FOLLOWING PROTESTS BY PUBLIC SECTOR EMPLOYEES AND THE MINISTER OF LABOR. AFTER NATIONAL POLICE OFFICERS FAILED TO FORM A TRADE UNION OR ASSOCIATION DURING MOST OF THE YEAR, THE NEW DIRECTOR OPENED A DIALOGUE WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THIS GROUP. BETWEEN 5 AND 8 PERCENT OF THE WORK FORCE IS ORGANIZED. THE 898 UNIONS IN THE COUNTRY ARE INDEPENDENT OF GOVERNMENT AND POLITICAL PARTY DOMINATION.

82. THE LABOR CODE AMENDMENTS SIMPLIFIED THE PROCESS FOR UNIONS SEEKING LEGAL STATUS, WHICH HAD BEEN CRITICIZED AS EXCESSIVELY CUMBERSOME, BY ELIMINATING A NUMBER OF PROVISIONS, INCLUDING ONE THAT REQUIRED THE PRESIDENT TO SIGN THE FINAL PAPERS. IN 1993 XXX UNIONS WERE APPROVED, WITH AN AVERAGE WAITING PERIOD OF XXX. (EMBASSY: PLEASE PROVIDE FIGURES FOR THE YEAR, INDICATING WHETHER THIS REPRESENTS A SIGNIFICANT IMPROVEMENT AND WHETHER SERIOUS

ARA/NEA REARCS

BACKLOGS CONTINUE IN THE UNION RECOGNITION PROCESS.)

83. NONETHELESS, EXPERIENCE DURING 1993 DEMONSTRATED THAT PROBLEMS STILL EXIST. (EMBASSY: PLEASE SPECIFY WHAT KIND OF "PROBLEMS." IF THE GOVERNMENT REGISTRATION PROCESS IS STILL TOO BURDENSOME OR INTRUSIVE, OR IF TRADE UNIONISTS ARE STILL BEING DISMISSED FROM THEIR JOBS WHILE THE GOVERNMENT STALLS ON RECOGNITION, WE NEED TO SAY SO, AND WHY.) AN INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION (ILO) COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS REQUESTED THE GOVERNMENT TO BE MORE FLEXIBLE AND TO BRING ALL LABOR LEGISLATION INTO LINE WITH REQUIREMENTS OF ILO CONVENTION 87. A TRIPARTITE PANEL OF GUATEMALANS IS EXPLORING HOW THESE PROBLEMS

MIGHT BE OVERCOME THROUGH ADMINISTRATIVE ACTIONS, WHICH WOULD INCLUDE EFFORTS BY THE MINISTRY OF LABOR TO FIND WAYS TO REDUCE THE NUMBER OF STEPS REQUIRED TO REGISTER A UNION. BY REVISING INTERNAL REGULATIONS, THE MINISTRY PLANS TO REDUCE THE NUMBER OF STEPS REQUIRED FROM THE CURRENT 48 TO 15.

84. WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO STRIKE, BUT LABOR CODE PROCEDURES MAKE LEGAL STRIKES CUMBERSOME. THE ILO COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS CRITICIZED THE REQUIREMENT THAT TWO-THIRDS OF THE WORKERS VOTE TO APPROVE A STRIKE AND THE PROHIBITION OF STRIKES BY AGRICULTURAL WORKERS AT HARVEST TIME, AS WELL AS THOSE DEEMED BY THE GOVERNMENT TO AFFECT SERIOUSLY THE NATIONAL ECONOMY. THE FEW STRIKES WHICH DID OCCUR WERE GENERALLY CALLED WITHOUT LEGAL AUTHORIZATION, AND IN PRACTICE THE GOVERNMENT MADE NO EFFORT TO INTERVENE ON THE BASIS OF ILLEGALITY. NONETHELESS, THE LACK OF LEGAL SANCTION FOR A STRIKE CAN BE USED AS A THREAT AGAINST STRIKERS. ORGANIZED LABOR'S STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES, A RELUCTANCE TO ORGANIZE FORCEFULLY, THE PAUCITY OF MEMBERSHIP FUNDS, AND A POOR OVERALL ECONOMIC SITUATION WITH HIGH UNEMPLOYMENT AND UNDEREMPLOYMENT LIMIT THE DURATION OF VIRTUALLY ALL STRIKES.

85. THE LAW PROTECTS WORKERS FROM RETRIBUTION FOR FORMING AND PARTICIPATING IN TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES, BUT COMPLIANCE WITH THE LAW VARIES FROM INDUSTRY TO INDUSTRY. (EMBASSY: THIS GENEROUS DESCRIPTION REGARDING VARYING COMPLIANCE PERFORMANCE FROM INDUSTRY TO INDUSTRY IS SIGNIFICANTLY AT VARIANCE WITH USG OBSERVATIONS OVER

THE YEARS THAT MOST EMPLOYERS ROUTINELY CIRCUMVENT OR VIOLATE THE LABOR CODE TO RESIST UNION ACTIVITY. MOREOVER, THERE IS NO MENTION EITHER HERE OR IN SECTION 6.B. OF THE INADEQUATE PENALTIES (E.G., DOLS 20) PROVIDED BY THE LAW FOR VIOLATIONS. LAST YEAR'S REPORT WAS CRITICIZED BY A U.S. HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION FOR FAILING TO NOTE THESE POINTS. PLEASE REVIEW AND REVISE ACCORDINGLY.)

86. TRADE UNION LEADERS AND INDIVIDUAL WORKERS REPORTED THAT WORKERS WERE THREATENED WITH THE LOSS OF THEIR JOBS, OR PHYSICAL HARM, FOR THEIR INTEREST IN FORMING A UNION. THE INTERNATIONAL CONFEDERATION OF FREE TRADE UNIONS (ICFTU) ALLEGED THAT A WAVE OF ILLEGAL AND ARBITRARY MASS FIRINGS AND INTIMIDATION TOOK PLACE AT THE BEGINNING OF THE YEAR, INCLUDING THE DISMISSAL OF 515 UNION MEMBERS AT THE STATE FOREST AND WILDLIFE OFFICE AND THE FIRING OF 25 WORKERS FROM THE NATIONAL AGRARIAN REFORM INSTITUTE FOR JOINING A UNION. ONE UNION LEADER WAS DISCHARGED IN LATE 1992 BY A STATE-OWNED ENTERPRISE FOR PARTICIPATING IN A SEMINAR SPONSORED BY THE AFL-CIO, DESPITE CLEAR CONTRACT LANGUAGE WHICH WOULD PERMIT SUCH TRAINING. ALTHOUGH A LOWER LABOR COURT ACTED QUICKLY AND ORDERED THE COMPANY TO REINSTATE THIS LEADER, THERE WAS NO FINAL

ACTION ON THIS CASE DURING THE YEAR. THIS CASE WAS UNUSUAL BECAUSE UNION LEADERS AND OTHER INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS OBSERVERS AGREE THAT LABOR COURTS ARE GENERALLY SLOW IN HEARING COMPLAINTS, AS WELL AS IN ISSUING DECISIONS RELATED TO COMPLAINTS BY WORKERS AND UNIONISTS THAT THEIR RIGHTS TO FORM AND JOIN TRADE UNIONS ARE NOT PROTECTED.

87. TRADE UNION LEADERS AND MEMBERS WERE AMONG THOSE SUBJECTED TO A VARIETY OF ABUSES, SUCH AS THREATS, ASSASSINATION ATTEMPTS, KIDNAPINGS, AND PHYSICAL HARM (SEE SECTION 4). IN SOME INSTANCES THESE ABUSES APPEAR TO HAVE BEEN DIRECTLY TIED TO LABOR ACTIVITIES, BUT GIVEN THE HIGH INCIDENCE OF VIOLENCE IN GUATEMALA IT IS SOMETIMES DIFFICULT TO DISTENGUISH BETWEEN ACTS WHICH MAY BE ASSOCIATED WITH A PERSON'S POLITICAL OR TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES AND THOSE WHICH ARE COMMON CRIMINAL ACTS. (EMBASSY: WERE TRADE UNIONISTS MURDERED AND UNION HEADQUARTERS BOMBED IN 1993, AS IN 1992? IT IS NOT DIFFICULT TO DISCERN THAT THE BOMBING OF A TRADE UNION HEADQUARTERS IS RELATED TO TRADE UNION ACTIVITY. LAST YEAR'S REPORT WAS CRITICIZED BECAUSE IT SAID THERE WERE NO REPORTS OF DEATHS IN 1992, WHICH TURNED OUT NOT TO BE CORRECT. WE SHOULD NOT USE "PHYSICAL HARM" AS A EUPHEMISM FOR MURDER. PLEASE REVIEW AND MODIFY IF WARRANTED.)

88. PUBLIC SECTOR UNION LEADERS, AS WELL AS UNIONISTS IN THE HIGH-PROFILE "MAQUILA" (DRAWBACK, OR IN-BOND EXPORT) SECTOR, ALSO REPORTED RECEIVING THREATS AGAINST THEMSELVES AND THEIR FAMILIES, USUALLY COINCIDING WITH UNION DEMANDS FOR IMPROVED BENEFITS. (EMBASSY: IF THIS VIOLENCE WAS DIRECTED PREDOMINANTLY AGAINST LEFTWING TRADE UNIONS, E.G., UNSITRAGUA, WE SHOULD SAY SO EXPLICITLY.) THE ICFTU CHARGED THAT MANY TRADE UNIONISTS WERE FORCED INTO EXILE.

89. BY LAW, UNION LEADERS MAY SERVE ONLY ONE TERM IN A

PARTICULAR UNION OFFICE, BUT, BY ROTATING UNION POSITIONS, THE SAME PERSONS CAN STAY ON UNION EXECUTIVE BOARDS FOR EXTENDED PERIODS OF TIME. THE CONSTITUTION AND THE 1992 LAW PROTECT THE RIGHT OF POLITICAL PARTICIPATION FOR INDIVIDUALS, INCLUDING TRADE UNION LEADERS. DURING 1993, TRADE UNION LEADERS BECAME MORE INVOLVED IN NATIONAL POLITICAL AFFAIRS, PARTICULARLY DURING THE POLITICAL TURMOIL FOLLOWING THE RESIGNATION OF FORMER PRESIDENT SERRANO AND THE MOVE TO PURGE CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME COURT.

90. UNIONS MAY AND DO FORM FEDERATIONS AND CONFEDERATIONS AND JOIN INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS. WITH VERY FEW EXCEPTIONS, TRADE UNIONS DEPEND ON ASSISTANCE RECEIVED FROM INTERNATIONAL CONTACTS.

91. AN ACTIVE "SOLIDARITY" MOVEMENT CLAIMED APPROXIMATELY 100,000 MEMBERS IN OVER 350 COMPANIES. UNIONS MAY LEGALLY CONTINUE TO OPERATE IN WORKPLACES WHICH HAVE SOLIDARITY ASSOCIATIONS, AND WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHOOSE BETWEEN THE TWO, OR BELONG TO BOTH. THE GOVERNMENT VIEWS THESE ASSOCIATIONS AS CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS WHICH NEED NOT INTERFERE WITH THE FUNCTIONING OF TRADE UNIONS, SINCE THE AMENDED LABOR CODE STIPULATES THAT TRADE UNIONS HAVE THE EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY OVER WORK CONDITIONS ON BEHALF OF WORKERS. UNIONISTS CHARGE, HOWEVER, THAT SOLIDARITY ASSOCIATIONS ARE PROMOTED BY MANAGEMENT TO AVOID THE FORMATION OF TRADE UNIONS, OR TO RIVAL EXISTING LABOR UNIONS. THERE ARE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT, AT TIMES,

DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES ARE NOT ADHERED TO IN THE FORMATION

AND MANAGEMENT OF SOME OF THESE ASSOCIATIONS, AND WORKERS ARE UNABLE TO PARTICIPATE FULLY AND FREELY IN DECISION MAKING. SIMILAR CREDIBLE CHARGES ARE MADE AGAINST SOME TRADE UNION ORGANIZATIONS.

92. AT THE REQUEST OF TRADE UNION LEADERS, THE INDEPENDENT HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, THROUGH HIS OFFICE FOR ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL ISSUES, FOLLOWS COMPLAINTS RELATED TO TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES. UNION LEADERS AND WORKERS FILED A NUMBER OF COMPLAINTS WITH THE OMBUDSMAN DURING THE YEAR. (EMBASSY: ANY RESULTS? HOW WERE THESE COMPLAINTS HANDLED?) IN JUNE, MEMBERS OF THE ILO COMMITTEE ON THE APPLICATION OF CONVENTIONS NOTED THE SERIOUS SITUATION OF VIOLENCE AND INSECURITY WHICH EXISTS IN GUATEMALA, INCLUDING MURDERS AND ABSUCTIONS "WITH THE PARTICIPATION OF THE ARMY AND DEATH SQUADS," AS WELL AS THE "DIFFICULT TRANSITION TOWARDS DEMOCRACY" UNDERWAY IN THE COUNTRY, AND ASKED FOR "TOTAL AND UNCONDITIONAL RESPECT" BY THE NEW GOVERNMENT TO THEIR OBSERVATIONS.

B. THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY

93. WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY, BUT ARE OFTEN DENIED THIS RIGHT BY ANTIUNION ACTIONS OF EMPLOYERS. THE PRACTICE OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING IS LIMITED, MOREOVER, BY THE WEAK STRUCTURE OF THE UNION MOVEMENT, THE LACK OF ESPERIENCE WITH THIS PRACTICE, AND BY THE PREFERENCE OF MANAGEMENT IN MANY CASES TO AVOID FORMAL TIES WITH TRADE UNIONS. WHILE SOME WELL-WRITTEN COLLECTIVE CONTRACTS ARE HONORED BY BOTH MANAGEMENT AND THE UNIONS, OTHER CONTRACTS WERE

OPENLY IGNORED AND VIOLATED BY BOTH PARTIES. MOST WORKERS, EVEN THOSE ORGANIZED BY TRADE UNIONS, DO NOT HAVE COLLECTIVE CONTRACTS TO COVER THEIR WAGES AND WORKING CONDITIONS. WAGES RECEIVED BY THE BULK OF THE WORK FORCE TEND TO BE THE MINIMUM WAGES ESTABLISHED BY A BIPARTITE COMMISSION, WHICH OPERATES UNDER THE TUTELAGE OF THE MINISTRY OF LABOR.

94. WORKERS CANNOT BE DISMISSED FOR PARTICIPATING IN THE FORMATION OF A TRADE UNION; COMPLAINTS IN THIS REGARD MUST BE FILED WITH THE LABOR INSPECTORS FOR RESOLUTION. THE LABOR CODE ESTABLISHED THE RIGHT OF EMPLOYERS TO FIRE WORKERS FOR CAUSE AND PERMITS WORKERS TO APPEAL THEIR DISMISSAL TO THE LABOR COURTS, BUT DOES NOT REQUIRE THE REINSTATEMENT OF ANY WORKER FIRED WITHOUT CAUSE. THE REVISED CODE PROHIBITS EMPLOYERS FROM FIRING WORKERS FOR UNION ORGANIZING AND PROTECTS THEM FOR 60 DAYS FOLLOWING THE OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF APPROVAL OF THE UNION. IT ALSO PROHIBITS EMPLOYERS FROM FIRING ANY MEMBER OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF A UNION AND PROTECTS THEM FOR AN ADDITIONAL 12 MONTHS AFTER THEY ARE NO LONGER ON THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. IF FIRED FOR CAUSE, THIS CAN ONLY BE MADE EFFECTIVE AFTER A TRIAL AND A COURT RESOLUTION HAS BEEN ISSUED.

95. LABOR COURTS RESPONSIBLE FOR ENFORCING LABOR LAWS CONTINUED GENERALLY TO BE INEFFECTIVE. EFFORTS TO RESTRUCTURE AND MODERNIZE THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM MADE NO HEADWAY. A HEAVY BACKLOG OF LABOR CASES CONTINUED TO CLOG THE COURTS.

96. THE SCARCITY OF LABOR INSPECTORS, THE LACK OF ADEQUATE TRAINING AND RESOURCES, AND STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES IN THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM RESULTED IN ONLY MINIMAL ENFORCEMENT OF THE LABOR CODE. THE MINISTRY OF

LABOR HIRED 37 NEW LABOR INSPECTORS IN MID-SEPTEMBER, NEARLY DOUBLING THE TOTAL, AND PROVIDED THEM WITH TRAINING AND RESOURCES TO CARRY OUT THEIR FUNCTIONS. SOME WERE ASSIGNED IN RURAL AREAS TO GIVE GREATER ATTENTION TO THE LACK OF PROTECTION OF WORKER RIGHTS FOR RURAL WORKERS IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE YEAR, THE MINISTRY OF LABOR SIGNIFICANTLY STEPPED UP ITS INSPECTIONS AND THE NUMBER OF CASES IT FILED IN THE COURTS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH THE LABOR LAW. (EMBASSY: IS THIS ACCURATE? -- BASED UPON GUATEMALA 12849.)

97. LABOR LAWS AND REGULATIONS APPLY THROUGHOUT GUATEMALA, INCLUDING IN THE FEW EXPORT PROCESSING ZONES (EPZ'S) IN THE COUNTRY. THE LAWS GOVERNING EPZ'S ARE NOT DISCRIMINATORY ON THE SUBJECT OF ORGANIZING TRADE UNIONS OR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING. (EMBASSY: WE PROPOSE TO DELETE THIS SECOND SENTENCE, WHICH IMPLIES THERE ARE SPECIAL LAWS FOR THE EPZ'S, CONTRADICTING THE FIRST SENTENCE, UNLESS YOU CAN RECONCILE THE TWO.) WHILE UNION LEADERS OFTEN BLAME EMPLOYER PRESSURES AND UNOFFICIAL RESTRICTED ACCESS TO THE EPZ'S FOR THEIR VIRTUAL INABILITY TO ORGANIZE WORKERS IN THESE ZONES, LABOR CONDITIONS IN THESE ZONES ARE NO DIFFERENT THAN THOSE FOUND OUTSIDE OF THE ZONES. (EMBASSY: PLEASE TAKE ANOTHER LOOK AT THIS STATEMENT. EPZ'S BY THEIR VERY NATURE CAN BY EXPLICITLY OR IMPLICITLY ANTIUNION. OR IS

THIS ASSERTION ANOTHER WAY OF ACKNOWLEDGING THAT "ALL GUATEMALA IS AN EPZ" AS STATED IN GUATEMALA 12849? WHILE THE LAW MAY NOT BE ANY MORE "DISCRIMINATORY" IN THE EPZ'S THAN IN THE REST OF THE COUNTRY (SENTENCE TWO), WHAT ABOUT APPLICATION OF THE LAWS? DON'T THE EPZ ENTERPRISES TRY HARDER TO AVOID UNIONS AND EVADE THE LABOR LAW, AND AREN'T THEY MORE CONSISTENTLY SUCCESSFUL, AND DON'T THE AUTHORITIES MORE CONSISTENTLY WINK AT VIOLATIONS IN THE EPZ'S THAN IN THE REST OF THE COUNTRY? PLEASE REVIEW AND REVISE ACCORDINGLY.)

98. WORKERS AND TRADE UNION LEADERS CHARGE THAT ALL WORKERS, INCLUDING THOSE IN EPZ'S, RECEIVE LOW WAGES, WORK LONG HOURS WITHOUT LEGALLY REQUIRED OVERTIME PAY, AND TOIL UNDER POOR WORKING CONDITIONS. WHILE LABOR MINISTRY INSPECTORS FILED NUMEROUS COMPLAINTS BEFORE THE LABOR COURTS ON THESE CHARGES, FEW OF THESE CASES WERE RESOLVED DUE TO INEFFICIENCIES WITHIN THE COURT SYSTEM, CORRUPTION AND POLITICAL CHICANERY, AND TO LEGAL MANEUVERING WHICH EMPLOYERS CAN USE TO PROLONG THE HEARING PROCESS.

C. PROHIBITION OF FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR

99. THE CONSTITUTION BARS FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR AND THE PRACTICE DOES NOT EXIST. HUMAN RIGHTS AND INDIGENOUS GROUPS CONTINUE TO CHARGE THAT COERCED PARTICIPATION, PARTICULARLY OF INDIGENOUS PEOPLES, IN THE PAC'S VIOLATES PROHIBITIONS AGAINST FORCED LABOR. THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS OF ISOLATED INSTANCES OF UNPAID PAC MEMBERS BEING USED TO PROVIDE FREE MANUAL LABOR, BUT NO SYSTEMATIC

PATTERN OF SUCH PRACTICE WAS ESTABLISHED.

D. MINIMUM AGE FOR THE EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN

100. ALTHOUGH THE CONSTITUTION BARS EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS UNDER THE AGE OF 14, CHILDREN BELOW THIS AGE ARE REGULARLY EMPLOYED IN THE FORMAL AND INFORMAL SECTORS OF THE ECONOMY. LAWS GOVERNING THE EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS ARE NOT EFFECTIVELY ENFORCED, DUE TO THE SHORTAGE OF QUALIFIED LABOR INSPECTORS AND STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES OF

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
ARA/NEA REARCS

THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM. ONLY 5,000 MINORS HAVE LEGAL PERMISSION FROM THE LABOR MINISTRY TO WORK. THOUSANDS WORKING WITHOUT LEGAL PERMISSION ARE OPEN TO EXPLOITATION, GENERALLY RECEIVING NO SOCIAL BENEFITS, NO SOCIAL INSURANCE, NO PENSION OR VACATIONS, NO SEVERANCE PAY, AND ARE PAID BELOW THE MINIMUM WAGE LEVEL. THE LABOR MINISTRY HAS A PROGRAM TO EDUCATE MINORS, THEIR PARENTS, AND EMPLOYERS ON THE RIGHTS OF MINORS IN THE LABOR MARKET. ECONOMIC NECESSITY, HOWEVER, FORCES MOST FAMILIES TO HAVE THEIR CHILDREN SEEK SOME TYPE OF EMPLOYMENT TO SUPPLEMENT THE FAMILY INCOME.

181. (EMBASSY: ARE THERE COMPULSORY EDUCATION LAWS? IF SO, UP TO WHAT AGE? ARE THEY ENFORCED? PLEASE IDENTIFY ANY EXPORT INDUSTRIES IN WHICH CHILD LABOR IS SIGNIFICANT.)

E. ACCEPTABLE CONDITIONS OF WORK

182. MINIMUM WAGES ARE SET BY LAW. DUE TO A VARIETY OF FACTORS, MOST IMPORTANTLY THE OVERSUPPLY OF LABOR AND THE

LIMITED DEMAND FOR IT, THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR MOST UNSKILLED AND SEMISKILLED WORKERS IS THE PREVAILING WAGE CEILING, AND NOT THE MORE COMMONLY ACCEPTED WAGE FLOOR. WIDESPREAD, CREDIBLE REPORTS INDICATED THE MINIMUM WAGE IS COMMONLY, IF ILLEGALLY, NOT PAID TO SIGNIFICANT NUMBERS OF RURAL AND URBAN WORKERS. (EMBASSY: DOES THE GOVERNMENT MAKE ANY EFFORT TO ENFORCE THE MINIMUM WAGE, AND DOES IT REGARD IT AS HOPELESS AND THROW UP ITS ARMS IN DESPAIR? OR IS IT GOVERNMENT POLICY NOT TO ENFORCE THE MINIMUM WAGE, INTENDING IT MORE AS A SOP, OR A BENCHMARK OF INTENTIONS, RATHER THAN A LEGAL REQUIREMENT?)

183. THE LAST INCREASE IN THE MINIMUM WAGE WAS IN LATE 1991, WHEN IT WAS RAISED BY 78.5 PERCENT. THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL WORKERS IS 2.42 (14 QUETZALS) FOR AN 8-HOUR WORK DAY, INCLUDING A REQUIRED HOURLY BONUS. THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR FARM WORKERS IS 2.00 (11.60 QUETZALS) PER DAY, INCLUDING A MANDATORY BONUS.

184. THIS MINIMUM WAGE DOES NOT PROVIDE A DECENT STANDARD OF LIVING; GOVERNMENT STATISTICS INDICATE THE MINIMUM WAGE SHOULD BE AT LEAST THREE TIMES HIGHER THAN CURRENTLY ESTABLISHED. AN ESTIMATED 80 PERCENT OF THE POPULATION LIVES BELOW THE GUATEMALAN POVERTY LINE, INCLUDING APPROXIMATELY 70 PERCENT OF THOSE EMPLOYED. A BILATERAL COMMITTEE REPRESENTING LABOR AND MANAGEMENT IS NAMED EACH YEAR TO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR INCREASES IN THE MINIMUM WAGE. IN THE EVENT THAT AGREEMENT IS NOT POSSIBLE, THE GOVERNMENT MAY DECREE SUCH INCREASES. THE MINIMUM WAGE WAS INCREASED IN LATE 1991 BY 78.5 PERCENT. THE MINIMUM WAGE WAS NOT INCREASED IN 1993, WHEN

INFLATION WAS APPROXIMATELY 12 PERCENT.

185. THE LEGAL WORKDAY IS 8 HOURS AND THE WORKWEEK IS 44 HOURS, BUT A TRADITION OF MUCH LONGER HOURS REMAINS IN PLACE DUE TO ECONOMIC CONDITIONS. THE AMENDED LABOR CODE CONTINUES TO REQUIRE A WEEKLY REST PERIOD OF AT LEAST 24 HOURS. TRADE UNION LEADERS AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS CHARGE THAT WORKERS ARE COMMONLY FORCED TO WORK OVERTIME, OFTEN WITHOUT OVERTIME PREMIUM PAY, OR GIVEN DRUGS TO HELP THEM WORK LONGER, IN ORDER TO MEET WORK REQUIREMENTS. LABOR INSPECTORS REPORT THAT NUMEROUS INSTANCES WERE UNCOVERED OF SUCH ABUSES, BUT CORRUPTION (EMBASSY: CORRECT?) AND INEFFICIENCIES IN THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM INHIBIT ADEQUATE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW.

186. OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY STANDARDS ARE

STATE 379287 172112Z 018261 S024788

INADEQUATE. AS WITH OTHER ASPECTS OF THE LABOR LAW, ENFORCEMENT OF STANDARDS THAT DO EXIST IS ALSO GENERALLY INADEQUATE. (EMBASSY: DO WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO REMOVE THEMSELVES FROM DANGEROUS WORKPLACE SITUATIONS WITHOUT JEOPARDY TO CONTINUED EMPLOYMENT?) TRAINING COURSES FOR LABOR INSPECTORS IN HEALTH AND SAFETY STANDARDS WERE PROVIDED, BUT THIS AREA IS NOT PERCEIVED AS A HIGH PRIORITY FOR THE RESOURCE-POOR MINISTRY. LEGISLATION REQUIRING COMPANIES WITH MORE THAN 50 EMPLOYEES TO PROVIDE ON-SITE MEDICAL FACILITIES FOR THEIR WORKERS IS NOT EFFECTIVELY ENFORCED, EVEN THOUGH MANY LARGE EMPLOYERS DO PROVIDE SUCH FACILITIES.

SUBJECT: MOD DISCUSSES "PEACE", RELATIONS WITH THE CHURCH, ETC., WITH THE AMBASSADOR (U)

1. CONFIDENTIAL - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: OVER BREAKFAST THE MOD MENTIONED THE UPCOMING GOG-URNG MEETING SET FOR 6 JANUARY IN MEXICO, A MEETING TO BE HELD, THIS TIME WITHOUT MONSIGNOR QUEZADA. THE MOD EMPHASIZED THE ARMY'S DESIRE FOR PEACE. THE MOD RELATED THAT A THREE-HOUR MEETING BETWEEN ARMY AND CHURCH LEADERS WENT WELL AND WILL RESULT IN A FOLLOW-UP SESSION. HE ALSO MENTIONED THAT FOUR HIGH LEVEL ARMY OFFICERS WOULD BE VISITING SOME EUROPEAN COUNTRIES IN JANUARY. THE AMBASSADOR ASSURED THE MOD THAT THE USG WAS NOT CONDUCTING AN OFFENSIVE AGAINST THE ARMY. DESPITE THIS PERCEPTION ON THE PART OF SOME ARMY OFFICERS AS A RESULT OF THE LOSS OF SOME IMET COURSES AND THE REPORTED CANCELLATION OF A HELICOPTER DEMONSTRATION. THE MOD STATED THAT IF CAPT. CONTRERAS DOES NOT TURN HIMSELF IN BY FEBRUARY A REWARD WOULD BE OFFERED FOR HIS CAPTURE. THE MOD RELATED THAT GENERAL QUILO LEARNED FROM EX-MOD GRANAJO THAT THE U.S. EMBASSY SAW QUILO AS A HARD-LINER AND COUP PLOTTER. GRANAJO REPORTEDLY LEARNED THIS FROM HIS CONTACTS IN WASHINGTON DURING A RECENT VISIT. QUILO HAS BEEN GETTING UPSET BY RUMORS THAT HE WILL BE PLACED INTO RETIREMENT SOON, BUT THE MOD HAS BEEN TELLING HIM TO BE PATIENT. END SUMMARY.

3. ON 22 DECEMBER, THE AMBASSADOR HOSTED A BREAKFAST MEETING FOR MINISTER OF DEFENSE, MAJOR GENERAL MARIO RENE (ENRIQUEZ) MORALES. GENERAL ENRIQUEZ ATTENDED THE MEETING ALONE WHILE THE AMBASSADOR WAS ACCOMPANIED BY THE POLCOUNS, COMMANDER, U.S. MILITARY GROUP, THE DEFENSE ATTACHE (DATT) AND THE DATT DESIGNATE.

---

4. THE CONVERSATION FIRST WENT TO THE PEACE PROCESS, THE MOD ANNOUNCING THAT ACCORDING TO U.N. OBSERVER JEAN ARNAULT, A MEETING HAS BEEN SET FOR 6-9 JANUARY 1994 IN MEXICO BETWEEN THE URNG AND THE GOG. GENERAL ENRIQUEZ SUGGESTED THAT THE TACTIC OF THE URNG WOULD BE TO TAKE THE INITIATIVE AND ATTEMPT TO PULL SOME OF THE SOCIAL ISSUES FROM THE POPULAR FORUM DISCUSSIONS INTO THE AGENDA OF THE DIRECT TALKS BETWEEN THE GOG AND THE URNG. THE MOD INDICATED THAT THE GOG COULD PROBABLY BE FLEXIBLE ON THIS ISSUE. THE MOD MENTIONED THAT MONSIGNOR QUEZADA DID NOT HAVE THE CHURCH'S PERMISSION TO GO TO MEXICO AS AN OBSERVER. HE FURTHER RECALLED QUEZADA'S REMARKS IN WHICH HE HAD MENTIONED THAT HE DID NOT BELIEVE EITHER SIDE

REALLY DESIRED PEACE. GENERAL ENRIQUEZ THEN EMPHASIZED TO THE AMBASSADOR THAT HIS MOST IMPORTANT MESSAGE TO HER WAS THAT THE GUATEMALAN ARMY WANTS PEACE.

RELATIONS WITH THE CHURCH
---

5. THE MOD RELATED THAT EARLIER IN THE WEEK SENIOR ARMY GENERALS HAD A VERY PRODUCTIVE THREE-HOUR MEETING WITH CHURCH LEADERS FOLLOWING ON THE HEELS OF THE PRESIDENT'S SIX-HOUR MEETING WITH THE BISHOPS. THE CHURCH PARTICIPANTS INCLUDED MONSIGNORS FLORES, CABRERA, AVILA, RAMAZZINI AND PAPAL NUNCIO BATTISTA MORANDINI. GENERAL ENRIQUEZ WAS ESPECIALLY PRAISEWORTHY OF THE PARTICIPATION OF ARMY CHIEF GENERAL QUILO, WHO FRANKLY ADMITTED TO THE BISHOPS THAT THE ARMY WAS ITSELF GUILTY OF MAKING MISTAKES. THE MOD MENTIONED THAT BESIDES HIMSELF AND QUILO, GENERAL GONZALEZ TARACENA, THE VICE ARMY CHIEF; GENERAL OTZOY, THE VICE MOD; GENERAL SANTIZO, INSPECTOR GENERAL; AND, GENERAL ARGUETA, COMMANDER OF THE HONOR GUARD BRIGADE AND A CLOSE ACQUAINTANCE OF MONSIGNOR, WERE PRESENT. GENERAL ENRIQUEZ STATED THAT DECLINING CONTACT BETWEEN THE CHURCH AND THE ARMY AND HOW TO IMPROVE CHURCH-ARMY RELATIONSHIPS WERE THE CENTRAL THEMES OF THEIR MEETING. THE GENERAL ADDED THAT A FOLLOW-UP SESSION IS PLANNED FOR NEXT MONTH. (SEE ALSO GUATEMALA 13995.)

---
---

6. GENERAL ENRIQUEZ RELATED THAT FOUR ARMY OFFICERS WOULD BE VISITING VARIOUS COUNTRIES IN EUROPE DURING JANUARY. THE MOD MENTIONED NORWAY AND HOLLAND AS TWO OF THE COUNTRIES, AND ADDED THAT GENERAL GONZALEZ TARACENA, COLONEL PEREZ MOLINA, COLONEL MARIO MERIDA, AND LIEUTENANT COLONEL FERNANDEZ LIGORRIA WOULD BE THE PARTICIPANTS. (NOTE--THESE OFFICERS MAY BE PART OF THE GOG'S OVERALL PLAN TO SEND TEAMS TO EUROPE TO ARGUE THE GOG CASE PRIOR TO THE UNHCR MEETINGS IN GENEVA.) TALK OF THE ARMY LED THE MOD TO MENTION THAT JUST THE DAY BEFORE HE HAD ADDRESSED 50 PERCENT OF THE OFFICER CORPS, TELLING THE OFFICERS THAT THE FINAL VICTORY FOR GUATEMALA IN THE WAR WOULD NOT BE A MILITARY ONE, BUT RATHER ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL. HE TOLD THE AMBASSADOR HE STRESSED WITH THE OFFICERS THE NEED TO IMPROVE THE IMAGE OF THE ARMY.

EMBASSY-ARMY RELATIONS
---

7. THE AMBASSADOR OPENED THE TOPIC OF IMET FOR DISCUSSION BY MENTIONING THE U.S. IMPOSED SUSPENSION OF THE PARTICIPATION OF FOUR GUATEMALAN OFFICERS IN THE COMMAND AND GENERAL STAFF COURSE AT THE U.S. ARMY SCHOOL OF THE AMERICAS. THE MOD RESPONDED THAT IT WAS BETTER THE ARMY BE "PUNISHED" WITH SUCH THINGS AS THE SUSPENSION OF IMET, RATHER THAN PUNISHING THE ENTIRE GOVERNMENT. HE ADDED, "WE CAN UNDERSTAND THAT." THE AMBASSADOR WENT ON TO ASSURE GENERAL ENRIQUEZ THAT THE PRO-DEMOCRATIC POSTURE OF THE ARMY DURING THE AUTO-COUP AND DURING THE POLITICAL CRISIS OF AUGUST-NOVEMBER 1993 WAS RECOGNIZED BY THE USG AND THAT THE RECENT TURN OF EVENTS TO INCLUDE THE LOSS OF THE FOUR IMET SPACES, PLUS THE REPORTED CANCELLATION OF A BELL HELICOPTER DEMONSTRATION, DID NOT REPRESENT A U.S EMBASSY ASSAULT UPON THE ARMY (SEE GUATEMALA 13880). THE MOD ACCEPTED THE AMBASSADOR'S CLARIFICATION OF EVENTS.

CAPTAIN CONTRERAS

8. THE AMBASSADOR TOLD THE MOD SHE WAS GLAD TO LEARN THAT THE MOD HAD INSTRUCTED THE DIRECTOR OF INTELLIGENCE TO CONTINUE THE PURSUIT OF CONTRERAS. GENERAL ENRIQUEZ RESPONDED THAT IT WAS "VERY POSSIBLE" MRS. CONTRERAS WOULD COME SOON TO SEE HIM. HE ADDED HE SENT HER A MESSAGE THROUGH "A PREVIOUS MOD," THAT CONTRERAS MUST TURN HIMSELF IN AND CONTINUE WITH THE LEGAL PROCESS. THE MOD STATED THAT HIS IDEA WAS TO OFFER MRS. CONTRERAS FINANCIAL HELP WITH THE COST OF HER HUSBAND'S DEFENSE, BUT THAT IF BY FEBRUARY 1994 CONTRERAS HAS NOT TURNED HIMSELF IN, THERE WOULD BE NO SUCH HELP, AND INSTEAD, A REWARD WOULD BE OFFERED FOR HIS CAPTURE. GENERAL ENRIQUEZ REMARKED THAT GENERAL QUILO WAS IN AGREEMENT WITH THE PLAN, REPORTEDLY TELLING THE MOD: "LET'S PUT IT IN MOTION." (DN INSTRUCTIONS, DCM SUGGESTED TO MOD THE OFFERING OF AN AWARD ON 3 DECEMBER. SEE GUATEMALA 13294.)

GENERAL QUILO

9. GENERAL ENRIQUEZ RELATED THAT QUILO APPARENTLY HEARD HE WAS CONSIDERED A HARD-LINER AND COUP PLOTTER BY THE U.S. EMBASSY FROM EX-MOD GENERAL GRAMAJO. ACCORDING TO QUILO, GRAMAJO HAD PROVIDED HIM THIS INFORMATION, CLAIMING HE HAD LEARNED THIS DURING A RECENT TRIP TO WASHINGTON. ENRIQUEZ STATED THAT QUILO POSSESSES THE IMAGE OF A HARD-LINER, POSSIBLY DUE TO THE "AGUACATE" MASSACRE WHICH HAD OCCURRED WHEN QUILO WAS THE COMMANDER OF CHIMALTENANGO. HOWEVER, ACCORDING TO THE MOD, HE WAS SURE QUILO HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH IT. GENERAL ENRIQUEZ RELATED THAT QUILO HAD MENTIONED TO HIM ALL THE RUMORS HE HAD HEARD THAT HE WOULD SOON BE PLACED IN RETIREMENT. GENERAL ENRIQUEZ ADDED THAT QUILO IN FRUSTRATION DECLARED HE SHOULD GO AHEAD AND LEAVE. GENERAL ENRIQUEZ SAID HE TOLD QUILO TO BE PATIENT.

COMMENTS

10. THE MEETING WENT WELL. IT ALLOWED THE AMEMBASSY TO DISCUSS ISSUES WITH THE MOD, AS WELL AS TO CALM THE WATERS WITH REGARD TO OUR EMBASSY-ARMY RELATIONS. WHILE GEN GRAMAJO HAS BEEN KNOWN TO BEND THE TRUTH BEFORE, AND HAS HIMSELF BEEN RUMORED TO HAVE BEEN INVOLVED IN RECENT COUP PLOTTING, WE DO FIND IT DISCONCERTING THAT GRAMAJO

CONTACTS IN WASHINGTON ARE REPORTEDLY TELLING GRAMAJO THAT WE -- THE U.S EMBASSY -- THINK QUILO IS A COUP PLOTTER. REVELATIONS OR SUGGESTIONS OF THIS NATURE ARE VERY COUNTERPRODUCTIVE TO OUR EFFORTS HERE, ESPECIALLY WHEN WE ARE TRYING HARD TO WIN GUYS LIKE QUILO OVER TO OUR WAY -- THE DEMOCRATIC WAY -- OF DOING BUSINESS.

GUATEMALA

Guatemala's 1985 Constitution calls for election by universal suffrage of a one-term President, a unicameral Congress, and municipal officers; it mandates an independent judiciary and a human rights ombudsman, who is elected by and reports to Congress. Midway through his 5-year term, after rising street protests, President Jorge Serrano suspended several sections of the Constitution and dissolved Congress and the Supreme and Constitutional Courts on May 25. After extremely negative domestic and international reaction to this extraconstitutional move, Serrano was peacefully and constitutionally dismissed on June 1. Congress and the courts were called back into session, and on June 5, Congress, as prescribed by the Constitution, elected then Human Rights Ombudsman Ramiro de Leon Carpio to finish Serrano's presidential term, which ends in January 1996.

The armed forces operate with considerable institutional and legal autonomy, particularly in security and military matters. President de Leon Carpio, as Commander in Chief, replaced two Defense Ministers with officers of his own choosing. The 43,000-man army, which has responsibility for national security, has fought a leftist insurgency for more than three decades. The National Police (12,000 strong) and Treasury Police (2,000) report to the Interior Minister and share responsibility for internal security with the army. A target of frequent criticism by human rights groups, the "Hunapu" anticrime task force patrols--composed of National Police, Treasury Police, and Mobile Military Police (PMA)--were eliminated during the year. However, in December, as part of a Christmastime anticrime effort, limited joint patrols were reinstituted in some communities. The new President appointed a civilian as National Police chief in August, as well as other civilians to senior positions in the police and Ministry of Interior, and removed all military personnel from the police on August 27.. Some 500,000 men serve in voluntary civil self-defense committees, commonly called Civil Defense Patrols (PAC's), some of which conduct counterinsurgency patrols in rural areas. The Human Rights Ombudsman and the Catholic Archbishop's Human Rights Office report that some PAC members were compelled to join the patrols, in violation of the Constitution. Security forces and especially PAC'S committed numerous serious human rights violations in 1993.

The agriculture-based, private sector-oriented economy was projected to grow approximately 4 percent in 1993, which would produce an increase in per capita income of about 1 percent. Inflation was expected to reach 12 percent. Guatemala has negotiated a shadow agreement with the International Monetary Fund, despite fiscal and monetary difficulties. There is a marked disparity in income distribution and poverty is pervasive, particularly in the large indigenous community.

Although there were improvements in the human rights situation in 1993, serious abuses occurred frequently. Statistics prepared by the Archbishop's Human Rights Office showed an increase in extrajudicial killings as of mid-December and a substantial increase in forced disappearances, with no improvement in other categories. Many of these violations occurred in the latter half of the year. The civil patrols, military, and police continued to commit a majority of the major violations, including extrajudicial killings, political kidnapings, and death threats. The seriousness of the continuing violations was underlined by the circulation in March of a "death list" containing 24 names and another in October with 23 names. However, no one on either list was kidnaped or killed.

The election of President de Leon Carpio, the highly respected former human rights ombudsman, raised hopes there would be a rapid improvement in the human rights situation. The new President encouraged human rights groups and showed a willingness to investigate abuses and to make structural changes, such as dismantling the "Archivos" presidential intelligence unit and restructuring the police, including creation of a special police unit to investigate all cases of forced disappearances, extrajudicial killings, and other violations of a political nature allegedly committed by the police. Nevertheless, these changes failed to reduce the actual number of abuses allegedly committed by government forces. The 33-year-old internal insurgency continued to be a major cause of human rights violations. Both the security forces and the guerrillas committed numerous and serious human rights abuses. Guerrilla abuses included extrajudicial killings, kidnapings, forced labor recruitment, widespread use of mines and explosives in civilian areas, and the use of children in combat. Guerrilla attacks on infrastructure targets continued throughout the year.

RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

Section 1 Respect for the Integrity of the Person, Including Freedom from:

a. Political and Other Extrajudicial Killing

Politically motivated killings continued in 1993, and with few exceptions the Government failed to investigate them fully or to detain and prosecute the perpetrators of extrajudicial killings. Full-year statistics from the Human Rights Ombudsman's Office listed 14 cases of extrajudicial killings, with 146 other cases under investigation. This compares with 48 confirmed extrajudicial killings in 1992, with 318 under investigation. The Archbishop's Human Rights Office reported 239 extrajudicial killings up to mid-December 1993 as compared to 204 in 1992 but did not break down the figures according to the responsible organization.

The security forces and persons associated with or protected by the army, such as the Civil Defense Patrols or military commissioners, committed a number of these killings, many of which took place in areas of guerrilla conflict. The Ombudsman, the Attorney General, and human rights groups have found evidence of killings by PAC's. PAC leaders are feared in many rural communities. They enjoy army backing and often immunity from prosecution. Likewise, members of the security forces are rarely held accountable for human rights violations.

Civil patrols continued to be especially responsible for human rights violations, including the killing of human rights activists. PAC's threatened and killed members of the Runujel Junam Council of Ethnic Communities (CERJ), a rural-based human rights organization dedicated mainly to opposing involuntary service in PAC's. Tomas Lares Cipriano, a CERJ and United Peasants Committee (CUC) member in Joyabaj, was killed on April 30 by PAC members, according to family members and witnesses.

Ten persons, from two separate families, took refuge in the Santa Cruz del Quiche CERJ office on June 10 after being threatened with death for not participating in PAC's and for being CERJ members. On October 14, 3 of the 10 left the CERJ offices under police protection and resettled in a town without a PAC. The other seven returned to their original community in early January. Charges against CERJ leader Amilcar Mendez for allegedly providing explosives to guerrillas in October 1992 were dropped in March. Captain Anibal Roberto Landaveri,

Commander of the Chiul, Quiche, stockade, was arrested in May for having three CERJ members beaten on his base. He was dismissed from the army and tried for illegal detention, abuse of authority, coercion, and causing injuries. In addition to being dismissed, he was found guilty and sentenced to 2 1/2 years in prison and payment of damages to those harmed. However, the sentence was suspended by the military court, which has the discretion to do so when a light sentence is imposed.

On August 3, Huehuetenango PAC members fired on marchers demanding the dissolution of the civil patrols, killing Juan Chonay Pablo and wounding two others. Five PAC members have been questioned by the authorities for Chonay's murder, with one still remaining in jail. Ten arrest warrants for other PAC members remain outstanding. Witnesses subsequently reported receiving threats from PAC members. PAC leader Efrain Domingo Morales, from the town of Xemal in the same area, was murdered by unknown persons in mid-September. A surviving family member reported that PAC members killed two peasants from Xemal, Colotenango, on September 26.

Former Corporal Nicolas Gutierrez Cruz, convicted in the January 17, 1992, killing of four persons in Ciudad Peronia, exhausted his legal appeals on July 23 when the Constitutional Court denied his request to void his death sentence. In early October, President de Leon Carpio commuted his sentence to 30 years, the maximum legally possible. A fellow ex-soldier convicted in the killings escaped on May 9, 1992; in May 1993, an appellate court sentenced an army enlisted man to 2 years in prison for negligence in allowing the escape. On March 19, the then Human Rights Ombudsman de Leon Carpio accused army troops of responsibility for the August 31, 1992, kidnaping, torture, and murder of Huehuetenango peasant Lucas Perez Tadeo. Although the army promised a full investigation, no results were reported by year's end.

On May 1, civil patrol members in Jocopilas surrounded a house and killed 11 inhabitants (as well as an unborn child). Many of the 11 were known as criminals in the community and, the day of their deaths, are said to have robbed one family and raped three women. Police arrived prior to the killings but left after being intimidated by the local PAC.

On the Government's appeal of an earlier acquittal, Quiche PAC chiefs Manuel Perebal Ajtzalam and Manuel Leon Lares were sentenced to 30 years in prison for the February 17, 1991, killing of Juan Perebal Xirum and his son and the injuring of another son. Those attacked had testified against Perebal in the case of Sebastian Velasquez Mejia, a community leader opposed to the PAC's who was kidnaped and later found dead.

Persons associated with the security forces were responsible for vigilante killings. According to the Casa Alianza, an organization that fosters protection of the human rights of street children, street children Henry Yubani Alvarez and Francisco Tziac were shot in downtown Guatemala City on April 17 and 22. Casa Alianza believes that a private security guard killed Alvarez and off-duty military commissioners wounded Tziac, both shot possibly due to petty thievery. On May 11, a congressional bodyguard shot a student protesting at the Congress. He died a day later; the bodyguard who allegedly killed him remains a fugitive.

There was some progress in certain past high-profile cases. Former government security agent Noel de Jesus Beteta Alvarez was sentenced in February to 30 years in prison for the 1990 murder of Guatemalan anthropologist Myrna Mack Chang and the unrelated beating of a minor. The conviction is now being appealed, with plaintiff Helen Mack also seeking prosecution of the alleged military "intellectual authors" of the crime. On September 1, Myrna Mack's former workplace was broken into and death threats left against Helen Mack. On September 23, Beteta briefly escaped from jail but was recaptured 5 hours later and charged in the escape.

On May 11, an appellate court sentenced Captain Hugo Contreras to 20 years for planning the 1990 kidnaping that led to the death of U.S. citizen Michael Devine and confirmed the 30-year sentences for six enlisted men. After hearing the verdict, however, Contreras escaped from military custody and remains at large. While the circumstances of his escape suggested complicity by the military, the only punishment was a 2-year suspended sentence given to an enlisted man for not being at his post when Contreras escaped. Senior officers accused of covering up the case have not been brought to trial.

On August 18, an appeals court sentenced 22 former police officers, who formed part of a "Hunapu" patrol, to 30 years in prison for the April 10, 1992, death of university student Julio Rigoberto Cu Quim and for injuring six other students. Earlier, on July 22, seven PMA members of the same patrol were given sentences of 14 years (4 commutable) for the crime.

There was no progress in resolving numerous other cases of past extrajudicial killings, including the 1988 "white van" case, the 1989 disappearances and murders of university students, the 1990 Hector Oqueli Colindres and Gilda Flores killings, the 1990 disappearance of Maria Tiu Tojin and her daughter, the 1991 murder of police detective Jose Luis Merida Escobar, the 1991 disappearance of Diego Domingo Martin, or past kidnapings and murders of various CERJ members. On May 5, an appeals court upheld a lower court decision to dismiss charges against six military defendants for the 1991 "Traileros" killings in Taxisco. The decision was appealed. The Government's frequent inability to control or sanction those responsible for human rights offenses is a major impediment to human rights progress.

b. Disappearance

The Archbishop's Human Rights Office reported 46 forced disappearances during 1993, as compared with 11 in 1992. Seventeen were either labeled or presumed to be political in nature. Reports linked many political disappearances to persons connected with the armed forces. The Ombudsman's Office listed 2 cases of forced disappearances, with 29 others under investigation at year's end. This compares with the Ombudman's 1992 statistics of 10 confirmed forced disappearances and 62 cases still under investigation. The Government did not identify or prosecute the perpetrators of any of these disappearances.

In August the wife of guerrilla Efrain Bamaca claimed he was being held in a clandestine prison after results of an exhumation of his supposed grave proved negative. The army denied this, though it has admitted in the past to housing former guerrillas who cooperate with the armed forces on military bases. One of these ex-guerrillas, Angel Osorio, was killed on August 19 by members of the Guatemala National Revolutionary Unity (URNG) guerrilla coalition when he was stopped at a guerrilla roadblock after leaving a Quiche military base to visit his family.

Guerrilla forces kidnaped San Marcos PAC members Margarito Lopez and Obdulio Zapeta on August 7 and Diego Chel Matom, an army enlisted man riding a bus in Quiche 3 days later. In early December, the press reported that 10 persons dressed in the manner of URNG guerrillas approached Ramona Munoz and Maritza Gil as they were working on their Santa Rose farm and took them to nearby mountains under threat of death. The whereabouts of all these persons were unknown as of year's end.

c. Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman, or Degrading Treatment or Punishment

The Constitution protects the integrity and security of the person. However, as in past years, many bodies were found throughout Guatemala bearing signs of severe disfigurement or postmortem mutilation. The Human Rights Ombudsman's Office listed seven cases of torture in 1993. The Archbishop's Human Rights Office listed nine cases of torture through mid-December. In one case, a male student was picked up by three unidentified men on March 27, beaten unconscious, held for 3 days, and asked about student leaders. In April a female victim was also beaten unconscious but apparently was not asked any questions.

There were other credible reports of mistreatment by security forces, including use of excessive force by police at the time of arrest and of abusive treatment of persons in rural areas by the army, Civil Defense Patrols, military commissioners, and police. The Government often failed to investigate or take any other action in response to such reports. Although action was rarely taken, cases of rape traced to individual soldiers were reported.

Casa Alianza, the organization dedicated to street children, reported in March that street child Julio Cesar Reyes was picked up by two persons he recognized as policemen and burned on his arm 29 times with a cigarette. On May 23, a street child reported having acid thrown at him by the police. There were numerous other reports of policemen beating or illegally detaining street children; the authorities rarely took action in any of these instances.

d. Arbitrary Arrest, Detention, or Exile

Despite legal safeguards, there were frequent credible reports of arbitrary arrest by the security forces, incommunicado detention, and failure to adhere to the prescribed time limits for legal procedures. A court-issued arrest warrant is required unless a person is caught in the act of committing a crime. Police may not detain a suspect for over 6 hours without bringing him before a judge. The law provides for bail, access to lawyers, and limits to 20 days the time anyone may be held. After that period, a detainee must be charged or freed, and the authorities must produce detainees on court request.

Some persons detained illegally reported having been held at safe houses allegedly operated by security forces. Those responsible for illegal detentions routinely ignore writs of habeas corpus. The Archbishop's Human Rights Office charged that prisoners are sometimes not released in a timely fashion after completing their sentences due to the failure of judges to issue the necessary court order.

Investigations during the Serrano presidency into the activities of former Izabal department governor Lilian Vasquez de Guzman and alleged corruption by former Health Minister Miguel Montepeque appeared politically motivated. Montepeque was subsequently cleared of charges; Vasquez de Guzman went into self-imposed temporary exile in mid-February. The problem of politically motivated investigations lessened after the accession of de Leon Carpio to the presidency.

Exile is prohibited under the Constitution and is not practiced.

e. Denial of Fair Public Trial

The judicial system is ineffective and often unable to ensure a fair trial (see below). The Constitution provides for an independent judiciary composed of a Constitutional Court, a Supreme Court, appeals courts, and several courts of special jurisdiction, such as labor courts. However, military courts have jurisdiction over military personnel, including military commissioners who commit crimes while on official business, thus limiting the ability of civil courts to prosecute persons under military control in human rights abuse cases. PAC members are civilians and not under military jurisdiction.

Civilian trials are public after the first 15 days, which are dedicated to an initial investigative phase that is closed. Defendants have the right to be present at trials and to legal representation. An appeals court automatically reviews convictions. The Criminal Procedure Code is being changed to introduce oral proceedings (in both Spanish and indigenous languages) open to the public and to establish a viable public defender program. To allow more time for training and compliance, however, in December the effective date of the new Criminal Procedure Code was postponed until July 1994.

Most human rights violations are not investigated; security force personnel are reluctant to investigate cases involving colleagues. Police are also relatively few in number and lack resources and training. Judges are susceptible to intimidation and corruption and suffer from low pay, bad working conditions, and low morale. The Supreme Court and some lower court judges came under public pressure to resign for corruption and politicization of the legal system.

Some judges succeeded in being excused from hearing prominent cases by alleging they had received death threats. A total of 12 different judges were excused from the Myrna Mack Chang case, for example. The appeals court judges who heard the Mack, Devine, and "Traileros" cases reported having received threats in 1993. In addition, officials from the Attorney General's and Human Rights Ombudsman's offices, including the Ombudsman himself, have received threats.

Charges continue to be made publicly that the Supreme Court pressures lower court judges to decide cases in line with its wishes. In January the Constitutional Court ruled that the Supreme Court practice of arbitrarily transferring justices was unconstitutional, limiting one means of interfering in lower court cases.

There are no known political prisoners.

f. Arbitrary Interference with Privacy, Family, Home, or Correspondence

The Constitution provides for the inviolability of home, correspondence, and private documents, but these provisions are not always respected. Elements of the security forces continue to monitor private communications. Many human rights monitors reported receiving threats in the form of surveillance, telephone calls, and anonymous letters.

On March 26, the Guatemalan postal workers union and the Human Rights Ombudsman exposed a secret government mail interception unit located at the central post office. The Ombudsman attributed responsibility for the letter-opening operation to the presidential intelligence unit known as "Archivos," which was later disbanded.

Officials enforcing the military draft continued to enter homes and places of business without legally required court orders. The army attempted to curb such abuses in Quiche by setting up a draft board consisting of the zone military commander, the local representative of the Human Rights Ombudsman's office, and other civilian leaders. Under recruitment practices also adopted in other departments, potential draftees receive three induction notices, after which they are arrested if they do not report for enlistment. Under Guatemalan law, such arrests must be effected pursuant to a court order.

Credible reports of forced recruitment continued, however, particularly in late January. On July 27, in what was said to be the first case of its kind outside a city, Jalapa peasant Juan Engel Morales Lima filed suit claiming he was a victim of forced recruitment. In September Alvaro Enrique Madrid Matta was released from the army due to his being a minor after the Human Rights Ombudsman filed suit on September 14, asserting he had been forcibly recruited in August.

The Constitution requires that PAC service be voluntary. However, army officers, military commissioners, and PAC leaders often pressure men in areas of conflict to become PAC members. There were credible reports that some who refused to serve were killed or suffered other abuses.

g. Use of Excessive Force and Violations of Humanitarian Law in Internal Conflicts

Guatemala's armed internal conflict entered its 33rd year in 1993 and continued to be a major cause of human rights violations by both government and guerrilla forces. After a promising first half of the year, peace talks collapsed in early May. Human rights issues and the timing of a proposed cease-fire were primary areas of disagreement. The de Leon Carpio Government sought to renew the peace talks under a format allowing greater participation by other groups in Guatemalan society. Talks resumed under U.N. auspices in January 1994.

Communities of People in Resistance (CPR) claimed army harassment throughout the year, including late evening helicopter overflights and restriction of commerce. On February 27, Episcopal Conference Secretary Bishop Ramazzini announced that some 500 Guatemalans had fled to Mexico to avoid army operations in Cuarto Pueblo, Quiche. They later returned. On August 23, two former PAC members stated that PAC leaders and a military officer had forced them earlier in the year to harass a CPR. In September President de Leon Carpio met with a CPR delegation to discuss their complaints. CPR leaders announced the intention of their communities to live openly, establishing permanent settlements in 1994.

Bombings conducted by unknown perpetrators continued, with targets including former President Serrano's Solidarity Action Movement party headquarters and the headquarters of the Christian Democratic Party. Four banks were also bombed, and numerous rural electrical towers were blown up in January and February. Further bombings occurred in September, apparently tied to a political struggle involving efforts to remove allegedly corrupt Congressmen and Supreme Court officials from office. Commercial institutions, Christian Democratic Party headquarters, the Guatemalan Jurists Association, and the offices of the Mutual Support Group (GAM--a human rights group active in the removal effort), were targets. Shots also were fired near GAM leader Nineth Montenegro de Garcia's home on September 11; some congressional deputies and the Supreme Court president also reported death threats. No one was apprehended for these attacks and threats.

Guerrilla forces continued to recruit children into their ranks. Government troops found a 10-year-old child guerrilla after an armed engagement near Raxhuja, Alta Verapaz, on March 9. The wounded child was evacuated to a Guatemala City military hospital. In another instance, on June 17, 13-year-old Mario Ixcal was captured near La Libertad, Peten, after being wounded in an army-guerrilla clash. Treated and released to the Ombudsman's office, Ixcal said his URNG unit contained two other young boys. Documented cases of civilians being injured by guerrilla mines also occurred in 1993.

Section 2 Respect for Civil Liberties, Including:

a. Freedom of Speech and Press

The Constitution provides for freedom of expression. However, radio and television station owners charge that licensing and renewal procedures have been used to threaten stations critical of the Government, security forces, or powerful individuals. When Serrano was President, newspapers also complained about government interference, especially efforts to silence criticism of the President, his family, and alleged wrongdoing by security forces. On February 4, newspaper columnist Marta Altoaguirre's father's automobile was attacked by a group of heavily armed men. Although neither her father nor driver were injured, Altoaguirre, an outspoken critic of then President Serrano, characterized the attack as an effort to intimidate her.

While journalists assert that they operate more freely under the de Leon administration than they have at any other time in recent history, threats and attacks on journalists continued. On July 3, Jorge Carpio Nicolle, El Grafico publisher and a political party leader, was shot and killed by a group of armed men while traveling along a highway in Quetzaltenango. On December 24, Victor Manuel de la Cruz, a reporter for Radio Sonora, was shot and subsequently died in Guatemala City. Both cases remained unsolved at year's end, although the Government claims motivation for the attacks was criminal, not political.

On August 1, unknown individuals fired on the offices of the daily newspaper Siglo XXI. Despite President de Leon's personal interest, this case also remained unsolved at year's end. Five days later, three police officers threatened two journalists covering a student disturbance. The new police director disciplined the three officers, and one is currently awaiting trial for this threat. In mid-August, a television journalist who interviewed two senior URNG officials received threats.

On October 8, Oscar Masaya, director of a cable television news program, was severely beaten in Guatemala City. On October 28, 10 journalists were beaten by unknown individuals when they attempted to cover a press conference being given by activists occupying the Congress. During November the weekly Cronica reported receiving a threat that it should pay protection money to an alleged URNG representative. On November 25, newspaper editor Carlos Rigalt Cervantes was shot and pursued by persons in a car that moments earlier had struck the auto he was driving. A number of journalists, including the director of Tinamit magazine, also reported receiving death threats throughout the year. Several were included on a 24-person "death list" that appeared in late March or on a separate list that appeared in early October.

Newspapers, magazines, and radio and television stations were subjected to censorship when President Serrano announced his May 25 extraconstitutional actions. Radio and television stations also were forced to broadcast standardized government programming for extended periods. Security forces seized several thousand copies of the Cronica magazine issue reporting Serrano's actions, which were found burned by a roadside in late July. A number of journalists refused to cooperate with authorities during the coup; they were not harmed as censorship quickly broke down and a free press returned after Serrano's fall.

Despite harassment, the news media reported all major human rights stories and publicized communiques from the URNG, leftist groups, and others opposed to the Government or its policies. Both major press associations denounced incidents restricting freedom of the press and vowed to continue coverage of sensitive topics. Journalists admit, however, that self-censorship stemming from fear of reprisal continues to impede full investigative reporting on a variety of topics, including alleged government human rights violations, corruption of government officials and influential politicians, aspects of narcotics trafficking, and issues affecting the economic interests of powerful individuals.

b. Freedom of Peaceful Assembly and Association

The Constitution guarantees the right of peaceful assembly and association, but authorities banned rallies and broke up a demonstration following Serrano's May 25 coup. Prior to the coup, there was a plethora of demonstrations, some involving violence between police and marchers. Some demonstrators also claimed later harassment by security forces in retribution for their participation in the marches. Street demonstrations were a factor in focusing public disapproval on Serrano's actions. With his exit from office, constitutional guarantees of peaceful assembly and association were restored.

Freedom of political association is guaranteed under the Constitution, although organizations are nominally required to obtain legal status, a cumbersome and expensive procedure. In mid-December, the Government announced a streamlining of these procedures.

c. Freedom of Religion

No state religion exists. Religious freedom is constitutionally guaranteed and is respected in practice. Religious personnel are sometimes threatened for political reasons. About 70 per cent of the population is nominally Catholic, but many other faiths operate freely, especially evangelical Protestantism.

d. Freedom of Movement Within the Country, Foreign Travel, Emigration, and Repatriation

The Government does not restrict foreign travel, nor does it revoke citizenship for political reasons. Movement inside the country was unrestricted except where the army and PAC's limited travel in some areas of conflict. Guerrillas continued to establish roadblocks, assault private citizens to demand "war taxes," attack and drain petroleum trucks, and limit travel in certain rural areas.

Repatriation of refugees continued. By the end of 1993, 5,135 refugees had been repatriated to Guatemala. In December a large group of approximately 1,300 refugees returned to a conflict-torn zone that was originally their home.

On August 25, a representative of the Guatemalan refugee community in Mexico, Joaquin Jimenez Bautista, was beaten by a crowd including PAC members in Todos Santos, Huehuetenango. Jimenez had returned to Guatemala on August 17 as part of a refugee group searching for resettlement sites. On the day of the beating, he had left the group, returning for a visit to his former village. Crowd members later formally charged that Jimenez was a known guerrilla, who participated in murders in that town in the 1980's. Jimenez was briefly detained by police after a military patrol prevented the mob from lynching him. Jimenez was released by order of the Minister of Government and returned to Mexico on August 26.

Section 3 Respect for Political Rights: The Right of Citizens to Change Their Government

Guatemalans have the right to change their government by peaceful and democratic means. Universal suffrage by secret ballot exists for those 18 years of age and older; there are no property or literacy requirements, but members of the armed forces and police may not vote. The last national elections, which international observers found free and fair, were held in January 1991.

Following the removal of President Serrano and Vice President Espina, Ramiro de Leon Carpio was elected President by a congressional vote and sworn in on June 6, as prescribed by the Constitution. Congress elected Arturo Herbruger, who was head of Guatemala's independent Supreme Electoral Tribunal until retiring in early June, as Vice President on June 18.

Several women hold prominent political positions, including three Cabinet posts. Six of 116 members of Congress are female; 2 women are Supreme Court justices. A few women also hold important positions in political parties. Of the over 300 municipalities in Guatemala, women serve as mayors in only 5 (there had been no female mayors prior to the May elections in 276 small municipalities). There are no legal impediments to women's participation in politics, but females are underrepresented in the political arena. As of March 1990, 60 percent of registered voters were men and 40 percent women, despite women being slightly more numerous than men in the general population.

Indigenous people enjoy equal rights under the Constitution, and some have attained positions as Congressmen, army officers (including one general), government officials, and judges. Nevertheless, pervasive discrimination (see Section 5) limits opportunities for indigenous people to assume prominent roles in politics.

Section 4 Governmental Attitude Regarding International and Nongovernmental Investigation of Alleged Violations of Human Rights

Local human rights groups are permitted to operate, but members suffered threats and violence from security forces and PAC's. A greater tolerance for their activity exists since the de Leon administration took office. As noted in Section 1.a., members of the human rights organization CERJ were killed and threatened, and CERJ's Guatemala City office was broken into on May 8. CONAVIGUA, an indigenous widows' organization prominent in the advocacy of women's and human rights issues, also received threats. Prior to the midyear change in administrations, President Serrano and members of his Cabinet criticized both local and international human rights groups, accusing them of intentionally distorting Guatemala's human rights record for political purposes. High-ranking government officials working in the fields of human rights and jurisprudence complained publicly and privately of receiving threats stemming from their interest in resolving cases related to human rights violations, official corruption, and drug trafficking.

Relations between the executive branch and the Ombudsman's office were tense at times in the first half of the year, though, after the election of de Leon Carpio as President, matters improved considerably. The Ombudsman's office continued to enjoy widespread public support and respect; Congress elected Jorge Mario Garcia Laguardia as the new Human Rights Ombudsman to replace de Leon Carpio. The new Government made clear its willingness and commitment to receive international and domestic human rights groups. Senior officials met numerous foreign and international officials and activists.

The Peace Brigades, an international human rights monitoring organization, was unable to obtain government recognition despite persistent efforts. The absence of legal status did not, however, prevent Peace Brigades or other human rights organizations from operating openly.

On June 17, union activist Elizabeth Recinos was kidnaped, along with a companion. Though the companion was quickly released, Recinos was held for 4 days, drugged, and beaten. President de Leon condemned the kidnaping, and the police conducted an investigation, though no arrests were made. The police initially labeled this a "self-kidnaping," although there were more credible claims that the action was meant as a threat to unions and human rights groups. On July 11, union official Walter Manuel Najera Molina was kidnaped and interrogated about union activities for 3 hours by four armed men, during which time he was beaten. During his questioning, Najera was asked about various political and human rights leaders, whom his captives linked to the guerrillas.

On September 1, a member of a group advocating a purge of alleged corrupt congressional and Supreme Court officials, Olga Marina Ruano Cruz, was abducted and beaten before being released a day later.

Section 5 Discrimination Based on Race, Sex, Religion, Disability, Language, or Social Status

Women

Despite legal protection, women face job discrimination and on average receive significantly lower pay than men. They are primarily employed in low wage jobs in the textile industry, agriculture, retail business, and the public sector. A mid-1991 U.N. study reported that women, although slightly more than half the total population, make up only 24 percent of the economically active population. More working women than men are employed in the informal sector of the economy, where pay and benefits are generally low. A 1989 survey reported that in Guatemala City women are underrepresented in high-income categories and overrepresented among poorly paid workers.

The Constitution asserts the principle of equality between the sexes. Nonetheless, not all domestic laws have been modified to take into account this constitutional provision or to reflect the numerous treaties bearing on the rights of women to which Guatemala has adhered. (Provisions of such treaties take precedence over domestic law.) In some cases, laws remain discriminatory against women, such as the Penal Code's provisions on adultery. Only women may be charged with adultery, while men fall under a different statute, which is more limited, makes it more difficult to prove, and carries a lesser penalty.

CONAVIGUA reported that violence against women, including domestic violence, remains common but receives little attention. There is no specific law against domestic violence, although it is considered to fall under other statutes. Criminal sexual violence often goes unreported by victims, and relatively few rape cases come to court. The Ombudsman's office has only recently begun collecting statistics on this problem.

Children

When signing the U.N. Convention on the Rights of the Child, the Government stated its commitment to children's human rights and welfare and pledged to revise its laws in line with the Convention. The Human Rights Ombudsman's office, along with a commission of 25 governmental and nongovernmental organizations (NGO's), was revising the current Code but at year's end had not completed the task.

The abuse of street children (see Section 1.c.) is a serious problem in major cities. Estimates of street children range between 1,500 and 5,000, with the majority of these youths concentrated in Guatemala City. These children are often recruited into thievery or prostitution rings. The Government and a number of NGO's have youth centers, but the funds devoted to them are inadequate for the problem. In August the Government opened a school in San Jose Pinula for the rehabilitation of street children.

An accord between Casa Alianza and the Attorney General's office was not renewed in 1993 due to problems involving the suspension of the then Attorney General. On August 16, the new civilian police director met with Casa Alianza as one of his first public acts and expressed his commitment to the rights of street children and his intention to punish police officers and others who abuse them. Casa Alianza announced after the visit that it and the police will coordinate programs to combat street children's drug addiction and abuse of the children. The police director also assumed personal responsibility for the Department's Minors' Division, and the Ministry of Government established a separate division to handle street children matters.

Indigenous People

Indigenous people comprise one-half of the population but remain largely outside the country's political, economic, social, and cultural mainstream. Indigenous people suffered most of the serious human rights abuses described throughout this report. Rural indigenous men were more likely than urban dwellers to be drafted by the army or forcibly recruited by either the army or guerrilla groups. Although indigenous people are accorded equal rights by the Constitution, in practice they have only minimal participation in decisions affecting their lands, culture, traditions, and allocation of natural resources.

Rural indigenous people have limited educational opportunities and thus have limited employment opportunities. Illiteracy is prevalent in indigenous communities. Many indigenous people do not speak Spanish. Linguistic barriers hinder interaction with the Government and limit access to public services, including the judiciary, because few officials speak indigenous languages. Indigenous persons arrested for crimes are often at a disadvantage due to their lack of Spanish. The Public Defender's Office is charged with providing judicial translating services but is not sufficiently staffed to cope with the problem. Under the new Penal Code, the Government will be required to provide translating services to all in need.

People with Disabilities

The Constitution provides that the State should protect disabled persons. Nonetheless, physically disabled persons are discriminated against in employment practices, and few resources are devoted to combat this problem or otherwise to assist people with disabilities. There is no legislation mandating accessibility for the disabled.

Section 6 Worker Rights

a. The Right of Association

The Constitution and the 1947 Labor Code, as amended, provide workers freedom of association and the right to form and join trade unions. The Labor Code was amended in late 1992 to facilitate freedom of association, to strengthen the rights of working women, to increase penalties for violations of labor laws, and to enhance the role of the Labor Ministry and labor courts in enforcing them. All workers have the right to form or join unions, including public sector employees, with the exception of members of security forces. In February a decree interpreting "essential services" in such a way as to restrict organizing public sector workers was withdrawn, following protests by public sector employees and the Minister of Labor. After national police officers were unsuccessful in their attempts to form a trade union or association during most of the year, the new Director opened a dialog with representatives of this group. Between 5 and 8 percent of the work force is organized. The 890 unions in the country are independent of government and political party domination.

The Labor Code amendments simplified the process for unions to obtain legal status, which had been criticised as excessively cumbersome, by eliminating a number of provisions, including one that required the nation's President to sign the final papers. Complaints by trade union leaders about continuing problems with the recognition process, plus concerns expressed by the International Labor Organization (ILO) Committee of Experts, prompted the new Minister of Labor to seek revisions to this procedure. In November the Labor Ministry issued revised internal regulations covering the approval of new trade unions. This reduced the number of steps needed within the Ministry to grant approval, established strict timetables for consideration of union applications, and made clear that noncompliance with this timetable could lead to dismissal of guilty bureaucrats.

Experience with these new regulations during the last 2 months of 1993 seems to indicate they helped accelerate the approval procedure. For example, the application by workers at a bottling company in La Mariposa received final approval in a record 5 weeks. During the last half of 1993, most of the backlog of union applications was eliminated and several previously controversial union applications were approved, such as the union representing Coca-Cola workers in Puerto Barrios, several unions representing "maquila" (drawback, or in-bond export) workers, and the long-pending application by the union representing workers in the Bank of the Army (Banco del Ejercito).

Workers have the right to strike, but Labor Code procedures make legal strikes cumbersome. The ILO Committee of Experts criticized the requirement that two-thirds of the workers vote to approve a strike and the prohibition of strikes by agricultural workers at harvest time, as well as those deemed by the Government to affect the national economy seriously.

The few strikes that did occur were generally called without legal authorization, and in practice the Government made no effort to intervene on the basis of illegality. Nonetheless, the lack of legal sanction for a strike can be used as a threat against strikers. Organized labor's structural weaknesses, a reluctance to organize forcefully, the paucity of membership funds, and a poor overall economic situation with high unemployment and underemployment limit the duration of virtually all strikes.

The law protects workers from retribution for forming and participating in trade union activities, but compliance with the law varies. While some employers accept unionization, many employers routinely attempt to circumvent Labor Code provisions in order to resist union activities, which many view as exceedingly confrontational and disruptive. Enforcement of the right to form and participate in trade union activities is further hindered by an incompetent legal system and the inadequate level of penalties provided by law for violations. Fines for violating the Labor Code were increased when the Code was amended in 1992.

Trade union leaders and individual workers reported that workers were threatened with the loss of their jobs or physical harm for their interest in forming a union. The International Confederation of Free Trade Unions (ICFTU) alleged that a wave of illegal and arbitrary mass firings and intimidation took place at the beginning of the year, including the dismissal of 515 union members at the State Forest and Wildlife Office and the firing of 25 workers from the National Agrarian Reform Institute for joining a union.

One union leader was discharged in late 1992 by a state-owned enterprise for participating in a seminar sponsored by the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations despite clear contract language that would permit such training. Although a lower labor court acted quickly and ordered the company to reinstate this leader, there was no final action on his case during the year. This case was unusual because union leaders and other industrial relations observers agree that labor courts are generally slow to hear complaints, as well as to issue decisions related to complaints by workers and unionists that their rights to form and join trade unions are not protected.

Trade union leaders and members were among those subjected to a variety of abuses, such as threats, assassination attempts, kidnapings, and physical harm (see Section 4). A number of trade union officials or members were kidnaped during the year. They were generally questioned about the activities of well-known union leaders, often physically abused (but not killed), and then released. Since many of these incidents happened during the period just after Ramiro de Leon Carpio became President, these attacks seemed intended as a warning to trade unionists and other leaders about their increased exposure in political affairs.

Public sector union leaders, as well as unionists in the high-profile maquila sector, also reported receiving threats against themselves and their families, usually coinciding with union demands for improved benefits. The ICFTU charged that many trade unionists were forced into or sought exile.

By law, union leaders may serve only one term in a particular union office, but, by rotating union positions, the same persons can stay on union executive boards for extended periods of time. The Constitution and the 1992 Code amendments protect the right of political participation for individuals, including trade union leaders. During 1993 trade union leaders became more involved in national political affairs, particularly during the political turmoil following the resignation of former president Serrano and the move to purge Congress and the Supreme Court.

Unions may and do form federations and confederations and join international organizations. With very few exceptions, trade unions depend on assistance received from international contacts.

An active "solidarity" movement claimed approximately 100,000 members in over 350 companies. Unions may legally continue to operate in workplaces which have solidarity associations, and workers have the right to choose between the two or belong to both. The Government views these associations as civic organizations which need not interfere with the functioning of trade unions, since the amended Labor Code stipulates that trade unions have the exclusive right to bargain collectively over work conditions on behalf of workers. Unionists charge, however, that solidarity associations are promoted by management to avoid the formation of trade unions or to rival existing labor unions. There are credible reports that, at times, democratic principles are not adhered to in the formation and management of some of these associations, and workers are unable to participate fully and freely in decisionmaking. Similar credible charges are made against some trade union organizations.

At the request of trade union leaders, the independent Human Rights Ombudsman, through his Office for Economic and Social Issues, receives complaints related to trade union activities. Union leaders and workers filed a number of complaints with the Ombudsman during the year, but no results were apparent by year's end. In June members of the ILO Committee on the Application of Conventions noted the serious situation of violence and insecurity that exists in Guatemala, including murders and abductions "with the participation of the army and death squads," as well as the "difficult transition towards democracy" under way in the country and asked for "total and unconditional respect" by the new Government to their observations.

b. The Right to Organize and Bargain Collectively

Workers have the right to organize and bargain collectively but are often denied this right by antiunion actions of employers. The practice of collective bargaining is limited, moreover, by the weak structure of the union movement, the lack of experience with this practice, and by the preference of management in many cases to avoid formal ties with trade unions. While some well-written collective contracts are honored by both management and the unions, other contracts were openly ignored and violated by both parties. Most workers, even those organized by trade unions, do not have collective contracts to cover their wages and working conditions. Wages received by the bulk of the work force tend to be the minimum wages established by a bipartite commission, which operates under the guidance of the Ministry of Labor.

Workers cannot be dismissed for participating in the formation of a trade union; complaints in this regard must be filed with the labor inspectors for resolution. The Labor Code provides for the right of employers to fire workers for cause and permits workers to appeal their dismissal to the labor courts but does not require the reinstatement of any worker fired without cause. The revised Code prohibits employers from firing workers for union organizing and protects them for 60 days following the official publication of approval of the union. It also prohibits employers from firing any member of the executive committee of a union and protects them for an additional 12 months after they are no longer on the executive committee. If a member is fired for cause, this can only be made effective after a trial and a court resolution has been issued.

Labor courts responsible for enforcing labor laws continued generally to be ineffective. Efforts to restructure and modernize the labor court system made no headway. A heavy backlog of labor cases continued to clog the courts.

The scarcity of labor inspectors, the lack of adequate training and resources, and structural weaknesses in the labor court system resulted in only minimal enforcement of the Labor Code. The Ministry of Labor hired 37 new labor inspectors in mid-September and provided them with training and resources to carry out their functions. Some were assigned to rural areas to give greater attention to the lack of protection of worker rights for rural workers. In the second half of the year, the Ministry of Labor significantly stepped up its inspections and the number of cases it filed in the courts for failure to comply with the labor law.

Labor laws and regulations apply throughout the country, including in the few export processing zones (EPZ's). The laws governing EPZ's are not discriminatory on the subject of organizing trade unions or collective bargaining. While union leaders often blame employer pressures and unofficial restricted access to the EPZ's for their virtual inability to organize workers in these zones, labor conditions in these zones are no different from those found outside the zones.

Workers and trade union leaders charge that all workers, including those in EPZ's, receive low wages, work long hours without legally required overtime pay, and toil under poor working conditions. While Labor Ministry inspectors filed numerous complaints before the labor courts on these charges, few of these cases were resolved due to inefficiencies within the court system, corruption and political chicanery, and legal maneuvering to prolong the hearing process.

c. Prohibition of Forced or Compulsory Labor

The Constitution bars forced or compulsory labor, and the practice does not exist. Human rights and indigenous groups continue to charge that coerced participation, particularly of indigenous peoples, in the PAC's violates prohibitions against forced labor. There were credible reports of isolated instances of unpaid PAC members being used to provide free manual labor, but no systematic pattern of such practice was established.

d. Minimum Age for the Employment of Children

Although the Constitution bars employment of minors under the age of 14, children below this age are regularly employed in the formal and informal sectors of the economy. Laws governing the employment of minors are not effectively enforced, due to the shortage of qualified labor inspectors and structural weaknesses in the labor court system. Only 5,000 minors have legal permission from the Labor Ministry to work. Thousands working without legal permission are open to exploitation, generally receiving no social benefits, no social insurance, no pension or vacations, and no severance pay and are paid below the minimum wage level. The Labor Ministry has a program to educate minors, their parents, and employers on the rights of minors in the labor market. Economic necessity, however, forces most families to have their children seek some type of employment to supplement the family income.

The Constitution provides for compulsory education for all children up to the age of 12 or to the sixth grade. The statistics on illiteracy, however, clearly demonstrate this law is not enforced. The national illiteracy rate is 52 percent, with rural areas showing a rate of 85 percent. The bulk of those who cannot read or write are women, particularly indigenous women. Child labor is largely confined to small or family-type enterprises, to agricultural work, and to the informal sectors of the economy. There are no export industries in which child labor is a significant factor.

Minimum wages are set by law. Due to a variety of factors, most importantly the oversupply of labor and the limited demand for it, the minimum wage for most unskilled and semiskilled workers is the prevailing wage ceiling and not the more commonly accepted wage floor. Widespread, credible reports indicated the minimum wage is commonly, if illegally, not paid to significant numbers of rural and urban workers.

The minimum wage was last increased in late 1991, when it was raised by 78.5 percent. The minimum wage for commercial and industrial workers is $2.42 (14 quetzals) for an 8-hour workday, including a required hourly bonus. The minimum wage for farm workers is $2.00 (11.60 quetzals) per day, including a mandatory bonus. This minimum wage does not provide a decent standard of living; government statistics indicate that it should be at least three times higher than the current level.

Guatemala's 1985 Constitution calls for election by universal suffrage of a one-term President, a unicameral Congress, and municipal officers; it mandates an independent judiciary and a human rights ombudsman, who is elected by and reports to Congress. Midway through his 5-year term, after rising street protests, President Jorge Serrano suspended several sections of the Constitution and dissolved Congress and the Supreme and Constitutional Courts on May 25. After extremely negative domestic and international reaction to this extraconstitutional move, Serrano was peacefully and constitutionally dismissed on June 1. Congress and the courts were called back into session, and on June 5, Congress, as prescribed by the Constitution, elected then Human Rights Ombudsman Ramiro de Leon Carpio to finish Serrano's presidential term, which ends in January 1996.

The armed forces operate with considerable institutional and legal autonomy, particularly in security and military matters. President de Leon Carpio, as Commander in Chief, replaced two Defense Ministers with officers of his own choosing. The 43,000-man army, which has responsibility for national security, has fought a leftist insurgency for more than three decades. The National Police (12,000 strong) and Treasury Police (2,000) report to the Interior Minister and share responsibility for internal security with the army. A target of frequent criticism by human rights groups, the "Hunapu" anticrime task force patrols--composed of National Police, Treasury Police, and Mobile Military Police (PMA)--were eliminated during the year. However, in December, as part of a Christmastime anticrime effort, limited joint patrols were reinstituted in some communities. The new President appointed a civilian as National Police chief in August, as well as other civilians to senior positions in the police and Ministry of Interior, and removed all military personnel from the police on August 27.. Some 500,000 men serve in voluntary civil self-defense committees, commonly called Civil Defense Patrols (PAC's), some of which conduct counterinsurgency patrols in rural areas. The Human Rights Ombudsman and the Catholic Archbishop's Human Rights Office report that some PAC members were compelled to join the patrols, in violation of the Constitution. Security forces and especially PAC'S committed numerous serious human rights violations in 1993.

The agriculture-based, private sector-oriented economy was projected to grow approximately 4 percent in 1993, which would produce an increase in per capita income of about 1 percent. Inflation was expected to reach 12 percent. Guatemala has negotiated a shadow agreement with the International Monetary Fund, despite fiscal and monetary difficulties. There is a marked disparity in income distribution and poverty is pervasive, particularly in the large indigenous community.

Although there were improvements in the human rights situation in 1993, serious abuses occurred frequently. Statistics prepared by the Archbishop's Human Rights Office showed an increase in extrajudicial killings as of mid-December and a substantial increase in forced disappearances, with no improvement in other categories. Many of these violations occurred in the latter half of the year. The civil patrols, military, and police continued to commit a majority of the major violations, including extrajudicial killings, political kidnapings, and death threats. The seriousness of the continuing violations was underlined by the circulation in March of a "death list" containing 24 names and another in October with 23 names. However, no one on either list was kidnaped or killed.

The election of President de Leon Carpio, the highly respected former human rights ombudsman, raised hopes there would be a rapid improvement in the human rights situation. The new President encouraged human rights groups and showed a willingness to investigate abuses and to make structural changes, such as dismantling the "Archivos" presidential intelligence unit and restructuring the police, including creation of a special police unit to investigate all cases of forced disappearances, extrajudicial killings, and other violations of a political nature allegedly committed by the police. Nevertheless, these changes failed to reduce the actual number of abuses allegedly committed by government forces. The 33-year-old internal insurgency continued to be a major cause of human rights violations. Both the security forces and the guerrillas committed numerous and serious human rights abuses. Guerrilla abuses included extrajudicial killings, kidnapings, forced labor recruitment, widespread use of mines and explosives in civilian areas, and the use of children in combat. Guerrilla attacks on infrastructure targets continued throughout the year.

RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

Section 1 Respect for the Integrity of the Person, Including Freedom from:

a. Political and Other Extrajudicial Killing

Politically motivated killings continued in 1993, and with few exceptions the Government failed to investigate them fully or to detain and prosecute the perpetrators of extrajudicial killings. Full-year statistics from the Human Rights Ombudsman's Office listed 14 cases of extrajudicial killings, with 146 other cases under investigation. This compares with 48 confirmed extrajudicial killings in 1992, with 318 under investigation. The Archbishop's Human Rights Office reported 239 extrajudicial killings up to mid-December 1993 as compared to 204 in 1992 but did not break down the figures according to the responsible organization.

The security forces and persons associated with or protected by the army, such as the Civil Defense Patrols or military commissioners, committed a number of these killings, many of which took place in areas of guerrilla conflict. The Ombudsman, the Attorney General, and human rights groups have found evidence of killings by PAC's. PAC leaders are feared in many rural communities. They enjoy army backing and often immunity from prosecution. Likewise, members of the security forces are rarely held accountable for human rights violations.

Civil patrols continued to be especially responsible for human rights violations, including the killing of human rights activists. PAC's threatened and killed members of the Runujel Junam Council of Ethnic Communities (CERJ), a rural-based human rights organization dedicated mainly to opposing involuntary service in PAC's. Tomas Lares Cipriano, a CERJ and United Peasants Committee (CUC) member in Joyabaj, was killed on April 30 by PAC members, according to family members and witnesses.

Ten persons, from two separate families, took refuge in the Santa Cruz del Quiche CERJ office on June 10 after being threatened with death for not participating in PAC's and for being CERJ members. On October 14, 3 of the 10 left the CERJ offices under police protection and resettled in a town without a PAC. The other seven returned to their original community in early January. Charges against CERJ leader Amilcar Mendez for allegedly providing explosives to guerrillas in October 1992 were dropped in March. Captain Anibal Roberto Landaveri,

Commander of the Chiul, Quiche, stockade, was arrested in May for having three CERJ members beaten on his base. He was dismissed from the army and tried for illegal detention, abuse of authority, coercion, and causing injuries. In addition to being dismissed, he was found guilty and sentenced to 2 1/2 years in prison and payment of damages to those harmed. However, the sentence was suspended by the military court, which has the discretion to do so when a light sentence is imposed.

On August 3, Huehuetenango PAC members fired on marchers demanding the dissolution of the civil patrols, killing Juan Chonay Pablo and wounding two others. Five PAC members have been questioned by the authorities for Chonay's murder, with one still remaining in jail. Ten arrest warrants for other PAC members remain outstanding. Witnesses subsequently reported receiving threats from PAC members. PAC leader Efrain Domingo Morales, from the town of Xemal in the same area, was murdered by unknown persons in mid-September. A surviving family member reported that PAC members killed two peasants from Xemal, Colotenango, on September 26.

Former Corporal Nicolas Gutierrez Cruz, convicted in the January 17, 1992, killing of four persons in Ciudad Peronia, exhausted his legal appeals on July 23 when the Constitutional Court denied his request to void his death sentence. In early October, President de Leon Carpio commuted his sentence to 30 years, the maximum legally possible. A fellow ex-soldier convicted in the killings escaped on May 9, 1992; in May 1993, an appellate court sentenced an army enlisted man to 2 years in prison for negligence in allowing the escape. On March 19, the then Human Rights Ombudsman de Leon Carpio accused army troops of responsibility for the August 31, 1992, kidnaping, torture, and murder of Huehuetenango peasant Lucas Perez Tadeo. Although the army promised a full investigation, no results were reported by year's end.

On May 1, civil patrol members in Jocopilas surrounded a house and killed 11 inhabitants (as well as an unborn child). Many of the 11 were known as criminals in the community and, the day of their deaths, are said to have robbed one family and raped three women. Police arrived prior to the killings but left after being intimidated by the local PAC.

On the Government's appeal of an earlier acquittal, Quiche PAC chiefs Manuel Perebal Ajtzalam and Manuel Leon Lares were sentenced to 30 years in prison for the February 17, 1991, killing of Juan Perebal Xirum and his son and the injuring of another son. Those attacked had testified against Perebal in the case of Sebastian Velasquez Mejia, a community leader opposed to the PAC's who was kidnaped and later found dead.

Persons associated with the security forces were responsible for vigilante killings. According to the Casa Alianza, an organization that fosters protection of the human rights of street children, street children Henry Yubani Alvarez and Francisco Tziac were shot in downtown Guatemala City on April 17 and 22. Casa Alianza believes that a private security guard killed Alvarez and off-duty military commissioners wounded Tziac, both shot possibly due to petty thievery. On May 11, a congressional bodyguard shot a student protesting at the Congress. He died a day later; the bodyguard who allegedly killed him remains a fugitive.

There was some progress in certain past high-profile cases. Former government security agent Noel de Jesus Beteta Alvarez was sentenced in February to 30 years in prison for the 1990 murder of Guatemalan anthropologist Myrna Mack Chang and the unrelated beating of a minor. The conviction is now being appealed, with plaintiff Helen Mack also seeking prosecution of the alleged military "intellectual authors" of the crime. On September 1, Myrna Mack's former workplace was broken into and death threats left against Helen Mack. On September 23, Beteta briefly escaped from jail but was recaptured 5 hours later and charged in the escape.

On May 11, an appellate court sentenced Captain Hugo Contreras to 20 years for planning the 1990 kidnaping that led to the death of U.S. citizen Michael Devine and confirmed the 30-year sentences for six enlisted men. After hearing the verdict, however, Contreras escaped from military custody and remains at large. While the circumstances of his escape suggested complicity by the military, the only punishment was a 2-year suspended sentence given to an enlisted man for not being at his post when Contreras escaped. Senior officers accused of covering up the case have not been brought to trial.

On August 18, an appeals court sentenced 22 former police officers, who formed part of a "Hunapu" patrol, to 30 years in prison for the April 10, 1992, death of university student Julio Rigoberto Cu Quim and for injuring six other students. Earlier, on July 22, seven PMA members of the same patrol were given sentences of 14 years (4 commutable) for the crime.

There was no progress in resolving numerous other cases of past extrajudicial killings, including the 1988 "white van" case, the 1989 disappearances and murders of university students, the 1990 Hector Oqueli Colindres and Gilda Flores killings, the 1990 disappearance of Maria Tiu Tojin and her daughter, the 1991 murder of police detective Jose Luis Merida Escobar, the 1991 disappearance of Diego Domingo Martin, or past kidnapings and murders of various CERJ members. On May 5, an appeals court upheld a lower court decision to dismiss charges against six military defendants for the 1991 "Traileros" killings in Taxisco. The decision was appealed. The Government's frequent inability to control or sanction those responsible for human rights offenses is a major impediment to human rights progress.

b. Disappearance

The Archbishop's Human Rights Office reported 46 forced disappearances during 1993, as compared with 11 in 1992. Seventeen were either labeled or presumed to be political in nature. Reports linked many political disappearances to persons connected with the armed forces. The Ombudsman's Office listed 2 cases of forced disappearances, with 29 others under investigation at year's end. This compares with the Ombudman's 1992 statistics of 10 confirmed forced disappearances and 62 cases still under investigation. The Government did not identify or prosecute the perpetrators of any of these disappearances.

In August the wife of guerrilla Efrain Bamaca claimed he was being held in a clandestine prison after results of an exhumation of his supposed grave proved negative. The army denied this, though it has admitted in the past to housing former guerrillas who cooperate with the armed forces on military bases. One of these ex-guerrillas, Angel Osorio, was killed on August 19 by members of the Guatemala National Revolutionary Unity (URNG) guerrilla coalition when he was stopped at a guerrilla roadblock after leaving a Quiche military base to visit his family.

Guerrilla forces kidnaped San Marcos PAC members Margarito Lopez and Obdulio Zapeta on August 7 and Diego Chel Matom, an army enlisted man riding a bus in Quiche 3 days later. In early December, the press reported that 10 persons dressed in the manner of URNG guerrillas approached Ramona Munoz and Maritza Gil as they were working on their Santa Rose farm and took them to nearby mountains under threat of death. The whereabouts of all these persons were unknown as of year's end.

c. Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman, or Degrading Treatment or Punishment

The Constitution protects the integrity and security of the person. However, as in past years, many bodies were found throughout Guatemala bearing signs of severe disfigurement or postmortem mutilation. The Human Rights Ombudsman's Office listed seven cases of torture in 1993. The Archbishop's Human Rights Office listed nine cases of torture through mid-December. In one case, a male student was picked up by three unidentified men on March 27, beaten unconscious, held for 3 days, and asked about student leaders. In April a female victim was also beaten unconscious but apparently was not asked any questions.

There were other credible reports of mistreatment by security forces, including use of excessive force by police at the time of arrest and of abusive treatment of persons in rural areas by the army, Civil Defense Patrols, military commissioners, and police. The Government often failed to investigate or take any other action in response to such reports. Although action was rarely taken, cases of rape traced to individual soldiers were reported.

Casa Alianza, the organization dedicated to street children, reported in March that street child Julio Cesar Reyes was picked up by two persons he recognized as policemen and burned on his arm 29 times with a cigarette. On May 23, a street child reported having acid thrown at him by the police. There were numerous other reports of policemen beating or illegally detaining street children; the authorities rarely took action in any of these instances.

d. Arbitrary Arrest, Detention, or Exile

Despite legal safeguards, there were frequent credible reports of arbitrary arrest by the security forces, incommunicado detention, and failure to adhere to the prescribed time limits for legal procedures. A court-issued arrest warrant is required unless a person is caught in the act of committing a crime. Police may not detain a suspect for over 6 hours without bringing him before a judge. The law provides for bail, access to lawyers, and limits to 20 days the time anyone may be held. After that period, a detainee must be charged or freed, and the authorities must produce detainees on court request.

Some persons detained illegally reported having been held at safe houses allegedly operated by security forces. Those responsible for illegal detentions routinely ignore writs of habeas corpus. The Archbishop's Human Rights Office charged that prisoners are sometimes not released in a timely fashion after completing their sentences due to the failure of judges to issue the necessary court order.

Investigations during the Serrano presidency into the activities of former Izabal department governor Lilian Vasquez de Guzman and alleged corruption by former Health Minister Miguel Montepeque appeared politically motivated. Montepeque was subsequently cleared of charges; Vasquez de Guzman went into self-imposed temporary exile in mid-February. The problem of politically motivated investigations lessened after the accession of de Leon Carpio to the presidency.

Exile is prohibited under the Constitution and is not practiced.

e. Denial of Fair Public Trial

The judicial system is ineffective and often unable to ensure a fair trial (see below). The Constitution provides for an independent judiciary composed of a Constitutional Court, a Supreme Court, appeals courts, and several courts of special jurisdiction, such as labor courts. However, military courts have jurisdiction over military personnel, including military commissioners who commit crimes while on official business, thus limiting the ability of civil courts to prosecute persons under military control in human rights abuse cases. PAC members are civilians and not under military jurisdiction.

Civilian trials are public after the first 15 days, which are dedicated to an initial investigative phase that is closed. Defendants have the right to be present at trials and to legal representation. An appeals court automatically reviews convictions. The Criminal Procedure Code is being changed to introduce oral proceedings (in both Spanish and indigenous languages) open to the public and to establish a viable public defender program. To allow more time for training and compliance, however, in December the effective date of the new Criminal Procedure Code was postponed until July 1994.

Most human rights violations are not investigated; security force personnel are reluctant to investigate cases involving colleagues. Police are also relatively few in number and lack resources and training. Judges are susceptible to intimidation and corruption and suffer from low pay, bad working conditions, and low morale. The Supreme Court and some lower court judges came under public pressure to resign for corruption and politicization of the legal system.

Some judges succeeded in being excused from hearing prominent cases by alleging they had received death threats. A total of 12 different judges were excused from the Myrna Mack Chang case, for example. The appeals court judges who heard the Mack, Devine, and "Traileros" cases reported having received threats in 1993. In addition, officials from the Attorney General's and Human Rights Ombudsman's offices, including the Ombudsman himself, have received threats.

Charges continue to be made publicly that the Supreme Court pressures lower court judges to decide cases in line with its wishes. In January the Constitutional Court ruled that the Supreme Court practice of arbitrarily transferring justices was unconstitutional, limiting one means of interfering in lower court cases.

There are no known political prisoners.

f. Arbitrary Interference with Privacy, Family, Home, or Correspondence

The Constitution provides for the inviolability of home, correspondence, and private documents, but these provisions are not always respected. Elements of the security forces continue to monitor private communications. Many human rights monitors reported receiving threats in the form of surveillance, telephone calls, and anonymous letters.

On March 26, the Guatemalan postal workers union and the Human Rights Ombudsman exposed a secret government mail interception unit located at the central post office. The Ombudsman attributed responsibility for the letter-opening operation to the presidential intelligence unit known as "Archivos," which was later disbanded.

Officials enforcing the military draft continued to enter homes and places of business without legally required court orders. The army attempted to curb such abuses in Quiche by setting up a draft board consisting of the zone military commander, the local representative of the Human Rights Ombudsman's office, and other civilian leaders. Under recruitment practices also adopted in other departments, potential draftees receive three induction notices, after which they are arrested if they do not report for enlistment. Under Guatemalan law, such arrests must be effected pursuant to a court order.

Credible reports of forced recruitment continued, however, particularly in late January. On July 27, in what was said to be the first case of its kind outside a city, Jalapa peasant Juan Engel Morales Lima filed suit claiming he was a victim of forced recruitment. In September Alvaro Enrique Madrid Matta was released from the army due to his being a minor after the Human Rights Ombudsman filed suit on September 14, asserting he had been forcibly recruited in August.

The Constitution requires that PAC service be voluntary. However, army officers, military commissioners, and PAC leaders often pressure men in areas of conflict to become PAC members. There were credible reports that some who refused to serve were killed or suffered other abuses.

g. Use of Excessive Force and Violations of Humanitarian Law in Internal Conflicts

Guatemala's armed internal conflict entered its 33rd year in 1993 and continued to be a major cause of human rights violations by both government and guerrilla forces. After a promising first half of the year, peace talks collapsed in early May. Human rights issues and the timing of a proposed cease-fire were primary areas of disagreement. The de Leon Carpio Government sought to renew the peace talks under a format allowing greater participation by other groups in Guatemalan society. Talks resumed under U.N. auspices in January 1994.

Communities of People in Resistance (CPR) claimed army harassment throughout the year, including late evening helicopter overflights and restriction of commerce. On February 27, Episcopal Conference Secretary Bishop Ramazzini announced that some 500 Guatemalans had fled to Mexico to avoid army operations in Cuarto Pueblo, Quiche. They later returned. On August 23, two former PAC members stated that PAC leaders and a military officer had forced them earlier in the year to harass a CPR. In September President de Leon Carpio met with a CPR delegation to discuss their complaints. CPR leaders announced the intention of their communities to live openly, establishing permanent settlements in 1994.

Bombings conducted by unknown perpetrators continued, with targets including former President Serrano's Solidarity Action Movement party headquarters and the headquarters of the Christian Democratic Party. Four banks were also bombed, and numerous rural electrical towers were blown up in January and February. Further bombings occurred in September, apparently tied to a political struggle involving efforts to remove allegedly corrupt Congressmen and Supreme Court officials from office. Commercial institutions, Christian Democratic Party headquarters, the Guatemalan Jurists Association, and the offices of the Mutual Support Group (GAM--a human rights group active in the removal effort), were targets. Shots also were fired near GAM leader Nineth Montenegro de Garcia's home on September 11; some congressional deputies and the Supreme Court president also reported death threats. No one was apprehended for these attacks and threats.

Guerrilla forces continued to recruit children into their ranks. Government troops found a 10-year-old child guerrilla after an armed engagement near Raxhuja, Alta Verapaz, on March 9. The wounded child was evacuated to a Guatemala City military hospital. In another instance, on June 17, 13-year-old Mario Ixcal was captured near La Libertad, Peten, after being wounded in an army-guerrilla clash. Treated and released to the Ombudsman's office, Ixcal said his URNG unit contained two other young boys. Documented cases of civilians being injured by guerrilla mines also occurred in 1993.

Section 2 Respect for Civil Liberties, Including:

a. Freedom of Speech and Press

The Constitution provides for freedom of expression. However, radio and television station owners charge that licensing and renewal procedures have been used to threaten stations critical of the Government, security forces, or powerful individuals. When Serrano was President, newspapers also complained about government interference, especially efforts to silence criticism of the President, his family, and alleged wrongdoing by security forces. On February 4, newspaper columnist Marta Altoaguirre's father's automobile was attacked by a group of heavily armed men. Although neither her father nor driver were injured, Altoaguirre, an outspoken critic of then President Serrano, characterized the attack as an effort to intimidate her.

While journalists assert that they operate more freely under the de Leon administration than they have at any other time in recent history, threats and attacks on journalists continued. On July 3, Jorge Carpio Nicolle, El Grafico publisher and a political party leader, was shot and killed by a group of armed men while traveling along a highway in Quetzaltenango. On December 24, Victor Manuel de la Cruz, a reporter for Radio Sonora, was shot and subsequently died in Guatemala City. Both cases remained unsolved at year's end, although the Government claims motivation for the attacks was criminal, not political.

On August 1, unknown individuals fired on the offices of the daily newspaper Siglo XXI. Despite President de Leon's personal interest, this case also remained unsolved at year's end. Five days later, three police officers threatened two journalists covering a student disturbance. The new police director disciplined the three officers, and one is currently awaiting trial for this threat. In mid-August, a television journalist who interviewed two senior URNG officials received threats.

On October 8, Oscar Masaya, director of a cable television news program, was severely beaten in Guatemala City. On October 28, 10 journalists were beaten by unknown individuals when they attempted to cover a press conference being given by activists occupying the Congress. During November the weekly Cronica reported receiving a threat that it should pay protection money to an alleged URNG representative. On November 25, newspaper editor Carlos Rigalt Cervantes was shot and pursued by persons in a car that moments earlier had struck the auto he was driving. A number of journalists, including the director of Tinamit magazine, also reported receiving death threats throughout the year. Several were included on a 24-person "death list" that appeared in late March or on a separate list that appeared in early October.

Newspapers, magazines, and radio and television stations were subjected to censorship when President Serrano announced his May 25 extraconstitutional actions. Radio and television stations also were forced to broadcast standardized government programming for extended periods. Security forces seized several thousand copies of the Cronica magazine issue reporting Serrano's actions, which were found burned by a roadside in late July. A number of journalists refused to cooperate with authorities during the coup; they were not harmed as censorship quickly broke down and a free press returned after Serrano's fall.

Despite harassment, the news media reported all major human rights stories and publicized communiques from the URNG, leftist groups, and others opposed to the Government or its policies. Both major press associations denounced incidents restricting freedom of the press and vowed to continue coverage of sensitive topics. Journalists admit, however, that self-censorship stemming from fear of reprisal continues to impede full investigative reporting on a variety of topics, including alleged government human rights violations, corruption of government officials and influential politicians, aspects of narcotics trafficking, and issues affecting the economic interests of powerful individuals.

b. Freedom of Peaceful Assembly and Association

The Constitution guarantees the right of peaceful assembly and association, but authorities banned rallies and broke up a demonstration following Serrano's May 25 coup. Prior to the coup, there was a plethora of demonstrations, some involving violence between police and marchers. Some demonstrators also claimed later harassment by security forces in retribution for their participation in the marches. Street demonstrations were a factor in focusing public disapproval on Serrano's actions. With his exit from office, constitutional guarantees of peaceful assembly and association were restored.

Freedom of political association is guaranteed under the Constitution, although organizations are nominally required to obtain legal status, a cumbersome and expensive procedure. In mid-December, the Government announced a streamlining of these procedures.

c. Freedom of Religion

No state religion exists. Religious freedom is constitutionally guaranteed and is respected in practice. Religious personnel are sometimes threatened for political reasons. About 70 per cent of the population is nominally Catholic, but many other faiths operate freely, especially evangelical Protestantism.

d. Freedom of Movement Within the Country, Foreign Travel, Emigration, and Repatriation

The Government does not restrict foreign travel, nor does it revoke citizenship for political reasons. Movement inside the country was unrestricted except where the army and PAC's limited travel in some areas of conflict. Guerrillas continued to establish roadblocks, assault private citizens to demand "war taxes," attack and drain petroleum trucks, and limit travel in certain rural areas.

Repatriation of refugees continued. By the end of 1993, 5,135 refugees had been repatriated to Guatemala. In December a large group of approximately 1,300 refugees returned to a conflict-torn zone that was originally their home.

On August 25, a representative of the Guatemalan refugee community in Mexico, Joaquin Jimenez Bautista, was beaten by a crowd including PAC members in Todos Santos, Huehuetenango. Jimenez had returned to Guatemala on August 17 as part of a refugee group searching for resettlement sites. On the day of the beating, he had left the group, returning for a visit to his former village. Crowd members later formally charged that Jimenez was a known guerrilla, who participated in murders in that town in the 1980's. Jimenez was briefly detained by police after a military patrol prevented the mob from lynching him. Jimenez was released by order of the Minister of Government and returned to Mexico on August 26.

Section 3 Respect for Political Rights: The Right of Citizens to Change Their Government

Guatemalans have the right to change their government by peaceful and democratic means. Universal suffrage by secret ballot exists for those 18 years of age and older; there are no property or literacy requirements, but members of the armed forces and police may not vote. The last national elections, which international observers found free and fair, were held in January 1991.

Following the removal of President Serrano and Vice President Espina, Ramiro de Leon Carpio was elected President by a congressional vote and sworn in on June 6, as prescribed by the Constitution. Congress elected Arturo Herbruger, who was head of Guatemala's independent Supreme Electoral Tribunal until retiring in early June, as Vice President on June 18.

Several women hold prominent political positions, including three Cabinet posts. Six of 116 members of Congress are female; 2 women are Supreme Court justices. A few women also hold important positions in political parties. Of the over 300 municipalities in Guatemala, women serve as mayors in only 5 (there had been no female mayors prior to the May elections in 276 small municipalities). There are no legal impediments to women's participation in politics, but females are underrepresented in the political arena. As of March 1990, 60 percent of registered voters were men and 40 percent women, despite women being slightly more numerous than men in the general population.

Indigenous people enjoy equal rights under the Constitution, and some have attained positions as Congressmen, army officers (including one general), government officials, and judges. Nevertheless, pervasive discrimination (see Section 5) limits opportunities for indigenous people to assume prominent roles in politics.

Section 4 Governmental Attitude Regarding International and Nongovernmental Investigation of Alleged Violations of Human Rights

Local human rights groups are permitted to operate, but members suffered threats and violence from security forces and PAC's. A greater tolerance for their activity exists since the de Leon administration took office. As noted in Section 1.a., members of the human rights organization CERJ were killed and threatened, and CERJ's Guatemala City office was broken into on May 8. CONAVIGUA, an indigenous widows' organization prominent in the advocacy of women's and human rights issues, also received threats. Prior to the midyear change in administrations, President Serrano and members of his Cabinet criticized both local and international human rights groups, accusing them of intentionally distorting Guatemala's human rights record for political purposes. High-ranking government officials working in the fields of human rights and jurisprudence complained publicly and privately of receiving threats stemming from their interest in resolving cases related to human rights violations, official corruption, and drug trafficking.

Relations between the executive branch and the Ombudsman's office were tense at times in the first half of the year, though, after the election of de Leon Carpio as President, matters improved considerably. The Ombudsman's office continued to enjoy widespread public support and respect; Congress elected Jorge Mario Garcia Laguardia as the new Human Rights Ombudsman to replace de Leon Carpio. The new Government made clear its willingness and commitment to receive international and domestic human rights groups. Senior officials met numerous foreign and international officials and activists.

The Peace Brigades, an international human rights monitoring organization, was unable to obtain government recognition despite persistent efforts. The absence of legal status did not, however, prevent Peace Brigades or other human rights organizations from operating openly.

On June 17, union activist Elizabeth Recinos was kidnaped, along with a companion. Though the companion was quickly released, Recinos was held for 4 days, drugged, and beaten. President de Leon condemned the kidnaping, and the police conducted an investigation, though no arrests were made. The police initially labeled this a "self-kidnaping," although there were more credible claims that the action was meant as a threat to unions and human rights groups. On July 11, union official Walter Manuel Najera Molina was kidnaped and interrogated about union activities for 3 hours by four armed men, during which time he was beaten. During his questioning, Najera was asked about various political and human rights leaders, whom his captives linked to the guerrillas.

On September 1, a member of a group advocating a purge of alleged corrupt congressional and Supreme Court officials, Olga Marina Ruano Cruz, was abducted and beaten before being released a day later.

Section 5 Discrimination Based on Race, Sex, Religion, Disability, Language, or Social Status

Women

Despite legal protection, women face job discrimination and on average receive significantly lower pay than men. They are primarily employed in low wage jobs in the textile industry, agriculture, retail business, and the public sector. A mid-1991 U.N. study reported that women, although slightly more than half the total population, make up only 24 percent of the economically active population. More working women than men are employed in the informal sector of the economy, where pay and benefits are generally low. A 1989 survey reported that in Guatemala City women are underrepresented in high-income categories and overrepresented among poorly paid workers.

The Constitution asserts the principle of equality between the sexes. Nonetheless, not all domestic laws have been modified to take into account this constitutional provision or to reflect the numerous treaties bearing on the rights of women to which Guatemala has adhered. (Provisions of such treaties take precedence over domestic law.) In some cases, laws remain discriminatory against women, such as the Penal Code's provisions on adultery. Only women may be charged with adultery, while men fall under a different statute, which is more limited, makes it more difficult to prove, and carries a lesser penalty.

CONAVIGUA reported that violence against women, including domestic violence, remains common but receives little attention. There is no specific law against domestic violence, although it is considered to fall under other statutes. Criminal sexual violence often goes unreported by victims, and relatively few rape cases come to court. The Ombudsman's office has only recently begun collecting statistics on this problem.

Children

When signing the U.N. Convention on the Rights of the Child, the Government stated its commitment to children's human rights and welfare and pledged to revise its laws in line with the Convention. The Human Rights Ombudsman's office, along with a commission of 25 governmental and nongovernmental organizations (NGO's), was revising the current Code but at year's end had not completed the task.

The abuse of street children (see Section 1.c.) is a serious problem in major cities. Estimates of street children range between 1,500 and 5,000, with the majority of these youths concentrated in Guatemala City. These children are often recruited into thievery or prostitution rings. The Government and a number of NGO's have youth centers, but the funds devoted to them are inadequate for the problem. In August the Government opened a school in San Jose Pinula for the rehabilitation of street children.

An accord between Casa Alianza and the Attorney General's office was not renewed in 1993 due to problems involving the suspension of the then Attorney General. On August 16, the new civilian police director met with Casa Alianza as one of his first public acts and expressed his commitment to the rights of street children and his intention to punish police officers and others who abuse them. Casa Alianza announced after the visit that it and the police will coordinate programs to combat street children's drug addiction and abuse of the children. The police director also assumed personal responsibility for the Department's Minors' Division, and the Ministry of Government established a separate division to handle street children matters.

Indigenous People

Indigenous people comprise one-half of the population but remain largely outside the country's political, economic, social, and cultural mainstream. Indigenous people suffered most of the serious human rights abuses described throughout this report. Rural indigenous men were more likely than urban dwellers to be drafted by the army or forcibly recruited by either the army or guerrilla groups. Although indigenous people are accorded equal rights by the Constitution, in practice they have only minimal participation in decisions affecting their lands, culture, traditions, and allocation of natural resources.

Rural indigenous people have limited educational opportunities and thus have limited employment opportunities. Illiteracy is prevalent in indigenous communities. Many indigenous people do not speak Spanish. Linguistic barriers hinder interaction with the Government and limit access to public services, including the judiciary, because few officials speak indigenous languages. Indigenous persons arrested for crimes are often at a disadvantage due to their lack of Spanish. The Public Defender's Office is charged with providing judicial translating services but is not sufficiently staffed to cope with the problem. Under the new Penal Code, the Government will be required to provide translating services to all in need.

People with Disabilities

The Constitution provides that the State should protect disabled persons. Nonetheless, physically disabled persons are discriminated against in employment practices, and few resources are devoted to combat this problem or otherwise to assist people with disabilities. There is no legislation mandating accessibility for the disabled.

Section 6 Worker Rights

a. The Right of Association

The Constitution and the 1947 Labor Code, as amended, provide workers freedom of association and the right to form and join trade unions. The Labor Code was amended in late 1992 to facilitate freedom of association, to strengthen the rights of working women, to increase penalties for violations of labor laws, and to enhance the role of the Labor Ministry and labor courts in enforcing them. All workers have the right to form or join unions, including public sector employees, with the exception of members of security forces. In February a decree interpreting "essential services" in such a way as to restrict organizing public sector workers was withdrawn, following protests by public sector employees and the Minister of Labor. After national police officers were unsuccessful in their attempts to form a trade union or association during most of the year, the new Director opened a dialog with representatives of this group. Between 5 and 8 percent of the work force is organized. The 890 unions in the country are independent of government and political party domination.

The Labor Code amendments simplified the process for unions to obtain legal status, which had been criticised as excessively cumbersome, by eliminating a number of provisions, including one that required the nation's President to sign the final papers. Complaints by trade union leaders about continuing problems with the recognition process, plus concerns expressed by the International Labor Organization (ILO) Committee of Experts, prompted the new Minister of Labor to seek revisions to this procedure. In November the Labor Ministry issued revised internal regulations covering the approval of new trade unions. This reduced the number of steps needed within the Ministry to grant approval, established strict timetables for consideration of union applications, and made clear that noncompliance with this timetable could lead to dismissal of guilty bureaucrats.

Experience with these new regulations during the last 2 months of 1993 seems to indicate they helped accelerate the approval procedure. For example, the application by workers at a bottling company in La Mariposa received final approval in a record 5 weeks. During the last half of 1993, most of the backlog of union applications was eliminated and several previously controversial union applications were approved, such as the union representing Coca-Cola workers in Puerto Barrios, several unions representing "maquila" (drawback, or in-bond export) workers, and the long-pending application by the union representing workers in the Bank of the Army (Banco del Ejercito).

Workers have the right to strike, but Labor Code procedures make legal strikes cumbersome. The ILO Committee of Experts criticized the requirement that two-thirds of the workers vote to approve a strike and the prohibition of strikes by agricultural workers at harvest time, as well as those deemed by the Government to affect the national economy seriously.

The few strikes that did occur were generally called without legal authorization, and in practice the Government made no effort to intervene on the basis of illegality. Nonetheless, the lack of legal sanction for a strike can be used as a threat against strikers. Organized labor's structural weaknesses, a reluctance to organize forcefully, the paucity of membership funds, and a poor overall economic situation with high unemployment and underemployment limit the duration of virtually all strikes.

The law protects workers from retribution for forming and participating in trade union activities, but compliance with the law varies. While some employers accept unionization, many employers routinely attempt to circumvent Labor Code provisions in order to resist union activities, which many view as exceedingly confrontational and disruptive. Enforcement of the right to form and participate in trade union activities is further hindered by an incompetent legal system and the inadequate level of penalties provided by law for violations. Fines for violating the Labor Code were increased when the Code was amended in 1992.

Trade union leaders and individual workers reported that workers were threatened with the loss of their jobs or physical harm for their interest in forming a union. The International Confederation of Free Trade Unions (ICFTU) alleged that a wave of illegal and arbitrary mass firings and intimidation took place at the beginning of the year, including the dismissal of 515 union members at the State Forest and Wildlife Office and the firing of 25 workers from the National Agrarian Reform Institute for joining a union.

One union leader was discharged in late 1992 by a state-owned enterprise for participating in a seminar sponsored by the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations despite clear contract language that would permit such training. Although a lower labor court acted quickly and ordered the company to reinstate this leader, there was no final action on his case during the year. This case was unusual because union leaders and other industrial relations observers agree that labor courts are generally slow to hear complaints, as well as to issue decisions related to complaints by workers and unionists that their rights to form and join trade unions are not protected.

Trade union leaders and members were among those subjected to a variety of abuses, such as threats, assassination attempts, kidnapings, and physical harm (see Section 4). A number of trade union officials or members were kidnaped during the year. They were generally questioned about the activities of well-known union leaders, often physically abused (but not killed), and then released. Since many of these incidents happened during the period just after Ramiro de Leon Carpio became President, these attacks seemed intended as a warning to trade unionists and other leaders about their increased exposure in political affairs.

Public sector union leaders, as well as unionists in the high-profile maquila sector, also reported receiving threats against themselves and their families, usually coinciding with union demands for improved benefits. The ICFTU charged that many trade unionists were forced into or sought exile.

By law, union leaders may serve only one term in a particular union office, but, by rotating union positions, the same persons can stay on union executive boards for extended periods of time. The Constitution and the 1992 Code amendments protect the right of political participation for individuals, including trade union leaders. During 1993 trade union leaders became more involved in national political affairs, particularly during the political turmoil following the resignation of former president Serrano and the move to purge Congress and the Supreme Court.

Unions may and do form federations and confederations and join international organizations. With very few exceptions, trade unions depend on assistance received from international contacts.

An active "solidarity" movement claimed approximately 100,000 members in over 350 companies. Unions may legally continue to operate in workplaces which have solidarity associations, and workers have the right to choose between the two or belong to both. The Government views these associations as civic organizations which need not interfere with the functioning of trade unions, since the amended Labor Code stipulates that trade unions have the exclusive right to bargain collectively over work conditions on behalf of workers. Unionists charge, however, that solidarity associations are promoted by management to avoid the formation of trade unions or to rival existing labor unions. There are credible reports that, at times, democratic principles are not adhered to in the formation and management of some of these associations, and workers are unable to participate fully and freely in decisionmaking. Similar credible charges are made against some trade union organizations.

At the request of trade union leaders, the independent Human Rights Ombudsman, through his Office for Economic and Social Issues, receives complaints related to trade union activities. Union leaders and workers filed a number of complaints with the Ombudsman during the year, but no results were apparent by year's end. In June members of the ILO Committee on the Application of Conventions noted the serious situation of violence and insecurity that exists in Guatemala, including murders and abductions "with the participation of the army and death squads," as well as the "difficult transition towards democracy" under way in the country and asked for "total and unconditional respect" by the new Government to their observations.

b. The Right to Organize and Bargain Collectively

Workers have the right to organize and bargain collectively but are often denied this right by antiunion actions of employers. The practice of collective bargaining is limited, moreover, by the weak structure of the union movement, the lack of experience with this practice, and by the preference of management in many cases to avoid formal ties with trade unions. While some well-written collective contracts are honored by both management and the unions, other contracts were openly ignored and violated by both parties. Most workers, even those organized by trade unions, do not have collective contracts to cover their wages and working conditions. Wages received by the bulk of the work force tend to be the minimum wages established by a bipartite commission, which operates under the guidance of the Ministry of Labor.

Workers cannot be dismissed for participating in the formation of a trade union; complaints in this regard must be filed with the labor inspectors for resolution. The Labor Code provides for the right of employers to fire workers for cause and permits workers to appeal their dismissal to the labor courts but does not require the reinstatement of any worker fired without cause. The revised Code prohibits employers from firing workers for union organizing and protects them for 60 days following the official publication of approval of the union. It also prohibits employers from firing any member of the executive committee of a union and protects them for an additional 12 months after they are no longer on the executive committee. If a member is fired for cause, this can only be made effective after a trial and a court resolution has been issued.

Labor courts responsible for enforcing labor laws continued generally to be ineffective. Efforts to restructure and modernize the labor court system made no headway. A heavy backlog of labor cases continued to clog the courts.

The scarcity of labor inspectors, the lack of adequate training and resources, and structural weaknesses in the labor court system resulted in only minimal enforcement of the Labor Code. The Ministry of Labor hired 37 new labor inspectors in mid-September and provided them with training and resources to carry out their functions. Some were assigned to rural areas to give greater attention to the lack of protection of worker rights for rural workers. In the second half of the year, the Ministry of Labor significantly stepped up its inspections and the number of cases it filed in the courts for failure to comply with the labor law.

Labor laws and regulations apply throughout the country, including in the few export processing zones (EPZ's). The laws governing EPZ's are not discriminatory on the subject of organizing trade unions or collective bargaining. While union leaders often blame employer pressures and unofficial restricted access to the EPZ's for their virtual inability to organize workers in these zones, labor conditions in these zones are no different from those found outside the zones.

Workers and trade union leaders charge that all workers, including those in EPZ's, receive low wages, work long hours without legally required overtime pay, and toil under poor working conditions. While Labor Ministry inspectors filed numerous complaints before the labor courts on these charges, few of these cases were resolved due to inefficiencies within the court system, corruption and political chicanery, and legal maneuvering to prolong the hearing process.

c. Prohibition of Forced or Compulsory Labor

The Constitution bars forced or compulsory labor, and the practice does not exist. Human rights and indigenous groups continue to charge that coerced participation, particularly of indigenous peoples, in the PAC's violates prohibitions against forced labor. There were credible reports of isolated instances of unpaid PAC members being used to provide free manual labor, but no systematic pattern of such practice was established.

d. Minimum Age for the Employment of Children

Although the Constitution bars employment of minors under the age of 14, children below this age are regularly employed in the formal and informal sectors of the economy. Laws governing the employment of minors are not effectively enforced, due to the shortage of qualified labor inspectors and structural weaknesses in the labor court system. Only 5,000 minors have legal permission from the Labor Ministry to work. Thousands working without legal permission are open to exploitation, generally receiving no social benefits, no social insurance, no pension or vacations, and no severance pay and are paid below the minimum wage level. The Labor Ministry has a program to educate minors, their parents, and employers on the rights of minors in the labor market. Economic necessity, however, forces most families to have their children seek some type of employment to supplement the family income.

The Constitution provides for compulsory education for all children up to the age of 12 or to the sixth grade. The statistics on illiteracy, however, clearly demonstrate this law is not enforced. The national illiteracy rate is 52 percent, with rural areas showing a rate of 85 percent. The bulk of those who cannot read or write are women, particularly indigenous women. Child labor is largely confined to small or family-type enterprises, to agricultural work, and to the informal sectors of the economy. There are no export industries in which child labor is a significant factor.

Minimum wages are set by law. Due to a variety of factors, most importantly the oversupply of labor and the limited demand for it, the minimum wage for most unskilled and semiskilled workers is the prevailing wage ceiling and not the more commonly accepted wage floor. Widespread, credible reports indicated the minimum wage is commonly, if illegally, not paid to significant numbers of rural and urban workers.

The minimum wage was last increased in late 1991, when it was raised by 78.5 percent. The minimum wage for commercial and industrial workers is $2.42 (14 quetzals) for an 8-hour workday, including a required hourly bonus. The minimum wage for farm workers is $2.00 (11.60 quetzals) per day, including a mandatory bonus. This minimum wage does not provide a decent standard of living; government statistics indicate that it should be at least three times higher than the current level.

CONGRESSMAN RICHARDSON

Congressman Richardson, accompanied by his legislative assistant, Ambassador, and Defense Attache, conducted an office call on the Minister of Defense, Major General Mario Rene Enriquez Morales, at 1900 hours on Friday, December 2, 1994. Congressman Richardson explained that he had come to Guatemala because of the great U.S. public interest in the case of U.S. citizen Jennifer Harbury's missing husband, Guerrilla Commander Efrain Bamaca Velasquez, as well as increases in human rights violations reported by such groups as Americas Watch and Amnesty International.

Gen Enriquez responded by conducting a general review of the activities of Jennifer Harbury in Guatemala since Bamaca disappeared in March 1992. He pointed out that while her case has some justification, it is also obvious that she is working with the URNG guerrillas, one evidence of this being her eulogy of ORPA Commander Rodrigo Asturias on the cover of her book. He added that President De Leon had just come back from Mexico where Vice-President Gore had even spoken to him about the Bamaca Case. The President was very concerned about the situation.

Congressman Richardson emphasized that his principal concern for Guatemalan is that the peace process continue and prosper. However the Bamaca Case could damage bilateral relations with Guatemala which could in turn damage the peace process. Why can't we have more information on what happened to Bamaca?

Gen Enriquez responded that the Army is cooperating fully with all investigations into the case. On November 29, representatives of the Human Rights Ombudsman's office along with MINUGUA representatives made surprise visits to nearly every military installation in the country. Every room of every installation was opened for their searches. In the Mariscal Zavala Brigade for example, a soldier being held in the brig, upon being shown a photo of Bamaca, exclaimed that yes, that individual had been there in the brig with him only ten days ago. The Army then found the soldiers who had been detained there, including one who had since been discharged from the Army, and brought them in for the Ombudsman's office and MINUGUA to verify that these individuals were not Bamaca. Further, only today, many of the officers named by ex-guerrilla Santiago Cabrera and Jennifer Harbury as having participated in the detention of Bamaca reported to the Ombudsman's office to answer questions. Many of the officers, including Gen Enriquez himself, believed that ordering these officers to testify before the Ombudsman's office was unconstitutional, as the Human Rights Ombudsman and the Constitutional Court President themselves believe as well. Nevertheless, Gen Enriquez had ordered these officers to cooperate in his desire to clarify the Bamaca Case.

Congressman Richardson responded that this cooperation was laudable, and he was also very impressed with Gen Enriquez' offer to allow MINUGUA to have access to all the ex-guerrilla collaborators still with the GT Army. But couldn't Gen Enriquez do more to clarify the Bamaca Case? Gen Enriquez responded, "More than I am now? If I were Jesus Christ I could raise Bamaca from the dead!"

Congressman Richardson then explained that he was very pleased and appreciative of the GT contribution to the MNF in Haiti. He had received very good reports about the Gt military performance there. Gen Enriquez thanked the Congressman for his comments. Congressman Richardson then asked Gen Enriquez to explain why there were so many allegations of human rights abuses by the Army. Gen Enriquez responded that while the Army has made errors, it is also the victim of the URNG's propaganda war. Since the URNG could not destroy the Army militarily on the battlefield, they are now trying to destroy the Army through the manipulation of international public opinion.

Congressman Richardson added that the URNG claims that the GOG is not responding to the various points they present in the negotiations on the issue of the rights of indigenous peoples. Gen Enriquez explained that the URNG is raising unreasonable points that the government can never agree to in order to portray themselves as the champions of the indigenous people in GT. This posture is very facetious on the part of the URNG, as the Comandantes themselves are all ladinos, and the guerrilla movement originated with the ladinos in Zacapa and Jutiapa, not among the indigenous population. They are now trying to win the support of the indigenous people in an attempt to build a popular base of support for themselves, which they currently don't have. However, Gen Enriquez explained that the peace process is irreversible, and while the URNG can delay it, they cannot stop it.

Congressman Richardson asked Gen Enriquez when the PAC's will end? Gen Enriquez explained that when the URNG as an armed insurgency ends, then the PAC's will end. The PAC's have already been demobilized where there is no conflict in the country. Agreements have also been made in Geneva with the UNHRC and in the Global Human Rights accord with the URNG that the PAC's will be demobilized when there are no more conflictive areas in the country.

Congressman Richardson then asked Gen Enriquez that the GOG not throw Jennifer Harbury out of Guatemala when her current 15 day permit runs out to stay in Guatemala. Such an action will only make the case worse. Gen Enriquez responded that the GOG will do everything possible to clarify the Bamaca Case. The case is pitting Guatemala against the only superpower in the world, which has to make Guatemala fear for its wellbeing. Gen Enriquez explained that he is surprised that the U.S. never showed so much interest in pursuing the guerrilla perpetrators of the murder of U.S. Ambassador Gordon Mein, or the U.S. MILGP Commander, or the U.S. Navy Section Chief. However, this comment is not meant to

Spoke to Bill Wise at VP's office (Rich Wilhelm's in Mexico advancing the VP's visit to the Zedillo inauguration). He had your cable on this subject. Thought the possibility of VP seeing Harbury was minimal but said he wanted the guidance back to you to be that there's offer on the table to Pertierra to meet with VP's National Security Adviser (Leon Fuerth) and that VP's office is waiting to see if Pertierra wants to do that. They would not consider anything beyond that until such a meeting takes place. I'm passing that on by way of quick and dirty guidance.

1. SECRET -- ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: THE AMBASSADOR MET JANUARY 6 FOR A BRIEF PRIVATE MEETING WITH THE MOD, PRIOR TO A LARGER SESSION ON "FUERTES CARIÑOS" AND GENERAL ENRIQUEZ' JANUARY TRIP TO THE U.S. (SEPTEL). ENRIQUEZ REITERATED HIS INTENT TO TRY AND GET CONTRERAS TO GIVE HIMSELF UP, SAID HE HAD NO SOLID INFO ON URNG INVOLVEMENT WITH THE EZLN AND IS CONCERNED ABOUT THE JANUARY 30 REFERENDUM. ENRIQUEZ AND THE AMBASSADOR ALSO DISCUSSED GOG FLEXIBILITY AT THE PEACE TALKS, POSSIBLE CABINET CHANGES AND JENNIFER HARBURY'S VISIT. END SUMMARY.

THE DEVINE CASE

3. WHERE IS CAPTAIN CONTRERAS? THE AMBASSADOR RAISED OUR CONCERNS ONCE AGAIN WITH THE DEFENSE MINISTER REGARDING THE WHEREABOUTS OF CAPTAIN CONTRERAS. THE MOD SAID HE HAD PASSED A MESSAGE TO CONTRERAS' WIFE VIA A SPECIAL EMISSARY ALONG THE LINES OF HIS CONVERSATION WITH US ON DECEMBER 22 (REF A). BASICALLY, THE OFFER IS OF ARMY LEGAL ASSISTANCE IF CONTRERAS COMES IN FROM THE COLD. THERE HAS BEEN NO WORD BACK. THE AMBASSADOR ASKED WHAT THE NEXT STEP WOULD BE. ENRIQUEZ RESPONDED HE AND GENERAL QUILO HAVE AGREED THE D-2 WILL GET WORD TO CONTRERAS' WIFE, AND INDIRECTLY, TO CONTRERAS HIMSELF THAT THE ARMY WILL GIVE HIM 60 DAYS BEGINNING FEB. 1 TO TURN

HIMSELF IN, AFTER WHICH TIME THE ARMY'S SUPPORT AND THE OFFER OF LEGAL ASSISTANCE WILL BE WITHDRAWN. ENRIQUEZ ESTIMATES THE MOTIVATION TO COME IN WILL BE STRONG FOR CONTRERAS. WE WILL SEE. THE AMBASSADOR REMINDED ENRIQUEZ THAT THIS CASE AND CONTRERAS' DISAPPEARANCE CONTINUES TO BE A TROUBLING FACTOR IN OUR RELATIONSHIP.

CHIAPAS

4. IS THERE NON-MEXICAN INVOLVEMENT? GENERAL ENRIQUEZ WAS VERY ANXIOUS FOR ANY INFORMATION WE MIGHT HAVE ON EXTERNAL INVOLVEMENT IN THE EZLN. TOLD WE HAD NO INFORMATION TO CONFIRM NON-MEXICAN INVOLVEMENT, ENRIQUEZ SAID THE GOG/ARMY TOO LACKED CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE. GENERAL QUILO WAS MEETING IN PLAYA GRANDE WITH THE MEXICAN COMMANDER OF THE TUXTLA GUTIERREZ MILITARY DETACHMENT IN CHIAPAS AND ENRIQUEZ PROMISED A REPORT OF ANY RELEVANT INFORMATION UPON QUILO'S RETURN. ENRIQUEZ SUBSEQUENTLY CALLED THE AMBASSADOR THE EVENING OF JANUARY 6 AND SAID NOTHING OF RELEVANCE HAD SURFACED IN THE MEETING. THE DATT WILL GET A FULL READ-OUT ON THE MEETING FROM GENERAL QUILO.

THE REFERENDUM

5. WILL THE YES WIN? THE MOD IS NOT OPTIMISTIC ABOUT THE REFERENDUM OUTCOME AND NOTED THE PRESIDENT

HAS SPECIFICALLY ASKED HIM TO BE BACK IN COUNTRY FROM HIS U.S. VISIT BY THE 29TH OF JANUARY. ENRIQUEZ FURTHER STATED SOME UNIONS ARE ASKING THE PRESIDENT FOR A WAGE INCREASE IN EXCHANGE FOR SUPPORTING THE REFERENDUM (REF B). RESPONDING TO THE AMBASSADOR'S QUERY ABOUT A CATHOLIC CHURCH SPOKESMAN'S STATEMENT IN THE PRESS JANUARY 5 THAT ABSENT GREATER INFORMATION ABOUT THE CONSTITUTIONAL REFORMS PEOPLE SHOULD ABSTAIN FROM VOTING, THE MOD SAID THE CHURCH HAD URGED THE PRESIDENT TO GET INFORMATION ON THE REFORMS OUT TO THE PUBLIC. (NOTE: THE ARCHBISHOP'S SPOKESMAN CLAIMED JANUARY 6 THAT HE HAD BEEN MISQUOTED AND HAD NOT CALLED FOR A VOTE BOYCOTT OR REFERENDUM POSTPONEMENT.)

THE PEACE PROCESS

6. HOW MUCH FLEXIBILITY? IN A VERY SKETCHY PRELIMINARY READOUT OF THE GOG POSITION IN MEXICO, THE MOD SAID THAT THE GOVERNMENT WAS FLEXIBLE: THAT HE THOUGHT AGREEMENT COULD BE REACHED ON A HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORD, BUT THE ISSUE OF A TRUTH COMMISSION WAS "FROZEN." WE WILL TRY TO GET A MORE COMPLETE READOUT ONCE THE PEACE COMMISSION RETURNS. NOTABLY, THE JANUARY 7 PRESS MENTIONS THE PRESIDENT'S REFERENCE TO AN OPEN PHONE LINE TO MEXICO AND ON JANUARY 6 QUOTES ROSADA AS SAYING AGREEMENT ON A TRUTH COMMISSION IS POSSIBLE). THE AMBASSADOR ASKED WHAT KIND OF FLEXIBILITY THE PRIVATE SECTOR MIGHT HAVE AND ENRIQUEZ SAID IT FAVORED THE GOVERNMENT PLAN, WANTED AN AGREEMENT, BUT WOULD RESIST ANY FORMULA THAT WOULD HAVE NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE URNG DETERMINING SOCIAL ISSUES. IT ALSO WOULD OPPOSE ANY MOVE TOWARD LAND REFORM.

7. WHO? AMBASSADOR ASKED THE MOD IF CABINET CHANGES WOULD BE MADE AND WHO MIGHT BE EXPECTED TO GO. ENRIQUEZ SAID AITKENHEAD WOULD LEAVE, PROBABLY TO AN INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTION SUCH AS THE WORLD BANK OR IMF. THE MOD SAID HE HAD BEEN A STRONG SUPPORTER OF AITKENHEAD AND GREATLY ADMIRED HIS MULTIPLICITY OF TALENTS. THE PRESIDENT REGRETS HIS DEPARTURE, BUT APPARENTLY RICHARD WINSELF IS READY TO GO. HE SEES THE MINISTER OF PUBLIC HEALTH LEAVING. THE MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT STAYING AND THE MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS, DESPITE SERIOUS PROBLEMS, STAYING. THE PRESIDENT'S PERSONAL SECRETARY, SECAIRA HE PRESUME, WILL MOVE INTO THE CABINET; NO INDICATION WHERE. THE CHANGE ENRIQUEZ WAS MOST EARNEST ABOUT WAS THE CHIEF OF THE NATIONAL POLICE, WHO HE SAID WOULD BE REMOVED AT THE END OF JANUARY.

8. THE AMBASSADOR NOTED CIFUENTES' KNOWLEDGEABILITY IN POLICE MATTERS AND HIS STRONG INTERNATIONAL REPUTATION. ENRIQUEZ ACKNOWLEDGED BOTH POINTS BUT

SAID THAT DESPITE FREQUENT VERY FRANK CONVERSATIONS WITH CIFUENTES, HE HAD CONTINUED TO ATTACK THE ARMY AT EVERY OPPORTUNITY. HE DOESN'T EVEN GET ALONG WITH FORMER CLASSMATES AT THE "POLYTECHNICA." THE MOD NOTED. THE MOD ALSO ACCUSED CIFUENTES OF BEING "DISLOYAL" FOR GOING TO VARIOUS EMBASSIES TO CLAIM THE ARMY WAS HAMPERING THE POLICE. ENRIQUEZ SAID THE ARMY WAS PREPARED TO ACCEPT A CIVILIAN IN THE POSITION. HE WAS SURE THERE WERE MANY QUALIFIED CANDIDATES. IT WOULD NOT PRESSURE ON THE SELECTION.

9. THE AMBASSADOR NOTED SHE CONTINUED TO HOPE THE PROBLEMS COULD BE WORKED OUT. SHE HAD URGED CIFUENTES ON THE SAME POINT. QUOTE: IN A JANUARY 7 BREAKFAST WITH DATT AND POLNILOFF, PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS ADVISER LT. COL. OTTO NOACK SAID HE BELIEVES CIFUENTES WILL NOT LOSE HIS JOB. HE ADDED THE PRESIDENT PLANNED TO BRING A MAN NAMED STEIN INTO THE GOVERNMENT AS A CLOSE PERSONAL ADVISER. NOACK COULD NOT REMEMBER STEIN'S FIRST NAME, BUT SAID HE WAS NOW IN PANAMA.)

JENNIFER HARBURY/BANACA

10. THE AMBASSADOR AGAIN RAISED THE ISSUE OF BANACA. THE MOD RESPONDED THAT HE HAD UNDERTAKEN A METICULOUS INVESTIGATION WHICH HAD PRODUCED NOTHING. INFORMED THAT JENNIFER HARBURY WAS IN GUATEMALA, HE AGREED TO AGAIN MEET HER. QUOTE: EMBOFFS MET JANUARY 7 WITH HARBURY AND THE AMBASSADOR WAS A

In my breakfast meeting with Ana de Molina this morning, because of the trip planned to Washington and Ottawa, I asked her bluntly if Fajardo was staying on. She said he was being changed and the trip was "suspended." Fajardo seemed not to know that last night when he talked to me of adding Mexico to his itinerary.

Ana said that the President's present intention is to nominate as Foreign Minister a woman, Maritza Ruiz de Vielman, who apparently is in the private sector, speaks several languages including English, and was involved in GATT negotiations. We will be looking for more information on her right away. (N.B. Siglo XXI January 11 reports a rumor that Ms. Ruiz will replace Fajardo.) (Comment: Fajardo called me at 1:00 p.m. to advise that the President intends to request agrement for Fajardo as Ambassador to the White House. Fajardo indicated the President intended to announce this publicly January 12, but I strongly urged him to hold off until Washington has been able to reply to the agrement request. Fijardo, no doubt, would like to see an immediate announcement as his shift out of the Foreign Ministry becomes known.)

There was a lot in the meeting with Ana. Pol/C George Chester sat in and will be getting a cable together for you. Most importantly, the commitments are still in place on the PACs and a letter following the January 14 statement will be forthcoming (we expect De Leon to "transmit" the text to Congress, rather than deliever it in person). I am not sure that the statement on the 14th will have human rights as its central focus -- it will apparently address many other national issues. However, I urged her to urge the President to consider a special address to package a comprehensive plan dealing with human rights, as I suggested to the President on the evening of January 10. His intentions in the human rights area are apparently detailed in various sections of the new plan de gobierno which was finalized at a meeting in Santo Tomas over the weekend. One session, Ana said, went 13 hours straight. More details septel.

UNCLASSIFIED

I asked Ana about a meeting with Paul Soreff and Diana Ortiz. Apparently the President will be out of town from the 16th to the 22nd. She thought a meeting after his return to the capital on Saturday the 22nd might be possible. Please contact Soreff and see if they could adjust their schedule to be available that day.

1. CONFIDENTIAL - ENTIRE TEXT

2 SUMMARY: IN LENGTHY BREAKFAST MEETING WITH THE AMBASSADOR AND POLCOUNS JAN 11, CLOSE PRESIDENTIAL ADVISOR ANA DE MOLINA RECONFIRMED PRESIDENT DE LEON'S COMMITMENT TO A STRONG HUMAN RIGHTS AGENDA, INCLUDING REGARDING THE PAC'S. SHE REPORTED A MAJOR STRATEGY SESSION JAN 7 IN WHICH EACH MINISTRY PRESENTED ITS PLAN TO IMPLEMENT THE GOG'S POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC AGENDA OVER THE NEXT TWO YEARS. DE MOLINA CONFIRMED THERE WOULD BE CABINET SHIFTS SHORTLY, INCLUDING THE MINISTERS OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS AND FINANCE, AND ALL BUT ADMITTED SHE WOULD BE FILLING THE LATTER POST. SHE ALSO SAID AMBASSADOR MULET WOULD BE REPLACED IN WASHINGTON. SHE WAS UPBEAT ON PROSPECTS FOR PEACE, AND EXPECTED A YES VOTE IN THE JANUARY 30 "CONSULTA POPULAR". SHE NOTED DE LEON WOULD BE OUT OF TOWN DURING THE VISIT OF DIANA ORTIZ AND HER LAWYER, AND SUGGESTED THEY EXTEND THEIR STAY.

HUMAN RIGHTS

3. DE MOLINA CONFIRMED THAT THE PLAN OF GOVERNMENT WOULD INCLUDE STRONG POINTS TO UNDERSCORE THE PRESIDENT'S COMMITMENT TO HUMAN RIGHTS, BUT WAS VAGUE ON HOW SPECIFIC THEY WOULD BE. SHE SAID IT WOULD ADDRESS NOT ONLY INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS, BUT ALSO SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC RIGHTS. THE AMBASSADOR PRESSED FOR A VERY SPECIFIC AGENDA ON INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS WHICH COULD BE COMMUNICATED IN A PUBLIC STATEMENT. WHILE SHE URGED A KEY POLICY ADDRESS FOCUSSED ON HUMAN RIGHTS, ALTERNATIVE AVENUES WOULD ALSO BE SUITABLE, E.G. THE GOVERNMENT DECLARATION ON JAN 14, OR SOME OTHER CREDIBLE FORM WHICH COULD BE SHARED WITH THE US CONGRESS. AMBASSADOR STRESSED THAT HUMAN RIGHTS WAS DE LEON'S ISSUE AS FORMER OMBUDSMAN AND THAT HE WOULD PARTICULARLY

Guatemala AmEmbassy #32224 Ortiz, Diane

WISH TO CONFRONT THIS ISSUE. UNFORTUNATELY, THE AVAILABLE STATISTICS, SUCH AS THEY ARE, INDICATE A RISE IN ABUSES UNDER HIS STEWARDSHIP, AND IT IS IMPORTANT THAT HE ACT, AND BE SEEN AS ACTING, TO ARREST THIS TREND.

GOVERNMENT AGENDA

4. DE MOLINA REPORTED THAT APPROXIMATELY 120 SENIOR GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, MEMBERS OF THE PRIVATE SECTOR AND OTHER INFLUENTIAL INDIVIDUALS ATTENDED AN ALL DAY MEETING JAN ? AT THE PRESIDENT'S SANTO TOMAS RETREAT AT WHICH EACH MINISTRY REPORTED ON ITS PLANS TO IMPLEMENT THE GOVERNMENT'S AGENDA OVER THE NEXT TWO YEARS. FOR EXAMPLE, THE MOD HAD DESCRIBED PLANS FOR THE ARMY'S REALIGNMENT FOLLOWING A PEACE ACCORD, ITS INTENTIONS TO DISSOLVE MANY PAC'S IN NON-CONFLICTIVE AREAS IN ANTICIPATION OF AN ACCORD (DE MOLINA SAID IT WOULD BE LEFT UP TO EACH COMMUNITY WHETHER TO CREATE FOLLOW-ON DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEES), AND ITS PLANS FOR A NON-DISCRIMINATORY DRAFT BASED ON PENDING LEGISLATION. THIS HAD BEEN AN EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY FOR TAKING STOCK ABOUT WHERE THE GOVERNMENT IS AND WHERE IT SHOULD GO FOLLOWING COMPLETION OF THE 180 DAY PLAN. ALTHOUGH IT WAS UNCLEAR TO WHAT EXTENT IT WAS DISCUSSED AT THIS STRATEGY SESSION, DE MOLINA SAID THAT DE LEON WAS SEEKING AN ACCORD BETWEEN BUSINESS AND LABOR WHICH WOULD PROVIDE A MEASURE OF CERTAINTY AND PREDICTABILITY IN DEALING WITH THE COUNTRY'S ECONOMIC PROBLEMS.

CABINET CHANGES

5. DE MOLINA CONFIRMED THAT CABINET CHANGES WOULD BE TAKING PLACE SHORTLY. BOTH THE MINISTERS OF FINANCE AND FOREIGN AFFAIRS WOULD BE REPLACED. WHEN ASKED IF THE RUMOR THAT SHE WOULD BE TAKING OVER THE FINANCE PORTFOLIO WAS TRUE, SHE RESPONDED COYLY THAT "THAT IS WHAT IS BEING SAID." SHE CONFIRMED THAT WILLY ZAPATA WOULD BE STAYING ON AT THE CENTRAL BANK, AND THAT EDDIE SPERISEN (RATHER THAN EDUARDO GONZALEZ) WOULD BE TAKING OVER THE ECONOMICS AND FOREIGN TRADE PORTFOLIO. SHE STATED THAT AMBASSADOR MULET WOULD BE LEAVING WASHINGTON. THE AMBASSADOR URGED THAT HIS SUCCESSOR BE THE BEST: SOMEONE WHO IS CREDIBLE, ARTICULATE (ALSO IN ENGLISH), OPEN AND PERSUASIVE, AND ABLE TO DEAL EFFECTIVELY WITH THE NGO'S, CONGRESS AND THE PRESS. DE MOLINA RESPONDED THAT THEY

HAD IN MIND AN EXCELLENT CHOICE: MARITZA DE VIELMAN, WHO SHE SAID IS VERY INTELLIGENT, AN EXTROVERT, AND SPEAKS FLUENT ENGLISH. (NOTE: SIGLO 21 REPORTED JAN 11 THAT DE VIELMAN WOULD BE SUCCEEDING PAJARDO AS PONMIN, AND WE UNDERSTAND THAT PAJARDO WILL BE GOING TO WASHINGTON AS AMBASSADOR. THUS DE MOLINA MAY HAVE BEEN CONFUSED, AND WAS TALKING ABOUT THE NEW FOREIGN MINISTER RATHER THAN THE GOG'S NEW AMBASSADOR TO THE US.)

PEACE

6. DE MOLINA WAS UPBEAT ON THE PEACE TALKS, REFERRING TO THE RECENT ACCORD WITH THE URNG TO RESUME THE PROCESS. IN RESPONSE TO THE AMBASSADOR'S QUESTION, SHE SAID SHE WAS PERSUADED THAT THERE WAS ENOUGH FLEXIBILITY ON THE PART OF CACIF AND THE MILITARY TO PERMIT AN ACCORD. THE AMBASSADOR MENTIONED THAT SHE WAS MEETING WITH BUSINESS LEADERS PERIODICALLY TO URGE FLEXIBILITY AND OFFERED TO TRY TO BE HELPFUL. DE MOLINA SUGGESTED THAT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HEAD ARTURO GUIROLA BATRES (WHO HAS JUST BECOME THE NEW PRESIDENT OF CACIF) BE INCLUDED IN THESE DISCUSSIONS.

CONSULTA

7. DE MOLINA SAID THE PRESIDENT WAS WORKING HARD FOR A POSITIVE OUTCOME TO THE JANUARY 30 REFERENDUM ON THE REPLACEMENT OF CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME COURT AND APPROVAL OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS. SHE SAID SUPPORT IN THE COUNTRYSIDE WAS GROWING, E.G. THE LEADERSHIP OF THE GROUP OF MAYAN PEOPLES HAD INFORMED DE LEON THEY WOULD SUPPORT A YES VOTE. SHE WAS CONFIDENT OF APPROVAL, AND THOUGHT THE TURNOUT, WHILE NOT HIGH, WOULD BE MODERATE.

DIANA ORTIZ

8. THE AMBASSADOR INFORMED DE MOLINA THAT DIANA ORTIZ AND HER LAWYER PAUL SOREFF WOULD BE VISITING GUATEMALA JAN 16 - 22, AND THAT IT WOULD BE IMPORTANT FOR THE PRESIDENT TO SEE THEM. DE MOLINA AGREED, BUT SAID THAT THE PRESIDENT WILL BE OUT OF TOWN ALL THAT WEEK (PRESUMABLY CAMPAIGNING FOR THE CONSULTA), AND WONDERED IF THEY MIGHT EXTEND THEIR STAY. WE SAID WE WOULD INQUIRE.

9. COMMENT: THIS WAS A USEFUL DISCUSSION, ESPECIALLY ON THE HUMAN RIGHTS POINTS, ALTHOUGH IT DID NOT BREAK NEW GROUND. [redacted] B1

1. SUMMARY: AMBASSADOR MET JAN 12 WITH AMCIT JENNIFER HARBURY TO DISCUSS MS. HARBURY'S CONTINUING EFFORTS TO DETERMINE THE FATE OF HER HUSBAND, URNG GUERILLA COMMANDER, EFRAIN BAMACA VELASQUEZ, WHOM SHE BELIEVES IS BEING HELD, WITH 35 OTHER URNG MEMBERS, IN A CLANDESTINE PRISON CONTROLLED BY THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY. SHE BRIEFED THE AMBASSADOR ON HER RECENT ACTIVITIES IN WASHINGTON TO FOCUS ATTENTION ON THE PLIGHT OF HER HUSBAND AND ON THE GENERAL HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN GUATEMALA, AND TO URGE A SUSPENSION OF FURTHER USG ASSISTANCE TO GUATEMALA UNTIL THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IMPROVES. SHE DISCUSSED HER NEW PROPOSAL TO SEEK THE RELEASE OF HER HUSBAND AND THE

OTHER 35 URNG COMBATANTS IN EXCHANGE FOR A "NO-FAULT" PLEDGE BY VARIOUS GROUPS INTERESTED IN GUATEMALAN HUMAN RIGHTS. THE AMBASSADOR PROMISED TO CONTINUE TO PRESS THE GOG TO INVESTIGATE THE BAMACA CASE AND SIMILAR CASES UNTIL ALL QUESTIONS WERE RESOLVED. END SUMMARY.
2. MS. HARBURY SUMMARIZED THE CASE OF HER HUSBAND EFRAIN BAMACA VELASQUEZ, AKA "COMMANDANTE EVERARDO", WHICH SHE HAD ALREADY DISCUSSED IN GREATER DETAIL WITH POST'S CONSUL GENERAL, MILITARY ATTACHE, AND POLITICAL OFFICERS ON JAN. 7. (SEE REF A FOR HISTORY OF CASE) MS. HARBURY RELATED THAT SINCE HER DEPARTURE FROM GUATEMALA IN SEPTEMBER 1993, SHE HAS PRESENTED HER STORY TO MOST HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS IN THE U.S., REPRESENTATIVES OF THE OAS, THE U.N., 35 DIFFERENT CONGRESSMEN INCLUDING SEN. KENNEDY, AND GUATEMALAN

AMBASSADOR EDMOND MULET. SHE STATED THAT ALL THE HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS WITH WHOM SHE MET SUPPORT HER VIEW THAT THE GUATEMALAN ARMY IS THE GUILTY PARTY IN THE CAPTURE AND TORTURE OF HER HUSBAND AND 35 OTHER URNG MEMBERS. SHE BELIEVES THAT THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY HAS NOT YET KILLED HER HUSBAND SINCE HE HAS INFORMATION THAT IS VALUABLE TO THE GOG. MS. HARBURY IS ALSO FORMING A LOBBYING GROUP IN WASHINGTON COMPRISED OF AMERICAN CITIZENS WHO HAVE LOST FAMILY MEMBERS OR HAVE BEEN VICTIMS OF HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES IN GUATEMALA. INCLUDED IN THIS GROUP ARE MEMBERS OF THE NICOLAS BLAKE FAMILY AND SISTER DIANA ORTIZ.

3. WHILE IN THE U.S., MS. HARBURY OBTAINED A LIST OF GUATEMALAN MILITARY GRADUATES OF THE SCHOOL OF THE AMERICAS, LOCATED IN FORT BENNING, GA. SHE MAINTAINS THAT TWO PERSONS ON THE LIST, COL. JULIO ALPIREZ AND MAJOR MARIO SOSA ORELLANA, WERE IDENTIFIED BY WITNESSES AS HAVING SUPERVISED THE TORTURE OF HER HUSBAND AT ONE OF THE MILITARY BASES WHERE HE WAS HELD. SHE IS CONTEMPLATING FILING CRIMINAL CHARGES AGAINST THEM IN GUATEMALAN COURTS IN THE FUTURE. HOWEVER, SHE PREFERS TO PURSUE A NEGOTIATED SOLUTION BEFORE RESORTING TO THE COURTS.

4. SHE TOLD THE AMBASSADOR THAT SHE HAD MET THAT MORNING WITH GUATEMALAN DEFENSE MINISTER GEN. MARIO ENRIQUEZ AND THE MORE HARDLINE CHIEF OF GUATEMALAN MILITARY INTELLIGENCE (D-2) COL. MARIO ALFREDO MERIDA. MS. HARBURY HAD MET WITH DEFENSE MINISTER ENRIQUEZ DURING HER PREVIOUS VISIT TO GUATEMALA IN SEPTEMBER

1993. BOTH KEN LISTENED ATTENTIVELY TO HER VERSION OF WHAT HAD HAPPENED TO HER HUSBAND. SHE SAID THAT THEY CONTINUED TO DENY, HOWEVER, THAT THE MILITARY HAD EVER CAPTURED COMMANDANTE EVERARDO ALIVE, AT ONE POINT SPECULATING THAT THE LETTER ALLEGEDLY WRITTEN BY THE MILITARY GIVING A POINT BY POINT PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION OF HER HUSBAND WAS JUST A PROPAGANDA STUNT. MS. HARBURY POINTED OUT TO THEM SEVERAL UNEXPLAINED CONTRADICTIONS IN THE MILITARY'S ACCOUNT OF WHAT HAPPENED TO MR. BAMACA. IN THEIR REPLIES TO HER OBSERVATIONS, NEITHER ENRIQUEZ NOR THE D-2 CHIEF WAS ABLE TO GIVE HER EXPLANATIONS THAT SHE FOUND ACCEPTABLE.
5. MS. HARBURY STATED SHE THEN ASSUMED A SLIGHTLY DIFFERENT POSTURE IN THIS MEETING THAN SHE HAD IN

PREVIOUS MEETINGS WITH GOG OFFICIALS. AFTER REVIEWING THE CASE AND EXPLAINING HER PLANS TO CONTINUE TO ENCOURAGE THE IMPLEMENTATION OF SANCTIONS AGAINST GUATEMALA IF NOTHING IS DONE TO FIND HER HUSBAND, MS. HARBURY PRESENTED HER LATEST PROPOSAL TO THE GUATEMALAN OFFICERS THAT THE GOG EITHER RELEASE HER HUSBAND AND THE OTHER 35 URNG COMBATANTS OR TRANSFER THEM TO A PUBLIC PRISON TO FACE CHARGES IN GUATEMALA'S CRIMINAL COURTS. IN RETURN, SHE WOULD QUIETLY ACCEPT THE MOVE, DESIST FROM ALL EFFORTS TO PUBLICLY CONDEMN THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY FOR ITS ROLE IN THE AFFAIR, AND WOULD CONVINCE ALL THE HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS WHOSE SUPPORT SHE HAS ENLISTED TO DO THE SAME. SHE WOULD ALSO OFFER TO BE DETAINED IN A GUATEMALAN MILITARY COMPOUND FOR UP TO SIX MONTHS AS A PLEDGE OF GOOD FAITH DURING THE RELEASE. SHE BELIEVES THAT THE VARIOUS

HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS WOULD AGREE TO HER PROPOSAL IN THE INTEREST OF SAVING 36 HUMAN LIVES AND SECURING THE ADMISSION OF THE GUATEMALAN MILITARY THAT IT HAS MADE MISTAKES IN THE PAST. SHE EXPLAINED THAT SHE HOPES THAT HER OFFER WILL BREAK THE CYCLE OF TORTURE AND IMPUNITY THAT HAS EXISTED FOR THE PAST 30 YEARS AND ENABLE THE GOG TO RELEASE HER HUSBAND AND THE OTHER 35 PRISONERS IN A WAY THAT WILL NOT BRING IT INTERNATIONAL HUMILIATION.

6. MS. HARBURY TOLD THE AMBASSADOR SHE APPRECIATED THE CORDIAL RECEPTION GRANTED HER BY MINISTER ENRIQUEZ AND NOTED THAT EVEN COL. MERIDA'S ATTITUDE CHANGED FROM ONE OF INITIAL HOSTILITY TO ONE OF ATTENTIVE INTEREST BY THE END OF THE 90 MINUTE VISIT. SHE OPINED, HOWEVER,

CONFIDENTIAL

THAT THE MILITARY MAY BE UNABLE ON ITS OWN TO RESOLVE THE SITUATION IN A WAY THAT PUTS AN END TO THE HISTORICAL CYCLE OF TORTURE AND IMPUNITY WHILE AT THE SAME TIME ALLOWING IT TO SAVE FACE AND CONTINUE ON THE POSITIVE COURSE ADOPTED SINCE PRESIDENT DE LEON ASSUMED OFFICE.

7. THE AMBASSADOR SUGGESTED THAT IN VIEW OF MS. HARBURY'S NEW STRATEGY OF PURSUING A NON-CONFLICTIVE, NEGOTIATED SOLUTION, IT WOULD BE PRUDENT TO INCORPORATE THIS ISSUE INTO THE LARGER PEACE TALKS BEING HELD IN MEXICO. TO THAT END, THE AMBASSADOR SUGGESTED THAT MS. HARBURY PRESENT HER SIDE OF THE STORY TO MEMBERS OF THE GOVERNMENT PEACE COMMISSION, HECTOR ROSADA AND MARIO PERMUTH, AS WELL AS TO JEAN ARNAULT, U.N. REPRESENTATIVE TO THE PEACE TALKS. SHE ALSO FOUND IT ENCOURAGING THAT COL. MERIDA HAD ATTENDED MS. HARBURY'S MEETING WITH GEN. ENRIQUEZ. THE AMBASSADOR SUGGESTED THAT MS. HARBURY MEET AGAIN WITH THE D-2 CHIEF, NOTING THE IMPORTANCE OF PURSUING DIALOGUE AND SECURING THE COOPERATION OF THE MORE HARDLINE SEGMENTS OF THE MILITARY. THE AMBASSADOR AND MS. HARBURY ALSO AGREED THAT A MEETING WITH GENERAL JOSE LUIS QUILO, CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE ARMY WOULD BE USEFUL.

8. THE AMBASSADOR COMMENTED THAT WHILE THE EMBASSY HAS NOT REACHED ANY DEFINITIVE CONCLUSION ON THE VALIDITY OF MS. HARBURY'S CHARGES, HER ACCUSATIONS DO RAISE SERIOUS QUESTIONS WHICH MUST BE ADDRESSED BY THE GOG. SHE PLEDGED THE EMBASSY'S CONTINUED SUPPORT IN PUSHING THE GOG TO INVESTIGATE THE FATE OF MS. HARBURY'S HUSBAND AND ANY OTHER DETAINEES.. MS. HARBURY ADVISED

SUBJECT: MORE INDIANS CAUGHT IN GUATEMALA

REF: A) 93 GUATEMALA 12430 B) GUATEMALA 0234

1. SUMMARY: 13 MORE INDIANS WERE DETAINED ON 14 JAN. AT OCOS, NEAR GUATEMALA'S WESTERN BORDER WITH MEXICO, AND DEPORTED TO HONDURAS. THEY ARE PART OF A GROWING TREND OF USING SMALL BOATS TO TRAVEL FROM ONE CENTRAL AMERICAN COUNTRY TO ANOTHER SO AS TO AVOID LAND BORDER CONTROL POINTS. THIS MODE OF TRAVEL CAN BE DEADLY, AS DEMONSTRATED ON 27 DEC. 1993 WHEN 16 GUATEMALANS DROWNED WHILE TRYING TO AVOID THE MEXICAN BORDER. END SUMMARY.

2. REF B REPORTED THAT TEN UNDOCUMENTED INDIAN ALIENS WERE APPREHENDED BY GUATEMALAN AUTHORITIES ALONG GUATEMALA'S WESTERN BORDER WITH MEXICO ON JANUARY 5. THREE GUJARATIS OF THE PATEL SUB-CASTE AND SEVEN SIKHS FROM PUNJAB, ALONG WITH COLOMBIAN CLAUDIO RUPERTO CUZCO VASQUEZ AND COSTA RICAN LUIS ENRIQUE MIRANDA, WERE DETAINED BY THE GUATEMALAN BORDER PATROL AT 0800 ON 5 JAN. THEY WERE WAITING ON THE PACIFIC OCEAN BEACH AT CASERIO LOS FAROS, NEAR OCOS, SAN MARCOS, FOR A BOAT TO TAKE THEM TO MEXICO. THEY WERE DEPORTED TO HONDURAS, NOT TO EL SALVADOR AS ORIGINALLY REPORTED IN REF. B.

3. ANOTHER GROUP, WHICH INCLUDED 13 INDIANS, WAS DETAINED AT 0730 ON 14 JAN. ABOARD A RENTED MICROBUS ON THE HIGHWAY BETWEEN TECUN UMAN AND THE PORT OF OCOS AT LA CEIBA, ALDEA LIMONES, SAN MARCOS DEPARTMENT. THE INDIANS WERE: COLOBANT SEN OYILA, 35, TYRIA SEN, 37, PARMENDAR SEN, 22, D SEN, 36, PALY SEN, 23, VICENT PATER, 22, KOTAN VAY, 19, NARAN VAY, 43, ENDER YIT, 24, SERIANT PARIC, 29, SAMIRI KANDY, 21, YAES PARDER, 30, AND GRAYS WORMO, 22. ALSO ABOARD THE MICROBUS WAS ECUADOREAN RAMIRO VASQUEZ, 21. ALL THE PASSENGERS HAD LIFE VESTS ON AND APPEARED TO BE HEADED TOWARD THE SAME BEACH WHERE THE 5 JAN. GROUP WAS CAUGHT. GUATEMALAN ALIEN SMUGGLER JORGE ANDRADE CARRETO WAS DRIVING. THE GROUP WAS TAKEN TO GUATEMALA CITY AND SHORTLY THEREAFTER DEPORTED UNOFFICIALLY TO HONDURAS NEAR AGUA CALIENTE. COMMENT: HONDURAN OFFICIALS WERE NOT NOTIFIED, AS IS COMMON PRACTICE IN THE REGION, SO USE THIS INFORMATION WITH DISCRETION. END COMMENT.

4. IN WHAT POST HAS NOTED AS AN INCREASING ALIEN SMUGGLING TREND, THE INDIANS TRAVELED FROM ONE CENTRAL AMERICAN COUNTRY TO ANOTHER BY SMALL BOAT, THUS AVOIDING THE HASSLES AND POSSIBLE DETENTION RISKS OF LAND TRAVEL. THE INDIAN GROUP DETAINED ON 5 JAN. ARRIVED IN THE NEW WORLD IN PANAMA ON KLM VIA AMSTERDAM. THEY TRAVELED FROM PANAMA TO HONDURAS, WHERE THEY STAYED ONE MONTH UNSUCCESSFULLY TRYING TO ENTER GUATEMALA BY LAND. THEY THEN TOOK ANOTHER SMALL BOAT FROM HONDURAS TO EL SALVADOR, WHERE THEY STAYED TWO MORE WEEKS BEFORE TAKING YET ANOTHER BOAT

TO OCOS, GUATEMALA. THEY WERE APPREHENDED BY THE GUATEMALAN BORDER PATROL WHILE THEY WERE WAITING AT THE BEACH AT OCOS FOR ANOTHER BOAT TO TAKE THEM TO MEXICO. WE SUSPECT THAT THE GROUP OF INDIANS DETAINED ON 13 JAN. WOULD HAVE A SIMILAR STORY TO TELL, SINCE THEY WERE OBVIOUSLY HEADED FOR THE BEACH.

5. A CONFIDENTIAL INFORMANT (CI) TOLD AFU EARLIER THAT MEXICAN SMUGGLERS WERE RUNNING A REGULAR BOAT SERVICE FROM OCOS TO SALINAS, MEXICO. TWO MILITARY COMMISSIONERS AND SOME NATIONAL POLICE ARE REPORTEDLY INVOLVED. THE GUATEMALAN LAUNCHES ESMERALDA I, II, AND III TAKE THE ILLEGAL ALIENS OF ANY NATIONALITY THAT CAN PAY FROM THE BEACH AT OCOS TO A SMALL BOAT OFFSHORE. THE BOAT THEN TAKES THEM TO MEXICO, THUS AVOIDING MEXICAN IMMIGRATION OFFICIALS, WHO HAVE REPORTEDLY MADE THE REGULAR LAND CROSSING ACROSS THE SUCHIATE RIVER AT TECUN UMAN MUCH MORE DIFFICULT AND RISKY. HOWEVER, THE BOAT ROUTE CAN BE OUTRIGHT DEADLY, AS DEMONSTRATED BY THE SHIPWRECK ON 27 DEC. 1993 OF AN OVERLOADED SMALL BOAT CARRYING 21 GUATEMALANS AND TWO MEXICAN SMUGGLERS. THE BOAT FOUNDERED AT NIGHT, AND 16 GUATEMALANS DROWNED OFF THE MEXICAN FISHING VILLAGES OF EL ZAPOTAL, EL PALMARCITO, PALO BLANCO, AND SANTA VIRGINIA DEL SOL. ONLY FIVE GUATEMALANS AND THE MEXICAN SMUGGLERS SURVIVED.

6. COMMENT: THE FLOW OF INDIANS THROUGH GUATEMALA HAS INCREASED IN THE LAST SEVERAL MONTHS, AS HAS THE USE OF SMALL BOATS TO HOP FROM ONE COUNTRY TO ANOTHER. UNFORTUNATELY, THE COG HAS NO RESOURCES TO DEPORT INDIANS BACK TO INDIA, AND CAN ONLY DUMP THEM ACROSS THE BORDER OF A NEIGHBORING COUNTRY. THEY WILL KEEP COMING UNTIL THEY SUCCESSFULLY MAKE IT TO MEXICO AND LATER THE U.S. OR DIE TRYING, AS HAPPENED TO THE HAPLESS GUATEMALANS. THE OBVIOUS SOLUTION, AS POST HAS ADVOCATED REPEATEDLY, IS FOR THE DEPARTMENT AND INS TO PUSH FOR THE EXPANSION OF THE USG-FUNDED THIRD COUNTRY DEPORTATION PROGRAM CURRENTLY IN PLACE IN MEXICO TO GUATEMALA AND OTHER MAJOR ILLEGAL ALIEN TRANSITTING COUNTRIES. THE FLOW OF ILLEGAL CHINESE HAS BEEN REDUCED BECAUSE CHINESE ALIENS WERE ACTUALLY DEPORTED LAST YEAR FROM GUATEMALA AND MEXICO. THE SAME MESSAGE NEEDS TO BE SENT TO INDIANS AND OTHERS. AS WELL AS SAVING LIVES, IT IS MUCH CHEAPER TO CATCH AND DEPORT THE ILLEGAL ALIENS FROM HERE THAN FROM THE U.S., AND IF THEY REACH MEXICO, THEY MAY NOT BE CAUGHT AGAIN. END COMMENT. MCAFEE

FIFTY-FIRST SESSION OF THE UN COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS

THE SITUATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS IN GUATEMALA

(AGENDA ITEM 3)

POSITION PAPER

ISSUE:

Whether to continue the review of human rights in Guatemala by placing Guatemala under advisory services (item 21), or to intensify scrutiny by naming a special rapporteur (item 12). In addition, how to respond to a possible Guatemalan government request to merge the existing UNHRC independent expert's mandate with that of the UN Human Rights Verification Mission (MINUGUA).

RELATIVE IMPORTANCE TO THE U.S.:

This item is important to the U.S.

U.S. POSITION:

1. USDEL should forward promptly to the Department for instructions any draft resolution under this agenda item.

2. USDEL should advocate continued consideration of Guatemala under advisory services (item 21).

3. USDEL should work closely with both the Latin group and interested WEOG delegations to draft a constructive resolution. Such a resolution would credit the GOG for positive measures taken to date, including cooperation with MINUGUA, while calling on the government of Guatemala and the URNG guerrillas to halt ongoing human rights abuses.

4. USDEL should seek to support through the resolution and UNHRC discussions the UN-mediated peace process. The Group of Friends of the process (the U.S., Mexico, Colombia, Venezuela, Spain, and Norway) should be a source of support in this effort.

5. If the Guatemalan Government seeks U.S. assistance on merging the mandate of UNHRC Independent Expert Monica Pinto with that of the UN Human Rights Verification Mission

(MINUGUA), USDEL should seek Department guidance and consult with other Friends of the peace process.

6. If approached for comment on the Jennifer Harbury/Efrain Bamaca case, USDEL should limit its comments to the following:

> "Promoting respect for human rights is at the top of our bilateral agenda with Guatemala and we will continue to be as helpful to Jennifer Harbury as we possible can."

USDEL should immediately notify Department of the contact and seek further guidance for all additional comments.

7. This issue receives close attention from the Congressional and non-governmental community. 32 members of the Congressional Human Rights Caucus wrote to President Clinton in December urging that Pinto's mandate be renewed rather than being merged with that of MINUGUA.

BACKGROUND:

The UNHRC's treatment of the human rights situation in Guatemala has great political significance both for the Guatemalan Government and for the guerrilla umbrella organization, the URNG. Both sides put considerable effort into mobilizing support for what has become an annual, ritual battle in Geneva. (President de Leon himself may visit the Commission this year to present his government's point of view in person.) Although Guatemala was considered under agenda item 12 (country situations) as recently as 1987, they have avoided that political stigma since then, with perennial support from Latin American members. In recent years, the UNHRC has instead considered Guatemala under the advisory services agenda item, appointing an independent expert to advise the GOG and submit regular reports to the Commission. Argentine human rights expert Monica Pinto currently holds the position. She visited Guatemala in November and publicly deplored a deterioration in Guatemala's human rights situation, including continued militarization. Her report, which will be made public just before or during the UNHRC, is likely to portray the government in a negative light. The government, for its part, considers Pinto's public comments inaccurate.

While human rights violations by the military and groups associated with them continued and NGOs have reported an increase in the number of complaints filed with them in 1994, President de Leon, a former Human Rights Ombudsman, has taken a number of steps to improve the country's human rights situation since taking office in 1993. These measures include the appointment of a progressive Minister of Defense who supports civilian control of the military and the peace process; the disbanding of the military intelligence unit in the presidency linked to human rights abuses; and the announcement of his intention to convert the Civil Defense Patrols (PACs), which have been linked to human rights abuses, into "peace and development committees" in non-conflictive zones. Several committees have already been converted. De Leon also suspended forced recruitment into the military and in December 1994 fired his controversial Vice Minister of Government, the former head of military intelligence. In addition, over 7,000 refugees returned to Guatemala in 1994.

Despite these positive developments, there has been little progress in resolving individual human rights cases since de Leon took office, and many NGOs have expressed disappointment that the former Human Rights Ombudsman has not taken more forceful steps to disband civil defense patrols or moved more aggressively to end military impunity. A high-profile case involving the disappearance of a Guatemalan guerrilla, Efrain Bamaca Velasquez (aka Comandante Everardo) received considerable attention in 1994 when his American wife held a well-publicized hunger strike in Guatemala in October and November. She may attend the UNHRC, as she did last year, to draw more attention to this case.

URNG guerrilla activity has escalated in the last half of 1994, including military engagements with the Guatemalan army and criminal or terrorist acts, including sabotage, kidnapping, extortion and bombing. They have also committed human rights abuses, including firing on a busload of civilians in August 1994, killing one and wounding eleven, and torturing and murdering an off-duty military officer in September 1994.

De Leon appears committed to improving the human rights situation, and to working with us, the UN, and others in order to achieve this. One of the accords signed with URNG guerrillas before peace talks stalled in late 1994 provided for the establishment of a UN Verification Mission (MINUGUA) in Guatemala. This mission, which was approved by the UNGA in September and officially inaugurated in November, has begun to deploy some 300 personnel all over the country to work with local human rights institutions to monitor events in Guatemala. By accepting the presence of so large and extensive an international observer mission, the Guatemalan Government can demonstrate that it is cooperating with the international community to promote human rights, and thus merits continued consideration under agenda item 21. However, Guatemala will meet with considerable NGO resistance if they propose -- as they did at ECOSOC last summer -- to merge Monica Pinto's mandate with that of MINUGUA. The U.S. will consult with other UNHRC members on this issue, should it arise, before taking a final position, bearing in mind NGO and Congressional interest in this matter.

After making significant progress in the first six months of 1994, peace negotiations stalled in the latter half of the year, prompting UN SYG Boutros-Ghali to issue a letter to the UNGA in December 1994, expressing concern about "stagnation" of the process and calling on both parties to renew their commitment to agree on a firm and lasting peace as close as possible to the now-expired December 31, 1994 deadline. The SYG also wrote directly to the parties to convey a similar message. Any UNHRC resolution on Guatemala should call on the parties to bring Guatemala's 34-year-old internal conflict to an end as soon as possible, as the best means of promoting greater respect for human rights.

1. LOU-HOFORN--ENTIRE TEX

2. THE FINAL EDITED VERSION (VERSION 3) OF THE 1993 REPORT ON HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES FOR GUATEMALA IS TRANSMITTED HEREWITH FOR A FINAL REVIEW TO CHECK FOR SIGNIFICANT FACTUAL OR OTHER ERRORS, BUT NOT, REPEAT NOT, TO RENEGOTIATE THE TEXT OR ADD NEW INFORMATION UNLESS IT IS ESSENTIAL AND SUCCINCT. ANY POST COMMENTS SHOULD BE KEYED TO THE NUMBERED PARAGRAPHS IN THE CABLE. PLEASE RESPOND BY NOON FRIDAY JANUARY 28 IN ORDER TO HELP DEPARTMENT MEET THE DEADLINE FOR COMPLETING ALL 1993 REPORTS.

3. POST SHOULD KEEP IN MIND THAT ALL DRAFTS INCLUDING THIS ONE MUST BE TREATED AS LIMITED OFFICIAL USE/NOFORN. WHEN THE FINAL REPORT IS OFFICIALLY RELEASED TO THE PUBLIC, YOU WILL BE SENT AN UNCLASSIFIED VERSION, AND THAT IS THE ONLY VERSION WHICH MAY BE RELEASED.

4. BEGIN TEXT OF REPORT:

5. GUATEMALA'S 1985 CONSTITUTION CALLS FOR ELECTION BY UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE OF A ONE-TERM PRESIDENT, A UNICAMERAL CONGRESS, AND MUNICIPAL OFFICERS; IT MANDATES AN INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY AND A HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, WHO IS ELECTED BY AND REPORTS TO CONGRESS. MIDWAY THROUGH HIS 5-YEAR TERM, AFTER RISING STREET PROTESTS, PRESIDENT JORGE SERRANO SUSPENDED SEVERAL SECTIONS OF THE CONSTITUTION AND DISSOLVED CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME AND CONSTITUTIONAL COURTS ON MAY 25. AFTER EXTREMELY NEGATIVE DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL REACTION TO THIS EXTRACONSTITUTIONAL MOVE, SERRANO WAS PEACEFULLY AND CONSTITUTIONALLY DEPOSED ON JUNE 1. CONGRESS AND THE COURTS WERE CALLED BACK INTO SESSION, AND ON JUNE 5,

CONGRESS, AS PRESCRIBED BY THE CONSTITUTION, ELECTED THEN HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO TO FINISH SERRANO'S PRESIDENTIAL TERM, WHICH ENDS IN JANUARY 1996.

6. THE ARMED FORCES OPERATE WITH CONSIDERABLE INSTITUTIONAL AND LEGAL AUTONOMY, PARTICULARLY IN SECURITY AND MILITARY MATTERS. PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO, AS COMMANDER IN CHIEF, REPLACED TWO DEFENSE MINISTERS WITH OFFICERS OF HIS OWN CHOOSING. THE 43,000-MAN ARMY, WHICH HAS RESPONSIBILITY FOR NATIONAL SECURITY, HAS FOUGHT A LEFTIST INSURGENCY FOR MORE THAN THREE DECADES. THE NATIONAL POLICE (12,000 STRONG) AND TREASURY POLICE (2,000) REPORT TO THE INTERIOR MINISTER AND SHARE RESPONSIBILITY FOR INTERNAL SECURITY WITH THE ARMY. A TARGET OF FREQUENT CRITICISM BY HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS, THE "HUNAPU" ANTICRIME TASK FORCE PATROLS--COMPOSED OF NATIONAL POLICE, TREASURY POLICE, AND MOBILE MILITARY POLICE (PMA)--WERE ELIMINATED DURING THE YEAR. HOWEVER, IN DECEMBER, AS PART OF A CHRISTMASTIME ANTICRIME EFFORT, LIMITED JOINT PATROLS WERE REINSTITUTED IN SOME COMMUNITIES. THE NEW PRESIDENT APPOINTED A CIVILIAN AS NATIONAL POLICE CHIEF IN AUGUST, AS WELL AS OTHER CIVILIANS TO SENIOR POSITIONS IN THE POLICE AND MINISTRY OF INTERIOR, AND REMOVED ALL MILITARY PERSONNEL FROM THE POLICE ON AUGUST 27. SOME 500,000 MEN SERVE IN VOLUNTARY CIVIL SELF-DEFENSE COMMITTEES, COMMONLY CALLED CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS (PAC'S), SOME OF WHICH CONDUCT COUNTERINSURGENCY PATROLS IN RURAL AREAS. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN AND THE CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORT THAT SOME PAC MEMBERS WERE COMPELLED TO JOIN THE PATROLS, IN VIOLATION OF THE CONSTITUTION. SECURITY FORCES AND ESPECIALLY PAC'S COMMITTED NUMEROUS SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS IN 1993.

7. THE AGRICULTURE-BASED, PRIVATE SECTOR-ORIENTED ECONOMY WAS PROJECTED TO GROW APPROXIMATELY 4 PERCENT IN 1993, WHICH WOULD PRODUCE AN INCREASE IN PER CAPITA INCOME OF ABOUT 1 PERCENT. INFLATION WAS EXPECTED TO REACH 12 PERCENT. GUATEMALA HAS NEGOTIATED A STANDBY AGREEMENT WITH THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND, DESPITE FISCAL AND MONETARY DIFFICULTIES. THERE IS A MARKED DISPARITY IN INCOME DISTRIBUTION AND POVERTY IS PERVASIVE, PARTICULARLY IN THE LARGE INDIGENOUS COMMUNITY.

8. ALTHOUGH THERE WERE IMPROVEMENTS IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN 1993, SERIOUS ABUSES OCCURRED FREQUENTLY. STATISTICS PREPARED BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE SHOWED AN INCREASE IN EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS AS OF MID-DECEMBER AND A SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE IN FORCED DISAPPEARANCES, WITH NO IMPROVEMENT IN OTHER CATEGORIES. MANY OF THESE VIOLATIONS OCCURRED IN THE LATTER HALF OF THE YEAR. THE CIVIL PATROLS, MILITARY, AND POLICE CONTINUED TO COMMIT A MAJORITY OF THE MAJOR VIOLATIONS, INCLUDING EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, POLITICAL KIDNAPINGS, AND DEATH THREATS. THE SERIOUSNESS OF THE CONTINUING VIOLATIONS WAS UNDERLINED BY THE CIRCULATION IN MARCH OF A "DEATH LIST" CONTAINING 24 NAMES AND ANOTHER IN OCTOBER WITH 23 NAMES. HOWEVER, NO ONE ON EITHER LIST WAS KIDNAPED OR KILLED.

9. THE ELECTION OF PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO, THE HIGHLY RESPECTED FORMER HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, RAISED HOPES THERE WOULD BE A RAPID IMPROVEMENT IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION. THE NEW PRESIDENT ENCOURAGED HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS AND SHOWED A WILLINGNESS TO INVESTIGATE ABUSES AND TO MAKE STRUCTURAL CHANGES, SUCH AS DISMANTLING THE "ARCHIVOS" MILITARY INTELLIGENCE UNIT AND RESTRUCTURING THE POLICE, INCLUDING CREATION OF A SPECIAL POLICE UNIT

TO INVESTIGATE ALL CASES OF FORCED DISAPPEARANCES, EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, AND OTHER VIOLATIONS OF A POLITICAL NATURE. NEVERTHELESS, THESE CHANGES FAILED TO REDUCE THE ACTUAL NUMBER OF ABUSES ALLEGEDLY COMMITTED BY GOVERNMENT FORCES. THE 33-YEAR-OLD INTERNAL INSURGENCY CONTINUED TO BE A MAJOR CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS. BOTH THE SECURITY FORCES AND THE GUERRILLAS COMMITTED NUMEROUS AND SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. GUERRILLA ABUSES INCLUDED EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, KIDNAPINGS, FORCED LABOR RECRUITMENT, WIDESPREAD USE OF MINES AND EXPLOSIVES IN CIVILIAN AREAS, AND THE USE OF CHILDREN IN COMBAT. GUERRILLA ATTACKS ON INFRASTRUCTURE TARGETS CONTINUED THROUGHOUT THE YEAR.

RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

SECTION 1 RESPECT FOR THE INTEGRITY OF THE PERSON, INCLUDING FREEDOM FROM:

A. POLITICAL AND OTHER EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLING

10. POLITICALLY MOTIVATED KILLINGS CONTINUED IN 1993, AND WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS, THE GOVERNMENT FAILED TO INVESTIGATE THEM FULLY, OR TO OBTAIN AND PROSECUTE THE PERPETRATORS OF EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN LISTED 138 CASES OF EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS THROUGH AUGUST 15. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED 239 EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS FOR 1993 AS COMPARED TO 294 IN 1992 BUT DID NOT BREAK DOWN THE FIGURES ACCORDING TO THE RESPONSIBLE ORGANIZATION.

11. THE SECURITY FORCES AND PERSONS ASSOCIATED WITH OR PROTECTED BY THE ARMY, SUCH AS THE CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS OR MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, COMMITTED A NUMBER OF THESE KILLINGS, MANY OF WHICH TOOK PLACE IN AREAS OF GUERRILLA CONFLICT. THE OMBUDSMAN, THE ATTORNEY GENERAL, AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS HAVE FOUND EVIDENCE OF KILLINGS BY PAC'S. PAC LEADERS ARE FEARED IN MANY RURAL COMMUNITIES. THEY ENJOY ARMY BACKING AND OFTEN IMMUNITY FROM PROSECUTION. LIKEWISE, MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY FORCES ARE RARELY HELD ACCOUNTABLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS.

12. CIVIL PATROLS CONTINUED TO BE ESPECIALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, INCLUDING THE KILLING OF HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS. PAC'S THREATENED AND KILLED MEMBERS OF THE RUNUJEL JUNAM COUNCIL OF ETHNIC COMMUNITIES (CERJ), A RURAL-BASED HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION DEDICATED MAINLY TO OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY SERVICE IN PAC'S. TOMAS LARES CIPRIANO, A CERJ AND UNITED PEASANTS COMMITTEE (CUC) MEMBER IN JOYABAJ, WAS KILLED ON APRIL 30 BY PAC MEMBERS, ACCORDING TO FAMILY MEMBERS AND WITNESSES.

13. TEN PERSONS, FROM TWO SEPARATE FAMILIES, TOOK REFUGE

IN THE SANTA CRUZ DEL QUICHE CERJ OFFICE ON JUNE 18 AFTER BEING THREATENED WITH DEATH FOR NOT PARTICIPATING IN THE PAC'S AND FOR BEING CERJ MEMBERS. ON OCTOBER 14, 3 OF THE 10 LEFT THE CERJ OFFICES UNDER POLICE PROTECTION AND RESETTLED IN A TOWN WITHOUT A PAC. THE OTHER SEVEN REMAINED IN THE CERJ OFFICE. CHARGES AGAINST CERJ LEADER ANILCAR MENDEZ FOR ALLEGEDLY PROVIDING EXPLOSIVES TO GUERRILLAS IN OCTOBER 1992 WERE DROPPED IN MARCH. CAPTAIN ANIBAL ROBERTO LANDAVERI, COMMANDER OF THE CHIUL, QUICHE, STOCKADE, WAS ARRESTED IN MAY FOR HAVING THREE CERJ MEMBERS BEATEN ON HIS BASE. HE WAS DISMISSED FROM THE ARMY AND TRIED FOR ILLEGAL DETENTION, ABUSE OF AUTHORITY, COERCION, AND CAUSING INJURIES. IN ADDITION TO BEING DISMISSED, HE WAS FOUND GUILTY AND SENTENCED TO

2 1/2 YEARS IN PRISON AND PAYMENT OF DAMAGES TO THOSE HARMED. HOWEVER, THE SENTENCE WAS SUSPENDED BY THE MILITARY COURT, WHICH HAS THE DISCRETION TO DO SO WHEN A LIGHT SENTENCE IS IMPOSED.

14. ON AUGUST 3, HUEHUETENANGO PAC MEMBERS FIRED ON MARCHERS DEMANDING THE DISSOLUTION OF THE CIVIL PATROLS, KILLING JUAN CHONAY PABLO AND WOUNDING TWO OTHERS. TWO PAC MEMBERS WERE ARRESTED FOR CHONAY'S MURDER, AND ARREST WARRANTS WERE ISSUED FOR 13 OTHER PAC MEMBERS. WITNESSES SUBSEQUENTLY REPORTED RECEIVING THREATS FROM PAC MEMBERS. PAC LEADER EFRAIN DOMINGO MORALES, FROM THE TOWN OF XEMAL IN THE SAME AREA, WAS MURDERED BY UNKNOWN PERSONS IN MID-SEPTEMBER. A SURVIVING FAMILY MEMBER REPORTED THAT PAC MEMBERS KILLED TWO PEASANTS FROM XEMAL, COLOTENANGO, ON SEPTEMBER 26.

15. FORMER CORPORAL NICOLAS GUTIERREZ CRUZ, CONVICTED IN THE JANUARY 17, 1992, KILLING OF FOUR PERSONS IN CUIDAD PERONIA, EXHAUSTED HIS LEGAL APPEALS ON JULY 23 WHEN THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT DENIED HIS REQUEST TO VOID HIS DEATH SENTENCE. IN EARLY OCTOBER, PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO COMMUTED HIS SENTENCE TO 30 YEARS. A FELLOW EX-SOLDIER CONVICTED IN THE KILLINGS ESCAPED ON MAY 9, 1992; IN MAY 1993, AN APPELLATE COURT SENTENCED AN ARMY ENLISTED MAN TO 2 YEARS IN PRISON FOR NEGLIGENCE IN ALLOWING THE ESCAPE. ON MARCH 19, THEN HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN DE LEON ACCUSED ARMY TROOPS OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE AUGUST 31, 1992, KIDNAPING, TORTURE, AND MURDER OF HUEHUETENANGO PEASANT LUCAS PEREZ TADEO. ALTHOUGH THE ARMY PROMISED A FULL INVESTIGATION, NO RESULTS WERE REPORTED BY YEAR'S END.

16. ON MAY 1, CIVIL PATROL MEMBERS IN JOCOPILAS SURROUNDED A HOUSE AND KILLED 11 INHABITANTS (INCLUDING AN UNBORN CHILD). MANY OF THE 11 WERE KNOWN AS CRIMINALS IN THE COMMUNITY AND, THE DAY OF THEIR DEATHS, ARE SAID TO HAVE ROBBED ONE FAMILY AND RAPED THREE WOMEN. POLICE ARRIVED PRIOR TO THE KILLINGS, BUT LEFT AFTER BEING INTIMIDATED BY THE LOCAL PAC.

17. ON THE GOVERNMENT'S APPEAL OF AN EARLIER ACQUITTAL, QUICHE PAC CHIEFS MANUEL PEREBAL AJTZALAM AND MANUEL LEON LARES WERE SENTENCED TO 30 YEARS IN PRISON FOR THE FEBRUARY 17, 1991, KILLING OF JUAN PEREBAL XIRUM AND HIS SON AND THE INJURING OF ANOTHER SON. THOSE ATTACKED HAD TESTIFIED AGAINST PEREBAL IN THE CASE OF SEBASTIAN VELASQUEZ MEJIA, A COMMUNITY LEADER OPPOSED TO THE PAC'S

WHO WAS KIDNAPED AND LATER FOUND DEAD.

18. PERSONS ASSOCIATED WITH THE SECURITY FORCES WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR VIGILANTE KILLINGS. ACCORDING TO THE CASA ALIANZA, AN ORGANIZATION THAT FOSTERS PROTECTION OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OF STREET CHILDREN, THEY WERE SPECIFICALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLING OF CHILDREN. IT REPORTED THAT STREET CHILDREN HENRY YUBANI ALVAREZ AND FRANCISCO TZIAC WERE SHOT IN DOWNTOWN GUATEMALA CITY ON APRIL 17 AND 22. CASA ALIANZA BELIEVES THAT A PRIVATE SECURITY GUARD KILLED ALVAREZ AND OFF-DUTY MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WOUNDED TZIAC, BOTH SHOT POSSIBLY DUE TO PETTY THIEVERY. ON MAY 11, A CONGRESSIONAL BODYGUARD SHOT A STUDENT PROTESTING AT THE CONGRESS. HE DIED A DAY LATER; THE BODYGUARD WHO ALLEGEDLY KILLED HIM REMAINS A FUGITIVE.

19. THERE WAS SOME PROGRESS IN CERTAIN PAST HIGH-PROFILE CASES. FORMER GOVERNMENT SECURITY AGENT NOEL DE JESUS BETETA ALVAREZ WAS SENTENCED IN FEBRUARY TO 30 YEARS IN

DECONTROLLED/UNCLASSIFIED

ARA/NEA REARCS

PRISON FOR THE 1990 MURDER OF GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST MYRNA MACK CHANG AND THE UNRELATED BEATING OF A MINOR. THE CONVICTION IS NOW BEING APPEALED, WITH PLAINTIFF HELEN MACK ALSO SEEKING PROSECUTION OF THE ALLEGED MILITARY "INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS" OF THE CRIME. ON SEPTEMBER 1, MYRNA MACK'S FORMER WORKPLACE WAS BROKEN INTO AND DEATH THREATS LEFT AGAINST HELEN MACK. ON SEPTEMBER 23, BETETA BRIEFLY ESCAPED FROM JAIL BUT WAS RECAPTURED 5 HOURS LATER AND CHARGED WITH THE ESCAPE.

20. ON MAY 11, AN APPELLATE COURT SENTENCED CAPT. HUGO CONTRERAS TO 28 YEARS FOR PLANNING THE 1990 KIDNAPING THAT LED TO THE DEATH OF U.S. CITIZEN MICHAEL DEVINE AND CONFIRMED THE 30-YEAR SENTENCES FOR SIX ENLISTED MEN. AFTER HEARING THE VERDICT, HOWEVER, CONTRERAS ESCAPED FROM MILITARY CUSTODY AND REMAINS AT LARGE. WHILE THE CIRCUMSTANCES OF HIS ESCAPE SUGGESTED COMPLICITY BY THE MILITARY, THE ONLY PUNISHMENT WAS A 2-YEAR SUSPENDED SENTENCE GIVEN TO AN ENLISTED MAN FOR NOT BEING AT HIS POST WHEN CONTRERAS ESCAPED. SENIOR OFFICERS ACCUSED OF COVERING UP THE CASE HAVE NOT BEEN BROUGHT TO TRIAL.

21. ON AUGUST 18, AN APPEALS COURT SENTENCED 22 FORMER POLICE OFFICERS, WHO FORMED PART OF A "KUBAPU" PATROL, TO 30 YEARS IN PRISON FOR THE APRIL 18, 1992, DEATH OF UNIVERSITY STUDENT JULIO RIGOBERTO CU QUIN AND FOR INJURING SIX OTHER STUDENTS. EARLIER, ON JULY 22, SEVEN MEMBERS OF THE SAME PATROL WERE GIVEN SENTENCES OF 14 YEARS (4 COMMUTABLE) FOR THE CRIME.

22. THERE WAS NO PROGRESS IN RESOLVING NUMEROUS OTHER CASES OF PAST EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, INCLUDING THE 1988 "WHITE VAN" CASE, THE 1989 DISAPPEARANCES AND MURDERS OF UNIVERSITY STUDENTS, THE 1990 HECTOR OQUELI COLINDRES AND GILDA FLORES KILLINGS, THE 1990 DISAPPEARANCE OF MARIA TIU TOJIN AND HER DAUGHTER, THE 1991 MURDER OF POLICE DETECTIVE JOSE LUIS MERIDA ESCOBAR, THE 1991 DISAPPEARANCE OF DIEGO DOMINGO MARTIN, OR PAST KIDNAPINGS AND MURDERS OF VARIOUS CERJ MEMBERS. ON MAY 5, AN APPEALS COURT UPHELD A LOWER COURT DECISION TO DISMISS CHARGES AGAINST SIX MILITARY DEFENDANTS FOR THE 1991 "TRAILEROS" KILLINGS IN TAXISCO. THE DECISION WAS BEEN APPEALED. THE GOVERNMENT'S FREQUENT INABILITY TO CONTROL OR SANCTION THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS OFFENSES IS A MAJOR IMPEDIMENT TO HUMAN RIGHTS PROGRESS.

B. DISAPPEARANCE

23. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED 46 FORCED DISAPPEARANCES DURING 1993, AS COMPARED WITH 11 IN 1992. SEVENTEEN WERE EITHER LABELED OR PRESUMED TO BE POLITICAL IN NATURE. REPORTS LINKED MANY POLITICAL DISAPPEARANCES TO PERSONS CONNECTED WITH THE ARMED FORCES. THE GOVERNMENT DID NOT IDENTIFY OR PROSECUTE THE PERPETRATORS OF ANY OF THESE DISAPPEARANCES.

24. IN AUGUST THE WIFE OF GUERRILLA EFRAIN BAMACA CLAIMED HE WAS BEING HELD IN A CLANDESTINE PRISON AFTER RESULTS OF AN EXHUMATION OF HIS SUPPOSED GRAVE PROVED NEGATIVE. THE ARMY DENIED THIS BUT ADMITTED TO HOUSING FORMER GUERRILLAS WHO COOPERATE WITH THE ARMED FORCES ON MILITARY BASES. ONE OF THESE EX-GUERRILLAS, ANGEL OSORIO, WAS KILLED ON AUGUST 19 BY MEMBERS OF THE GUATEMALA NATIONAL REVOLUTIONARY UNITY (URNG) GUERRILLA COALITION WHEN HE WAS STOPPED AT A GUERRILLA ROADBLOCK AFTER LEAVING A QUICHE MILITARY BASE TO VISIT HIS FAMILY.

25. GUERRILLA FORCES KIDNAPED SAN MARCOS PAC MEMBERS

MARGARITO LOPEZ AND OBDULIO ZAPETA ON AUGUST 7 AND DIEGO CHEL MATON, AN ARMY ENLISTED MAN RIDING A BUS IN QUICHE 3 DAYS LATER. IN EARLY DECEMBER, THE PRESS REPORTED THAT 18 PERSONS DRESSED IN THE MANNER OF URNG GUERRILLAS APPROACHED RAMONA MUNOZ AND MARITZA GIL AS THEY WERE WORKING ON THEIR SANTA ROSE FARM AND TOOK THEM TO NEARBY MOUNTAINS UNDER THREAT OF DEATH. THE WHEREABOUTS OF ALL THESE PERSONS WERE UNKNOWN AS OF YEAR'S END.

C. TORTURE AND OTHER CRUEL, INHUMAN, OR DEGRADING TREATMENT OR PUNISHMENT

26. THE CONSTITUTION PROTECTS THE INTEGRITY AND SECURITY OF THE PERSON. HOWEVER, AS IN PAST YEARS, MANY BODIES WERE FOUND THROUGHOUT GUATEMALA BEARING SIGNS OF SEVERE DISFIGUREMENT OR POSTMORTEM MUTILATION. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE LISTED NINE CASES OF TORTURE THROUGH MID-DECEMBER. IN ONE CASE, A MALE STUDENT WAS PICKED UP BY THREE UNIDENTIFIED MEN ON MARCH 27, BEATEN UNCONSCIOUS, HELD FOR 3 DAYS, AND ASKED ABOUT STUDENT LEADERS. IN APRIL A FEMALE VICTIM WAS ALSO BEATEN UNCONSCIOUS BUT APPARENTLY WAS NOT ASKED ANY QUESTIONS.

27. THERE WERE OTHER CREDIBLE REPORTS OF MISTREATMENT BY SECURITY FORCES, INCLUDING USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE BY POLICE AT THE TIME OF ARREST AND OF ABUSIVE TREATMENT OF PERSONS IN RURAL AREAS BY THE ARMY, CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS, MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, AND POLICE. THE GOVERNMENT OFTEN FAILED TO INVESTIGATE OR TAKE ANY OTHER ACTION IN RESPONSE TO SUCH REPORTS. ALTHOUGH ACTION WAS RARELY TAKEN, CASES OF RAPE TRACED TO INDIVIDUAL SOLDIERS WERE REPORTED.

28. CASA ALIANZA, THE ORGANIZATION DEDICATED TO STREET CHILDREN, REPORTED IN MARCH THAT STREET CHILD JULIO CESAR REYES WAS PICKED UP BY TWO PERSONS HE RECOGNIZED AS POLICEMEN AND BURNED ON HIS ARM 29 TIMES WITH A CIGARETTE. ON MAY 23, A STREET CHILD REPORTED HAVING ACID THROWN AT HIM BY THE POLICE. THERE WERE NUMEROUS OTHER REPORTS OF POLICEMEN BEATING OR ILLEGALLY DETAINING STREET CHILDREN; THE AUTHORITIES RARELY TOOK ACTION IN ANY OF THESE INSTANCES.

D. ARBITRARY ARREST, DETENTION, OR EXILE

29. DESPITE LEGAL SAFEGUARDS, THERE WERE FREQUENT CREDIBLE REPORTS OF ARBITRARY ARREST BY THE SECURITY FORCES, INCOMMUNICADO DETENTION, AND FAILURE TO ADHERE TO THE PRESCRIBED TIME LIMITS FOR LEGAL PROCEDURES. A COURT-ISSUED ARREST WARRANT IS REQUIRED UNLESS A PERSON IS CAUGHT IN THE ACT OF COMMITTING A CRIME. POLICE MAY NOT DETAIN A SUSPECT FOR OVER 6 HOURS WITHOUT BRINGING HIM BEFORE A JUDGE. THE LAW PROVIDES FOR BAIL, ACCESS TO LAWYERS, AND LIMITS TO 28 DAYS THE TIME ANYONE MAY BE HELD. AFTER THAT PERIOD, A DETAINEE MUST BE CHARGED OR FREED, AND THE AUTHORITIES MUST PRODUCE DETAINEES ON COURT REQUEST.

30. SOME PERSONS DETAINED ILLEGALLY REPORTED HAVING BEEN HELD AT SAFE HOUSES ALLEGEDLY OPERATED BY SECURITY FORCES. THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR ILLEGAL DETENTIONS ROUTINELY IGNORE WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE CHARGED THAT PRISONERS ARE SOMETIMES NOT RELEASED IN A TIMELY FASHION AFTER COMPLETING THEIR SENTENCES DUE TO THE FAILURE OF JUDGES TO ISSUE THE NECESSARY COURT ORDER.

31. INVESTIGATIONS DURING THE SERRANO PRESIDENCY INTO THE ACTIVITIES OF FORMER IZABAL DEPARTMENT GOVERNOR LILLIAN VASQUEZ DE GUZMAN AND ALLEGED CORRUPTION BY FORMER HEALTH MINISTER MICHEL MONTEPEQUE APPEARED POLITICALLY MOTIVATED. MONTEPEQUE WAS SUBSEQUENTLY CLEARED OF CHARGES; VASQUEZ DE GUZMAN WENT INTO SELF-IMPOSED TEMPORARY EXILE IN MID-FEBRUARY. THE PROBLEM OF POLITICALLY MOTIVATED INVESTIGATIONS LESSENED AFTER THE ACCESSION OF DE LEON CARPIO TO THE PRESIDENCY.

32. EXILE IS PROHIBITED UNDER THE CONSTITUTION AND IS NOT PRACTICED.

E. DENIAL OF FAIR PUBLIC TRIAL

33. THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM IS INEFFECTIVE AND OFTEN UNABLE TO ENSURE A FAIR TRIAL (SEE BELOW). THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR AN INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY COMPOSED OF A CONSTITUTIONAL COURT, A SUPREME COURT, APPEALS COURTS, AND SEVERAL COURTS OF SPECIAL JURISDICTION, SUCH AS LABOR COURTS. HOWEVER, MILITARY COURTS HAVE JURISDICTION OVER MILITARY PERSONNEL, INCLUDING MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WHO COMMIT CRIMES WHILE ON OFFICIAL BUSINESS, THUS LIMITING THE ABILITY OF CIVIL COURTS TO PROSECUTE PERSONS UNDER MILITARY CONTROL IN HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE CASES. PAC MEMBERS ARE CIVILIANS AND NOT UNDER MILITARY JURISDICTION.

34. CIVILIAN TRIALS ARE PUBLIC AFTER THE FIRST 15 DAYS, WHICH ARE DEDICATED TO AN INITIAL INVESTIGATIVE PHASE THAT IS CLOSED. DEFENDANTS HAVE THE RIGHT TO BE PRESENT AT TRIALS AND TO LEGAL REPRESENTATION. AN APPEALS COURT

AUTOMATICALLY REVIEWS CONVICTIONS. THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE IS BEING CHANGED TO INTRODUCE ORAL PROCEEDINGS (IN BOTH SPANISH AND INDIGENOUS LANGUAGES) OPEN TO THE PUBLIC AND TO ESTABLISH A VIABLE PUBLIC DEFENDER PROGRAM. TO ALLOW MORE TIME FOR TRAINING AND COMPLIANCE, HOWEVER, IN DECEMBER THE EFFECTIVE DATE OF THE NEW CRIMINAL CODE WAS POSTPONED UNTIL JULY 1994.

35. MOST HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS ARE NOT INVESTIGATED; SECURITY FORCE PERSONNEL ARE RELUCTANT TO INVESTIGATE CASES INVOLVING COLLEAGUES. POLICE ARE ALSO RELATIVELY FEW IN NUMBER AND LACK RESOURCES AND TRAINING. JUDGES ARE SUSCEPTIBLE TO INTIMIDATION AND CORRUPTION AND SUFFER FROM LOW PAY, BAD WORKING CONDITIONS, AND LOW MORALE. THE SUPREME COURT AND SOME LOWER COURT JUDGES CAME UNDER PUBLIC PRESSURE TO RESIGN FOR CORRUPTION AND POLITICIZATION OF THE LEGAL SYSTEM.

36. SOME JUDGES SUCCEEDED IN BEING EXCUSED FROM HEARING PROMINENT CASES BY ALLEGING THEY HAD RECEIVED DEATH THREATS. A TOTAL OF 12 DIFFERENT JUDGES WERE EXCUSED FROM THE MYRNA MACK CHANG CASE, FOR EXAMPLE. THE APPEALS COURT JUDGES WHO HEARD THE MACK, DEVINE, AND "TRAILEROS" CASES REPORT HAVING RECEIVED THREATS IN 1993. IN ADDITION, OFFICIALS FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S AND HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICES, INCLUDING THE OMBUDSMAN HIMSELF, HAVE RECEIVED THREATS.

37. CHARGES CONTINUE TO BE PUBLICLY MADE THAT THE SUPREME COURT PRESSURES LOWER COURT JUDGES TO DECIDE CASES IN LINE WITH ITS WISHES. IN JANUARY THE

CONSTITUTIONAL COURT RULED THAT THE SUPREME COURT PRACTICE OF ARBITRARILY TRANSFERRING JUSTICES WAS UNCONSTITUTIONAL, LIMITING ONE MEANS OF INTERFERING IN LOWER COURT CASES.

38. THERE ARE NO KNOWN POLITICAL PRISONERS.

STATE 022399 2722072 034713 S868840

F. ARBITRARY INTERFERENCE WITH PRIVACY, FAMILY, HOME, OR CORRESPONDENCE

39. THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR THE INVIOLABILITY OF HOME, CORRESPONDENCE, AND PRIVATE DOCUMENTS, BUT THESE PROVISIONS ARE NOT ALWAYS RESPECTED. ELEMENTS OF THE SECURITY FORCES CONTINUE TO MONITOR PRIVATE COMMUNICATIONS. MANY HUMAN RIGHTS MONITORS REPORTED RECEIVING THREATS IN THE FORM OF SURVEILLANCE, TELEPHONE CALLS, AND ANONYMOUS LETTERS.

40. ON MARCH 26, THE GUATEMALAN POSTAL WORKERS UNION AND THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN EXPOSED A SECRET GOVERNMENT MAIL INTERCEPTION UNIT LOCATED AT THE CENTRAL POST OFFICE. THE OMBUDSMAN ATTRIBUTED RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE LETTER-OPENING OPERATION TO THE PRESIDENTIAL INTELLIGENCE UNIT KNOWN AS "ARCHIVOS," WHICH WAS LATER DISBANDED.

41. OFFICIALS ENFORCING THE MILITARY DRAFT CONTINUED TO ENTER HOMES AND PLACES OF BUSINESS WITHOUT LEGALLY REQUIRED COURT ORDERS. THE ARMY ATTEMPTED TO CURB SUCH ABUSES IN QUICHE BY SETTING UP A DRAFT BOARD CONSISTING OF THE ZONE MILITARY COMMANDER, THE LOCAL REPRESENTATIVE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, AND OTHER

CIVILIAN LEADERS. UNDER RECRUITMENT PRACTICES ALSO ADOPTED IN OTHER DEPARTMENTS, POTENTIAL DRAFTEES RECEIVE THREE INDUCTION NOTICES, AFTER WHICH THEY ARE ARRESTED IF THEY DO NOT REPORT FOR ENLISTMENT. UNDER GUATEMALAN LAW, SUCH ARRESTS MUST BE EFFECTED PURSUANT TO A COURT ORDER.

42. CREDIBLE REPORTS OF FORCED RECRUITMENT CONTINUED, HOWEVER, PARTICULARLY IN LATE JANUARY. ON JULY 27, IN WHAT WAS SAID TO BE THE FIRST CASE OF ITS KIND OUTSIDE A CITY, JALAPA PEASANT JUAN ENGEL MORALES LIMA FILED SUIT CLAIMING HE WAS A VICTIM OF FORCED RECRUITMENT. IN SEPTEMBER ALVARO ENRIQUE MADRID MATTA WAS RELEASED FROM THE ARMY DUE TO HIS BEING A MINOR AFTER THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN FILED SUIT ON SEPTEMBER 14, ASSERTING HE HAD BEEN FORCIBLY RECRUITED IN AUGUST.

43. THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRES THAT PAC SERVICE BE VOLUNTARY. HOWEVER, ARMY OFFICERS, MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, AND PAC LEADERS OFTEN PRESSURE MEN IN AREAS OF CONFLICT TO BECOME PAC MEMBERS. THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT SOME WHO REFUSED TO SERVE WERE KILLED OR SUFFERED OTHER ABUSES.

44. G. USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN INTERNAL CONFLICTS

45. GUATEMALA'S ARMED INTERNAL CONFLICT ENTERED ITS 33RD YEAR IN 1993 AND CONTINUED TO BE A MAJOR CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS BY BOTH GOVERNMENT AND GUERRILLA FORCES. AFTER A PROMISING FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR, PEACE TALKS COLLAPSED IN EARLY MAY. HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES AND

THE TIMING OF A PROPOSED CEASE-FIRE WERE PRIMARY AREAS OF DISAGREEMENT. THE DE LEON CARPIO GOVERNMENT SOUGHT TO RENEW THE PEACE TALKS UNDER A FORMAT ALLOWING GREATER PARTICIPATION BY OTHER GROUPS IN GUATEMALAN SOCIETY. TALKS WERE SCHEDULED TO RESUME, UNDER U.N. AUSPICES, IN JANUARY 1994.

ARA/NEA REARCS

FLED TO MEXICO TO AVOID ARMY OPERATIONS IN CUARTO PUEBLO, QUICHE. THEY LATER RETURNED. ON AUGUST 23, TWO FORMER PAC MEMBERS STATED THAT PAC LEADERS AND A MILITARY OFFICER HAD FORCED THEM EARLIER IN THE YEAR TO HARASS A CPR. IN SEPTEMBER PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO MET WITH A CPR DELEGATION TO DISCUSS THEIR COMPLAINTS. CPR LEADERS ANNOUNCED THE INTENTION OF THEIR COMMUNITIES TO LIVE OPENLY, ESTABLISHING PERMANENT SETTLEMENTS IN 1994.

47. BOMBINGS CONDUCTED BY UNKNOWN PERPETRATORS CONTINUED, WITH TARGETS INCLUDING FORMER PRESIDENT SERRANO'S SOLIDARITY ACTION MOVEMENT PARTY HEADQUARTERS AND THE HEADQUARTERS OF THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY. FOUR BANKS WERE ALSO BOMBED, AND NUMEROUS RURAL ELECTRICAL TOWERS WERE BLOWN UP IN JANUARY AND FEBRUARY. FURTHER BOMBINGS OCCURRED IN SEPTEMBER, APPARENTLY TIED TO A POLITICAL STRUGGLE INVOLVING EFFORTS TO REMOVE ALLEGEDLY CORRUPT CONGRESSMEN AND SUPREME COURT OFFICIALS FROM OFFICE. COMMERCIAL INSTITUTIONS, CHRISTIAN

DEMOCRATIC PARTY HEADQUARTERS, THE GUATEMALAN JURISTS ASSOCIATION, AND THE OFFICES OF THE MUTUAL SUPPORT GROUP (GAM--A HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP ACTIVE IN THE REMOVAL EFFORT), WERE TARGETS. SHOTS ALSO WERE FIRED NEAR GAM LEADER NINETH MONTENEGRO DE GARCIA'S HOME ON SEPTEMBER 11; SOME CONGRESSIONAL DEPUTIES AND THE SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT ALSO REPORTED DEATH THREATS. NO ONE WAS APPREHENDED FOR THESE ATTACKS AND THREATS.

48. GUERRILLA FORCES CONTINUED TO RECRUIT CHILDREN INTO THEIR RANKS. GOVERNMENT TROOPS FOUND A 10-YEAR-OLD CHILD GUERRILLA AFTER AN ARMED ENGAGEMENT NEAR RAXHUJA, ALTA VERAPAZ, ON MARCH 9. THE WOUNDED CHILD WAS EVACUATED TO A GUATEMALA CITY MILITARY HOSPITAL. IN ANOTHER INSTANCE, ON JUNE 17, 13-YEAR-OLD MARIO IXCAL WAS CAPTURED NEAR LA LIBERTAD, PETEN, AFTER BEING WOUNDED IN AN ARMY-GUERRILLA CLASH. TREATED AND RELEASED TO THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, IXCAL SAID HIS URNG UNIT CONTAINED TWO OTHER YOUNG BOYS. DOCUMENTED CASES OF CIVILIANS BEING INJURED BY GUERRILLA MINES ALSO OCCURRED IN 1993.

SECTION 2 RESPECT FOR CIVIL LIBERTIES, INCLUDING:

A. FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS

49. THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION. HOWEVER, RADIO AND TELEVISION STATION OWNERS CHARGE THAT LICENSING AND RENEWAL PROCEDURES HAVE BEEN USED TO THREATEN STATIONS CRITICAL OF THE GOVERNMENT, SECURITY FORCES, OR POWERFUL INDIVIDUALS. WHEN SERRANO WAS PRESIDENT, NEWSPAPERS ALSO COMPLAINED ABOUT GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE, ESPECIALLY EFFORTS TO SILENCE CRITICISM OF THE PRESIDENT, HIS FAMILY, AND ALLEGED WRONGDOING BY SECURITY FORCES. ON FEBRUARY 4, NEWSPAPER COLUMNIST MARTA ALTOAGUIRRE'S FATHER'S AUTOMOBILE WAS ATTACKED BY A GROUP OF HEAVILY ARMED MEN. ALTHOUGH NEITHER HER FATHER NOR DRIVER WERE INJURED, ALTOAGUIRRE, AN OUTSPOKEN CRITIC OF THEN PRESIDENT SERRANO, CHARACTERIZED THE ATTACK AS AN EFFORT TO INTIMIDATE HER.

50. WHILE JOURNALISTS ASSERT THAT THEY OPERATE MORE FREELY UNDER THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION THAN THEY HAVE AT ANY OTHER TIME IN RECENT HISTORY, THREATS AND ATTACKS ON JOURNALISTS CONTINUED. ON JULY 3, JORGE CARPIO NICOLLE, EL GRAPHICO PUBLISHER AND A POLITICAL PARTY LEADER, WAS SHOT AND KILLED BY A GROUP OF ARMED MEN WHILE TRAVELING ALONG A HIGHWAY IN QUETZALTENANGO. ON DECEMBER 24, VICTOR MANUEL DE LA CRUZ, A REPORTER FOR RADIO SONORA, WAS SHOT AND SUBSEQUENTLY DIED IN GUATEMALA CITY. BOTH CASES REMAINED UNSOLVED AT YEAR'S END, ALTHOUGH THE GOVERNMENT CLAIMS MOTIVATION FOR THE ATTACKS WAS CRIMINAL, NOT POLITICAL.

51. ON AUGUST 1, UNKNOWN INDIVIDUALS FIRED ON THE OFFICES OF THE DAILY NEWSPAPER SIGLO XXI. DESPITE PRESIDENT DE LEON'S PERSONAL INTEREST, THIS CASE ALSO REMAINED UNSOLVED AT YEAR'S END. FIVE DAYS LATER, THREE POLICE OFFICERS THREATENED TWO JOURNALISTS COVERING A STUDENT DISTURBANCE. THE NEW POLICE DIRECTOR DISCIPLINED THE THREE OFFICERS, AND ONE IS CURRENTLY AWAITING TRIAL FOR THIS THREAT. IN MID-AUGUST, A TELEVISION JOURNALIST WHO INTERVIEWED TWO SENIOR URNG OFFICIALS RECEIVED THREATS.

52. ON OCTOBER 3, OSCAR MASAYA, DIRECTOR OF A CABLE TELEVISION NEWS PROGRAM, WAS SEVERELY BEATEN IN GUATEMALA CITY. ON OCTOBER 28, 10 JOURNALISTS WERE BEATEN BY UNKNOWN INDIVIDUALS WHEN THEY ATTEMPTED TO COVER A PRESS CONFERENCE BEING GIVEN BY ACTIVISTS OCCUPYING THE CONGRESS. DURING NOVEMBER THE WEEKLY CRONICA REPORTED RECEIVING A THREAT THAT IT SHOULD PAY PROTECTION MONEY TO AN ALLEGED URNG REPRESENTATIVE. ON NOVEMBER 25, NEWSPAPER EDITOR CARLOS RIGALT CERVANTES WAS SHOT AND PURSUED BY PERSONS IN A CAR THAT MOMENTS EARLIER HAD STRUCK THE AUTO HE WAS DRIVING. A NUMBER OF JOURNALISTS, INCLUDING THE DIRECTOR OF TINAMIT MAGAZINE, ALSO REPORTED RECEIVING DEATH THREATS THROUGHOUT THE YEAR. SEVERAL WERE INCLUDED ON A 24-PERSON "DEATH LIST" THAT APPEARED IN LATE MARCH OR ON A SEPARATE LIST THAT APPEARED IN EARLY OCTOBER.

53. NEWSPAPERS, MAGAZINES, AND RADIO AND TELEVISION STATIONS WERE SUBJECTED TO CENSORSHIP WHEN PRESIDENT SERRANO ANNOUNCED HIS MAY 25 EXTRACONSTITUTIONAL ACTIONS. RADIO AND TELEVISION STATIONS ALSO WERE FORCED TO BROADCAST STANDARDIZED GOVERNMENT PROGRAMMING FOR EXTENDED PERIODS. SECURITY FORCES SEIZED SEVERAL THOUSAND COPIES OF THE CRONICA MAGAZINE ISSUE REPORTING SERRANO'S ACTIONS, WHICH WERE FOUND BURNED BY A ROADSIDE IN LATE JULY. A NUMBER OF JOURNALISTS REFUSED TO COOPERATE WITH AUTHORITIES DURING THE COUP; THEY WERE NOT HARMED BECAUSE CENSORSHIP QUICKLY BROKE DOWN AND A FREE PRESS RETURNED AFTER SERRANO'S FALL.

54. DESPITE HARASSMENT, THE NEWS MEDIA REPORTED ALL MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS STORIES AND PUBLICIZED COMMUNIQUES FROM THE URNG, LEFTIST GROUPS, AND OTHERS OPPOSED TO THE GOVERNMENT OR ITS POLICIES. BOTH MAJOR PRESS ASSOCIATIONS DENOUNCED INCIDENTS RESTRICTING FREEDOM OF THE PRESS AND VOWED TO CONTINUE COVERAGE OF SENSITIVE TOPICS. JOURNALISTS ADMIT, HOWEVER, THAT SELF-CENSORSHIP STEMMING FROM FEAR OF REPRISAL CONTINUES TO IMPEDE FULL INVESTIGATIVE REPORTING ON A VARIETY OF TOPICS, INCLUDING ALLEGED GOVERNMENT HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS; CORRUPTION OF GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND INFLUENTIAL POLITICIANS; ASPECTS OF NARCOTICS TRAFFICKING; AND ISSUES AFFECTING THE ECONOMIC INTERESTS OF POWERFUL INDIVIDUALS.

B. FREEDOM OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION

55. THE CONSTITUTION GUARANTEES THE RIGHT OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION, BUT AUTHORITIES BANNED RALLIES AND BROKE UP A DEMONSTRATION FOLLOWING SERRANO'S MAY 25 COUP. PRIOR TO THE COUP, THERE WAS A PLETHORA OF DEMONSTRATIONS, SOME INVOLVING VIOLENCE BETWEEN POLICE AND MARCHERS. SOME DEMONSTRATORS ALSO CLAIMED LATER HARASSMENT BY SECURITY FORCES IN RETRIBUTION FOR THEIR PARTICIPATION IN THE MARCHES. STREET DEMONSTRATIONS WERE A FACTOR IN FOCUSING PUBLIC DISAPPROVAL ON SERRANO'S ACTIONS. WITH HIS EXIT FROM OFFICE, CONSTITUTIONAL GUARANTEES OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION WERE RESTORED.

56. FREEDOM OF POLITICAL ASSOCIATION IS GUARANTEED UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, ALTHOUGH ORGANIZATIONS ARE NOMINALLY REQUIRED TO OBTAIN LEGAL STATUS, A CUMBERSOME AND EXPENSIVE PROCEDURE. IN MID-DECEMBER, THE GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCED A STREAMLINING OF THESE PROCEDURES.

C. FREEDOM OF RELIGION

57. NO STATE RELIGION EXISTS. RELIGIOUS FREEDOM IS CONSTITUTIONALLY GUARANTEED AND IS RESPECTED IN PRACTICE. RELIGIOUS PERSONNEL ARE SOMETIMES THREATENED FOR POLITICAL REASONS. ABOUT 78 PER CENT OF THE POPULATION IS NOMINALLY CATHOLIC, BUT MANY OTHER FAITHS OPERATE FREELY, ESPECIALLY EVANGELICAL PROTESTANTISM.

D. FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT WITHIN THE COUNTRY, FOREIGN TRAVEL, EMIGRATION, AND REPATRIATION

58. THE GOVERNMENT DOES NOT RESTRICT FOREIGN TRAVEL, NOR DOES IT REVOKE CITIZENSHIP FOR POLITICAL REASONS. MOVEMENT INSIDE THE COUNTRY WAS UNRESTRICTED EXCEPT WHERE THE ARMY AND PAC'S LIMITED TRAVEL IN SOME AREAS OF CONFLICT. GUERRILLAS CONTINUED TO ESTABLISH ROADBLOCKS, ASSAULT PRIVATE CITIZENS TO DEMAND "WAR TAXES," ATTACK AND DRAIN PETROLEUM TRUCKS, AND LIMIT TRAVEL IN CERTAIN RURAL AREAS.

59. REPATRIATION OF REFUGEES CONTINUED. AS OF THE END OF SEPTEMBER, 3,772 REFUGEES HAD RETURNED. IN DECEMBER A LARGE GROUP OF APPROXIMATELY 1,300 REFUGEES RETURNED TO A CONFLICT-TORN ZONE ORIGINALLY THEIR HOME.

60. ON AUGUST 25, A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE GUATEMALAN REFUGEE COMMUNITY IN MEXICO, JOAQUIN JIMENEZ BAUTISTA, WAS BEATEN BY A CROWD INCLUDING PAC MEMBERS IN TODOS SANTOS, HUEHUETENANGO. JIMENEZ HAD RETURNED TO GUATEMALA ON AUGUST 17 AS PART OF A REFUGEE GROUP SEARCHING FOR RESETTLEMENT SITES. ON THE DAY OF THE BEATING, HE HAD LEFT THE GROUP, RETURNING FOR A VISIT TO HIS FORMER VILLAGE. CROWD MEMBERS LATER FORMALLY CHARGED JIMENEZ WAS A KNOWN GUERRILLA, WHO PARTICIPATED IN MURDERS IN THAT TOWN IN THE 1980'S. JIMENEZ WAS BRIEFLY DETAINED BY POLICE AFTER A MILITARY PATROL PREVENTED THE MOB FROM LYNCHING HIM. JIMENEZ WAS RELEASED BY ORDER OF THE MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT AND RETURNED TO MEXICO ON AUGUST 26.

SECTION 3 RESPECT FOR POLITICAL RIGHTS: THE RIGHT OF CITIZENS TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT

61. GUATEMALANS HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT BY PEACEFUL AND DEMOCRATIC MEANS. UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE BY SECRET BALLOT EXISTS FOR THOSE 18 YEARS OF AGE AND OLDER; THERE ARE NO PROPERTY OR LITERACY REQUIREMENTS, BUT MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES MAY NOT VOTE. THE LAST NATIONAL ELECTIONS, WHICH INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS FOUND FREE AND FAIR, WERE HELD IN JANUARY 1991.

62. FOLLOWING THE REMOVAL OF PRESIDENT SERRANO AND VICE PRESIDENT ESPINA, RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO WAS ELECTED PRESIDENT BY A CONGRESSIONAL VOTE AND SWORN IN ON JUNE 6, AS PRESCRIBED BY THE CONSTITUTION. CONGRESS ELECTED

ARTURO HERBRUGER, WHO WAS HEAD OF GUATEMALA'S INDEPENDENT SUPREME ELECTORAL TRIBUNAL UNTIL RETIRING IN EARLY JUNE, VICE PRESIDENT ON JUNE 18.

63. SEVERAL WOMEN HOLD PROMINENT POLITICAL POSITIONS, INCLUDING ONE CABINET POST AND A POSITION AS SENIOR ADVISOR TO THE PRESIDENT. SIX OF 116 MEMBERS OF CONGRESS ARE FEMALE; 2 WOMEN ARE SUPREME COURT JUSTICES. A FEW WOMEN ALSO HOLD IMPORTANT POSITIONS IN POLITICAL PARTIES. OF THE OVER 300 MUNICIPALITIES IN GUATEMALA, WOMEN SERVE AS MAYORS IN ONLY 5 (THERE HAD BEEN NO FEMALE MAYORS PRIOR TO THE MAY ELECTIONS IN 276 SMALL MUNICIPALITIES). THERE ARE NO LEGAL IMPEDIMENTS TO WOMEN'S PARTICIPATION IN POLITICS, BUT FEMALES ARE UNDERREPRESENTED IN THE POLITICAL ARENA. AS OF MARCH 1990, 50 PERCENT OF REGISTERED VOTERS WERE MEN AND 48 PERCENT WOMEN, DESPITE WOMEN BEING SLIGHTLY MORE NUMEROUS THAN MEN IN THE GENERAL POPULATION.

64. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE ENJOY EQUAL RIGHTS UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, AND SOME HAVE ATTAINED POSITIONS AS CONGRESSMEN, ARMY OFFICERS (INCLUDING ONE GENERAL), GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, AND JUDGES. NEVERTHELESS, PERVASIVE DISCRIMINATION (SEE SECTION 5) LIMITS OPPORTUNITIES FOR INDIGENOUS PEOPLE TO ASSUME PROMINENT ROLES IN POLITICS.

SECTION 4 GOVERNMENTAL ATTITUDE REGARDING INTERNATIONAL AND NONGOVERNMENTAL INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGED VIOLATIONS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

65. LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS ARE PERMITTED TO OPERATE, BUT MEMBERS SUFFERED THREATS AND VIOLENCE FROM SECURITY FORCES AND PAC'S. A GREATER TOLERANCE FOR THEIR ACTIVITY EXISTS SINCE THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION TOOK OFFICE. AS NOTED IN SECTION 1.A., MEMBERS OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION CERJ WERE KILLED AND THREATENED, AND CERJ'S GUATEMALA CITY OFFICE WAS BROKEN INTO ON MAY 8. CONAVIGUA, AN INDIGENOUS WIDOWS' ORGANIZATION PROMINENT IN THE ADVOCACY OF WOMEN'S AND HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES, ALSO RECEIVED THREATS. PRIOR TO THE MIDYEAR CHANGE IN ADMINISTRATIONS, PRESIDENT SERRANO AND MEMBERS OF HIS CABINET CRITICIZED BOTH LOCAL AND INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS, ACCUSING THEM OF INTENTIONALLY DISTORTING GUATEMALA'S HUMAN RIGHTS RECORD FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES. HIGH-RANKING GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS WORKING IN THE FIELDS OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND JURISPRUDENCE COMPLAINED PUBLICLY AND PRIVATELY OF RECEIVING THREATS STEMMING FROM THEIR INTEREST IN RESOLVING CASES RELATED TO HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, OFFICIAL CORRUPTION, AND DRUG TRAFFICKING.

66. RELATIONS BETWEEN THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH AND THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE WERE TENSE AT TIMES IN THE FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR, THOUGH. AFTER THE ELECTION OF DE LEON CARPIO AS PRESIDENT, MATTERS IMPROVED CONSIDERABLY. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE CONTINUED TO ENJOY WIDESPREAD PUBLIC SUPPORT AND RESPECT; CONGRESS ELECTED JORGE MARIO GARCIA LAGUARDIA AS THE NEW HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN TO REPLACE DE LEON CARPIO. THE NEW GOVERNMENT MADE CLEAR ITS WILLINGNESS AND COMMITMENT TO RECEIVE INTERNATIONAL AND DOMESTIC HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS. SENIOR OFFICIALS MET NUMEROUS FOREIGN AND INTERNATIONAL OFFICIALS AND ACTIVISTS.

67. THE PEACE BRIGADES, AN INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS MONITORING ORGANIZATION, WAS UNABLE TO OBTAIN GOVERNMENT RECOGNITION DESPITE PERSISTENT EFFORTS. THE ABSENCE OF

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
ARA/NEA REARCS

LEGAL STATUS DID NOT, HOWEVER, PREVENT PEACE BRIGADES OR OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS FROM OPERATING OPENLY.

68. ON JUNE 17, UNION ACTIVIST ELIZABETH RECINOS WAS KIDNAPED, ALONG WITH A COMPANION. THOUGH THE COMPANION WAS QUICKLY RELEASED, RECINOS WAS HELD FOR 4 DAYS, DRUGGED, AND BEATEN. PRESIDENT DE LEON CONDEMNED THE KIDNAPING, AND THE POLICE CONDUCTED AN INVESTIGATION, THOUGH NO ARRESTS WERE MADE. THE POLICE INITIALLY LABELED THIS A "SELF-KIDNAPING," ALTHOUGH THERE WERE MORE CREDIBLE CLAIMS THAT THE ACTION WAS MEANT AS A THREAT TO UNIONS AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS. ON JULY 11, UNION OFFICIAL WALTER MANUEL NAJERA MOLINA WAS KIDNAPED AND INTERROGATED ABOUT UNION ACTIVITIES FOR 3 HOURS BY FOUR ARMED MEN, DURING WHICH TIME HE WAS BEATEN. DURING HIS QUESTIONING, NAJERA WAS ASKED ABOUT VARIOUS POLITICAL AND HUMAN RIGHTS LEADERS, WHOM HIS CAPTIVES LINKED TO THE GUERRILLAS.

69. ON SEPTEMBER 1, A MEMBER OF A GROUP ADVOCATING A PURGE OF ALLEGED CORRUPT CONGRESSIONAL AND SUPREME COURT OFFICIALS, OLGA MARINA RUANO CRUZ, WAS ABDUCTED AND BEATEN BEFORE BEING RELEASED A DAY LATER.

70. WOMEN

71. DESPITE LEGAL PROTECTION, WOMEN FACE JOB DISCRIMINATION AND RECEIVE SIGNIFICANTLY LOWER PAY THAN MEN. THEY ARE PRIMARILY EMPLOYED IN LOW WAGE JOBS IN THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY, AGRICULTURE, RETAIL BUSINESS, AND THE PUBLIC SECTOR. A MID-1991 U.N. STUDY REPORTED THAT WOMEN, ALTHOUGH SLIGHTLY MORE THAN HALF THE TOTAL POPULATION, MAKE UP ONLY 24 PERCENT OF THE ECONOMICALLY ACTIVE POPULATION. MORE WORKING WOMEN THAN MEN ARE EMPLOYED IN THE INFORMAL SECTOR OF THE ECONOMY, WHERE PAY AND BENEFITS ARE GENERALLY LOW. A 1989 SURVEY REPORTED THAT IN GUATEMALA CITY WOMEN ARE UNDERREPRESENTED IN HIGH-INCOME CATEGORIES AND OVERREPRESENTED AMONG POORLY PAID WORKERS.

72. THE CONSTITUTION ASSERTS THE PRINCIPLE OF EQUALITY BETWEEN THE SEXES. NONETHELESS, NOT ALL DOMESTIC LAWS HAVE BEEN MODIFIED TO TAKE INTO ACCOUNT THIS CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISION OR TO REFLECT THE NUMEROUS TREATIES BEARING ON THE RIGHTS OF WOMEN TO WHICH GUATEMALA HAS ADHERED. (PROVISIONS OF SUCH TREATIES TAKE PRECEDENCE OVER DOMESTIC LAW.) IN SOME CASES, LAWS REMAIN DISCRIMINATORY AGAINST WOMEN, SUCH AS THE PENAL CODE'S PROVISIONS ON ADULTERY. ONLY WOMEN MAY BE CHARGED WITH ADULTERY, WHILE MEN FALL UNDER A DIFFERENT STATUTE, WHICH IS MORE LIMITED, MAKES IT MORE DIFFICULT TO PROVE, AND CARRIES A LESSER PENALTY.

73. CONAVIGUA REPORTED THAT VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN, INCLUDING DOMESTIC VIOLENCE, REMAINS COMMON BUT RECEIVES LITTLE ATTENTION. THERE IS NO SPECIFIC LAW AGAINST DOMESTIC VIOLENCE. CRIMINAL SEXUAL VIOLENCE OFTEN GOES UNREPORTED BY VICTIMS, AND RELATIVELY FEW RAPE CASES COME TO COURT. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE HAS ONLY RECENTLY BEGUN COLLECTING STATISTICS ON THIS PROBLEM.

75. WHEN SIGNING THE U.N. CONVENTION ON THE RIGHTS OF THE CHILD, THE GOVERNMENT STATED ITS COMMITMENT TO

CHILDREN'S HUMAN RIGHTS AND WELFARE AND PLEDGED TO REVISE ITS LAWS IN LINE WITH THE CONVENTION. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, ALONG WITH A COMMISSION OF 25 GOVERNMENTAL AND NONGOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS (NGO'S), WAS REVISING THE CURRENT CODE BUT AT YEAR'S END HAD NOT COMPLETED THE TASK.

76. THE ABUSE OF STREET CHILDREN (SEE SECTION 1.C.) IS A SERIOUS PROBLEM IN MAJOR CITIES. ESTIMATES OF STREET CHILDREN RANGE BETWEEN 1,500 AND 5,000, WITH THE MAJORITY OF THESE YOUTHS CONCENTRATED IN GUATEMALA CITY. THESE CHILDREN ARE OFTEN RECRUITED INTO THIEVERY OR PROSTITUTION RINGS. THE GOVERNMENT AND A NUMBER OF NGO'S HAVE YOUTH CENTERS, BUT THE FUNDS DEVOTED TO THEM ARE INADEQUATE FOR THE PROBLEM. IN AUGUST THE GOVERNMENT OPENED A SCHOOL IN SAN JOSE PINULA CONCENTRATED ON THE REHABILITATION OF STREET CHILDREN.

77. AN ACCORD BETWEEN CASA ALIANZA AND THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE WAS NOT RENEWED IN 1993 DUE TO PROBLEMS INVOLVING THE SUSPENSION OF THE THEN ATTORNEY GENERAL.

ON AUGUST 16, THE NEW CIVILIAN POLICE DIRECTOR MET WITH CASA ALIANZA AS ONE OF HIS FIRST PUBLIC ACTS AND EXPRESSED HIS COMMITMENT TO THE RIGHTS OF STREET CHILDREN AND HIS INTENTION TO PUNISH POLICE OFFICERS AND OTHERS WHO ABUSE THEM. CASA ALIANZA ANNOUNCED AFTER THE VISIT THAT IT AND THE POLICE WILL COORDINATE PROGRAMS TO COMBAT STREET CHILDREN'S DRUG ADDICTION AND ABUSE OF THE CHILDREN. THE POLICE DIRECTOR ALSO ASSUMED PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE DEPARTMENT'S MINORS' DIVISION, AND THE MINISTRY OF GOVERNMENT ESTABLISHED A SEPARATE DIVISION TO HANDLE STREET CHILDREN MATTERS.

78. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE

79. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE COMPRISE ONE-HALF OF THE POPULATION BUT REMAIN LARGELY OUTSIDE THE COUNTRY'S POLITICAL, ECONOMIC, SOCIAL, AND CULTURAL MAINSTREAM. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE SUFFERED MOST OF THE SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES DESCRIBED THROUGHOUT THIS REPORT. RURAL INDIGENOUS MEN WERE MORE LIKELY THAN URBAN DWELLERS TO BE DRAFTED BY THE ARMY OR FORCIBLY RECRUITED BY EITHER THE ARMY OR GUERRILLA GROUPS. ALTHOUGH INDIGENOUS PEOPLE ARE ACCORDED EQUAL RIGHTS BY THE CONSTITUTION, IN PRACTICE THEY HAVE ONLY MINIMAL PARTICIPATION IN DECISIONS AFFECTING THEIR LANDS, CULTURE, TRADITIONS, AND ALLOCATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES.

80. RURAL INDIGENOUS PEOPLE HAVE LIMITED EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES AND THUS HAVE LIMITED EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES. ILLITERACY IS PREVALENT IN INDIGENOUS COMMUNITIES. MANY INDIGENOUS PEOPLE DO NOT SPEAK SPANISH. LINGUISTIC BARRIERS HINDER INTERACTION WITH THE GOVERNMENT AND LIMIT ACCESS TO PUBLIC SERVICES, INCLUDING THE JUDICIARY, BECAUSE FEW OFFICIALS SPEAK INDIGENOUS LANGUAGES. INDIGENOUS PERSONS ARRESTED FOR CRIMES ARE OFTEN AT A DISADVANTAGE DUE TO THEIR LACK OF SPANISH. THE PUBLIC DEFENDER'S OFFICE IS SUPPOSED TO PROVIDE JUDICIAL TRANSLATING SERVICES BUT IS NOT SUFFICIENTLY STAFFED TO COPE WITH THE PROBLEM. UNDER THE NEW PENAL CODE, THE GOVERNMENT WILL BE REQUIRED TO PROVIDE TRANSLATING SERVICES TO ALL IN NEED.

81. PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES

82. THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES THAT THE STATE SHOULD PROTECT DISABLED PERSONS. NONETHELESS, PHYSICALLY DISABLED PERSONS ARE DISCRIMINATED AGAINST IN EMPLOYMENT

PRACTICES, AND FEW RESOURCES ARE DEVOTED TO COMBAT THIS PROBLEM OR OTHERWISE TO ASSIST PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES. THERE IS NO LEGISLATION MANDATING ACCESSIBILITY FOR THE DISABLED.

SECTION 6 WORKER RIGHTS

A. THE RIGHT OF ASSOCIATION

83. THE CONSTITUTION AND THE 1947 LABOR CODE, AS AMENDED, PROVIDE WORKERS FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION AND THE RIGHT TO FORM AND JOIN TRADE UNIONS. THE LABOR CODE WAS AMENDED IN LATE 1992 TO FACILITATE FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION, TO STRENGTHEN THE RIGHTS OF WORKING WOMEN, TO INCREASE PENALTIES FOR VIOLATIONS OF LABOR LAWS, AND

TO ENHANCE THE ROLE OF THE LABOR MINISTRY AND LABOR COURTS IN ENFORCING THEM. ALL WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO FORM OR JOIN UNIONS, INCLUDING PUBLIC SECTOR EMPLOYEES, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF MEMBERS OF SECURITY FORCES. IN FEBRUARY A DECREE INTERPRETING "ESSENTIAL SERVICES" IN SUCH A WAY AS TO RESTRICT ORGANIZING PUBLIC SECTOR WORKERS WAS WITHDRAWN, FOLLOWING PROTESTS BY PUBLIC SECTOR EMPLOYEES AND THE MINISTER OF LABOR. AFTER NATIONAL POLICE OFFICERS WERE UNSUCCESSFUL IN THEIR ATTEMPTS TO FORM A TRADE UNION OR ASSOCIATION DURING MOST OF THE YEAR, THE NEW DIRECTOR OPENED A DIALOG WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THIS GROUP. BETWEEN 5 AND 8 PERCENT OF THE WORK FORCE IS ORGANIZED. THE 890 UNIONS IN THE COUNTRY ARE INDEPENDENT OF GOVERNMENT AND POLITICAL PARTY DOMINATION.

84. THE LABOR CODE AMENDMENTS SIMPLIFIED THE PROCESS FOR UNIONS TO OBTAIN LEGAL STATUS, WHICH HAD BEEN CRITICISED AS EXCESSIVELY CUMBERSOME, BY ELIMINATING A NUMBER OF PROVISIONS, INCLUDING ONE THAT REQUIRED THE NATION'S PRESIDENT TO SIGN THE FINAL PAPERS. COMPLAINTS BY TRADE UNION LEADERS ABOUT CONTINUING PROBLEMS WITH THE RECOGNITION PROCESS, PLUS CONCERNS EXPRESSED BY THE INTERNATIONAL LABOR ORGANIZATION (ILO) COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS, PROMPTED THE NEW MINISTER OF LABOR TO SEEK REVISIONS TO THIS PROCEDURE. IN NOVEMBER THE LABOR MINISTRY ISSUED REVISED INTERNAL REGULATIONS COVERING THE APPROVAL OF NEW TRADE UNIONS. THIS REDUCED THE NUMBER OF STEPS NEEDED WITHIN THE MINISTRY TO GRANT APPROVAL, ESTABLISHED STRICT TIMETABLES FOR CONSIDERATION OF UNION APPLICATIONS, AND MADE CLEAR THAT NONCOMPLIANCE WITH THIS

TIMETABLE COULD LEAD TO DISMISSAL OF GUILTY BUREAUCRATS.

85. EXPERIENCE WITH THESE NEW REGULATIONS DURING THE LAST 2 MONTHS OF 1993 SEEMS TO INDICATE THEY HELPED ACCELERATE THE APPROVAL PROCEDURE. FOR EXAMPLE, THE APPLICATION BY WORKERS AT A BOTTLING COMPANY IN LA MARIPOSA RECEIVED FINAL APPROVAL IN A RECORD 5 WEEKS. DURING THE LAST HALF OF 1993, MOST OF THE BACKLOG OF UNION APPLICATIONS WAS ELIMINATED AND SEVERAL PREVIOUSLY CONTROVERSIAL UNION APPLICATIONS WERE APPROVED, SUCH AS THE UNION REPRESENTING COCA-COLA WORKERS IN PUERTO BARRIOS, SEVERAL UNIONS REPRESENTING "MAQUILA" (DRAWBACK, OR IN-BOND EXPORT) WORKERS, AND THE LONG-PENDING APPLICATION BY THE UNION REPRESENTING WORKERS IN THE BANK OF THE ARMY (BANCO DEL EJERCITO).

86. WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO STRIKE, BUT LABOR CODE PROCEDURES MAKE LEGAL STRIKES CUMBERSOME. THE ILO COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS CRITICIZED THE REQUIREMENT THAT TWO-THIRDS OF THE WORKERS VOTE TO APPROVE A STRIKE AND THE PROHIBITION OF STRIKES BY AGRICULTURAL WORKERS AT HARVEST TIME, AS WELL AS THOSE DEEMED BY THE GOVERNMENT

TO AFFECT THE NATIONAL ECONOMY SERIOUSLY. THE FEW STRIKES THAT DID OCCUR WERE GENERALLY CALLED WITHOUT LEGAL AUTHORIZATION, AND IN PRACTICE THE GOVERNMENT MADE NO EFFORT TO INTERVENE ON THE BASIS OF ILLEGALITY. NONETHELESS, THE LACK OF LEGAL SANCTION FOR A STRIKE CAN BE USED AS A THREAT AGAINST STRIKERS. ORGANIZED LABOR'S STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES, A RELUCTANCE TO ORGANIZE FORCEFULLY, THE PAUCITY OF MEMBERSHIP FUNDS, AND A POOR OVERALL ECONOMIC SITUATION WITH HIGH UNEMPLOYMENT AND UNDEREMPLOYMENT LIMIT THE DURATION OF VIRTUALLY ALL STRIKES.

87. THE LAW PROTECTS WORKERS FROM RETRIBUTION FOR FORMING AND PARTICIPATING IN TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES, BUT COMPLIANCE WITH THE LAW VARIES. WHILE SOME EMPLOYERS ACCEPT UNIONIZATION, MANY EMPLOYERS ROUTINELY ATTEMPT TO CIRCUMVENT LABOR CODE PROVISIONS IN ORDER TO RESIST UNION ACTIVITIES, WHICH MANY VIEW AS EXCEEDINGLY CONFRONTATIONAL AND DISRUPTIVE. ENFORCEMENT OF THE RIGHT TO FORM AND PARTICIPATE IN TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES IS FURTHER HINDERED BY AN INCOMPETENT LEGAL SYSTEM AND THE INADEQUATE LEVEL OF PENALTIES PROVIDED BY LAW FOR VIOLATIONS. FINES FOR VIOLATING THE LABOR CODE WERE INCREASED WHEN THE CODE WAS AMENDED IN 1992.

88. TRADE UNION LEADERS AND INDIVIDUAL WORKERS REPORTED THAT WORKERS WERE THREATENED WITH THE LOSS OF THEIR JOBS OR PHYSICAL HARM FOR THEIR INTEREST IN FORMING A UNION. THE INTERNATIONAL CONFEDERATION OF FREE TRADE UNIONS (ICFTU) ALLEGED THAT A WAVE OF ILLEGAL AND ARBITRARY MASS FIRINGS AND INTIMIDATION TOOK PLACE AT THE BEGINNING OF THE YEAR, INCLUDING THE DISMISSAL OF 515 UNION MEMBERS AT THE STATE FOREST AND WILDLIFE OFFICE AND THE FIRING OF 25 WORKERS FROM THE NATIONAL AGRARIAN REFORM INSTITUTE FOR JOINING A UNION.

89. ONE UNION LEADER WAS DISCHARGED IN LATE 1992 BY A STATE-OWNED ENTERPRISE FOR PARTICIPATING IN A SEMINAR SPONSORED BY THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR-CONGRESS OF INDUSTRIAL ORGANIZATIONS DESPITE CLEAR CONTRACT LANGUAGE

THAT WOULD PERMIT SUCH TRAINING. ALTHOUGH A LOWER LABOR COURT ACTED QUICKLY AND ORDERED THE COMPANY TO REINSTATE THIS LEADER, THERE WAS NO FINAL ACTION ON HIS CASE DURING THE YEAR. THIS CASE WAS UNUSUAL BECAUSE UNION LEADERS AND OTHER INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS OBSERVERS AGREE THAT LABOR COURTS ARE GENERALLY SLOW TO HEAR COMPLAINTS, AS WELL AS TO ISSUE DECISIONS RELATED TO COMPLAINTS BY WORKERS AND UNIONISTS THAT THEIR RIGHTS TO FORM AND JOIN TRADE UNIONS ARE NOT PROTECTED.

90. TRADE UNION LEADERS AND MEMBERS WERE AMONG THOSE SUBJECTED TO A VARIETY OF ABUSES, SUCH AS THREATS, ASSASSINATION ATTEMPTS, KIDNAPINGS, AND PHYSICAL HARM (SEE SECTION 4). A NUMBER OF TRADE UNION OFFICIALS OR MEMBERS WERE KIDNAPED DURING THE YEAR. THEY WERE GENERALLY QUESTIONED ABOUT THE ACTIVITIES OF WELL-KNOWN UNION LEADERS, OFTEN PHYSICALLY ABUSED (BUT NOT KILLED), AND THEN RELEASED. SINCE MANY OF THESE INCIDENTS HAPPENED DURING THE PERIOD JUST AFTER RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO BECAME PRESIDENT, THESE ATTACKS SEEMED INTENDED AS A WARNING TO TRADE UNIONISTS AND OTHER LEADERS ABOUT THEIR INCREASED EXPOSURE IN POLITICAL AFFAIRS.

91. PUBLIC SECTOR UNION LEADERS, AS WELL AS UNIONISTS IN THE HIGH-PROFILE MAQUILA SECTOR, ALSO REPORTED RECEIVING THREATS AGAINST THEMSELVES AND THEIR FAMILIES, USUALLY COINCIDING WITH UNION DEMANDS FOR IMPROVED BENEFITS. THE ICFTU CHARGED THAT MANY TRADE UNIONISTS WERE FORCED INTO

IMMEDIATE DECONTROLLED/UNCLASSIFIED LIMITED OFFICIAL USE OUTGOING

OR SOUGHT EXILE.

92. BY LAW, UNION LEADERS MAY SERVE ONLY ONE TERM IN A

PARTICULAR UNION OFFICE, BUT, BY ROTATING UNION POSITIONS, THE SAME PERSONS CAN STAY ON UNION EXECUTIVE BOARDS FOR EXTENDED PERIODS OF TIME. THE CONSTITUTION AND THE 1992 CODE AMENDMENTS PROTECT THE RIGHT OF POLITICAL PARTICIPATION FOR INDIVIDUALS, INCLUDING TRADE UNION LEADERS. DURING 1993 TRADE UNION LEADERS BECAME MORE INVOLVED IN NATIONAL POLITICAL AFFAIRS, PARTICULARLY DURING THE POLITICAL TURMOIL FOLLOWING THE RESIGNATION OF FORMER PRESIDENT SERRANO AND THE MOVE TO PURGE CONGRESS AND THE SUPREME COURT.

93. UNIONS MAY AND DO FORM FEDERATIONS AND CONFEDERATIONS AND JOIN INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS. WITH VERY FEW EXCEPTIONS, TRADE UNIONS DEPEND ON ASSISTANCE RECEIVED FROM INTERNATIONAL CONTACTS.

94. AN ACTIVE "SOLIDARITY" MOVEMENT CLAIMED APPROXIMATELY 100,000 MEMBERS IN OVER 350 COMPANIES. UNIONS MAY LEGALLY CONTINUE TO OPERATE IN WORKPLACES WHICH HAVE SOLIDARITY ASSOCIATIONS, AND WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHOOSE BETWEEN THE TWO OR BELONG TO BOTH. THE GOVERNMENT VIEWS THESE ASSOCIATIONS AS CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS WHICH NEED NOT INTERFERE WITH THE FUNCTIONING OF TRADE UNIONS, SINCE THE AMENDED LABOR CODE STIPULATES THAT TRADE UNIONS HAVE THE EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY OVER WORK CONDITIONS ON BEHALF OF WORKERS. UNIONISTS CHARGE, HOWEVER, THAT SOLIDARITY ASSOCIATIONS ARE PROMOTED BY MANAGEMENT TO AVOID THE FORMATION OF TRADE UNIONS OR TO RIVAL EXISTING LABOR UNIONS. THERE ARE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT, AT TIMES, DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES ARE NOT ADHERED TO IN THE FORMATION

AND MANAGEMENT OF SOME OF THESE ASSOCIATIONS, AND WORKERS ARE UNABLE TO PARTICIPATE FULLY AND FREELY IN DECISIONMAKING. SIMILAR CREDIBLE CHARGES ARE MADE AGAINST SOME TRADE UNION ORGANIZATIONS.

95. AT THE REQUEST OF TRADE UNION LEADERS, THE INDEPENDENT HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, THROUGH HIS OFFICE FOR ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL ISSUES, RECEIVES COMPLAINTS RELATED TO TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES. UNION LEADERS AND WORKERS FILED A NUMBER OF COMPLAINTS WITH THE OMBUDSMAN DURING THE YEAR, BUT NO RESULTS WERE APPARENT BY YEAR'S END. IN JUNE MEMBERS OF THE ILO COMMITTEE ON THE APPLICATION OF CONVENTIONS NOTED THE SERIOUS SITUATION OF VIOLENCE AND INSECURITY THAT EXISTS IN GUATEMALA, INCLUDING MURDERS AND ABDUCTIONS "WITH THE PARTICIPATION OF THE ARMY AND DEATH SQUADS," AS WELL AS THE "DIFFICULT TRANSITION TOWARDS DEMOCRACY" UNDER WAY IN THE COUNTRY AND ASKED FOR "TOTAL AND UNCONDITIONAL RESPECT" BY THE NEW GOVERNMENT TO THEIR OBSERVATIONS.

B. THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY

96. WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY BUT ARE OFTEN DENIED THIS RIGHT BY ANTIUNION ACTIONS OF EMPLOYERS. THE PRACTICE OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING IS LIMITED, MOREOVER, BY THE WEAK STRUCTURE OF THE UNION MOVEMENT, THE LACK OF EXPERIENCE WITH THIS PRACTICE, AND BY THE PREFERENCE OF MANAGEMENT IN MANY CASES TO AVOID FORMAL TIES WITH TRADE UNIONS. WHILE SOME WELL-WRITTEN COLLECTIVE CONTRACTS ARE HONORED BY BOTH MANAGEMENT AND THE UNIONS, OTHER CONTRACTS WERE OPENLY

IGNORED AND VIOLATED BY BOTH PARTIES. MOST WORKERS, EVEN THOSE ORGANIZED BY TRADE UNIONS, DO NOT HAVE COLLECTIVE

CONTRACTS TO COVER THEIR WAGES AND WORKING CONDITIONS. WAGES RECEIVED BY THE BULK OF THE WORK FORCE TEND TO BE THE MINIMUM WAGES ESTABLISHED BY A BIPARTITE COMMISSION, WHICH OPERATES UNDER THE GUIDANCE OF THE MINISTRY OF LABOR.

97. WORKERS CANNOT BE DISMISSED FOR PARTICIPATING IN THE FORMATION OF A TRADE UNION; COMPLAINTS IN THIS REGARD MUST BE FILED WITH THE LABOR INSPECTORS FOR RESOLUTION. THE LABOR CODE PROVIDES FOR THE RIGHT OF EMPLOYERS TO FIRE WORKERS FOR CAUSE AND PERMITS WORKERS TO APPEAL THEIR DISMISSAL TO THE LABOR COURTS BUT DOES NOT REQUIRE THE REINSTATEMENT OF ANY WORKER FIRED WITHOUT CAUSE. THE REVISED CODE PROHIBITS EMPLOYERS FROM FIRING WORKERS FOR UNION ORGANIZING AND PROTECTS THEM FOR 60 DAYS FOLLOWING THE OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF APPROVAL OF THE UNION. IT ALSO PROHIBITS EMPLOYERS FROM FIRING ANY MEMBER OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF A UNION AND PROTECTS THEM FOR AN ADDITIONAL 12 MONTHS AFTER THEY ARE NO LONGER ON THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. IF A MEMBER IS FIRED FOR CAUSE, THIS CAN ONLY BE MADE EFFECTIVE AFTER A TRIAL AND A COURT RESOLUTION HAS BEEN ISSUED.

98. LABOR COURTS RESPONSIBLE FOR ENFORCING LABOR LAWS CONTINUED GENERALLY TO BE INEFFECTIVE. EFFORTS TO RESTRUCTURE AND MODERNIZE THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM MADE NO HEADWAY. A HEAVY BACKLOG OF LABOR CASES CONTINUED TO CLOG THE COURTS.

99. THE SCARCITY OF LABOR INSPECTORS, THE LACK OF ADEQUATE TRAINING AND RESOURCES, AND STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES IN THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM RESULTED IN ONLY MINIMAL ENFORCEMENT OF THE LABOR CODE. THE MINISTRY OF LABOR HIRED 37 NEW LABOR INSPECTORS IN MID-SEPTEMBER, NEARLY DOUBLING THE TOTAL, AND PROVIDED THEM WITH TRAINING AND RESOURCES TO CARRY OUT THEIR FUNCTIONS. SOME WERE ASSIGNED TO RURAL AREAS TO GIVE GREATER ATTENTION TO THE LACK OF PROTECTION OF WORKER RIGHTS FOR RURAL WORKERS. IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE YEAR, THE MINISTRY OF LABOR SIGNIFICANTLY STEPPED UP ITS INSPECTIONS AND THE NUMBER OF CASES IT FILED IN THE COURTS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH THE LABOR LAW.

100. LABOR LAWS AND REGULATIONS APPLY THROUGHOUT GUATEMALA, INCLUDING IN THE FEW EXPORT PROCESSING ZONES (EPZ'S) IN THE COUNTRY. THE LAWS GOVERNING EPZ'S ARE NOT DISCRIMINATORY ON THE SUBJECT OF ORGANIZING TRADE UNIONS OR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING. WHILE UNION LEADERS OFTEN BLAME EMPLOYER PRESSURES AND UNOFFICIAL RESTRICTED ACCESS TO THE EPZ'S FOR THEIR VIRTUAL INABILITY TO ORGANIZE WORKERS IN THESE ZONES, LABOR CONDITIONS IN THESE ZONES ARE NO DIFFERENT FROM THOSE FOUND OUTSIDE OF THE ZONES.

101. WORKERS AND TRADE UNION LEADERS CHARGE THAT ALL WORKERS, INCLUDING THOSE IN EPZ'S, RECEIVE LOW WAGES, WORK LONG HOURS WITHOUT LEGALLY REQUIRED OVERTIME PAY, AND TOIL UNDER POOR WORKING CONDITIONS. WHILE LABOR MINISTRY INSPECTORS FILED NUMEROUS COMPLAINTS BEFORE THE LABOR COURTS ON THESE CHARGES, FEW OF THESE CASES WERE RESOLVED DUE TO INEFFICIENCIES WITHIN THE COURT SYSTEM, CORRUPTION AND POLITICAL CHICANERY, AND LEGAL MANEUVERING TO PROLONG THE HEARING PROCESS.

C. PROHIBITION OF FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR

102. THE CONSTITUTION BARS FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR, AND THE PRACTICE DOES NOT EXIST. HUMAN RIGHTS AND INDIGENOUS GROUPS CONTINUE TO CHARGE THAT COERCED

DECONTROLLED/UNCLASSIFIED LIMITED OFFICIAL USE

PARTICIPATION, PARTICULARLY OF INDIGENOUS PEOPLES, IN THE PAC'S VIOLATES PROHIBITIONS AGAINST FORCED LABOR. THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS OF ISOLATED INSTANCES OF UNPAID PAC MEMBERS BEING USED TO PROVIDE FREE MANUAL LABOR, BUT NO SYSTEMATIC PATTERN OF SUCH PRACTICE WAS ESTABLISHED.

D. MINIMUM AGE FOR THE EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN

183. ALTHOUGH THE CONSTITUTION BARS EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS UNDER THE AGE OF 14, CHILDREN BELOW THIS AGE ARE REGULARLY EMPLOYED IN THE FORMAL AND INFORMAL SECTORS OF THE ECONOMY. LAWS GOVERNING THE EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS ARE NOT EFFECTIVELY ENFORCED, DUE TO THE SHORTAGE OF QUALIFIED LABOR INSPECTORS AND STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES IN THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM. ONLY 5,000 MINORS HAVE LEGAL PERMISSION FROM THE LABOR MINISTRY TO WORK. THOUSANDS WORKING WITHOUT LEGAL PERMISSION ARE OPEN TO EXPLOITATION, GENERALLY RECEIVING NO SOCIAL BENEFITS, NO SOCIAL INSURANCE, NO PENSION OR VACATIONS, AND NO SEVERANCE PAY AND ARE PAID BELOW THE MINIMUM WAGE LEVEL. THE LABOR MINISTRY HAS A PROGRAM TO EDUCATE MINORS, THEIR PARENTS, AND EMPLOYERS ON THE RIGHTS OF MINORS IN THE LABOR MARKET. ECONOMIC NECESSITY, HOWEVER, FORCES MOST FAMILIES TO HAVE THEIR CHILDREN SEEK SOME TYPE OF EMPLOYMENT TO SUPPLEMENT THE FAMILY INCOME.

184. THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR COMPULSORY EDUCATION FOR ALL CHILDREN UP TO THE AGE OF 12 OR TO THE SIXTH GRADE. THE STATISTICS ON ILLITERACY, HOWEVER, CLEARLY DEMONSTRATE THIS LAW IS NOT ENFORCED. THE NATIONAL ILLITERACY RATE IS 52 PERCENT, WITH RURAL AREAS SHOWING A RATE OF 85 PERCENT. THE BULK OF THOSE WHO CANNOT READ OR WRITE ARE WOMEN, PARTICULARLY INDIGENOUS WOMEN. CHILD LABOR IS LARGELY CONFINED TO SMALE OR FAMILY-TYPE ENTERPRISES, TO AGRICULTURAL WORK, AND TO THE INFORMAL SECTORS OF THE ECONOMY. THERE ARE NO EXPORT INDUSTRIES IN WHICH CHILD LABOR IS A SIGNIFICANT FACTOR.

E. ACCEPTABLE CONDITIONS OF WORK

185. MINIMUM WAGES ARE SET BY LAW. DUE TO A VARIETY OF FACTORS, MOST IMPORTANTLY THE OVERSUPPLY OF LABOR AND THE LIMITED DEMAND FOR IT, THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR MOST UNSKILLED AND SEMISKILLED WORKERS IS THE PREVAILING WAGE CEILING AND NOT THE MORE COMMONLY ACCEPTED WAGE FLOOR. WIDESPREAD, CREDIBLE REPORTS INDICATED THE MINIMUM WAGE IS COMMONLY, IF ILLEGALLY, NOT PAID TO SIGNIFICANT NUMBERS OF RURAL AND URBAN WORKERS.

186. THE MINIMUM WAGE WAS LAST INCREASED IN LATE 1991, WHEN IT WAS RAISED BY 78.5 PERCENT. THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL WORKERS IS 2.42 (14 QUETZALS) FOR AN 8-HOUR WORKDAY, INCLUDING A REQUIRED HOURLY BONUS. THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR FARM WORKERS IS 2.00 (11.60 QUETZALS) PER DAY, INCLUDING A MANDATORY BONUS. THIS MINIMUM WAGE DOES NOT PROVIDE A DECENT STANDARD OF LIVING; GOVERNMENT STATISTICS INDICATE THAT IT SHOULD BE AT LEAST THREE TIMES HIGHER THAN THE CURRENT LEVEL. AN ESTIMATED 80 PERCENT OF THE POPULATION LIVES BELOW THE GUATEMALAN POVERTY LINE, INCLUDING APPROXIMATELY 70 PERCENT OF THOSE EMPLOYED. A BILATERAL COMMITTEE REPRESENTING LABOR AND MANAGEMENT IS NAMED EACH YEAR TO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR INCREASES IN THE MINIMUM WAGE. IN THE EVENT THAT AGREEMENT IS NOT POSSIBLE, THE GOVERNMENT MAY DECREE SUCH INCREASES.

187. THE LEGAL WORKDAY IS 8 HOURS AND THE WORKWEEK IS 44 HOURS, BUT A TRADITION OF MUCH LONGER HOURS REMAINS IN PLACE DUE TO ECONOMIC CONDITIONS. THE AMENDED LABOR CODE CONTINUES TO REQUIRE A WEEKLY REST PERIOD OF AT LEAST 24 HOURS. TRADE UNION LEADERS AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS CHARGE THAT WORKERS ARE COMMONLY FORCED TO WORK OVERTIME, OFTEN WITHOUT PREMIUM PAY, OR GIVEN DRUGS TO HELP THEM WORK LONGER IN ORDER TO MEET WORK REQUIREMENTS. LABOR INSPECTORS REPORT THAT NUMEROUS INSTANCES WERE UNCOVERED OF SUCH ABUSES, BUT CORRUPTION AND INEFFICIENCIES IN THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM INHIBIT ADEQUATE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW.

188. OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY STANDARDS ARE INADEQUATE. AS WITH OTHER ASPECTS OF THE LABOR LAW, ENFORCEMENT OF STANDARDS THAT DO EXIST IS ALSO GENERALLY INADEQUATE. WORKERS HAVE THE LEGAL RIGHT TO REMOVE THEMSELVES FROM DANGEROUS WORKPLACE SITUATIONS, AND THE LAW PROVIDES THEM WITH PROTECTION FOR THEIR CONTINUED

EMPLOYMENT. HOWEVER, FEW WORKERS ARE WILLING TO JEOPARDIZE THEIR JOBS BY COMPLAINING ABOUT UNSAFE WORKING CONDITIONS. TRAINING COURSES FOR LABOR INSPECTORS IN HEALTH AND SAFETY STANDARDS WERE PROVIDED, BUT THIS AREA IS NOT PERCEIVED AS A HIGH PRIORITY FOR THE RESOURCE-POOR MINISTRY. LEGISLATION REQUIRING COMPANIES WITH MORE THAN 50 EMPLOYEES TO PROVIDE ON-SITE MEDICAL FACILITIES FOR THEIR WORKERS IS NOT EFFECTIVELY ENFORCED, EVEN THOUGH MANY LARGE EMPLOYERS DO PROVIDE SUCH FACILITIES.

189. END TEXT.

Ms. Terry J. Clark, Program Manager
CATHOLIC CHARITIES
4575 Mission Gorge Place, Suite A
San Diego, CA 92120

Dear Ms. Clark:

I want to thank you enormously for your letter of January 14, in which you provide me an update on the five Guatemalan families. I very much appreciate your time and effort in keeping me informed. As you know, I have a personal interest in their welfare; I became fond of all of them and am very familiar with the reasons that caused them to leave Guatemala. The Devine murder case was doubtless one of the most important of my career. I had not realized the families would need to apply for asylum, but will write something separately to include with this letter which hopefully will be of help to them in that process.

It is hard to accept the incredibly heavy load that has been placed on Fabian and Ruth. I pray that the chemotherapy performed on their son will be totally effective, and that the 7-year-old will make a full recovery as well. I will try to write them a card this weekend.

I have been in touch via E-mail with Chuck Keil, my successor in Guatemala, and he was already aware of Seferino's murder and the other brother's desire to get away. In fact Chuck had been in touch with Estefano, who returned to Poptun a couple of weeks ago because their mother was ill. He called Chuck before leaving Guatemala City to postpone their follow-up meeting until Estefano returns to the capital. Subsequently, Chuck received a call confirming he had arrived and was OK. I will have to leave the matter in Chuck's hands, at this point, knowing that he will do his best to evaluate the situation. Chuck worked for 3 years in the State Department's Reguee Bureau, and is a very savvy and sympathetic person.

If you see Benjamin Punti, please thank him as well for his letter and tell him I'll be back in touch with him. Any relatives of his who feel in danger should get in touch either with the Archbishop's Office of Human Rights or with Chuck Keil at the Embassy.

I am disappointed to know that the resettled families have had such a difficult adjustment there, and that their expectations exceeded what could be done. With so many other unskilled Latin Americans in that area, one can't help but feel they might be better off in Fargo, N.D. I hope they are able to find work soon.

Regarding the question of a Travel Loan, I expect that what they told you is correct -- they were probably never given a full explanation. I had not understood their travel would be on a loan basis, and therefore did not mention it. (I had tried to get them admitted to the U.S. as refugees in immediate danger. However, the State Department and INS Headquarters as well as INS Mexico did not concur in that approach, as it was felt the timing of the required INS interviews was too delicate, so their parole on humanitarian grounds was approved.) Gunther Mussig, the head of the Organization for International Migration in Guatemala, was the one who made the travel arrangements for them to leave Guatemala via El Salvador, and it was his office in El Salvador who must have stuck the loan agreement under their noses at the airport there. I regret the misunderstanding and any role I may have played in it -- believe me, I did not attempt to mislead them in any way, nor, I am sure, was that Gunther's intention. We were all greatly concerned at that point about getting them safely out of Guatemala, and OIM perhaps overlooked clarifying some very important details. Please express to them my personal apologies for the misunderstanding.

If there is any way I can help any of the families, other than by expressing my continued interest in their welfare, please let me know. I thank you greatly for your personal interest in them as well.

Ms. Terry J. Clark, Program Manager

Dear Ms. Clark:

I want to thank you enormously for your letter of January 14, in which you provide me an update on the five Guatemalan families. I very much appreciate your time and effort in keeping me informed. As you know, I have a personal interest in their welfare; I became fond of all of them and am very familiar with the reasons that caused them to leave Guatemala. The Devine murder case was doubtless one of the most important of my career. I had not realized the families would need to apply for asylum, but will write something separately to include with this letter which hopefully will be of help to them in that process.

It is hard to accept the incredibly heavy load that has been placed on Fabian and Ruth. I pray that the chemotherapy performed on their son will be totally effective, and that the 7-year-old will make a full recovery as well. I will try to write them a card this weekend.

I have been in touch via E-mail with Chuck Keil, my successor in Guatemala, and he was already aware of Seferino's murder and the other brother's desire to get away. In fact Chuck had been in touch with Estefano, who returned to Poptun a couple of weeks ago because their mother was ill. He called Chuck before leaving Guatemala City to postpone their follow-up meeting until Estefano returns to the capital. Subsequently, Chuck received a call confirming he had arrived and was OK. I will have to leave the matter in Chuck's hands, at this point, knowing that he will do his best to evaluate the situation. Chuck worked for 3 years in the State Department's Reguee Bureau, and is a very savvy and sympathetic person.

If you see Benjamin Punti, please thank him as well for his letter and tell him I'll be back in touch with him. Any relatives of his who feel in danger should get in touch either with the Archbishop's Office of Human Rights or with Chuck Keil at the Embassy.

I am disappointed to know that the resettled families have had such a difficult adjustment there, and that their expectations exceeded what could be done. With so many other unskilled Latin Americans in that area, one can't help but feel they might be better off in Fargo, N.D. I hope they are able to find work soon.

Regarding the question of a Travel Loan, I expect that what they told you is correct -- they were probably never given a full explanation. I had not understood their travel would be on a loan basis, and therefore did not mention it. (I had tried to get them admitted to the U.S. as refugees in immediate danger. However, the State Department and INS Headquarters as well as INS Mexico did not concur in that approach, as it was felt the timing of the required INS interviews was too delicate, so their parole on humanitarian grounds was approved.) Gunther Mussig, the head of the Organization for International Migration in Guatemala, was the one who made the travel arrangements for them to leave Guatemala via El Salvador, and it was his office in El Salvador who must have stuck the loan agreement under their noses at the airport there. I regret the misunderstanding and any role I may have played in it -- believe me, I did not attempt to mislead them in any way, nor, I am sure, was that Gunther's intention. We were all greatly concerned at that point about getting them safely out of Guatemala, and OIM perhaps overlooked clarifying some very important details. Please express to them my personal apologies for the misunderstanding.

If there is any way I can help any of the families, other than by expressing my continued interest in their welfare, please let me know. I thank you greatly for your personal interest in them as well.

DECL:OADR

GUATEMALA

Meeting with President Ramiro de Leon Carpio

OBJECTIVES

- Give Guatemala credit where it is due (democratization).
- Press for progress in other areas (human rights, taxation, Belize).
- Stress the importance of successful peace negotiations with the URNG.

BACKGROUND

Democratization

De Leon deserves good marks on this key USG interest in Guatemala. While his attempt last fall to "purify" the Congress and the Supreme Court was a bit maladroit, de Leon's reliance on moral suasion and calls to the voters are a welcome relief from the draconian tactics of many past governments. The referendum on constitutional reforms will be held January 30. De Leon has come under fire for not conducting a better campaign to educate the voters on the nature of the reform package. While a "yes" vote is expected, support for the package is not deep.

Human Rights

De Leon's attention to human rights was diverted for months by his effort last fall to "purify" the Congress and Supreme Court. He has not pressed the military to arrest CAPT Hugo Contreras, who ordered the murder of AmCit Michael Devine. De Leon has also listened too closely to the military enemies of National Police Director Mario Cifuentes. Cifuentes has made enemies in the military by his outspoken criticism of illegal army activities and unwillingness to release Mobile Military Police members involved in bank robberies.

Senator Leahy's hold on the $10 million ESF for Guatemala helped de Leon focus on human rights. De Leon on January 17 wrote President Clinton to state that the GOG will assist the new Human Rights Ombudsman's effort to ensure that all members of Civil Defense Patrols (PACs) participate voluntarily. De Leon said he will seek UN or OAS verification of this process. De Leon also stated that the PACs will be converted into development committees independent of military control (with this process advancing more rapidly in non-conflictive zones).

Guatemala always fights hard at the February UNHRC meeting in Geneva to avoid having a Special Rapporteur named (instead, in recent years it has received advisory services).

Belize

Shortly after coming to office, de Leon confirmed Serrano's 1991 diplomatic recognition of Belize. However, a vocal minority of Guatemalans remain unreconciled to normalization ofrelations. The UK's military pullout from Belize this year makes Belize-Guatemala relations an especially sensitive matter.

Economics/aid:

Guatemala, for a developing country, is doing all right in macro-economic terms. GDP growth was about 4 percent in 1993 and inflation was limited to 12 percent. Poor tax collection, however, makes it difficult for the GOG to use government spending as one of its tools in addressing the needs of Guatemala's long-ignored indigenous population. The May-June crisis also played havoc with tax revenues, creating an acute cash-flow problem. It was for that reason that we pledged $10 million in ESF to assist Guatemala through its fall fiscal crunch. Senator Leahy in November placed a hold on this aid, however, due to his human rights concerns. De Leon's January 17 letter to President Clinton addressed those concerns, and cleared the way for delivery of the aid. We now are engaged in the final bureaucratic steps of that process (reponding to ONDCP's concerns about use of "counter-narcotics" ESF originally slated for Peru). Outside aid, however, is just one component of Guatemala's financial challenges. The GOG chronically has had problems in observing the requirements of IFI stand-bys and loans.

Peace Process:

The GOG-URNG framework agreement signed in Mexico January 10 gives the UN a moderating role and contemplates a UN role in verifying implementation. First issue up when talks get started in mid-February is a human rights accord. Biggest issues relate to international verification, a possible Commission on the Past (i.e. Salvador-type Truth Commission), and whether an accord would be implemented in advance of a comprehensive agreement. Beyond human rights, downsizing of the armed forces is particularly sensitive for the military.

TALKING POINTS

Peace Process

- Achieving peace is critical to consolidating democracy, ensuring respect for human rights, and development.
- As a member of the Group of Friends, we will do everything possible to support the process. Dr. Richard Nuccio, my senior adviser, will coordinate for us. Let us know how we can be helpful.

Democratization:

- Congratulations on addressing the problem of legislative and judicial corruptions last fall. I understand the referendum will take place Sunday. Will the voters approve the constitutional reform package?

Human Rights

- Your January 17 letter to President Clinton outlining your plans regarding voluntary membership in the PACs, and their conversion into development committees was an important step forward. Dissolution of PACs will aid your international image.

- Much remains to be done, however. There is still the impression of military impunity. What steps will be taken to prosecute military and PAC personnel involved in human rights abuses?

- In this vein, the capture of CAPT Contreras is vital to the bilateral relationship. Closer military ties, in particular, are not likely while Contreras is at large.

Belize:

- It is important to the U.S. and to Central America that Guatemala and Belize enjoy normal relations. I urge you plan to name a resident Ambassador in Belmopan in the near future.

Economics/aid:

- Guatemala has done well in managing its economy -- 1993's 12 percent inflation rate ranks among the best in the region.

- We expect to make available to the GOG the $10 million in ESF within several weeks. We hope that GOG efforts to improve tax collection are similarly moving forward.

3. SUMMARY: A CONSTRUCTIVE "FRIENDS OF PEACE PROCESS" RESOLUTION DRAFT MAY AVOID LAST YEAR'S RANCOROUS DEBATE ON GUATEMALA. THE GOG TOLD USDEL IT WAS SATISFIED WITH THE LATEST "FRIENDS" DRAFT, WHICH WILL BE CIRCULATED TO THE URNG AND OTHER REGIONAL GROUPS LATER THIS WEEK, AND LIKELY TABLED EARLY NEXT WEEK. SPAIN BELIEVES THAT OTHER EUROPEAN DELEGATIONS WILL ALSO BE ABLE TO SUPPORT THE TEXT. USDEL HEAD FERRARO MET BRIEFLY WITH GUATEMALAN VICE MINISTER AREVALO AND DISCUSSED BOTH THE RESOLUTION AND A HUMAN RIGHTS CASE OF CONCERN TO AMCIT JENNIFER HARBURY. END SUMMARY.

4. USDEL APPRECIATES PROMPT GUIDANCE (REF A) FROM DEPARTMENT ON THE GUATEMALA DRAFT FAXED LAST FRIDAY (2/18). THE MEXICAN AND OTHER "FRIENDS" DELEGATIONS ACCEPTED NEARLY ALL USDEL'S SUGGESTED CHANGES, WHICH WERE INCORPORATED IN THE TEXT BEFORE IT WAS PRESENTED TO THE GOG DELEGATION TUESDAY MORNING AS A "GROUP OF FRIENDS" DRAFT. AT A MEETING WITH THE FRIENDS (MINUS NORWAY) ON TUESDAY AFTERNOON, THE GOG RESPONDED POSITIVELY TO THE DRAFT, REQUESTING ONLY MINOR CHANGES. THE GOG APPEARS SATISFIED THAT THE TEXT STRIKES A BALANCED (THOUGH TOUGH) TONE, AND CONTAINS NO PROVISIONS THAT WILL INTERFERE WITH UPCOMING PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

5. MEXICO PLANS TO PASS THE "FRIENDS" DRAFT TO THE URNG

FOR COMMENT TODAY (2/23) BEFORE CONSULTING GRULAC AND WEOG LATER IN THE WEEK. USDEL WILL SEND THE LATEST VERSION OF THE TEXT TO THE DEPARTMENT FOR CONSIDERATION FOLLOWING THOSE CONSULTATIONS, AND WILL REQUEST AUTHORIZATION TO CO-SPONSOR THE DRAFT IF NO SIGNIFICANT CHANGES ARE MADE. NEITHER SPAIN NOR NORWAY HAS YET RECEIVED FORMAL INSTRUCTIONS TO CO-SPONSOR THE "FRIENDS" DRAFT, BUT THE SPANISH DELEGATION HELPED DRAFT THE TEXT AND BELIEVES IT WILL ALSO BE ACCEPTABLE TO TRADIONALLY TOUGHER EUROPEAN DELEGATIONS. IF MEXICAN DELEGATION DOES NOT RECEIVE CLEARANCE FROM U.S., NORWAY AND SPAIN TO CIRCULATE THE DRAFT AS A "FRIENDS" TEXT, IT PLANS TO CIRCULATE IT AS A LATIN GROUP (GRULAC) TEXT.

6. GOG VICE-MINISTER AREVALO MET WITH USDEL HEAD GERALDINE FERRARO BRIEFLY YESTERDAY AND EXPRESSED OPTIMISM ABOUT THE RESOLUTION. HE SAID THE GOG REGARDED THE GROUP OF SIX'S WILLINGNESS TO COSPONSOR A RESOLUTION AS A SHOW OF CONFIDENCE. HE ALSO PROMISED FERRARO THAT THE GOG AND THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE WOULD CONTINUE THEIR INVESTIGATIONS INTO THE CASE OF URNG COMMANDANTE EFRAIN BAMACA, WHICH BAMACA'S WIFE, AMCIT JENNIFER HARBURY, HAD RAISED WITH FERRARO IN A BRIEF DISCUSSION EARLIER IN THE DAY. FERRARO CALLED THE GOG'S COOPERATION WITH THE UNHRC A "REFRESHING CHANGE" FROM THE OBSTINANCE OF SOME OTHER COUNTRIES, AND EXPRESSED THE HOPE THAT BY NEXT YEAR GUATEMALA WOULD HAVE A PEACE AGREEMENT AND BE IN A DIFFERENT SITUATION AT THE COMMISSION.

U.S. POLICY TOWARD GUATEMALA

Key Goals:

Consolidation of democracy and improved respect for human rights are the overarching foreign policy goals of the U.S. in Guatemala.

Peace Process:

The United States Government (USG) strongly supports efforts to end Guatemala's 34 year old guerrilla war. Efforts to consolidate democracy and improve respect for human rights have long been impeded by the continuing armed struggle. The USG is pleased that the Government of Guatemala (GOG) and the Guatemalan National Revolutionary Unity (URNG) are engaged in serious peace talks. The U.S. supports this process as a member of the "Friends" group (along with Colombia, Mexico, Spain, Norway, and Venezuela) which the parties have asked to assist the UN moderator in promoting the process. As a Friend of the process, the U.S. takes no position on substantive issues. Instead, we meet with the parties between negotiating sessions to review issues and search for common ground upon which they both can agree.

The parties on March 29 achieved an historic breakthrough in agreeing to a Human Rights Accord with UN verification to begin as soon as possible. The parties also agreed to a timetable for negotiations to reach a comprehensive Peace Accord by the end of 1994. The parties met in Oslo, signing an agreement on June 17 on displaced persons, which provided for a technical commission to oversee implementation of the accord. On June 23, the parties signed an accord calling for the creation of an historical clarification commission to address human rights violations committed during the armed conflict. The parties met from October to December to discuss indigenous rights but were unable to reach an agreement and missed the December 31 deadline for concluding an overall peace accord. Since then, the UN has urged both sides to accept a revised proposal, envisioning an final accord in August 1995.

Peace Fund:

The USG has established a Peace Fund to be disbursed following a peace agreement. Such a fund could be used to assist combatants from both sides of the conflict demobilize and integrate into civilian life, and to assist efforts of communities in the conflictive zones to put the war behind them and participate in the development process. Approximately $4.6 million of MAP (Military Assistance Program) and FMF (Foreign Military Funding) funds suspended in 1990 due to U.S. concerns about violations of human rights was used to set up the Fund. We consulted closely with Congress and non-governmental organizations before reprogramming these funds. We are encouraging the international donor community and financial institutions to commit funds to support implementation of an eventual peace accord.

PRESS STATEMENT GUATEMALA
1994 ARA-3

Democracy, Human Rights and Impunity:

Guatemala since mid-1993 has experienced a turbulent and historic period. Following the May 25, 1993 attempted "self-coup" by President Jorge Serrano, the Guatemalan Congress on June 5, 1993 elected Ramiro De Leon Carpio, then the Human Rights Ombudsman, as President. De Leon was sworn in on June 6, 1993. He has publicly expressed his committed to improvement of the human rights situation in Guatemala and civilian control over the military.

As the 1994 State Department Human Rights Report on Guatemala makes clear, the USG views with concern the continuing high level of human rights violations in Guatemala. The U.S. Embassy in Guatemala regularly communicates to the GOG and public the seriousness with which we view this issue. Our Embassy maintains close contact with Guatemalan human rights organizations, the police, the Attorney General's office, and the courts, in order to promote investigation of abuses and prosecution of those responsible. Cases involving U.S. citizens include the 1985 murders of American citizens Nicholas Blake and Griffith Davis by members of the Civil Defense Patrols, the 1989 rape and torture of American citizen nun Sister Dianna Ortiz, and the 1990 murder of American citizen Michel Devine (discussed below under military assistance). Other cases of interest to the USG are those of Guatemalan anthropologist Myrna Mack, murdered in 1990, and Efrain Bamaca Velasquez, a URNG commander missing since March 1992. The USG has supported the efforts of Bamaca's American citizen wife, Jennifer Harbury, to locate him or his remains and has pressed the Government of Guatemala to conduct a full investigation into Bamaca's disappearance.

Many of Guatemala's problems, including investigation and prosecution of human rights abuses, are exacerbated by corruption and intimidation of responsible officials. An inadequately staffed and equipped police force compounds the problems. The result has been very low efficiency in state institutions in all three branches of government.

The USG supports efforts to expand the rule of law in Guatemala and will spend $1.5 million in ESF funding to promote progress in the administration of justice in Guatemala. The USG views civilian control of the police as fundamental to consolidation of democracy and promotion of human rights in Guatemala.

Travel Warning:

The State Department on June 24, 1994 updated its March 30 travel warning regarding travel by U.S. citizens to Guatemala to note that certain areas of the country have not been affected by the incidents prompting the earlier warning, and to provide additional guidance to U.S. citizens who travel to Guatemala. Two American citizens were injured -- one critically -- by mob violence March 29 in the town of San Cristobal, Alta Verapaz. The incident was sparked by rumors that foreigners are involved in the theft of children for the purpose of using their organs in transplants. The San Cristobal mob violence followed a similar event earlier in March in Santa Lucia Cotzumalguapa, Escuintla. The GOG has arrested 50 persons for involvement in the attack. We will work closely with the GOG to ensure that those responsible for this act are prosecuted to the full extent of the law. In November 1994, an American citizen who asked a Guatemalan child for directions while hiking in a remote mountainous area was temporarily detained by angry villagers who falsely accused him of baby-stealing. The incident ended peacefully after local authorities, at the request of the U.S. Embassy, intervened. The June 24 travel warning warns U.S. citizens, and adoptive parents in particular, about possible dangers of travel to Guatemala because of these unfounded rumors. The warning notes that U.S. citizens should avoid traveling alone, should restrict their travel to areas frequented by tourists and business people, and should avoid contact with Guatamalan children.

PACs:

We share public concern about the abuses committed by the Civil Defense Patrols (PACs). We have communicated our concerns to the GOG. A PAC member involved in the August 1993 killing of an anti-PAC demonstrator in Colotenango has been taken into custody. President De Leon in a January 17, 1994 letter to President Clinton stated that the PACs will be converted into development committees with no ties to the military. However, few PACS were converted to development committees in 1994.

Reform Effort:

President De Leon spent the fall of 1993 locked in struggle with the legislative and judicial branches on the issue of corruption. On November 16, 1993, Catholic Church-brokered talks resulted in an agreement to hold a referendum on constitutional reforms. Although voter turnout was disappointingly low, over two-thirds of those who voted approved of the reforms in the referendum held January 30. 1994. Congressional elections were held August 14, 1994; although voter turnout was once again low, the elections were conducted peacefully. The Guatemalan Republican Front won 32 seats, the National Advancement Party won 24 seats, the Christian Democrats won 13 seats, and two other parties won the remaining four seats. The new Congress elected a new Supreme Court; the next Presidential, Congressional, and municipal elections will take place on November 12, 1995.

De Leon is also trying to address the long-ignored needs of the indigenous population, the majority of Guatemala's population. Early in his presidency he launched an ambitious 180-day social action program designed to improve access to potable water, education, health care, employment, and economic development. The World Bank sponsored a Friends of Guatemala meeting in Washington on September 24, 1993, in order to bring together donor countries to assist Guatemala fund its development goals. The USG at that meeting pledged $10 million in Economic Support Funds (ESF).

U.S. Economic Assistance:

The U.S. contribution mentioned above constituted part of a multi-donor package, valued at over $100 million. By helping the GOG to stay current in its payments to the World Bank and the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB), our aid enables the GOG to receive much larger loans from those institutions in order to carry out its development goals while maintaining macro-economic stability. Coordination among donors and with the international financial institutions maximizes the impact of limited aid along the lines set forth by President Clinton in his statement following his November 30, 1993, meeting with the leaders of the seven Central American countries.

The USG also provides a great deal of other bilateral assistance to Guatemala (see attached table for funding levels). Our goals are to protect health, build democracy, protect the environment, and promote broad-based sustainable development. Much USG aid to Guatemala is channeled through non-governmental organizations (NGOs); most of our aid addresses issues of interest to the U.S. Congress. Part of our food assistance, PL-480 Title I, generates local currency that the GOG uses to promote its development goals. PL-480 Title II food aid is provided to NGOs that carry feeding programs for Guatemala's most needy.

Trade:

Central America has made great progress in the past decade in democratization and economic development. As the U.S./Central America relationship has matured, a natural result is a shift in emphasis from aid to trade. President Clinton has emphasized the importance of trade in our relationship with the region, and the Central American countries have communicated their interest in acceding to the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). The USG is now working, through technical assistance programs, to assist the countries of the region to make the structural changes in their economies that are necessary for future accession to the NAFTA.

The Generalized System of Preferences (GSP) is USG legislation that seeks to promote trade with developing countries by granting most of their products duty-free access to the U.S. market. GSP beneficiaries, however, must respect norms such as worker rights and intellectual property rights (IPR). Guatemala's access to GSP has been under review since 1992 as a result of allegations of violations of worker rights and IPR. While considerable progress has been made to protect intellectual property, the GSP review process is continuing on workers' rights grounds.

Refugees:

Many thousands of Guatemalans, principally persons of Mayan descent, fled to Mexico and elsewhere at the height of the war in the early 1980s. Some 40,000 of those refugees live in refugee camps in southern Mexico near the border with Guatemala. The USG has provided and continues to provide extensive assistance to Guatemalan refugees through the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), which receives about 25 percent of its budget from the USG. The USG supports the return of Guatemalan refugees to their homes according to international standards of return under "safety and dignity."

Many refugee families routinely return individually or in small groups across the porous border. The first major organized return, however, took place in January 1993 to the Ixcan area of northern Quiche Department near the Mexican border. The refugees who returned in January 1993 located themselves at a site in the rainforest they have named La Victoria Veinte de Enero. They have built a town and removed a great deal of forest cover to plant fields. The northern Quiche area is the site of regular clashes between the Guatemalan army and the URNG guerrillas.

Several more organized returns took place in 1993 and 1994, and more are expected. Over 6000 refugees returned in 1994. U.S. Embassy officers have maintained close contact with the refugees who returned to La Victoria. The Embassy also maintains close contact with other groups of returned refugees, such as those in Veracruz. Refugee leaders from throughout the Ixcan area have informed the Embassy that reports of army bombing and violence against returned refugees in early 1993 and 1994 were without foundation. The GOG, at the request of returning refugees, has moved the army post at Tercer Pueblo (a townsite to which many refugees hope to return) away from the center of the settlement.

Narcotics:

Guatemala is one of the few countries that has successfully reduced the amount of opium poppy cultivated within its borders. Opium poppy cultivation has fallen drastically since the late 1980s. Guatemalan Treasury Police work closely with USG agencies to combat transit of cocaine through the country. As with human rights, impunity for violators is a challenge for the GOG.

International Military Education and Training:

The prospects for consolidating democracy and increasing respect for human rights are improved to the extent that all groups and institutions support these goals. International Military Education and Training (IMET) promotes support of these goals by the Guatemalan military. IMET courses expose the Guatemalan military to U.S. military officers and students from other countries where civilian control over the military and protection of human rights are fundamental elements of military doctrine. President De Leon wants the U.S. to remain engaged with the Guatemalan military.

Several Guatemalan military personnel received IMET training in 1993, while three military officers and two civilians participated in a civil-military relations course funded by IMET in 1994. The decision was made after consulting with the Congress. The IMET program offered Guatemala is weighted at a 3:1 ratio toward "expanded" IMET. "Expanded" IMET courses and educational travel focus on issues such as human rights, the role of the military in a democracy, and resource management. Guatemala's FY 1993 IMET program cost $112,000; the FY 1994 program cost $36,000.

Other Military Contacts, Civic Action:

The Minister of Defense of Guatemala visited Washington in January 1994 at the invitation of the USG to meet with human rights groups, Members of Congress and their staff, and executive branch officials, in order to communicate directly with U.S. officials and interest groups about events in Guatemala. Members of many U.S. National Guard units do their annual two-week training in Guatemala from January through June. Those units -- up to a maximum of 500 U.S. Guardsmen at a time -- drilled wells, rebuilt roads, and renovated schools in Baja Verapaz Department of Guatemala in 1994 and are working on similar projects in Jutiapa and Jalapa this year. U.S. National Guard physicians have treated patients in rural areas and U.S. National Guard veterinarians have treated farm animals in those same areas. U.S. Army medical personnel provided assistance to the U.S. citizen critically injured as a result of being attacked by a mob March 29, 1994 in San Cristobal, Alta Verapaz Department. The Fuertes Caminos exercise proposed for 1995 is projected to build five schools, three medical clinics, and two bridges; to drill sixteen water wells; and to conduct medical readiness training.

Military Assistance, Peace Fund, Sale of Weapons:

Military assistance to Guatemala (MAP and FMF programs) was suspended in 1990 following the murder of American citizen Michael Devine by members of the Guatemalan armed forces. The soldiers responsible for Devine's murder were tried, convicted, and imprisoned. Captain Hugo Contreras, the officer who led the killers, was tried, convicted, and sentenced in May 1993 to 20 years in prison. The day that Captain Contreras was sentenced, however, he escaped from the military zone headquarters where he had been detained. The USG views the capture and imprisonment of Captain Contreras as fundamental to improved relations with the Guatemalan military. The intellectual authors of the crime have not been identified or prosecuted.

The State Department reviews, on a case-by-case basis, requests by U.S. companies to sell items listed on the munitions control list to purchasers in Guatemala. Requests by U.S. firms to sell non-lethal equipment to the Guatemalan military are reviewed on a case-by-case basis. No requests to sell lethal equipment to the military are approved.

Looking Ahead:

Guatemala faces numerous challenges to consolidation of democracy, respect for human rights, acceptance of the rule of law, and economic reform. At the same time, there is substantial support throughout Guatemalan society -- and the De Leon administration -- to make progress in these areas. U.S. policy is aimed at supporting these efforts.

SUMMARY

2. A CONFIDENT AND POSITIVE PRESIDENT DE LEON TOLD THE AMBASSADOR MARCH 14 THAT HE LOOKS FORWARD TO A PRODUCTIVE OFFICIAL VISIT TO MEXICO, FOCUSING ON PEACE. HE WAS PLEASED WITH HIS FIRST MEETING WITH CONGRESSIONAL PRESIDENT VILLAR THAT DAY AND LOOKED FORWARD THAT EVENING TO SIGNING THE CONTRACT REACHED WITH THE NON-STRIKING PUBLIC SECTOR UNION FENASEP. HE REPORTED THAT POWERFUL "DEPURABLE" DEPUTIES AND RODIL HAD VISITED MOD ENRIQUEZ TO CONVINCE HIM TO SUPPORT CONTINUATION OF THIS CONGRESS WITHOUT NEW ELECTIONS, WHICH ENRIQUEZ STRONGLY REJECTED. DE LEON HAS SIGNED AN AGREEMENT TO PROVIDE MORE FUNDING TO RODIL FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE, BUT IS NOW BEGINNING TO WORRY THAT RODIL, TOO, MAY SEEK TO AVOID LEAVING OFFICE, AS THE CONSTITUTIONAL REFORMS REQUIRE. HE LAMENTED THE NEGATIVE RESPONSE OF THE PRIVATE SECTOR TO HIS PLEA FOR SUPPORT AND NOTED THAT HE WAS TAKING A LARGE GROUP OF BUSINESSMEN WITH HIM TO MEXICO, A CONTACT THAT HE HOPED WOULD BE HELPFUL. HE WELCOMED ANY SUPPORT WE MIGHT GIVE HIM WITH THIS DIFFICULT GROUP.

COUNTRY ON CHILDNAPPING AND "BABY PARTS" AND LAMENTED ATTORNEY GENERAL GUERRA CAHN'S UNFOUNDED STATEMENTS WHICH ONLY FAN THE FLAMES. SHE SOUGHT DE LEON'S HELP TO GET GUERRA TO PROVIDE A LIST OF HIS HUMAN RIGHTS ACCOMPLISHMENTS, A RECORD CRITICAL TO FREEING USD 1.5 MILLION IN ESF FOR TRAINING AT THE MINISTERIO PUBLICO.

4. DE LEON DENIED HE IS CONSIDERING A STATE OF EXCEPTION, BUT IS SEEKING TO IMPROVE COMMUNICATION WITH HIS VICE PRESIDENT, WHO HAS CALLED FOR SUCH A DECISION. CHIEF OF THE PRESIDENTIAL STAFF PEREZ MOLINA WILL NOT GO TO MEXICO, IN ORDER TO KEEP WATCH ON THE VICE PRESIDENT DURING DE LEON'S ABSENCE.

5. DE LEON REASSURED THE AMBASSADOR THAT THE NEW MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT WILL BE A CIVILIAN, BUT CONFESSED TO GREAT DIFFICULTY IN FINDING THE RIGHT PERSON. ON INTERNATIONAL VERIFICATION OF THE VOLUNTARINESS OF THE PACS, DE LEON DEFERRED TO THE STUDY ON THE PACS FOR THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE AND NOTED THAT HE WOULD NOT BE SURPRISED IF IT FOUND A HIGH DEGREE OF VOLUNTARY SERVICE IN THE PACS. HE ASSERTED THAT PACS ARE NEEDED TO PROTECT THE POPULATION IN CONFLICTIVE AREAS AND CANNOT BE DISBANDED THERE NOW, AS HE HAD SOUGHT AS OMBUDSMAN. HE AGREED WITH THE AMBASSADOR THAT MORE DETAILED INFORMATION, ANALYSIS AND FOLLOW UP IS NEEDED ON HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS.

6. REFERRING BRIEFLY TO THE PEACE PROCESS, THE PRESIDENT ASSERTED CONFIDENTLY THAT ONE OF HIS MAJOR ACCOMPLISHMENTS WILL BE TO LEAVE OFFICE WITH THE COUNTRY IN PEACE.

7. DE LEON WELCOMED PRESIDENT CLINTON'S INVITATION TO THE SUMMIT OF THE AMERICAS IN DECEMBER AND LOOKED FORWARD TO ACTIVE PARTICIPATION. HE SEEMED MORE CONFIDENT AND SECURE IN HIS POSITION THAN HE HAD IN SOME TIME, BOLSTERED BY HAVING TAKEN A NUMBER OF KEY ECONOMIC DECISIONS AND HIS COMFORT WITH THE MILITARY AFTER RECENT COMMAND CHANGES. END SUMMARY

8. THE AMBASSADOR MET WITH PRESIDENT DE LEON FOR AN HOUR AND A HALF MARCH 14 ON A WIDE RANGE OF ISSUES. DE LEON WAS RELAXED, POSITIVE AND UPBEAT. HE WAS ALONE. ECONCOUNS ACCOMPANIED THE AMBASSADOR.

9. A CONFIDENT PRESIDENT DE LEON BEGAN THE MEETING BY PROUDLY DETAILING TWO KEY ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF HIS ADMINISTRATION THAT DAY: SIGNING THE AGREEMENT REACHED WITH THE NON-STRIKING PUBLIC SECTOR UNION, FENASEP (SEPTEL), WHICH IS WITHIN THE BUDGET

PARAMETERS, AND THE MONETARY BOARD'S DECISION TO FREE THE EXCHANGE RATE. HE MADE CLEAR THAT THE GOVERNMENT "HAS NO MORE TO GIVE" TO THE MORE MILITANT, STRIKING PUBLIC SECTOR UNION FENASTEG. "THIS SORT OF IMMEDIATE PROBLEM IS NOT WHAT IS IMPORTANT; THE IMPORTANT POINT IS TO MAINTAIN THE INTEGRITY OF THE FISCAL PLAN", HE SAID. IN RESPONSE TO THE AMBASSADOR'S COMMENT, DE LEON DESCRIBED HIS FRUSTRATION WITH THE PRIVATE SECTOR, WHICH HAS REBUFFED HIS OVERTURES FOR SUPPORT AND REJECTED CALLS FOR HIGHER INDUSTRIAL ELECTRICITY RATES AND INCREASED TAXES, LAYING THE BLAME FOR FISCAL PROBLEMS ON THE GOVERNMENT'S INEFFECTIVE CUSTOMS SERVICE AND FAILURE

TO PURSUE PRIVATIZATION. WHILE THEY HAD POINTED OUT PROGRESS MADE IN MEXICO ON RESTRUCTURING THE CUSTOMS SERVICE AND ROOTING OUT CORRUPT UNION LEADERS, DE LEON HAD RESPONDED THAT MEXICO HAD JAILED UNION LEADERS BUT ALSO A TAX AVADING BUSINESSMAN. HE THEN SHOWED THEM A LIST OF GUATEMALAN BUSINESS LEADERS, MANY VERY PROMINENT, WHO ARE EVADING TAXES. NONETHELESS, DE LEON SAID THAT HE WILL CONTINUE TO WORK FOR THEIR SUPPORT, SHOWING THAT HE CAN MAKE THE TOUGH DECISIONS, INCLUDING INCREASES IN ELECTRICITY RATES, TO PUT THE COUNTRY ON THE ROAD TO MEANINGFUL CHANGE. ONE OF HIS PURPOSES IN TAKING A LARGE DELEGATION OF BUSINESS LEADERS TO MEXICO IS TO GET THEM TOGETHER WITH LEADING MEXICAN ENTREPRENEURS TO DISCUSS THE IMPORTANCE OF MODERNIZATION OF THE STATE. THE PRESIDENT EAGERLY ACCEPTED THE AMBASSADOR'S OFFER TO DO WHATEVER SHE CAN TO HELP WITH THE PRIVATE SECTOR, INCLUDING BRINGING AN INFLUENTIAL PRIVATE SECTOR LEADER FROM THE US TO TALK TO MEMBERS OF THE BUSINESS COMMUNITY.

10. TURNING TO HIS MEXICAN TRIP STARTING MARCH 15, DE LEON LAID OUT TWO MAIN THEMES: A POLITICAL AGENDA FOCUSED PRIMARILY ON PEACE (ALONG WITH MIGRATION AND ANTI-NARCOTICS) AND AN ECONOMIC AGENDA, FOCUSED ON TRADE, NAFTA AND PRIVATE SECTOR SUPPORT. ON PEACE, HE WAS OBVIOUSLY BUOYED BY RECENT PROGRESS IN THE TALKS AND STATED CONFIDENTLY THAT, AS HE HAD TOLD THE PRIVATE SECTOR, HE BECAME PRESIDENT IN WAR AND WOULD LEAVE WITH GUATEMALA AT PEACE.

POLITICS AT HOME

11. TURNING TO LOCAL POLITICS AND HIS RELATIONS WITH THE OTHER BRANCHES OF GOVERNMENT, DE LEON PAINTED A PICTURE OF PROGRESS AND PRAGMATIC SOLUTIONS AFTER A LONG PERIOD OF CONFRONTATION. HE HAD MET WITH CONGRESSIONAL PRESIDENT VILLAR THAT DAY FOR THE FIRST TIME AND HAD DISCUSSED ISSUES PENDING ON THE "MINIMUM AGENDA" AGREED WITH THE EXECUTIVE IN NOVEMBER. (THE CHURCH AND VARIOUS EDITORIALS HAVE RECENTLY CRITICIZED THE CONGRESS FOR FAILURE TO ACT ON ITS PART OF THE NOVEMBER BARGAIN TO TAKE UP THE 11 POINT MINIMUM AGENDA (ONLY TWO POINTS OF WHICH HAVE BEEN ADDRESSED.)) DE LEON HAS ALSO NOW SIGNED AN AGREEMENT WITH RODIL TO PROVIDE MORE FUNDING FOR THE JUDICIAL BRANCH FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE, WHICH DE LEON AGREED WITH THE AMBASSADOR IS VITAL TO DEVELOPMENT IN GUATEMALA AND COULD BE A MAJOR ACCOMPLISHMENT OF HIS ADMINISTRATION.

12. ON THE NEGATIVE SIDE OF THE LEDGER, KEY POWER BROKERS IN THE CONGRESS, LOBO DUBON, CHINCHILLA VEGA AND ANABELLA PRERA, ACCOMPANIED BY SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT RODIL, HAD RECENTLY MET WITH MOD ENRIQUEZ (WITH DE LEON'S PRIOR APPROVAL). THEIR OBJECTIVE HAD BEEN TO CONVINCE ENRIQUEZ THAT CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS THIS YEAR WOULD BE BAD FOR THE COUNTRY; RATHER THIS CONGRESS SHOULD CONTINUE UNTIL THE END OF DE LEON'S TERM -- A PROPOSAL FLATLY REJECTED BY ENRIQUEZ (AS HE ALSO TOLD THE AMBASSADOR, SEPTEL). SOMEWHAT WORRIED BY THIS MEETING, DE LEON IS NOW CONCERNED THAT SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT RODIL WILL JOIN POSSIBLE LEGAL AND POLITICAL MANEUVERING TO AVOID CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS (AND THEREFORE STAY IN OFFICE).

13. ASIDE FROM HIS UNEASE ABOUT EFFORTS BY THE CONGRESS TO AVOID NEW ELECTIONS, DE LEON EXPRESSESD A HIGH DEGREE OF COMFORT IN HIS POSITION AS PRESIDENT NOW, PARTICULARLY FOLLOWING THE RECENT CHANGES IN THE MILITARY WHICH ASSURE HIM OF THE MILITARY'S FULL SUPPORT. HE EVEN JOKED THAT A YOUNG FRIEND HAD TOLD HIM HE HAS LOST WEIGHT -- A "QUILO". ON POLITICAL PARTY LEADERSHIP, HE DOES NOT GENERALLY SEE THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATS AS A PROBLEM, REITERATING IN RESPONSE TO THE AMBASSADOR'S DIRECT QUESTION THAT ALFONSO CABRERA HAS A VISION AND IS CLEAR ON WHERE HE WANTS THE PARTY AND HIS COUNTRY TO GO. THE UCN, ON THE OTHER HAND, IS OPERATING OUTSIDE OF REALITY AND HAS LITTLE TO CONTRIBUTE.

14. THE AMBASSADOR RAISED THE CONTINUING USG DIFFICULTIES WITH ATTORNEY GENERAL GUERRA CAHN, WHICH ARE COMPLICATING EFFORTS TO GET THE US CONGRESS TO

RELEASE ITS HOLD ON USD 1.5 MILLION IN ESF THAT IS TARGETTED FOR TRAINING FOR THE MINISTERIO PUBLICO FOR ITS ROLE UNDER THE NEW CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE. TOO LITTLE PROGRESS IS BEING MADE ON HUMAN RIGHTS CASES. FOR EXAMPLE, NOTHING HAS HAPPENED ON THE DIANA ORTIZ CASE SINCE HER VISIT HERE. OTHER CASES ALSO SEEM STUCK. A LIST OF HIS ACCOMPLISHMENTS, WHICH HE PROMISED TO PROVIDE THE AMBASSADOR, WOULD HELP WITH THE US CONGRESS, BUT NOTHING HAS BEEN FORTHCOMING. DE LEON AGREED AND SAID HE HAS ALSO TOLD GUERRA THAT RESULTS WERE NEEDED, "NOT SPEAKING TO THE PRESS".

15. THE AMBASSADOR ALSO SHARED HER DEEP CONCERN AT GUERRA'S PROVOCATIVE STATEMENTS TO THE PRESS, WITHOUT BASIS OR FOUNDATION, ON A NUMBER OF ISSUES. WITH "HYSTERIA" DEVELOPING IN THE COUNTRY OVER THE INFLAMMATORY ISSUE OF CHILDNAPPING AND REMOVAL OF "BABY PARTS", GUERRA IS TALKING OFF THE TOP OF HIS HEAD, WITH NO FOUNDATION FOR SOME OF HIS STATEMENTS. SHE IS BECOMING CONCERNED FOR THE WELFARE OF THE AMERICAN COMMUNITY HERE, AND HAS HERSELF AVOIDED COMMENT TO THE PRESS IN AN ATTEMPT TO CALM THE WATERS. BUT SOMETHING MUST BE DONE; THE EMBASSY ALREADY HAS RECEIVED ONE THREAT TO "KILL 9 AMERICAN CHILDREN" FOR THE NINE GUATEMALAN CHILDREN ALLEGEDLY KILLED FOR THEIR ORGANS, WHICH SET OFF THE SANTA LUCIA RIOT. DISASTER WOULD BEFALL GUATEMALA AND OUR RELATIONS SHOULD ATTACKS ON AMERICAN CHILDREN OCCUR.

DE LEON HAD NOTICED THE OBVIOUSLY ORCHESTRATED CAMPAIGN OF ANTI-US GRAFFITI THAT SUDDENLY APPEARED ALL OVER TOWN AND LAMENTED THE "GREAT IRRESPONSIBILITY" OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL IN MAKING STATEMENTS THAT ONLY THREW WOOD ON THE FIRE.

VICE PRESIDENT'S CALL FOR STATE OF EXCEPTION

16. THE AMBASSADOR ASKED IF A STATE OF EXCEPTION WAS UNDER SERIOUS CONSIDERATION, IN VIEW OF THE CONTINUING STATEMENTS BY THE VICE PRESIDENT ALONG THIS LINE. ACKNOWLEDGING DIFFICULTIES WITH THE VICE PRESIDENT, DE LEON SAID THAT WHILE A POSSIBILITY, A STATE OF EXCEPTION SHOULD ONLY BE CALLED WHEN "INDISPENSIBLE", WHICH IS NOT NOW THE CASE. THEREFORE, THE IDEA HAS BEEN DISCARDED FOR THE MOMENT. HE WILL MEET WITH THE VICE PRESIDENT AT LEAST ONCE A WEEK IN THE FUTURE TO IMPROVE COMMUNICATION. JUST TO BE SAFE, CHIEF OF THE PRESIDENTIAL STAFF COL. PEREZ MOLINA WILL REMAIN IN GUATEMALA DURING DE LEON'S VISIT TO MEXICO TO "ATTEND TO" (AND WATCH OVER) THE VICE PRESIDENT.

MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT

17. THE AMBASSADOR ASKED ABOUT RUMORS OF THE APPOINTMENT OF A MILITARY OR EX-MILITARY NEW MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT, WHICH SHE SAID WOULD BE PERCEIVED AS A SET BACK FOR DEMOCRACY AND A RETREAT FROM THE BOLD STEPS THAT HE PERSONALLY HAD TAKEN TO REMOVE THE MILITARY INFLUENCE FROM THE MINISTRY OF GOVERNMENT AND THE NATIONAL POLICE. DE LEON, EXPECTING THE QUESTION, ASSURED HER THAT THE NEW MINISTER WOULD HAVE NO MILITARY CONNECTION, A DECISION THAT GENERAL ENRIQUEZ NOW FULLY SUPPORTS. HE LAMENTED THE NEED TO FIRE FORMER MINISTER ORTIZ, A GOOD MAN, BUT HE HAD NOT ACHIEVED ADEQUATE RESULTS AGAINST CRIME AND QUILO'S OUSTER HAD TO COME AS PART OF A GROUP OF CHANGES IN THE SECURITY TEAM.

18. HOWEVER, DE LEON CONFESSED THAT IT IS VERY DIFFICULT TO FIND THE RIGHT MAN FOR THIS JOB. A NUMBER OF PEOPLE HAD SUGGESTED ARNOLDO LOPEZ STRAUB, WHO IS TOTALLY UNACCEPTABLE. HE CONSIDERED AND REJECTED TWO DEPUTIES: OLIVERIO GARCIA RODAS AND FRANCISCO REYES LOPEZ. NOW HE IS CONSIDERING DANILO PARINELO, WHO WAS CONSIDERED IN JUNE AND HAS GOOD IDEAS, BUT NO FINAL DECISION HAS BEEN MADE.

WHITHER THE PACS

19. TURNING TO THE PAC'S, THE AMBASSADOR EXPRESSED UNCERTAINTY ABOUT WHETHER THERE WOULD REALLY BE A DIFFERENCE BETWEEN PACS AND THE PROPOSED PEACE AND DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEES, NOTING MAJOR CONCERNS BY HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS. SHE HAD DISCUSSED THESE SAME CONCERNS WITH GENERAL ENRIQUEZ OVER PAC CONVERSIONS AND ALSO THE ISSUE OF INTERNATIONAL VERIFICATION OF THE VOLUNTARINESS OF PAC MEMBERSHIP, AS SET OUT IN PRESIDENT DE LEON'S LETTER TO PRESIDENT CLINTON.

THERE WAS NO DIRECT RESPONSE. WERE THEY RELYING ON THE STUDY ON THE PACS FUNDED BY THE SPANISH FOR THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE AS THE BASIS FOR ACTION? SHE OBSERVED THAT SOME METHOD TO ACHIEVE A BALANCE OF COMMUNITY REPRESENTATION IN THE NEW COMMITTEES WOULD BE NEEDED TO AVOID THE POLARIZATION EXISTENT IN SOME COMMUNITIES, AS WELL AS AN EFFORT TO WEED OUT AND PROSECUTE BAD ACTORS.

20. DE LEON, APPARENTLY THINKING ALOUD, ACKNOWLEDGED SOME DIFFICULTIES IN THE CONVERSION OF THE PACS TO DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEES, BUT NOTED THAT, WITH PEACE, THERE ARE MANY THINGS, LIKE WATER PROJECTS, THAT THESE ORGANIZATIONS CAN DO FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE LOCAL COMMUNITIES. DE LEON NOTED THAT EVEN THOUGH AS OMBUDSMAN HE HAD ADVOCATED THE IMMEDIATE DISSOLUTION OF THE PACS, HE CAN SEE AS PRESIDENT THAT IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO TAKE AWAY THE PROTECTION PROVIDED BY PACS IN LOCAL COMMUNITIES IN AREAS WHILE THE WAR CONTINUES. IN NON-CONFLICTIVE AREAS CHANGES CAN BE MADE IMMEDIATELY AND PACS CANNOT REMAIN AN ARM OF THE ARMY FOR THE FUTURE. HE WAS UNAWARE OF THE RESULTS OF THE STUDY OF THE PAC FOR THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, BUT SAID HE WOULD NOT BE SURPRISED TO HEAR THAT IT FOUND A HIGH DEGREE OF VOLUNTARINESS AMONG PAC MEMBERS.

WHY NO SOLID INFORMATION ON HUMAN RIGHTS VICTIMS

21. THE AMBASSADOR CONFIDED THAT SHE BECOMES FRUSTRATED WHEN SHE TALKS WITH HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS, SINCE SHE HAS VERY LITTLE DATA TO USE TO ANSWER THEIR QUESTIONS OR EXPLAIN WHAT IS REALLY GOING ON IN THE COUNTRY. FOR EXAMPLE, SHE SAID THAT THE NUMBERS OF COMPLAINTS OF EXTRAJUDICIAL DEATHS AND DISAPPEARANCES WERE EXTREMELY HIGH THIS YEAR. BUT ALL WE HAVE ARE NUMBERS, WITHOUT ANY PROFILE OF THE CASES. A FULLER UNDERSTANDING OF THE ANATOMY OF THE PROBLEM WHERE THIS IS OCCURRING AND WHO MIGHT BE RESPONSIBLE IS NEEDED AS IS EFFECTIVE FOLLOW-UP. DE LEON SHARED THIS FRUSTRATION, NOTING THAT MANY CASES OF CLAIMED DISAPPEARANCES TURN OUT TO BE FAMILY RELATED, OR PEOPLE LEAVING THE COUNTRY FOR ECONOMIC REASONS, ETC. HE REACTED POSITIVELY TO THE AMBASSADOR'S SUGGESTION THAT PERHAPS MARIA EUGENIA MORALES DE SIERRA, FORMER DEPUTY OMBUDSMAN, WOULD BE AN EXCELLENT PERSON TO HEAD A PROJECT FOR COPREDEH TO DEVELOP A PROGRAM TO PROVIDE THOROUGH AND TIMELY ANALYSIS AND FOLLOW-UP ON HUMAN RIGHTS COMPLAINTS.

SUMMIT OF THE AMERICAS 1994

22. THE AMBASSADOR CLOSED BY RAISING THE IMPORTANCE OF THE SUMMIT OF THE AMERICAS, WHICH HAD BEEN THE OFFICIAL REASON FOR HER VISIT. THE AMBASSADOR

BRIEFLY EXPLAINED THE TWO THEMES OF THE CONFERENCE: THE BROAD CONCEPT OF APPROPRIATE AND EFFECTIVE GOVERNANCE AND THE THEME OF SUSTAINABLE ECONOMIC GROWTH/DEVELOPMENT AND TRADE EXPANSION. SHE NOTED THAT WE WOULD LOOK TO GUATEMALA TO TAKE A LEADING ROLE IN THE PREPARATIONS FOR THE SUMMIT, AS THE CURRENT SPOKESMAN FOR CENTRAL AMERICA. DE LEON THANKED HER FOR SENDING PRESIDENT CLINTON'S LETTER AND SAID HE LOOKED FORWARD TO THE SUMMIT IN DECEMBER IN MIAMI.

23. WE FOUND DE LEON UNEXPECTEDLY RELAXED AND NEWLY CONFIDENT. WHILE HE CONTINUES UNDER ATTACK FROM MANY SIDES AND LACKS THE SOLID BASES OF SUPPORT HE NEEDS, OUR IMPRESSION IS THAT HE HAS SET ASIDE A FUNDAMENTAL CONCERN WITH ELUSIVE POPULARITY IN FAVOR OF GETTING ON WITH THE JOB. IN THAT MODE, HE HAS BEGUN TO DEMONSTRATE A NEEDED DECISIVENESS -- WITH KEY ECONOMIC POLICY DECISIONS LIKE THE HARD LINE WITH PUBLIC WORKERS, FREEING OF THE EXCHANGE RATE, LIBERALIZATION OF GASOLINE PRICES, AND, WE EXPECT, RAISING ELECTRICITY RATES -- WHICH ITSELF HAS INCREASED HIS OWN SELF-CONFIDENCE.

24. THE CONSOLIDATION OF HIS POSITION WITHIN THE MILITARY HAS OBVIOUSLY HELPED. ALSO, THE EMERGING SENSE THAT THE PEACE PROCESS, DIFFICULT AS IT REMAINS, IS AT LEAST BACK ON A PRODUCTIVE TRACK HAS BOOSTED HIS OWN CONFIDENCE IN HOW HISTORY MAY JUDGE HIS PRESIDENCY. HE IS NOW CONFIDENT ENOUGH OF A PEACE AGREEMENT TO BEGIN TO CLAIM "PEACE" AS HIS NUMBER ONE ACCOMPLISHMENT.

25. IT IS ALSO SIGNIFICANT THAT DE LEON HAS NOW CHOSEN A PRAGMATIC APPROACH TO THE OTHER INSTITUTIONS OF GOVERNMENT, BY AGREEING TO MEET WITH CONGRESSIONAL PRESIDENT VILLAR AND BY QUIETLY (USING EMISSARIES) CUTTING A DEAL ON FUNDING WITH RODIL. WHILE DE LEON CAN TAKE A NUMBER OF MAJOR POLICY ACTIONS HIMSELF, FOR OTHERS, LIKE ANY SIGNIFICANT INCREASE IN TAX REVENUES, HE NEEDS CONGRESSIONAL COOPERATION. HE ALSO RECOGNIZES THE FUNDAMENTAL IMPORTANCE OF IMPLEMENTATION OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE. THIS PRAGMATIC ATTITUDE IS IN STARK CONTRAST TO THE INTENSE CONFRONTATION BETWEEN THE BRANCHES OF GOVERNMENT DURING MOST OF HIS TERM OF OFFICE. HIS CURRENT APPROACH IS TO ACHIEVE A LEGISLATIVE AND JUDICIAL PACKAGE WITH RODIL AND THOSE CONGRESSIONAL ELEMENTS WHO ARE RELUCTANT TO MORTGAGE THEIR LONG TERM INTERESTS FOR SHORT TERM GAIN, AND TO LET ENRIQUEZ AND DOUBTLESS OTHERS DELIVER THE MESSAGE TO THE CABAL OF THE MOST CORRUPT.

26 IRONICALLY, PRESIDENT DE LEON FACES AT THIS MOMENT MANY OF THE SAME ISSUES, PRESSURES AND DIFFICULTIES THAT DROVE FORMER PRESIDENT SERRANO TO AN AUTOGOLPE IN MAY 1993. PUBLIC CONCERN WITH VIOLENCE IS HIGH AND RISING, AS DEMONSTRATIONS PARALYZE PARTS OF THE GOVERNMENT AND DISCONTENT GROWS WITH AUSTERITY ECONOMICS. THIS ADMINISTRATION'S MONEY PROBLEMS ARE WORSE. DE LEON'S PUBLIC SUPPORT IS ALSO LOW AND HE CONTINUES TO BE FRUSTRATED, AS SERRANO WAS, BY INEPT AND CORRUPT GOVERNMENT INSTITUTIONS. CERTAINLY THERE ARE DIFFERENCES, INCLUDING DE LEON'S STRONG REPUTATION FOR HONESTY, BUT THE SIMILARITIES ARE STRIKING. YET DE LEON'S REACTION TO THE SITUATION IS FUNDAMENTALLY DIFFERENT. HE IS WISELY IGNORING ADVICE TO TAKE EXCEPTIONAL MEASURES, LIKE A STATE OF EMERGENCY, AND WE ARE PERSUADED HE WILL AVOID SUCH A STEP, ALTHOUGH FULLY CONSTITUTIONAL, UNLESS IT PROVES ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY. HE ALSO APPEARS TO BE GROWING IN BOTH CONFIDENCE AND DETERMINATION AS THE CHALLENGES HE FACES INCREASE.

SUBJECT: AMBASSADOR HOLDS DISCUSSIONS WITH MOD ON BELIZE, PEACE TALKS, PACS AND THE POLITICAL SITUATION. (U)

1. CONFIDENTIAL - ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY. THE AMBASSADOR MET WITH THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE, ON MARCH 14 AT HIS REQUEST TO DISCUSS THE MICHAEL DEVINE CASE (SEPTEL). DURING THE MEETING A VARIETY OF OTHER ISSUES WERE DISCUSSED. THE MOD RECOUNTED HIS VISIT WITH THE SETTLERS NEAR THE BORDER WITH BELIZE. THE ARMY HAS DEPLOYED A 21 MAN DETACHMENT IN THAT VICINITY IN ORDER TO PACIFY DOMESTIC OPINION. THE MOD HAS BEEN MEETING WITH NUMEROUS CONGRESSMEN, DURING WHICH SOME REQUESTED HIS SUPPORT TO DELAY EARLY ELECTIONS FOR THE CONGRESS, WHICH HE STRONGLY DISCOURAGED. THE MOD VIEWED THE LATEST ROUND OF PEACE TALKS FAVORABLY, EXPLAINING THAT THE GOG GOAL IS TO SIGN A PEACE AGREEMENT ON SEPTEMBER 15, BUT THE URNG WILL LIKELY SEEK A LATER DATE. THE MOD DESCRIBED PROGRESS ON DEMOBILIZING THE PACS IN NONCONFLICTIVE AREAS, AND MENTIONED THE POSSIBILITY OF FORMING AN ARMY HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE. THE ARMY IS IN A DIFFICULT SITUATION IN PLAYA GRANDE; THE MOD WILL REQUEST AUTHORIZATION FROM MEXICO TO USE A LANDING STRIP ON THE MEXICAN SIDE OF THE BORDER TO RESUPPLY AN ARMY UNIT IN THE AREA. WHILE A RETIRED MILITARY OFFICER HAD BEEN CONSIDERED FOR APPOINTMENT AS THE NEW MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT, THE OPTION HAD BEEN DISCARDED. END SUMMARY.

3. THE AMBASSADOR, ACCOMPANIED BY THE DEFENSE ATTACHE, CONDUCTED AN OFFICE CALL ON THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE, MAJOR GENERAL MARIO RENE ENRIQUEZ MORALES, ON THE MORNING OF MARCH 14.

MOD VISITS PETEN DEPARTMENT

4. THE MOD DESCRIBED HIS RECENT VISIT TO MILITARY UNITS IN THE PETEN DEPARTMENT AND HIS MEETING WITH THE SETTLERS IN BELIZE, WITH WHOM HE SPOKE IN THE KEKCHI INDIAN LANGUAGE. THE SETTLERS ACCUSED BELIZEAN FORCES OF ABUSE. THE SETTLERS TOLD HIM THEY WERE NOT OCCUPYING AN ECOLOGICALLY PROTECTED AREA, AND THAT THEY WOULD DEPART AFTER HARVESTING THEIR BEANS AND CORN. THE MOD NOTED THAT THE GUATEMALAN ARMY HAD INSTRUCTED ITS DETACHMENT OF ONE OFFICER AND 20 SOLDIERS TO AVOID ANY INCIDENTS WITH BELIZEAN ARMED FORCES, BUT ARE ALLOWED TO CONTACT AND TALK WITH ANY BELIZEAN FORCES IN THE AREA. LIKEWISE, THE MOD HAS INSTRUCTED THE GUATEMALAN CHIEF OF THE NATIONAL DEFENSE STAFF, BRIGADIER GENERAL MARCO ANTONIO GONZALEZ TARACENA, TO CONDUCT A COORDINATION MEETING WITH THE LEADERSHIP OF THE BELIZEAN ARMED FORCES AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.

5. THE MOD IS ALSO RECOMMENDING TO THE PRESIDENT THAT HE GO FORWARD ON THE LONG DELAYED "COUNCIL ON BELIZE," TO BE MADE UP OF LEADING PERSONALITIES WITH THE PURPOSE OF DEVELOPING SOME RECOMMENDED COURSES OF ACTION FOR THE PRESIDENT TO RESOLVE THE ISSUE OF BELIZE. THE MOD MENTIONED INDIVIDUALS SUCH AS VILLAGRAN KRAMER AND FORMER DEPUTY JORGE SKINNER KLEE WHO WERE WELL KNOWN AND HAD SPOKEN OUT ON THE ISSUE OF BELIZE, MAKING THEM GOOD CANDIDATES FOR THE PROPOSED COUNCIL. HE SAID THEY WERE AGREEABLE. THE MOD EMPHASIZED THAT IT HAS IMPORTANT THAT BOTH HARD LINERS AND MODERATES ON THE ISSUE OF BELIZE BE INCLUDED ON THE COUNCIL, SO THAT ITS RECOMMENDATIONS ON HOW TO SOLVE THE BELIZE PROBLEM WOULD BE MORE ACCEPTABLE.

CONGRESSMEN AS DARTH VADERS OF THE POLITICAL SCENE

6. THE MOD RECOUNTED HOW HE HAD RECENTLY REVIEWED THE CURRENT POLITICAL SITUATION WITH 79 CONGRESSIONAL DEPUTIES IN GROUPS, AND HAD TOLD THEM THAT THEY ARE TO A GREAT DEGREE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE CURRENT POLITICAL INSTABILITY. THE MOD'S FEAR IS THAT THE URNG WILL TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE POLITICAL SPACE THAT THE WEAKNESS OF THE TRADITIONAL PARTIES HAS OPENED. AS A RESULT, JUST WHEN MARXISM-LENINISM HAS COLLAPSED AROUND THE WORLD, A MARXIST-LENINIST GROUP WOULD IN EFFECT GAIN GROUND IN

GUATEMALA. MOST OF THE CONGRESSMEN HE SPOKE WITH CONCURRED WITH HIS ANALYSIS.

7. HOWEVER, SEVERAL CONGRESSMEN, ALONG WITH SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT JUAN JOSE RODIL, MET WITH THE MOD PRIVATELY TO EXPRESS A SOMEWHAT DIFFERENT VIEWPOINT. THE CONGRESSMEN INCLUDED CHINCHILLA VEGA, WHO INSISTED TO THE MOD THAT "EL MANDA EN EL CONGRESO" (HE RUNS THINGS IN CONGRESS), "PEPE" LOBO DUBON, AND ANA ISABEL PRERA. THE MOD ADDED THAT CHINCHILLA VEGA HAD TOLD HIM THAT THE U.S. EMBASSY WAS ACTIVELY INVOLVED IN BLOCKING THE ELECTION OF HIS CANDIDATE AS CONGRESSIONAL PRESIDENT, AND THAT HE HAD ACQUIESCED TO THE ELECTION OF VINICIO VILLAR AS KIND OF A FIGUREHEAD PRESIDENT WHO COULD EASILY BE MANIPULATED BY THE REAL POWERS IN THE CONGRESS (NAMELY HIMSELF).

8. THESE INDIVIDUALS TOLD THE MOD THAT THEY ARE NOT IN AGREEMENT WITH CONVOKING EARLY CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS, AND REQUESTED THE MOD'S SUPPORT TO FILE A LEGAL CHALLENGE ("AMPARO") TO DELAY THE SPECIAL ELECTION. THEIR GOAL IS TO DELAY THE SPECIAL CONGRESSIONAL ELECTION TO COINCIDE WITH THE REGULARLY-SCHEDULED PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION IN LATE 1995 AND HAVE THE NEW CONGRESS TAKE OFFICE ALONG WITH THE NEW PRESIDENT IN 1996. THE MOD STATED THAT HE IMMEDIATELY CONFRONTED THESE INDIVIDUALS ON HOW UNACCEPTABLE THEIR BEHAVIOR WAS, GIVEN THE AGREEMENTS REACHED AND THE POPULAR VOTE. ISABEL PRERA RESPONDED THAT THEY ARE POLITICIANS AND THIS IS WHAT POLITICIANS DO.

9. THE MOD THEN EXPLAINED TO THE REBELLIOUS CONGRESSMEN AND SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT RODIL THAT HE COULD SUPPORT NO SUCH ACTION BY THESE INDIVIDUALS TO UNDERMINE THE CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM PACKAGE. THESE POLITICIANS CANNOT BE ALLOWED TO DESTROY THE RESULTS OF THE "CONSULTA POPULAR," AS IT REFLECTS THE POPULAR WILL. THE MOD CONTINUED THAT SUCH ACTION WOULD PROVOKE A STORM OF POPULAR PROTEST. THE REACTION COULD EVEN RESULT IN MOBS OUTSIDE OF THE NATIONAL PALACE THAT COULD ENDANGER MANY PEOPLE, TO INCLUDE THE CONGRESSMEN THEMSELVES. THESE MOBS COULD BECOME SO UNRULY THAT THE POLICE MIGHT NOT BE ABLE TO CONTROL THEM, THUS REQUIRING ARMY INTERVENTION WHICH COULD LEAD TO VIOLENCE AND POLITICAL INSTABILITY. AT THE END OF THE AMBASSADOR'S MEETING WITH THE MOD, HE IMPLIED THAT THESE SAME CONGRESSMEN, AS WELL AS OTHER CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY MEMBERS, ARE BEHIND MUCH OF THE UNION UNREST AND OTHER EVENTS CONTRIBUTING TO POLITICAL INSTABILITY IN GUATEMALA. THE MOD ALSO MADE A PLEA TO THE AMBASSADOR TO HELP INFLUENCE THESE CONGRESSMEN AND SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT RODIL TO ACCEPT

EARLY CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS FOR THE SAKE OF DEMOCRACY AND POLITICAL STABILITY IN GUATEMALA.

PROGRESS ON PEACE TALKS IN MEXICO CITY

10. TURNING TO THE PEACE TALKS, THE MOD SAID THE AGREEMENT ON HUMAN RIGHTS HAD ALMOST BEEN COMPLETED. BOTH SIDES HAD COMPARED THEIR POSITIONS ON THE TRUTH COMMISSION, AND HAD AGREED TO DELAY THE DETAILED NEGOTIATION ON THAT ISSUE UNTIL JUNE. (NOTE: WE HAVE NO CORROBORATION THE URNG ACTUALLY MADE SUCH A CONCESSION.) THE CALENDARIZATION ISSUE HAD NOT EVEN BEEN ADDRESSED DURING THE LATEST ROUND. ACCORDING TO THE MOD, THE COG WAS NOW LOOKING AT A SIGNING DATE FOR A PEACE AGREEMENT OF SEPTEMBER 15. HOWEVER, THE URNG WOULD UNDOUBTEDLY LOOK FOR A LATER SIGNING DATE.

11. THE MOD CONTINUED THAT INSTEAD OF A TRUTH COMMISSION, THE GOG IS NOW PROPOSING, THROUGH THE UN MEDIATOR, A HISTORICAL INVESTIGATION COMMISSION (COMISION DE INVESTIGACION HISTORICA). ANOTHER ISSUE THAT HAD BEEN TOUCHED ON WAS FORCE REDUCTIONS FOR THE ARMY. THE MOD MENTIONED THAT SOME NGO'S WANT TO LUMP THE CIVIL DEFENSE PATROL STRENGTH IN WITH THE ACTIVE DUTY ARMY STRENGTH. SOME EUROPEAN GROUPS FOR EXAMPLE WANT TO CLAIM THE ARMED FORCES' CURRENT OPERATING STRENGTH IS 600,000 (SIC), AND WANT TO BASE NEGOTIATIONS ON THAT FIGURE.

MOD ON CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS

12. WHILE ON THE PACS, THE AMBASSADOR POINTED OUT THAT THE UNHRC MEETING IN GENEVA HAD R ECOMMENDED THAT THEY BE DEMOBILIZED IN NON-CONFLICTIVE AREAS. LIKEWISE, PRESIDENT DE LEON'S LETTER TO PRESIDENT CLINTON HAD MADE A PLEDGE TO DEMOBILIZE PACS WHEREVER POSSIBLE, WITH INTERNATIONAL VERIFICATION OF THE VOLUNTARY PARTICIPATION OF REMAINING PAC MEMBERS. THE AMBASSADOR ALSO EXPRESSED CONCERN THAT WHERE PACS ARE CONVERTED TO "PEACE AND DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEES," THAT SUCH COMMITTEES TRULY BE INDEPENDENT OF MILITARY CONTROL AND NOT SIMPLY BE PACS UNDER ANOTHER NAME.

13. THE MOD RESPONDED THAT THE PACS HAVE LARGELY BEEN DEMOBILIZED IN NONCONFLICTIVE AREAS. AT THEIR PEAK IN 1983 THEY NUMBERED NEARLY A MILLION, AND NOW THEY ARE DOWN TO A LITTLE OVER 400,000 MEMBERS. THE ARMY IS CONTINUING TO DEMOBILIZE PACS WHEREVER POSSIBLE, CONVERTING THOSE WHICH WISHED TO REMAIN ORGANIZED EVEN THOUGH UNARMED INTO PEACE AND DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEES. THE MOD PLEDGED THAT WHEN A PEACE AGREEMENT IS SIGNED

AND THE WAR IS OVER, ALL PACS WILL BE DEMOBILIZED. THE MOD EXPRESSED CONCERN THAT THE PEACE AND DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEES MIGHT BE PERCEIVED AS UNDER ARMY CONTROL OR INFLUENCE, AND PLEDGED TO DISCUSS THIS ISSUE AT AN UPCOMING BREAKFAST MEETING WITH HIS GENERAL OFFICERS. HE CONTEMPLATED THAT PERHAPS MORE PUBLICITY SHOULD BE GIVEN TO THE PACS THAT ARE CURRENTLY DEMOBILIZING, AND EVEN MENTIONED THE POSSIBILITY OF HAVING FAREWELL LUNCHEONS FOR THE DEMOBILIZING PACS.

14. THE AMBASSADOR ASKED ABOUT PROGRESS ON THE PAC MEMBERS INVOLVED IN THE COLOTENANGO KILLING. THE MOD RESPONDED THAT A TOTAL OF TEN (OF 15) COLOTENANGO PAC MEMBERS HAD TURNED THEMSELVES IN TO LOCAL JUDGES, BUT ONLY TWO HAD BEEN HELD IN CUSTODY AT THE JUDGE'S ORDER, THE REST HAVING BEEN RELEASED FOR LACK OF EVIDENCE. THE MOD BELIEVED THAT THE LEGAL SYSTEM WAS PREVAILING IN THIS SITUATION, AND ALL OF THE PAC MEMBERS INVOLVED IN THE KILLING WOULD TURN THEMSELVES IN TO JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES. (COMMENT: OUR INFORMATION IS THAT ONLY FIVE OF THE 15 PERSONS FOR WHOM ARREST ORDERS HAVE BEEN ISSUED HAVE BEEN PRESENTED TO THE JUDGE. WE HAVE NO REASON TO EXPECT THAT THE OTHERS WILL TURN THEMSELVES IN. END COMMENT.)

MOD MAY FORM AN ARMY HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE

15. THE AMBASSADOR SHIFTED THE DISCUSSION TO EXTRALEGAL KILLINGS AND DISAPPEARANCES, EMPHASIZING THE FACT THAT THEY ARE ALARMINGLY HIGH. THE AMBASSADOR ASKED THE MOD IF THE MINISTRY HAD DONE ANY ANALYSIS OF THIS AS TO SOURCE IN AN EFFORT TO GET AT THE VIOLATORS. THE MOD RESPONDED THAT INDEED SUCH AN ANALYSIS HAD BEEN DONE. AT ONE POINT, AN EXAMINATION WAS DONE OF PURPORTED POLITICALLY-MOTIVATED MURDERS REPORTED BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE. ON CLOSE EXAMINATION, IT WAS DISCOVERED THAT THE GREAT MAJORITY OF THE PERSONS REPORTED MURDERED WERE IN FACT STILL ALIVE. SOME HAD ILLEGALLY EMIGRATED TO THE U.S. AND WERE ILLEGALLY WORKING THERE, OTHERS HAD ABANDONED THEIR FAMILIES AND WERE FALSELY REPORTED AS KILLED. IN FACT, ONLY SOME 30 CASES ACTUALLY TURNED OUT TO BE GENUINELY VERIFIABLE MURDERS.

16. THE AMBASSADOR RETORTED THAT THERE WERE CERTAINLY FAR MORE THAN 30 VERIFIABLE CASES. WHAT WAS NEEDED WAS AN ACTIVE FOLLOW-UP OF HUMAN RIGHTS CASES TO DETERMINE WHO HAS INVOLVED SO ACTION COULD BE TAKEN AND THE MESSAGE SENT THAT THESE VIOLATIONS WON'T BE TOLERATED. THE U.S. EMBASSY DOES NOT HAVE THE RESOURCES NOR THE RESPONSIBILITY TO TAKE ON SUCH A TASK; THE GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT MUST DO THIS.

17. THE MOD QUICKLY AGREED WITH THE AMBASSADOR'S POINT AND EXPLAINED THAT HE WAS SERIOUSLY CONSIDERING FORMING AN ARMY HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE TO FOLLOW UP ON HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. HE POINTED OUT THAT HE HAD RECENTLY ORDERED SOME NINE REPORTED CASES OF HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES FROM HUEHUETENANGO DEPARTMENT INVESTIGATED BY THE MILITARY ZONE COMMANDER THERE, AS WELL AS OTHER CASES IN THE QUICHE DEPARTMENT BY THE MILITARY ZONE COMMANDER. HOWEVER, BY FORMING AN ARMY HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE, THE FOLLOW-UP WOULD BECOME MORE SYSTEMATIC AND THOROUGH. THE MOD EMPHASIZED THAT HE HAD IN FORMED A LARGE MEETING
OF OFFICERS DURING HIS VISIT TO THE PETEN THAT HE WOULD NO LONGER TOLERATE ANY OFFICER MISCONDUCT IN THE ARMY. OFFICERS INVOLVED IN CAR THEFT RINGS, NARCOTICS TRAFFICKING, OR MAHOGANY SMUGGLING WOULD BE THROWN OUT OF THE ARMY. THE MOD'S GOAL WAS TO COMPLETELY RID THE ARMY OF ALL MISCONDUCT BY THE END OF 1994, TO HAVE A COMPLETELY CLEAN INSTITUTION.
PLAYA GRANDE IS THE MOST CONFLICTIVE AREA

18. THE MOD THEN MENTIONED THAT PLAYA GRANDE IS THE MOST DIFFICULT ISSUE FOR HIM TO DEAL WITH AT THE PRESENT TIME. HE EXPLAINED THAT HE HAD EVEN HAD A MEETING WITH PRESIDENT DE LEON AT PLAYA GRANDE TO EXPLAIN TO HIM THE COMPLICATED SITUATION THERE. IN THIS SMALL AREA OF APPROXIMATELY 70 SQUARE KILOMETERS BETWEEN THE IXCAN AND XALBAL RIVERS JUST SOUTH OF THE MEXICAN BORDER, THERE ARE A WIDE VARIETY OF POPULATION GROUPS AND NGO'S. THERE ARE RETURNEES FROM THE REFUGEE CAMPS IN MEXICO, AS WELL AS CPR'S (POPULAR RESISTANCE COMMUNITIES), A FEW OF WHICH HAVE "COME OUT" FROM THEIR CLANDESTINE EXISTENCE. THE ARMY HAD IDENTIFIED SOME FORTY DIFFERENT NGO'S WHO HAVE SENT REPRESENTATIVES TO LIVE WITH BOTH THE RETURNERS AND THE CPR'S. THERE IS ALSO A LARGE EGP (GUERRILLA ARMY OF THE POOR) PRESENCE IN PLAYA GRANDE. IN FACT, A LARGE CPR CIVILIAN POPULATION GROUP IS NEAR

THE EGP HEADQUARTERS IN PLAYA GRANDE. THAT IS THE REASON THAT THE ARMY CANNOT PURSUE THE EGP HEADQUARTERS--THEY WOULD HAVE TO MOVE THROUGH CIVILIANS WHICH WOULD CAUSE ENORMOUS PROBLEMS DOMESTICALLY AND INTERNATIONALLY.

19. THE MOD AGAIN MENTIONED THAT HE HAD OFFERED THE URNG A CEASE-FIRE IN THIS REGION TO AVOID CIVILIAN CASUALTIES, TO WHICH THE URNG HAD NEVER RESPONDED. HE HAD RECENTLY MOVED THE TERCER PUEBLO PATROL BASE OFF OF THE IXCAN COOPERATIVE--NOT JUST 500 METERS WHICH WOULD HAVE TAKEN THE BASE OFF OF THE DEVELOPED AREA--BUT A FULL THREE KILOMETERS TO THE SOUTH. LIKEWISE, THE

CUARTO PUEBLO PATROL BASE IS IN THE PROCESS OF BEING MOVED OFF OF COOPERATIVE LAND IN THE PLAYA GRANDE CONFLICTIVE ZONE. HOWEVER, THE MOD POINTED OUT THAT HE COULD NOT MOVE IT COMPLETELY OUT OF THE AREA--IT WOULD BE RELOCATED TO THE NORTH ALONG THE MEXICAN BORDER WHERE IT COULD CONTROL INSURGENT MOVEMENT INTO GUATEMALA FROM MEXICO. THE ARMY HAS SUFFERED SOME 150 KIA IN CUARTO PUEBLO THROUGHOUT THE COURSE OF THE CONFLICT, AND HIS OFFICERS WOULD SIMPLY NOT TOLERATE COMPLETELY YIELDING SUCH A POSITION AFTER SO MUCH BLOOD HAD BEEN LOST DEFENDING IT, THEREFORE IT WOULD HAVE TO MOVE TO THE BORDER. THE MOD MENTIONED THAT HE HAD BEEN HEAVILY CRITICIZED INTERNALLY FOR MOVING THE TWO PATROL BASES.

20. THE MOD ADDED THAT THE PRESIDENT NOW FULLY UNDERSTANDS THE COMPLEX NATURE OF THE CONFLICT IN PLAYA GRANDE, AND HAS PLEDGED HIS FULL SUPPORT TO AN INTEGRATED CIVIC ACTION EFFORT IN THE AREA. THE PRESIDENT HAS ORDERED THE EDUCATION MINISTRY, THE PUBLIC HEALTH MINISTRY, THE PUBLIC WORKS MINISTRY, AS WELL AS THE TRANSPORTATION AND COMMUNICATION MINISTRIES TO PROVIDE RESOURCES AND SUPPORT TO BRING SOCIAL SERVICES TO THE PEOPLE OF PLAYA GRANDE. THE MOD ADDED THAT HE WOULD BE TRAVELING WITH THE PRESIDENT TO MEXICO THE FOLLOWING DAY, AND HAD RECEIVED PERMISSION FROM THE PRESIDENT TO REQUEST MEXICAN AUTHORIZATION TO USE THE AIRSTRIP ON THE MEXICAN SIDE OF THE BORDER JUST TO THE NORTH OF PLAYA GRANDE. THE USE OF THIS AIRSTRIP WOULD ALLOW RESUPPLY OF THE NEW CUARTO PUEBLO PATROL BASE WITH THE USE OF FIXED WING AIRCRAFT, RATHER THAN HELICOPTERS. THE MOD ADDED THAT THE AIR FORCE IS MAKING EVERY EFFORT TO HAVE FOUR HELICOPTERS AVAILABLE TO FLY IN SUPPORT OF ONGOING OPERATIONS IN PLAYA GRANDE.

NEW MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT WILL NOT BE RETIRED MILITARY

21. THE AMBASSADOR THEN NOTED U.S. CONCERN ABOUT THE POSSIBILITY OF THE NEW MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT BEING A RETIRED MILITARY OFFICER, THE MOD SAID THAT HE AND THE PRESIDENT WERE WELL AWARE OF THE NEGATIVE CONSEQUENCES OF SUCH AN APPOINTMENT, AND IN THE FINAL ANALYSIS HAD OPTED NOT TO APPOINT THE RETIRED MILITARY OFFICER WHO HAD BEEN IDENTIFIED FOR THE POSITION. THE NEW MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT WOULD INDEED BE A CIVILIAN.

22. THE AMBASSADOR ASKED ABOUT THE POSSIBILITY OF THE POLICE CHIEF, MARIO CIFUENTES, STAYING ON, NOTING THAT CIFUENTES HAD AN EXCELLENT REPUTATION BOTH INTERNATIONALLY AND ON HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES. THE MOD RESPONDED THAT HE SUPPOSED THE NEW MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT WOULD UNDOUBTEDLY WANT TO BRING HIS OWN "PACKAGE" ON BOARD. HE ADDED THAT CIFUENTES WAS AT LEAST PARTIALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE POLICE LOSING CONTROL OF THE SITUATION IN SANTA LUCIA AND IN SAN LUCAS TOLIMAN. THE MOD ADDED THAT HE WAS IN FULL AGREEMENT WITH THE AMBASSADOR THAT GUATEMALA NEEDED A LARGER, BETTER TRAINED AND EQUIPPED, MORE PROFESSIONAL POLICE FORCE FOR EFFECTIVE CIVILIAN LAW ENFORCEMENT. HE HOPED THAT PROGRESS COULD BE MADE IN DEVELOPING SUCH A FORCE, AND THAT THE SOONER IT HAPPENED THE BETTER OFF EVERYONE WOULD BE, INCLUDING THE ARMED FORCES.

COMMENT:

23. THE MOD'S ADMISSION THAT A SMALL FORCE OF SOME TWENTY PERSONNEL HAS BEEN DEPLOYED TO THE GUATEMALA-BELIZE BORDER NEAR THE SETTLERS IN BELIZEAN TERRITORY SHOULD NOT BE GIVEN UNDUE SIGNIFICANCE. THE MOD WAS NOT SPECIFIC ON THE EXACT LOCATION OF THE DETACHMENT. THE MEASURE WAS MORE LIKELY TAKEN TO QUELL DOMESTIC PROTEST OVER THE ALWAYS EMOTIONAL BELIZE ISSUE, RATHER THAN AS SHOW OF FORCE ON THE BORDER OR ANY EFFORT TO PROBE BELIZEAN ARMED FORCES ALONG THE BORDER. THE MOD'S COMMENTS TEND TO REINFORCE THE COG'S ACQUIESCENCE TO REMOVAL OF THE SETTLERS, THE ONLY ISSUE REMAINING BEING THE TIMING OF THEIR REMOVAL.

24. THE MOD'S DISCUSSIONS WITH VARIOUS CONGRESSMEN AND SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT RODIL WERE CREDIBLE AND REVEALING. (THE AMBASSADOR LEARNED FROM THE PRESIDENT THAT THE MOD HAD SOUGHT AND RECEIVED PRESIDENTIAL APPROVAL PRIOR TO ENGAGING THE CONGRESSMEN.) THE CONGRESSMEN'S DETERMINATION TO STAY IN POWER AND EAGERNESS TO SABOTAGE THE CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM PACKAGE THAT THEY THEMSELVES AGREED TO AND THEN HAS RATIFIED BY A POPULAR VOTE IS NOT SURPRISING. THEIR WILLINGNESS TO SEEK MILITARY SUPPORT FOR THEIR DISHONESTY SIMPLY UNDERLINES THEIR LACK OF SCRUPLES. IT IS A SHAMELESSLY CORRUPT, BUT POWERFUL CABAL. THE MOD'S RESPONSE TO THEM HAS CERTAINLY ON THE MARK AND WILL HOPEFULLY HELP TO QUELL CONGRESSIONAL EFFORTS AT SABOTAGING THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL REFORMS.

25. THE PACS CONTINUE TO BE ONE OF THE MORE DIFFICULT ISSUES FOR THE ARMY AND THE MOD TO DEAL WITH. THE ARMY DOES INDEED CONTINUE TO DEMOBILIZE PACS, AT LEAST ON A SMALL SCALE, IN NONCONFLICTIVE AREAS. THEY ARE CLEARLY UNWILLING TO DEMOBILIZE PACS IN CONFLICTIVE AREAS UNTIL A PEACE AGREEMENT IS SIGNED. THE INDEPENDENCE OF THE "PEACE AND DEVELOPMENT" COMMITTEES FROM ARMY CONTROL AND/OR INFLUENCE IS QUESTIONABLE. THE EMBASSY CONTINUES TO RAISE THE ISSUE OF PAC INVOLVEMENT IN HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES AND TO PRESS FOR SOLUTIONS TO THE PAC ISSUE. THE MOD PROPOSAL TO OPEN AN ARMY HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE COULD BE PRODUCTIVE IF IT IS GIVEN THE RIGHT MISSION. IF IT SIMPLY BECOMES AN ORGANIZATION TO MONITOR AND DISCREDIT INFORMATION FROM HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS SUCH AS THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE AND THE COG HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, IT WOULD ONLY BE AN IMPEDIMENT. ON THE OTHER HAND, IF THE OFFICE HAS THE AUTHORITY TO GET OUT AND INVESTIGATE HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES THAT OCCUR WITHIN MILITARY JURISDICTIONS INVOLVING ARMY UNITS, PACS AND MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, IT COULD PROVE EXTREMELY USEFUL IN HOLDING LOCAL COMMANDERS' FEET TO THE FIRE ON HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES PERPETRATED WITHIN THEIR JURISDICTIONS.

26. OVERALL THE MOD APPEARED RELAXED ABOUT THE DIFFICULT ISSUES HE IS CONFRONTING. HE CONTINUES TO REFLECT AN ATTITUDE OF WILLINGNESS TO ADDRESS ISSUES OF CONCERN TO THE USG WITHIN THE LIMITATIONS HE SEES OF THE CONTINUING GUERRILLA WAR IN GUATEMALA, AND MAINTAINING SUPPORT WITHIN THE GUATEMALAN OFFICER CORPS. THE MOD CL EARLY PRESENTS THE IMPRESSION THAT HE IS MORE CONFIDENT AND SELF-ASSURED THAN EVER ABOUT THE POLICIES HE IS IMPLEMENTING WITHIN THE MINISTRY NOW THAT GENERAL QUILO HAS BEEN REPLACED AS HIS CHIEF OF STAFF. THE MOD'S MEETINGS WITH CONGRESSMEN UNFORTUNATELY REFLECT THE PRESIDENT'S GREAT DEPENDENCE ON THE MILITARY. WE VIEW THE MOD'S FREQUENT MEETINGS AND VISITS TO THE FIELD AS AN EFFORT TO ENSURE HIS CONTROL OVER THE ARMY IS CONSOLIDATED IN THE WAKE OF GEN QUILO'S DISMISSAL AND THE VERY SENSITIVE PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

2. SUMMARY: IN A MARCH 18 MEETING WITH ATTORNEY GENERAL TELESFORO GUERRA CAHN THAT FOCUSED MAINLY ON THE PUBLIC MINISTRY'S (MP) ROLE IN CONTRIBUTING TO HYSTERIA ABOUT "BABY SNATCHING" (SEPTEL), THE DCM ALSO TOUCHED ON A WIDE RANGE OF OTHER SUBJECTS, INCLUDING: COUNTERNARCOTICS (PROSECUTORS' NEED TO PURSUE CONSPIRACY CASES), COMMERCIAL ISSUES (TEXACO AND ENRON), HUMAN RIGHTS (NEED FOR THE MP TO BE PROACTIVE; DIANNA ORTIZ; MYRNA MACK), AND JUDICIAL REORGANIZATION (NO PERSONNEL; NO MONEY; POSSIBILITY OF POSTPONING IMPLEMENTATION OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURES

3. THE DCM, ACCOMPANIED BY EMBOFFS, BEGAN BY ACKNOWLEDGING THAT THE TWO PROSECUTORS FROM GUERRA'S MP THAT HAD BEEN RECENTLY ASSIGNED TO WORK ON NARCOTICS CASES WITHIN THE TREASURY POLICE WERE GENERALLY WORKING OUT WELL. THE DCM COMMENDED THEM

"BE MORE FORWARD-LEANING ON HUMAN RIGHTS"

6. TURNING TO HUMAN RIGHTS, THE DCM REMINDED GUERRA THAT THE US CONGRESSIONAL HOLD ON THE 1.5 MILLION DOLLARS TO THE PUBLIC MINISTRY REVOLVED LARGELY AROUND PERFORMANCE ON HUMAN RIGHTS. THE DCM SAID THAT FRANKLY THERE WAS STILL SOME SKEPTICISM IN THE US ABOUT THE MP'S PERFORMANCE, NOT ONLY DUE TO LINGERING DISAPPOINTMENT OVER THE AGENCY'S RECORD DURING THE TENURE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL TUNA VALLADARES, BUT ALSO DUE TO APPARENT LACK OF ACTIVISM

IN THE FIELD SINCE LAST JUNE. THE MP, COMMENTED THE DCM, NEEDS TO DEMONSTRATE WILL WITH PROGRESS ON KEY CASES.

7. GUERRA DEFENDED THE MP'S RECORD ON HUMAN RIGHTS AND HAD AN ASSISTANT BRING IN A COPY OF A REPORT HE SAID HAD RECENTLY BEEN PROVIDED TO ANNE MANUEL OF AMERICAS WATCH. (WE WILL FAX A COPY TO THE DESK). HE SAID THE MP WAS WORKING ON SPECIFIC CASES SUCH AS CLANDESTINE CEMETERIES IN SALAMA AND ASPECTS OF THE JORGE CARPIO CASE. HE SAID, HOWEVER, THAT THE MP ENCOUNTERED OPPOSITION IN ITS WORK ON HUMAN RIGHTS CASES FROM THE MILITARY AND FROM JUDGES, SOME OF WHOM

WERE CERTAINLY TARGETS OF INTIMIDATION.

8. THE DCM PRESENTED GUERRA WITH A LIST OF THREE CASES THAT HAVE DRAWN SPECIAL INTEREST FROM HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS: TOMAS LARES WHO WAS KILLED ON APRIL 30, 1994 ALLEGEDLY BY PAC MEMBERS IN QUICHE; BRENDA MERIDA WHO REPORTEDLY HAS BEEN RECEIVING THREATS SINCE JULY 1993 FROM PAC MEMBERS IN HUEHUETENANGO; AND MIGUEL AND LORENZO QUIEJ PU, TWO MEMBERS OF CONDEG (NATIONAL COUNSEL OF DISPLACED PERSONS OF GUATEMALA). BOTH HAD RECEIVED THREATS FROM UNKNOWN PERSONS AND LORENZO HAS BEEN MISSING (AND PRESUMED KIDNAPPED) SINCE JANUARY 12, 1994. THE DCM STRESSED THE LARES CASE BECAUSE THERE WAS EVIDENCE LARES HAD RECEIVED NUMEROUS THREATS PRIOR TO HIS MURDER. GUERRA, WHO SAID THE MP WAS WORKING WITH THE NATIONAL

POLICE IN HUMAN RIGHTS MATTERS, ADMITTED HE WAS NOT FAMILIAR WITH THE DETAILS OF THE THREE CASES. HE PROMISED HE WOULD CHECK THEIR STATUS.

DIANNA ORTIZ

9. THE DCM RAISED THE DIANNA ORTIZ CASE, REFERRING TO THE AMBASSADOR'S LETTER REQUESTING INFORMATION ON STEPS THE MP HAS TAKEN TO FOLLOW UP. GUERRA SAID HE WOULD HAVE A REPORT PREPARED AND FAXED TO US AND PROVIDED THE NAME OF THE PROSECUTOR WORKING ON THE CASE, WHO COULD BETTER ANSWER OUR QUESTIONS.

---

BETETA AND PRISON DEATHS

---

10. THE DCM ALSO RAISED THE CASE OF NOEL BETETA, THE CONVICTED ASSASSIN OF MYRNA MACK. HE ASKED IF THE SUPREME COURT'S RECENT DECISION OPENING THE WAY FOR INVESTIGATING THE "INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS" OF THE MURDER MEANT THAT ANY MILITARY SUSPECTS COULD BE TRIED IN CIVILIAN COURTS. BETETA HAD BEEN CONVICTED IN A CIVILIAN COURT AFTER THE MILITARY WAIVED JURISDICTION. GUERRA THOUGHT THE "INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS" WOULD HAVE TO BE TRIED IN A MILITARY COURT. HE PREDICTED THAT THERE WILL BE MILITARY OBSTRUCTION OF THE INVESTIGATION. THE DCM ALSO ASKED WHAT HAD BEEN DONE TO INVESTIGATE THE DEATHS OF SEVERAL JAIL

STRUCTURAL CHANGE AT MP AND GUERRA'S DEPARTURE

---

11. WHEN THE DCM RAISED THE ISSUE OF THE IMPENDING DIVISION OF THE MP, GUERRA NOTED THAT THE "NEW" MP WOULD HAVE FAR GREATER RESPONSIBILITIES, BUT THAT IT WAS BY NO MEANS CLEAR THAT IT WOULD HAVE THE PERSONNEL, OFFICE SPACE AND MONEY TO DO THE JOB. HE SAID HE WAS WORKING CLOSELY WITH THE SUPREME COURT IN PREPARING FOR THE SCHEDULED JULY 1 IMPLEMENTATION OF THE "CODIGO PROCESAL PENAL" (CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE). HE NOTED FOR EXAMPLE, THAT RESPONSIBILITY OF THE COURTS OF FIRST INSTANCE TO INVESTIGATE WOULD PASS FROM THE JUDICIAL BRANCH TO THE "FISCALIA GENERAL" FREEING UP LABOR AT THE COURTS, BUT CREATING A MASSIVE BURDEN FOR THE MP. THE JUDICIAL BRANCH

12. GUERRA, HOWEVER, STRESSED THAT UNLESS THE NEW LAW OF THE PUBLIC MINISTRY ("LEY ORGANICA") WAS PASSED, THE NEW CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE PROBABLY WOULD HAVE TO BE POSTPONED AGAIN. GUERRA SAID THAT BY LAW HE MUST STAY ON AS ATTORNEY GENERAL ("PROCURADOR DE LA NACION") UNTIL A NEW OFFICIAL WAS NAMED, BUT THAT HE COULD NOT TAKE THE NEW POSITION OF GENERAL PROSECUTOR ("FISCAL GENERAL") THAT WAS BEING CREATED AS A RESULT OF THE DIVISION IN THE MP. THIS INDIVIDUAL WOULD HAVE TO BE NAMED BY THE PRESIDENT FROM A LIST DRAWN UP BY A BLUE RIBBON PANEL. HOWEVER, HE ACKNOWLEDGED THAT HE WOULD CONTINUE "WEARING BOTH HATS" UNTIL SUCCESSORS ARE NAMED.

1. U.S. NRC CHAIRMAN IVAN SELIN VISITED SENIOR ENERGY AND NUCLEAR OFFICIALS IN MEXICO CITY ON

UNCLASSIFIED

MARCH 25 AND THE NUCLEAR PLANT AT LAGUNA VERDE ON MARCH 26. ESPECIALLY IMPRESSIVE WERE THE GOM'S ENERGY PLANNING EFFORTS, THE CENTRAL ROLE THAT ENVIRONMENTAL CONCERNS PLAY, AND THE HIGH QUALITY OF MANAGEMENT FOR MEXICO'S NUCLEAR PROGRAM. THE GOM IS CONSIDERING NUCLEAR ENERGY AS ONE OF SEVERAL ENERGY SOURCES WITH WHICH TO MEET MEXICO'S RAPIDLY GROWING DEMAND FOR ELECTRICITY. SEMIP SECRETARY LOZOYA INDICATED THAT HE PLANS TO VISIT WASHINGTON BEFORE JULY 4, AND DR. SELIN OFFERED TO ASSIST IN ANY WAY POSSIBLE.

2. U.S. NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION CHAIRMAN DR. IVAN SELIN PAID CALLS ON SENIOR OFFICIALS IN MEXICO CITY ON MARCH 25 AND VISITED THE FEDERAL ELECTRICITY COMMISSION'S NUCLEAR POWER PLANT AT LAGUNA VERDE ON MARCH 26. THE EVENTS TOOK PLACE DESPITE THE ASSASSINATION ON WEDNESDAY EVENING OF PRI PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE LUIS DONALDO COLOSIO.

3. CALLS INCLUDED DISCUSSIONS WITH ENERGY, MINES AND PARASTATAL INDUSTRIES (SEMIP) SECRETARY LOZOYA THALMANN, NATIONAL COMMISSION FOR NUCLEAR SAFETY AND SAFEGUARDS DIRECTOR GENERAL MIGUEL MEDINA, MEXICAN INSTITUTE FOR PETROLEUM (IMP) DIRECTOR GENERAL VICTOR ALCERRECA, AND FEDERAL ELECTRICITY COMMISSION DIRECTOR GENERAL GUILLERMO GUERRERO VILLALOBOS. DR. SELIN WAS ACCOMPANIED ON MOST STOPS BY EMBASSY SCIENCE COUNSELOR AHMED MEER, EMBASSY ENERGY OFFICER MIGUEL DE LA PENA,

UNCLASSIFIED

NRC SENIOR CONGRESSIONAL AFFAIRS OFFICER MICHAEL CALLAHAN, AND SCIATT ED GOFF. THE AMBASSADOR HELD A RECEPTION ON THE OCCASION OF DR. SELIN'S VISIT ON FRIDAY, MARCH 25 WHICH WAS ATTENDED BY ABOUT 25 SENIOR OFFICIALS AND SCIENTISTS.

CALL ON SEMIP SECRETARY LOZOYA

4. SEMIP SECRETARY LOZOYA CITED CURRENT "EXCELLENT RELATIONS" BETWEEN CNSNS AND THE NRC AND DISCUSSED EFFORTS TO LIBERALIZE THE ELECTRIC GENERATION INDUSTRY. REGARDING FUTURE ELECTRICITY NEEDS, LOZOYA CITED STATISTICS SHOWING CURRENT CAPACITY OF 30 THOUSAND MEGAWATTS AND DEMAND FOR 20 MORE OVER THE NEXT 12 YEARS. IN ALL HE FORECAST THAT 40 NEW POWER PLANTS WOULD BE NEEDED TO MEET RISING DEMAND. LOZOYA ALSO EMPHASIZED A TURN TOWARD CLEANER FUELS SUCH AS GAS AND LOW-SULPHUR FUEL OIL.

5. DR. SELIN REVIEWED KEY ISSUES FACING THE

NUCLEAR INDUSTRY (WASTE DISPOSAL AND ECONOMICS), THE LICENSING OF NEW DESIGNS AND THE STATE OF PLAY OF THE NEGOTIATION ON THE INTERNATIONAL NUCLEAR SAFETY CONVENTION. DR. SELIN ASKED LOZOYA TO CONSIDER COOPERATING IN WINNING THE SUPPORT OF OTHER LATIN AMERICAN PLAYERS. LOZOYA AGREED TO FOLLOW-UP.

6. DR. SELIN ALSO NOTED NRC INTEREST IN COOPERATING ON A STUDY OF THE GEOLOGY OF THE PENA

BLANCA MOUNTAIN RANGE. LOZOYA INDICATED THAT HE WOULD HELP IF POSSIBLE. FINALLY IN RESPONSE TO SECRETARY LOZOYA'S INDICATION THAT HE WOULD BE VISITING WASHINGTON BEFORE JULY 4, DR. SELIN OFFERED TO ASSIST IN ANY WAY POSSIBLE.

UNAVAILABLE, DR. SELIN MET INSTEAD WITH THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF IMP, ING. VICTOR ALCERRECA. ALCERRECA OUTLINED THE MOVEMENT TO DIVERSIFY ENERGY SOURCES CITING CLEANER FUEL OIL, COKE,

COAL AND GAS. HE NOTED THAT FACILITIES NOW HAVE TO MEET A WIDE RANGE OF ENVIRONMENTAL NORMS THAT HAD NOT BEEN CONSIDERED BEFORE.

COMISION FEDERAL DE ELECTRICIDAD (CFE)

8. CFE DIRECTOR GENERAL GUILLERMO GUERRERO VILLALOBOS STARTED WITH AN OVERVIEW OF ELECTRICITY PLANNING NOTING THAT MEXICO HAS 6-8 MAJOR CENTERS OF CONSUMPTION, BUT THAT USAGE IS ABOUT ONE-TENTH THE LEVEL OF THE U.S. TRACKING THE COMMENTS OF LOZOYA AND ALCERRECA, GUERRERO COMMENTED THAT TAKING ENVIRONMENTAL CONSIDERATIONS INTO ACCOUNT, MEXICO PLANS TO USE HIGHER QUALITY, BUT LESS FUEL OIL; MORE HYDRO; AND MORE GAS TO MEET THE FORECASTED 4-6 PERCENT ANNUAL GROWTH IN DEMAND. WITH REGARD TO HYDRO POWER, HE ANTICIPATED THAT 15 TO 20 THOUSAND MEGAWATTS WOULD LIKELY PROVE ECONOMICAL TO DEVELOP. ENVIRONMENTAL NORMS SCHEDULED TO BE EFFECTIVE IN 1998 WILL COME CLOSE TO US STANDARDS, BUT WILL BE TAILORED TO THE NEEDS OF DIFFERENT AREAS. THE STRICTEST REGULATIONS WILL APPLY IN THE VALLEY OF MEXICO; A SLIGHTLY MORE LIBERAL STANDARD WILL APPLY IN OTHER MAJOR CITIES AND THE FRONTIER; AND A THIRD SET OF NORMS WILL APPLY ELSEWHERE.

10. CNSNS DIRECTOR GENERAL MEDINA AND OTHER SENIOR OFFICIALS BRIEFED THE CHAIRMAN ON THEIR ACTIVITIES AND FIELDED A WIDE RANGE OF QUESTIONS AT A MEETING ON FRIDAY, MARCH 25. DR. SELIN ENCOURAGED MEDINA TO CONTINUE TO DEVELOP CNSNS'S LEADERSHIP ROLE IN NUCLEAR SAFETY IN LATIN AMERICA AND TO ENHANCE PARTICIPATION IN INTERNATIONAL SAFETY INITIATIVES.

11. DR. SELIN VISITED THE LAGUNA VERDE I AND THE UNDER-CONSTRUCTION LAGUNA VERDE II ON SATURDAY, MARCH 26. AS PREVIOUSLY REPORTED, PLANT OPERATIONS WERE IMPRESSIVE AND THE UTILITY CONTINUES TO IMPLEMENT ENHANCEMENTS IN PROCEDURES AND TRAINING PER INDUSTRY NORMS. HOUSEKEEPING WAS OUTSTANDING AND MAINTENANCE IN PROGRESS WAS ORDERLY AND FOCUSED. ACTIVITY AT THE CONSTRUCTION SITE SEEMED WELL CONTROLLED, DESPITE THE HIGH LEVEL OF ACTIVITY.

I. INTRODUCTION

This paper is provided by the State Department for use by the Executive Office of Immigration Review and the Immigration and Naturalization Service in assessing asylum claims. In accordance with requests made under 8 CFR 208.11, the Department of State may provide information on country conditions to help adjudicators assess the accuracy of asylum applicants' assertions about country conditions and their own experiences; likely treatment were the applicants to return; whether persons similarly situated are known to be persecuted; whether grounds for denial are known to exist; and other information relevant to determing the status of a refugee under the grounds specified in section 101(a)(42) of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

Advisory opinions are produced under the supervision of the Bureau of Human Rights and Humanitarian Affairs. They are written by experienced Foreign Service Officers with expertise and service in the area and are circulated for comment within the Department, including to overseas missions, and with other agencies if appropriate. They are based on a review of asylum applications, reports from US missions abroad and other information available to the Department of State. Other relevant information from the Department, incorporated herewith by reference, includes the annual Country Reports on Human Rights Practices, the annual World Refugee Report and periodic country-specific Background Notes. The Country Reports are designed to report annually on the status of internationally recognized human rights; these comments are intended to provide additional current information useful in adjudicating asylum applications to the specific standards set forth in the INA.

II. OVERVIEW OF CURRENT SITUATION IN CHINA

(The introductory paragraphs of the 1993 Country Reports on Human Rights Practices in China are repeated below to provide context for the comments in this memorandum's subsequent sections.)

"The People's Republic of China remains a one-party state ruled by the Chinese Communist Party through a 21-member Politburo and a small circle of officially-retired but still powerful senior leaders. Almost all top civilian, police and military positions at the national and regional levels are held by party members. Despit official adherence to Marxism-Leninism, in recent years economic decision-making has become less ideological, more decentralized, a increasingly market-oriented. Fundamental human rights provided fo in the Constitution are frequently ignored in practice, and challenges to the Communist Party's political authority are often dealt with harshly and arbitrarily.

Security forces, comprised of a nationwide network which includes the People's Liberation Army, the Ministry of State Security, the Ministry of Public Security, the People's Armed

Police, and the state judicial, procuratorial, and penal systems, are poorly monitored due to the absence of adequate legal safeguards or adequate enforcement of existing safeguards for those detained, accused, or imprisoned. They are responsible for widespread and well-documented human rights abuses, including torture, forced confessions, and arbitrary detentions.

A decade of rapid economic growth, spurred by market incentives and foreign investment, has reduced party and government control over the economy and permitted ever larger numbers of Chinese to have more control over their lives and livelihood. Despite significant income disparities between coastal regions and the interior, there is now a growing "middle class" in the cities and rural areas as well as a sharp decline in the number of Chinese at the subsistence level. These economic changes have led to a de facto end to the role of ideology in the economy and an increase in cultural diversity. An example of this is the media, which remains tightly controlled with regard to political questions, although it now is free to report on a wider variety of other issues.

The Government took some positive steps on human rights issues during 1993. It released some prominent political prisoners early or on medical parole; many had served long terms in prison. The Government still has not provided a full or public accounting of the thousands of persons detained during the suppression of the 1989 democracy movement, when millions of students, workers, and intellectuals defied the Government and participated in public demonstrations. Most of these detainees appear to have been released, however, some after serving periods of detention without charges having been brought and some after having completed their prison sentences. The Government says it has released the remaining imprisoned or detained Vatican loyalists among the Catholic clergy. Although it continues to restrict the movements and activities of some elderly priests and bishops, the Government announced in November that two priests, whose movements had been restricted, were free to return to their homes. The authoriites also allowed a number of prominent political dissidents to leave China in 1993. In November the Government announced it would give positive consideration to a request from the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) to visit China.

Nevertheless, the Government's overall human rights record in 1993 fell far short of internationally accepted norms as it continued to repress domestic critics and failed to control abuses by its own security forces. The Government detained, sentenced to prison, or sent to labor camps, and in a few cases expelled from the country, persons who sought to exercise their rights of freedom of assembly or speech. The number of persons in Chinese penal institutions considered political prisoners by international standards is impossible to estimate accurately. In 1993 hundreds, perhaps thousands, of political prisoners remained under detention or in prison. Physical abuse, including torture by police and prison officials, persisted, especially in politically restive regions with minority populations like Tibet. Criminal defendants continue to be denied legal safeguards such as due process or adequate defense. In many localities, government authorities continued to harass and occasionally detain Christians who practiced their religion outside the officially-sponsored religious organizations."

(End of paragraphs quoted from Country Reports.)

III. MOST FREQUENTLY OCCURRING CLAIMS

Asylum requests by Chinese nationals have grown exponentially in recent years, and China in 1993 constituted the second most frequent country of origin -- about 10% of all claims reaching INS and the EOIR. In FY 91, INS district directors received only 895 asylum claims from Chinese. In FY 92, Chinese claims were 3,464 to INS and 1,911 to EOIR. In FY 93, INS alone received 14,354 applications, and applications received by immigration judges for an 11 month period ending September 1, 1993 were 3,685. This upswelling of cases from China follows several US policy changes that affected Chinese aliens -- the 1986 legalization provisions of the Immigration Reform and Control Act; Executive Order 12711 on April 5, 1990, which granted temporary protection to Chinese nationals in the US and enhanced consideration to asylum claims based on fear of coercive birth control; and the Chinese Student Protection Act, which served to grant permanent status to these Chinese.

Chinese nationals seeking asylum generally fall into one of two categories:

--Students and scholars who came to the United States legally, for the most part prior to 1989, who assert that their backgrounds in China and/or behavior in the United States would subject them to political persecution on return to China. A small share of these individuals are claiming fear of persecution because of China's birth control policy or behavior towards Christians. This group comes from all over China.

--Workers, peasants and some students and others who have entered the United States illegally after having departed China illegally, often, apparently, as part of smuggling ventures organized by criminal elements here and in China. Costs of US$30,000 per head (most to be paid out of earnings in the US) for smuggling from China to the U.S. are commonly reported. Members of this group are almost exclusively from China's south and east coasts. The principal claims of these individuals -- well over one half -- involve alleged past or fear of future victimization by China family planning policies -- up from a small fraction prior to 1989. Most of these are from the Fuzhou area of Fujian Province, especially the counties of Changle, Tingjiang and Lianjiang (where Guantou town, often named, is located). Most of the others claim political persecution primarily on grounds of involvement in the pro-democracy movement of 1989. A much smaller, but apparently growing number, claim religious persecution. Many plead, in addition to their basic rationales, that they fear persecution because, in leaving China, they are subject to punishment for violating China's travel controls.

Chinese emigration has traditionally been highly localized, but there is a long history of both temporary (e.g. contract labor) and permanent emigration from a few areas. Most of those going abroad have come from a few counties near seaports in Guangdong, Fujian and Zhejiang provinces. Some localities in these areas may have ten percent or more of their population living abroad, substantial foreign exchange earnings, access to high-seas transport, local modernization derived from overseas contacts, and large numbers of returned migrants living in the community.

In Fujian, a province of 30 million, an August 1993 study prepared by the Center for International Research of the US Bureau of the Census quoted Chinese government estimates that the number of Fujianese living abroad (including natural increases) rose from 3 million in 1950 to 7.6 million in 1985, an increase of about 130,000 per year. Most overseas Fujianese live in Southeast Asia but about 100,000 were estimated to be in the U.S.

The Census Bureau study states that "in the early 1990's there has been an escalation of illegal emigrants from China to the United States, and the vast majority of them appear to come from Fujian Province. Based on a year-end 1992 report (Chinese Smuggler Data Base Report, December 31, 1992), there were only about 1,000 illegal arrivals in the U.S. from China during 1983, but the numbers grew rapidly beginning in the second quarter of 1990. In the last half of 1992, the numbers of arrivals in the U.S. were about 2,500 per month...almost all married men from Fujian (over 95% according to the Smugglers Data Base.)"

A recent informal sample of asylum applications reviewed by this office reflected these trends and traditions. Eighty per cent of the asylum applicants came from three counties near the Fujian capital of Fuzhou, counties with a combined population of about 1.8 million persons--0.15% of China's total population. Eight per cent of asylum applications came from areas near Guangzhou (Canton) in Guangdong province. Five percent came from the Wenzhou area in Zhejiang province, not far from Fuzhou. The remaining seven per cent of asylum applications came from all other parts of China.

According to Coast Guard interdiction statistics, 20 Chinese were intercepted at sea in 1991 and 613 in 1992. As of mid-December, 1993, the Coast Guard had intercepted 11 ships carrying 2,500 Chinese migrants. Two thousand aliens on 15 boats successfully landed in such places as Hawaii, California, New York, Massachusetts and North Carolina. Other boats landed in Mexico, Guatemala, Honduras, and The Marshall Islands.

Substantially more Chinese nationals entered the US illegally in 1993, most by air, through a variety of routes, including Eastern Europe, or by land across our border with Mexico. From January through November 1993, 2,000 PRC nationals arrived via air at U.S. ports without proper documentation, a rate of about 200 per month. Many travel on Hong Kong passports with fraudulent visas, or use photo substituted passports of other countries whose citizens are eligible to visit U.S. without visas.

IV. MISCELLANEOUS CONSIDERATIONS FOR ADJUDICATORS

A. Prior Persecution

Many millions of Chinese suffered severely during China's long war with Japan which began in 1931; during the "struggles" of the 50's when the landowners and middle classes were stripped of their pre-communist wealth and position; and during the Cultural Revolution from 1966 to 1976. The numbers of victims of war, civil war or severe government mistreatment are extremely large, and many suffered severely prior to the liberalization that began in the 1970s. However, applying a standard that mistreatment during the Cultural Revolution or before is the basis for a well founded fear in the future would not be consistent with country conditions. The experience of the past 15 years indicates that the problems characterizing World War II, the Chinese civil war that continued after it, and the first 15 years of Communist rule followed by the Cultural Revolution, with its untrammelled and extrajudicial abuses and excesses, would seem to constitute a defined period of upheaval in the history of China which is unlikely to occur in that form again--even under the continuation of some form of repressive communist leadership.

Thus, depending on the particulars, applicants who were "rehabilitated" after the end of the Cultural Revolution and accession of Deng Xiaoping may credibly have undergone suffering during the Cultural Revolution and before and may have shared these problems then with many millions of others. In such cases severe past mistreatment does not necessarily lead to a well-founded fear for the future. However, where the intensity of the experience is such as to invite the exercise of discretion, adjudicators may wish to give especially deliberate consideration to the arguments regarding discretion.

B. Internal Flight Alternatives

Most asylum applicants take the position, implicitly or explicitly, that they would be unable to avoid mistreatment by moving elsewhere within China. That would often be the case under circumstances previously prevailing, given the controls on travel, neighborhood informants, a widespread security apparatus (that insured an individual's dossier would be received by the Public Security Bureau office at an individual's new place of residence), and a centralized government. Nevertheless, many of these restrictive elements have broken down in China because of the burgeoning economy, dramatically greater individual mobility, reduced discipline at various law enforcement levels, and widespread corruption. Up to 100 million persons are considered to be part of the "floating population", which is partially beyond the reach of the authorities, having in effect evaded residence-based controls (the term, "floating" refers to those without permanent household registrations.) Internal flight is thus conceivable and practicable in China for many types of offenses and mistreatment. Those with sufficient means can essentially live anywhere. As corroboration, many applicants admit to a period of internal flight inside China before seeking refuge outside.

Even well into the 1980's, internal controls on people were strict. Virtually all Chinese (as discussed further below) had an official residence registration. In Maoist China this made it difficult to move from one locality to another and nearly impossible to travel abroad. Economic reforms have increased demand for transient labor and in the last two or three years the process has accelerated as the household registration system seems to have broken down. In many areas, local authorities don't know where their people are, or who the new arrivals are. Transient quarters in cities are swamped, illegal or quasi-legal arrivals sleep on the streets in many places; enormous housing shortages exist in virtually all urban areas; and trains, planes and buses are frequently booked beyond capacity. While some industries can legally hire itinerant laborers, others that are not permitted to do so continue in violation of regulations.

In Fujian, the U.S. Census Bureau's previously-cited report estimated that in addition to those commuting, those constantly on the move, those who have been at their current residence less than one month and those who successfully evade the authorities, there is a registered "temporary resident" population in Fujian of about three quarters of a million persons, or three percent of the population, who are living away from their permanent registration location. In addition, about one percent of the population changes its permanent registration location each year. In the case of Fujian, most out-migration is to Guangdong and most in-migration is from Sichuan.

In December 1993 a Hong Kong news agency reported that 7 million people had obtained permits for temporary residence in all parts of neighboring Guangdong province, while over 3 million were seasonal laborers scattered through both urban and rural areas across the province. (One result of this, according to the same report, is that over 50 percent of criminals seized in Guangdong currently come from outside the province, and the figure is as high as 70-80 percent in economically advanced areas.)

Shanghai now hosts a "floating" population of 2.5 million people according to Chinese newspaper reports. Of the 2.5 million, 1.5 million are temporarily living in Shanghai. One Chinese newspaper reported that the large number of migrant workers has had a deleterious impact on public order, sanitation and on family planning (presumably because the monitoring tasks are hampered). The current estimate of 2.5 million compares with 2.3 million in 1992 and 2.0 million in 1991.

C. Treatment of Minorities

Fifty-five designated ethnic minorities constitute just over 8 percent of China's total population. Most minority groups reside in areas they have traditionally inhabited, with standards of living often well below the national average. Government policy is to protect and maintain minority cultures. However, development policies that have helped raise minority living standards have at the same time disrupted traditional living patterns. Marketization of China's economy and the effective deterioration of tight controls on internal migration are leading to a greater number of Han Chinese migrants to Tibet. Ethnic minorities generally do not populate the south and east of China, whence most asylum applicants originate, but there are isolated pockets of minorities scattered through these areas. For example, some 90,000 Hui (Muslim) are said to live in Fujian province, and about 350,000 members of the She minority live in the province's north and north western areas. Leaving aside special problems relating to Tibet, local prejudices affect various minorities in China; but official policy is non-discriminatory, except for special treatment in some areas (e.g. looser family planning controls).

D. Treatment of Returning Illegal Emigrants

The Chinese government accepts the repatration of citizens who have entered other countries or territories illegally. In 1993, in addition to the routine return of Chinese illegal emigrants found in Hong Kong, Chinese accepted the return of several large groups returning from other countries, including Mexico, Honduras, and the Marshall Islands.

In the Eastwood (February 1993) and Mermaid (May 1993) cases, involving smuggled Chinese, most of whom were sent back, the Fujian Government told USG officials that most returnees were released within three weeks of arrival in China, after payment of a 10,000 RMB fine and pending procedural factors including 1) verification of returnee's identity, 2) confirmation of domicile and legal status, and 3) investigation of circumstances leading to illegal departure. There are no reports of local authorities harassing returnees after their release. Individuals who were still detained several months after return included five smugglers and six criminals wanted for other crimes.

In the case of three boats intercepted off Mexico in 1993, the official Chinese press reported that 95 percent of returnees were allowed to return home within approximately one week after "receiving education in the legal system and paying fines..." Detainees were allowed to receive family visitors.

These indications that returnees are not subjected to criminal imprisonment also appeared to hold in regard to 118 illegal migrant repatriated from the United States to Fujian. During a visit to Fujian province, including Changle county, members of a high-level USG law enforcement delegation similarly found no evidence of any pattern of harassment or criminal imprisonment (other than detention for initial screening and a fine). However, there have been cases of repeat immigrants serving administrative sentences of one year of impisonment in re-education through labor camps.

According to a report in a Hong Kong newspaper that often reflects the official Chinese line, "related county departments would work in coordination with police organizations of various townships and towns to screen those who already had a record of more than two attempts at illegal emigration, other criminal records, or those who had been at large, in order to handle their cases as quickly as possible and mete out penalties of education through labor, fines or sentences of imprisonment. It was learned that, according to related regulations, all illegal emigrants should be fined between 10,000 and 50,000 yuan [i.e. RMB]*, the bulk of which would be used to repay the government for repatriation costs, and those who were given a sentence would get a maximum of five years imprisonment..." It is unclear how those unable to pay the fine have been handled.

The length of sentences for those attempting to emigrate illegally is unclear. Under Article 176 of the Criminal Code, a person violating the exit laws may receive a sentence of up to one-year imprisonment, but there have been no reports of repeat illegal emigrants being sentenced to criminal imprisonment.

Meanwhile, China appears to be taking active measures to target people smugglers and stop illegal departures of economic migrants. Recently we received reports that several scores of people smugglers have been convicted in China. It has also been reported that ten Fujian officials have been expelled from the Communist Party for their people smuggling, nine were fired from their government jobs, and 13 others are being prosecuted for their involvement in assisting the illegal departure of persons from the PRC. In Changle County, Fujian Province, 11 organizers ("snakeheads") have been arrested. An authoritative Chinese spokesman recently said that the Chinese Ministry of Public Security has increased its patrol of the PRC coastline, intercepting more than thirty ships engaged in alien smuggling, and preventing 1,000 illegal migrant passengers from departing.

*Until the end of 1993, US$1 was worth about 5.74 renminbi (RMB) at the official rate and about 8 RMB on the black market. Today, one RMB, also known as "yuan," is worth about US$0.11 (11¢), and US$1 is about 8.7 RMB.

E. Significance of Exit Permits

For the average Chinese, obtaining a passport for private travel abroad is becoming easier. The Chinese Government routinely prmits most legal emigration and most foreign travel, but it has placed obstacles in the way of such travel by a few citizens on political or other grounds. These obstacles extend to some dissidents' family members who have not themselves been active politically or accused by the government of any wrongdoing. Other well-known dissidents have been able to obtain the passports and exit permits needed to leave the country. Chinese authorities provided assurances in 1991 that all Chinese, with very limited exceptions, would be allowed to leave the country. A number of well-known individuals, however, have not received such permission and have been the subject of exchanges between the USG and the PRC. USG officials remain concerned about denial of travel permission to a number of persons who are not imprisoned and have no criminal proceedings pending.

Possession of a passport and an exit permit from the Public Security Bureau, even when the applicant may have been turned down before, indicates that, at the time of issuance, the authorities did not intend to detain or punish him/her further for activities in connection with the pro-democracy movement or for other reasons. If an applicant first went abroad and stayed, and the spouse and/or children have subsequently been issued permits to exit China to join the principal in the United States, we believe it reasonable to conclude that this is evidence, in addition to the principal applicant's own ability to travel first, that the authorities would not give particular attention to the applicant if he/she were to return to China. In sum, if the applicant has obtained an exit permit and a passport, this, in itself, indicates that he/she would not encounter, on return to China, serious problems relating to political opinion.

Our Embassy in Beijing and our Consulate General in Guangzhou (responsible for Guangdong and Fujian provinces, the homes of most asylum applicants) observe that individuals travelling on ordinary (non-official) passports for personal (non-official) travel are often required to obtain a passport, an exit permit, a visa and a second exit permit -- in that order. Both exit permits are issued by the Public Security Bureau. Permission from the work unit (in the form of a letter) is a pre-requisite. The purpose of requiring a second permit seems not to be to "control exit" (the stated purpose of the first form) but rather to allow the PSB, the work unit, and other "competent authorities" to de-register an exiting emigrant from neighborhood, work unit, and other records. Such "de-registering" prior to obtaining a visa would be premature.

As is often the case with Chinese bureaucracy, these rules are more frequently observed in the breach. Our Embassy has observed visa applicants who have applied for visas in advance of receiving even the first exit permit. In other cases, the Embassy has seen passports in which both the first and second exit permits have been granted prior to application for a visa.

A recent change in regulations permits a Chinese to exit the country without need of an exit permit if the traveller has travelled abroad at least once before for the same purpose. (In addition, those Chinese who have had a passport replaced (i.e. those travelling on a second, third , or subsequent passport) do not require an exit permit.)

F. Family Housing

Reports that, as a result of applicants losing their jobs, their families were moved from their quarters are consistent with country conditions. For example, in a case where an employee, on leave from his/her work unit in China (whether private of public) has remained overseas longer than originally agreed, it would not be unexpected that the work unit would have revoked employment and also have ceased allowing relatives to use an apartment allotted because of an applicant's employment with the work unit. Work unit housing, leaving aside job loss, has been a potent weapon in the arsenal of unit supervisors and there remains a strong incentive for workers to remain with the organization that originally hired them. However, accommodation for employees does not now necessarily come with employment as it used to, since the work permit is now provided by the work unit and the residential permit is provided by the police.

G. Documentation

Documentation from China, particularly from the the Fuzhou area and elsewhere in southeast China, is marked by widespread fabrication and fraud. This includes those purportedly attesting identities, personal histories, births and birth control measures, notices from public security authorities, etc. This has been established by direct investigation by officers of our Consulates General in Guangzhou and Shanghai. Certificates also may be issued to relatives or friends if they have written authorization from the interested party. A Chinese official with responsibilities relating to notarial offices in Fujian province recently told our Consulate that no reliable documents existed to prove relationships and that notaries must do field investigations to confirm information in notarial documents. (If no contradictory information is discovered, notarial certificates are then issued.) In 1993 the Consulate General in Guangzhou received 109 responses from Fujian to requests to investigate suspected fake documents; 66 were confirmed incorrect or fake. Our consular officers consider documents at best to be secondary evidence.

H. Household Registration and Identity Cards

With liberalization of the economy, increased privatization, and increased ability for individuals to decide how they want to earn a living, the importance of the household registration (Hukou Shu or Hukou Bu -- a small booklet) has diminished, at least in the more advanced areas of south and east China. (Asylum applicants frequently present this to US immigration officers along with other supporting documentation.) Formerly a document of central importance to an individual and his family's well being, employment and housing, particularly in the more regimented early decades of the PRC regime, this document recorded not only the official assessment as to legitimate residence but also the allocation of various services and products, such as school, clothing, etc. The household registration is being replaced in importance, as these liberalizing social changes have occurred, by the individual identity card (jumin shenfengzheng). This is a document that often is shown when a passenger purchases air or train tickets or when seeking a passport. Another is the work identification card (gongzuozheng), issued by an individual's work unit. In today's more loosely regimented China, tickets might also be purchases without an ID card at all. An individual who is unmarried but living with a parent might not have a registration booklet but might be carried on the head of household's registration (e.g. a parent), and would obtain his/her own card upon marriage or upon leaving the parents' household. Some individuals, for example, one living in work unit housing, might have no household registration, but might be listed on a roster of factory workers. Copies of such lists displaying individual visa applicants' names are sometimes shown to American visa officers to establish bona fides. The Public Security Bureau also requires in some instances that individuals intending to reside temporarily in a location file temporary household registrations (linshi hukou).

The government uses the identification card system to control and restrict an individual's residence within the country. But this system's effectiveness has eroded during China's shift to the more market-oriented economy. The need for a supplemental work force in the areas of fastest economic growth (see Section II) has led to tolerance of a large itinerant population that is not in compliance with formal requirements to obtain permission to change residence. However, because this itinerant population lacks legal status, access to housing, schooling and the full range of employment opportunities is restricted. A second, mobile population of highly educated young skilled workers has taken advantage of China's economic pluralism to seek high-paying employment far from home without official sanction. This population is often able to circumvent legal obstacles to obtaining housing and other services either through personal connection or bribes. Such a person might or might not have an identity card relating to current location and employment, relying entirely on ability to pay cash or on an employer's intervention. Before going abroad, the individual might return to his original location to apply for his passport, using relevant local identity documents.

Our Embassy in Beijing comments that the ID card (jumin shenfengzheng) remains important to residents of major cities. Of particular importance is the "legal residence" or "address" of the bearer, as shown on the card. That address appears to confirm the "jurisdiction" of officials empowered to approve basic applications, e.g. marriage, passport, etc. Despite the ID's many lawful uses, a burgeoning market in ocunterfeit IDs suggests that the card may not be scrutinized with the utmost care in every "official" transaction. The China Daily reported on February 26 that during the past three years over 800,000 IDs have been reported "lost" in Guangdong province alone; 190,000 in just the first half of 1993. The Embassy suspects that most "lost" ID cards are sold on the black market. The going rate is reported to be 50 RMB per fake ID. As most IDs are issued with 10- or 20-year validities, even many legitimate IDs would carry out-of-date information, thereby making the information in illegitimately obtained IDs seem more plausible.

I. The Taiwan Factor

Not many years ago mainland Chinese and Chinese on Taiwan were forbidden by their respective authorities to have any contact with each other. This situation has changed significantly in recent years. The Chinese Communists and the Kuomintang (the KMT -- the ruling party of what the U.S. Government formerly recognized as the "Republic of China") were enemies in China's civil war. Many KMT supporters retreated to Taiwan as the Communists took over the mainland in 1949. Prior to 1895, many Chinese, especially from what are now Fujian and Guangdong provinces, had preceded them to Taiwan. Now both Beijing and provincial authorities encourage Taiwanese to return legally to the People's Republic of China, to visit relatives and to trade and invest. While applicants from the PRC may legitimately claim that they suffered in the past, especially in the 1950s and 1960s, because of alleged support for the KMT, such connections would not normally be a problem today. Mainland Chinese who have hijacked aircraft to fly to Taiwan have been sentenced to prison terms in Taiwan, with the Taiwan authorities' announced intention being to deport them back to China when their prison terms are finished. Taiwanese, Hong Kong and Japanese authorities routinely deport illegal entrants back to China

For many in coastal China, Taiwan news broadcasts, like those from Hong Kong, are daily fare, providing alternate sources of information that are no longer blocked by official jamming. BBC, VOA and (especially in the northeast) Russian broadcasts are accessible. However, foreign broadcasts, such as VOA, are subject to intermittent, but usually ineffective, attempts at jamming.

J. Place Names.

English language spelling of Chinese place names varies widely. Putonghua, also referred to as Mandarin, is the national language, which is taught in schools throughout China (and Taiwan). The language in China is written, of course, in Chinese ideographs, and it is romanized in what is known as pinyin. Confusion frequently arises, however, because these ideographs are often rendered, in asylum applications, into English differently according to the applicant's native place and native dialect. For example, even though putonghua is taught in the schools of Fujian province and it capital, Fuzhou, the dialect in the Fuzhou area is quite different. The three counties around Fuzhou from which applicants most frequently come are, in pinyin romanization, Changle, Lianjiang, and Tingjiang. Because of the dialect, however, these counties might be rendered on the I-589 and in affidavits or other statements as Zanlok/Chunler (Changle), Lyangiang (Lianjiang) and Dinggiang/Tinzhan (Tingjiang) or in other ways that make them appear to be different places. (Applicants from Fuzhou city often list only their local district, such as Langqi and Mawei, without naming Fuzhou at all; applicant's from the countryside might just list their home town, for example, Guantou (home of many suspect cases), rather than the county, Lianjaing.) Another romanization problem arises from the fact that the individual completing the applicant's I-589 or other forms might be from another area of China, leading to yet yet another rendering in English.

K. Alternative Reasons for Migration.

Along with the new phenomena associated with internal movement within China, Chinese external migration has increased. Foreign countries with existing Chinese communities, like the U.S., are especially attractive destinations, although we have credible information that up to a million Chinese have moved to Russia, causing Russian authorities to impose visa requirements on Chinese nationals carrying non-official passports. Emigration to the U.S., starting in the last century, particularly from Guangdong and Fujian provinces, has prepared the way for many of today's migrants to the US. Chinese with relatives or connections overseas believe they can improve their lives faster by going abroad. Even though living standards have improved in China, especially in coastal areas, further improvement is sought by arranging to be smuggled into the US--often without a realistic understanding of the US environment. Such migrants may be responding to previous American hospitality to immigrants; the current avaliability of travel; the ease of illegal entry and of evading immigration enforcement; the presence of an existing Chinese community that makes absorption easier; and the perception that once in this country, the odds of being forcibly returned are very low.

V. REQUESTS ON ACCOUNT OF POLITICAL OPINION

A. Activities in China

Many applicants state that they or their families suffered in the past because of anti-rightist campaigns, alleged association with the nationalist Chinese (KMT) in China before the end of the civil war or on Taiwan, membership in a "black five element" family, etc. They assert that they will suffer because of this if they were now to return to China. As indicated earlier, the political environment of China today is very signficantly different from that of the 1950s and 1960s when such considerations had weight. We are not aware of any credible evidence of any Chinese, in the last ten years, suffering official discrimination because of "bad class" background.

The Cultural Revolution

The Cultural Revolution period was one of sustained political and economic upheaval during which millions of people across the country were brutalized arbitrarily. Although the worst abuses had subsided by 1970, that phase of China's history officially ended with its repudiation at the Third Plenary Session of the Chinese Communist Party in December 1978. Since that time, much expropriated property has been returned to its owners. The Cultural Revolution affected a large portion of Chinese, but the events of that period are not indicative of the way people will be treated on return now to China.

Democracy Wall

Internal conflict within the Chinese Communist Party and long restrained political pressure throughout China led to the Democracy Wall movement of 1979. Repression of those directly involved in the movement continued for some time but the demonstrations proved to be the genesis of later waves of political activism. The original leaders of the movement, some of whom were only recently released from prison, were of the generation that had come to age during the Cultural Revolution and were largely from outside of the academic community.

1986 Student Movement

Demonstrations late in 1986 centered on dissatisfaction with conditions on Chinese university campuses but had heavy political overtones. The Government reacted with strong controls, especially on rallies and protest marches. Some protest leaders were reportedly expelled, obstructed in gaining entry to classes required to graduate, assigned undesirable jobs, or not assigned to a job at all after graduation. The authorities have maintained that no students were arrested as a result of these demonstrations although Yang Wei, involved in those demonstrations, was subsequently arrested (and was later released).

The 1989 Pro-democracy Movement

Most of those arrested for participation in the pro-democracy movement of 1989 have been released. Generally speaking, individuals who have obtained Chinese passports and exit permits to leave China after 1989 have been thoroughly vetted by the security authorities (see above), and we do not believe they would be on any "wanted" list if they were to return to China. Shortly after the Tiananmen massacre, on June 29, 1989, the Public Security Bureau instituted a "double exit permit" requirement, specifically designed to prevent "wanted" persons from leaving. We understand that this requirement for the second exit permit recently was rescinded.

High level Chinese security officials, responding to USG requests for a public accounting of cases involving those imprisoned as a result of Tiananmen-related activities, have stated that all cases from the period of the Tiananmen demonstrations have been concluded and China has released all those imprisoned in Beijing in connection with the Tiananmen demonstrations (but some may still be detained outside Beijing.)

We have been aware of many asylum applicants who base their cases on a claim that the authorities had not realized, by the time of their departure from China, the degree to which they had supported the pro-democracy activists. This undoubtedly could apply to some individuals who managed to leave China, but it becomes less credible the further we move beyond the 1989 crackdown in view of Chinese assurance that all Tiananmen cases have been resolved.

1989 Political Activities in Guangdong or Fujian

A substantial number of applicants who arrived in the past year based their claims on being sought by the security authorities because they participated in 1989 demonstrations in Guangdong or Fujian province. Demonstrations in those provinces, including their respective capitals Guangzhou and Fuzhou, were much smaller and less dramatic than those in Beijing, and the crackdown in those places in the wake of the climax at Tiananmen was relatively mild and resulted in only a few arrests.

We have substantial eye-witness reporting from both capitals that makes clear that both places were comparatively calm during the late spring and summer of 1989. For example, heavy military force was not used to put down demonstrators as in Beijing; the authorities, both those in local government and educational institutions, showed substantial flexibility in adopting non-confrontational policies. As two Australian scholars, who were in Fujian at the time, stated in the Australian Journal of Chinese Affairs: "The 1989 democracy movement in Fujian province followed a very different course from the tragedy in Beijing. The events in Fujian were derivative, confined to a small group of intellectuals and students, with very little participation by workers or other citizens... The massacre's impact was felt quite broadly throughout Fujian society, although with considerable detachment, as people adjusted their lives to China's newly uncertain political environment... Fujian's relative detachment in the 1989 democracy movement strongly resembles reports we hear from Guangdong, and for similar reasons."

In regard to asylum applications based on assertions that the security authorities were seeking them because they disseminated information in Fujian about what was happening in Beijing, we would note that Chinese media was allowed to report many dramatic events, e.g. the riots in Xi'an and Chengdu, and complete transcripts of Premier Li Peng's televised meeting with student demonstrators and of Tom Brokaw's interview with a senior leader. Furthermore, foreign broadcasts, including BBC, VOA, Taiwan radio, etc., were available to the many Fujianese with shortwave sets. Hong Kong and other radio and some tv broadcasts could be heard in Guangzhou.

Guangdong Province

The 1989 pro-democracy demonstrations in Guangdong province, even its capital city of Guangzhou, were far less extensive than in many other parts of China. There were protests in Guangzhou, but they, like those in Fuzhou, were tepid compared, say, to Beijing and Shanghai, and the People's Liberation Army was not engaged. Our Consulate General reported shortly after the June 4 Tiananmen crackdown that the "demonstrations in Guangzhou were less extensive during May and June than in perhaps any other major city in China... They refused to protest because they could find few reasons to complain amidst their current prosperity... Despite the provocation of students who tried to close downtown bridges, police presence continued to be light..."

The Consulate General in Guangzhou also reported at the time: "Local officials also proved very effective in avoiding any harsh actions or gestures that might have inflamed demonstrators. Instead, they maintained a basically cooperative attitude which built on good relations they had established with the populace."

Post-1989 Activities

Since 1989, each June 4 anniversary of the Tiananmen massacre appears to have resulted in the brief detention of some political activists (sometimes in connection with smashing bottles: Deng Xiaoping's name is a homophone for "small bottle."). Post Tiananmen anniversary problems, according to our understanding, have largely been confined to Beijing, Shanghai and perhaps other cities.

B. Activities in the United States.

Many students and scholars who came to the United States before the Tiananmen massacre have remained in the US and have claimed that their participation in activities in this country (e.g. demonstrating at the UN or at Chinese Consulates before or after the crackdown at Tiananmen, criticizing the Beijing regime on local TV stations in the wake of the crackdown, or writing articles for Chinese-language newspapers here) would result in the public security authorities giving them particular, sustained attention and punishment on their return to China. Many of these claims currently involve membership in the China Democratic Party (CDP) and publishing articles in the newspaper, Democratic China. Several dozen of these cases involve claims and almost identical backup documentation which appears contrived. (For example, earlier submissions normally included only a blown-up segment showing an applicant's alleged contribution to the paper; recently however, full pages have been included in several case files received here.)

We do not have information on any punishment the Chinese have meted out -- or any information, aside from claims by asylum applicants -- to indicate that the authorities have reacted at all harshly -- to involvement with the Democratic China newspaper or the CDP. Some of these markedly-similar asylum cases in which the CDP is cited could be known to the responsible Chinese representatives who also may be aware of the connection with asylum cases. Because we do not know of any of this group of individuals who have recently returned to China, we do not have information to demonstrate retribution. If the Chinese have reacted against CDP members, the applicant should be able to procure specifics from the CDP. But we emphasize that we are not aware of any case in which the applicant has done so. In addition, that the assessment of other countries conforms with ours: i.e. that the Chinese authorities are more concerned with what an individual has done or will do in China than about his activities abroad.

However, quite apart from the cases involving the China Democratic Party, we do not know of any returning students who have been detained by the Chinese authorities simply because of pro-democracy activities here. The Chinese Alliance for Democracy and its Chinese language-organ, China Spring, each have a much longer and well-established history long pre-dating Tiananmen. Founded in New York, but with many branches, CAD has advocated political reform in China, and it has been strongly attacked by Chinese authorities.

However, it is significant to note that:

-an Asia Watch official told a meeting of the Asylum Officer Corps at Artesia, New Mexico, in March 1991, that "We don't have a single case of a student who took an active role in pro-democracy demonstrations outside of China being punished on their return to China."

-an Asia Watch official confirmed in February 1994 that this continued to be the case, as far as the organization is aware.

-in an August 1992 message, our Consulate General in Shanghai reported that it had interviewed 120 returning F-1 and J-1 visa applicants, about China's treatment of returnees. Many F-1 and J-1 visa applicants, who were beneficiaries of the April 11, 1990, Executive Order, came back to China for brief family visits before returning to continue studies in the US. Although the Consulate General does not know how many of them participated in political activity in the U.S., there was no evidence that any students who wished to return to the U.S. were prevented from doing so. This is not a comprehensive survey, but indicates, we believe, the distinction that China has made between activities in the U.S. and in China.

-a spokesperson for a major Chinese student organization in this country told us in early March 1994 that the organization is not aware of any Chinese arrested upon return to China in connection with activities in this country since Tianamen.

In this regard, the 1993 Country Reports on Human Rights Practices states: "Persons subject to the regulations on study abroad appear to have had little trouble obtaining passports to visit relatives overseas. Political attitudes, however, are still a major criterion in selecting people for Government-sponsored study abroad... The Government has made a concerted effort to attract back to China persons who have studied overseas. To reassure them, Chinese citizens who return from overseas were exempted in 1992 from re-exit formalities, which had involved Public Security Bureau clearances. However, official media have stated that before returning home, people who have joined foreign organizations viewed by the Government as hostile to China should quit them and refrain from activities that violate Chinese law. Procurator General Liu Fuzhi warned in March, however, that people wanted by the public security authorities [for activities in China] were not covered by the official assurances extended to other overseas scholars.

Some dissidents, such as Dai Qing and Liu Xiaobo, reentered China without incident in 1993. In August, labor activist Han Dongfang, who had been allowed to leave for medical treatment in the United States in 1992, was expelled shortly after he returned. Han's passport was subsequently revoked by Chinese authorities on the grounds that he had engaged in activities hostile to China while overseas (in addition to his actions in China before that).

Some applications for asylum include various materials that refer to, and include relevant 1987 and 1988 newspaper articles on, the case of Yang Wei, a Chinese student who was in the United States and was subsequently arrested by the Chinese. However, because Yang Wei also was charged with engaging in anti-regime activities in China his case is not analogous to the US-only political activity cases.

In addition to the case of Yang Wei, some asylum applicants have provided Immigration Judges or INS adjudicators with a list including other individuals: NI Yuxian; SHEN Tong; GONG Xiaoxi; LIU Xiaobo; LIE Qinqin (wife of WANG Bingzhang). The following are summaries of our understanding of their cases:

NI Yuxian. He twice tried to return to China. The first time, he and a friend decided to sneak across the Vietnamese border. He claimed he actually crossed and then returned of his own volition, having second thoughts. The second attempt, Ni boughta plane ticket to Shanghai under a slightly disguised name. When he arrived and showed his passport (which contained his real name), he was arrested, detained first in a nearby hotel and then in the airport, for lengthy questioning. Since he claimed he was just there to visit his mother, she was brought to the airport for 30 minutes. They took a photo of him and mother together and put him back on the next plane. He was told that if he resigned from his post as a leader of the Liberal Democratic Party, and returned to China for some legitimate business, he could come back. Later, Ni's non-activist 21-year-old son visited family in Shanghai without incident, but was followed by security personnel full time, as if to warn him to behave as the authorities wished.

SHEN Tong. He travelled extensively and was apparently unrestricted for several weeks in China, during which time he contacted numerous dissidents and former protesters. He was detained on the eve of holding a press conference at which he planned to announce formation of a human rights monitoring group. He was allowed to return to the U.S. after about eight weeks.

GONG Xiaoxia. She was briefly denied entry to China, apparently on the eve of June 4, 1992. She was later allowed to travel to Guangdong and she left China without problem.

LIU Xiaobo. He was released from post-Tiananmen detention, was allowed to leave China in 1992 for Australia. He later returned to Beijing where he now lives. His activities apparently have not been restricted.

VI. REQUESTS ON ACCOUNT OF RELIGION

The governments' attitude toward religion has relaxed somewhat since it instituted its policy of reform and opening to the outside in 1979. Originally, the Government viewed religion as the opiate of the masses. Later, the line changed to "religion is a cultural phenomenon." More recently, the Communist Party has said that "religion can serve socialism." However, many Party and Government officials still view religion as feudal superstition.

All religious observances were forcefully suppressed during the 1966-76 cultural revolution. Most churches, temples and mosques were closed and many destroyed or occupied by Government offices or factories. Since the reforms which began in 1979, the Government has restored or replaced confiscated churches, temples, mosques and monasteries. The official religious organizations administer 13 Protestant and 12 Catholic seminaries, nine advanced Muslim institutes, and numerous Buddhist and Daoist monasteries. Students who attend these institutes are supposed to demonstrate "political reliability" along with theological knowledge in order to qualify for the clergy. In recent years, students from Catholic and Protestant seminaries and Islamic institutes have been permitted to pursue further study abroad.

The Government supervises publication of religious materials for distribution to ensure religious and political conformity. In theory, religious books are not permitted in ordinary bookstores. However, in China's increasingly open cultural environment, this rule is often ignored. Nonetheless, complaints persist that the number of Bibles and the amount of other religious material allowed to be printed fall far short of demand. Religious proselytizing is proscribed and sometimes punished, although some discreet proselytizing and distributing of religious texts outside official channels is tolerated. Some local authorities have confiscated private property under the guise of searching for illegal religious materials. Officially-sanctioned religious organizations are permitted to maintain international contacts as long as these do not entail foreign control. Foreign clergy are permitted to preach with prior permission, but proselytizing by foreign groups is forbidden.

On February 6, the Chinese Government released the texts of regulations codifying existing policy governing the sites of religious activities and the role of foreigners in China's religious life. The first "test" of those rules occurred when seven foreigners including three American citizens were detained from February 11-15, 1994 in Henan province for organizing an 80-person prayer meeting, and for illegally importing 40 kilos of religious printed materials. The foreigners' personal property, including USD 5000 in cash was confiscated and one of the American citizens was expelled. Subsequently, there have been other non-publicized and quiet religious observances involving participation by foreigners in Chinese underground religious activity.

An apparently growing number of cases from China, especially from the Fuzhou area in Fujian province, claim persecution on account of religion. Most asylum applications on account of religion are by claimed members of the unsanctioned Christian churches in China, both Catholic and Protestant. In the 1950s, the Government established the Catholic Patriotic Association and the (Protestant) Three-Self Patriotic Movement to curb perceived foreign domination of Christian groups. These churches are the only ones authorized to operate openly. Government-registered religious organizations include 5 million "official" Protestants and 3.7 million "official" Catholics.

There are now two national organizations dealing with official Protestant church matters. The Three-Self Patriotic Movement committee, established in 1954, is a "mass" organization to promote patriotism and the three principles of self administration, self support, and self propagation. In 1954, China established the China Christian Council (CCC). Its role is to "serve" China's Protestant churches in line with the new post 1979 policies of opening to the outside and allowing more freedom of religious activity. The CCC administers seminaries, publishes Bibles, facilitates international exchanges and oversees ordination of ministers. It was admitted into the World Council of Churches in 1991.

The official Catholic Church also has two national organizations. The Catholic Patriotic Association, also established in the 1950s, is a mass organization analogous to the Three-Self Patriotic Movement. The National Bishops Conference, established after China began its reforms, is analogous to the China Christian Council.

Unregistered Christians in China include Vatican-oriented Catholic and "house church" Protestants (some of the latter are registered but most are not). We have received one estimate, from what appears to be a knowledge source, that there are now over 8,000 registered churches and 20,000 unregistered or "registered" house churches. We do not have comprehensive statistics, but the number of unsanctioned church members may equal members of "sanctioned" churches. These are for the most part permitted to attend small services. The government generally tolerates the existence and activities of the unsanctioned churches, which in many areas cooperate with the sanctioned churches, but the authorities are sensitive to proselytizing.

Sporadic repression in some areas has reflected official concern over the Government's inability to control the rapid growth of membership in Christian groups. Some priests, particularly those who maintain connections with Rome, have been arrested over the years, as have some Protestant leaders. Many of those detained at some point, however, have been released.

The Government has intermittently harassed unregistered churches, more vigorously in some regions than in others. According to the State Department's Country Reports for Human Rights Practices in 1993, "there continues to be credible reports... of efforts by authorities in some areas to rein activities of the unapproved catholic and protestant movements, including raising and closing a number of unregistered churches." In March 1993, public security officials disrupted a Protestant religious gathering in Shaanxi, beating many of those present, resulting in the death of one person. However, authorities in many areas tolerate the existence of unofficial Catholic and Protestant churches as long as they remain small and discreet. In some parts of China, official and underground churches seem to coexist and even cooperate. It is not unusual for a house church to be forced at some point to discontinue meeting, only to have the authorities turn their backs when the church resumes meeting as before. Sanctioned Catholic churches, depending on location, do conduct mass both in Chinese and in Latin. Characteristic of the current murky relationship is the fact that some Vatican-approved religious materials have been employed by Fuzhou Catholics. In Sichuan province's capital city, Chengdu, a Christmas eve 1993 mass was celebrated for the first time in Chinese, in addition to Latin.

A number of religious activists remained imprisoned in 1993, but others were released. There was some evidence that authorities have increasingly used short-term detentions, rather than long prison terms, for unauthorized religious activities. Some of those released from penal detention were apparently placed under house arrest or other restrictions. The number of Catholic clerics in penal detention dropped sharply in 1992 and 1993, although the whereabouts of some reported to have been released could not be confirmed, and others remained under some restrictions. A bishop from Gansu province and a priest from Hebei were released from long-term imprisonment during the year.

Chinese members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (many of whom joined while students in the US or other western countries) are not permitted to gather together for church meetings or to participate in religious ordinances or rituals. In addition, they are not permitted to participate in church meetings where foreigners are present. Proselytizing for this religion, as others would not be permitted. However, since the LDS church does not allow its members to proselytize in areas where that activity is proscribed by law, it is not an issue for Mormons in China.

Buddhism is practiced in many forms in China by an estimated 100 million persons. We have reviewed over the past several months an increasing number of cases of Chinese living in Fujian and other Chinese provinces who claim that the authorities and neighbors harassed them or gave them serious problems because of their Buddhism. We have no reports form our posts in China of any significant problems for Buddhists (excluding Tibet), whether Government-inspired or otherwise.

Buddhists are by far the largest body of religious believers in China. Most Buddhists are from the dominant Han ethnic group. Han Buddhist leaders generally cooperate with the Government and there have been few complaints of Government restrictions. (Tibet, where Buddhism and Tibetan nationalism are closely intertwined, is again an exception.)

Daoism, widely practiced in South China, is officially respected and an important part of traditional Chinese culture. Practices conflicting with government structures against superstition and waste of arable land have been sharply criticized in the press, but we are not aware of official harassment. Traditional folk religion appears to be flourishing in some areas (parts of rural Sichuan, for example) despite official opposition to "feudal superstition."

China's Muslims number about 17 million, many of whom live in compact ethnic communities but have not regularly practiced Islam. Muslims are, nevertheless, taking advantage of China's more tolerant attitude toward religion to expand the number of mosques, islamic schools and institutes. Religious instruction is readily available to Muslim youngsters, despite official prohibition. The Chinese authorities officially claim that China has over 25,000 mosques served by over 30,000 Imam. A Muslim association, we understand, intercedes with authorities on such matters as publications found to be offensive to Moslems. Islamic religious activities do not appear to be hindered or harassed to the same extent that Catholic and Protestant activities have been.

VII. REQUESTS ON ACCOUNT OF COERCIVE FAMILY PLANNING

China's population policy has undergone major changes since the PRC was founded in 1949. Initially, Chinese leaders felt that overpopulation could not be a problem in a communist state, but, even in the first decade, they began to seek a slowing of growth. By the mid-1970s, China had intensified efforts to limit unwanted population. As summarized by population authority Judith Banister, "Throughout the 1969-78 period, the PRC tried to popularize the two-child family with slogans such as 'one is not too few, two is good, three is too many.'"

In 1979 the PRC promulgated a comprehensive and highly intrusive "one-child" family planning policy. The policy actually has had many elaborations, its implementation has varied from place to place, and it has changed over time. It has been the subject of criticism for many years, by scholars, journalists and others, as being harshly coercive, including use of physical force, for example, to compel abortions. How cadre at the grass roots implemented the policy in the early 1980s has been the subject of particular attention, but criticisms of current methods continue.

The policy relies on education, propaganda and economic incentives as well as more coercive measures, including psychological pressure and economic penalties. Rewards for couples who adhere to policy include monthly stipends and preferential medical, food and educational benefits. Disciplinary measures against those who violate the policy can include stiff fines, withholding of social services, demotion and other administrative punishments, including, in some instances, loss of employment. Unpaid fines can result in confiscation or destruction of personal property, such as tearing down of houses. Because penalties can be levied against local officials, and a spouse's work unit, many individuals are affected, providing multiple sources of pressure.

The central Government claims it does not authorize physical compulsion to submit to abortion or sterilization, but there are reports that this continues to occur as local population authorities strive to meet population targets. Chinese officials acknowledge privately that there are still instances of forced abortions and sterilizations in remote, rural areas of the country where cadres can be uneducated and ill-trained, although the number of such cases is believed to be well below levels of the early and mid-1980s. Chinese officials inform us that an "Administrative Procedures Law" provides a legal basis for individual citizens to seek legal redress against local family planning officials who exceed the law in implementing birth control policy.

As part of the 1993 Executive Order extending for one year most favored nation trade status for China, the USG position that China should take effective steps to ensure that forced abortion and mandatory sterilization are not part of China's family planning policies has been raised at high levels with the Chinese government and remains a topic for discussion.

Beijing officials recently affirmed to USG officials that the Chinese government is opposed to forced population control measures, describing the goal as an educated public which voluntarily limits births. They say that state guidance and voluntary compliance are combined with rules on the use of contraception country-wide which include "compensation" as a last resort from those who ignore the rules. They argued that is impossible to force a woman to have an abortion against her will or to force a person to be sterilized. They were not specific about how the new "Administrative Procedures Law," which they cited as protection, could be invoked or whether other protections are available. They say that the state-trained family planning workers can be dismissed or transferred for exceeding their authority, which does not include the use of force.

This policy most heavily affects Han Chinese living in urban areas. Employees of government-owned entities, universities, hospitals and local administrations are subject to especially strict controls. For Chinese living in rural areas, two children are often the norm, and there are a significant number of families with three or more children. For minority ethnic groups and the nearly 100 million "floating" population, population policy is more relaxed and/or sporadically applied.

According to a paper presented by Judith Banister at an early 1991 confererence, six provinces had then "received permission to announce a rural two-child policy, in which rural Han Chinese couples are typically allowed to have two children." These provinces included Guangdong and Hainan. In the same paper, whosedata on provincial levels drew from a 1989 Chinese source, she reported that 16 provinces had been permitted to allow a second birth to rural Han Chinese couples whose firstborn is a girl, but to apply a one-child limit to those with a firstborn son. This "one-and-a-half child policy," as she called it, applied to, among other provinces, Zhejiang and Fujian. (As will be noted below, it appears that at least some areas of both these provinces actually apply a more liberal policy.)

Birth statistics issued by the Chinese are significantly higher than comprehensive enforcement of official policy would produce. According to a 1992 Population Crisis Committee report (now Population Action International), in 1986 only 18 percent of Chinese women of childbearing age had just one child. In 1989, almost half of all children born were second or subsequent children. The majority of rural Chinese couples continued throughout the 1980s to have a second birth -- with or without official approval -- and were unlikely, according to the Population Crisis Committee, to cease childbearing voluntarily unless they had at least one healthy son.

The Population Crisis Committee reported: "Current policies have reduced average family size to well below replacement levels in major cities like Shanghai and Beijing, in parts of highly urbanized provinces like Jilin and Heilongjiang, and in densely populated provinces like Szechuan where the family planning program is very aggressively implemented. But in rural areas of most of China's provinces and regions, the majority of women still have two or more children."

Abortion and sterilization are important methods, along with inter-uterine devices (IUDs), employed in implementation of China's population policy. According to data from the PRC Ministry of Public Health, there were in 1990 about 15.9 million IUD insertions, 10.6 million abortions, 6.9 million tubal ligations, and 3 million vasectomies (the comparable figures for the peak year of 1983: 17.7 million IUD insertions, 14.3 million abortions, 16.4 million tubal ligations and 4.4 million vasectomies.

There follow comments based on available information from the most common areas of origin of applicants. Although the information is divided by area, comments about one area may also be applicable to others.

A. Fujian Province

Fujian authorities, following a conference in 1990, reported that province's population density was twice as high as the nation's average and its per-capita cultivated land less than half of the country's figure, adding that, if Fujian's birth rate were to remain at the current level, its population would by far surpass the state's planned target by the end of this century. The conference (as reported by the Foreign Broadcast Information Service, from Fujian Ribao) called for a strengthening of family planning work at all levels. The conference concluded: "We should make extensive efforts to advocate marrying and having children at an older age and insist that a couple should have only one child. Those (including rural families having only one girl) who are allowed to have a second child, should also be kept under close supervision." The conference paper spoke of "punishing those who have a second child without prior approval...tighten control over family planning work among the floating population... strive to prevent people from having children secretly..."

The province of Fujian is in the consular district of our Consulate General in Guangzhou, the capital of Guangdong province, just to Fujian's south. Fujian, a traditional seafaring province, is also a primary source, along with Guangdong, of emigation to the United States. Virtually all recent emigration from Fujian to the US has been from the the area of the capital city of Fuzhou (which also has agricultural districts), and the nearby counties of Changle, Tingjiang and Lianjiang (see page 11 for discussion of these place names).

In part because of the dramatic rise in arrivals here from Fujian, officers from Guangzhou in 1992 visited four municipalities and two districts of Fujian, including localities in Fuzhou city and environs, to examine the family planning situation there and control measures. Despite the implications of the Fujian conference paper referred to above, the Consulate General found relatively lax local implementation of family planning strictures. The information derived from that visit was consistent with that reflected in the Consulate General's interviews with thousands of individuals from those areas of Fujian who have come to Guangzhou to obtain visas, many of them as dependants of asylum grantees.

In their on-the-spot 1992 investigation in Fujian, as in their interviews of Fujianese applying in Guangzhou for visas, Guangzhou officers found that strong persuasion through public and other pressure was used, but they did not turn up any cases of physical force actually being employed in connection with abortion or sterilization. A Consulate General message in March 1992, assessing comments by officials in one of the counties near Fuzhou, reported: "Their answer supports our observation [that] there is no evidence of persecution in Fujian of those with more than one child..." This characterization of the situation can not, of course, rule out physical coercion, but it certainly is inconsistent with the assertions by the large number of asylum applicants whose applications are based solely on that claim.

Disciplinary measures against those who violate birth control policies in China do include stiff fines, but in Fujian province our visiting officers found that fines are affordable (e.g. 1000 RMB in rural areas; 3000 RMB in cities). Payment of fines is flexible and enforcement can be lax. Cases of payment in yearly tranches of 500 RMB have been reported from Fujian. Pressures to limit children, as elswhere in China, also include withholding of social services, demotion at work, and other administrative sanctions, including in some instances, loss of employment.

The 1991 Almanac of Fujian's Economy, according to our Guangzhou Consulate General, reports that in 1990, 59.1 percent of births were to couples abiding by the one child policy, 11.7 percent higher than the previous year. Women giving birth to second children accounted for 28.7 percent of the births, while those who had a third or more child accounted for 12.2 percent of births.

There are some repetitive elements of stories that have recurred in Fujian cases over a long time. Some of these statements, we believe, could bear importantly on applicants' credibility. For example, it is frequent asserted that zealous birth control officials tried to impose very heavy fines, fines which the applicant says were so high that he and his family were unable to pay. Nevertheless, an applicant frequently goes on to say there was no choice, therefore, but to escape to the United States. Leaving aside the fact that it is possible to move elsewhere within China (although the regime is trying to deal with the problem of pregnant women moving away from home to escape controls), we know from many sources that the going rate for arranging travel to the U.S. in this type of case is likely to be more than $10,000, often as much as US$30,000 -- far beyond what any of these applicants claim they were fined. However, another way of explaining this discrepancy is that population control fines are regarded as punishment and are paid by those concerned; the costs of travel to the United States, however, are viewed as as an investment and are often paid by relatives or friends in the U.S. or at home in return for repayment, often with profit, after the migrant has earned money in the U.S.

Other elements common to many claims include: that a wife was ill and could not undergo sterilization, so the husband was chosen to undergo the procedure and therefore had to flee to the U.S.; that the husband feared that sterilization would permanently sap his strength and thus his ability to make a living; that a couple seriously offended birth control cadre by adopting a foundling, who the officials charged was the couple's natural child; that a couple left inadequate spacing between children; that an applicant had to flee the country because he got into a physical fight with aggressive birth control officials (this is a frequently-appearing claim by young unmarried applicants who say they were protecting their relatives); that houses were damaged by angry birth control officials; that children over the limit were born after sterilization procedures were faked or interuterine devices (IUDs) surreptitiously removed to permit new pregnancies; that IUDs failed; or that a wife had to leave her home area to avoid her pregnancy being discovered by officials.

We know from various sources that each of these types of events has occurred in China. Reporting by our Consulate General strengthens doubt, however, that in these areas of Fujian, apparently so liberal in implementing the policy, the events described in the foregoing paragraph have occurred with anywhere near the frequency asserted by asylum applicants. Many of the applicants do not have the marital status, number or pattern of children which would place them in jeopardy of forced sterilization or abortion. Giving another perspective, the wife of an asylum grantee from Changle county (the most prolific source, along with Tingjiang and Lianjiang counties, of applications based on birth control issues) told interviewing officers in our Consulate General in Guangzhou in December, 1992 as she applied for a visa for herself and three children, that there were no child limits in her area. This may not have been the view of authorities at the provincial level, or even the county or lower level, but it evidently was this person's genuine perception, since, in that context, she would have had no reason to misrepresent this.

Adjudicators may wish to examine closely those whose families fit the parameters where coercion could apply for indications of whether the applicants can show that they individually were coerced or fear coercion. Sterilization (which we believe asylum applicants often falsely characterize as punishment for having had too many children rather than, more correctly, as a measure to prevent more children) appears to be urged only for families who have already exceeded one child, even if the extra child was approved. Parents are probably aware before having a child whether or not sterilization would be called for afterward. Generally, only those who have at least more than one child undergo heavy persuasion to be sterilized, but such parents of course are not always pressed. Most asylum applicants in the US are males who assert that they personally face coercive sterilization.

Regarding abortions, the Population Crisis Committee report states that "although most couples who have an unauthorized pregnancy are reportedly urged to have an abortion, recent evidence suggests that, in rural areas, abortion is by no means compulsory when such a pregnancy occurs. According to one recent village-level study, most abortions occurred after contraceptive failure, and fully half the women who conceived as a result of such failures continued their pregnancies to term."

Regarding certain specific issues arising in cases of applicants from Fujian province, the Consulate General has reported as follows:

-Early marriage. Minimum marriageable age in China is 22 for males and 20 for females. (In some cities, our Guangzhou officers found in 1992, the ages are set at 25 and 23 respectively.) Persons marrying before the stipulated age would not be allowed to register the marriage or obtain a notarized certificate of marriage.

-Forced abortion of children of early marriage couples. The Consulate General is not aware of any such cases. It reports that if a couple lived together and conceived a child before legal marriage, the child would be treated as if it were born out of wedlock. Parents may register such children, but if the family lives in an urban area it will find it more difficult to qualify for larger housing and better educational opportunities for their out-of-wedlock children.

-Forced abortion or mistreatment of a parent in instances of illegitimate pregnancies/births. The Consulate General is not aware of mistreatment [including forced abortion] in such cases, except for the loss of entitlement to social benefits, especially in the case or "excessive children." (However, there was a case of mistreatment of an unwed woman who became pregnant which was publicized in the Xiamen Daily in early 1992. While the press did not say that the woman was subsequently forced to have an abortion, the article indicated she was harassed so persistently that the male partner assaulted birth control cadres and was, himself, arrested and imprisoned.)

-Punishment for not leaving enough time between children. According to our Consulate General, the one-child policy is less concerned with spacing, relating more to the number of children, although spacing is a significant factor. In some south China urban areas if the parents' first child is female, they may apply after a set number of years to conceive a second child in hopes it will be a male. In rural areas the one child policy is less strictly enforced, and in recent years two children have been permitted without the necessity of paying a fine for the second child. Based on the Consulate General's observations of visa line applicants, the spacing rule is not taken seriously in Fujian rural areas. It is not uncommon for immigrant visa families (especially from the countryside) to consist of three or more children, with only one or two years between children.

B. Guangdong Province

Our Consulate General in Guangzhou has reported similar patterns in Taishan (Toisan, Toishan), Enping and Kaiping, rural counties in Guangdong province from which many asylum claims originate. Because of the number of these cases, in March 1993 the Consulate assessed implementation in those counties:

"Post sees many immigrant visa applicants from Kaiping and adjacent Taishan county every day. Families with two, three or more children are quite common. Kaiping is a rural district, and families are allowed two children without penalty. Parents usually pay fines ranging between 1,000 and 2,000 Renminbi if they have additional children. No further fines or punishment are levied after payment of the fine. We have interviewed hundreds of visa applicants concerning this issue and their responses have been very consistent."

While we do not have as specific a comment on a third county sometimes encountered in asylum cases, Enping, we know this is a rural county, near to but not as advanced as Taishan. We have no reason to believe that birth control implementation would be any more strict there than the other two counties.

This is not to rule out that local family planning committees could bring pressure to bear, in a given case where the local child limits are deemed to have been reached, for a wife to undergo an abortion, or for the couple to agree to have one of them undergo sterilization. (We are skeptical, on logical grounds, of asylum applicants' reports of pressure to sterilize both husband and wife, reports of which seem, in any event, to be quite rare.) Refusal to comply with a family planning committee's decision regarding abortion or sterilization, according to the Consulate General, generally results in an economic penalty, but not in an operation on an unwilling patient. While this does not mean that local birth control officials would never physically coerce women to undergo abortion, this practice appears to occur much less rarely now than a decade ago.

C. Zhejiang Province

A substantial number of asylum requests by individuals from the the Wenzhou area of China's Zhejiang province claim they are fleeing coercive birth control practices. A high number of these applicants, compared to those from Guangdong and Fujian provinces, have been young women. The area covered includes Wenzhou city, the three municipal districts of Lecheng, Longwan and Ouhai, the county-level city of Ruian, and the seven counties of Yongjia, Leqing (sometimes translated as Yueqing), Dongtou, Pingyang, Cangnan, Wencheng, and Taishun. Wenzhou city, Yongjia and Leqing are the three principal sources today of applications from Zhejiang. The following is prepared principally on the basis of reporting from our Consulate General in Shanghai, from which an officer visited the Wenzhou area in March 1993 to update our information, but also draws from other Consulate reports

A 1989 message from our Consulate General in Shanghai referred to Zhejiang's apparent success in reducing its population growth rates, and a 1991 UN report showed Zhejiang province as having one of the lowest rates of births-per-woman in the country. Nevertheless, the Wenzhou area of that province has long been known as one with special characteristics given its isolation from the rest of the province and strong overseas connections (similar to those found in Fuzhou not far to the south). Consulate General officers saw and heard of many couples in the Wenzhou area with two or more children. That same report stated that Zhejiang provincial officials called Wenzhou a "population disaster area."

More recently, Shanghai family planning officials cited Wenzhou as an example of what is happening in much of rural southern China, where big families and clan ties are still extremely important (unlike urban centers such as Shanghai) and where increasingly prosperous "rural" southerners were continuing their traditions and paying for the extra children. As rural China develops, according to the Shanghai sources, family planning will have to be based more on education and voluntary birth control.

Zhejiang province passed the first provincial family planning law in 1985; it was superceded by the current law in 1989. It stipulates a one-child policy with exceptions for circumstances under which a second child is authorized. The major difference between the two laws is that the 1989 law provides for more legal measures to enforce the law's provisions and to protect family planning workers from trouble from uncooperative families objecting to workers' intrusion. Beginning in 1982 and continuing until the 1985 law was passed, family planning was conducted under the authority of guidelines issued by local administrative units. A major drawback to this system was the lack of enforcement mechanisms, and some considered the guidelines of one of the counties visited by the Consulate General as being little more than expression of how the policy should be implemented in the ideal.

In addition to general exceptions to the one-child policy, the Provincial Family Planning Law provides for "variations" or exceptions to the general provisions to meet local conditions. In Wenzhou the divorce rate is unusually high and the principal local variation appears to permit couples where both partners are divorcees without custody of children from previous marriages to have a child after remarriage.

The national marriage law stipulates that men can marry at 22 and women at 20. The Zhejiang law stipulates that, in most cases, a married couple will be authorized to have their first child only after the wife turns 23. In Wenzhou city, married couples wherein the wife is not yet 23 are required to pay a deposit to guarantee that they will not have a child until she turns 23. Adherence to these stipulations in the countryside, however, is far less strict. Under the law, underage couples are technically "cohabiting" and, if they have a child, are liable to a fine of between 20 and 50 percent of their annual income until they legally register their marriage. In one county where the Consulate General looked specifically into this issue, while women under 23 were not authorized to have a child, if the woman is at least 20 at the time of conception, officials looked the other way.

Family planning officials in the Wenzhou area with whom our officers discussed the issue in this year's visit were not familiar with all the provisions of the marriage law in regard to cohabitation by under-marriage-age couples, but they ventured the opinion, based on anecdotal information, that in such situations, couples were commonly issued administrative warnings and/or light fines. They said they could not imagine a case where an underage couple would be jailed for violating the marriage law because cohabitation of this sort (as distinguished from a married person cohabiting with someone other than his wife) is not liable to criminal punishment. There are no provisions in the Family Planning Law to detain or jail cohabiting couples for having an unauthorized child. Couples who are not underage but are cohabiting and have an unauthorized child are liable to a one-time fine of 20 to 40 percent of annual income.

Zhejiang's family planning policy, like the national standard, stipulates one child per family except in certain circumstances. These circumstances include: couples in mountainous and island areas whose first child is female, couples formed of two children with no siblings, couples whose first child has a non-hereditary defect or dies, children of martyrs and of miners, couples where the man agrees to reside in the home of his wife if the wife is an only child, a couple formed when one spouse is widowed or divorced and remarrries a childless person. In practice, however, as of 1992 over a third of all couples in the Wenzhou area, according to our Consulate General's report, had a second child. The birth rate in the greater Wenzhou municipal area in 1992 was 12.58 per thousand. Families in the city of Wenzhou itself averaged 1.7 children per couple in 1992. By comparison, in 1982, second-child births were roughly one-third of total births, and third-child or more births were roughly another one third. In a more rural county in the Wenzhou area sampled by the Consulate General, the average couple in 1982 had 3.2 children and in 1992 had 2.4 children in 1992.

Contraceptive Measures Including Sterilization

In 1992, according to the Consulate General's findings, more than 90 percent of couples in the Wenzhou area were practicing some form of birth control. Among couples with one child, 45 percent used interuterine devices (IUDs) or oral contraceptives, and 20 percent had undergone sterilization (We have no breakdown between male vasectomies and female tubal ligations). Many who had been sterilized were government, state enterprise and Party officials (or spouses), following the lead of Wenzhou's mayor. Another 30 percent of the couples with one child (largely from rural areas) were not using any form of contraceptive.

Of those couples with two children, about 70 percent had undergone sterilization, 10 percent were using IUDs, 10 percent oral contraceptives and 5 percent nothing at all. Family planning officials denied that sterilization was the result of coercion, stressing to the Consulate General that sterilization was totally voluntary. In practice, in rural areas sterilization is not popular or widely used after the first child, but is common after the second child. In the urban areas, couples were strongly encouraged by family planning officials to undergo sterilization after the first child. In the past several years, with the advancement of medical skills, a growing number of the sterilizations are vasectomies. Family planners said this was considered more acceptable in part because it can be done as an out-patient operation. (According to Shanghai family planning officials, there is a similar trend there. Given the high failure rate (15 percent) of the stainless steel IUDs produced and used in China (compared to 3 percent for copper IUDs) and the health risk of repeated abortions, more couples are opting for sterilization, increasingly of the male.)

Rewards for Sterilization and Penalties for Excess Births

The family planning law stipulated a variety of rewards for couples adhering to the one-child policy and undergoing sterilization after the birth of the first child. In Wenzhou, these also include (for rural residents) a piece of land for a house, a year of maternity leave (for urban residents), old-age insurance (Wenzhou has a unified pension system in place), bonuses and free education and health services for the single child.

On the other hand, penalties in the form of fines and "social compensation" fees are most commmonly used in cases where couples conceive/bear unauthorized children or violate a stipulated four-year interval between births. Regarding fines, for an unauthorized second child, the law sets a rate of 20 to 50 percent of the family's annual income over a period of five years (For example, a family fined RMB 10,000 would pay RMB 2,000 for each of five years.) The law makes no distinction between urban and rural residents when it comes to fines. In practice in the Wenzhou area, however, urban families are generally fined at the rate of 40 percent of their annual income while rural families are fined at the rate of 20 percent of annual income.

The law also specifies that the family must compensate society for the additional burden by paying a one-time fee of RMB 3,000 to 5,000 for an urban family and RMB 1,000 to 3,000 for a rural family. (These fees are then used to help finance the system of rewards that cooperating couples receive.) Urban families, whose earnings are higher, would pay a heavier social compensation fee than rural families.

While the law also provides for such administrative sanctions as warnings, reduction in salary or rank, and outright firing in extreme cases, officials in the Wenzhou area said these sanctions were rarely used in rural areas and were not effective in urban areas. Administrative sanctions are effective only in those cases where one or both members of the couple work for a state enterprise or the government. In 1992, only 12 percent of the workforce fell into these categories. The Wenzhou area is unique in this respect. Beginning in 1984, Wenzhou was permitted to experiment with private and collective enterprises. As a result, 85 percent of rural and urban residents alike are employed by the non-state (private and collective) sector. Family planning officials claim that they have no enforcement leverage with non-state sector enterprises and, therefore, cannot use administrative sanctions in most cases.

Family planning officials gave our Consulate General in March the following estimates of the types and amounts of fines, fees and other measures which might have been used in the following specific case. A woman who gave birth to a second unauthorized child in 1983, under local guidelines would have had to pay a light fine, in the order of several hundred RMB. Officials characterized this as a small flat fee, not a percentage of income, because incomes at that time were universally low. The woman would have been encouraged to use contraception, sterilization or other measures. No other fees or measures were authorized at the time, and even the fine was reportedly difficult to enforce.

Multiple Births: Heavy Fines but Not Force

The same woman, giving birth to her fourth child in 1990, would have been liable (under the 1989 law) to the one-time social compensation fee plus a fine at a much higher rate. The law stipulates that after the third unauthorized child all fines are doubled. Again, she would have been strongly encouraged to have an abortion each time she conceived an unauthorized child, but not forced. The Consulate General reports that, to emphasize their argument that force/coercion is neither condoned nor practiced, officials referred to the statistics cited above indicating a signficant number of women give birth to two, three and more unauthorized children.

When the Consulate General pressed local birth control officials about the degree of coercion, they noted repeatedly that, given the highly "independent" and "privatized" economy and the mobility of the population (i.e. ability to evade "persuasion" to abort unauthorized children by temporarily moving out of the area to give birth), the family planning officials' only real "leverage" has been the fine or social compensation fee paid after the birth of the unauthorized child. They claimed, however, that, with rising incomes often unreported, these fines have not been effective in recent years either.

The Consulate General concludes that it was an important admission of failure for an official in the Wenzhou area to state that before 1985 in his county there were no effective means of enforcing family planning guidelines. Furthermore, the Consulate General goes on to comment, to have family planning officials provide figures showing large numbers of second and third children, thus admitting a policy failure, lends credibility to their statements about lack of leverage (and, implicitly, lack of use of force). The admissions of failure combined with the fact that a higher percentage (one third) of women in the Wenzhou area continue to have two children would strongly indicate, according to the Consulate General, that women have been able to resist whatever level of "persuasion" has been used.

Paying for More Children

Family planning officials, according to the Consulate General, attributed the high number of unauthorized births, particularly among rural women, to the unique economic conditions of the Wenzhou area: about 85 percent of the labor force in the area is employed in the non-state sector, making it virtually impossible to enforce the collection of fines and social compensation fees. While the fines can be hefty (up to 50 percent of the family's income) and the fees steep, family planning and economic commission officials concede that most families in this relatively-prosperous area rarely report their real income and, therefore, do not find the fines and fees unduly heavy. One official estimated that incomes are under-reported by at least half. Consequently, many families find it convenient to pay the levied fees and fines for their unauthorized children or pay off the concerned official: corruption in this area is not unheard of.

Boys Still More Desirable Than Girls

Family planning officials said that the number of families with multiple children rose in 1992 because some 6,000 previously unreported female children born between 1989 and 1991 were included in the 1992 figures. These officials note that in most cases of two or more unauthorized children, the couples continued to have children until a male was born. They asserted that the use of sonograms during pregnancies has been banned (without special permission) because many couples were abusing the sonogram to determine the sex of the fetus and to abort unwanted girls. (In fact, there is mounting evidence that this practice is widespread.) To help overcome traditional ways of thinking, family planning units were authorized to provide "daughter funds" to couples who agree not to try to have a son after having a daughter. The Family Planning Commission in one of these counties, in an effort to dissuade families from continuing to have children until a male is born, provides full medical and educational allowances for both existing children to families who agree to sterilization after having two children/daughters; the second, unauthorized, daughter receives the same subsidy package as the authorized first child/daughter.

Legal Recourse

Under the provisions of the Family Planning Law and the Administrative Procedure Law, couples can dispute the amount of the fines and fees and other administrative sanctions. In 1992, "several tens" of couples, acccording to Chinese sources, did appeal to the Family Planning Commission's appeal unit. In over 80 percent of the cases, the fine or other decision was upheld. Couples unhappy with the outcome at this level can take the Family Planning Commission to Administrative Court. In 1992, 40 cases went to court. Most of the fines and other decisions were upheld, but in several cases the fines were cancelled or reduced. Citizens who feel their civil rights are being violated by over-zealous family planning workers can take the family planning worker to civil court; there apparently have been no such cases in Wenzhou.

Officials Deny Persecution Claims

Wenzhou area officials were familiar with the international publicity given to Chinese who seek political asylum claiming persecution for non-compliance with family planning laws. They denied that family planning or Public Security Bureau authorities persecute people for failing to comply. In particular, public security officials have no jurisdiction under the Family Planning Law and play no role in its enforcement.

Documents for Sale

Family planning officials said they do not issue written warnings or letters to couples who fail to comply. The only official document issued by the Family Planning Commission is the "one-child certificate" issued to families who are practicing birth control and adhering to the one-child policy. These officials suggested that all other documents (e.g. those carrying letters or stamps of Public Security Bureau or Family Planning Commission units) were fraudulently issued and acquired. Wenzhou foreign affairs officials acknowledged that fraudulent documents, purportedly issued by Public Security Bureau units, are a problem in the area.

SUBJECT: CONSTITUTIONAL COURT PRESIDENT SLAIN

REF: GUAT 3235

1. [redacted] -- ENTIRE TEXT.
[redacted]

2. SUMMARY: CONSTITUTIONAL COURT PRESIDENT EPAMINONDAS GONZALEZ DUBON WAS SLAIN LATE APRIL 1. THOUGH CRIMINAL OR PERSONAL MOTIVES CANNOT BE RULED OUT, THIS ATTACK FITS THE PROFILE OF A POLITICAL ASSASSINATION OR TRAGICALLY BUNGLED INTIMIDATION EFFORT. THEORIES ON SUSPECTS ABOUND, THOUGH THOSE (PROBABLY ON THE FAR-RIGHT) SEEKING TO DESTABILZE THE GOG AND/OR PROVOKE A "STATE OF EXCEPTION" ARE THE MOST LIKELY CULPRITS. THE PRESIDENT HAS ANNOUNCED

UNCLASSIFIED

THE APRIL 4 CABINET MEETING WILL CONSIDER A "STATE OF EXCEPTION," WITH THIS LATEST VIOLENT INCIDENT RAISING THE ODDS OF SUCH A CONSTITUTIONALLY-AUTHORIZED IMPOSITION. END SUMMARY.

3. EPAMINONDAS GONZALEZ DUBON, OUTGOING PRESIDENT OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT, WAS SHOT AND KILLED LATE APRIL 1 WHILE RETURNING FROM WATCHING THE HOLY WEEK RELIGIOUS PROCESSIONS IN ANTIGUA. THOUGH THE FACTS ARE STILL BEING CLARIFIED, GONZALEZ WAS SLAIN IN FRONT OF HIS HOME, BEING STRUCK BY ONE OF FIVE BULLETS SHOT FROM A .380 PISTOL INTO HIS CAR. THE TWO ASSASSINS, WHO FOLLOWED GONZALEZ TO HIS HOME, FIRED FROM THEIR AUTO FROM A DISTANCE OF 5-10 METERS. ONE BULLET STRUCK GONZALEZ. HE WAS ABLE TO DRIVE ONE BLOCK TO A MEDICAL CLINIC, BUT DIED WITHIN THIRTY MINUTES FROM HEART SEIZURES. THE JURIST'S WIFE AND NINE YEAR-OLD SON, ALSO IN THE CAR, WERE UNINJURED.

4. THERE ARE ALSO UNCONFIRMED REPORTS GONZALEZ, [redacted]

PRIOR TO THE ATTACK, MAY HAVE ELUDED TWO CARS THAT TRIED TO FORCE HIM OFF THE ROAD ON THE WAY BACK FROM ANTIGUA. THERE HAS ALSO BEEN A SUGGESTION GONZALEZ CUT OFF A MOTORIST, SO ANGERING HIM THAT HE CHOSE TO VIOLENTLY SETTLE THE SCORE. THE FACT THAT THE KILLERS DID NOT GET OUT OF THEIR CAR TO FIRE SUGGESTS TO SOME THAT INTIMIDATION, NOT MURDER, MAY HAVE BEEN THE ASSAILANT'S GOAL.

5. NONETHELESS, AT FIRST BLUSH, THIS SEEMS TO HAVE BEEN A POLITICALLY-MOTIVATED "HIT." NO ROBBERY ATTEMPT WAS MADE. IN ADDITION, GONZALEZ' BROTHER HAS BEEN RECEIVING THREATENING PHONE CALLS AT A NUMBER LISTED IN THE PHONE DIRECTORY TO EPAMINONDAS. THE BROTHER ALSO RECEIVED A FUNERAL WREATH PRIOR TO THE KILLING, ALSO POSSIBLY MEANT AS A SIGNAL TO THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT PRESIDENT.

6. INDIGNATION IS WIDESPREAD, MANY PUBLIC FIGURES CALLING FOR A "STATE OF EXCEPTION." THE PRESIDENT, WHO WAS ALREADY THINKING ABOUT THIS (REF), PUBLICLY ANNOUNCED THE POSSIBILITY WOULD BE DISCUSSED IN THE APRIL 4 CABINET MEETING. HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN JORGE MARIO GARCIA LAGUARDIA PUBLICLY LABELED THE ASSASSINATION AN ACT AGAINST DEMOCRACY AND RAISED THE POSSIBILITY OF A "STATE OF EXCEPTION." DISTRAUGHT OVER THE KILLING OF A LONG-TIME FRIEND, GARCIA LAGUARDIA SAID HE WAS THINKING OF RESIGNING HIS POST GIVEN THE FACT THAT NO ONE "OBEYS" HIS RESOLUTIONS.

7. THE AMBASSADOR ATTENDED GONZALEZ' WAKE. IN THE [redacted]

COURSE OF THIS SAD EVENT, HIS BROTHER COMMENTED THE KILLING COULD HAVE A CHILLING EFFECT ON THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT'S WILLINGNESS TO RULE AGAINST THE POWERS THAT BE IN THIS SOCIETY. THE PRESS ALSO REPORTS THE BROTHER SPURNING THE CONDOLENCES OF THE PRESIDENT, SAYING, "YOU'VE ARRIVED 30 HOURS LATE; IT WAS A POLITICAL CRIME..."

8. COMMENT: WHILE THEORIES ARE FLYING OVER THE MOTIVE, FACTS REMAIN FEW. MOST PLAUSIBLE, IF THIS WERE A POLITICAL ASSASSINATION OR A BUNGLED INTIMIDATION EFFORT, IS THAT GONZALEZ WAS ATTACKED BY THOSE ON THE FAR-RIGHT WISHING TO WEAKEN THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION. THESE PERSONS MAY HAVE HOPED THE ATTACK WOULD TRIGGER A "STATE OF EXCEPTION" AND/OR THE COMPLETE DESTABILIZATION OF THE REGIME. GONZALEZ MOST LIKELY WAS A TARGET OF OPPORTUNITY, THOUGH THIS INCIDENT MAY HAVE ALSO CONSTITUTED A PAYBACK FOR HIS ANTI-SERRANO ROLE IN THE "AUTOGOLPE," ANTI-UNION CONSTITUTIONAL COURT RULINGS, HIS DISSENT FROM THE RECOGNITION OF BELIZE OR THE COURT'S RECENT REJECTION OF CONGRESS' RE-WRITING OF THE ELECTORAL LAW.

2. SUMMARY: ON MARCH 9, AMBASSADOR, ACCOMPANIED BY DCM AND AID DIRECTOR, HAD A CORDIAL MEETING WITH SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT JUAN JOSE RODIL AND ONE OF HIS TOP AIDES. RODIL GAVE A READOUT OF HIS US VISIT; OUTLINED HIS EFFORTS TO PRY LOOSE FUNDS FROM PRESIDENT DE LEON; NOTING SOME PROGRESS; EMPHASIZED HIS DESIRE TO IMPLEMENT THE NEW CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE AND NARCOTICSAND LABOR COURTS; IF HE RECEIVES FUNDS; AND PROMISED TO WORK MORE CLOSELY WITH US ON NARCOTICS AND EXTRABITION CASES. HE ALSO NOTED OUR CONCERNS THAT THE COURT BE MORE SUPPORTIVE IN HUMAN RIGHTS CASES. RODIL REGRETTED THAT THE AMBASSADOR HAD BEEN BLINDSIDED BY NEWSPAPER ACCOUNTS OF THEIR LAST MEETING. HE PROMISED TO CALL HER IF ANY SUCH INCIDENT OF JOURNALISTIC "MISREPRESENTATION" OF HIS REMARKS REOCCURS. HE EMPHASIZED HIS DESIRE TO IMPROVE OVERALL COOPERATION AND COMMUNICATION WITH THE MISSION. WHILE RODIL WAS CUSTOMARILY ELUSIVE, WE ARE CAUTIOUSLY HOPEFUL THAT OUR MESSAGE OF "NO RESULTS -- NO US BENEFITS" IS SINKING IN. END SUMMARY

CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE

4. RODIL STRESSED TO THE AMBASSADOR THE NEED TO MOVE FORWARD QUICKLY TO IMPLEMENT THE NEW CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE, NOW SCHEDULED TO GO INTO EFFECT JULY 1, 1994. HE POINTED OUT THAT BECAUSE 1995 WILL BE A GENERAL ELECTION YEAR, IT WILL BE DIFFICULT TO ACCOMPLISH ANY REFORM MEASURES. HE FEARED THAT, IF THE IMPLEMENTATION IS FURTHER DELAYED, IT MAY NEVER OCCUR.

5. THE AMBASSADOR STRONGLY CONCURRED, ESPECIALLY GIVEN THE NEED FOR WIDESPREAD TRAINING AND ORIENTATION ON THE INTRICACY OF THE CODE. RODIL STATED THAT TRAINING COULD BE SPEEDED UP IF BARRIENTOS COULD TAKE ON ALL RESPONSIBILITY FOR THIS FUNCTION, INCLUDING THAT NEEDED IN THE PUBLIC MINISTRY. RODIL SAID THAT HE AND ATTORNEY GENERAL CUERRA CAHN HAVE BEGUN TO DISCUSS COOPERATION.SINCE NEARLY ONE MILLION COURT CASES WILL

HAVE TO BE TRANSFERRED TO THE PUBLIC MINISTRY FROM THE COURTS AS A RESULT OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL REFORMS APPROVED IN THE JANUARY 30 "CONSULTA," AND WHICH TAKE EFFECT APRIL 8 (REF A). HE NOTED HIS CONCERN, HOWEVER, THAT THE PUBLIC MINISTRY REORGANIZATION WAS FOCUSING ON THE NEW ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE ("PROCURADURIA"), WHILE THE INVESTIGATIVE OFFICE ("FISCALIA") APPEARED TO BE GETTING SHORT SHRIFT.

RODIL-DE LEON CONTACTS

---

6. RODIL NOTED THAT HE HAD RECENTLY DISCUSSED WITH AN EMISSARY OF PRESIDENT DE LEON THE NEED TO MOVE FORWARD ON JUDICIAL REFORM. HE SAID THAT HE AND THE PRESIDENT ARE COMMUNICATING THROUGH AN EMISSARY TO AVOID POLITICALLY COSTLY HIGH PROFILE CONTACTS. RODIL PUT HIS OWN SPIN ON DE LEON'S VETO OF THE 1994 BUDGET, WHICH RESULTED FROM THE HIGH-HANDED, LAST MINUTE ATTEMPT BY RODIL'S ALLIES IN THE CONGRESS TO TRANSFER SOME Q28 MILLION FROM THE EXECUTIVE'S BUDGET TO THE JUDICIARY. RODIL CLAIMED THAT THE PRESIDENT HAD THOUGHT BETTER OF

GETTING A WORD IN EDGEWISE

8. AFTER PATIENTLY LISTENING TO RODIL'S MONOLOGUE, THE AMBASSADOR EXPRESSED APPRECIATION FOR RODIL'S AND BARRIENTOS' EFFORTS TO IMPLEMENT THE NEW CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE. A KEY ELEMENT IN IMPROVING THE HUMAN RIGHTS SITUATION IN GUATEMALA. SHE EXPRESSED HER SERIOUS CONCERN, HOWEVER, ABOUT OUR ABILITY TO BE SUPPORTIVE IF SHE OR THE USG WAS GOING TO BE ATTACKED IN THE PRESS FOR INTERVENING IN GUATEMALA'S AFFAIRS, SUBSEQUENT TO PRIVATE CONVERSATIONS WITH RODIL. SHORTLY AFTER THE PRIVATE LUNCH SHE HAD HELD FOR RODIL AT THE RESIDENCE ON FEBRUARY 2 (REF B) AND A SUBSEQUENT MEETING WITH EMBASSY OFFICIALS, A REPORTER HAD BLINDSIDED THE AMBASSADOR BY DEMANDING HER RESPONSE TO AN ALLEGED STATEMENT BY RODIL THAT THE AMBASSADOR WAS ATTEMPTING TO IMPOSE AN AMERICAN "PLAN OF ACTION" ON HIM FOR THE PROSECUTION AND EXTRADITION OF NARCOTRAFFICKERS AND NARCO-CORRUPTION IN THE COURT SYSTEM.

9. RODIL RETORTED THAT, AS ALWAYS WITH THE PRESS, HIS COMMENTS HAD BEEN MISCHARACTERIZED TO CREATE PROBLEMS FOR HIM. HE REGRETTED THIS INCIDENT OF PRESS IRRESPONSIBILITY AND PROMISED TO TRY TO CONTACT HER TO EXPLAIN THE FACTS IF AND WHEN THIS KIND OF SITUATION ARISES AGAIN.

HUMAN RIGHTS AND OTHER MISSION MANDATES

---

10. THE AMBASSADOR NOTED THE SPECIFIC MANDATE SHE HAS FROM ALL ELEMENTS OF THE USG (INCLUDING CONGRESS) TO PURSUE COUNTERDRUG EFFORTS, EXTRADITION CASES AND HUMAN RIGHTS. AS A GOVERNMENT, WE EXPECT POSITIVE EFFORTS IN THESE AREAS BY THE GUATEMALAN AGENCIES WITH WHICH WE COOPERATE. HENCE, OUR CONCERNS ABOUT STATEMENTS ATTRIBUTED TO RODIL IN THE PRESS. AT THE SAME TIME, THE AMBASSADOR CONGRATULATED RODIL AND THE SUPREME COURT FOR ITS RECENT RULING IN FAVOR OF HELEN MACK'S APPEAL TO RE-OPEN THE CASE AGAINST THE INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS OF HER SISTER'S MURDER (REF C).

EXTRADITIONS AND COUNTERDRUG ISSUES

---

11. RODIL THEN MOUNTED A FAVORITE HOBBY HORSE: A MEANS TO EXPEL ALIEN TRAFFICKERS INTO US LAW ENFORCEMENT HANDS THROUGH A "GENTLEMAN'S AGREEMENT." (COMMENT: EX-PRESIDENT SERRANO FIRST PROPOSED THIS IDEA IN 1992 AND RODIL SAID HE WAS WORKING ON IT THEN. RODIL ALSO HAD BROACHED IT AT A FEBRUARY 4 MEETING WITH EMBOFFS (REF B). END COMMENT). THE AMBASSADOR SAID THAT SUCH AN AGREEMENT COULD BE USEFUL, BUT WE MUST ALSO EFFECTIVELY

IMPLEMENT OUR EXTRADITION TREATY.

12. THE AMBASSADOR NOTED THAT WE HAVE HAD TROUBLE GETTING

1994 ESCAPE OF LUIS GARCIA ANGULO -- AKA VICTOR HUGO CHAVEZ -- OF THE CALI-LINKED REYES RIVAS TRAFFICKING RING.). RODIL AGREED THAT THERE IS JUDICIAL CORRUPTION AND HE WOULD APPRECIATE RECEIVING TIPS FROM DEA WHEN WE HAVE SPECIFICS ON A PARTICULAR JUDGE. HE WOULD EVEN BE WILLING TO ALLOW A STING OPERATION AGAINST KNOWN CORRUPT JUDGES TO STRIKE FEAR IN OTHERS WHO ARE TEMPTED. FINALLY, HE SAID HE WOULD HAVE A CIRCULAR NOTE SENT TO ALL COURTS WARNING JUDGES THAT THEY MUST INFORM THE COURT SYSTEM'S INSPECTOR GENERAL ("SUPERVISOR DE TRIBUNALES") WHEN A DRUG CASE COMES UNDER THEIR JURISDICTION SO THE PROGRESS OF THE CASE CAN BE

CENTRALLY MONITORED.

13. RODIL MADE HIS CUSTOMARY PITCH FOR REGULAR MEETINGS AT THE WORKING LEVEL WITH EMBASSY REPRESENTATIVES TO DISCUSS SPECIFIC CASES. (COMMENT: ALTHOUGH THE FIRST SUCH MEETING ON FEBRUARY 4 YIELDED LITTLE, A SUBSEQUENT SESSION ATTENDED BY THE CONGEN ON MARCH 14 WAS SURPRISINGLY PRODUCTIVE. END COMMENT).

---

---

14. COMMENT: EVEN THE SILVER-TONGUED BARRISTER, RODIL EXUDED POSITIVISM, SELF-CONFIDENCE AND ASSURANCES OF EXCELLENT INTENTIONS. WE ARE STILL A LONG WAY FROM GETTING THE KIND OF SUSTAINED ACTION WE WANT FROM THE OURT. FOR EXAMPLE, WHILE IT IS ENCOURAGING THAT THE PUBLIC MINISTRY AND SUPREME COURT ARE COLLABORATING ON PREPARATIONS FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NEW CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE, WE CONTINUE TO WORRY ABOUT THE FUNDING ISSUE. NEVERTHELESS, THERE ARE SIGNS WE ARE MAKING SOME HEADWAY IN OUR EFFORT TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF RODIL'S DESIRE TO REFURBISH HIS PUBLIC IMAGE. WE ARE SEEING NEW SUPPORT IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS AREA, WITNESS THE RECENT RULING IN THE MYRNA MACK CASE TO ALLOW JUDICIAL PURSUIT OF THE INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS OF THE KILLING. SINCE THE MARCH 9 MEETING, WE LEARNED THAT TWO LABOR COURTS ARE NOW FUNCTIONING. WE ARE HOPEFUL THAT WORKING LEVEL MEETINGS WITH THE COURT'S STAFF MAY FINALLY BE ON TRACK. MOREOVER, SOME OF RODIL'S OFFERS ON THE

COUNTERDRUG FRONT ARE SPECIFIC AND GO BEYOND HIS PREVIOUS PLATITUDES. WE WILL BE FOLLOWING UP ON THESE AND OTHER COMMITMENTS. END COMMENT.

CHANG AND THE UNRELATED BEATING OF A MINOR. THE CONVICTION IS NOW BEING APPEALED, WITH PLAINTIFF HELEN MACK ALSO SEEKING PROSECUTION OF THE ALLEGED MILITARY "INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS" OF THE CRIME. ON SEPTEMBER 1, MYRNA MACK'S WORKPLACE WAS BROKEN INTO AND DEATH THREATS LEFT AGAINST HELEN MACK. ON SEPTEMBER 23, BETETA BRIEFLY ESCAPED FROM JAIL, BUT WAS RECAPTURED FIVE HOURS LATER AND CHARGED FOR THE ESCAPE.

20. ON MAY 11, AN APPELLATE COURT SENTENCED CAPT. HUGO CONTRERAS TO 20 YEARS FOR PLANNING THE 1990 KIDNAPING THAT LED TO THE DEATH OF U.S. CITIZEN MICHAEL DEVINE AND CONFIRMED THE 30 YEAR SENTENCES FOR SIX ENLISTED MEN. AFTER HEARING OF THE VERDICT, HOWEVER, CONTRERAS ESCAPED FROM MILITARY CUSTODY AND REMAINS AT LARGE. WHILE HIS ESCAPE SUGGESTED COMPLICITY OF THE MILITARY, THE ONLY PUNISHMENT WAS A 2 YEAR SUSPENDED SENTENCE GIVEN TO AN ENLISTED MAN FOR NOT BEING AT HIS POST WHEN CONTRERAS ESCAPED. SENIOR OFFICERS INVOLVED IN COVERING UP THE CASE HAVE NOT BEEN BROUGHT TO TRIAL. EMBASSY: PLEASE UPDATE RE. THE CONVICTED DEVINE KILLERS WHO SAID THEY HAD INFORMATION ON INVOLVEMENT BY HIGHER-UPS.)

21. THERE WAS NO PROGRESS IN RESOLVING NUMEROUS OTHER CASES OF PAST EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, INCLUDING THE 1988 "WHITE VAN" CASE, THE 1989 DISAPPEARANCES AND MURDERS OF UNIVERSITY STUDENTS, THE 1990 HECTOR OQUELI COLINDRES AND GILDA FLORES KILLINGS, THE 1990 DISAPPEARANCE OF MARIA TIU TOJIN AND HER DAUGHTER, THE 1991 MURDER OF POLICE DETECTIVE JOSE LUIS MERIDA ESCOBAR, THE 1991 DISAPPEARANCE OF DIEGO DOMINGO MARTIN, OR PAST KIDNAPINGS AND MURDERS OF VARIOUS CERJ MEMBERS. ON MAY 5, AN APPEALS COURT UPHELD A LOWER COURT DECISION IN DISMISSING CHARGES AGAINST SIX MILITARY DEFENDANTS FOR THE 1991 "TRAILEROS" KILLINGS IN TAXISCO. THE DECISION HAS BEEN APPEALED. THE GOVERNMENT'S FREQUENT INABILITY TO CONTROL OR SANCTION THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS OFFENSES IS A MAJOR IMPEDIMENT TO HUMAN RIGHTS PROGRESS.

B. DISAPPEARANCE

22. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE LISTED 34 CASES OF FORCED DISAPPEARANCES UP TO MID-AUGUST 1993. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED 16 FORCED DISAPPEARANCES FOR THE FIRST 6 MONTHS OF 1993, AS COMPARED TO 11 IN ALL OF 1992. FOUR OF THE 16 CASES WERE PRESUMED POLITICAL IN NATURE, WITH THE OTHER 12 UNDER INVESTIGATION. REPORTS LINKED MANY POLITICAL DISAPPEARANCES TO PERSONS CONNECTED WITH THE ARMED FORCES. THE GOVERNMENT DID NOT IDENTIFY OR PROSECUTE THE PERPETRATORS OF ANY OF THE ABOVE DISAPPEARANCES.

23. IN AUGUST 1993, THE WIFE OF GUERRILLA EFRAIN BAMACA CLAIMED HE WAS BEING HELD IN A CLANDESTINE PRISON AFTER RESULTS OF AN EXHUMATION OF HIS SUPPOSED GRAVE PROVED NEGATIVE. THE ARMY ADMITS TO HOUSING FORMER GUERRILLAS WHO COOPERATE WITH THE ARMED FORCES ON MILITARY BASES. ONE OF THESE EX-GUERRILLAS, ANGEL OSORIO, WAS KILLED AUGUST 19 BY ACTIVE URNG MEMBERS AFTER LEAVING A QUICHE MILITARY BASE TO VISIT HIS FAMILY AND BEING STOPPED AT A GUERRILLA ROADBLOCK.

24. GUERRILLA FORCES KIDNAPED SAN MARCOS PAC MEMBERS MARGARITO LOPEZ AND OBDULIO ZAPETA ON AUGUST 7 AND DIEGO CHEL MATON, AN ARMY ENLISTED MAN RIDING AN INTER-URBAN BUS IN QUICHE, THREE DAYS LATER. THEIR WHEREABOUTS ARE UNKNOWN. EMBASSY: PLEASE UPDATE.)

C. TORTURE AND OTHER CRUEL, INHUMAN, OR DEGRADING TREATMENT OR PUNISHMENT

25. ALTHOUGH THE CONSTITUTION PROHIBITS THE USE OF TORTURE EMBASSY: IS THIS CORRECT?), THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE LISTED TWO CASES OF TORTURE IN THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1993. BOTH CASES LISTED BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S OFFICE INVOLVED THE KIDNAPING AND BEATING UNTIL UNCONSCIOUS OF THE VICTIMS. IN ONE CASE, A MALE STUDENT WAS PICKED UP BY THREE UNIDENTIFIED MEN ON MARCH 27, BEATEN UNCONSCIOUS, HELD FOR THREE DAYS AND ASKED ABOUT STUDENT LEADERS. THE OTHER CASE OCCURRED IN APRIL, THE FEMALE VICTIM ALSO BEATEN UNCONSCIOUS BUT APPARENTLY NOT ASKED ANY QUESTIONS. EMBASSY: WHO DO YOU THINK COMMITTED THESE ABUSES? POLICE, MILITARY, OTHERS? PLEASE CITE SUPPORTING EXAMPLES OF OTHER INSTANCES OF TORTURE, BEATINGS, ETC.)

26. THERE WERE OTHER CREDIBLE REPORTS OF MISTREATMENT BY SECURITY FORCES, INCLUDING USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE BY POLICE AT THE TIME OF ARREST AND OF ABUSIVE TREATMENT OF PERSONS IN RURAL AREAS BY THE ARMY, CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS, MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, AND POLICE. THE GOVERNMENT FAILED TO INVESTIGATE OR TAKE ANY OTHER ACTION IN RESPONSE TO SUCH REPORTS. OCCASIONALLY CASES OF RAPE TRACED TO INDIVIDUAL SOLDIERS WERE REPORTED, ALTHOUGH WITHOUT ANY ACTION BEING TAKEN.

27. CASA ALIANZA, AN ORGANIZATION DEDICATED TO PROTECTING THE HUMAN RIGHTS OF STREET CHILDREN, REPORTED IN MARCH THAT STREET CHILD JULIO CESAR REYES WAS PICKED UP BY TWO PERSONS HE RECOGNIZED AS POLICEMEN AND BURNED ON HIS ARM 29 TIMES BY A CIGARETTE. REYES CLAIMS TO HAVE RECOGNIZED THE TWO AS POLICE OFFICERS. ON MAY 23, A

STREET CHILD REPORTED HAVING ACID THROWN AT HIM BY THE POLICE. EMBASSY: WHY WEREN'T THESE INCLUDED IN THE CITATIONS BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE?) THERE WERE NUMEROUS OTHER REPORTS OF POLICEMEN BEATING OR ILLEGALLY DETAINING STREET CHILDREN; THE AUTHORITIES TOOK NO ACTION IN ANY OF THESE INSTANCES.

D. ARBITRARY ARREST, DETENTION, OR EXILE

28. DESPITE LEGAL SAFEGUARDS, THERE WERE FREQUENT CREDIBLE REPORTS OF ARBITRARY ARREST, INCOMMUNICADO DETENTION BY SECURITY FORCES AND FAILURE TO ADHERE TO THE PRESCRIBED TIME LIMITS. A COURT-ISSUED ARREST WARRANT IS REQUIRED UNLESS A PERSON IS CAUGHT IN THE ACT OF COMMITTING A CRIME. POLICE MAY NOT DETAIN A SUSPECT FOR OVER 6 HOURS WITHOUT BRINGING HIM BEFORE A JUDGE. THE LAW PROVIDES FOR BAIL, ACCESS TO LAWYERS, AND LIMITS TO 28 DAYS THE TIME ANYONE MAY BE HELD, AFTER WHICH HE MUST BE CHARGED OR FREED. AUTHORITIES MUST PRODUCE DETAINEES ON COURT REQUEST.

29. SOME PERSONS DETAINED ILLEGALLY AND RELEASED SUBSEQUENTLY REPORTED HAVING BEEN HELD AT SAFE HOUSES ALLEGEDLY OPERATED BY SECURITY FORCES. THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR ILLEGAL DETENTIONS ROUTINELY IGNORE WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE ALSO CHARGED THAT PRISONERS ARE SOMETIMES NOT RELEASED IN A TIMELY FASHION AFTER FINISHING THEIR SENTENCE DUE TO THE FAILURE OF JUDGES TO ISSUE THE NECESSARY COURT ORDER.

30. INVESTIGATIONS DURING THE SERRANO PRESIDENCY INTO

THE ACTIVITIES OF FORMER IZABAL DEPARTMENT GOVERNOR LILIAN VASQUEZ DE GUZMAN AND ALLEGED CORRUPTION BY FORMER

HEALTH MINISTER MIGUEL MONTEPEQUE APPEARED POLITICALLY MOTIVATED. MONTEPEQUE WAS SUBSEQUENTLY CLEARED OF CHARGES; VASQUEZ DE GUZMAN WENT INTO SELF-IMPOSED TEMPORARY EXILE IN MID-FEBRUARY. THE PROBLEM OF POLITICALLY MOTIVATED INVESTIGATIONS WAS GREATLY LESSENED SINCE THE ACCESSION OF DE LEON CARPIO TO THE PRESIDENCY.

31. EXILE IS PROHIBITED UNDER THE CONSTITUTION AND IS NOT PRACTICED.

E. DENIAL OF FAIR PUBLIC TRIAL

32. THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM IS INEFFECTIVE AND OFTEN UNABLE TO ASSURE A FAIR TRIAL (SEE BELOW). THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR AN INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY COMPOSED OF A COURT OF CONSTITUTIONALITY, A SUPREME COURT, APPEALS COURTS, AND SEVERAL COURTS OF SPECIAL JURISDICTION, SUCH AS LABOR COURTS. HOWEVER, MILITARY COURTS HAVE JURISDICTION OVER MILITARY PERSONNEL, INCLUDING MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WHO COMMIT CRIMES WHILE ON OFFICIAL BUSINESS, THUS LIMITING THE ABILITY OF CIVIL COURTS TO PROSECUTE PERSONS UNDER MILITARY CONTROL IN HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE CASES. PAC MEMBERS ARE CIVILIANS AND NOT UNDER MILITARY JURISDICTION.

33. CIVILIAN TRIALS ARE PUBLIC AFTER THE FIRST 15 DAYS, DEDICATED TO AN INITIAL INVESTIGATIVE PHASE THAT IS CLOSED TO THE PUBLIC; DEFENDANTS HAVE THE RIGHT TO BE PRESENT AT TRIALS AND TO LEGAL REPRESENTATION. AN APPEALS COURT AUTOMATICALLY REVIEWS CONVICTIONS. THE

CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE IS BEING CHANGED TO INTRODUCE ORAL PROCEEDINGS (IN BOTH SPANISH AND INDIGENOUS LANGUAGES) OPEN TO THE PUBLIC AND TO SET UP A VIABLE PUBLIC DEFENDER PROGRAM. (EMBASSY: HAVE THESE CHANGES ACTUALLY TAKEN PLACE?)

34. MOST HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS ARE NOT INVESTIGATED; SECURITY FORCE PERSONNEL ARE RELUCTANT TO INVESTIGATE CASES INVOLVING COLLEAGUES. POLICE ARE ALSO RELATIVELY FEW IN NUMBER AND LACK NEEDED RESOURCES AND TRAINING. JUDGES ARE SUSCEPTIBLE TO INTIMIDATION AND CORRUPTION AND SUFFER LOW PAY, BAD WORKING CONDITIONS AND LOW MORALE. THE SUPREME COURT AND SOME LOWER COURT JUDGES CAME UNDER PUBLIC PRESSURE TO RESIGN FOR CORRUPTION AND POLITICIZATION OF THE LEGAL SYSTEM.

35. SOME JUDGES SUCCEEDED IN BEING EXCUSED FROM HEARING PROMINENT CASES AFTER ALLEGING DEATH THREATS. A TOTAL OF 12 DIFFERENT JUDGES WERE EXCUSED FROM THE MYRNA MACK CHANG CASE, FOR EXAMPLE. THE APPEALS COURT JUDGES WHO HEARD THE MACK, DEVINE AND "TRAILEROS" CASES REPORT HAVING RECEIVED THREATS IN 1993. IN ADDITION, OFFICIALS FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S AND HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICES HAVE RECEIVED THREATS.

36. CHARGES CONTINUE TO BE PUBLICLY MADE THAT THE SUPREME COURT PRESSURES LOWER COURT JUDGES TO DECIDE CASES IN LINE WITH ITS WISHES. IN JANUARY, THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT RULED THAT THE SUPREME COURT PRACTICE OF ARBITRARILY TRANSFERRING JUSTICES WAS UNCONSTITUTIONAL, LIMITING ONE MEANS OF INTERFERING IN

LOWER COURT CASES.

37. THERE ARE NO KNOWN POLITICAL PRISONERS.

F. ARBITRARY INTERFERENCE WITH PRIVACY, FAMILY, HOME, OR CORRESPONDENCE

38. THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR THE INVIOLABILITY OF

STATE 379287 1721122 018261 S024788
HOME, CORRESPONDENCE AND PRIVATE DOCUMENTS, BUT THESE PROVISIONS ARE NOT ALWAYS RESPECTED. ELEMENTS OF THE SECURITY FORCES CONTINUE TO MONITOR PRIVATE COMMUNICATIONS. MANY HUMAN RIGHTS MONITORS REPORTED RECEIVING THREATS IN THE FORM OF SURVEILLANCE, TELEPHONE CALLS, AND ANONYMOUS LETTERS.

39. ON MARCH 26, THE GUATEMALAN POSTAL WORKERS UNION AND THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN EXPOSED A SECRET GOVERNMENT MAIL INTERCEPTION UNIT LOCATED AT THE CENTRAL POST OFFICE. THE OMBUDSMAN ATTRIBUTED RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE LETTER-OPENING OPERATION TO THE MILITARY INTELLIGENCE UNIT KNOWN AS "ARCHIVOS," WHICH WAS LATER DISBANDED.

40. OFFICIALS ENFORCING THE MILITARY DRAFT CONTINUED TO ENTER HOMES AND PLACES OF BUSINESS WITHOUT LEGALLY REQUIRED COURT ORDERS. THE ARMY ATTEMPTED TO CURB SUCH ABUSES IN QUICHE BY SETTING UP A DRAFT BOARD CONSISTING OF THE ZONE MILITARY COMMANDER, THE LOCAL REPRESENTATIVE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, AND OTHER CIVILIAN LEADERS. UNDER RECRUITMENT PRACTICES ALSO ADOPTED IN OTHER DEPARTMENTS, POTENTIAL DRAFTEES RECEIVE THREE INDUCTION NOTICES, AFTER WHICH THEY ARE ARRESTED IF

THEY DO NOT REPORT FOR ENLISTMENT. UNDER GUATEMALAN LAW, SUCH ARRESTS MUST BE EFFECTED PURSUANT TO A COURT ORDER.

41. CREDIBLE REPORTS OF FORCED RECRUITMENT CONTINUED, HOWEVER, PARTICULARLY IN LATE JANUARY. ON JULY 27, IN WHAT WAS SAID TO BE THE FIRST CASE OF ITS KIND OUTSIDE A CITY, JALAPA PEASANT JUAN ENGEL MORALES LIMA FILED SUIT CLAIMING HE WAS A VICTIM OF FORCED RECRUITMENT. IN SEPTEMBER, ALVARO ENRIQUE MADRID MATTA WAS RELEASED FROM THE ARMY DUE TO HIS BEING A MINOR AFTER THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN FILED SUIT SEPTEMBER 14 CLAIMING MADRID HAD BEEN FORCIBLY RECRUITED IN AUGUST.

42. THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRES THAT PAC SERVICE BE VOLUNTARY. HOWEVER, ARMY OFFICERS, MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, AND PAC LEADERS OFTEN PRESSURE MEN IN AREAS OF CONFLICT TO BECOME PAC MEMBERS. THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT SOME WHO REFUSED TO SERVE WERE KILLED OR SUFFERED OTHER ABUSES.

G. USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN INTERNAL CONFLICTS

43. GUATEMALA'S ARMED INTERNAL CONFLICT ENTERED ITS 33RD YEAR IN 1993 AND CONTINUED TO BE A MAJOR CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS BY BOTH GOVERNMENT AND GUERRILLA FORCES. AFTER A PROMISING FIRST HALF OF THE YEAR, PEACE TALKS COLLAPSED IN EARLY MAY. HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES AND THE TIMING OF A PROPOSED CEASE-FIRE WERE PRIMARY AREAS OF DISAGREEMENT. THE DE LEON CARPIO GOVERNMENT SOUGHT TO RENEW THE PEACE TALKS UNDER A FORMAT ALLOWING GREATER

PARTICIPATION BY OTHER GROUPS IN GUATEMALAN SOCIETY. (EMBASSY: PLEASE UPDATE AS APPROPRIATE.)

44. COMMUNITIES OF PEOPLE IN RESISTANCE (CPR) CLAIMED ARMY HARASSMENT THROUGHOUT THE YEAR, INCLUDING LATE EVENING HELICOPTER OVERFLIGHTS AND RESTRICTION OF COMMERCE. ON FEBRUARY 27, EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE SECRETARY BISHOP RAMAZZINI ANNOUNCED THAT SOME 500 GUATEMALANS HAD FLED TO MEXICO TO AVOID ARMY OPERATIONS IN CUARTO PUEBLO, QUICHE. THEY LATER RETURNED. ON AUGUST 23, TWO FORMER PAC MEMBERS STATED THAT PAC LEADERS AND A MILITARY OFFICER HAD FORCED THEM EARLIER IN THE YEAR TO HARASS A CPR (EMBASSY: MEMBER? GROUP? DEMONSTRATION? OR WHAT?). IN SEPTEMBER PRESIDENT DE LEON CARPIO MET WITH A

THREE COLOMBIANS HIDING IN A TUNNEL COMPLEX WERE ARRESTED; THE CONDITION OF THE FACILITY SUGGESTS IT IS A COLOMBIAN

GUATEMALA'S COURT OF CONSTITUTIONALITY HAD JUST STRUCK DOWN A REWRITE OF THE ELECTORAL LAW WHEN GONZALEZ DUBON WAS KILLED FRIDAY NIGHT THE "REFORM" RETAINED THE NATIONAL LIST AND OTHER FEATURES OF THE EXTANT LAW LENDING THEMSELVES TO ABUSE. SOME CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE ASSASSINATION SUGGEST IT MAY HAVE BEEN MEANT TO INTIMIDATE, NOT TO KILL. CONSIDERATION OF DECLARING A STATE OF EXCEPTION BY THE GOVERNMENT CONTINUES; OPPONENTS OF NEW ELECTIONS TO CONGRESS MIGHT FAVOR A STATE OF

EXCEPTION BECAUSE ELECTIONS CANNOT BE HELD WHILE ONE IS IN EFFECT. (HAMILTON)

(U) INM PRESS BRIEF: ON APRIL 4, A/S GELBARD PARTICIPATED IN A PRESS BRIEF REGARDING NARCOTICS CERTIFICATION DECISIONS. ARA WILL CLEAR ON A CABLE TO ALL POSTS CONCERNED WHICH DESCRIBES IN DETAIL THE TWENTY-FIVE MINUTE CONFERENCE. GELBARD BEGAN BY READING FROM THE PREPARED REMARKS WHICH WERE CIRCULATED FOR CLEARANCE ON FRIDAY (4/1). HE THEN TOOK QUESTIONS. PANAMA: ASKED IF THIS IS PANAMA'S FIRST APPEARANCE ON THE VITAL NATIONAL INTEREST LIST AND WHY ITS STATUS CHANGED FROM 1993. GELBARD RESPONDED THAT HE DID NOT KNOW ABOUT PREVIOUS YEARS' DECISIONS; BUT THAT, DESPITE HAVING TAKEN SOME POSITIVE STEPS, PANAMA IS A MAJOR MONEY LAUNDERER. ASKED IF THIS DECISION WILL HAVE AN IMPACT ON UPCOMING ELECTIONS. HE SAID HE IS UNAWARE OF ANY INTEREST IN COUNTERNARCOTICS AS A CAMPAIGN ISSUE, BUT PERHAPS THERE SHOULD BE. HE ADDED THAT SOME FUNDAMENTAL RULES OF THE GAME FOR FINANCIAL OPERATIONS MUST BE DEVELOPED. HAITI: ASKED ABOUT HAITI'S ROLE AS A TRANSIT COUNTRY AND NARCO-INVOLVEMENT BY THE MILITARY. GELBARD REPLIED THAT SOME TRANSITING OCCURS IN HAITI AS WELL AS OTHER AREAS OF THE CARIBBEAN, BUT THAT IT IS TOUGH TO QUANTIFY THE FLOW

OF NARCOTICS THROUGH HAITI HE ADDED THAT THERE ARE SOME WHO BELIEVE THAT HAITIAN MILITARY ARE INVOLVED IN NARCO-TRAFFICKING PERU. ASKED ABOUT WORLD-WIDE TRENDS OR CONCLUSIONS THAT COULD BE DRAWN FROM THIS PAST YEAR. HE MENTIONED PERU'S COCA LEAF FUNGUS AS A COUNTERVAILING FACTOR TO AN INSUFFICIENT ERADICATION EFFORT ON THE PART OF THE GOP -- IMPLYING THAT, WITHOUT THE FUNGUS, WE WOULD HAVE SEEN INCREASED CULTIVATIONS. THE REMAINDER (AND MAJORITY) OF THE QUESTIONS ADDRESSED ISSUES OUTSIDE OUR REGION -- PRIMARILY SYRIA, IRAN, BURMA, AND NIGERIA. DRAFTED:PPCP:LMORAND APPROVED:PPCP:MFRECHETTE

TO: The Files - Protection of American Citizens

FROM: CONS - Chuck Keil

Subject: Harassment of American Citizen [redacted] B6

[redacted] called Carolyn Gorman last week to report that he was being followed by elements whom he identified as linked to G-2. He felt threatened and asked to come in and discuss his situation. After a weekend trip to a project site in Nenton, Huehuetenango, where he is working to design urban settlements for returning refugees, [redacted] came in this morning. He said that he is an American citizen [redacted] He has been living and working in Guatemala most of his life, is a licensed architect and power plant designer. He is also a board member of an environmental group that does work with AID.

[redacted] says that armed men associated with the Guatemalan Army G-2 started to look for him last week. When I asked about motives, he said that he was convinced that his contract with the CPP, an umbrella group of refugees repatriating from Mexico, is the problem. He is designing urban centers for the new settlements that returning refugees will occupy. Last week, armed men started hanging around his office. Earlier this week, one of his employees went out and asked these individuals what they wanted. They replied that they were looking for [redacted] He has not returned to his office since, and is trying to stay on the move, which makes it very difficult for him to work at his office or on the refugee project.

I asked [redacted] about other possible motives for groups to target him. He was aware of none -- as an Amcit he is not involved in local politics, and implied that he did not have enough money to be a kidnap target.

I told [redacted] that we took incidents such as these very seriously, and that we would raise his case at high levels with the Guatemalan Government to request that he be protected. But I pointed out that, as an American, he might want to go home for a period of time if the situation did not improve and if he remained convinced that elements linked to the Army were involved. He noted that there is another architect here with the same name who had received death threats. When this individual contacted the Estado Mayor of the Presidencia to ask if he was in trouble, he was told that the other [redacted] was the target.

I suggested to [redacted] that he visit the Archbishop's Human Rights Office and tell them his story. I also said that we would contact the National Police and the Army to express our strong interest in his security. He agreed to visit the Human Rights office that very morning, thanked us for interceding with the GOG, and promised to report any further developments in the situation.

--DESPITE 75 COMMISSION SESSIONS OVER NEARLY FOUR YEARS, THE REPORT BREAKS LITTLE GROUND NOT ALREADY EXPLORED BY THE MIAMI HERALD LAST YEAR. IN FACT, THE REPORT DRAWS FREQUENTLY FROM THE HERALD AND IS HEAVILY PADDED WITH WELL-KNOWN BACKGROUND MATERIAL ON CENTRAL AMERICA, INCLUDING FROM THE KISSINGER REPORT. MUCH OF THE MATERIAL HAS LONG BEEN AVAILABLE FROM OTHER PUBLIC SOURCES.

3. REACTIONS: THE POSSIBILITIES FOR READING INTO THE REPORT WHAT ONE WANTS TO BELIEVE ARE DEMONSTRATED BY LOCAL REACTIONS TO THE REPORT.

--JORGE CHAVARRIA GUZMAN, THE PROSECUTING ATTORNEY FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE, WAS INTERVIEWED BY LA NACION ON APRIL 8. HE SAID THAT HIS OFFICE WAS CONTINUING ITS INVESTIGATION INTO THE CASE AND WAS NOT CONVINCED THAT THE SANDINISTAS WERE BEHIND THE ATTACK. HE INSISTED ON HIS ORIGINAL THESIS, THAT THE CIA WAS IN SOME AS-YET-UNDEFINED WAY LINKED TO THE BOMBING. AS TO THE LEFTIST TIES OF GAGUINE, HE NOTED THAT "THE USE OF DOUBLE AGENTS WAS VERY COMMON." CHAVARRIA CONCLUDED THAT THE COMMISSION'S REPORT NEITHER MODIFIED NOR CONTRADICTED THE INVESTIGATION OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE. CHAVARRIA ALSO RAISED QUESTIONS ABOUT THE COMPLICITY OF THE SANDINISTAS AND EXPRESSED DOUBTS ABOUT THE FINGERPRINTS OF HANSEN FOUND IN PANAMA AS THEY WERE

ONLY FOUND EIGHT YEARS AFTER THE LA PENCA BOMBING AND AFTER THE U.S. INTERVENTION IN PANAMA.

--THE LEAD LA NACION (CONSERVATIVE) EDITORIAL ON [redacted]

APRIL 11 ACCEPTED THE GENERAL CONCLUSIONS OF THE REPORT. HOWEVER, IT STILL CONSIDERED THE POSSIBILITY THAT THE CIA, THROUGH MANUEL NORIEGA, WHO ALSO HAD CLOSE TIES TO THE SANDINISTAS, WAS SOMEHOW INVOLVED IN THE BOMBING. THE EDITORIAL ALSO GENERALLY SUPPORTED CHAVARRIA'S REFUSAL TO DISMISS POSSIBILITIES OTHER THAN THE SANDINISTAS.

1. NRC COMMISSIONER FORREST REMICK VISITED MEXICO FROM EDNESDAY, MARCH 2 THROUGH MONDAY, MARCH 7, ACCOMPANIED BY HIS TECHNICAL ASSISTANT REGIS BOYLE AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS SPECIALIST WILLIAM UPSHAW. DR. REMICK CALLED ON

THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF MEXICO'S NATIONAL COMMISSION FOR NUCLEAR SAFETY AND SAFEGUARDS (CNSNS) AND THE UNDERSECRETARY FOR ELECTRICITY AT THE SECRETARIAT FOR ENERGY, MINING AND PARAESTATAL INDUSTRIES (SEMIP). HE ALSO VISITED THE LAGUNA VERDE NUCLEAR PLANT AND DELIVERED A PAPER AT THE TRACBFI WORKSHOP IN CERNAVACA.

2. ON THURSDAY, MARCH 3, COMMISSIONER REMICK MET WITH CNSNS DIRECTOR MIGUEL MEDINA, THE THREE CNSNS OFFICE

DIRECTORS, SERGIO WALLER, TECHNOLOGY REGULATION AND SERVICES; JOSE L. DELGADO, NUCLEAR SAFETY, AND RAUL ORTIZ AGANA, RADIATION SAFETY. LEONORA HERNANDEZ, INTERNATIONAL LIAISON, ALSO ATTENDED THE MEETING. DURING THIS MEETING, MR. MEDINA NOTED THAT CNSNS HAS HAD A 7-YEAR RELATIONSHIP WITH CUBAN COUNTERPARTS WHO OCCASIONALLY VISITED MEXICO FOR TRAINING. HE NOTED THAT THE CUBANS HAD FACED REORGANIZATIONS EVERY YEAR, BUT THAT RECENTLY THEY SEEMED TO BE DEALING WITH NUCLEAR QUESTIONS MORE SERIOUSLY. MR. EDINA ALSO INDICATED THAT THE CNSNS WAS PROVIDING TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE TO THE CUBAN GOVERNMENT IN THE AREAS OF RADIATION PROTECTION, TRAINING, AND MEDICINE. HE ALSO STATED THAT THE CUBANS MAY NOT CONTINUE WITH THE DEVELOPMENT OF THEIR COMMERCIAL NUCLEAR REACTORS.

3. MEDINA ALSO NOTED AN INCIDENT INVOLVING A RADIOACTIVE SHIPMENT FROM THE U.S. IN EARLY FEBRUARY THIS YEAR. TO SUPPORT A CHEMICAL DECONTAMINATION PROJECT AT LAGUNA VERDE, VECTRA TECHNOLOGIES, INC. SUPPLIED CFE WITH A RESIN DRYING SYSTEM (RDS). THE SYSTEM WAS PLACED IN A VAN AND ARRIVED AT LAGUNA VERDE ON FEBRUARY 5. UPON ARRIVAL, DRIPPING WAS

UNCLASSIFIED

OBSERVED COMING FROM THE VAN. THE VAN WAS REMOVED TO INSIDE THE TURBINE BUILDING TRUCK BAY WHERE THE EQUIPMENT WAS REMOVED AND DECONTAMINATED. APPROPRIATE RADIOLOGICAL SURVEYS WERE PERFORMED AND NO CONTAMINATION WAS DETECTED. MR. MEDINA PROVIDED A COPY OF A COMPREHENSIVE REPORT ON THE INCIDENT TO NRC.

4. MEDINA GAVE A BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE CNSNS ORGANIZATION, NOTING THAT THE AGENCY HAD APPROXIMATELY 200 PEOPLE, ABOUT 120 OF WHOM HAD TECHNICAL BACKGROUNDS. SOME CNSNS EMPLOYEES HAVE BEEN TRAINED AT NRC'S TECHNICAL TRAINING CENTER IN CHATTANOOGA, TENNESSEE, AND SENT FOR FURTHER TRAINING IN SPAIN. DUE TO THE RELATIVELY LOW WAGE STRUCTURE, CNSNS HAS HAD DIFFICULTY IN RETAINING TRAINED ENGINEERS.

5. NOTING THAT RESPONSIBILITY FOR RADIOACTIVE WASTE DISPOSAL FACILITIES LIES WITH THE SECRETARY OF ENERGY, MR. EDINA STATED THAT MEXICO HAS AN EXISTING LOW-LEVEL WASTE DISPOSAL FACILITY ABOUT 50 MILES FROM MEXICO CITY. HOWEVER, IT APPEARS THAT CNSNS DOES NOT FIND THE EXISTING

LOWLEVEL WASTE DISPOSAL SITE TO BE ADEQUATE FOR FUTURE NEEDS, AND HAS RECOMMENDED THAT THE SECRETARY OF ENERGY PERFORM A NEW STUDY OF THE ADEQUACY OF THE FACILITY. THERE ALSO ARE TENTATIVE PLANS TO BUILD A LOW-LEVEL WASTE FACILITY AT LAGUNA VERDE SIMILAR TO THE FACILITY AT EL CABRIL IN SPAIN. IF THIS FACILITY IS CONSTRUCTED, IT WILL BE USED FOR THE DISPOSAL OF ALL OF MEXICO'S LOW-LEVEL RADIOACTIVE WASTES. CURRENTLY, THE ONLY HIGH-LEVEL WASTE IN EXICO IS THE SPENT FUEL FROM LAGUNA VERDE. SINCE ITS SPENT FUEL POOL HAS A CAPACITY OF 30 TO 40 YEARS OF SPENT FUEL, PLANS ARE TO STORE THE SPENT FUEL AT THE FACILITY FOR THE FORESEEABLE FUTURE.

6. CNSNS GAVE A PRESENTATION ON RISK-BASED REGULATION AND NOTED THAT MEXICO HAS ONLY ONE NUCLEAR FACILITY AND WOULD LIKE TO JOIN THE COOPERATIVE SEVERE ACCIDENT RESEARCH PROGRAM ON AN IN-KIND BASIS, RATHER THAN PAYING CASH. COMMISSIONER NOTED THAT CNSNS REPRESENTATIVES HAD ATTENDED CSARP MEETINGS IN THE PAST AND THAT NRC IS STILL AWAITING CNSNS' VIEWS ON THE SCOPE OF SUCH A POSSIBLE ARRANGEMENT.

7. THE GROUP NEXT MADE A COURTESY CALL ON SEMIP UNDERSECRETARY GIORDANO GOMEZ FOR A BRIEF INTRODUCTORY MEETING. GOMEZ EXPRESSED SUPPORT FOR THE CNSNS' ACTIVITIES BUT AS HE IS NEW TO THE JOB, WAS UNABLE TO DISCUSS MUCH OF SUBSTANCE. COMMISSIONER REMICK GAVE MR. GOMEZ A SUMMARY OF THE STATUS OF THE NUCLEAR SAFETY CONVENTION. COMMISSIONER REMICK NOTED THAT SINCE THERE IS NO CONSENSUS ON HOW RADIOACTIVE WASTE SHOULD BE HANDLED, IT SHOULD BE EXCLUDED FROM THE CONVENTION AT THIS TIME. MR GOMEZ EMPHASIZED MEXICO'S SUPPORT OF THE CONVENTION, STATED THAT MEXICO WILL CONTINUE TO COOPERATE WITH THE U.S. ON ITS DEVELOPMENT, AND INDICATED THAT MEXICO WILL PROBABLY BE PREPARED TO SIGN THE CONVENTION IN SEPTEMBER. COMMISSIONER REMICK ALSO DESCRIBED NRC AND ITS OPERATION AND, AT THE BEHEST OF THE CNSNS, EMPHASIZED NRC'S INDEPENDENCE AND THE NEED FOR REGULATORY ORGANIZATIONS, IN GENERAL, TO BE INDEPENDENT IN REGULATING COMMERCIAL NUCLEAR POWER PLANTS, NON-POWER REACTORS AND MATERIALS.

ON FRIDAY, MARCH 4, THE NRC GROUP, ACCOMPANIED BY MIGUEL MEDINA AND CNSNS DIRECTOR OF NUCLEAR SAFETY JOSE LUIS DELGADO, VISITED THE LAGUNA VERDE NUCLEAR POWER PLANT, ABOUT ONE HOUR NORTH OF VERACRUZ BY ROAD. LAGUNA VERDE I WAS ORIGINALLY PUT INTO OPERATION IN JULY 1990 AND HAD JUST COMPLETED ITS THIRD CYCLE. THE PLANT WAS SHUT DOWN FOR REFUELING IN JANUARY 1994 AND WAS STILL IN THE PROCESS OF REFUELING DURING THE COMMISSIONER'S VISIT. THE NRC GROUP WAS GIVEN A TOP-TO-BOTTOM TOUR OF LAGUNA VERDE I BY THE SUPERINTENDENT OF TECHNICAL SUPPORT FERNANDO BARRERA. THE COMMISSIONER WAS TAKEN INSIDE THE CONTAINMENT BUILDING OF LAGUNA VERDE I WHERE THE INTERNALS OF THE REACTOR COULD BE SEEN. HE WAS ALSO TAKEN TO VIEW THE TURBINE HALL, THE

RADWASTE CONTROL ROOM, THE DIESEL GENERATORS, THE BATTERY ROOM, THE OPERATIONAL SUPPORT CENTER, THE CONTROL ROOM, THE TRAINING SUPPORT CENTER, AND THE SIMULATOR. THE COMMISSIONER'S OVERALL VIEW OF THE FACILITY WAS THAT IT IS WELL RUN, WITH STATE-OFTHEART EQUIPMENT AND A COMPETENT STAFF. INITIAL LOADING FOR LAGUNA VERDE II WAS SCHEDULED FOR MARCH, HOWEVER, THAT UNIT IS STILL UNDERGOING PRE-TESTING, HAS SUFFERED A MINOR PROBLEM WITH TURBINE BLADES AND MAY NOT BE STARTED UNTIL AFTER THE AUGUST ELECTIONS.

9. ON MONDAY, MARCH 7, COMMISSIONER REMICK GAVE A SPEECH AT THE TRAC-BFI WORKSHOP IN CUERNAVACA. IN ADDITION TO FORMAL REMARKS, COMMISSIONER REMICK FIELDED SEVERAL QUESTIONS RELATED TO HEALTH OF THE COMMERCIAL NUCLEAR POWER INDUSTRY IN THE U.S., RISKED-BASED REGULATION AND THE STATUS OF THE SBWR.

SUBJECT: JOHN HULL IN NICARAGUA RENEWS COSTA RICAN EXTRADITION INTEREST

REF: SAN JOSE 2648

1. THE COSTA RICAN PRESS HAS REPORTED THAT AMERICAN CITIZEN JOHN HULL MAY CURRENTLY BE IN NICARAGUA. SINCE 1990, HULL'S APPEARANCE HAS BEEN DEMANDED BY A COSTA RICAN CRIMINAL COURT TO ANSWER CHARGES RANGING FROM ENEMY ACTS AGAINST COSTA RICA (I.E. HE IS ACCUSED OF BEING ONE OF THE INDIVIDUALS BEHIND THE 1984 LA PENCA BOMBING) TO NARCOTICS-TRAFFICKING. HULL IS ALLEGED TO HAVE WORKED CLOSELY WITH THE CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY IN SUPPORT OF THE NICARAGUAN CONTRAS.

2. ACCORDING TO THE PRESS, HULL ENTERED NICARAGUA ABOUT TWO MONTHS AGO. HULL REPORTEDLY OWNS PROPERTY IN THE CHONTALES AREA IN SOUTHERN NICARAGUA AND IS REGARDED AS SOMETHING OF A LOCAL HERO FOR HIS WORK IN SUPPORT OF THE HOSPITAL IN JUIGALPA AND FOR HIS HELP WITH AN EYE CLINIC.

3. LA NACION QUERIED PRESIDENT CALDERON ABOUT THE HULL CASE ON APRIL 18. CALDERON ANSWERED THAT THE COSTA RICAN COURT MIGHT MAKE ADDITIONAL EFFORTS TO SEEK HULL'S EXTRADITION. THE FOLLOWING DAY VICE FOREIGN MINISTER HERNAN CASTRO CONFIRMED THE GOCR'S INTENTION TO ASK THE COSTA RICAN EMBASSY IN WASHINGTON TO RE-SUBMIT THE ORIGINAL EXTRADITION REQUEST.

4. COMMENT: DESPITE THE REPORT OF THE LA PENCA

INVESTIGATION COMMISSION (REFTEL), THE EXTRADITION CASE AGAINST JOHN HULL REMAINS ACTIVE. ALTHOUGH HIGH GOCR OFFICIALS UNDERSTAND THAT HULL IS NOT LIKELY TO BE EXTRADITED, THE FACT IS THAT EVERY TIME EITHER HULL OR LA PENCA SURFACE PUBLICLY, THE GOCR FEELS COMPELLED TO GO THROUGH THE MOTIONS OF ASKING FOR EXTRADITION IN ORDER TO AVOID CRITICISM. IN THIS LATEST INSTANCE, THE ACTUAL REQUEST MAY NOT MATERIALIZE SINCE THE CURRENT GOVERNMENT LEAVES OFFICE ON MAY 8.

MS. SHELLY: GOOD AFTERNOON. I AM PLEASED TO WELCOME OUR GUEST BRIEFER FOR TODAY, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE FOR POLITICAL-MILITARY AFFAIRS AND CHAIRMAN OF THE SENIOR POLICY STEERING GROUP ON KOREA, ROBERT GALLUCCI.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI RECENTLY RETURNED FROM A TRIP TO THE REPUBLIC OF KOREA, CHINA AND JAPAN, AND IS HERE TODAY TO DISCUSS WITH YOU SOME OF THE DEVELOPMENTS RELATING TO NORTH KOREA THAT CAME OUT OF THAT TRIP.

HE WILL BEGIN WITH A BRIEF OPENING STATEMENT, SOME REMARKS, AND THEN WILL TAKE YOUR QUESTIONS, FOLLOWING OUR USUAL FORMAT.

ALSO FOLLOWING ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI'S PRESENTATION, I WILL TAKE YOUR QUESTIONS ON OTHER SUBJECTS.

IT'S ALL YOURS. I PASS THE BATON, AND I WILL NOT TAKE QUESTIONS ON KOREA. ASK THEM ALL.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI: THAT'S CALLED PASSING THE BATON AND THE BUCK AT THE SAME TIME.

GOOD AFTERNOON, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN. I'M GOING TO MAKE MY OPENING REMARKS VERY BRIEF AND LEAVE THE REST FOR QUESTIONS. I THINK, AS YOU ALL KNOW, WE HAVE BEEN ENGAGED FOR ABOUT TEN MONTHS IN TRYING TO NEGOTIATE A RESOLUTION TO THE NUCLEAR ISSUE INVOLVING NORTH KOREA. AND WE HAVE BEEN CLEAR ABOUT WHAT OUR OBJECTIVES ARE OVER THESE TEN MONTHS AND THEY HAVEN'T CHANGED.

WE WANT [A WANT] A NUCLEAR-FREE KOREAN PENINSULA. WE WANT THE NORTH KOREANS TO ACCEPT FULL-SCOPE SAFEGUARDS, AN UNAMBIGUOUS, FULLY COMMITTED MEMBER OF THE NON-PROLIFERATION TREATY. WE WANT THAT STATUS CLEARED UP. WE WANT THE NORTH KOREANS TO GET ON WITH DISCUSSIONS WITH THE SOUTH KOREANS WITH THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NORTH-SOUTH DECLARATION ON DENUCLEARIZATION.

OVER THESE TEN MONTHS, THERE HAVE BEEN A COUPLE OF ROUNDS OF TALKS, AND BEGINNING IN JUNE, WE HAD A FIRST ROUND. WE HAD A SECOND ROUND IN JULY IN GENEVA. AND WE HAD

INITIALLY HOPED THAT WE WOULD HAVE A SERIES OF TALKS AT ABOUT THE SAME INTERVAL WITH THE TALKS ENDING IN JULY, ANTICIPATING TALKS IN SEPTEMBER.

THEY DID NOT OCCUR BECAUSE WE HAVE HAD STANDARDS FOR THESE TALKS THAT INCLUDED THE MAINTENANCE OF THE CONTINUITY OF SAFEGUARDS BY INSPECTIONS OF THE INTERNATIONAL ATOMIC ENERGY AGENCY, AND WHEN THOSE INSPECTIONS WERE NOT FORTHCOMING, WE DID NOT GO TO A THIRD ROUND.

IN FEBRUARY WE REACHED AN AGREEMENT -- ON FEBRUARY 25TH -- WITH THE DPRK WHICH HAD A NUMBER OF ELEMENTS. WE CAN GO INTO THE DETAILS OF THAT, BUT, VERY SIMPLY, THEY PROVIDED FOR THE CONDUCT OF THE THIRD ROUND OF TALKS IN MARCH. THEY PROVIDED FOR THE RESUMPTION OF THE ORTH-SOUTH DIALOGUE, WHICH WOULD HAVE ADVANCED THE CAUSE OF NEGOTIATING THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THAT NORTH-SOUTH DECLARATION ON DENUCLEARIZATION THAT I MENTIONED.

THEY PROVIDED FOR THE SUSPENSION OF TEAM SPIRIT CONTINGENT ON THE COMPLETION OF THE OTHER STEPS, AND FINALLY THEY PROVIDED FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NECESSARY SAFEGUARDS MEASURES BY THE IAEA, ACCORDING TO AN AGREEMENT REACHED BETWEEN THE AGENCY AND THE DPRK ON THE 15TH OF FEBRUARY.

IF YOU WERE COUNTING, YOU WOULD HAVE NOTED FOUR MOVING PARTS IN THAT FEBRUARY 25TH AGREEMENT, AND THE

TWO PARTS THAT THE SOUTH KOREANS AND THE UNITED STATES WERE SUPPOSED TO DO, WE ACTUALLY WERE QUITE PREPARED TO DO, TO GO TO THE THIRD ROUND, AND ACTUALLY TEAM SPIRIT WAS SUSPENDED.

UNFORTUNATELY THE OTHER TWO MOVING PARTS, THE COMPLETION OF THE INSPECTIONS ACCORDING TO THE FEBRUARY 15TH AGENDA AGREED WITH THE AGENCY, WAS NOT EXECUTED BY THE DPRK. THE AGENCY GOT TO DO SOME OF THOSE INSPECTIONS BUT NOT ALL OF THEM. AND, SECONDLY, THE NORTH KOREANS REFUSED TO MEET WITH THE SOUTH KOREANS AND CONDUCT WHAT BECAME KNOWN AS THE "EXCHANGE OF ENVOYS" PRIOR TO THE HOLDING OF THE THIRD ROUND. AND SO THERE WAS NO THIRD ROUND IN MARCH.

SUBSEQUENT TO THAT, THE SECURITY COUNCIL TOOK UP THE MATTER, AS IT IS REQUIRED TO DO, IN MARCH, AND ON THE 31ST OF MARCH, THERE WAS A STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL, WHICH WAS UNANIMOUSLY SUPPORTED BY ALL 15 MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL, INCLUDING, OF COURSE, THE CHINESE. THAT STATEMENT HAD A NUMBER OF PROVISIONS, BUT AMONG THEM IT WAS ENCOURAGING -- IT ENCOURAGED THE DPRK TO GET ON WITH AND ACCEPT THE NECESSARY INSPECTIONS REQUIRED BY THE IAEA.

IT ALSO FORESHADOWED THE TAKING UP OF THE MATTER AGAIN IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL IF THIS DID NOT HAPPEN, AND

THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF THE IAEA WAS ASKED TO COME TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL IN MAY TO MAKE A REPORT ON THE STATUS OF SAFEGUARDS.

SO THERE'S A TIME-URGENCY ELEMENT TO THE PRESIDENTIAL STATEMENT -- THE SECURITY COUNCIL'S PRESIDENTIAL STATEMENT.

AT THE SAME TIME, IN THIS INTERAL, SINCE MARCH 31 AND A PERIOD TO OCCUR SOMETIME IN MAY, WHEN THE DIRECTOR

GENERAL WOULD COME BACK, THE SOUTH KOREANS DECIDED -- THE ROK DECIDED -- TO TAKE A STEP TO DEMONSTRATE FLEXIBILITY. IT'S AN IMPORTANT STEP. THEY REMOVED THE EXCHANGE OF SPECIAL ENVOYS AS A PRECONDITION TO THE HOLDING OF A THIRD ROUND OF TALKS BETWEEN THE DPRK AND THE UNITED STATES.

IN THIS INTERVENING PERIOD, WE HAVE BEEN ACTIVE. I JUST RETURNED FROM ASIA. I WENT OUT ALONE AND CAME BACK WITH SECRETARY PERRY. I'VE BEEN TO BEIJING AND TO TOKYO

AND TO SEOUL. DURING PART OF THAT TRIP, AS I SAID, I WAS WITH SECRETARY OF DEFENSE PERRY.

WE CONSULTED WITH OUR ALLIES. WE ARE WORKING ON ANOTHER APPROACH TO THE DPRK. WE CONSULTED WITH THE CHINESE, OF COURSE, OVER THIS ISSUE AGAIN. THEY'RE AN IMPORTANT PLAYER WITH INFLUENCE IN THE DPRK AS WELL AS, OF COURSE, BEING A MEMBER OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL, IF THE ISSUE WERE TO RETURN TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL AND THE QUESTION OF SANCTIONS WERE TO BE RAISED AGAIN.

OUR HOPE IS NOW THAT WE HAVE CONSULTED WITH THE ALLIES, AND PARTICULARLY WITH THE ROK, THAT WE'LL BE ABLE TO GO BACK TO THE DPRK WITH A PROPOSAL THAT LOOKS VERY MUCH LIKE THE FEBRUARY 25 PROPOSAL IN THAT IT WOULD HAVE SIMILAR ELEMENTS. OBVIOUSLY, IT WOULD STILL REQUIRE THE MAINTENANCE OF THE CONTINUITY OF SAFEGUARDS BY THE DPRK.

WE WILL CERTAINLY BE PREPARED TO GO TO A THIRD ROUND. IT'S SOMETHING WE'D LIKE TO DO. WE'D LIKE TO REACH A DIPLOMATIC RESOLUTION TO THIS ISSUE.

THE SUSPENSION OF TEAM SPIRIT, AS AN EXERCISE WHICH, DURING THE COURSE OF SECRETARY PERRY'S TRIP, THE ROK ANNOUNCED THAT THEY HAD RESCHEDULED, ALONG WITH US, FOR THE NOVEMBER TIMEFRAME BUT WOULD BE OPEN TO SUSPENSION AGAIN IF, IN FACT AN ARRANGEMENT OF THE KIND ENVISIONED IN THE FEBRUARY 25 AGREEMENT WERE TO BE AGREED TO. SO THE SUSPENSION OF TEAM SPIRIT COULD ALSO BE AN ELEMENT.

OF COURSE, THE INTER-KOREAN DIALOGUE, OR ADVANCING THE INTER-KOREAN DIALOGUE, IN SOME MODALITY WOULD ALSO FIGURE IN SUCH AN ARRANGEMENT.

WE HOPE, IN FACT, THAT THIS WEEK WE'LL BE ABLE TO GET BACK TO THE DPRK, ALMOST CERTAINLY USING THE NEW YORK CHANNEL, WHICH YOU'RE WELL AWARE OF; THAT WE CONDUCT TALKS

AT EITHER THE OFFICE DIRECTOR OR DEPUTY ASSISTANT SECRETARY LEVEL.

I'M NOT GOING TO GO INTO ANYMORE DETAIL ABOUT EXACTLY WHAT WE MIGHT PROPOSE. THAT IS STILL NOT SET. I'M NOT GOING TO GO INTO ANY DETAIL ABOUT EXACTLY WHEN

WE'LL BE TALKING TO THE NORTH. THAT'S NOT SET YET EITHER.

BUT I DID WANT TO TELL YOU EXACTLY WHERE WE WERE IN OUR EFFORTS TO GET BACK TO THE TALKS.

ONE OTHER ELEMENT I'D JUST PUT OUT FOR YOU TO NOTE. THAT IS THAT WE RECEIVED AN INDICATION, AS DID THE IAEA, THAT THE DPRK WISHED TO DISCHARGE FEL FROM THEIR 25-MEGAWATT THERMAL REACTOR, AND THAT THEY ALSO PLANNED ON REFUELING THAT REACTOR AND THAT THEY WERE WILLING TO ACCEPT IAEA PRESENCE.

MY UNDERSTANDING OF THIS ISSUE AT THE CURRENT TIME IS THAT THE IAEA IS IN DISCUSSION WITH DPRK OVER EXACTLY WHAT "PRESENCE" MEANS AND HOW IT WILL BE DEFINED.

THE POSITION OF THE UNITED STATES ON THIS WILL BE CLEAR. WHATEVER THE IAEA DETERMINES THAT IT TECHNICALLY NEEDS TO DO THE SAFEGUARDS MISSION THAT IT EXISTS TO CONDUCT, WE WILL SUPPORT.

I THINK AT THIS POINT I WOULD STOP. THAT'S THE STATUS. I'D BE HAPPY TO GO BACK OVER EITHER MORE HISTORICAL THINGS OR TRY TO GO INTO ANY OF THESE ISSUES IN A LITTLE MORE DETAIL THAT YOU WOULD LIKE.

Q DID YOU GET THE IMPRESSION IN BEIJING THAT THE CHINESE WOULD GO ALONG WITH SANCTIONS IF THEY WERE CALLED UPON TO DO SO?

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI: THE CHINESE HAVE BEEN CLEAR ALL ALONG THAT THEY DO NOT BELIEVE THAT THE BEST ROUTE TO THE SETTLEMENT OF THIS ISSUE -- THE RESOLUTION OF THIS ISSUE -- IS THROUGH UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL SANCTIONS.

WE ALSO AGREE THAT THIS IS NOT THE BEST ROUTE, BUT IT IS FOR US THE ALTERNATIVE IF WE CAN'T FIND A DIPLOMATIC SOLUTION AND NEGOTIATE THE SETTLEMENT AND ACHIEVE THE OBJECTIVES THAT WE HAVE LAID OUT THAT I DESCRIBED AT THE BEGINNING.

WE TALKED OBVIOUSLY ABOUT THIS IN BEIJING. THE CHINESE COUNSEL PATIENCE AND THEY COUNSEL FLEXIBILITY AND THEY COUNSEL AVOIDANCE OF PRESSURE.

WE HAVE BEEN PATIENT. I DON'T THINK WE'VE BEEN PATIENT TO A FAULT BUT WE HAVE BEEN PATIENT. THIS ISSUE

IS OF SUCH SERIOUS PROPORTIONS, IF IT IS NOT MANAGED WELL, THAT

PATIENCE IS APPROPRIATE. BUT I THIK WE CAN SAY THAT WE HAVE BEEN PATIENT.

I THINK WE HAVE BEEN FLEXIBLE IN TACTICS, IF I CAN PUT IT THAT WAY. CERTAINLY, THE REPUBLIC OF KOREA HAS DEMONSTRATED THAT KIND OF OPENNESS TO ADJUSTING MODALITIES SO THAT WE CAN GET ON WITH SERIOUS DISCUSSIONS. WE'RE NOT TRYING TO PT PARTICULAR PRESSURE ON THE NORTH OTHER THAN TO NOTE WHAT IS LEGALLY REQUIRED -- INTERNATIONALLY REQUIRED -- AND THAT IS A RETURN TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL WHERE THE ISSUE WAS BROUGHT BY THE IAEA BECAUSE THAT'S WHAT IS PROVIDED IN THE AGENCY STATUTE.

ALL THIS IS TO SAY THAT I ANTICIPATE THAT THE CHINESE WILL HAVE DIFFICULTY WITH SANCTIONS, BUT I'M NOT GOING TO PREDICT HOW THEY WOULD ULTIMATELY VOTE IF THE SANCTIONS RESOLUTION CAME TO THE FLOOR, ESPECIALLY IF WE HAD BEEN CONVINCING, AS I THINK WE CAN BE, THAT WE HAVE DONE EVERYTHING WE COULD TO FIND ALTERNATIVES TO SANCTIONS AND THAT WE WERE THERE AS A LAST RESORT.

Q HOW ABOUT TOKYO? DO YOU GET A FEELING THAT THEY WOULD GO ALONG? THEY DON'T HAVE A VETO. WOULD THEY GO ALONG --

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI: IT IS TRUE THE JAPANESE DO NOT HAVE A VETO. BUT THE JAPANESE, FOR A VARIETY OF VERY GOOD REASONS, WOULD FIGURE PROMINENTLY

IN THE EFFECTIVENESS OF ANY SANCTIONS -- VIRTUALLY ANY SANCTIONS -- RESOLUTIONS THAT WERE OTED. WE CONSULTED IN SOME DETAIL WITH THE JAPANESE DURING THIS LAST TRIP. I WOULD SAY THERE IS NO DAYLIGHT BETWEEN US AND THEM ON THIS. NOBODY IS PARTICULARLY ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT SANCTIONS. BUT WE RECOGNIZE IF THAT TURNS OUT TO BE THE ONLY COURSE OPEN TO US, WE EXPECT THE JAPANESE WILL BE WITH US IN SUPPORTING THEM.

Q UNDERSTANDING THAT THE IAEA IS GOING TO BE MAKING THE TECHNICAL DETERMINATIONS ON WHEN THEY PULL THE FUEL WHAT IT IS THEY NEED TO HAVE, CAN YOU GO OVER SORT OF BASIC POSITIONS OF HOW MUCH SAMPLING YOU WOULD FIND APPROPRIATE, LOOKING AT THE STUFF THAT HAS COME

OUT? AND WHAT SORT OF GENERAL HANDS-ON THINGS WOULD YOU THINK WOULD BE NECESSARY FOR THIS INSPECTION TO BE ANYTHING BUT A -- NOT THE INSPECTION -- BUT THE OBSERVANCE OF THE CHANGING OF THE FUEL?

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI: I'M NOT GOING TO GO VERY FAR DOWN THAT ROAD BECAUSE THAT'S A ROAD THAT, REALLY, THE IAEA HAS CONTROL OF AS IT OUGHT TO.

I WILL SAY THAT THE WORD "PRESENCE" -- THAT THE IAEA MUST BE PRESENT AT THE DISCHARGE OF FUEL -- DOES NOT CAPTURE EVERYTHING THAT MUST HAPPEN. IT WILL NOT BE SUFFICIENT FOR THE IAEA INSPECTORS TO BE IN NORTH KOREA WHILE THIS IS HAPPENING. THEY'RE GOING TO HAVE MORE DEMANDING SETS OF ACTIVITIES TO BE CONDUCTED IF THEY ARE GOING TO PROVIDE THE ASSURANCES WITH RESPECT TO THE HISTORY AND DISPOSITION OF THAT FUEL THAT WE EXPECT OF THE AGENCY.

SO THE AGENCY WILL DEFINE TECHNICALLY, AND I THINK PROBABLY HAS DEFINED TECHNICALLY TO THE DPRK WHAT ACTIVITIES IT WILL NEED TO CONDUCT. THE DPRK AND THE IAEA ARE GOING TO HAVE TO TALK ABOUT THAT.

WITH RESPECT TO THE ACTUAL DETAILS, WHETHER THEY NEED TO BE TAKING ONE KIND OF SCAN VERSUS ANOTHER KIND OF SCAN AND WHAT KIND OF TECHNICAL ANALYSIS. WE'RE AWARE OF SOME OF THAT DETAIL. I DON'T THINK IT'S USEFUL FOR ME TO GO INTO IT BECAUSE WE WILL NOT MAKE AN INDEPENDENT JUDGMENT. WE WILL BE LOOKING FOR THE IAEA TO DETERMINE TECHNICALLY WHAT IT NEEDS TO DO, AND WE WILL SUPPORT THE IAEA IN THAT REQUIREMENT.

Q IS THE INVITATION, REGARDLESS OF HOW LIMITED IT MAY BE, IS THAT SEEN AS A GOOD SIGN BECAUSE THEY'RE AT LEAST ALLOWING A FOOT IN THE DOOR HERE? DO YOU REGARD THAT AS A GESTURE THAT IS COMPLIMENTARY TO THE SOUTH KOREAN GESTURE IN TERMS OF EXCHANGE OF SPECIAL ENVOYS AND SEQUENCING? HOW DO YOU VIEW IT FROM A TACTICAL --

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI: LET ME SAY, FIRST -- RECALL TO YOU THAT IN JUNE WE LAID OUT WHAT WE THOUGHT

WERE VERY REASONABLE STANDARDS FOR OUR DIALOGUE THAT WE NEEDED TO MAKE WERE MAINTAINED. ONE OF THEM WAS THE

CONTINUITY OF SAFEGUARDS KNOWLEDGE ON THE MATERIAL IN

THE DPRK. ANOTHER WAS THAT THERE BE IAEA PRESENCE IF THE DPRK DECIDED IT NEEDED TO DISCHARGE FUEL FROM THAT REACTION.

SO THE OFFER OF PRESENCE IS CONSISTENT WITH WHAT WE WOULD HAVE EXPECTED THEM TO DO AS WELL AS, OF COURSE, WHAT IS REQUIRED UNDER THE SAFEGUARDS AGREEMENT. SO, YES, I GUESS AT THAT LEVEL I WOULD SAY WE ARE PLEASED TO NOTE THEIR OFFER OF IAEA PRESENCE. WHAT THAT TRANSLATES TO IN TERMS OF PERMITTED IAEA ACTIVITIES WILL DETERMINE JUST HOW MUCH PLEASURE WE HAVE AT NOTING THAT.

BEYOND THAT, I WOULD ALSO NOTE THAT THE DPRK HAS ALLOWED AS HOW THEY INTEND TO ALSO REFUEL THE REACTOR. REFUELING THE REACTOR IS NOT A STEP WHICH WE ARE PLEASED WITH. WE THINK IT'S A STEP IN THE WRONG DIRECTION. WE WOULD HAVE LIKED TO SEE THEIR PROGRAM ESSENTIALLY FROZEN WHILE WE ARE ENGAGED IN THESE DISCUSSIONS.

WE WOULD ASK THEM TO RECONSIDER THAT STEP OF REFUELING THE REACTOR. THIS IS NOT A PRECONDITION OR A CONDITION OF OUR TALKS, BUT WE JUST GENERALLY THINK THAT IS NOT A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

WHETHER THE DEFUELING ACTIVITY WITH THE PRESENCE OF THE IAEA IS TO BE GREETED WITH ENTHUSIASM, I THINK, HAS YET TO BE DETERMINED.

Q WHAT IS THE ACTUAL ATTITUDE OF THE SOUTH KOREAN GOVERNMENT? IT SEEMS TO ME THAT AS THIS SITUATION HAS DEVELOPED, THEY'VE ALWAYS TRIED TO PUT A BREAK ON THE MORE RADICAL STATEMENTS OR MORE VIOLENCE STATEMENTS COMING FROM THE UNITED STATES.

FOR INSTANCE, WHEN PRESIDENT CLINTON FIRST MADE HIS COMMENTS AFTER A MEETING WITH THE SOUTH KOREAN FOREIGN MINISTER, IT WAS MUCH MORE MILD THAN HE FIRST HAD EXPRESSED HIMSELF. AND WHEN HE TALKED WITH THE SOUTH KOREAN GOVERNMENT PEOPLE, IT SEEMS THAT PRIVATELY THEY'RE STILL LOOKING FORWARD TO THE DAY WHEN KOREA WOULD AGAIN BE REUNITED AND THEREFORE THEY WANT TO PLAY THIS DOWN.

HOW HAS THE COLLABORATION WITH SOUTH KOREA BEEN?

AND HAVE THEY ALWAYS BEEN IN LINE WITH WAT THE IAEA OR WHAT THE U.S. WANTED IN RESPECT TO THE NORTH KOREAN SITUATION?

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI: FIRST, I WANT TO CLARIFY A POINT. THE REFERENCE TO RADICAL OR EXTREME STATEMENTS FROM THE UNITED STATES, I KNOW YOU MUST BE TALKING ABOUT OTHER THAN FROM AN ADMINISTRATION SPOKESMAN, SINCE THERE HAVE BEEN NO SUCH STATEMENTS OUT OF THE ADMINISTRATION.

Q LET'S SAY LESS MILD THAN WAS LATER EXPRESSED AT A FURTHER DATE AFTER COLLABORATION WITH THE SOUTH

KOREANS?

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI: ACTUALLY, LET ME TAKE

ISSUE FUNDAMENTALLY WITH THE PROPOSITION THAT THE UNITED STATES HAS BEEN TRYING TO SEND A COUPLE OF MESSAGES TO THE DPRK SPECIFICALLY, OF TO OTHERS AS WELL.

THE FIRST MESSAGE IS THAT WE HAVE AN ALLIANCE RELATIONSHIP WITH THE REPUBLIC OF KOREA THAT WE HAVE EVERY INTENTION OF HONORING AND THE REPUBLIC OF KOREA CAN REMAIN CONFIDENT IN THAT COMMITMENT. THAT'S A VERY IMPORTANT MESSAGE. ONE CAN SAY THAT AND ONE CAN CONSTRUE THAT IF ONE WISHES AS EXTREME, BUT THAT IS A FACT.

A SECOND FACT IS THAT WE ARE COMMITTED TO THE NON-PROLIFERATION OBJECTIVES THAT WE HAVE DEFINED IN THIS CASE. WE HAVE SOME UNCERTAINTIES AS HAVE BEEN IDENTIFIED ABOUT WHAT EXACTLY EXISTS IN NORTH KOREA AT THE MOMENT. THOSE UNCERTAINTIES ARE NOT TO BE SURPRISED AT. IT IS A CLOSED SOCIETY.

AT THE SAME TIME, THERE SHOULD BE NO DOUBT OR UNCERTAINLY OVER OUR OBJECTIVES, WHICH IS TO HAVE NO NUCLEAR WEAPONS IN NORTH KOREA, TO HAVE NO SEPARATED FISSILE

MATERIAL IN NORTH KOREA AND TO HAVE NO FACILITY CAPABLE OF PRODUCING FISSILE MATERIAL, REPROCESSING OR ENRICHMENT.

THESE ARE PRETTY CLEAR OBJECTIVES. NOW, YOU TALK ABOUT OUR RELATIONSHIP WITH THE REPUBLIC OF KOREA.

THE REPUBLIC OF KOREA AND WE, WE ARE AS CLOSE IN OUR CONSULTATIONS AS I AM AWARE OF IN MY 20 YEARS IN THIS BUSINESS. WE TALK FREQUENTLY. NEEDLESS TO SAY, THIS IS AN ISSUE OF NOT ONLY OVERRIDING FOREIGN POLICY BUT DOMESTIC POLICY CONCERN IN THE REPUBLIC OF KOREA AS WELL AS IN THE UNITED STATES. SO IT IS NATURAL THAT WE ARE GOING TO HAVE CLOSE CONSULTATIONS AND HAVE TO DO THAT TO WORK OUT TACTICAL POSITIONS THAT WE TAKE WITH THE NORTH.

I DON'T THINK THAT EITHER ONE OF US IS ACTING AS A GOVERNOR OR THERMOSTAT ON THE REMARKS OF THE OTHER. REMARKS IN ANY PARTICULAR TIME, WHEN DIFFERENT WORDS ARE USED, CAN BE INTERPRETED AS MOVING IN A DIFFERENT DIRECTION, BUT I DON'T WE HAVE. I THINK OUR COMMITMENT TO THE DEFENSE OF SOUTH KOREA AND OUR OBJECTIVES WITH THE NORTH ARE GOOD, SOLID, CLEAR OBJECTIVES IN STATEMENTS WE'VE MADE FROM THE BEGINNING AND THAT THE SOUTH IS EXACTLY IN THE SAME PLACE.

ON ANY PARTICULAR DAY, WE MAY HAVE A DISCUSSION OF WHAT MODALITY IS BEST TO PURSUE A DISCUSSION. THAT'S ALL REASONABLE, FAIR, AND WELL. I THINK YOU WOULD BE SURPRISED IF THAT WASN'T TRUE.

Q AT THE TIME WHEN THE SECURITY COUNCIL STATEMENT WAS ISSUED, WE WERE TOLD THIS WAS THE FIRST SMALL STEP

OF SEVERAL THAT WERE GOING TO UNFOLD AND SLOWLY RATCHET UP THE INTERNATIONAL PRESSURE ON NORTH KOREA AND ISOLATE WHAT IS ALREADY THE MOST ISOLATED COUNTRY IN THE WORLD.

WHAT MIGHT CONSTITUTE THE NEXT STEPS, AND WHEN MIGHT WE SEE THEM?

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI: ACTUALLY, MOST OF US HOPE THAT WAS THE LAST STEP, NOT THE FIRST STEP. OUR OBJECTIVE IS NOT TO GET BACK TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL. OUR OBJECTIVE IS TO STAY AWAY FROM THE SECURITY COUNCIL, GET ON WITH NEGOTIATIONS AND SETTLE THIS THROUGH A DIPLOMATIC ROUTE AND NOT HAVE TO GO BACK TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

HOWEVER, IF THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF THE IAEA MAKES A REPORT THAT THE SECURITY COUNCIL JUDGES LEADING TO THE NECESSARY CONCLUSION THAT THEY HAVE TO ONCE AGAIN TAKE UP THE ISSUE, THEY WILL. . IF THEY ONCE AGAIN TAKE UP THE ISSUE, THERE'S NO DOUBT THAT THERE WILL BE DISCUSSION ABOUT WHEN AND IF SANCTIONS OUGHT TO BE CONSIDERED AND WHAT KINDS OF SANCTIONS OUGHT TO BE CONSIDERED. THAT'S OFF IN THE FUTURE.

AND, AS I SAID TO YOU, I AM PRINCIPALLY FOCUSED, AS ARE MY COLLEAGUES, ON TRYING TO FIND A DIPLOMATIC SOLUTION TO THIS; NOT A WAY TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

Q JUST A QUESTION ON THE REFUELING/DEFUELING ISSUE. THERE ARE SOME THINGS -- SOME REPORTS THAT GIVE THE IMPRESSION THAT THIS IS A VERY SMALL WINDOW THAT IS GOING TO HAPPEN IN THE NEXT FEW DAYS REALLY.

MY FIRST QUESTION, I GUESS, IS IF THEY DO THIS WITHOUT PRESENCE, ISN'T THAT DE FACTO A BREAK IN SAFEGUARDS, AND DOESN'T THAT SERVE -- WOULDN'T THAT CHANGE THINGS A GREAT DEAL?

AND THE SECOND IS, I GUESS, WHAT IS THE TIME-FRAME FOR ALL THIS HAPPENING? I'VE HEARD THE TEN-DAY PERIOD, AND THINGS LIKE THAT.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI: IT IS OUR VIEW, AS I TOLD YOU, THAT HAVING THE IAEA PRESENT FOR THE DISCHARGE OF THE FUEL IS ONE OF THE STANDARDS WE SET FOR THE CONDUCT OF THE DIALOGUE, AND I'M GOING TO LEAVE THAT STATEMENT RIGHT THERE.

WITH RESPECT TO WHAT THIS MEANS TECHNICALLY IN TERMS OF SAFEGUARDS, I'M GOING TO LEAVE YOU TO ASK THAT TO THE IAEA, RATHER THAN GUESSING AT WHAT THEY WILL SAY TO THAT, BECAUSE THAT ACTUALLY DOES GET INTO SOME VERY INTERESTING TECHNICAL QUESTIONS, ABOUT REESTABLISHING CONTINUITY OF SAFEGUARDS, KNOWLEDGE, ET CETERA, AND THE PEOPLE WHO LIVE, BREATHE SAFEGUARDS, SPEAK A SEPARATE LANGUAGE, AND I PREFER YOU HEAR THE ANSWER IN THAT LANGUAGE RATHER THAN ME TRYING TO GUESS AT IT.

Q I DON'T THINK THIS IS A VERY HIGHLY TECHNICAL

ISSUE REALLY.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI: IT IS A HIGHLY TECHNICAL ISSUE.

Q WELL, IF THEY TAKE SPENT FUEL RODS OUT OF THEIR REACTOR AND DO WHATEVER THEY WANT TO DO WITH THEM, AND

THERE IS NO OUTSIDE OBSERVER VIEWING THIS, I DON'T THINK WE HAVE TO BE VERY TECHNICAL TO SAY THAT'S A VERY SERIOUS PROBLEM.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI: NO. THAT'S THE PROBLEM I SPOKE TO WHEN I SAID THAT WE REQUIRE THE PRESENCE OF THE IAEA FOR THE DISCHARGE OF THE FUEL.

WHEN YOU --

Q WHEN YOU DISCHARGE FUEL WITHOUT THE IAEA, WHAT --

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI: -- AND I SAID THAT FOR US BILATERALLY WITH THE DPRK, WE SAID THAT ONE OF THE

STANDARDS FOR A DIALOGUE WAS TO HAVE THE IAEA PRESENT AT THE DISCHARGE.

NOW, THE IAEA WILL THEN DETERMINE WHAT PRESENCE MEANS, AND THAT IS A HIGHLY TECHNICAL QUESTION, AND

THAT'S THE QUESTION THAT I DON'T WANT TO GO INTO, NOT THE DESIRABILITY OF HAVING INSPECTORS THERE. I HAVE SPOKEN TO THAT, AND IT IS CERTAINLY DESIRABLE AT THAT LEVEL. SO I TAKE YOUR POINT AT GOING THAT FAR. GOING FURTHER, I WISH YOU TO PUT THE QUESTION TO THE IAEA.

ABOUT THE TIMING ISSUE, THIS SUGGESTION THAT THERE IS A DEADLINE, WHAT I UNDERSTAND IS THAT THE DPRK WOULD LIKE TO DISCHARGE THE FUEL FROM THE REACTOR AND MAY BELIEVE THERE ARE TECHNICAL REASONS FOR DOING SO. THEY ALSO UNDERSTAND THE NEED TO HAVE IAEA PRESENCE. I SUSPECT THEY HAVE A CERTAIN FLEXIBILITY WITH THE DISCHARGE OF THAT FUEL, AND IF THEY NEED IT TO REACH AGREEMENT WITH THE AGENCY, I CERTAINLY HOPE THEY USE IT.

CHRISTINE, I HAVE A SENSE OF YOR PRESENCE.

MS. SHELLY: YES. THIS IS THE IGNAL FOR ONE LAST QUESTION, A QUICK ONE.

Q DO YOU HAVE A RELIABLE ESTIMATE OF THE AMOUNT OF MONEY THAT WAS FROM JAPAN TO NORTH KOREA, AND DID YOU GET ANY ASSURANCE THAT THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT WOULD STOP IT WHEN THE SANCTION APPLIES?

ASSISTANT SECRETARY GALLUCCI: I DON'T, OFF THE TOF OF MY HEAD, HAVE SUCH A NUMBER, AND BY SAYING THAT I DON'T MEAN THAT IF YOU ASK ME AFTERWARDS I COULD LOOK IT UP. I MEAN, I DON'T KNOW WHAT THE NUMBER IS. I UNDERSTAND THAT THIS TRANSFER OF FUNDS FROM KOREANS LIVING IN JAPAN IS SUBSTANTIAL AT LEAST IN TERMS OF NORTH KOREAN FOREIGN EXCHANGE. BUT I DON'T KNOW WHAT THE NUMBER IS. THERE MAY BE THOSE WHO DO.

WITH RESPECT TO WHAT THE JAPANESE WOULD DO, I SAID BEFORE THEY INDICATED THAT THEY WOULD BE COOPERATIVE, SUPPORTIVE, AND ACTIVELY SO. AND I TAKE THEM AT THEIR WORD, AND I ASSUME THAT THESE SORTS OF TRANSFERS, TO THE EXTENT THE JAPANESE WERE CAPABLE OF AFFECTING THEM, SHOULD A SANCTIONS REGIME COME INTO EFFECT, WOULD BE INCLUDED. BUT THERE ARE AN AWFUL LOT OF "IFS" IN THAT ENTENCE.

THANK YOU ALL, VERY MUCH.

(DAILY BRIEFING CONTINUED WITH CHRISTINE SHELLY, SPOKESMAN FOR THE STATE DEPARTMENT, COMMENCING AT 1:20 P.M.)

MS. SHELLY: I HAVE A COUPLE OF ANNOUNCEMENTS BEFORE WE CONTINUE WITH THE TOSS OF THE QUESTIONS ON OTHER SUBJECTS.

ON FRIDAY, APRIL 29TH, AT THE STATE DEPARTMENT, THE U.S. SECRETARY OF TRANSPORTATION, FREDERICO PENA WILL HOST A MEETING OF HIS COUNTERPARTS FROM CANADA AND MEXICO TO DISCUSS IMPLEMENTATION OF NAFTA.

SECRETARY PENA WILL BE JOINED BY MINISTER YOUNG OF CANADA, AND SECRETARY GAMBOA OF MEXICO, AS THE THREE COUNTRIES FOCUS ON THE LINKING OF CANADA, THE UNITED STATES AND MEXICO THROUGH SOUND INFRASTRUCTURE.

THE THREE INDIVIDUALS WILL BE THEN GIVING A PRESS CONFERENCE HERE AT THE STATE DEPARTMENT. THIS WILL BE IN ROOM 1912 AT 1:45 IN THE AFTERNOON ON FRIDAY.

ALSO, I DID WANT TO GIVE YOU A BRIEF BIT OF

INFORMATION ON SOMETHING THAT WAS IN THE PAPER THIS MORNING ON THE DIPLOMATIC SOCCER TOURNAMENT.

I KNOW THERE ARE SEVERAL AVID SPORTS FANS AMONGST YOU, ALTHOUGH I THINK ONE OR TWO OF THEM MAY BE MISSING TODAY, BUT NONETHELESS I WANT TO BRING YOU UP TO DATE ON EXACTLY WHAT THIS WAS AND WHAT STATE DEPARTMENT'S INVOLVEMENT IN THIS HAS BEEN.

THE DIPLOMATIC CUP IS A SPORT AWARD OF THE WORLD DIPLOMATIC COMMUNITY THAT IS HELD EVERY FOUR YEARS IN THE HOST COUNTRY OF THE WORLD SOCCER CHAMPIONSHIP. THE COMPETITION INVOLVES THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS, AND IS GOVERNED BY AN ORGANIZING EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE COMPRISED OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE DIPLOMATIC MISSIONS OF THE QUALIFYING COUNTRIES, AND THE HIGHEST DIPLOMATIC INSTITUTION OF THE HOST COUNTRY.

THE PARTICIPANTS ARE THE DIPLOMATIC MISSIONS OF THE QUALIFYING COUNTRIES -- THERE ARE 23 OF THEM THIS YEAR -- FOR THE FINAL GAMES, AND FOREIGN AFFAIRS OFFICERS OF THE HOST COUNTRY.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT WAS ASKED TO FIELD A TEAM UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF THE WASHINGTON, D. C. HOST COMMITTEE. GAMES WILL BE HELD ON SUCCESSIVE SATURDAYS AT VENUES IN THE WASHINGTON AREA. ACTUALLY THEY BEGAN ON APRIL 23RD, AND THEY WILL CONCLUDE WITH THE FINAL FOUR GAMES TO BE HELD ON THE ELLIPSE ON SATURDAY, MAY 21ST.

DEPARTMENT DESK OFFICERS OF THE QUALIFYING COUNTRIES WERE ASKED TO ANNOUNCE THE TOURNAMENT AND TO REQUEST THOSE INTERESTED IN PLAYING TO CONTACT THE DEPARTMENT COORDINATOR IN OUR BUREAU OF INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION AFFAIRS IN PPC.

THAT PARTICULAR INDIVIDUAL IS OUR ILLUSTRIOUS PUBLIC AFFAIRS ADVISER, BERNIE ENGEL, WHO IS ALSO INFORMALLY KNOWN AS THE SPORTS CZAR IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

SO ANY OF YOU WHO MIGHT WISH INFORMATION ON THIS, I DO HAVE TO NOTE BEFORE CLOSING, THAT THE DEPARTMENT TEAM PARTICIPATED IN AND WON BOTH OF THEIR MATCHES. ON APRIL 23RD, THE STATE DEPARTMENT DEFEATED COLUMBIA, ONE TO

ZERO, AND ROMANIA, THREE TO TWO. AND I WOULD NOTE THAT THE NEXT MATCH IS SCHEDULED FOR NEXT SATURDAY MORNING.

SO ON THAT NOTE, I'LL BE HAPPY TO TAKE YOUR QUESTIONS ON OTHER SUBJECTS.

Q WHAT ARE YOU SEEING ON THE GROUND IN BOSNIA? DOES IT APPEAR THAT BOSNIAN-SERBS HAVE IN FACT WITHDRAWN THEIR FORCES FROM THE 20-KILOMETER EXCLUSION ZONE?

Q WHAT'S THE SCORE IN THAT PARTICULAR CONTEST, AS WELL SERBS L8, U.S. NIL.

MS. SHELLY: WELL, I DON'T HAVE ANYTHING FOR YOU ON THE LATTER QUESTION.

ON THE FIRST ONE, THE SERBS FOR NOW APPEAR TO HAVE PULLED THEIR TROOPS THREE KILOMETERS IN COMPLIANCE WITH THE APRIL 22ND NATO ULTIMATUM. WE HAVE REPORTED ON THE EQUIPMENT ON THAT EARLIER.

THEY HAVE CEASED THEIR ATTACK ON THE U.N. DECLARED SAFE AREA OF GORAZDE, AND HAVE ALLOWED SOME 450 U.N. PEACEKEEPERS AND THREE CONVOYS WITH HUMANITARIAN ASSISTANCE TO BE BROUGHT INTO THE TOWN.

THERE WAS A REPORT YESTERDAY THAT ONE OF THESE CONVOYS WAS DELAYED BY THE SERBS, BUT THIS WAS ALLOWED TO GO INTO GORAZDE TODAY.

WE ARE MONITORING THE SITUATION VERY CLOSELY WITH RESPECT TO THE SERB WITHDRAWAL OF THE HEAVY WEAPONS FROM THE 20-KILOMETER EXCLUSION ZONE. TE DEADLINE, WHICH YOU KNOW, EXPIRES AT 8 O'CLOCK P.M. THIS EVENING WASHINGTON TIME. FROM WHAT WE UNDERSTAND A SIGNIFICANT NUMBER OF THE WEAPONS HAVE ALREADY BEEN MOVED OUT IN COMPLIANCE WITH THE 20-KILOMETER EXCLUSION ZONE AREA AND WEAPONS ARE CONTINUING TO MOVE.

I'M NOT YET IN A POSITION TO CONVEY ANYTHING MORE DEFINITIVE THAN THE MOVEMENT THAT WE ARE SEEING AND THE TRENDS IN THAT, BUT THAT'S WHAT WE CAN TELL YOU SO FAR.

Q (INAUDIBLE) WEAPONS AND TROOPS FROM THE 20-MILE --

MS. SHELLY: I'D HAVE TO GO BACK AND CHECK THE DECISION ON THAT, BUT I'LL CHECK ON THAT. MY INFORMATION ADDRESSES JUST THE WEAPONS. I'D HAVE TO CHECK ON THE PART ABOUT THE TROOPS.

Q WHEN TIME RUNS OUT, CHRISTINE, WHO WILL BE MAKING THE DECISION OF AIR STRIKES WILL BE CALLED IN? WOULD THAT BE BOUTROS-GHALI? WOULD IT BE SIR MICHAEL ROSE? OR WOULD IT BE THE NATO COMMANDER? WHO WOULD GIVE THE -- WHO WOULD MAKE THE CALL ON THAT?

MS. SHELLY: I THINK THE DECISIONS ARE PRETTY CLEAR ON THAT, AND I THINK THE CONDITIONS REGARDING THE EXACT CIRCUMSTANCES ON THAT HAVE BEEN MADE CLEAR, ALSO IN THE RECENT STATEMENTS PUT OUT BY THE U.N.

IF THERE IS FAILURE TO COMPLY, ATO WILL ACT. NATO WILL CERTAINLY BE THE ORGANIZATION UNDERTAKING THE ACTION, AND THEY WILL DO SO IN CONSULTATION WITH THE UNITED NATIONS, WITH UNPROFOR.

Q ON THE MATTER OF WEAPONS, WILL IT WORK LIKE IN SARAJEVO WHERE THEY CAN PUT THEM IN CANTONMENT UNDER U.N. SUPERVISION, OR DO THEY HAVE TO GET THEM OUT OF THE 20-KILOMETER DIAMETER ZONE?

MS. SHELLY: MY UNDERSTANDING IS THEY HAVE TO PHYSICALLY WITHDRAW THE WEAPONS.

Q AND IF THEY DON'T, THEN THEY ARE SUBJECT TO ATTACK STARTING AT 8 P.M. TONIGHT, WASHINGTON TIME?

MS. SHELLY: THAT'S CORRECT.

Q ON THEIR LAST WITHDRAWAL, THEY CONDUCTED A SCORCHED EARTH POLICY WHICH YOU REFERRED TO YESTERDAY, AND THE U.N. ISSUED A STATEMENT PROTESTING AGAINST THIS. IS THERE ANYTHING CONCRETE THAT CAN BE DONE TO PREVENT THEM DOING SOMETHING SIMILAR IN THIS WITHDRAWAL?

MS. SHELLY: WELL, I THINK -- WE CERTAINLY ARE WATCHING THE DEVELOPMENTS CLOSELY TO SEE WHAT'S GOING ON. I HAVE NOT SEEN ANY NEW INDICATIONS TODAY TO SUGGEST THAT THAT KIND OF ACTIVITY HAS BEEN CONTINUING. IT'S POSSIBLE THAT IT HAS, AND WE JUST DON'T HAVE THE REPORTS.

I THINK THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY PRONOUNCED ITSELF RATHER STRONGLY YESTERDAY ABOUT INCLUDING -- WE DID HEAR ABOUT -- THAT WE CONSIDER THAT TYPE OF ACTIVITY WAS UNACCEPTABLE, AND WE WOULD HOPE THAT THEY WOULD STOP.

AS THEY WITHDRAW, AS THEY ARE PHYSICALLY PASSING THROUGH AREAS, I DON'T KNOW HOW MUCH IN PRACTICAL TERMS CAN BE DONE TO STOP THEM. BUT CERTAINLY THE SPIRIT IN WHICH THEY WITHDRAW AND THE ACTUAL TYPES OF ACTIONS THAT THEY'RE ENGAGED IN IS SOMETHING THAT THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY IS WATCHING VERY CLOSELY.

Q IS ANY INVESTIGATION GOING ON TO DETERMINE WHETHER WAR CRIMES WERE COMMITTED IN GORAZDE IN THE LAST COUPLE OF WEEKS?

MS. SHELLY: I WOULD EXPECT THAT REPORTS, AS THEY CONTINUE TO COME OUT, WILL BE EVALUATED AND THEN REFERRED TO THE WAR CRIMES TRIBUNAL IN THE SAME KIND OF MECHANISM THAT HAD BEEN SET UP UNDER U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL RESOLUTIONS. I HAVE NO REASON TO BELIEVE THERE WOULD BE ANY KIND OF DIFFERENT REGIME FOR GORAZDE.

Q A DIFFERENT SUBJECT?

Q NO. ONE MORE ON BOSNIA. I'M UNCLEAR ABOUT WHAT THIS CONTACT GROUP IS SUPPOSED TO DO. WHAT WILL BE DIFFERENT AS A RESULT OF IT?

MS. SHELLY: SECRETARY CHRISTOPHER AND HIS COUNTERPARTS, AFTER THEIR LONDON MEETINGS, AGREED THAT IT WOULD BE DESIRABLE TO ASSEMBLE A GROUP OF SENIOR EXPERTS THAT WOULD COME FROM THE U.S., RUSSIA THE EUROPEAN UNION, AND THE UNITED NATIONS TO BACKSTOP THE RENEWED DIPLOMATIC EFFORTS WHICH ARE UNDERWAY AS YOU KNOW, WITH A VIEW TO ACHIEVING A FINAL SETTLEMENT.

THIS GROUP IS KNOWN AS THE CONTACT GROUP. THEY'RE SUPPOSED TO COORDINATE THE EFFORTS OF THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY AND TRY TO PROMOTE AN EARLY CESSATION OF HOSTILITIES AND TRY TO, OBVIOUSLY, FIND THE WAY TO ARRIVE AT A COMPREHENSIVE SETTLEMENT FOR THE CONFLICT.

I UNDERSTAND THAT THESE MEETINGS WERE ACTUALLY

STARTING -- I THINK THEY STARTED IN LONDON YESTERDAY. I THINK I SAID THAT THEY MIGHT BE STARTING IN GENEVA. THAT WAS NOT CORRECT. THEY ARE STARTING IN LONDON. I THINK THEY'RE SUPPOSED TO RUN FOR ANOTHER DAY OR TWO. WE'LL HAVE TO SEE WHAT COMES OUT OF THAT, BUT I DON'T HAVE MUCH MORE TO SHARE WITH YOU ON THIS AT THIS POINT.

Q ANOTHER SUBJECT?

MS. SHELLY: ANYTHING ELSE ON BOSNIA? SURE.

Q ON HAITI: ANYTHING YOU CAN ADD TO REPORTS TODAY THAT AS MANY AS 30 HAITIAN CIVILIANS WERE MASSACRED BY MILITARY FORCES THERE?

MS. SHELLY: YES. I LOOKED INTO THAT AS WE GOT THE WIRE SERVICE REPORTS YESTERDAY. WE WERE TRYING TO DETERMINE WHETHER OR NOT WE COULD ACTUALLY CONFIRM THE REPORTS THAT HAVE COME OUT. THEY ARE BASED ON REPORTS BY RELIABLE WITNESSES BUT THE DETAILS ARE RATHER SKETCHY. SO I'M NOT IN A POSITION TO CONFIRM WHAT THEY HAVE FOUND AT THIS TIME.

OUR EMBASSY IN PORT-AU-PRINCE IS SENDING A TEAM TO GONAIVES -- I BELIEVE THAT'S THE CORRECT PRONOUNCIATION -- TOMORROW TO INVESTIGATE, AND WE HOPE TO HAVE MORE NEWS ON THIS SHORTLY. WE DON'T HAVE INFORMATION ON THE NUMBER OF DEAD OR ON THE IDENTITIES OF THE VICTIMS.

I KNOW THAT SOME OF THE REPORTS INDICATE THAT THEY WERE ARISTIDE SUPPORTERS AND THAT THEY WERE VICTIMS OF THE HAITIAN MILITARY. WE'VE SEEN THOSE REPORTS ALSO. BUT UNTIL WE HAVE A CHANCE TO DO A LITTLE BIT OF OUR OWN INVESTIGATION ON THIS, I'M REALLY NOT IN A POSITION TO CONFIRM ANY OF THE DETAILS.

Q IF IT TURNS OUT THAT IT IS -- THAT THE MILITARY AS RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS, DOESN'T IT LOOK LIKE THE MILITARY IS SIMPLY THUMBING ITS NOSE NOW AT U.S. EFFORTS TO SOMEHOW REIGN IN THE ATROCITIES BEING COMMITTED THERE?

MS. SHELLY: I DON'T WANT TO GET TOO SPECULATE ON THIS. WE ARE VERY, VERY CONCERNED ABOUT THE REPORT AND OULD CERTAINLY BE CONCERNED ABOUT WHO WOULD BE

PERPETRATING SUCH A HEINOUS ACT. WE WILL INVESTIGATE THE INCIDENT IN TERMS OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS

WHICH MIGHT HAVE OCCURRED.

WE THINK THAT PERHAPS INCREASING THE NUMBER OF INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS OBSERVERS IN HAITI WOULD BE SOMETHING THAT WOULD BE A GOOD IDEA. WE WOULD STRONGLY SUPPORT THIS AND BELIEVE THAT IT COULD ACT AS A DETERRENT TO EPISODES OF VIOLENCE OF THIS KIND.

ONCE, IN THE LONGER TERM, DEMOCRACY COULD BE RESTORED TO HAITI, WE WOULD HOPE THAT WE COULD PROVIDE AID IN THE AREA OF THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE AND POLICE TRAINING, PROGRAMS THAT WE HOPE IN THE LONGER RUN COULD GUARD AGAINST THIS TYPE OF VIOLENCE.

Q ANOTHER SUBJECT. DO YOU HAVE ANYTHING ON CUBA? THIS NEW APPROVAL FOR IDB, FOR A COMPANY TO DEAL ITH CUBA ON TELECOMMUNICATIONS?

MS. SHELLY: WE ADDRESSED THIS AT THE BRIEFING, I THINK, A COUPLE OF WEEKS AGO -- THE GENERAL TELECOMMUNICATIONS ISSUE. I DON'T HAVE THAT GUIDANCE WITH ME TODAY. WHAT I WOULD LIKE TO DO ON THAT IS REFER YOU TO THE PRESS OFFICE.

WE HAD ADDRESSED IT ONCE BEFORE, AND WE DID HAVE SOME GUIDANCE ON THAT. SO IF YOU --

Q THERE'S A STORY FROM YESTERDAY -- IDB WORD COMMUNICATIONS.

MS. SHELLY: I DON'T HAVE ANYTHING NEW SINCE

YESTERDAY. THE GENERAL POLICY ABOUT THE TELECOMMUNICATIONS

PAGE 16

CONTACTS AND THE CONTRACTS THAT WERE SIGNED BY THREE COMPANIES, I THINK WE HAD QUITE A BIT OF INFORMATION ON THAT. THAT WOULD BE AVAILABLE IN THE PRESS OFFICE.

Q THE CHINESE DISSIDENT WANG JUNTAO IS IN WASHINGTON TODAY, I BELIEVE. DO YOU KNOW IF HE'S GOING TO BE MEETING WITH ANYBODY AT THE STATE DEPARTMENT?

MS. SHELLY: ACTUALLY, I DON'T HAVE PRECISE INFORMATION ON HIS WHEREABOUTS TODAY. SO YOU MAY KNOW

MORE THAN I DO ABOUT WHERE HE IS. I KNOW HE CAME TO THE UNITED STATES A DAY OR TWO AGO WHERE HE IS TO RECEIVE MEDICAL ATTENTION.

WE WELCOME THE DECISION BY THE CHINESE AUTHORITIES TO RELEASE WANG JUNTAO ON MEDICAL PAROLE. AS YOU ALSO KNOW, THERE ARE SEVERAL OTHER CASES THAT ARE SIMILAR TO WANG'S, AND WE HOPE THAT IN THE FUTURE WE'RE GOING TO SEE SIMILAR RELEASES THAT MIGHT OCCUR IN THIS WAY.

I WILL CHECK AND SEE IF HE'S IN WASHINGTON TODAY AND WHAT HE MIGHT BE DOING. AS I SAID, I DON'T HAVE THAT INFORMATION WITH ME. BUT IF I CAN GET AN ANSWER TO THAT, THEN WE CAN TELL YOU SOMETHING ADDITIONAL. WE'LL PUT AN ANSWER UP THIS AFTERNOON.

OTHER QUESTIONS? NOTHING? THANK YOU. TALBOTT

GUATEMALA: NEGOTIATING PEACE TO FOSTER DEMOCRACY

A report of a U.S. congressional staff delegation trip to Guatemala

by Rachel M. McCleary, Ph.D.*

On April 6, 1994, a U.S. bi-partisan congressional staff delegation went to Mexico City and Guatemala to assess the status of the peace process. For that purpose, they met with members of the Guatemalan government, including President Ramiro de León Carpio, leaders of the Guatemalan National Revolutionary Unity (URNG) movement, leaders of the Guatemalan civil sectors, and foreign diplomats in Mexico and Guatemala.

Just a week before, on March 29, the government and the members of the general command of the URNG signed a Global Accord on Human Rights. In the accord, the two parties established the issues to be discussed in their negotiations (see appendix 3) and agreed to (1) ask the United Nations to establish a verification mission for human rights in Guatemala as soon as possible; (2) meet in special session in May to design a commission to investigate the human rights abuses that occurred during the conflict (a truth commission); and (3) set up a calendar for monthly negotiating sessions aimed at a comprehensive peace accord by December 1994.Two days after the accord was signed, the president of the Constitutional Court, Eduardo Epaminondas Gonzalez Dubón, was assassinated. On April 6, Guatemalan congressman Obdulio Chinchilla Vega was wounded by a sniper. In March, three Americans were attacked following rumors, provoked by the military, that foreigners were stealing Guatemalan children. This contributed to a climate of fear and tension within Guatemalan society.

Within this context, on the basis of their conversations and their observations of the political, social, and economic climate, the delegation concluded that:

1. Leaders of civil society, the government, the military, and the URNG see the signing of the Human Rights Accord as a positive step.

2. Although there is a clear consensus on the need for a truth commission as a mechanism for achieving it, there is no consensus on its mandate, its formation, and function.

3. Nor is there agreement on the broader implications of a peace agreement for society. Some believe a peace agreement is the only way that structural inequalities in society can be addressed; the business sector sees a peace agreement only as a procedural means for ending the armed conflict.

4. The indigenous peoples, which make up more than half of Guatemala's population, continue to be harassed by death threats, extrajudicial killings, and forced conscription into the military and the Civilian Self-defense Patrols (PACs).

5. The military is reforming its curriculum by introducing human rights courses and requiring higher education degrees for officers. However, this does not mean that the military has changed its role within the Guatemalan state.

6. The PACs, estimated at 433,000 members, provoke strong disagreement. Human rights, university and research groups, religious and ethnic organizations--want them completely disbanded. In constrast, the de Leon government has stated that it will demobilize them where there is no armed conflict, and rename the remaining ones "Peace and Development Committees."

7. President de León is determined to change Congress and hold Congressional elections in August 1994.

8. The majority of Guatemalans live in extreme poverty.

The signing of the accord

The signing of the Global Accord on Human Rights is an historic event. It ends a three-year impasse between the government and the URNG, and is the first firm result of a framework agreement for the re-initiation of negotiations that was reached in January 10, 1994. For the government, according to the members of the Peace Commission, the signing is the first step toward incorporating the URNG into Guatemalan society.

From the beginning URNG leaders insisted that a settlement must address the social, economic, and political roots of the conflict, and placed a number of substantive issues high on the agenda. The framework agreement of January 10 of this year sets forth a number of substantive issues:

Resettlement of the refugees and displaced populations

The conflict has left an estimated one million Guatemalans displaced from their homes[1]. Some moved within Guatemala; others went beyond the borders, primarily to Mexico, where there is an estimated 45,000 Guatemalans living under the protection of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees. (6,500 have returned to date[2]). The URNG leadership is seeking the physical protection of the returning refugees and displaced populations as well as respect for all their rights. The URNG is insisting on international observers in the rural areas to which these people are returning and is also demanding that indigenous communities be free to elect their own local officials and to choose not to have a military presence in their communities.

The government says it welcomes the return of the refugees but is concerned that adequate resources and institutional structures be in place before they return.

The issue of land tenure has yet to be resolved, though it has been frequently raised. Concentration of land ownership in Guatemala has been a difficult and divisive issue.

The rights of the indigenous communities

The Guatemalan indigenous population is composed of 21 different groups which speak Maya languages[3]. They have been organizing themselves into groups such as the National Coordinating Organization of Guatemalan Widows (CONAVIGUA), Runujel Junam Ethnic Community Council (CERJ), and a coordinating body of Mayan groups, Majawil Q'ij. Since the summer of 1993, the indigenous groups have held assemblies with agendas that included the work of the Communities of Populations in Resistance, the fate of the refugees, and the rights of survivors of the dead and disappeared.

Socio-economic aspects and the agrarian situation

Land distribution has been one of the crucial problems of Guatemala since colonial times. Guatemala's economy is primarily agrarian and, given the traditional land usage of indigenous communities and their prominence in the national agrarian labor sector, conflict, at times violent, has arisen over land ownership.

The Role of the Military in a Democratic Society

The army has played a dominant role in the formation of civil society in Guatemala. Historically, this has been done through threats, intimidation and state-sanctioned violence. Reducing the military's role is crucial if civil society is to be strengthened and the country become more democratic.

There are now about 44,000 members of the armed forces.[4] The URNG advocates a smaller army, whose mission is limited to the defense of the nation and does not include any internal security or policying of Guatemala itself.

Defense Minister Mario Enríquez said that he "fully supports" a negotiated rather than a military solution to the armed conflict. He also stated that military leaders are willing to downsize and effect the complete elimination of the civil defense patrols (PACs) unilaterally after a peace accord is reached. The PACs are currently estimated to number 433,000 members and have been widely accused of human rights abuses.

Minister Enríquez says the military leadership is examining how its role will change once a peace agreement is reached. It is already offering courses on human rights at its academy and now requires that officers earn a baccalaureate degree.

Peace Commissioner Hector Rosada Granados agrees that the military now recognizes that its Cold War mentality is outdated. He believes, in fact, that the military is changing faster than the rest of civil society.

Having an army that responds to civil authority is thus widely recognized as imperative, but the URNG points out that this will require the political will to do so supported by changes in the constitution.

Strengthening civil society

To date only the two parties to the conflict have been involved in the peace negotiations. However, the January 1994 framework agreement provides for a Civil Assembly to participate in the peace negotiations through written proposals and not at the table. In April 1994 the Bishops' Conference of Guatemala named Monsignor Rodolfo Quezada Toruño as president of the Assembly.

Representatives of the popular sector point out that peace is not simply the absence of war but the building of a just and humane society. They would like the Civil Assembly to bring to the negotiating parties the causes of the conflict that need to be addressed. The popular sector points to the following statistics:

- 80% of Guatemalans live in poverty
- 2% of the population owns 67% of the arable land
- The national illiteracy rate is 45%
- 76 children out of every 1,000 die before they reach the age of 5[5]

Most of the people affected by the conflict are the indigenous groups living in rural areas, who do not yet have access to, much less influence on, the governance of the state.

The URNG believes the popular sector should participate the in the negotiations for three reasons: (1) what is being negotiated is the future of Guatemala as a whole; (2) once a peace accord is reached, civil society will have the responsibility of strengthening existing institutions and creating new ones to carry out the accord; and (3) civil society will have the responsibility for creating a pluralistic, democratic society while reducing military influence.

Rosada Granados and other members of the Peace Commission point to the current fragmentation of civil society and insist the sectors must cooperate to create solutions to current societal crises if they are to have any impact on the peace process.

Reintegration of the URNG and a ceasefire

Unlike the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front (FMLN) in El Salvador, the URNG is not asking to integrate its forces into the Guatemalan military.[6] It continues to be concerned about how the military, in collaboration with components of the business sector, continues to dominate Guatemalan society. It is convinced that demilitarization is essential for a firm and lasting peace.

The URNG would participate in civil society as a political organization, on three conditions: (1) democratic participation in Guatemalan politics, including legal protection for the URNG; (2) guarantees of free speech for opposing views by the press and media as well as individuals; and (3) physical protection for the URNG and those who agree with it.

Rosada Granados says that once there is a successful plan for the integrating of the URNG into civil society, the other issues--constitutional and electoral reform and the financing and verification of the accord--will be more easily resolved.

The commission for the clarification of the past

A truth commission is a possible mechanism for national reconciliation, but there is no consensus on what its mandate should be, its structure, or its composition.

President de León said that "it would be ideal" for Guatemalans to know the truth about the human rights violations that occurred during the conflict, and about their perpetrators. His concern is that a truth commission with a task similar to the Argentine National Commission on the Disappearance of Persons--to identify and punish violations--would delay the peace process by antagonizing the parties. If there is to be national reconciliation, he says, the commission should not deal with specific cases.

The Peace Commission, composed of three civilians and three members of the military, is looking at the Uruguayan, Argentine, and Chilean models and leaning toward the Chilean, which seeks the truth about what happened to victims and provides them or their survivors with monetary reparations.

Peace Commissioner Mario Permuth would like a Guatemalan Truth Commission to:

- Acknowledge the extent of the human rights violations that took place;
- Offer economic reparations to survivors;

- Not identify violators or bring anyone to trial;
- Explain why "human rights violations occurred in a tremendous and tragic way over a long period."

Defense Minister Enríquez is emphatic that the military leadership would not support identification of violators. The military role during the conflict, he says, was to protect the security of the country from communist insurgents, and its actions were in fulfillment of that duty. If the truth commission were assigned to identify violators, he says, the URNG would have to provide the names of its combatants, identify those who supported it, and name sources of foreign assistance.

The URNG says that if certain cases are not dealt with, among them those of Michael Devine, Myrna Mack, and Diana Ortíz, it will be impossible to establish the legitimacy of state institutions and popular trust in them. The government and the military believe these cases are more properly dealt with in the judicial system.

Unfortunately, the judiciary is widely critized as ineffective. Members of indigenous organizations point out that the legal system, represented by both the police and the courts, has repeatedly failed them.

Guatemalan human rights lawyer, Frank LaRue, has insisted that the peoples of a country cannot build a new future if they do not have the right to fully acknowledge their past. Partial truth is not the truth so that full disclosure of events and full acknowledgment of responsibility by those who committed grave violations of human rights are essential for national reconciliation and the development of Guatemala's future.

The URNG and the government have agreed to a special negotiating session in May to discuss the function of the Commission, its mandate and composition, when it starts, and how it should report. The URNG insists that the Commission should not exacerbate feelings of revenge but believes that disclosure of human rights abuses is critical to the well-being of the Guatemalan people and the construction of a democratic society.

The role of the group of friends

The January framework agreement recognizes the United Nations as the convener and moderator of the negotiations. The UN has named Marrack Goulding, Undersecretary General for Political Affairs, as convener, and Jean Arnault, an official of the UN Secretariat, as moderator. At the request of both parties, the Group of Friends--Colombia, Mexico, Norway, Spain, the United States, and Venezuela--support the peace process by meeting periodically with Guatemalan government representatives, the URNG, and Mr. Arnault, gathering information according to the agenda set by Mr. Arnault for the negotiations. None of these countries are present at the actual negotiations.

The both the government and the URNG expressed satisfaction with the work of the Group of friends. The URNG hopes that the United States in particular will continue to play a constructive role in the peace proces, since it bears an historic responsibility toward Guatemala having been responsible for organizing the coup of 1954 that overthrew President Jacobo Arbenz.

Representatives of the popular sector continually stressed the influence of the international community in bringing the peace negotiations this far, and welcome its help in monitoring and verifying human rights abuses in Guatemala. They also ask that international financial assistance be conditioned on demonstrated respect for human rights and that funds be channeled directly to the communities rather than through government-to-government mechanisms.

The present and the future

It is not yet clear whether the promise of the Human Rights Accord will be fulfilled. By May 25, 1993, when President Jorge Serrano Elías staged his failed coup, there had already been eight negotiating sessions, and the parties had reached agreement on a number of human rights points, but the talks had been stalled for almost six months.

The election by the Guatemalan Congress of Human Rights Ombudsman, Ramiro de Leon, to serve out Serrano's term was promptly followed by a shift in the military leadership from a hardline faction to a more modernizing one. Meanwhile, the international community, tiring of the slow pace of the negotiations, began pressuring both sides to compromise.

Throughout his tenure as President, de León has sought to protect and uphold the constitutional rights of Guatemalan citizens. The press has enjoyed broad freedom of speech. De Leon has welcomed human rights groups and has traveled to Mexico to discuss with the Salinas administration options for the return of the thousands of refugees who fled to Mexico. Since de León's election, the military shown flexibility in dealing with those who oppose its presence, while de Leon openly supports the demobilization of the PACs where there is no armed conflict.

But there is pressure on de Leon from both within and without Guatemala to reach a peace agreement.

The January 1994 uprising in Chiapas, Mexico, right on the Guatemalan border, underscored the potential for major, violent conflict in the region. The fact that the Mexican government, within ten days of the Chiapas uprising, sought a negotiated agreement with the rebellious Zapatista National Liberation Army sent a strong message of urgency to the Guatemalan government. Mexico also has an obvious interest in the resolution of the 33-year-old conflict in Guatemala. Mexico's position is that it will not forcibly repatriate the refugees, but supports their return when they want to leave, providing the Guatemalan government can guarantee their livelihood and rights.

Problems at Home

Meanwhile, conditions in Guatemala are deteriorating. The public sector has engaged in a series of strikes lasting for months. Economic reform is complicated by the country's low tax rate, generalized tax evasion and the great disparity between rich and poor. Human rights violations--murder, kidnapping, torture, illegal detection, irregular military recruitment-continue, are at times followed by local eruptions of violence against authorities.[7]

Moreover, there is an increasing threat of remilitarization of the government. The Minister of the Interior and the Director of the National Police, both supporters of demilitarization, were asked to resign. A civilian took over as Minister of the Interior, but the Vice Minister is an active, and hardline, military officer who was the director of military intelligence. Within the police force, top positions have been filled with military personnel or with persons who had previously been removed from the force.

And, perhaps the first time, foreigners have been subjected to aggressive actions ranging from insults to rock throwing to beating. The rumors of trafficking of children's organs--and the violence they provoked--have strained US-Guatemalan relations. Peace Corps volunteers have been withdrawn from the Guatemalan countryside. Some consider the rumors an attempt to discredit the US stance on human rights; others think they may be directed at postponing the UN human rights verification mission in Guatemala. Peace Commissioner Rosada Granados calls the violence "the last convulsions of a system that is refusing to change."

Foreign diplomats in Guatemala speculate that the violence is being orchestrated in an attempt to force de León to call for a state of emergency, or be subject to a coup--a coup that would lead to a period of political "cleansing." Either would have the same result: postponement of the August elections, delay in the creation of the UN verification mission, and a further delay in the negotiations. Those who raise this possibility point to statements by Vice President Arturo Herbruger Astúrias, who has openly supported a state of emergency--and who could, despite his advanced age, be installed as President if there were a coup.

Conclusions

International support is acknowledged by the Guatemalan government, the URNG, and civil society as essential in sustaining the negotiations to this point. The military and certain sectors of Guatemalan society will resist the implementation of a peace agreement. Therefore, international support will continue to be essential not only until there is a comprehensive peace accord but well beyond, to ensure the accord is effected.

The negotiations, to be more effective, require the participation of civil society. Only in this manner can structural changes called for in the agreements have support beyond the two negotiating parties.

The timetable is obviously ambitious. The next few months will be critical to keeping the two parties on track. However, it is more important to be flexible in reaching agreement on the substantive issues than to hold firmly to the timetable.

Recommendations

The bipartisan congressional staff reached consensus on the following recommendations.

The United States should:

1. Support a national debate in Guatemala on the peace process. The United States can support the freedom of information and expression in Guatemalan society as well as the right to association and organization. As part of this support, the U.S. should encourage the Guatemalan Ombudsman for Human Rights to disseminate copies of the Global Accord on Human Rights.
2. Encourage the parties to hold to the timetable for the negotiations but not at the expense of addressing the substantive issues. The parties should be flexible in altering the timetable in order to have a full discussion of the substantive issues.
3. Provide information on past truth commissions to civil organizations and support public discussion of the role such a Commission might play in national reconciliation.

4. Encourage a peace agreement which includes a provision for a truth commission which seeks the complete disclosure of the truth with regard to past human rights violations.
5. Support the strengthening of existing institutions, such as the Guatemalan Ombudsman for Human Rights, whose mandates are to protect and promote human rights.
6. Continue to encourage the demilitarization, and the reform of the police force.
7. Encourage the creation of an objective, efficient, and reliable judiciary system that administers the law objectively and impartially. Bilateral assistance in the form of the Administration of Justice Program should be resumed only on the condition that Guatemala has instituted legal checks and balances by which accountability and rules regarding corruption in the Judiciary can be enforced.
8. Pending a full peace agreement, restrict IMET funding to human rights training and courses designed to promote military respect for democratic, civilian authority.
9. Provide economic assistance through USAID and nongovernmental organizations directly to indigenous communities. USAID should actively seek to identify indigenous communities and work with them to be able to receive funding.
10. Use US bilateral agencies to promote political accountability and respect for human rights. This role would be most effective if it were focused particularly on electoral reform, an open party system, and Congressional accountability.

11. Respond affirmatively to President de Leon's request that Guatemalan immigrants currently residing in the U.S. be granted temporary protected status (TPS). This would show support for de Leon personally and for the peace process generally.

STATEMENT BY CHRISTINE SHELLY, ACTING SPOKESMAN

-HAITI: UNACCEPTABLE STEPS TOWARD RESOLVING THE CRISIS-

UNCLASSIFIED 014072 S046285 STATE 116295 0319452

THE HAITIAN MILITARY IS PRESSURING THE PARLIAMENT TO PASS A RESOLUTION DECLARING THE PRESIDENCY VACANT BY INVOKING ARTICLES 148 OR 149 OF THE HAITIAN CONSTITUTION. WE WOULD CONSIDER ANY SUCH MANEUVER ILLEGAL AND ILLEGITIMATE. SUCH ACTIONS -- EVEN IN RESPONSE TO INTIMIDATION BY ANTI-DEMOCRATIC FORCES -- WILL NOT LEAD TO THE EARLY LIFTING OF THE INTERNATIONAL SANCTIONS LEVIED AGAINST HAITI.

THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES WHO HAVE USURPED POWER FROM THE PEOPLE MUST YIELD TO CIVILIAN AUTHORITY. THE HAITIAN PEOPLE UNDERSTAND THAT THE HAITIAN MILITARY LEADERSHIP IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE INTERNATIONAL SANCTIONS AGAINST THEIR COUNTRY. THE SANCTIONS WILL REMAIN IN PLACE UNTIL THOSE IN THE MILITARY LEADERSHIP RESPONSIBLE FOR THE TERMINATION OF DEMOCRATIC RULE IN HAITI HAVE FULFILLED THEIR COMMITMENTS.

-ARTICLES 148 AND 149 OF THE HAITIAN CONSTITUTION-

ARTICLE 148: IF THE PRESIDENT FINDS IT TEMPORARILY IMPOSSIBLE TO DISCHARGE HIS DUTIES, THE EXECUTIVE AUTHORITY SHALL BE VESTED IN THE COUNCIL OF MINISTERS UNDER THE PRESIDENCY OF THE PRIME MINISTER, SO LONG AS THE DISABILITY CONTINUES.

ARTICLE 149: SHOULD THE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC BECOME VACANT FOR ANY REASON, THE PRESIDENT OF THE SUPREME COURT OF THE REPUBLIC, OR IN HIS ABSENCE, THE VICE PRESIDENT OF THAT COURT, OR IN HIS ABSENCE, THE

JUDGE WITH THE HIGHEST SENIORITY AND SO ON BY ORDER OF SENIORITY, SHALL BE INVESTED TEMPORARILY WITH THE DUTIES OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC BY THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY DULY CONVENED BY THE PRIME MINISTER. THE ELECTION OF A NEW PRESIDENT FOR A NEW FIVE (5) YEAR TERM SHALL BE HELD AT LEAST FORTY-FIVE (45) AND NO MORE THAN NINETY (90) DAYS AFTER THE VACANCY OCCURS, PURSUANT TO THE CONSTITUTION AND THE ELECTORAL LAW.

2. ARA PREPARED PRESS GUIDANCES OF 5/2/94:

-GRENADA: U.S. EMBASSY CLOSING-

Q: WHY IS THE U.S. EMBASSY IN GRENADA BEING CLOSED?

A: THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT HAS HAD TO EXAMINE A NUMBER OF WAYS OF REDUCING FEDERAL SPENDING TO ADDRESS THE BUDGET DEFICIT. UNFORTUNATELY, THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE CANNOT CONTINUE TO STAFF AND FUND ALL OF ITS MISSIONS OVERSEAS BECAUSE OF THE HIGH COSTS OF MAINTAINING PERMANENT STAFF IN MANY COUNTRIES.

THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE HAS DETERMINED THAT IT WOULD BE POSSIBLE TO RETAIN DIPLOMATIC AND CONSULAR RELATIONSHIPS THROUGH REGIONALLY ACCREDITED AMBASSADORS AND STAFFS, AS WELL AS THROUGH CONSULAR AGENTS.

AFTER A LONG AND DIFFICULT EXAMINATION, THE DEPARTMENT HAS COME TO THE PAINFUL DECISION TO PROPOSE THE CLOSURE OF EMBASSY GRENADA.

WE PLAN TO TRANSFER RESPONSIBILITY FOR MAINTAINING OUR DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH GRENADA TO OUR EMBASSY IN BRIDGETOWN, BARBADOS. WE ALSO PLAN TO ESTABLISH A CONSULAR AGENCY IN GRENADA.

THIS ACTION IS TO BE TAKEN ONLY IN RESPONSE TO BUDGETARY PRESSURES AND IN NO WAY REFLECTS ON GRENADIAN-AMERICAN RELATIONS OR ON THE COMMITMENT OF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT TO OUR FRIENDS IN THE REGION.

CURRENTLY THE PROPOSAL TO CLOSE THE EMBASSY IS BEFORE THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS, WHICH BY LAW HAS A 45-DAY PERIOD FOR REVIEW AND COMMENT.

THE DEPARTMENT NOTIFIED THE CONGRESS ON MARCH 29 OF ITS INTENT TO CLOSE THE POST, SO THAT THE 45 DAYS WOULD EXPIRE ON MAY 13. ACTUAL CLOSURE IS SCHEDULED FOR MID-JUNE.

-LATIN AMERICA/CARIBBEAN: CLOSURE OF DIPLOMATIC POSTS-

Q: ARE ANY OTHER POSTS IN LATIN AMERICA OR THE CARIBBEAN BEING CLOSED THIS YEAR?

A: OUR EMBASSY IN ANTIGUA AND BARBUDA WILL BE CLOSED EFFECTIVE THIS SUMMER. EARLIER THIS YEAR WE CLOSED OUR CONSULATE IN MARACAIBO, VENEZUELA. DURING FISCAL YEAR 1993, WE CLOSED OUR CONSULATE IN MAZATLAN, MEXICO AND OUR CONSULATE GENERAL IN MARTINIQUE.

IN LIGHT OF THE NEED TO REDUCE FEDERAL SPENDING, WE ARE LOOKING FOR NEW WAYS OF DOING BUSINESS, (AS STATED ABOVE) THROUGH REGIONALLY ACCREDITED AMBASSADORS AND STAFFS AND CONSULAR AGENTS.

-COLOMBIA: STATE OF EMERGENCY-

Q: WHAT IS YOUR REACTION TO PRESIDENT GAVIRIA'S DECLARING A STATE OF EMERGENCY TO PREVENT THE RELEASE OF 1,000 IMPRISONED GUERRILLAS, DRUG TRAFFICKERS AND OTHER DANGEROUS CRIMINALS?

A: THE COLOMBIAN CONSTITUTION PERMITS THE PRESIDENT TO DECLARE A STATE OF INTERNAL COMMOTION TO DEAL WITH ACTUAL OR POTENTIAL DETERIORATION IN THE PUBLIC ORDER. THE DECLARATION IS ONLY FOR TEN DAYS AND SUSPENDS ONLY CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE. THE PRESENT PENAL CODE IN COLOMBIA MANDATES RELEASE OF PRISONERS AFTER A PERIOD IF THEY ARE NOT ABLE TO BE PROCESSED BY THE JUDICIARY SYSTEM. AS A RESULT OF A BACKLOG OF CASES, THE COLOMBIANS WERE CONFRONTING A MANDATORY RELEASE OF THESE ALLEGED DRUG TRAFFICKERS, GUERRILLAS, AND DANGEROUS CRIMINALS. THE DECLARATION OF A STATE OF INTERNAL COMMOTION WAS MADE BY PRESIDENT GAVIRIA AFTER A MINISTERIAL MEETING THAT ADDRESSED THE POTENTIAL EFFECTS OF RELEASE OF THESE PERSONS, AND ENABLES THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM TO COPE WITH THEIR CASES.

WE UNDERSTAND THE GOVERNMENT OF COLOMBIA'S INTEREST IN INSURING THE SAFETY OF ITS CITIZENS AND ABOUT THE EFFECTS THE RELEASE OF THESE PRISONERS WOULD HAVE. WE WILL CONTINUE TO ENCOURAGE THE GOVERNMENT OF COLOMBIA TO FIND A SOLUTION TO THE BACKLOG PROBLEM.

-HAITI: U.S. POLICY-

Q: WHAT MAKES THE U.S. THINK ITS NEW PLAN FOR RESTORING ARISTIDE AND DEMOCRACY WILL WORK? HOW CAN THE U.S./U.N. PRESSURE THE HAITIAN MILITARY WHEN THE ARMY CONTROLS ALL THE AVENUES TO GET AROUND THE STIFFER SANCTIONS?

A: WE BELIEVE THE SANCTIONS WILL GENERATE FURTHER PRESSURE FOR THE MILITARY LEADERSHIP TO RELINQUISH POWER.

WE ARE WORKING WITH THE GOVERNMENT OF THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC ON WAYS TO HALT THE FUEL LEAKAGE ALONG THE DOMINICAN/HAITIAN BORDER.

THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC HAS APPROACHED THE U.N. SECRETARIAT AND HAS ASKED FOR ASSISTANCE IN ESTABLISHING OBSERVERS ON THE BORDER. WE FULLY SUPPORT THIS PLAN.

DESPITE THE FUEL LEAKAGE, WE BELIEVE THE CURRENT SANCTIONS PUT SIGNIFICANT PRESSURE ON THE REGIME. WE BELIEVE THAT ADDITIONAL SANCTIONS WILL INCREASE THAT PRESSURE.

Q: IS THE U.S. CONSIDERING MILITARY INTERVENTION?

A: WE ARE COMMITTED TO EXPLORING FULLY EVERY DIPLOMATIC OPTION IN OUR EFFORTS TO RESOLVE THIS CRISIS PEACEFULLY. THE ADMINISTRATION HAS RULED NOTHING OUT.

-HAITI: MASSACRE OF ARISTIDE SUPPORTERS-

Q: IS IT TRUE THAT THE UN TEAM GOING TO " A NORTHERN VILLAGE" (LE BORGNE) TO INVESTIGATE AN INCIDENT WAS REFUSED ACCESS TO THE AREA? WHAT IS THE U.S. REACTION TO THE REBUFF?

A: WE UNDERSTAND FROM OUR EMBASSY THAT THE ICM WAS INVESTIGATING AN INCIDENT NEAR LE BORGNE ON FRIDAY AND WAS UNABLE TO COMPLETE THE INVESTIGATION. OUR EMBASSY, WHICH IS IN REGULAR CONTACT WITH THE ICM, REPORTS THAT, DESPITE CONSIDERABLE CONFUSION AT THE SCENE, THE ICM WAS SNOT "REFUSED ACCESS" TO THAT AREA OR ANY OTHER. ACCORDING TO THE EMBASSY, THEIR INVESTIGATIONS CONTINUED ON SATURDAY.

WE CALL ON THE HAITIAN MILITARY LEADERSHIP TO COOPERATE WITH THE ICM AND TO TAKE THE NECESSARY MEASURES TO ENSURE THEIR CONTINUED SAFETY.

Q: WHAT IS THE ROLE OF THE FRAPH IN THE GONAIVES MASSACRE AND OTHER ATTACKS ON ARISTIDE SUPPORTERS?

A: OUR EMBASSY, THE ICM, AND HAITIAN HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS ARE INVESTIGATING ACTIVELY THE EVENTS IN GONAIVES AND ELSEWHERE.

WE STRONGLY CONDEMN ACTS OF VIOLENCE AND INTIMIDATION BY THE FRAPH OR ANY PARTY IN HAITI. WE SUPPORT INCREASING THE NUMBER OF INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS OBSERVERS IN HAITI TO ACT AS A DETERRENT TO SUCH VIOLENCE. ONCE

DEMOCRACY IS RESTORED TO HAITI, WE WILL ALSO PROVIDE CONSIDERABLE AID IN THE AREA OF ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE AND POLICE TRAINING, PROGRAMS THAT WOULD GUARD AGAINST THIS TYPE OF VIOLENCE.

-HAITI: MILITARY REACTION TO NEW POLICY-

Q: HAS THE HAITIAN MILITARY REACTED TO THE NEW U.S. POLICY, PARTICULARLY THE U.S. CALL FOR GREATER [illegible] SO, WHAT IS OUR RESPONSE TO THAT?

UNCLASSIFIED

A: THE HAITIAN MILITARY IS GENERALLY AWARE OF THE NEW U.S. POLICY PROPOSALS; HOWEVER, TO DATE, WE HAVE HAD NO OFFICIAL REACTION TO THE POLICY, INCLUDING THAT PART WHICH CALLS FOR INCREASED SANCTIONS.

THE MILITARY AUTHORITIES WHO HAVE USURPED POWER FROM THE PEOPLE MUST YIELD TO CIVILIAN AUTHORITY. THE HAITIAN

PEOPLE UNDERSTAND THAT THE HAITIAN MILITARY LEADERSHIP IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE INTERNATIONAL SANCTIONS AGAINST THEIR COUNTRY. THE SANCTIONS WILL REMAIN IN PLACE UNTIL THOSE IN THE MILITARY LEADERSHIP RESPONSIBLE FOR THE TERMINATION OF DEMOCRATIC RULE IN HAITI HAVE FULFILLED THEIR COMMITMENTS.

-MEXICO: ASSASSINATION OF TIJUANA POLICE CHIEF-

Q: WHAT CAN YOU TELL US ABOUT THE ASSASSINATION OF TIJUANA POLICE CHIEF JOSE FEDERICO BENITEZ? WAS IT CONNECTED TO THE COLOSIO ASSASSINATION? DOES THIS INDICATE A NEW WAVE OF VIOLENCE IN MEXICO?

A. THE CHIEF OF POLICE OF TIJUANA, JOSE FEDERICO BENITEZ LOPEZ, WAS ASSASSINATED ON APRIL 28 IN TIJUANA. THE MURDER WAS APPARENTLY A PROFESSIONAL HIT, AS BENITEZ WAS LURED TO THE AIRPORT BY A FALSE BOMB THREAT AND MURDERED ON HIS RETURN TO TIJUANA. HIS DRIVER/BODYGUARD, RAMON ALARID, WAS ALSO KILLED. BAJA CALIFORNIA STATE POLICE REPORTEDLY ARRESTED SIX SUSPECTS IN THE CASE.

WE HAVE NO INFORMATION WHICH WOULD SHED LIGHT ON THE POSSIBLE MOTIVES FOR THE MURDERS OF BENITEZ AND ALARID.

WE DO NOT SEE A SIGNIFICANT CHANGE IN THE SECURITY SITUATION IN MEXICO; WE SEE NO IMMINENT OR UNUSUAL DANGERS TO U.S. CITIZENS RESULTING FROM THE KILLINGS. WE ARE MONITORING THE SITUATION CLOSELY.

-MEXICO: PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS-

Q: CAN YOU GIVE US AN UPDATE ON THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS IN MEXICO?

A. RECENTLY PRI PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE ZEDILLO REITERATED AN OFFER HIS PREDECESSOR COLOSIO HAD MADE TO DEBATE HIS TWO MAIN RIVALS, PRD CANDIDATE CARDENAS AND PAN CANDIDATE FERNANDEZ, OVER NATIONWIDE TELEVISION. THEY BOTH ACCEPTED THE OFFER AND ARE TALKING ABOUT AN EARLY DATE. ZEDILLO PROPOSED GROUND RULES SIMILAR TO U.S. PRESIDENTIAL DEBATES WITH A SINGLE NON-PARTISAN MODERATOR.

THE DEBATE, IF HELD, WOULD GO FAR TO STRENGTHEN MEXICAN DEMOCRACY BY ENABLING THE MEXICAN VOTERS TO COMPARE THE DIFFERENT PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES AND THEIR POLITICAL PROGRAMS.

(FYI: ZEDILLO'S OFFER TO DEBATE WAS ONLY EXTENDED TO HIS TWO MAIN OPPOSITION RIVALS, WHEREAS COLOSIO HAD ORIGINALLY PROPOSED A DEBATE AMONG ALL NINE OF MEXICO'S PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES.)

3. IO PREPARED PRESS GUIDANCE OF 5/2/94:

-HAITI: SANCTIONS RESOLUTION-

Q: ANY UPDATE ON TALKS IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL?

A: LAST FRIDAY WE PROVIDED ALL COUNCIL MEMBERS A COPY OF THE DRAFT RESOLUTION. THE COUNCIL WILL MEET TO DISCUSS THE RESOLUTION AS EARLY AS TOMORROW.

4. RP PREPARED PRESS GUIDANCE OF 5/2/94:

-HAITI: BOAT PEOPLE/IN-COUNTRY REFUGEE PROCESSING-

Q. CAN YOU PROVIDE AN UPDATE ON THE NUMBER OF INTERDICTIONS OF HAITIAN BOAT PEOPLE? IS THERE A TREND EMERGING?

A. NO HAITIANS HAVE BEEN PICKED UP DURING THE LAST 10 DAYS.

15 HAITIANS WERE PICKED UP BY THE COAST GUARD ON APRIL 21 AND REPATRIATED TO HAITI ON APRIL 22. A FURTHER 98 WERE PICKED UP ON APRIL 22 AND REPATRIATED ON APRIL 25.

THESE WERE IN ADDITION TO THE 414 HAITIANS WHO WERE PICKED UP OFF THE FLORIDA COAST AND BROUGHT TO MIAMI FOR PROCESSING BY THE IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE (INS).

11 OTHER VESSELS WITH SOME 625 HAITIAN MIGRANTS ON BOARD HAVE BEEN INTERDICTED SINCE THE BEGINNING OF THE YEAR. THEIR PASSENGERS HAVE BEEN REPATRIATED TO HAITI.

THIS BRINGS THE TOTAL NUMBER OF HAITIANS INTERDICTED BY THE COAST GUARD THIS YEAR TO APPROXIMATELY 1,152.

IT IS TOO SOON TO SAY WHETHER THESE RECENT INTERDICTIONS ARE THE BEGINNING OF AN INCREASED OUTFLOW OF BOAT PEOPLE. DURING THE LAST TWO YEARS, THERE HAVE BEEN PERIODIC INCREASES IN BOAT DEPARTURES.

A TOTAL OF 2,324 HAITIANS WERE PICKED UP AND RETURNED TO HAITI DURING 1993.

Q. WILL HAITIAN BOAT PEOPLE CONTINUE TO BE REPATRIATED?

OUR POLICY OF DIRECT RETURN IS UNCHANGED.

WE WILL CONTINUE TO TAKE NECESSARY AND APPROPRIATE ACTIONS TO PREVENT LOSS OF LIFE ON THE HIGH SEAS AND TO DETER MASSIVE BOAT DEPARTURES IN UNSEAWORTHY VESSELS.

WE BELIEVE OUR IN-COUNTRY REFUGEE PROCESSING PROGRAM PROVIDES A SAFER ALTERNATIVE FOR HAITIANS WISHING TO SEEK REFUGEE STATUS.

Q. CAN YOU RUN THROUGH THE IN-COUNTRY PROCESSING STATISTICS?

A. SINCE THE BEGINNING OF THE IN-COUNTRY REFUGEE PROCESSING PROGRAM (FEBRUARY 1992), WE HAVE RECEIVED SOME 55,700 PRELIMINARY QUESTIONNAIRES.

WE ARE RECEIVING AN AVERAGE OF BETWEEN 50 AND 60 NEW QUESTIONNAIRES PER DAY.

THESE QUESTIONNAIRES ARE PRESCREENED BY STATE DEPARTMENT REFUGEE OFFICIALS AND BY VOLUNTARY AGENCY STAFF WHO DETERMINE WHETHER THE CASES ARE ELIGIBLE FOR FURTHER PROCESSING.

MANY APPLICANTS DO NOT MEET THE ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS OF THE PROGRAM AND ARE NOT PROCESSED FURTHER.

THOSE CASES FOUND ELIGIBLE FOR PROCESSING CONSIDERATION ARE SCHEDULED FOR A CASE PRESENTATION INTERVIEW BY CASEWORKERS AT ONE OF THE THREE REFUGEE PROCESSING CENTERS. SUBSEQUENTLY, AN INS OFFICER PRIVATELY INTERVIEWS THE APPLICANTS AND MAKES THE FINAL DETERMINATION OF REFUGEE STATUS.

UNCLASSIFIED

IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE (INS) OFFICERS

HAVE INTERVIEWED OVER 15,300 PERSONS. ALL HIGH PRIORITY CASES HAVE BEEN INTERVIEWED.

2,937 HAVE BEEN APPROVED FOR REFUGEE STATUS, 2,237 OF WHOM HAVE ALREADY ARRIVED IN THE UNITED STATES.

12,270 PERSONS HAVE BEEN DISAPPROVED FOR REFUGEE STATUS.

Q. HAS THERE BEEN AN INCREASE IN THE APPROVAL RATE?

A. THERE HAS BEEN A RECENT INCREASE IN THE APPROVAL RATE OF REFUGEES AT THE IN-COUNTRY REFUGEE PROCESSING CENTERS.

DURING THE FIRST 3 WEEKS OF APRIL, 107 OUT OF THE 559 CASES INTERVIEWED WERE APPROVED FOR REFUGEE STATUS. THIS IS AN APPROVAL RATE OF 19 PERCENT.

IN MARCH, AN AVERAGE OF 11 PERCENT OF CASES INTERVIEWED WERE APPROVED. PRIOR TO THAT THE AVERAGE APPROVAL RATE WAS BETWEEN 6 AND 8 PERCENT.

WE ATTRIBUTE THIS INCREASE TO OUR EFFORTS TO WORK MORE ACTIVELY WITH HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS, NON-GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS, CHURCH GROUPS, AND OTHERS.

IN JANUARY OF THIS YEAR, IN CONSULTATION WITH MEMBERS OF THESE GROUPS, WE REFINED THE CRITERIA TO BE USED TO IDENTIFY THOSE HAITIANS IN DANGER ANDIN NEED OF RESETTLEMENT IN THE U.S.

THESE CRITERIA ARE SENIOR AND MID-LEVEL ARISTIDE

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS; CLOSE ARISTIDE ASSOCIATES; JOURNALISTS, EDUCATIONAL ACTIVISTS, AND HIGH PROFILE MEMBERS OF POLITICAL/DEVELOPMENT/SOCIAL ORGANIZATIONS WHO HAVE EXPERIENCED SIGNIFICANT AND PERSISTENT HARASSMENT BY THE DE FACTO AUTHORITIES, OR WHO HAVE A CREDIBLE FEAR BECAUSE OF THEIR ACTIVITIES; AND OTHERS OF COMPELLING CONCERN AND IN IMMEDIATE DANGER BECAUSE OF THEIR ACTUAL OR PERCEIVED POLITICAL BELIEFS OR ACTIVITIES.

WE BELIEVE THAT, UNDER THIS ENHANCED SYSTEM, GENUINE REFUGEES HAVE AN IMPROVED CHANCE OF BEING IDENTIFIED QUICKLY.

U.S. POLICY TOWARD GUATEMALA

Key Goals:

Consolidation of democracy and improved respect for human rights are the overarching foreign policy goals of the U.S. in Guatemala.

Peace Process:

The United States Government (USG) strongly supports efforts to end Guatemala's 34 year old guerrilla war. Efforts to consolidate democracy and improve respect for human rights have long been impeded by the continuing armed struggle. The USG is pleased that the Government of Guatemala (GOG) and the Guatemalan National Revolutionary Unity (URNG) are engaged in serious peace talks. The U.S. supports this process as a member of the "Friends" group (along with Colombia, Mexico, Spain, Norway, and Venezuela) which the parties have asked to assist the UN moderator in promoting the process. As a Friend of the process, the U.S. takes no position on substantive issues, such as whether or not there should be a "truth commission." Instead, we meet with the parties between negotiating sessions to review issues and search for common ground upon which they both can agree.

The parties on March 29 achieve an historic breakthrough in agreeing to a Human Rights Accord with near-term UN verification. The parties also agreed to a timetable for negotiations to ensure that a final agreement is reached this year. The parties will meet in Oslo in early June to discuss whether to form an historical clarification commission to review the issue of how to address human rights violations that have taken place during the armed conflict. They will meet in Mexico City May 21 to discuss the issue of refugees and displaced persons.

Peace Fund:

The USG is now considering the concept of creating a peace fund to be used following a peace agreement to promote peace and development. We have not yet identified precisely which funds would be available to be set aside in a peace fund. Such a fund could perhaps be used to assist combatants from both sides of the conflict demobilize and integrate into civilian life, and to assist efforts of communities in the conflictive zones to put the war behind them and participate in the development process. Before setting aside such a fund we would need to comply with all legal requirements and consult closely with the Congress. While we have not yet completed our review of which funds may be made available, it is apparent that additional resources will be needed to support a peace settlement. We hope to use U.S. funding to leverage resources from the international donor community and financial institutions to support implementation of an eventual peace accord.

Democracy and Human Rights:

Guatemala since mid-1993 has experienced a turbulent and historic period. Following the May 25, 1993, attempted "self-coup" by President Jorge Serrano, the Guatemalan Congress on June 5, 1993, elected Ramiro de Leon Carpio, then the Human Rights Ombudsman, as President. De Leon was sworn-in on June 6, 1993. De Leon is committed to improvement of the human rights situation in Guatemala and civilian control over the military.

As the 1993 State Department Human Rights Report on Guatemala makes clear, the USG views with concern the continuing high level of human rights violations in Guatemala. The U.S. Embassy in Guatemala regularly communicates to the GOG and public the seriousness with which we view this issue. Our Embassy maintains close contact with Guatemalan human rights organizations, the police, the Attorney General's office, and the courts, in order to promote investigation of abuses and prosecution of those responsible. One of the cases of interest to the USG is that of Efrain Bamaca Velasquez, a URNG commander missing since March 1992. The USG has supported the efforts of Bamaca's American citizen wife to locate him or his remains.

Impunity:

Many of Guatemala's problems, including investigation and prosecution of human rights abuses, are exacerbated by corruption and intimidation of responsible officials. An inadequately staffed and equipped police force compounds the problems. The result has been very low efficiency in state institutions in all three branches of government.

The USG supports efforts to expand the rule of law in Guatemala. We will soon seek lifting of Congressional holds on $1.5 million in ESF funding to promote progress in the administration of justice in Guatemala. Cases of special interest to the USG include the 1985 murders of American citizens Nicolas Blake and Griffith Davis by members of the Civil Defense Patrols, the 1989 rape and torture of American citizen nun Sister Diana Ortiz, and the 1990 murder of American citizen Michel Devine (discussed below under military assistance). The USG views civilian control of the police as fundamental to consolidation of democracy and promotion of human rights in Guatemala.

Travel Warning:

The State Department on March 30 issued a warning to all U.S. citizens to defer non-essential travel to Guatemala. Two American citizens were injured --one critically-- by mob violence March 29 in the town of San Cristobal, Alta Verapaz. The incident was sparked by rumors that foreigners are involved in the theft of children for the purpose of using their organs in transplants. The San Cristobal mob violence followed a similar event earlier in March in Santa Lucia Cotzumalguapa, Escuintla. The GOG has arrested 50 persons for involvement in the attack. We will work closely with the GOG to ensure that those responsible for this act are prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

PACs:

We share public concern about the abuses committed by the Civil Defense Patrols (PACs). We have communicated our concerns to the GOG. A PAC member involved in the August killing of an anti-PAC demonstrator in Colotenango has been taken into custody. President de Leon in a January 17 letter to President Clinton stated that the PACs will be converted into development committees with no ties to the military. Ten PACs in the Peten were converted to development committees earlier this year; the Defense Minister states the process will accelerate in July.

Reform Effort:

President de Leon spent the fall of 1993 locked in struggle with the Legislative and Judicial branches on the issue of corruption. On November 16, 1993, Catholic Church-brokered talks resulted in an agreement to hold a referendum on constitutional reforms. Although the voter turnout was disappointingly low, over two-thirds of those who voted approved of the reforms in the referendum held January 30. New elections to Congress are scheduled for August 14. The new Congress will elect a new Supreme Court.

De Leon is also trying to address the long-ignored needs of the indigenous population, the majority of Guatemala's population. Early in his presidency he launched an ambitious 180-day social action program designed to improve access to potable water, education, health care, employment, and economic development. The World Bank sponsored a Friends of Guatemala meeting in Washington on September 24, 1993, in order to bring together donor countries to assist Guatemala fund its development goals. The USG at that meeting pledged $10 million in Economic Support Funds (ESF).

U.S. Economic Assistance:

The U.S. contribution mentioned above constituted part of a multi-donor package, valued at over $100 million. By assisting the GOG to stay current in its payments to the World Bank and the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB), our aid assists the GOG to receive much larger loans from those institutions in order to carry out its development goals while maintaining macro-economic stability. Coordination among donors and with the international financial institutions maximizes the impact of limited aid, along the lines set forth by President Clinton in his statement following his November 30, 1993, meeting with the leaders of the seven Central American countries.

The USG also provides a great deal of other bilateral assistance to Guatemala (see attached table for funding levels). Our goals are to protect health, build democracy, protect the environment, and promote broad-based sustainable development. Much USG aid to Guatemala is channeled through non-governmental organizations (NGOs); most of our aid addresses issues of interest to the U.S. Congress. Part of our food assistance, PL-480 Title I, generates local currency that the GOG uses to promote its development goals. PL-480 Title II food aid is provided to NGOs that carry feeding programs for Guatemala's most needy.

Trade:

Central America has made great progress in the past decade in democratization and economic development. As the U.S./Central America relationship has matured, a natural result is a shift in emphasis from aid to trade. President Clinton has emphasized the importance of trade in our relationship with the region, and the Central American countries have communicated their interest in acceding to the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). The USG is now working, through technical assistance programs, to assist the countries of the region to make the structural changes in their economies that are necessary for future accession to the NAFTA.

The Generalized System of Preferences (GSP) is USG legislation that seeks to promote trade with developing countries by granting most of their products duty free access to the U.S. market. GSP beneficiaries, however, must respect norms such as worker rights and intellectual property rights (IPR). Guatemala's access to GSP is being reviewed as a result of allegations of violations of worker rights and IPR. The current review period expires in June.

Refugees:

Many thousands of Guatemalans, principally persons of Maya descent, fled to Mexico and elsewhere at the height of the war in the early 1980s. Some 40,000 of those refugees live in refugee camps in southern Mexico near the border with Guatemala. The USG has provided and continues to provide extensive assistance to Guatemalan refugees through the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), which receives about 25 percent of its budget from the USG. The USG supports the return of Guatemalan refugees to their homes according to international standards of return under "safety and dignity."

Many refugee families routinely return individually or in small groups across the porous border. The first major organized return, however, took place in January 1993 to the Ixcan area of northern Quiche Department near the Mexican border. The refugees who returned in January, 1993, located themselves at a site in the rainforest they have named La Victoria Veinte de Enero. They have built a town and removed a great deal of forest cover to plant fields. The northern Quiche area is the site of regular clashes between the Guatemalan army and the URNG guerrillas.

Several more organized returns to the Ixcan area took place in 1993 and early 1994, and more are expected. U.S. Embassy officers have maintained close contact with the refugees who returned to La Victoria. The Embassy also maintains close contact with other groups of returned refugees, such as those in Veracruz. Refugee leaders from throughout the Ixcan area have informed the Embassy that reports of army bombing and violence against returned refugees in early 1993 and 1994 were without foundation. The GOG, at the request of returning refugees, has moved the army post at Tercer Pueblo (a townsite to which many refugees hope to return) away from the center of the settlement.

Narcotics:

Guatemala is one of the few countries that has successfully reduced the amount of opium poppy cultivated within its borders. Opium poppy cultivation has fallen two thirds from the levels it reached in the late 1980s. Guatemalan Treasury Police work closely with USG agencies to combat transit of cocaine through the country. As with human rights, impunity for violators is a challenge for the GOG.

International Military Education and Training:

The prospects for consolidating democracy and increasing respect for human rights are improved to the extent that all groups and institutions support these goals. International Military Education and Training (IMET) promotes support of these goals by the Guatemalan military. IMET courses expose the Guatemalan military to U.S. military officers and students from other countries where civilian control over the military and protection of human rights are fundamental elements of military doctrine. President de Leon wants the U.S. to have a normal relationship with the Guatemalan military.

Several Guatemalan military personnel received IMET training in 1993. The decision was made after consulting with the Congress. The IMET program offered Guatemala is weighted at a 3:1 ratio toward "expanded" IMET. "Expanded" IMET courses and educational travel focus on issues such as human rights, the role of the military in a democracy, and resource management. Guatemala's FY 1993 IMET program cost $112,000; we have requested $125,000 for FY 1994.

Other Military Contacts, Civic Action:

The USG engages in other professional military contact with the Guatemalan military to promote consolidation of democracy and respect for human rights. The Minister of Defense of Guatemala visited Washington in January at the invitation of the USG to meet with human rights groups, Members of Congress and their staff, and executive branch officials, in order to communicate directly with U.S. officials and interest groups about events in Guatemala. Members of many U.S. National Guard units are doing their annual two-week training in Guatemala from January through June. Those units --up to a maximum of 500 U.S. Guardsmen at a time-- have drilled wells, rebuilt roads, and renovated schools in Baja Verapaz Department of Guatemala. U.S. National Guard physicians have treated patients in rural areas and U.S. National Guard veterinarians have treated farm animals in those same areas. U.S. Army medical personnel provided assistance to the U.S. citizen critically injured as a result of being attacked by a mob March 29 in San Cristobal, Alta Verapaz Department.

Military Assistance, Peace Fund, Sale of Weapons:

Military assistance to Guatemala was suspended in 1990 following the murder of American citizen Michael Devine by members of the Guatemalan armed forces. The soldiers responsible for Devine's murder were tried, convicted, and imprisoned. Captain Hugo Contreras, the officer who gave the killers their orders, was tried, convicted, and sentenced to 30 years in prison. The day that Captain Contreras was sentenced, however (in May 1993), he escaped from the military zone headquarters where he had been detained. The USG views the capture and imprisonment of Captain Contreras as fundamental to improved relations with the Guatemalan military.

U.S. military assistance to Guatemala was provided through the MAP and FMF programs. The Defense Security Assistance Agency (DSAA), an agency of the Department of Defense, administers the MAP and FMF programs. DSAA has informed the State Department that the uncommitted (not assigned to a "case" to buy equipment), but obligated, FMF balance is $2.193 million, and the uncommitted, but obligated, MAP balance is $2.413 million, for a total of $4.606 million in uncommitted, but obligated, funds.

Other MAP and FMF funds have been expended but the items purchased with those funds have not been delivered. The balance of expended MAP and FMF accounts is $2.45 million. These funds are from 11 FMS cases. Most of the expended funds are for prefabricated buildings ($2,000,000) and four passenger buses ($128,000). The remaining $327,000 of expended funds is for nine FMF cases for equipment spare parts. There are no plans to deliver any of this equipment.

The State Department reviews, on a case-by-case basis, requests by U.S. companies to sell items listed on the munitions control list to purchasers in Guatemala. Requests by U.S. firms to sell non-lethal equipment to the Guatemalan military are reviewed on a case-by-case basis. No requests to sell lethal equipment to the military are approved.

De Leon Represents Hope:

There is no doubt that events in Guatemala demonstrate that the country faces numerous challenges to consolidation of democracy, respect for human rights, and acceptance of the rule of law. At the same time, there is broad support throughout Guatemalan society --and the de Leon administration-- for progress in these areas. The challenge to the USG is how to promote such progress.

The USG does not believe that progress in respect for human rights would result from terminating our efforts to support the ability of Guatemalan institutions to face such challenges as continuing human rights abuses and impunity. Instead, it is the belief of the USG that Guatemalan President de Leon wants to reform the country's basic institutions and to make its government more just, responsible, and effective. U.S. policy is to support this effort wherever possible.

3. INTERNAL POLITICAL SITUATION

-- THE CURRENT FOCUS OF GUATEMALAN POLITICS IS THE ELECTION SCHEDULED FOR AUGUST 14, IN WHICH A NEW CONGRESS WILL BE CHOSEN.

-- THE ELECTION, WHICH REMOVES THE SERVING CONGRESS 16 MONTHS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE, IS A RESULT OF A REFORM PACKAGE APPROVED BY VOTERS LAST JANUARY.

-- KEY ISSUES IN THE CAMPAIGN ARE LIKELY TO BE CRIME, THE ECONOMY AND TRANSPARENCY IN GOVERNMENT.

-- THE ELECTION IS THE CULMINATION OF PRESIDENT DE

LEON'S HARD-FOUGHT, YEAR-LONG ANTI-CORRUPTION CAMPAIGN KNOWN AS "PURIFICATION" ("DEPURACION"). A NEW SUPREME COURT WILL ALSO BE CHOSEN BY THE NEW CONGRESS.

-- GUATEMALAN VOTERS HAVE LITTLE FAITH IN THEIR TRADITIONAL POLITICAL PARTIES (ONLY ABOUT 5 PERCENT OF ADULTS ARE MEMBERS OF A PARTY), AND MAJOR ABSTENTION IS LIKELY TO CONTINUE IN THE COMING VOTE.

-- GENERAL ELECTIONS, INCLUDING FOR ANOTHER CONGRESS, WILL BE HELD IN NOVEMBER 1995, WITH WINNERS TAKING OFFICE IN JANUARY 1996. AT THIS POINT, THE GUATEMALAN CONSTITUTION PROHIBITS A PRESIDENT FROM SERVING TWO TERMS; HOWEVER, THIS COULD BE CHANGED BY

THE TIME OF THE 1995 CAMPAIGN.

4. LAW ENFORCEMENT AND INTERNAL SECURITY

-- CRIME IS RAMPANT IN GUATEMALA, ESPECIALLY IN THE CAPITAL, AND IS A MAJOR LAW ENFORCEMENT PROBLEM AND POLITICAL ISSUE. KIDNAPPINGS HAVE BEEN A SERIOUS CONCERN.

-- IN LATE MARCH, PRESIDENT DE LEON MADE SWEEPING CHANGES IN THE TOP ECHELON AT THE MINISTRY OF INTERIOR, WHICH HAS RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE NATIONAL POLICE AND THE TREASURY POLICE.

[redacted]

B1,A5

-- A TRAVEL WARNING, ADVISING ALL US CITIZENS TO DEFER NONESSENTIAL TRAVEL TO GUATEMALA, HAS BEEN IN EFFECT SINCE MARCH 30 BECAUSE OF SEVERAL INCIDENTS IN WHICH US CITIZENS AND OTHER FOREIGNERS WERE FALSELY ACCUSED OF THEFT OF CHILDREN. IN ONE CASE, IN ALTA VERAPAZ DEPARTMENT, AN AMERICAN WOMAN RECEIVED LIFE-THREATENING INJURIES.

5. THE JUDICIARY

-- GUATEMALA'S JUDICIAL SYSTEM HAS NUMEROUS PROBLEMS, RANGING FROM INADEQUATE RESOURCES TO POORLY TRAINED PERSONNEL TO CORRUPTION. CRIMINAL CASES LACK ADEQUATE DUE PROCESS, INVESTIGATION, PROSECUTION AND DEFENSE, AND RARELY RESULT IN CONVICTION OR SENTENCING.

-- THERE ARE SEVERAL RECENT OR PENDING CHANGES IN THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM: 1.) THE PUBLIC MINISTRY HAS BEEN DIVIDED INTO TWO ENTITIES -- THE OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL UNDER ACISCLO VALLADARES, WHO WILL ESSENTIALLY HANDLE CIVIL CASES AND ACT AS THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH'S LAWYER; AND THE OFFICE OF THE PROSECUTOR GENERAL AND PUBLIC MINISTRY UNDER RAMSES CUESTAS, WHO WILL BE RESPONSIBLE FOR PROSECUTING CRIMINAL MATTERS. 2). -- THE USG HAS AN ACTIVE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE (AOJ) PROGRAM IN GUATEMALA. THERE ARE THREE MAIN COMPONENTS TO THE PROGRAM: TRAINING OF LAW SCHOOL FACULTY OF SAN CARLOS UNIVERSITY, SUPPORT TO THE SUPREME COURT (MAINLY TO THE PLANNING UNIT FOR IMPLEMENTATION OF THE PENAL PROCEDURES CODE REFORM), AND SUPPORT TO THE PUBLIC MINISTRY. THE LATTER IS CURRENTLY ON HOLD BECAUSE OF US CONGRESSIONAL CONCERNS ABOUT THE PREVIOUS LEADERSHIP AND PERFORMANCE OF THE AGENCY.

-- THE USG SUPPORTS JUDICIAL REFORM AND WOULD LIKE TO SEE COURTS THAT ARE LESS PRONE TO NARCO-CORRUPTION, SUPPORT EXTRADITIONS, AND DIMINISH IMPUNITY FOR WORKER RIGHTS AND HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES.

6. HUMAN RIGHTS

-- WITH THE ARRIVAL OF PRESIDENT DE LEON, HUMAN RIGHTS TOOK A QUALITATIVE STEP FORWARD. EARLY IN HIS ADMINISTRATION, DE LEON MADE INSTITUTIONAL CHANGES TO IMPROVE RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS. THESE INCLUDED THE NAMING OF A NEW NATIONAL POLICE CHIEF AND THE DISMANTLING OF THE "ARCHIVOS," A PRESIDENTIAL SECURITY STAFF, WHICH MANY BELIEVED WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE COMMISSION OF MANY HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. SOON AFTERWARD, DE LEON TASKED HIS PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, COPREDEH, TO DRAW UP AND IMPLEMENT A HUMAN RIGHTS ACTION PLAN.

CONFIDENTIAL

-- PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE IN RESOLVING KEY HUMAN RIGHTS CASES. IN 1993, CAPTAIN CONTRERAS WAS CONVICTED OF THE MURDER OF MICHAEL DEVINE, AN AMERICAN CITIZEN. HOWEVER, THE GUATEMALAN OFFICER HAS ESCAPED FROM PRISON AND REMAINS AT LARGE. IN 1994, THE SUPREME COURT CONFIRMED THE TWENTY-FIVE YEAR SENTENCE GIVEN NOEL DE JESUS BETETA ALVAREZ FOR THE KILLING OF MYRNA MACK, A GUATEMALAN ANTHROPOLOGIST.

-- HOWEVER, THESE INSTITUTIONAL CHANGES BY THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION AND THE PROSECUTION OF SEVERAL HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATORS HAVE APPARENTLY FAILED TO REDUCE THE ACTUAL NUMBER OF ABUSES COMMITTED IN 1993. WHILE IT IS VERY DIFFICULT TO KNOW WHETHER THE STATISTICS AVAILABLE ARE RELIABLE IN ABSOLUTE TERMS, THEY DO APPARENTLY INDICATE TRENDS. FIRST QUARTER 1994 STATISTICS REVEAL THAT HUMAN RIGHTS RELATED VIOLENCE CONTINUES TO SURPASS THE NUMBERS RECORDED FOR THE SAME PERIOD IN 1993, ALTHOUGH THEY ARE LESS THAN 1992.

-- HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS CONTINUE TO CRITICIZE THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION FOR NOT PURSUING SANCTIONS AGGRESSIVELY ENOUGH AGAINST CIVIL DEFENSE PATROL (PAC) MEMBERS AND MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, WHO IN THEIR OPINION COMMIT THE MAJORITY OF HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. THE 1993 COLOTENANGO PAC INCIDENT, IN WHICH ONE ANTI-PAC PROTESTER DIED AND TWO OTHERS WERE SERIOUSLY WOUNDED, REMAINS UNRESOLVED WITH ARREST WARRANTS PENDING FOR TEN OF THE FIFTEEN PAC MEMBERS INVOLVED.

-- REGRETTABLY BOTH THE PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION AND THE OMBUDSMAN HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE HAVE FAILED TO PRESS GOG AUTHORITIES TO INVESTIGATE HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES COMMITTED DURING THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION. THIS HAS BEEN A CONTRIBUTING FACTOR TO THE LACK OF RESOLUTION OF VARIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS CASES.

-- THE PLANNED SUMMER ARRIVAL OF THE UN VERIFICATION TEAM, AS CALLED FOR IN THE RECENTLY SIGNED URNG-GOG HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORD, HAS RAISED EXPECTATIONS AMONG ACTIVISTS THAT THE PRESENCE OF INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS WILL REDUCE HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS COMMITTED BY GOVERNMENT SECURITY FORCES, PARTICULARLY IN THESE CONFLICTIVE AREAS, LOCATED OUTSIDE THE CAPITAL. THE USG SUPPORTS THE ESTABLISHMENT OF AN EFFECTIVE UN VERIFICATION MISSION IN THE HOPE THAT IT CAN POTENTIALLY DIMINISH HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES.

-- IN FEBRUARY, THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION "CONVERTED" TEN PETEN PACS IN NON-CONFLICTIVE AREAS INTO PEACE AND DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEES. MORE

FORMER PAC MEMBERS WILL STOP COMMITTING HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. THE U.S.G. FAVORS PROSECUTION OF PAC MEMBERS WHO VIOLATE THE LAW, WHICH IS ALL TOO FREQUENT, AND THEIR DIS-ESTABLISHMENT IN AREAS WITHOUT CONFLICT.

7. LABOR ISSUES

-- GUATEMALA IS A BENEFICIARY OF THE U.S.G.'S GENERALIZED SYSTEM OF PREFERENCE LAW, WHICH ALLOWS DEVELOPING NATIONS TO SHIP INTO THE U.S. MARKET VARIOUS PRODUCTS WITHOUT PAYING DUTIES. A KEY FEATURE OF THIS LAW IS THAT THOSE NATIONS ENJOYING THIS BENEFIT MUST PROTECT INTERNATIONALLY-RECOGNIZED WORKER RIGHTS AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS.

-- PETITIONS HAVE BEEN FILED BY TRADE UNION AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS IN THE U.S. CHARGING THAT THE GOG FAILS TO PROTECT WORKER RIGHTS, WHICH KEEPS WORKERS FROM SHARING THE BENEFITS OF INCREASED TRADE.. THESE PETITIONS HAVE BEEN UNDER REVIEW BY AN INTER-DEPARTMENTAL SUBCOMMITTEE IN WASHINGTON SINCE JUNE 1992.

-- THIS SUBCOMMITTEE MUST MAKE A RECOMMENDATION TO THE PRESIDENT IN JUNE. THIS RECOMMENDATION CAN BE TO CONTINUE THE REVIEW PROCESS, TO TERMINATE THE REVIEW PROCESS BASED ON PROOF THAT THE GOG IS TAKING STEPS TO PROTECT WORKER RIGHTS, OR TO SUSPEND GUATEMALA FROM THE GSP PROGRAM. THE LATTER WOULD NOT BAR GUATEMALA FROM SHIPPING PRODUCTS TO THE U.S., BUT THESE PRODUCTS WOULD BE SUBJECT TO NORMAL, MOST-FAVORED-NATION TYPE DUTIES, AND THUS MAY LOSE THEIR COMPETITIVENESS.

-- WE CONTINUE TO WORK WITH THE GOG, WITH INFLUENTIAL SEGMENTS OF THE BUSINESS COMMUNITY, AND WITH TRADE UNIONS TO IMPROVE THE PROTECTION OF WORKER RIGHTS. THESE INCLUDE FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION, FREEDOM TO FORM TRADE UNIONS AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY, PROHIBITION OF FORCED OR SLAVE LABOR, THE PAYMENT OF A MINIMUM WAGE, AND THE PROTECTION OF WORKING CONDITIONS AND SAFETY AND HEALTH STANDARDS.

-- WE BELIEVE SOME IMPORTANT STEPS HAVE BEEN TAKEN TO PROTECT WORKER RIGHTS, BUT RECOGNIZE THAT MUCH REMAINS TO BE DONE. WE ARE WORKING WITH AID TO STRENGTHEN THE ABILITY OF THE MINISTRY OF LABOR TO PROTECT THESE RIGHTS, AND WITH BOTH LABOR AND MANAGEMENT IN IMPROVING THEIR RECOGNITION THAT THESE RIGHTS CAN BEST BE IMPROVED THROUGH COOPERATION AND DIALOGUE.

8. REFUGEES

-- THE VIOLENCE OF THE 1970S AND 1980S FORCED THOUSANDS OF GUATEMALAN FROM THEIR LAND. APPROXIMATELY 45,000 SOUGHT AND WERE PROVIDED OFFICIAL REFUGEE STATUS IN THE THREE SOUTHERN STATES OF MEXICO, UNDER THE PROTECTION AND SUPERVISION OF THE UNITED NATIONS HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR REFUGEES

-- FORMER PRESIDENT SERRANO INITIATED DISCUSSIONS WITH THE ELECTED REPRESENTATIVES OF THESE REFUGEES IN 1991. THIS RESULTED IN AN AGREEMENT IN OCTOBER 1992 WHICH ESTABLISHES THE PARAMETERS FOR A VOLUNTARY, PEACEFUL AND DIGNIFIED RETURN OF THESE REFUGEES.

-- THIS ACCORD PROVIDES THE REFUGEES, THROUGH THEIR ELECTED REPRESENTATIVES, WITH THE SOLE RIGHT OF ESTABLISHING WHEN, HOW AND TO WHERE THE RETURNS WILL TAKE PLACE. THESE RETURNS WILL BE CARRIED OUT UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF THE UNHCR, WORKING IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE GUATEMALAN AND MEXICAN GOVERNMENTS.

-- THERE HAVE BEEN FOUR LARGE-SCALE RETURNS OF REFUGEES SINCE JANUARY 1993. IT IS ESTIMATED THAT OVER 16,000 REFUGEES HAVE BEEN REPATRIATED SINCE 1988, WITH APPROXIMATELY HALF OF THAT NUMBER HAVING RETURNED UNDER THE 1992 ACCORD.

-- THE RETURNS ARE POLITICALLY CHARGED SINCE THE BULK OF RETURNEES ARE COMING BACK TO SETTLE OR RESETTLE IN AREAS OF CONFLICT, SUCH AS THE IXCAN

ACCORD STIPULATES THAT THE GOG WILL ASSIST RETURNEES IN RECLAIMING LAND WHICH THEY OWNED PRIOR TO THEIR EXILE, INCLUDING COOPERATIVE LAND.

-- MUCH OF THE IXCAN AREA IS COOPERATIVE LAND FORMERLY INHABITED BY REFUGEES OR INTERNAL DISPLACED. THE GUATEMALAN ARMY ESTABLISHED BASES AND OUTPOSTS ON PARTS OF THIS COOPERATIVE LANDS, TO COUNTER INSURGENTS OPERATING IN THE IXCAN AREA. THE COOPERATIVE MEMBERS ARE DEMANDING COMPLIANCE WITH THE 1992 ACCORD AND WANT TO MOVE THE MILITARY OFF OF THESE LANDS.

-- THIS EXTENDS TO A DEMAND THAT THE AREA BE DEMILITARIZED, ACKNOWLEDGING THE CIVILIAN NATURE OF THOSE MOVING BACK INTO THE IXCAN AREA.

-- THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE OFFERED TO NEGOTIATE A CEASE-FIRE FOR THE IXCAN AREA LAST NOVEMBER. THIS OFFER WAS REPEATED IN APRIL BUT HAS BEEN REJECTED BY THE URNG. GOG OFFICIALS INDICATE THEY WILL RAISE A LIMITED CEASE-FIRE AT THE PEACE TALKS DISCUSSION OF THE "UPROOTED" IN MEXICO MAY 21-24. A CEASE-FIRE WOULD HELP RESOLVE MANY OF THE LOGISTICAL, ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL PROBLEMS OF THOSE LIVING IN THE IXCAN, INCLUDING THE FORMER REFUGEES AND THE DISPLACED.

-- A GOG-URNG ROUND IN MEXICO ON "UPROOTED" AND DISPLACED PERSONS (INCLUDING REFUGEES) IS TAKING PLACE FROM MAY 21-24.

-- THIS WILL BE FOLLOWED BY A MAY 31-JUNE 4 OSLO SESSION ON THE "HISTORICAL CLARIFICATION COMMISSION/MECHANISM" (I.E., A "TRUTH COMMISSION-LIKE BODY). THIS IS A KEY AND SENSITIVE ISSUE FOR THE MILITARY.

-- BOTH SIDES ARE OPTIMISTIC OVER THE CHANCES FOR PEACE, THOUGH MUCH HARD BARGAINING REMAINS AND SUCCESS IS NOT ASSURED.

-- THE U.S., IN ITS ROLE AS A MEMBER OF THE "FRIENDS OF THE PEACE PROCESS" GROUP (INCLUDING COLOMBIA, MEXICO, NORWAY, SPAIN AND VENEZUELA) IS ASSISTING THE NEGOTIATIONS, WHICH ARE BEING MODERATED BY THE UN.

-- ON THE SUGGESTION OF MOD GENERAL ENRIQUEZ, THE USG IS EXPLORING THE POSSIBILITY OF CONVERTING FROZEN FMF FUNDS (USD 1.7 MILLION) INTO A "PEACE FUND" TO ENCOURAGE A SETTLEMENT.

PEACE PROCESS

3. ARA DAS PATTERSON AND THE AMBASSADOR CALLED ON PRESIDENT DE LEON JUNE 3, ACCOMPANIED BY POLCOUNS. PATTERSON EXPRESSED CONGRATULATIONS TO THE PRESIDENT ON THE PROGRESS OF THE PEACE PROCESS, AND REAFFIRMED OUR WILLINGNESS TO HELP TO MOVE IT FORWARD. DE LEON NOTED THAT OSLO WOULD BE DIFFICULT, BUT HE WOULD PERSEVERE. HE HAD BEEN IMPRESSED WITH THE CHANGES IN SALVADOR AND THE COMMON EFFORT THERE. IN GUATEMALA THE GUERRILLAS WERE EXHAUSTED AND THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY NOW AGREED ON THE NEED TO END THE

FIGHTING. HOWEVER, DE LEON NOTED THAT THE GUERRILLAS WERE NOT YET PREPARED TO INSERT THEMSELVES DEMOCRATICALLY WHICH COULD LEAD TO PROLONGATION OF THE CONFLICT.

4. IT WAS NECESSARY TO CONFRONT POVERTY AND THE LACK OF EDUCATION AND HEALTH CARE, OTHERWISE DISCONTENT WILL LEAD TO FURTHER VIOLENCE. DE LEON HAD MET WITH THE SWEDISH DEVELOPMENT MINISTER IN SALVADOR WHILE ATTENDING THE CALDERON INAUGURATION AND HE WAS INTERESTED IN HELPING. SOCIAL POLICY WAS KEY TO POLITICAL STABILITY.

TRAVEL WARNING

5. PRESIDENT DE LEON NOTED THAT SOME COULD TRY TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE TRAVEL WARNING TO DESTABILIZE GUATEMALA. PATTERSON EMPHASIZED THAT IT WAS IMPORTANT TO COOPERATE IN EFFORTS TO ADDRESS THE UNDERLYING PROBLEM. DE LEON AGREED, AND ACKNOWLEDGED THAT IT WAS NECESSARY TO REMOVE THE CONDITIONS WHICH HAD CAUSED IT. (SUBSEQUENTLY, HOWEVER, DE LEON WAS PUBLICLY VERY CRITICAL OF THE TRAVEL WARNING - SEPTEL.)

POLITICAL LANDSCAPE LESS TENSE

6. DE LEON SAID GUATEMALA WAS MAKING PROGRESS, IF SLOWLY, IN THE POLITICAL AREA. PARLIAMENTARY ELECTIONS WILL BE HELD WHICH WILL RESULT IN A NEW

OBSTACLES TO PEACE

7. DE LEON ACKNOWLEDGED THE SENSITIVITY OF THE COMMISSION TO DOCUMENT PAST HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. IT WOULD BE IDEAL IF ALL VIOLATORS ON BOTH SIDES COULD BE BROUGHT TO JUSTICE, BUT THIS WAS NOT POSSIBLE, AND TO TRY TO DO SO COULD REOPEN WOUNDS AND POLARIZE THE SOCIETY. THE GOG HAD OFFERED A LOCAL CEASE FIRE -- BOTH SOLDIERS AND GUERRILLAS REALIZE PEACE IS COMING AND DO NOT WISH TO RISK THEIR LIVES. Background on Objectives

Summit:

De Leon has sought the Central American lead in making an "Alliance for Sustainable Development" a centerpiece of the Summit. The White House Office of Environmental Policy is drafting a response to de Leon's letter to Clinton suggesting that the Summit include a theme on indigenous people and sustainable development. Guatemalan environmentalist Jorge Cabrera is slated to meet June 23 with Katie McGinty of the VP's office to discuss the Central Americans' draft summit paper. AID Guatemala is working with Cabrera on this.

Alien Smuggling:

Guatemala in August 1993 and May 1994 provided critical assistance to us in combatting alien smuggling. Both incidents involved Taiwan flag vessels involved in efforts to smuggle aliens to the U.S. The Guatemalan navy apprehended the first vessel on its own, and we assisted the GOG to arrange for repatriation of the aliens to the PRC by the International Organization for Migration (IOM). When in April the U.S. Coast Guard apprehended the second vessel (the Jin Yinn) on the high seas, Mexico declined to permit us to land the vessel there. Guatemala, however, permitted us to tow the vessel to one of its ports, where the IOM again repatriated the PRC aliens.

Peace Process/Human Rights:

The long-stalled peace process achieved a breakthrough in January when the GOG and URNG guerrillas signed a framework agreement. In March the two sides signed a Human Rights Accord providing for UN verification as soon as possible (probably to begin this fall). The two sides also signed a negotiating calendar committing themselves to reach a comprehensive peace settlement by the end of the year. The GOG and the URNG are currently in Oslo negotiating the issues of refugees/displaced persons, and whether a "historical clarification (truth) commission" should be organized to study human rights violations that took place during the conflict. There is optimism that agreement will be reached on both issues. As a member of the Group of Friends (along with Mexico, Norway, Spain, Colombia, and Venezuela), we are playing a key role in supporting the peace process. We are moving to set up a Peace Fund using $4.6 million in suspended FMF, and are asking the Secretary to approve a "Peace and Democracy Initiative" linking various elements of our relationship with Guatemala to progress in the peace process.

The army is pressing the GOG hard to obtain elimination of the mandate of the UNHRC independent expert. Guatemala's PermRep to the UN in Geneva is included in De Vielman's entourage. The GOG hopes to have ECOSOC direct the UNHRC to terminate advisory services; this is a non-starter. We support Mexico's ECOSOC resolution referring the matter to the UNHRC for review at its next meeting.

Counter-narcotics:

The GOG has closely cooperated with the USG on narcotics control and narcotics trafficking through South America. The GOG has virtually eliminated cultivation of opium poppies.

Devine Case:

On bilateral human rights issues, the GOG may believe it has outlasted us on demanding justice for the murder by army personnel AmCit Michael Devine. Army CAPT Hugo Contreras needs to be arrested and sent to prison to serve the 30 year term he to which he was sentenced.

Travel Warning:

Foreign Minister de Veilman may raise the issue of the current Travel Warning as the GOG, under great pressure from the travel industry, is pressing hard for us to narrow the Travel Warning. We needn't be defensive. AmCits have been the subjects of three mob attacks --one AmCit remains in a coma. The GOG has taken some public affairs actions and has promised to create a quick reaction tourist police unit. We are working on a new draft with DA which reduces the threat for business travelers and visitors to major tourist destinations.

Background on Objectives

Peace Process/Status of Negotiations:

In an encouraging recent development in the peace talks between the GOG and URNG gueriillas, both sides signed an agreement in Oslo last week on the issue of refugees/displaced persons, and initiated discussions on a "historical clarification (truth) commission" to study human rights violations that took place during the conflict. The long-stalled peace process had achieved a breakthrough in January when the GOG and URNG signed a framework agreement. In March the two sides signed a Human Rights Accord providing for UN verification as soon as possible (probably to begin this fall). Peace Process/U.S. Efforts:

As a member of the Group of Friends (along with Mexico, Norway, Spain, Colombia, and Venezuela), we are playing a key role in supporting the peace process. We are moving to set up a Peace Fund using $4.6 million in suspended FMF, and are asking the Secretary to approve a "Peace and Democracy Initiative" linking various elements of our relationship with Guatemala to progress in the peace process. The GOG has approached us and other Friends regarding the elimination by ECOSOC of the mandate of the UNHRC independent expert. While this is a non-starter for a variety of reasons, we do support Mexico's ECOSOC resolution asking the UNHRC to take developments in the peace process into account at its next meeting.

B1,A5

Summit:

De Leon has sought the Central American lead in making an "Alliance for Sustainable Development" a centerpiece of the Summit of the Americas. Sustainable development now has the status of a separate, third theme for the Summit. In contrast to its enthusiasm for the sustainable development and trade themes, Guatemala -- de Vielman especially -- is distinctly cool to the effective government theme.

Travel Warning:

De Vielman, under great pressure from the travel industry, will pressing hard for us to narrow the Travel Warning. We needn't be defensive. AmCits have been the subjects of three mob attacks -- one AmCit remains in a coma. The GOG has taken some public affairs actions and has promised to create a quick reaction tourist police unit. We are working on a new draft with CA which reduces the threat for business travelers and visitors to major tourist destinations.

Devine Case:

On bilateral human rights issues, the GOG may believe it has outlasted us on demanding justice for the murder of AmCit Michael Devine by army personnel. Army Captain Hugo Contreras, who "escaped" from custody in May 1993, must be returned to prison to serve the 30 year term to which he was sentenced.

E3987A

U.S. POLICY TOWARD GUATEMALA

RELEASED

Key Goals:

Consolidation of democracy and improved respect for human rights are the overarching foreign policy goals of the U.S. in Guatemala.

Peace Process:

The United States Government (USG) strongly supports efforts to end Guatemala's 34 year old guerrilla war. Efforts to consolidate democracy and improve respect for human rights have long been impeded by the continuing armed struggle. The USG is pleased that the Government of Guatemala (GOG) and the Guatemalan National Revolutionary Unity (URNG) are engaged in serious peace talks. The U.S. supports this process as a member of the "Friends" group (along with Colombia, Mexico, Spain, Norway, and Venezuela) which the parties have asked to assist the UN moderator in promoting the process. As a Friend of the process, the U.S. takes no position on substantive issues. Instead, we meet with the parties between negotiating sessions to review issues and search for common ground upon which they both can agree.

The parties on March 29 achieved an historic breakthrough in agreeing to a Human Rights Accord with UN verification to begin as soon as possible. The parties also agreed to a timetable for negotiations to reach a comprehensive Peace Accord by the end of 1994. The parties met in Oslo in June and signed an agreement on June 17 on displaced persons, providing for a technical commission to oversee implementation of the accord. On June 23, the parties signed an accord calling for the creation of an historical clarification commission to address human rights violations committed during the armed conflict. The parties will meet next to discuss indigenous rights.

Peace Fund:

The USG is establishing a Peace Fund to be disbursed following a peace agreement. Such a fund could be used to assist combatants from both sides of the conflict demobilize and integrate into civilian life, and to assist efforts of communities in the conflictive zones to put the war behind them and participate in the development process.. Approximately $4.6 million of MAP (Military Assistance Program) and FMF (Foreign Military Funding) funds suspended in 1990 due to U.S. concerns about violations of human rights will be used to set up the Fund. Before setting aside the funds we will comply with all legal requirements and consult closely with the Congress. We are encouraging the international donor community and financial institutions to commit funds to support implementation of an eventual peace accord.

Democracy, Human Rights and Impunity:

Guatemala since mid-1993 has experienced a turbulent and historic period. Following the May 25, 1993 attempted "self-coup" by President Jorge Serrano, the Guatemalan Congress on June 5, 1993 elected Ramiro de Leon Carpio, then the Human Rights Ombudsman, as President. De Leon was sworn in on June 6, 1993. De Leon is committed to improvement of the human rights situation in Guatemala and civilian control over the military.

As the 1993 State Department Human Rights Report on Guatemala makes clear, the USG views with concern the continuing high level of human rights violations in Guatemala. The U.S. Embassy in Guatemala regularly communicates to the GOG and public the seriousness with which we view this issue. Our Embassy maintains close contact with Guatemalan human rights organizations, the police, the Attorney General's office, and the courts, in order to promote investigation of abuses and prosecution of those responsible. Cases involving U.S. citizens include the 1985 murders of American citizens Nicolas Blake and Griffith Davis by members of the Civil Defense Patrols, the 1989 rape and torture of American citizen nun Sister Dianna Ortiz, and the 1990 murder of American citizen Michel Devine (discussed below under military assistance). Other cases of interest to the USG are those of Guatemalan anthropologist Myrna Mack, murdered in 1990, and Efrain Bamaca Velasquez, a URNG commander missing since March 1992. The USG has supported the efforts of Bamaca's American citizen wife to locate him or his remains.

Many of Guatemala's problems, including investigation and prosecution of human rights abuses, are exacerbated by corruption and intimidation of responsible officials. An inadequately staffed and equipped police force compounds the problems. The result has been very low efficiency in state institutions in all three branches of government.

The USG supports efforts to expand the rule of law in Guatemala. We will soon seek lifting of Congressional holds on $1.5 million in ESF funding to promote progress in the administration of justice in Guatemala. The USG views civilian control of the police as fundamental to consolidation of democracy and promotion of human rights in Guatemala.

Travel Warning:

The State Department on June 25 updated its March 30 travel warning regarding travel by U.S. citizens to Guatemala to note that certain areas of the country have not been affected by the incidents prompting the earlaier warning, and to provide additional guidance to U.S. citizens who travel to Guatemala. Two American citizens were injured -- one critically -- by mob violence March 29 in the town of San Cristobal, Alta Verapaz. The incident was sparked by rumors that foreigners are involved in the theft of children for the purpose of using their organs in transplants. The San Cristobal mob violence followed a similar event earlier in March in Santa Lucia Cotzumalguapa, Escuintla. The GOG has arrested 50 persons for involvement in the attack. We will work closely with the GOG to ensure that those responsible for this act are prosecuted to the full extent of the law. The June 25 travel warning warns U.S. citizens, and adoptive parents in particular, about possible dangers of travel to Guatemala because of these unfounded rumors. The warning notes that U.S. citizens should avoid traveling alone, should restrict their travel to areas frequented by tourists and business people, and should avoid contact with Guatamalan children.

PACs:

We share public concern about the abuses committed by the Civil Defense Patrols (PACs). We have communicated our concerns to the GOG. A PAC member involved in the August killing of an anti-PAC demonstrator in Colotenango has been taken into custody. President de Leon in a January 17 letter to President Clinton stated that the PACs will be converted into development committees with no ties to the military. Ten PACs in the Peten were converted to development committees earlier this year; the Defense Minister states the process will accelerate in July.

Reform Effort:

President de Leon spent the fall of 1993 locked in struggle with the legislative and judicial branches on the issue of corruption. On November 16, 1993, Catholic Church-brokered talks resulted in an agreement to hold a referendum on constitutional reforms. Although voter turnout was disappointingly low, over two-thirds of those who voted approved of the reforms in the referendum held January 30. New elections to Congress are scheduled for August 14. The new Congress will elect a new Supreme Court.

De Leon is also trying to address the long-ignored needs of the indigenous population, the majority of Guatemala's population. Early in his presidency he launched an ambitious 180-day social action program designed to improve access to potable water, education, health care, employment, and economic development. The World Bank sponsored a Friends of Guatemala meeting in Washington on September 24, 1993, in order to bring together donor countries to assist Guatemala fund its development goals. The USG at that meeting pledged $10 million in Economic Support Funds (ESF).

U.S. Economic Assistance:

The U.S. contribution mentioned above constituted part of a multi-donor package, valued at over $100 million. By assisting the GOG to stay current in its payments to the World Bank and the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB), our aid assists the GOG to receive much larger loans from those institutions in order to carry out its development goals while maintaining macro-economic stability. Coordination among donors and with the international financial institutions maximizes the impact of limited aid, along the lines set forth by President Clinton in his statement following his November 30, 1993, meeting with the leaders of the seven Central American countries.

The USG also provides a great deal of other bilateral assistance to Guatemala (see attached table for funding levels). Our goals are to protect health, build democracy, protect the environment, and promote broad-based sustainable development. Much USG aid to Guatemala is channeled through non-governmental organizations (NGOs); most of our aid addresses issues of interest to the U.S. Congress. Part of our food assistance, PL-480 Title I, generates local currency that the GOG uses to promote its development goals. PL-480 Title II food aid is provided to NGOs that carry feeding programs for Guatemala's most needy.

Trade:

Central America has made great progress in the past decade in democratization and economic development. As the U.S./Central America relationship has matured, a natural result is a shift in emphasis from aid to trade. President Clinton has emphasized the importance of trade in our relationship with the region, and the Central American countries have communicated their interest in acceding to the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). The USG is now working, through technical assistance programs, to assist the countries of the region to make the structural changes in their economies that are necessary for future accession to the NAFTA.

The Generalized System of Preferences (GSP) is USG legislation that seeks to promote trade with developing countries by granting most of their products duty-free access to the U.S. market. GSP beneficiaries, however, must respect norms such as worker rights and intellectual property rights (IPR). Guatemala's access to GSP has been under review as a result of allegations of violations of worker rights and IPR. While considerable progress has been made to protect intellectual property, the GSP review process is continuing on workers' rights grounds.

Refugees:

Many thousands of Guatemalans, principally persons of Mayan descent, fled to Mexico and elsewhere at the height of the war in the early 1980s. Some 40,000 of those refugees live in refugee camps in southern Mexico near the border with Guatemala. The USG has provided and continues to provide extensive assistance to Guatemalan refugees through the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), which receives about 25 percent of its budget from the USG. The USG supports the return of Guatemalan refugees to their homes according to international standards of return under "safety and dignity."

Many refugee families routinely return individually or in small groups across the porous border. The first major organized return, however, took place in January 1993 to the Ixcan area of northern Quiche Department near the Mexican border. The refugees who returned in January, 1993, located themselves at a site in the rainforest they have named La Victoria Veinte de Enero. They have built a town and removed a great deal of forest cover to plant fields. The northern Quiche area is the site of regular clashes between the Guatemalan army and the URNG guerrillas.

Several more organized returns to the Ixcan area took place in 1993 and early 1994, and more are expected. U.S. Embassy officers have maintained close contact with the refugees who returned to La Victoria. The Embassy also maintains close contact with other groups of returned refugees, such as those in Veracruz. Refugee leaders from throughout the Ixcan area have informed the Embassy that reports of army bombing and violence against returned refugees in early 1993 and 1994 were without foundation. The GOG, at the request of returning refugees, has moved the army post at Tercer Pueblo (a townsite to which many refugees hope to return) away from the center of the settlement.

Narcotics:

Guatemala is one of the few countries that has successfully reduced the amount of opium poppy cultivated within its borders. Opium poppy cultivation has fallen two thirds from the levels it reached in the late 1980s. Guatemalan Treasury Police work closely with USG agencies to combat transit of cocaine through the country. As with human rights, impunity for violators is a challenge for the GOG.

International Military Education and Training:

The prospects for consolidating democracy and increasing respect for human rights are improved to the extent that all groups and institutions support these goals. International Military Education and Training (IMET) promotes support of these goals by the Guatemalan military. IMET courses expose the Guatemalan military to U.S. military officers and students from other countries where civilian control over the military and protection of human rights are fundamental elements of military doctrine. President de Leon wants the U.S. to remain engaged with the Guatemalan military.

Several Guatemalan military personnel received IMET training in 1993. The decision was made after consulting with the Congress. The IMET program offered Guatemala is weighted at a 3:1 ratio toward "expanded" IMET. "Expanded" IMET courses and educational travel focus on issues such as human rights, the role of the military in a democracy, and resource management. Guatemala's FY 1993 IMET program cost $112,000; $125,000 has been allocated for FY 1994.

Other Military Contacts, Civic Action:

The Minister of Defense of Guatemala visited Washington in January at the invitation of the USG to meet with human rights groups, Members of Congress and their staff, and executive branch officials, in order to communicate directly with U.S. officials and interest groups about events in Guatemala. Members of many U.S. National Guard units are doing their annual two-week training in Guatemala from January through June. Those units -- up to a maximum of 500 U.S. Guardsmen at a time -- have drilled wells, rebuilt roads, and renovated schools in Baja Verapaz Department of Guatemala. U.S. National Guard physicians have treated patients in rural areas and U.S. National Guard veterinarians have treated farm animals in those same areas. U.S. Army medical personnel provided assistance to the U.S. citizen critically injured as a result of being attacked by a mob March 29 in San Cristobal, Alta Verapaz Department.

Military Assistance, Peace Fund, Sale of Weapons:

Military assistance to Guatemala (MAP and FMF programs) was suspended in 1990 following the murder of American citizen Michael Devine by members of the Guatemalan armed forces. The soldiers responsible for Devine's murder were tried, convicted, and imprisoned. Captain Hugo Contreras, the officer led the killers, was tried, convicted, and sentenced to 30 years in prison. The day that Captain Contreras was sentenced, however (in May 1993), he escaped from the military zone headquarters where he had been detained. The USG views the capture and imprisonment of Captain Contreras as fundamental to improved relations with the Guatemalan military. The intellectual authors of the crime have not been identified or prosecuted.

The State Department reviews, on a case-by-case basis, requests by U.S. companies to sell items listed on the munitions control list to purchasers in Guatemala. Requests by U.S. firms to sell non-lethal equipment to the Guatemalan military are reviewed on a case-by-case basis. No requests to sell lethal equipment to the military are approved.

De Leon Represents Hope:

Guatemala faces numerous challenges to consolidation of democracy, respect for human rights, acceptance of the rule of law, and economic reform. At the same time, there is substantial support throughout Guatemalan society -- and the de Leon administration -- to make progress in these areas. U.S. policy is aimed at supporting these efforts.

U.S. POLICY TOWARD GUATEMALA

Key Goals:

Consolidation of democracy and improved respect for human rights are the overarching foreign policy goals of the U.S. in Guatemala.

Peace Process:

The United States Government (USG) strongly supports efforts to end Guatemala's 34 year old guerrilla war. Efforts to consolidate democracy and improve respect for human rights have long been impeded by the continuing armed struggle. The USG is pleased that the Government of Guatemala (GOG) and the Guatemalan National Revolutionary Unity (URNG) are engaged in serious peace talks. The U.S. supports this process as a member of the "Friends" group (along with Colombia, Mexico, Spain, Norway, and Venezuela) which the parties have asked to assist the UN moderator in promoting the process. As a Friend of the process, the U.S. takes no position on substantive issues. Instead, we meet with the parties between negotiating sessions to review issues and search for common ground upon which they both can agree.

The parties on March 29 achieved an historic breakthrough in agreeing to a Human Rights Accord with UN verification to begin as soon as possible. The parties also agreed to a timetable for negotiations to reach a comprehensive Peace Accord by the end of 1994. The parties met in Oslo in June and signed an agreement on June 17 on displaced persons, providing for a technical commission to oversee implementation of the accord. On June 23, the parties signed an accord calling for the creation of an historical clarification commission to address human rights violations committed during the armed conflict. The parties will meet next to discuss indigenous rights.

Peace Fund:

The USG is establishing a Peace Fund to be disbursed following a peace agreement. Such a fund could be used to assist combatants from both sides of the conflict demobilize and integrate into civilian life, and to assist efforts of communities in the conflictive zones to put the war behind them and participate in the development process. Approximately $4.6 million of MAP (Military Assistance Program) and FMF (Foreign Military Funding) funds suspended in 1990 due to U.S. concerns about violations of human rights will be used to set up the Fund. Before setting aside the funds we will comply with all legal requirements and consult closely with the Congress. We are encouraging the international donor community and financial institutions to commit funds to support implementation of an eventual peace accord.

Democracy, Human Rights and Impunity:

Guatemala since mid-1993 has experienced a turbulent and historic period. Following the May 25, 1993 attempted "self-coup" by President Jorge Serrano, the Guatemalan Congress on June 5, 1993 elected Ramiro de Leon Carpio, then the Human Rights Ombudsman, as President. De Leon was sworn in on June 6, 1993. De Leon is committed to improvement of the human rights situation in Guatemala and civilian control over the military.

As the 1993 State Department Human Rights Report on Guatemala makes clear, the USG views with concern the continuing high level of human rights violations in Guatemala. The U.S. Embassy in Guatemala regularly communicates to the GOG and public the seriousness with which we view this issue. Our Embassy maintains close contact with Guatemalan human rights organizations, the police, the Attorney General's office, and the courts, in order to promote investigation of abuses and prosecution of those responsible. Cases involving U.S. citizens include the 1985 murders of American citizens Nicolas Blake and Griffith Davis by members of the Civil Defense Patrols, the 1989 rape and torture of American citizen nun Sister Dianna Ortiz, and the 1990 murder of American citizen Michel Devine (discussed below under military assistance). Other cases of interest to the USG are those of Guatemalan anthropologist Myrna Mack, murdered in 1990, and Efrain Bamaca Velasquez, a URNG commander missing since March 1992. The USG has supported the efforts of Bamaca's American citizen wife to locate him or his remains.

Many of Guatemala's problems, including investigation and prosecution of human rights abuses, are exacerbated by corruption and intimidation of responsible officials. An inadequately staffed and equipped police force compounds the problems. The result has been very low efficiency in state institutions in all three branches of government.

The USG supports efforts to expand the rule of law in Guatemala. We will soon seek lifting of Congressional holds on $1.5 million in ESF funding to promote progress in the administration of justice in Guatemala. The USG views civilian control of the police as fundamental to consolidation of democracy and promotion of human rights in Guatemala.

Travel Warning:

The State Department on June 25 updated its March 30 travel warning regarding travel by U.S. citizens to Guatemala to note that certain areas of the country have not been affected by the incidents prompting the earlaier warning, and to provide additional guidance to U.S. citizens who travel to Guatemala. Two American citizens were injured -- one critically -- by mob violence March 29 in the town of San Cristobal, Alta Verapaz. The incident was sparked by rumors that foreigners are involved in the theft of children for the purpose of using their organs in transplants. The San Cristobal mob violence followed a similar event earlier in March in Santa Lucia Cotzumalguapa, Escuintla. The GOG has arrested 50 persons for involvement in the attack. We will work closely with the GOG to ensure that those responsible for this act are prosecuted to the full extent of the law. The June 25 travel warning warns U.S. citizens, and adoptive parents in particular, about possible dangers of travel to Guatemala because of these unfounded rumors. The warning notes that U.S. citizens should avoid traveling alone, should restrict their travel to areas frequented by tourists and business people, and should avoid contact with Guatamalan children.

PACs:

We share public concern about the abuses committed by the Civil Defense Patrols (PACs). We have communicated our concerns to the GOG. A PAC member involved in the August killing of an anti-PAC demonstrator in Colotenango has been taken into custody. President de Leon in a January 17 letter to President Clinton stated that the PACs will be converted into development committees with no ties to the military. Ten PACs in the Peten were converted to development committees earlier this year; the Defense Minister states the process will accelerate in July.

Reform Effort:

President de Leon spent the fall of 1993 locked in struggle with the legislative and judicial branches on the issue of corruption. On November 16, 1993, Catholic Church-brokered talks resulted in an agreement to hold a referendum on constitutional reforms. Although voter turnout was disappointingly low, over two-thirds of those who voted approved of the reforms in the referendum held January 30. New elections to Congress are scheduled for August 14. The new Congress will elect a new Supreme Court.

De Leon is also trying to address the long-ignored needs of the indigenous population, the majority of Guatemala's population. Early in his presidency he launched an ambitious 180-day social action program designed to improve access to potable water, education, health care, employment, and economic development. The World Bank sponsored a Friends of Guatemala meeting in Washington on September 24, 1993, in order to bring together donor countries to assist Guatemala fund its development goals. The USG at that meeting pledged $10 million in Economic Support Funds (ESF).

U.S. Economic Assistance:

The U.S. contribution mentioned above constituted part of a multi-donor package, valued at over $100 million. By assisting the GOG to stay current in its payments to the World Bank and the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB), our aid assists the GOG to receive much larger loans from those institutions in order to carry out its development goals while maintaining macro-economic stability. Coordination among donors and with the international financial institutions maximizes the impact of limited aid, along the lines set forth by President Clinton in his statement following his November 30, 1993, meeting with the leaders of the seven Central American countries.

The USG also provides a great deal of other bilateral assistance to Guatemala (see attached table for funding levels). Our goals are to protect health, build democracy, protect the environment, and promote broad-based sustainable development. Much USG aid to Guatemala is channeled through non-governmental organizations (NGOs); most of our aid addresses issues of interest to the U.S. Congress. Part of our food assistance, PL-480 Title I, generates local currency that the GOG uses to promote its development goals. PL-480 Title II food aid is provided to NGOs that carry feeding programs for Guatemala's most needy.

Trade:

Central America has made great progress in the past decade in democratization and economic development. As the U.S./Central America relationship has matured, a natural result is a shift in emphasis from aid to trade. President Clinton has emphasized the importance of trade in our relationship with the region, and the Central American countries have communicated their interest in acceding to the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). The USG is now working, through technical assistance programs, to assist the countries of the region to make the structural changes in their economies that are necessary for future accession to the NAFTA.

The Generalized System of Preferences (GSP) is USG legislation that seeks to promote trade with developing countries by granting most of their products duty-free access to the U.S. market. GSP beneficiaries, however, must respect norms such as worker rights and intellectual property rights (IPR). Guatemala's access to GSP has been under review as a result of allegations of violations of worker rights and IPR. While considerable progress has been made to protect intellectual property, the GSP review process is continuing on workers' rights grounds.

Refugees:

Many thousands of Guatemalans, principally persons of Mayan descent, fled to Mexico and elsewhere at the height of the war in the early 1980s. Some 40,000 of those refugees live in refugee camps in southern Mexico near the border with Guatemala. The USG has provided and continues to provide extensive assistance to Guatemalan refugees through the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), which receives about 25 percent of its budget from the USG. The USG supports the return of Guatemalan refugees to their homes according to international standards of return under "safety and dignity."

Many refugee families routinely return individually or in small groups across the porous border. The first major organized return, however, took place in January 1993 to the Ixcan area of northern Quiche Department near the Mexican border. The refugees who returned in January, 1993, located themselves at a site in the rainforest they have named La Victoria Veinte de Enero. They have built a town and removed a great deal of forest cover to plant fields. The northern Quiche area is the site of regular clashes between the Guatemalan army and the URNG guerrillas.

Several more organized returns to the Ixcan area took place in 1993 and early 1994, and more are expected. U.S. Embassy officers have maintained close contact with the refugees who returned to La Victoria. The Embassy also maintains close contact with other groups of returned refugees, such as those in Veracruz. Refugee leaders from throughout the Ixcan area have informed the Embassy that reports of army bombing and violence against returned refugees in early 1993 and 1994 were without foundation. The GOG, at the request of returning refugees, has moved the army post at Tercer Pueblo (a townsite to which many refugees hope to return) away from the center of the settlement.

Narcotics:

Guatemala is one of the few countries that has successfully reduced the amount of opium poppy cultivated within its borders. Opium poppy cultivation has fallen two thirds from the levels it reached in the late 1980s. Guatemalan Treasury Police work closely with USG agencies to combat transit of cocaine through the country. As with human rights, impunity for violators is a challenge for the GOG.

International Military Education and Training:

The prospects for consolidating democracy and increasing respect for human rights are improved to the extent that all groups and institutions support these goals. International Military Education and Training (IMET) promotes support of these goals by the Guatemalan military. IMET courses expose the Guatemalan military to U.S. military officers and students from other countries where civilian control over the military and protection of human rights are fundamental elements of military doctrine. President de Leon wants the U.S. to remain engaged with the Guatemalan military.

Several Guatemalan military personnel received IMET training in 1993. The decision was made after consulting with the Congress. The IMET program offered Guatemala is weighted at a 3:1 ratio toward "expanded" IMET. "Expanded" IMET courses and educational travel focus on issues such as human rights, the role of the military in a democracy, and resource management. Guatemala's FY 1993 IMET program cost $112,000; $125,000 has been allocated for FY 1994.

Other Military Contacts, Civic Action:

The Minister of Defense of Guatemala visited Washington in January at the invitation of the USG to meet with human rights groups, Members of Congress and their staff, and executive branch officials, in order to communicate directly with U.S. officials and interest groups about events in Guatemala. Members of many U.S. National Guard units are doing their annual two-week training in Guatemala from January through June. Those units -- up to a maximum of 500 U.S. Guardsmen at a time -- have drilled wells, rebuilt roads, and renovated schools in Baja Verapaz Department of Guatemala. U.S. National Guard physicians have treated patients in rural areas and U.S. National Guard veterinarians have treated farm animals in those same areas. U.S. Army medical personnel provided assistance to the U.S. citizen critically injured as a result of being attacked by a mob March 29 in San Cristobal, Alta Verapaz Department.

Military Assistance, Peace Fund, Sale of Weapons:

Military assistance to Guatemala (MAP and FMF programs) was suspended in 1990 following the murder of American citizen Michael Devine by members of the Guatemalan armed forces. The soldiers responsible for Devine's murder were tried, convicted, and imprisoned. Captain Hugo Contreras, the officer led the killers, was tried, convicted, and sentenced to 30 years in prison. The day that Captain Contreras was sentenced, however (in May 1993), he escaped from the military zone headquarters where he had been detained. The USG views the capture and imprisonment of Captain Contreras as fundamental to improved relations with the Guatemalan military. The intellectual authors of the crime have not been identified or prosecuted.

The State Department reviews, on a case-by-case basis, requests by U.S. companies to sell items listed on the munitions control list to purchasers in Guatemala. Requests by U.S. firms to sell non-lethal equipment to the Guatemalan military are reviewed on a case-by-case basis. No requests to sell lethal equipment to the military are approved.

Dear Sister Dianna:

Thank you for your letter of June 20 from New Mexico. In the wake of your January visit and meeting with President Ramiro De Leon Carpio, Guatemalan authorities have reactivated your case. Consul General Chuck Keil has provided Paul Soreff with two status reports on actions taken by Judge Leticia Lam to pursue the leads provided by the computer composite sketches prepared during your March 1993 visit and by your identification in January of the Escuela Politecnica as the place were you were confined and tortured.

Upon receiving your report that former Special Prosecutor Fernando Linares Beltranena had recommended to the Guatemalan Fifth Court of First Instance that your case be dismissed for lack of evidence, I contacted the new Chief Prosecutor of Guatemala, Lic. Ramses Cuestas, to express the continuing strong interest of the United States Government in a full investigation of the case, and the prosecution of those responsible. Lic. Cuestas assured me that the investigation would continue. Concurrently, we contacted Judge Leticia Lam, who informed us that, far from dismissing the case, she has issued requests to the Guatemalan Army for additional information about activities at the Escuela Politecnica during the period of your abduction, and has just provided the Public Ministry with a summary report of the additional information developed during and subsequent to your January visit for use in the next stage of the investigation.

I will continue to raise your case, along with other unresolved human rights violations, at the highest levels of the Guatemalan Government as examples of abuses that must be investigated and prosecuted if the walls of impunity are to be broken down. As you have noted, we are committed to strengthening democracy and the search for peace in Guatemala. Respect for fundamental human rights is the key to success in achieving both goals.

2. (C) ACCORDING TO FIRST QUARTER STATISTICS COMPILED BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE

(AHRO), HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS IN THE FIRST QUARTER OF 1994 OCCURRED AT A MUCH HIGHER RATE (AN AVERAGE OF 27 EXTRAJUDICIAL (EE) KILLINGS/MONTH) THAN THE SAME PERIOD IN 1993 (9 EE KILLINGS/MONTH). EXCEPT FOR THE SUPREME COURT'S CONFIRMATION OF THE TWENTY-FIVE YEAR SENTENCE GIVEN NOEL DE JESUS BETETA FOR THE 1990 MYRIA MACK KILLING, LITTLE ADDITIONAL PROGRESS WAS MADE IN THE INVESTIGATION AND PROSECUTION OF HUMAN RIGHTS CASES. DURING THE FIRST QUARTER OF 1994, HUMAN RIGHTS LEADERS, THEIR FAMILIES, REFUGEE AND DISPLACED PERSONS ACTIVISTS, AND MEDIA PERSONALITIES

WERE TARGETED. BOMBS, WHETHER PLANTED BY THE URNG, RIGHTIST ELEMENTS OR OTHERS ATTEMPTING TO DESTABILIZE OR EMBARRASS THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION, CONTINUED TO EXPLODE AT INFRASTRUCTURE AND MEDIA TARGETS. END SUMMARY

3. (U) ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE: THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE (AHRO), WHICH UTILIZES THE (EXPANSIVE) UN DEFINITION OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, BASES ITS STATISTICS ON INFORMATION DERIVED FROM THE MEDIA SOURCES AND CASES DIRECTLY REPORTED TO LOCAL CHURCH OFFICIALS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY. THE AHRO REPORTED THE FOLLOWING NUMBERS FOR THE FIRST QUARTER:

| 1994 | JAN | FEB | MAR |
|---|---|---|---|
| EXTRAJUDICIAL EXECUTIONS: (EE) | 45 | 23 | 13 |
| FORCED DISAPPEARANCES: (FD) | 6 | 7 | 1 |
| TORTURE: : (T) | | | |
| 3 3 1 | | | |

| 1993 | JAN | FEB | MAR |
|---|---|---|---|
| EXTRAJUDICIAL EXECUTIONS: | 15 | 5 | 8 |
| FORCED DISAPPEARANCES: | 6 | 2 | 3 |
| TORTURE: : | 0 | 1 | 0 |

4. (U) NOTE: BASED ON REVISED CATEGORIZATIONS OF EE, THE AHRO HAS SINCE LABELED 6 OF THESE 1994 CASES AS POLITICALLY MOTIVATED, 71 CASES AS PROBABLY POLITICALLY MOTIVATED AND THE REMAINING 4 CASES AS UNKNOWN (GUAT 1158 AND GUAT 963, BOTH NOTAL). WITH A LEGAL INVESTIGATIVE STAFF OF ONLY SEVEN LAW STUDENTS AND ATTORNEYS, THE AHRO NORMALLY ONLY INVESTIGATES

THOSE CASES IN WHICH PERSONS COME DIRECTLY TO THE GUATEMALA CITY OFFICE (CATHEDRAL) TO REGISTER A COMPLAINT OR A SPECIFIC HIGH INTEREST REQUEST IS MADE BY AN INDIVIDUAL OR INSTITUTION (I.E. THE EMBASSY) TO INVESTIGATE A CASE

OLD CASES

5. (C) Micheal Devine: On jan 19, serviceman Esteban arevalo de la Cruz (the younger brother of Fabian de la Cruz, who had testified against the defendants in the Michael Devine case) told the CG that unknown assailants, who he believed were linked to the intellectual authors of the 1990 Devine murder, kidnapped, tortured and murdered his brother, serviceman Serefino Arevalo de la Cruz on jan 11 (GUAT 2354 NOTAL). (Note: On jun 1, the AHRO told us that Serefino's body had the following signs of torture: tongue removed; feet burned; palms sliced; and coup d' grace to the head (gunshot) (GUAT 5835 NOTAL)). At the jan 19 meeting, Esteban requested the CG provide immediate assistance in leaving the country. Subsequent to that meeting, Esteban was shot in the leg under suspicious circumstances and other relatives of Devine witnesses experienced other acts of intimidation by unknown parties. Based on these events and the recommendation of the Archbishop's Human rights office (AHRO) that Serefino as well as other witness family members lives were in danger, the Embassy requested Humanitarian parole for Serefino and his family. INS granted Serefino and his family public interest parole and the Esteban Arevalo de la Cruz family is now living in the US.

6. (C) Devine update: Since the death of Serefino, two other relatives of Devine witnesses, [redacted], have reported to EMBOFFS that they have also been intimidated. On May 20, the Embassy and B7F the Department were informed that another witness relative, Francisco Eusebio Batz Hernandez, [redacted] was killed under suspicious circumstances. The embassy has since requested that INS grant immediate public interest parole to [redacted] (GUAT 5835 B7F B7F NOTAL).

7. (U) MYRNA MACK: ON FEB 8, THE SUPREME COURT CONFIRMED THE TWENTY FIVE YEAR SENTENCE GIVEN TO NOEL DE JESUS BETETA FOR THE 1990 KILLING OF MYRNA MACK AND THE COURT RULED TO ACCEPT THE PETITION OF HELEN MACK, WHICH CALLED FOR LEGAL PROCEEDINGS TO REMAIN OPEN AGAINST THE ALLEGED INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS OF HER SISTER'S MURDER (GUAT 1550 NOTAL).

8. (C) THROUGHOUT THE FIRST SIX MONTHS OF 1994 [redacted] B1,B6 MADE OVERTURES TO THE EMBASSY, ALLEGEDLY ON BEHALF OF BETETA, STATING THAT THE MYRNA MACK KILLER WILL REVEAL THE INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS OF THIS CRIME IN EXCHANGE FOR USG ASSISTANCE IN THE REDUCTION OF HIS PRISON SENTENCE AND, ASYLUM/PAROLE TO THE US FOR HIS FAMILY AND MONEY. IN MARCH AND APRIL, AS AN ALLEGED SIGN OF GOODWILL ON THE PART OF BETETA, [redacted] B1,B6 GAVE THE EMBASSY, HELEN MACK, AND MONICA PINTO, THE UN HUMAN RIGHTS EXPERT FOR GUATEMALA, TAPED RECORDINGS OF SUPPOSED INTERVIEWS HE HAS CONDUCTED WITH BETETA. WE REVIEWED THESE TAPES AND AGREED WITH THE CONCLUSION ALSO REACHED BY MACK AND PINTO THAT, [redacted] B1,B6 THERE IS NO EVIDENCE (FACTUAL OR CIRCUMSTANTIAL) ON THESE RECORDINGS SUFFICIENT TO BASE FURTHER CRIMINAL CONVICTIONS.

9. (U) SINCE APRIL, WE HAVE DISASSOCIATED OURSELVES FROM [redacted] B6 INSTEAD TO HELEN MACK AND THE PUBLIC MINISTRY. SUBSEQUENT TO OUR REFERRALS, [redacted] B6 TURNED IN THESE AND OTHER RECORDINGS TO THE COURT AND PUBLIC MINISTRY. HOWEVER, NO NEW INFORMATION HAS BEEN REVEALED. ON JUNE 16 AND THEN AGAIN ON JUNE 17, BETETA ATTEMPTED SUICIDE (GUAT 5827 & 5923 NOTALS). FOUR PRISON GUARDS HAVE NOW REPORTEDLY BEEN ASSIGNED TO SHARE A CELL WITH BETETA TO ENSURE HE DOES NOT ATTEMPT ANOTHER SUICIDE.

10. (U) COLOTENANGO: ON JAN 14, 1994, THREE PERSONS ACCUSED IN THE AUG 3, 1993 COLOTENANGO PAC INCIDENT VOLUNTARILY TURNED THEMSELVES IN TO JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES. THE JUDGE RELEASED TWO OF THE THREE MEN, CLAIMING THEY WERE NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DEATH OF THE ANTI-PAC DEMONSTRATOR, JUAN CHONAY PABLO (GUAT 736 NOTAL). THE THIRD MAN, JUAN PEREZ GODINEZ, SPENT A FEW WEEKS IN JAIL BUT HAS RELEASED ON PERSONAL BOND BY THE TRIAL JUDGE AWAITING MORE EVIDENCE.

11. (C) IN MID-JAN, PRESIDENT DE LEON ORDERED THE MINISTERS OF GOVERNMENT AND DEFENSE TO WORK TOGETHER TO ARREST THOSE CHARGED IN THE COLOTENANGO INCIDENT. HOWEVER, THE JOINT ARMED FORCES/POLICE CAPTURE PLAN NEVER GOT BEYOND THE CONCEPTUAL STAGE DUE TO A LACK OF WILL OR COOPERATION BETWEEN THE PARTIES. SO FAR ONLY FIVE OF THE FIFTEEN PERSONS CHARGED WITH CRIMINAL ACTIVITY HAVE BEEN SEEN BY THE COURTS. OF THE REMAINING TEN PAC MEMBERS, THREE MAY HAVE DISAPPEARED AND FLED TO THE US AND OTHER PARTS OF CENTRAL AMERICA TO AVOID CAPTURE.

12. (C) IN MID-APR, TWO WITNESSES AND MEMBERS OF CUC, AN INDIGENOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION, WHO WERE SCHEDULED TO TESTIFY AS WITNESSES IN THE COLOTANANGO CASE, LEARNED UPON ENTERING THE COURT THAT THEY WERE LISTED ON AN ARREST WARRANT FOR THEIR ALLEGED INVOLVEMENT IN THE SEPTEMBER 1993 MURDER OF

PAC LEADER EFRAIN DOMINGO MORALES. THE COURT LATER RELEASED THESE TWO INDIVIDUALS ON THEIR OWN PERSONAL BOND. [redacted] BELIEVES THESE TWO INDIVIDUALS WERE NOT INVOLVED, BUT THAT THE PAC DEFENSE LAWYERS WERE TRYING TO INTIMIDATE THE COLOTENANGO WITNESSES AND EXACT SOME REVENGE FOR THE MORALES KILLING. B1

13. (U) EFRAIN DOMINGO MORALES: THERE HAVE BEEN NO FURTHER DEVELOPMENTS IN THE EFRAIN DOMINGO MORALES CASE.

14. (U) HUNAPU: ON MARCH 18, THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT DISMISSED AN APPEAL FOR AN INJUNCTION AGAINST THE SUPREME COURT FOR ITS CONFIRMATION OF PRISON SENTENCES (SOME RANGING UP TO THE THIRTY YEARS) GIVEN THE 22 FORMER POLICE OFFICERS FOR THEIR CULPABILITY IN THE APRIL 22, 1992 DEATH OF UNIVERSITY STUDENT JULIU RIGOBERTO CU QUIM AND INJURY TO SIX OTHER STUDENTS.

15. (C) JORGE CARPIO: ON JAN 28, [redacted] TOLD HROFF OFFICER THAT IN A FEW HOURS HE WOULD BE TURNING IN THE INVESTIGATIVE REPORT OF THE JULY 1993 MURDER OF PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE AND NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER JORGE CARPIO TO THEN-MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT ORTIZ. ON FEB 18, TWO DAYS PRIOR TO THIS YEAR'S UNHRC MEETINGS IN GENEVA, DE LEON FORMED THE ILL-FATED CARPIO COMMISSION B1

CHARGED WITH ENSURING THAT THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS CRIME WERE PUNISHED. HOWEVER, THE COMMISSION (COMPOSED OF MEMBERS OF THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH, HR NGOS AND THE CARPIO FAMILY, ETC.) NEVER MET, PRINCIPALLY DUE TO MUTUAL MISTRUST AMONG THE MEMBERS.

PREVIOUSLY UNREPORTED (DEC 1993):

16. (U) FELIPE LEON NAS AND JOSEFINA MACARIO CALEL: ACCORDING TO THE PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, COPREDEH, NO ONE OTHER THAN THE RELATIVES OF FELIPE AND HIS CO-WORKER JOSEFINA HAVE COME FORWARD TO TESTIFY CONCERNING THE DECEMBER 27, 1993 MURDER OF FELIPE. TWO UNKNOWN ARMED MEN ENTERED THE CHICHE TOWN HALL AND KILLED FELIPE DURING A RELIGIOUS CEREMONY. BOTH FELIPE AND JOSEF NA WERE RELIGIOUS ACTIVISTS. SINCE THE MURDER, JOSEFINA HAS CONTINUED TO RECEIVE THREATS FRUM UNKNOWN PERSONS BUT, ACCORDING TO COPREDEH, SHE HAS NOT PERSONALLY FILED A LEGAL COMPLAINT, "DENUNCIA," WITH AUTHORITIES.

DISAPPEARANCES

NEW CASES

17. (U) MARIANO GOMEZ RAMOS AND MARIO LOPEZ GAABIEL: ON JANUARY 6, MARIANO GOMEZ RAMOS, A FORMER MEMBER OF A LOCAL CIVIL DEFENSE PATROL (PAC), AND MARIO LOPEZ GABRIEL, RAMOS' SON-IN-LAW AND A MEMBER OF CUC, THE COMMITTEE OF PEASANT UNITY, AN INDIGENOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION (WHICH THE ARMY ALLEGES IS A FRONT FOR THE GUERRILLAS), WERE ON THEIR WAY TO A LOCAL STORE WHEN THEY DISAPPEARED. LOPEZ' WIFE HAS PRESENTED A LEGAL COMPLAINT AGAINST VARIOUS PAC MEMBERS. ACCORDING TO COPREDEH, THE PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, THE NATIONAL POLICE ARE INVESTIGATING THIS MATTER.

18. (U) LORENZO QUIEJ PU: LORENZO QUIEJ PU, A MEMBER OF CONSEJO NACIONAL DE DESPLAZADOS (CONDEG), (AN ORGANIZATION DEDICATED TO HELPING GUATEMALANS WHO HAVE BEEN DISPLACED WITHIN GUATEMALA DUE TO THE THIRTY-THREE YEAR OLD INSURGENCY) HAS BEEN MISSING SINCE JANUARY 12. WE HAVE QUERIED GUATEMALAN LAW ENFORCEMENT AUTHORITIES AND COPREDEH AND THEY HAVE NO INFORMATION ON THIS DISAPPEARANCE. AT THE TIME OF THIS INCIDENT, CONDEG HAD BEEN OCCUPYING AN AREA IN ZONE 21 OF THE CAPITAL CALLED PRIMER ASENTAMIENTO DE DESPLAZADOS "MARCO ANTONIO DIAZ." THIS MATTER WAS INCLUDED IN A LIST OF CASES OF USG INTEREST SENT TO THE NATIONAL POLICE AND COPREDEH.

NEW CASE

19. (C) MYNOR VINICIO LUNA LIMA: ON JANUARY 26, MYNOR VINICIO LUNA LIMA, THE SON OF NATIONAL TRANSPORT COORDINATOR MIGUEL ANGEL LUNA GAMBOA, MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARED SHORTLY AFTER HIS FATHER CALLED FOR A NATIONAL TRANSPORT STRIKE. AT THE REQUEST OF [redacted] HROFF MET WITH LUNA GAMBOA, [redacted] B1,B7F B1,B7F

[redacted] LUNA GAMBOA SAID HE HAD LEARNED THAT HIS SON HAD RECENTLY BEFRIENDED VENEZUELAN CITIZEN, VICTOR ERACLIO CAMARDA ATENSIO, WHO WAS KNOWN TO BE INVOLVED WITH ILLEGAL DRUG USE. THE FATHER SPECULATED THAT THE DISAPPEARANCE COULD BE DRUG RELATED. HOWEVER, HE COULD NOT RULE OUT THAT THE KIDNAPPING COULD ALSO HAVE BEEN AN ACT OF REPRISAL COMMITTED BY ELEMENTS WITHIN THE GOG DIRECTED AT HIM DUE TO HIS CALL FOR A NATIONAL TRANSPORT STRIKE.

20. (U) POLOFFS SUBSEQUENTLY RAISED THIS MATTER WITH THE NATIONAL POLICE. ON FEB 25, TWO CORPSES WERE FOUND, ONE OF WHICH WAS IDENTIFIED AS BELONGING TO CAMARDA. THE OTHER CORPSE WAS BURNED BEYOND RECOGNITION. [redacted] B6

[redacted] TOLD HROFF THAT HE BELIEVES THE UNIDENTIFIED CORPSE WAS NOT LUNA LIMA BECAUSE THE FAMILY DID NOT SUBSEQUENTLY PUSH THE POLICE TO CONTINUE ITS INVESTIGATION AS TO WHAT HAPPENED. [redacted] THINKS THE FAMILY PAID THE KIDNAPPERS A RANSOM AND LUNA LIMA IS NOW RESIDING OUTSIDE GUATEMALA. B6

21. (C) DIANA ORTIZ: IN LATE JAN AND EARLY FEB, SISTER DIANA ORTIZ ACCOMPANIED BY HER ATTORNEY RETURNED TO GUATEMALA TO PRESS GOG AUTHORITIES TO MOVE FORWARD WITH HER 1989 KIDNAPPING AND TORTURE CASE. DURING HER VISIT THE ORTIZ PARTY MET WITH THE AMBASSADOR AND CG, PRESIDENT DE LEON, HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN JORGE MARIO GARCIA LAGUARDIA, THEN ATTORNEY GENERAL TELESFORO GUERRA CAHN AND JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES AND VISITED THE OLD "ESCUELA POLITECNICA," WHICH ORTIZ IDENTIFIED AS THE PLACE WHERE SHE WAS SEXUALLY ABUSED AND TORTURED. SHORTLY AFTER ENTERING THE FACILITY, ORTIZ WAS OVERCOME BY

EMOTION AND UNABLE TO IDENTIFY THE SITE OF THE VIOLATIONS, WHICH SHE SAYS OCCURRED IN THE BASEMENT OF THE FACILITY. THE ARMY SAYS THERE ARE NOT NOW NOR WERE THERE EVER ANY SUBTERRANEAN LEVELS AT THE SCHOOL. THOUGH JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES HAVE PROMISED TO MOVE FORWARD WITH THIS CASE, ONLY IN LATE APRIL AND NOW ON JUL 11 HAVE AUTHORITIES PROVIDED THE EMBASSY WITH COPIES OF NEW AND OLD WITNESS TESTIMONIES ON THIS CASE.

22. (C) MARIO POLANCO: ON JAM 11 [redacted] B1
[redacted] TOLD DCM THAT THE NATIONAL POLICE HAD IDENTIFIED THE PERSON SUSPECTED OF THE DEC 11, 1993 KIDNAPPING AND ASSAULT OF GAM (GRUPO DE APOYO MUTUO) LEADER MARIO POLANCO (GUAT 400 NOTAL). THE INDIVIDUAL IS MARCO ANTONIO ALVARADO WHO USES THE ALIAS OF EDUARDO ALDANA CASTENADA. IN SUBSEQUENT CONVERSATIONS [redacted] STATED THAT HE B1
old NOT EXPECT EITHER THE MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT OR THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE TO PURSUE THIS CASE BECAUSE [redacted] "IT IS TOO HOT TO HANDLE." AFTER B1
[redacted] B1
HROFF RAISED THE CASE [redacted] B1
[redacted] REPLIED NOT TO ASK HIM BECAUSE IF HE ASKED ABOUT THIS CASE, IT WOULD COST HIM HIS JOB.

23. (U) IN MID-FEB, THE PUBLIC MINISTRY FILED A DEFAMATION LAWSUIT AGAINST GAM LEADER MARIO POLANCO ON BEHALF OF CASTENADA, WHO CATEGORICALLY DENIED HE HAD PARTICIPATED IN ANY ATTACK. GAM HAS DENOUNCED THE MINISTRY'S ACTION AND ACCUSED IT OF GOING AFTER THE VICTIMS INSTEAD OF CULPRITS. THE ORIGINAL

POLANCO CASE AND THE DEFAMATION LAWSUIT ARE STILL PENDING AND NO SIGNIFICANT LEGAL ACTION HAS BEEN TAKEN TO RESOLVE EITHER CASE.

24. (U) STREET CHILDREN: FOR THE FIRST QUARTER OF 1994, CASH ALIANZA (CA), THE GUATEMALAN CHILDREN'S RIGHTS ADVOCATE ORGANIZATION, REPORTED SIX SEPARATE (5 EXCESSIVE FORCE AND 1 EXTORTION) CASES OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS COMMITTED BY NATIONAL POLICEMEN AGAINST MINORS. IN TWO EXCESSIVE USE OF FORCE CASES, THE POLICEMEN FIRED AT THE MINORS CAUSING LEG AND HEAD INJURIES. AT A JUN 14 MEETING, CA ATTORNEYS

TOLD POLOFF THAT THE POLICEMEN INVOLVED IN THE EXTORTION CASE HAVE SUBSEQUENTLY BEEN TRANSFERRED TO ANOTHER PART OF THE CITY. HOWEVER, THE ATTORNEY DID NOT HOLD OUT MUCH HOPE THAT THE NATIONAL POLICE HIERARCHY WILL ACTUALLY DISCIPLINE ANY POLICEMEN, DESPITE THE PROMISES OF ITS OFFICE OF PROFESSIONAL RESPONSIBILITY TO INVESTIGATE.

DENIAL OF FAIR PUBLIC TRIAL

25. (U) JUDGE YOLANDA PEREZ RUIZ: IN LATE JAN THE FAMILY OF JOSE MERCEDES SIMOLIX TELON APPEARED BEFORE JUDGE YOLANDA PEREZ RUIZ ASKING HER ASSISTANCE IN DETERMINING THE WHEREABOUTS AND WELFARE OF THEIR SERVICEMAN SON, WHO A FEW DAYS EARLIER HAD BEEN ARRESTED BY THE ARMY FOR PUBLIC DRUNKENNESS. ON FEBRUARY 3, THE JUDGE ACCOMPANIED BY THE AUXILIARY OMBUDSMAN FOR HUMAN RIGHTS WENT TO THE BASE TO PERSONALLY SEE THE SERVICEMAN. AT THE BASE, THE MILITARY BASE SUB-COMMANDER RECEIVED JUDGE PEREZ BUT REFUSED TO PRESENT THE SERVICE MEMBER WITHOUT A WRITTEN JUDICIAL ORDER DESPITE THE JUDGE'S ASSERTION THAT BECAUSE SHE WAS THERE IN PERSON A WRITTEN ORDER WAS UNNECESSARY. THE JUDGE LEFT WITHOUT SEEING THE SERVICEMAN, THOUGH HE MAY HAVE BEEN PRESENTED TO OTHER CIVILIANS AFTER THE JUDGE'S DEPARTURE. SHORTLY AFTER THIS INCIDENT, JUDGE PEREZ BEGAN TO RECEIVE ANONYMOUS THREATS.

26. (U) AFTER A MEETING WITH JUDGE PEREZ TO DISCUSS THIS CASE THE AMBASSADOR CONTACTED SUPREME COURT JUSTICE RODIL, WHO ASSURED THE AMBASSADOR THAT HE IS ALSO CONCERNED ABOUT JUDGE PEREZ' SAFETY AND THAT HE HAS TAKEN AND WILL TAKE FURTHER STEPS TO ASSIST HER. THE EMBASSY ALSO MENTIONED OUR CONCERN ABOUT THE JUDGE'S SAFETY TO THE NATIONAL POLICE AND THE PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, COPREDEH. HOWEVER THE THREATS CONTINUED AND THE JUDGE SUBSEQUENTLY ASKED THAT SHE BE TRANSFERRED TO ANOTHER JURISDICTION.

27. (U) QUICHE COURT HOUSE: ON JAN 19 IN SANTA CRUZ DE QUICHE, THE JUDICIAL RECORDS BUILDING FOR SUSPENDED CASES IN QUICHE DEPARTMENT WAS PURPOSELY SET AFIRE (GUAT 661 NOTAL). THE MEDIA QUOTED JUDGE FRANCISCO PEREZ MUNOZ, AS STATING THAT A CRIMINAL HAND HAD SET THE FIRE WHICH DESTROYED THE BUILDING AND ITS CONTENTS IN APPROXIMATELY THREE HOURS. JUDGE PEREZ TOLD REPORTERS HE HAD BEEN RECEIVING THREATS FROM JOYABAJ PAC MEMBERS DURING THE PREVIOUS SEVERAL DAYS TO GET HIM TO RELEASE TWO OF ITS MEMBERS CHARGED

---

ARBITRARY INTERFERENCE WITH PRIVACY, FAMILY, HOME OR CORRESPONDENCE

---

28. (U) POST OFFICE ESPIONAGE: ON MAR 11, JUAN JOSE GARCIA ORELLANA, A SUSPECTED FORMER PRESIDENTIAL SECURITY STAFF EMPLOYEE (ESTADO MAYOR PRESIDENCIAL)

TURNED HIMSELF INTO JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES ONE YEAR AFTER AN ARREST WARRANT HAD BEEN ISSUED FOR HIS ARREST FOR ALLEGEDLY INTERCEPTING MAIL AT THE GUATEMALAN POST OFFICE ON BEHALF OF HIS EMPLOYER. NO OTHER DEVELOPMENTS HAVE BEEN REPORTED IN THIS CASE.

29. (U) THREATS AGAINST REFUGEE NGOS: ON JANUARY 24, JUAN QUINONEZ SCHWANK ACCOMPANIED BY ANA GALLAGHER, A US ATTORNEY AND HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVIST BASED IN GUATEMALA, MET WITH HROFF TO DISCUSS DEATH THREATS QUINONEZ HAD BEEN RECEIVING SINCE DECEMBER. QUINONEZ IS THE TECNICAL DIRECTOR OF "ASOCIACION DE DESARROLLO PARA AMERICA CENTRAL (ADPEC)," A REFUGEE ASSISTANCE GROUP AND AN ACTIVE MEMBER OF VARIOUS REFUGEE ASSISTANCE ORGANIZATIONS.

30. (C) [redacted] B1,B7F

[redacted] THE EMBASSY RELAYED SCHWANK'S CONCERN FOR HIS SAFETY TO THEN NATIONAL POLICE DIRECTOR CIFUENTES, WHO OFFERED POLICE PROTECTION. SCHWANK REJECTED THIS PREFERRING TO KEEP HIS TRAVEL ITINERARY IN GUATEMALA AND ABROAD SECRET. EMBASSY HAS MAINTAINED CONTACT WITH SCHWANK THROUGH THE AHRO.

31. (U) IN LATE MARCH AND EARLY APRIL, SEVERAL GROUPS THAT DEAL WITH REFUGEE/RETURNEE ISSUES (CCPP - COMISION DE COMUNIDADES PERMANENTES PARA EL RETORNO, CIEDEG - CONFERENCIA DE IGLESIAS EVANGELICAS DE GUATEMALA AND CONFREGUA - CONFERENCIA DE RELIGIOSOS DE GUATEMALA) AND AMCIT PEDRO ASTURIAS, ARCHITECT WHO DESIGNS URBAN SETTLEMENTS FOR RETURNING REFUGEES, REPORTED RECEIVING THREATS. HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS TOLD US THEY BELIEVED THESE GROUPS WERE BEING TARGETED BY THOSE OPPOSED TO REFUGEE RETURNS, ESPECIALLY SINCE THE ISSUE OF DISPLACED PERSONS WAS

NEXT IN THE ONGOING URNG-GOG PEACE NEGOTIATIONS. WE RAISED THIS MATTER WITH COPREDEH AND WERE INFORMED THAT THE NATIONAL POLICE AND THE MINISTERIO PUBLICO WERE INVESTIGATING THESE THREATS.

32. (U) GUSTAVO EDUARDO LAPOLA: ON MAR 11, UNKNOWN PERSONS FIRED AT GUSTAVO EDUARDO LAPOLA, AN ASSOCIATION OF UNIVERSITY STUDENT (AEU) EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEMBER, AS HE ENTERED HIS RESIDENCE. THE ASSAILANTS SHOUTED AT LAPOLA THAT HE HAD 24 HOURS TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY AND THAT OTHER COMMITTEE MEMBERS SHOULD STOP LYING OR THEY TOO WOULD ALSO BE TARGETED. ON MAR 15, THE AEU GAVE A LIST OF 30 AEU MEMBERS TO LABATT, ASKING THAT THE EMBASSY STAY ALERT AND INTERVENE, IF NECESSARY, SHOULD ANYTHING HAPPEN TO THESE MEMBERS.

33. (U) OTTO PERALTA: IN LATE MARCH, OTTO PERALTA, AN ATTORNEY FOR UASP, UNIDAD DE ACCION SINDICAL Y POPULAR, A CIVIL SECTOR AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUP, MET WITH POLOFF TO DETAIL TELEPHONE AND MAIL THREATS HIS ORGANIZATION AS WELL AS OTHERS, NOTABLY GAM, HAD BEEN RECEIVING. PERALTA ADDED THAT HE DID NOT BELIEVE THESE THREATS WERE SERIOUS BUT HE SAID YOU NEVER KNOW. THE ACTIVIST SPECULATED THAT THE PERPETRATORS WERE PERSONS WHO ARE MAD BECAUSE, AFTER A PEACE ACCORD IS SIGNED AND PROGRESS IS MADE ADDRESSING GUATEMALA'S ECONOMIC, POLITICAL AND SOCIAL PROBLEMS, THEY WILL NEVER AGAIN WIELD THE SAME LEVEL OF POWER AND INFLUENCE THEY HAVE NOW.

34. (U) AMILCAR MENDEZ FAMILY: ON JAN 24 AM, POLOFF RECEIVED A CALL FROM A DISTRAUGHT AMILCAR MENDEZ, WHO CLAIMED THAT A MOTORCYCLIST (WITH HIS FACE COVERED) TRIED TO RUN OVER HIS SIXTEEN YEAR OLD DAUGHTER, MIRIAM ROSIO MENDEZ. MIRIAM WAS EN ROUTE TO THE UNIVERSITY OF SAN CARLOS TO REGISTER FOR CLASSES. THE DAUGHTER WAS UNINJURED BUT RETURNED HOME SHAKEN AND HAD TO BE GIVEN MEDICATION FOR HER NERVES. THE FATHER ADDED THAT NEIGHBORS HAD SEEN THE INCIDENT TAKING PLACE AND CALLED THE POLICE, BUT THE POLICE DID NOT ARRIVE UNTIL THIRTY MINUTES LATER, LONG AFTER THE ATTACK HAD TERMINATED.

35. (U) IN A JAN 24 PM MEETING WITH AMBASSADOR, MENDEZ STATED HE HAD DECIDED HE WOULD SEND HIS DAUGHTER TO THE US UNTIL HE FELT IT WAS SAFE FOR HER RETURN. ON JUN 2, MIRIAM WHO HAD RECENTLY RETURNED FROM THE US, ATTENDED AN EMBASSY SPONSORED GATHERING FOR VISITING ARA/CEN DAS PATTERSON AND THE HUMAN RIGHTS COMMUNITY. IN ANOTHER INCIDENT ON JUN 29, MENDEZ' SON, PEPE, CALLED HROFF AND SAID THERE WERE ARMED MEN OUTSIDE HIS HOME. HROFF CONTACTED COPREDEH DIRECTOR CABRERA AND NATIONAL POLICE CHIEF FIGUEROA. FIGUEROA PROMISED TO IMMEDIATELY DISPATCH A CAR TO THE SCENE. IT ARRIVED THIRTY MINUTES LATER, BUT THE ARMED MEN WERE GONE.

36. (U) DR. BRENDA MERIDA: SINCE SEP 1993, MERIDA, A MEDICAL DOCTOR WORKING AT A LOCAL CHURCH HOSPITAL IN SANTA EULALA, HAS COMPLAINED OF RECEIVING NUMEROUS ACTS OF HARASSMENT, INTIMIDATIONS AND THREATS FROM THE LOCAL CIVIL DEFENSE PATROL (PAC). THE PAC MEMBERS ARE APPARENTLY UPSET AT THE CHURCH BECAUSE IT CONSTRUCTED A HOSPITAL ON THE GROUNDS WHERE THE PAC FORMERLY CONGREGATED. THE EMBASSY HAS RAISED THIS MATTER WITH THE PUBLIC MINISTRY, COPREDEH, THE NATIONAL POLICE AND THE DEFENSE MINISTRY. ACCORDING TO COPREDEH, MERIDA HAS NOT RATIFIED HER ACCUSATIONS BEFORE A JUDGE SO THAT JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS AGAINST HER AGGRESSORS CAN CONTINUE. ON JUL 6, FERNANDO LOPEZ, THE LEGAL DIRECTOR FOR THE AHRO OFFICE, ADVISED HROFF THAT DR. MERIDA WAS CURRENTLY RESIDING WITH HER PARENTS IN GUATEMALA CITY AND THE THREATS HAVE STOPPED.

37. (U) VINCENTE GONZALEZ CANAHUI: VINCENTE GONZALEZ CANAHUI, WHO ON SPOKE OUT AGAINST THE JANUARY 1, 1994 RAPE OF TWO INDIGENOUS GIRLS BY SIX ARMED MEN (ALLEGEDLY INCLUDING THE MILITARY COMMISSIONER OF SAN PEDRO, BAJA VERAPAZ) HAS BEEN THE SUBJECT OF VARIOUS THREATS BY PERSONS ALLIED WITH THE ASSAILANTS. EMBASSY HAS RELAYED TO THE NATIONAL POLICE AND COPREDEH OUR CONCERN FOR GONZALEZ' SAFETY.

38. (U) BETWEEN JAN 1 AND 27 JUST PRIOR TO THE JAN 30 NATIONAL REFERENDUM ("CONSULTA POPULAR"), THERE WERE 25 EXPLOSIVE DEVICES DETONATED OR DEACTIVATED IN GUATEMALA CITY (GUAT 963 NOTAL). THOSE DEVICES LOCATED AT PROPERTY TARGETS WERE ACCOMPANIED BY LEAFLETS OF THE GUERRILLA ARMY OF THE POOR, A URNG FACTION. OTHER BOMBS ATTACKS WERE BELIEVED TO BE ORCHESTRATED BY FREE-LANCING RIGHTIST GROUPS OPPOSED TO THE "CONSULTA POPULAR." AFTER A LULL IN BOMB EXPLOSIONS IN FEBRUARY, ON MAR 6 AND 7 BOMBS EXPLODED AT TWO KEY BRIDGES LEADING FROM THE CAPITAL. THE ARMY AND THE URNG ACCUSED EACH OTHER OF PLANTING THE BOMBS.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS

39. (U) MEDIA INSTALLATIONS: ON JAN 18 EXPLOSIVE DEVICES WERE FOUND AT THE CAPITAL CITY INSTALLATIONS OF "RADIO SONORA" AND "NOTISIETE" (TV) INSTALLATIONS. TWO DAYS LATER, COMMUNICATION TOWERS IN TECPAN, CHIMALTENANGO, BELONGING TO GUATEL, THE NATIONAL TELEPHONE COMPANY AND "RADIO RED CIVIL" WERE DYNAMITED. THE ARMY BLAMED THE URNG FOR THESE ATTACKS.

40. (C) HECTOR ADOLFO BARRERA ORTIZ: ON FEB 19, A BOMB EXPLODED OUTSIDE THE HOME OF NEWSPAPER REPORTER, HECTOR ADOLFO BARRERA ORTIZ, CAUSING DAMAGE TO THE GARAGE DOOR AND INTERIOR WINDOWS (GUAT 1936 NOTAL). AT THE TIME OF THE INCIDENT, BARRERA'S THREE SONS AND DOMESTIC SERVANTS WERE INSIDE THE HOME. AFTER A SUBSEQUENT ALLEGED ATTEMPTED KIDNAPING [redacted] B1 [redacted]. HECTOR BARRERA IS THE BROTHER OF FELLOW REPORTER BYRON BARRERA ORTIZ. IN 1990, BYRON BARRERA, THEN THE PRESIDENT OF THE GUATEMALAN ASSOCIATION OF NEWSPAPER REPORTERS, WAS INJURED IN AN ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION, WHICH CLAIMED THE LIFE OF HIS WIFE, REFUGIO DE BARRERA.

41. (U) "LA HORA:" "LA HORA" NEWSPAPER REPORTER OSCAR CLEMENTE MARROQUIN REPORTED THAT ON FEB 25, ARMED MEN DRIVING VEHICLES WITH POLARIZED WINDOWS PREVENTED THE SALE OF THE DAILY IN VARIOUS PARTS OF THE CITY.

42. (U) NERY DE LA CRUZ IBANEZ: "EL INDEPENDIENTE" RADIO REPORTER WAS ASSAULTED BUT NOT ROBBED BY ARMED MEN AS HE ENTERED HIS HOME.

43. (U) "SIGLO XXI:" ON MAR 11, DAILY "SIGLO XXI" ANNOUNCED THAT ITS REPORTERS, JOSE RUBEN ZAMORA, HAROLDO SANCHEZ, JORGE YEE AND CARMEN AIDA IBARRA HAD RECEIVED DEATH THREATS WHICH GAVE THEM 24 HOURS TO LEAVE THE COUNTRY.

44. (U) MARIO TULIO DE LA ROCA: ON MAR 26, UNKNOWN

UNCLASSIFIED

MEN FIRED SHOTS AT NEWSPAPER REPORTER EDGAR TULIO DE LA ROCA AND HIS FEMALE COMPANION. BOTH VICTIMS WERE HOSPITALIZED AND THE LATTER LOST AN EYE.

45. (U) HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN: ON MAR 23, HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN JORGE MARIO GARCIA LAGUARDIA ISSUED A DECLARATION CONDEMNING THIS ROUND OF ATTACKS AGAINST MEDIA PERSONALITIES.

46. (U) ACCORDING TO THE NATIONAL POLICE, THE DECEMBER 23, 1993 MURDER OF "RADIO SONORA" REPORTER VICTOR MANUEL CRUZ DE LA CRUZ AND THE JAN 23 DOUBLE KIDNAPPING AND MURDER OF THE WIFE AND DAUGHTER OF NEWSPAPER REPORTER MARCO VINICIO MEJIA APPEARED TO BE CRIMINALLY MOTIVATED, NOT POLITICAL IN NATURE.

COMMENT:

47. (C) EXCEPT FOR THE CARPIO CASE, THE FOCUS OF THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION'S EFFORTS DURING THE FIRST QUARTER OF 1994 WAS TO PLAN FOR FUTURE INSTITUTIONAL CHANGE IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS ARENA (I.E. THE RECENTLY SIGNED MARCH 29 GOG-URNG HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORD) AND TO LET THE COURTS PURSUE THE PROSECUTION OF INDIVIDUAL CASES ALREADY IN THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM (GUAT 5817 "RAMIRO'S REPORT CARD'). ATTORNEY GENERAL/PUBLIC MINISTER, TELESFORO GUERRA, WAS NOT ENERGETIC IN PURSUING HUMAN RIGHTS CASES. THERE HAVE BEEN ONLY MINOR ADVANCES IN THE PROCSECUTION OF HUMAN RIGHTS OFFENDERS AND POLITICALLY MOTIVATED VIOLENCE CONTINUES AT AN ALARMING RATE. WE HOPE, HOWEVER, THAT THE MAY ARRIVAL OF RAMSES CUESTAS AS THE FISCAL GENERAL AND HEAD OF THE PUBLIC MINISTRY (TO INVESTIGATE AND PROSECUTE HUMAN RIGHTS OFFENDERS), THE PLANNED ARRIVAL OF THE UN HUMAN RIGHTS VERIFICATION TEAM (AS A DETERRENT PRESENCE) AND THE SIGNING OF THE FINAL PEACE ACCORD BETWEEN THE URNG AND THE GOG WILL REDUCE POLITICALLY MOTIVATED VIOLENCE IN THE SHORT AND LONG TERM.

CONGRESS WILL PROBABLY NOT LIFT HIS IMMUNITY SO THAT HE CAN BE TAKEN TO COURT TO FACE A LAWSUIT FOR FORCED RECRUITMENT. THE MOD PRESENTED HIS REASONS FOR BELIEVING THAT THE URNG WILL NOW ATTEMPT TO SLOW DOWN THE PEACE PROCESS BEYOND THE DECEMBER DEADLINE FOR REACHING A FINAL AGREEMENT. THE AMBASSADOR ONCE AGAIN PRESSURED THE MOD ON BRINGING CPT CONTRERAS TO JUSTICE. THE D-2 HAS BEEN UNABLE TO LOCATE HIM, AND THE MOD BELIEVES HE MAY NO LONGER BE IN GUATEMALA. THE AMBASSADOR URGED THE MOD TO SPEED UP THE RELOCATION OF THE CHIQUIBUL SQUATTERS ON THE GUATEMALAN-BELIZE BORDER. THE MOD CONCLUDED THE MEETING BY DESCRIBING A PLAN THE ARMY HAS IMPLEMENTED TO CONTROL THEFT OF CONTAINERIZED CARGO, A NOTORIOUS PROBLEM IN GUATEMALA. END SUMMARY.

3. THE AMBASSADOR, ACCOMPANIED BY THE DEPUTY CHIEF OF MISSION AND THE DEFENSE ATTACHE, HAD A BREAKFAST MEETING WITH THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE (MOD), MAJOR GENERAL MARIO RENE ENRIQUEZ MORALES, ON JULY 19. GEN ENRIQUEZ WAS AS USUAL TALKATIVE AND EXPANSIVE, AS HE DISCUSSED A WIDE RANGE OF CURRENT POLITICAL AND MILITARY ISSUES. THE MOD BEGAN BY DISCUSSING THE PROSPECTS FOR CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS CURRENTLY SCHEDULED FOR AUGUST 14. HE FELT THE MOMENTUM IN FAVOR OF ELECTIONS HAD BECOME VIRTUALLY UNSTOPPABLE. HE HAD RECENTLY MET WITH FORMER PRESIDENT VINICIO CEREZO, WHO TOLD HIM THAT THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PARTY HAD NOW ACCEPTED THE FACT THAT THERE WILL BE CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS. ONE OF THE LAST RESTRAINING ORDERS FILED BY A CONGRESSMAN AGAINST CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS WOULD SOON RECEIVE ITS FINAL JUDGEMENT BY THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT, WHICH WOULD UNDOUBTEDLY RULE AGAINST THE LAWSUIT AND IN FAVOR OF ELECTIONS IN THE MOD'S OPINION.

FORCED RECRUITMENT LAWSUIT

4. GEN ENRIQUEZ ALSO APPEARED CONFIDENT THAT THE LAWSUIT FILED AGAINST HIM BY AMILCAR MENDEZ FOR FORCED RECRUITMENT WOULD NOT PROSPER. THE LAWSUIT IS CURRENTLY WITH THE PRESIDENT OF THE CONGRESS, VILLAR ANLEU, TO BEGIN THE PROCESS OF DETERMINING WHETHER THE MOD'S IMMUNITY SHOULD BE SUSPENDED SO THAT HE CAN BE TAKEN TO COURT. THE CONGRESSIONAL PERMANENT COMMITTEE WOULD LIKELY MEET TODAY TO MAKE AN INITIAL ASSESSMENT OF THE LAWSUIT. GEN ENRIQUEZ EXPLAINED THAT HIS LAWYERS HAD FOUND AT LEAST SIX LEGAL ERRORS IN THE LAWSUIT. FIRST OF ALL, THE COMPLAINT WAS NOT PROPERLY DRAFTED BY A LICENSED LAWYER AS REQUIRED UNDER GUATEMALAN LAW. FURTHER, THE MINISTER HIMSELF HAD NOT PERSONALLY PARTICIPATED IN THE FORCED RECRUITMENT, THEREFORE A LAWSUIT AGAINST HIS PERSON HAS NOT LEGALLY CORRECT.

5. THE PERMANENT COMMITTEE OF THE CONGRESS WAS QUITE LIKELY TO DECLARE THE LAWSUIT INSUFFICIENT TO JUSTIFY LIFTING THE MOD'S IMMUNITY, WITHOUT EVEN FORWARDING THE ACTION FOR CONSIDERATION BY THE FULL CONGRESS. LATER DURING THE MEETING, GEN ENRIQUEZ CONFIDED THAT IN FACT, THE SUIT FILED BY AMILCAR MENDEZ HAS ACTUALLY INCREASED HIS POPULARITY AND STANDING WITH THE JUNIOR OFFICER CORPS. THEY PERCEIVE HIM AS BEING LEGALLY ATTACKED FOR MISDEEDS OF THE VARIOUS MILITARY ZONE COMMANDERS WHO ACTUALLY ORDERED THE ABUSIVE RECRUITMENT METHODS. THE FACT THAT HE HAS NOT BLAMED ANYONE ELSE AND HAS ACCEPTED FULL RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE ENTIRE ARMED FORCES HAS BEEN VIEWED POSITIVELY AND THEY HAVE CLOSED RANKS AROUND HIM.

URNG MAY ATTEMPT TO DELAY THE PEACE PROCESS

CONFIDENTIAL

TEXT OF TELEGRAM 94GUATEM006740

6. GENERAL ENRIQUEZ STRUCK A SOMEWHAT MORE SOMBER NOTE WHEN THE AMBASSADOR MOVED THE CONVERSATION TO THE PEACE PROCESS. HE VIEWED THE URNG COMMUNIQUE PUBLISHED IN A LOCAL PAPER ON 17 JULY (REP A) AS AN ATTEMPT BY THE COMANDANTES TO PULL BACK AND SLOW U THE PROCESS. THE COMMUNIQUE ACCUSED THE GOVERNMENT OF NOT ABIDING BY THE GLOBAL HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORD SIGNED IN LATE MARCH BECAUSE OF THE RECENT INCREASE IN VIOLENCE, AND BECAUSE THE UN HUMAN RIGHTS VERIFICATION COMMISSION AGREED TO IN THE ACCORD HAS YET TO BE ESTABLISHED. THE COMANDANTES EXPLAINED THAT GIVEN THE FAILURE TO ABIDE BY THE MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORD, "IT IS NOT POSSIBLE TO CONTINUE A NEGOTIATING DYNAMIC."

7. GEN ENRIQUEZ BELIEVED THAT THERE WERE TWO REASONS THAT THE URNG HAD DECIDED TO SLOW UP THE NEGOTIATIONS. FIRST, THEIR PLAN TO PARTICIPATE IN THE UPCOMING CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS AS PART O

[redacted] HAD INDEED GONE TO MEXICO CITY TO NEGOTIATE THE POSSIBILITY OF FORMING A COALITION WITH THE URNG THROUGH WHICH THE URNG HOPED TO OBTAIN AS MANY AS TEN SEATS IN THE NEW CONGRESS. NOT ONLY DID THE DEAL NOT GO THROUGH, BUT THE POLITICAL SITUATION IS TURNING EXTREMELY UNFAVORABLE FOR THE URNG. GEN ENRIQUEZ ESTIMATED THAT THE FRG WOULD LIKELY GAIN 35

SEATS, AND THE PAN SOME 25 SEATS IN THE NEW CONGRESS. TOGETHER THEY WOULD HAVE A SOLID MAJORITY IN THE 80 SEAT CONGRESS, AND WOULD FORM A VERY ANTI-URNG POLITICAL FORCE.

8. SECONDLY, THE URNG'S COFFERS ARE FLUSH WITH THE COLLECTION O A LARGE AMOUNT OF WAR TAXES FROM GUATEMALAN COFFEE FARMERS, RENEWING THEIR FINANCIAL STAYING POWER FOR THE TIME BEING. GEN

ENRIQUEZ EXPLAINED THAT HE HAD BEEN INVITED TO MEET WITH A LARGE GROUP COFFEE FARMERS, AS THEY WANTED TO PERSONALLY INFORM HIM THAT THEY HAD AGREED TO RAISE AGRICULTURAL WAGES, A MEASURE HE HAD BEEN ENCOURAGING THEM TO ADOPT FOR SOME TIME. DURING THE MEETING, HE PRAISED THEM FOR THEIR ENLIGHTENED DECISION. HE ALS ASKED MANY OF THEM INFORMALLY IF THEY HAD PAID URNG WAR TAXES. HE WAS ASTOUNDED TO LEARN THAT ALL OF THEM HAD PAID, AND IN LARG QUANTITIES. THE ONLY FARM OWNERS WHO DID NOT PAY WERE THE ONES WHO RECENTLY HAD THEIR FARMS BURNED.

9. GEN ENRIQUEZ ALSO ADMITTED THAT BESIDES THESE TWO FACTORS, THE POPULAR GROUPS DISCONTENT WITH THE HISTORICAL CLARIFICATION ACCORD AN ALSO CAUSING THE URNG PROBLEMS. THE POPULAR GROUPS WERE INTENT ON A COMMISSION THAT WOULD IDENTIFY INDIVIDUAL ARMY OFFICERS AS HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATORS. THE POPULAR GROUPS ARE NOW ACCUSING THE URNG OF CONCEDING TOO MUCH, SINCE THE TERMS OF THE

AGREEMENT DO NOT PERMIT THE "INDIVIDUALIZING" OF RESPONSIBILITIES.

10. GIVEN ALL OF THESE FACTORS, GEN ENRIQUEZ BELIEVED THE URNG COMANDANTES WOULD NOW ATTEMPT TO SLOW DOWN AND DELAY THE PEACE PROCESS. THEY COULD VERY EASILY CREATE DIFFICULTIES IN NEGOTIATING THE NEXT TOPIC ON INDIGENOUS RIGHTS, OR LATER ON TH) TOPIC OF THE ARMED FORCES' ROLE IN SOCIETY. THE ONLY WAY TO KE) THE PROCESS ON TRACK WOULD BE FOR THE GROUP OF FRIENDS, THE UN, AND OTHER INTERNATIONAL GROUPS TO KEEP THE PRESSURE ON THE URNG TO KEEP MOVING ON THE NEGOTIATIONS. THE SITE FOR THE UPCOMING NEGOTIATIONS ON INDIGENOUS RIGHTS HAD NOT YET BEEN DETERMINED. IN FACT, GENERAL ENRIQUEZ EXPECTED THE PETIT COMITE TO MEET LAT THIS WEEK IN MEXICO CITY TO DISCUSS THE RECENTLY COMPLETED CIVI SECTORS ASSEMBLY DOCUMENT ON INDIGENOUS RIGHTS, AND TO DISCUSS

THE NEXT SITE FOR NEGOTIATIONS.

INDIGENOUS RIGHTS

11. GEN ENRIQUEZ EXPLAINED THAT THE CIVIL SECTORS ASSEMBLY DOCUMENT ON THE INDIGENOUS QUESTION (REF B) WAS IN FACT A VERY DIFFICULT ONE TO DEAL WITH. THE DOCUMENT SEEKS THE DELINEATION OF BOUNDARIES BETWEEN DISTINCT ETHNIC GROUPS, AS WELL AS AUTONO AND PARTICULAR GOVERNMENTS FOR EACH ETHNIC GROUP. HE CONTINUED THAT WHILE HE BELIEVES THE COG MUST RECOGNIZE ETHNIC DIVERSITY AND ETHNIC RIGHTS, ANY MEASURES AGREED UPON MUST BE WITHIN ONE GUATEMALAN NATION WHOSE INTEGRITY REMAINS INTACT. ANY INDIGENC RIGHTS ACCORD NEGOTATION WILL ALSO BE IN COMPLIANCE WITH ARTICI 66 THROUGH 69 OF THE CONSTITUTION, WHICH DISCUSS INDIGENOUS COMMUNITIES. HE EXPRESSED CONCERN THAT RADICAL MAYAN GROUPS WANT TO ESTABLISH AN AUTONOMOUS MAYAN STATE STRETCHING FROM CHIAPAS IN THE WEST TO PART OF HONDURAS IN THE EAST, ENCOMPASSING THE NORTHERN HALF OF GUATEMALA.

URNG SHOULD DEAL WITH THE CURRENT ADMINISTRATION

12. GEN ENRIQUEZ CONTINUED THAT THE PRESENT POLITICAL SITUATION IN GUATEMALA IS PARTICULARLY PROPITIOUS FOR THE PEACE PROCESS, AND THE URNG COMANDANTES MAY NEVER AGAIN ENCOUNTER SUCH A FAVORABLE COALITION OF CIRCUMSTANCES FOR SUCCESSFUL NEGOTIATIONS PRESIDENT RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO IS UNIQUELY INDEPENDENT OF ANY POLITICAL PARTIES. HE DOES NOT HAVE TO MAKE A DEAL WITH ANY PARTICULAR POLITICAL PARTY THAT MIGHT AFFECT THE PEACE PROCESS BECAUSE OF UPCOMING CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS, OR AS A RESULT OF SOME POST-ELECTORAL POLITICAL PARTY COALITION THAT MAY EMERGE FROM THE ELECTIONS. THEREFORE THE URNG DOES NOT NEED TO FEAR THE

UNDUE INFLUENCE OF ANY PARTICULAR POLITICAL PARTY ON THE PROCESS

13. FURTHER, THE CURRENT MILITARY LEADERSHIP, HIMSELF AS WELL AS THE COS MAJOR GENERAL MARCO ANTONIO GONZALEZ TARACENA, ARE FAMILIAR WITH THE COMANDANTES AND THE PEACE PROCESS, AND HAVE THEIR TRUST AND CONFIDENCE. PABLO MONSANTO EVEN TOLD GENERAL ENRIQUEZ THAT HE TRUSTED THE MOP AND FELT HE HAS ADMINISTERING THE MINISTRY OF DEFENSE IN AN HONEST AND CLEAN FASHION. GEN ENRIQUEZ NASTILY ADDED THAT HE COULD NEVER REVEAL THAT CONVERSATION TO HIS SUBORDINATE OFFICERS, AS IT WOULD GREATLY UNDERMINE THEIR CONFIDENCE AND TRUST IN HIM. THE NEXT MINISTER OF DEFENSE AND CHIEF OF STAFF MAY NOT BE AS FAVORABLE TOWARDS THE PEACE PROCESS AS THE CURRENT MILITARY LEADERSHIP. IN THIS PART OF THE DISCUSSION, ENRIQUEZ HEAPED CONSIDERABLE PRAISE ON COS GONZALEZ TARACENA.

LACK OF REPRESENTATION ON THE CIVIL SECTORS ASSEMBLY

14. THE AMBASSADOR RAISED THE ISSUE OF THE LACK OF REPRESENTATION ON THE CIVIL SECTORS ASSEMBLY BECAUSE OF THE FACT THAT NO CACIF AND NOT ALL POLITICAL PARTY REPRESENTATIVES ARE PARTICIPATING IN THE ASSEMBLY. THIS IS WORRISOME BECAUSE THE PEACE TALKS ARE ABOUT TO BROACH SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC TOPICS THAT NEED POLITICAL AND BUSINESS SUPPORT IF THE MEASURES AGREED UPON

ARE TO BE EFFECTIVELY IMPLEMENTED LATER. GEM ENRIQUEZ AGREED THAT THIS SITUATION HAS OF CONCERN. HOWEVER, HE POINTED OUT THAT BISHOP QUEZADA TORUNO HAD ISSUED AN INVITATION ON AT LEAST TWO OCCASIONS FOR CACIF PARTICIPATION, WHICH HAD BEEN DECLINED. WE EXPLAINED OUR IMPRESSION THAT CACIF WANTED TO PARTICIPATE IN A LOWER PROFILE, MORE BEHIND THE SCENES MANNER, THAN THE VERY PUBLIC FORUM PRESENTED BY THE CIVIL SECTORS ASSEMBLY. THE

AMBASSADOR POINTED OUT THAT DESPITE THE DIFFICULTIES, IT HAS IMPORTANT FOR THE COG TO MAKE THE EXTRA EFFORT TO OBTAIN BUSINES AND POLITICAL PARTY PARTICIPATION IN THE PEACE PROCESS.
CPT CONTRERAS MAY NO LONGER BE IN GUATEMALA

15. THE AMBASSADOR THEN ASKED GEN ENRIQUEZ WHAT PROGRESS HAD BEEN MADE ON BRINGING CPT CONTRERAS TO JUSTICE FOR HIS PARTICIPATION IN THE MURDER OF U.S. CITIZEN MICHAEL DEVINE. HE RAISED HIS HANDS IN DESPAIR AND EXPLAINED THAT THIS CASE CONTINUES TO CAUSE HIM PROBLEMS. COLONEL MARIO ROBERTO GARCIA CATALAN, THE COMMANDER OF MILITARY ZONE 23 AT THE TIME OF DEVINE'S MURDER, HAD BEEN LOBBYING HARD FOR PROMOTION TO GENERAL OFFICER PRIOR TO THE PUBLISHING OF THE JUNE GENERAL ORDER ANNOUNCING PROMOTIONS. GEN ENRIQUEZ HAD TO INSIST THAT COL GARCIA NOT BE PROMOTED TO GENERAL OFFICER. HE HAD PERSONALLY MET WITH COL GARCIA, AND EXPLAINED THAT IF HE WANTED THIS PROMOTION,

HE SHOULD HELP BRING CPT CONTRERAS BACK INTO CUSTODY, AND CLARIFY THE ENTIRE INCIDENT.

16. WHERE CPT CONTRERAS WAS CONCERNED, GEN ENRIQUEZ BELIEVED THAT HE WAS NO LONGER IN GUATEMALA, OR HIS D-2 (INTELLIGE NCE)
STAFF WOULD HAVE LOCATED HIM BY NOW. MANY SPECULATED THAT HE MIGHT BE IN VENEZUELA BECAUSE HE HAD ATTENDED SOME MILITARY COURSES THERE AND HAD FRIENDS THERE. HOWEVER, THE D-2 HAD TURNED UP NO POSITIVE INFORMATION THAT HE WAS ACTUALLY IN VENEZUELA. CPT CONTRERAS' FAMILY REMAINS IN GUATEMALA. THE AMBASSADOR REEMPHASIZED THE IMPORTANCE OF MAKING PROGRESS ON THE MICHAEL DEVINE MURDER CASE, AND NOTED THAT THE U.S. WOULD BE VERY DISTRUSTED IF GARCIA CATALAN WERE PROMOTED.

MOD BLAMES INTA FOR DELAY IN REMOVING CHIQUIBUL SQUATTERS

18. THE AMBASSADOR QUERIED GEN ENRIQUEZ ON PROGRESS TOWARDS MOVING THE SQUATTERS IN THE CHIQUIBUL FOREST RESERVE ON THE GUATEMALAN-BELIZE BORDER. HE RESPONDED THAT INTA (NATIONAL AGRARIAN REFORM INSTITUTION) HAD IN EFFECT DROPPED THE BALL ON THIS ISSUE. TWICE ARMY AND OTHER GOVERNMENT REPRESENTATIVES HAD VISITED THE CHIQUIBUL SQUATTERS AND HAD OBTAINED THEIR VOLUNTARY CONSENT TO MOVE TO NEW LANDS WHICH WERE TO BE ACQUIRED FOR THEM BY INTA. MILITARY ZONE 23 EVEN HAD TRUCKS READY TO REMOVE THE SQUATTERS TO THEIR NEW LANDS, AND WAS READY TO BRING THEM BACK TEMPORARILY TO RECOVER THEIR CROPS WHEN THEY BECAME RIPE FOR HARVEST.

19. HOWEVER, INTA HAD NOT BEEN FORTHCOMING IN OBTAINING THE NEW LANDS FOR THE SQUATTERS. GEN ENRIQUEZ ADMITTED THAT THERE WAS NO EXCUSE FOR THIS DELAY, AS THE PETEN DEPARTMENT HAD LARGE QUANTITIES OF GOVERNMENT OWNED LAND THAT WOULD BE SUITABLE FOR RESETTLEMENT. HE BLAMED THE DIRECTOR OF INTA FOR DAWDLING ON TH

LAND ACQUISITION. GEN ENRIQUEZ MADE SOME SHARP CRITICISM TO THE EFFECT THAT THE DIRECTOR IS MORE INTERESTED IN VISITING COMMUNITIES, SCHMOOZING WITH THE LOCALS, AND GAINING PUBLICITY THEN ATTENDING TO HIS ADMINISTRATIVE DUTIES. THE AMBASSADOR ENCOURAGED THE MOD TO GET INVOLVED WITH INTA AND MAKE REAL PROGRESS IN MOVING THE SQUATTERS BEFORE IT CREATES A MORE SERIOU PROBLEM WITH BELIZE. GEN ENRIQUEZ AGREED TO CALL THE DIRECTOR O INTA THE SAME AFTERNOON.

ARMY HELPS CONTROL CONTAINERIZED MERCHANDISE THEFTS

20. GEN ENRIQUEZ EXPLAINED THAT THE ARMY CONTINUES TO SUPPORT THE NATIONAL AND TREASURY POLICE TO CONTROL CRIME WHERE APPROPRIATE. HE CONFIDED THAT HIS BROTHER WAS IN FACT THE INTERIM CUSTOMS DIRECTOR SINCE THE LAST CUSTOMS CHIEF, CABALLEROS, HAD RESIGNED SOME WEEKS AGO. HE EMPHASIZED THAT HE HAD EXERCISED NO INFLUENCE WHATSOEVER, NOT WITH THE PRESIDENT OR ANYONE ELSE, TO HAVE HIS BROTHER PLACED IN THAT POSITION. HIS BROTHER HAD WORKED A LONG TIME IN CUSTOMS, AND WAS THE DEPUTY AT THE TIME OF CABALLEROS RESIGNATION, MAKING IT LOGICAL THAT HE WOULD TEMPORARILY TAKE CHARGE UNTIL A PERMANENT DIRECTOR WAS APPOINTED.

SECURITY FOR CUSTOMS FACILITIES. ONE CONTAINER OF MERCHANDISE HAD ACTUALLY BEEN STOLEN RIGHT OUT OF A CUSTOMS WAREHOUSE IN GUATEMALA CITY. THREE CONTAINERS HAD DISAPPEARED WHILE BEING TRANSPORTED FROM PUERTO BARRIOS ON THE ATLANTIC COAST ENROUTE TO GUATEMALA CITY. THE ATLANTIC HIGHWAY WAS BECOMING KNOWN AS THE "BERMUDA TRIANGLE" FOR COMMERCIAL MERCHANDISE IN GUATEMALA.

22. THE GT ARMY HAD DEVISED A PLAN TO CONTROL THE LOSS OF MERCHANDISE ON THE ATLANTIC HIGHWAY. THE MARISCAL ZAVALA BRIGAD WOULD PROVIDED SOLDIERS AND RADIOS TO MAN OBSERVATION POSTS EVER TEN KILOMETERS OVER THE LENGTH OF THE ATLANTIC HIGHWAY. THEY WOULD ASK FOR THE COOPERATION OF BUSINESSMEN TO GROUP THEIR CONTAINER SHIPMENTS TOGETHER IN CARAVANS. AS TRUCKS PASS EACH OBSERVATION POINT, THE LICENSE PLATES WOULD BE NOTED AND COMMUNICATED TO A COMMAND POST. AN AIR FORCE LONG RANGER HELICOPTER WOULD STANDBY AT ALL TIMES. AS SOON AS A TRUCK WAS REPORTED MISSING BY ONE OF THE OBSERVATION POSTS, THE LONG RANGE WOULD LAUNCH TO SCOUR THE TEN KILOMETER STRETCH OF HIGHWAY WHERE THE TRUCK HAD DISAPPEARED. MOD SAID HE WOULD BE DISCUSSING THIS PLAN WITH MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT PARINELLO LATER THAT DAY. MEANWHILE EVEN BEFORE HAVING THIS NOT IN PLACE, THE ARMY HAD CAUGHT ONE TRACTOR TRAILER TRUCK WITH ITS CONTAINER BEING EMPTIE ALONG THE ATLANTIC HIGHWAY. THE ARMY PLANNED TO IMPLEMENT A SIMILAR CONTROL SYSTEM ALONG THE PRINCIPAL HIGHWAY TO MEXICO AND EL SALVADOR USING PERSONNEL FROM SOME OF THE OTHER STRATEGIC ARM UNITS IN GUATEMALA CITY.

COMMENTS

23. GEN ENRIQUEZ IS PROBABLY JUSTIFIED IN HIS OPTIMISM THAT CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS WILL GO FORWARD AND THAT THE LAWSUIT PENDING AGAINST HIM FOR FORCED RECRUITMENT WILL NOT PROSPER. EVEN THOUGH LAME DUCK CONGRESSMEN ARE BITTER WITH THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH OVER THE LOSS OF THEIR BATTLE TO STAY IN OFFICE, THEY ARE UNLIKELY TO CONFRONT A STRONG MOD BY LIFTING HIS IMMUNITY TO FACE A LAWSUIT OF DUBIOUS LEGALITY. HIS ASSESSMENT OF THE FACTORS CAUSING THE URNG TO ATTEMPT TO SLOW DOWN THE PEACE PROCESS, IF CORRECT, IS DISTURBING. EVEN STRONG INTERNATIONAL PRESSURE MAY

NOT SUFFICE TO FORCE THE URNG TO STAY ON THE AGREED UPON CALENDAR IF THEY HAVE SUFFICIENT FUNDS TO MAINTAIN THEIR FORCES WHILE THEY OBSERVE NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN THE GUATEMALAN POLITICAL SCENE AFTER THE AUGUST 14 ELECTIONS. GEN ENRIQUEZ SEEMED EXTREMELY PROUD OF THE ARMY'S INGENUITY IN DEVISING A METHOD TO LIMIT CONTAINERIZED CARGO LOSSES ON THE GUATEMALAN HIGHWAYS. ONE HAS TO WONDER, GIVEN THE LIMITED GUATEMALAN DEFENSE BUDGET AND THE CONTINUING COSTS OF THE ONGOING CONFLICT, HOW MUCH LOCAL BUSINESSMEN HAVE TO CHIP IN FOR THIS NEW SERVICE.

1. NOTEWORTHY MOVE FOR WON CURRENCY APPRECIATION (CHUNGANG ILBO 7/25, FULL)

IT IS STILL TOO EARLY TO CONCLUDE WHETHER THE CURRENT TREND OF APPRECIATING THE WON CURRENCY VALUE IS FIRM ENOUGH. YET, IT SEEMS CERTAIN THAT THE WON-DOLLAR AND WON-YEN EXCHANGE RATES HAVE TURNED FROM THE TREND OF DEPRECIATION OR MAINTAINING THE STATUS QUO TO THAT OF APPRECIATION.

DURING THE PAST YEAR, THE KEYNOTE OF KOREA'S EXCHANGE RATES HAS BEEN MAINTAINED AT A LOW VALUE OF THE WON AGAINST THE WEAK DOLLAR AND STRONG YEN CURRENCIES. THIS BECAME EVEN MORE CLEAR WHEN WE RECALL THAT THE EXCHANGE

UNCLASSIFIED

RATE AT THE END OF LAST YEAR WAS MARKED AT W722 TO THE U.S. DOLLAR. AT PRESENT, THE EXCHANGE RATE HAS MAINTAINED A LEVEL OF W800 TO THE U.S. DOLLAR OR TO 100 JAPANESE YEN. SHOULD THE EXCHANGE RATES TURN TO THE STRONG WON, IT WILL HAVE CONSIDERABLE EFFECTS NOT ONLY IN INDUSTRIAL FIELDS, BUT ALSO IN THE MONEY AND BANKING SECTORS. ACCORDING TO THE PRIMARY EFFECT, THE PRICES FOR EXPORT GOODS WILL RISE, AND THOSE FOR IMPORTED GOODS WILL GROW CHEAPER.

THE GOVERNMENT GIVES THE IMPRESSION OF REMAINING INDIFFERENT TO SUCH A CHANGE IN THE KEYNOTE OF THE EXCHANGE RATES. THIS MIGHT BE BECAUSE IT HAS COME TO REALIZE THAT NOW IS THE TIME TO THINK ABOUT PRICES AND STABILITY, RATHER THAN BUSINESS CONDITIONS. IT IS CERTAIN THAT THE ECONOMIC GROWTH IN THE FIRST HALF OF THIS YEAR MIGHT BE ESTIMATED AT OVER 8 PERCENT; AND THIS TREND IS EXPECTED TO ENSUE IN THE LATTER HALF OF THIS YEAR. SO,

/ BEGINNING OF SECTION 003 ******/
THE GOVERNMENT SEEMS TO HAVE CONCENTRATED ON CALMING THE BUSINESS CONDITION, REMOVING "BUBBLES" FROM THE ECONOMY, AND MAINTAINING THE STABILITY KEYNOTE. EXPERTS, THEREFORE, HOLD THAT THIS TREND OF A WON CURRENCY APPRECIATION WILL CONTINUE IN THE LATTER HALF OF THIS YEAR, MAINTAINING THE EXCHANGE RATE AT W790 OR W800 TO THE DOLLAR.

IT IS NOT KNOWN HOW FAR THIS TREND OF WON APPRECIATION BY A SMALL MARGIN WILL PUT THE BRAKES ON THE TREND OF AN INCREASE IN EXPORTS, WHICH RESULTED THANKS TO THE STRONG YEN. IN SOME INDUSTRIES, BUSINESSMEN SEEM CONCERNED ABOUT THIS MOVE FOR WON APPRECIATION. THE OECD, IN WHICH KOREA'S ADMISSION IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER, ADVISES THAT KOREA SHOULD STRENGTHEN ITS ECONOMIC STABILITY SINCE IT HAS JUST PASSED THE BOTTOM OF THE BUSINESS CYCLE. SOME OBSERVERS HOLD THAT THE CURRENT TREND OF LOW WON VALUE SHOULD BE HALTED AT TODAY'S LEVEL, EVEN IN CONSIDERATION OF THE INTERNATIONAL POSITION OF THE WON CURRENCY.

KOREAN BUSINESSES AND BANKING INSTITUTIONS SHOULD NOW ADAPT THEMSELVES TO THIS CHANGE, AND TAKE IT AS A MOMENTUM FOR STRENGTHENING THEIR CONSTITUTIONAL QUALITY AND STEPPING UP THEIR STRUCTURAL ADJUSTMENT. IT IS NOT A FIRMLY-SET TREND YET, BUT NOW IS THE TIME FOR THE GOVERNMENT, BUSINESSES, AND HOUSEHOLDS ALIKE TO BE PREPARED FOR THE ARRIVAL OF AN ERA FOR APPRECIATION OF THE WON CURRENCY VALUE.

2. WHAT WHOLESALE ARRESTS MEAN (HANKYOREH SHINMUN 7/26: SUMMARY)

IT ACTUALLY IS DIFFICULT TO UNDERSTAND WHERE OUR SOCIETY IS NOW HEADED. IS THE COLD-WAR CURRENT OVER THE KOREAN PENINSULA IN THE PROCESS OF THAW OR NOT? IS THE DEMOCRATIZATION OF OUR SOCIETY MAKING PROGRESS OR RETROGRESSING? IT IS HARD TO ACCURATELY PINPOINT OUR STANDING, WHETHER INTERNATIONALLY OR DOMESTICALLY.

IT ALL ORIGINATES FROM THE INCONSISTENT ATTITUDE SHOWN BY THE KIM YOUNG-SAM GOVERNMENT. RECENTLY, THE SO-CALLED "CIVILIAN GOVERNMENT" REVEALED ITS ATTITUDE OF DEPENDING ONLY ON POLICE TROOPS FOR DEALING WITH ALL KINDS OF SOCIAL TROUBLES. IT ONCE PROFESSED TO PROCEED TOWARD NORTH-SOUTH KOREAN SUMMIT TALKS, BUT IT HAS TAKEN THE LEAD IN INCREASING TENSIONS BY CREATING A MCCARTHYIST ATMOSPHERE, TOGETHER WITH OLD GUARD MEMBERS.

WHAT POLITICAL AND SOCIAL FORCES HAVE BEEN DRIVING THE KIM YOUNG-SAM GOVERNMENT INTO A DIRECTION AGAINST DEMOCRACY AND AGAINST UNIFICATION? WHAT ARE THE POLITICAL, SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC CAUSES OF SUCH A DRIVE? LET'S PUT ASIDE THESE QUESTIONS FOR A WHILE. YET, THERE IS ONE THING THAT MUST BE CLARIFIED; IT IS THE FACT THAT FOR TODAY'S CHAOS, THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD BE HELD ENTIRELY RESPONSIBLE.

THE RECENT SERIES OF WHOLESALE ARRESTS OF PEOPLE ARE PROOF OF HOW FAR THE GOVERNMENT HAS GONE TO LOSE REASON AND A SENSE OF BALANCE. IN WHAT IS CALLED "THE NEW SECURITY-RIDDEN SITUATION" CREATED LAST MONTH, THE GOVERNMENT HAS ARRESTED 288 PERSONS. THE NUMBER IS AS MANY AS 100 PERSONS MORE THAN THE NUMBER OF ARRESTS MADE AT THE HEIGHT OF THE ROH TAE-WOO GOVERNMENT'S "SECURITY-RIDDEN POLITICAL SITUATION" BACK IN JULY 1989. CONSEQUENTLY, THE NUMBER OF PEOPLE IMPRISONED FOR WHAT ARE CALLED "OFFENSES RELATED TO THE POLITICAL SITUATION" HAS INCREASED BY TEN OVER THE

THE MOBILIZATION OF POLICE FORCES HAS GONE FAR BEYOND COMMON SENSE. THE NUMBER OF THOSE ARRESTED HAS BEEN EXPANDING DAY AFTER DAY. THIS REALITY CAN IN NO WAY BE A USUAL ONE. ALL THESE DEMONSTRATE WELL THAT THE KIM GOVERNMENT IS NO DIFFERENT FROM THE DAYS UNDER THE FIFTH AND SIXTH REPUBLIC GOVERNMENTS, IN THAT IT TRIES NOT TO RESOLVE SOCIAL TROUBLES BY REASON AND THAT IT BREEDS DISCORD AND ANTAGONISM BETWEEN MAJOR SOCIAL FORCES REPEATEDLY.

WHEN DOMESTIC POLITICS HAVE BEEN PUT IN SUCH AN

UNCLASSIFIED

ANTIDEMOCRATIC SITUATION, THERE IS NO REASON FOR NORTH-SOUTH KOREAN RELATIONS TO DEVELOP IN A FORWARD-LOOKING FASHION. WITH THE CONTROVERSY OVER "CONDOLENCES" AND THE STIRS CREATED BY SOGANG UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT PARK HONG'S REMARKS, REASONABLE DISCUSSIONS OR CONVERSATIONS ON THE UNIFICATION ISSUE HAVE ALREADY DISAPPEARED. THE ULTRARIGHTIST ATMOSPHERE IS NOW MANIPULATING POLITICS AND FURTHER REIGNING OVER THE PEOPLE'S CONSCIOUSNESS.

UNDER THE CIRCUMSTANCES, NO ONE CAN SAY DEFINITELY THAT THE NORTH-SOUTH KOREAN SUMMIT TALKS WILL BE REALIZED PROPERLY AND SUCCESSFULLY. DOMESTIC POLITICS AND THE UNIFICATION ISSUE ALWAYS HAVE INSEPARABLE RELATIONS. IF THE GOVERNMENT WOULD TRULY AIM AT PEACEFUL UNIFICATION, IT SHOULD FIRST POLITICALLY OVERCOME THE OLD GUARD AT HOME.

3. U.S., KOREA TO CONSULT CHINA, RUSSIA ON N/KOREAN NUCLEAR ISSUE (HANKYOREH SHINMUN 7/25; FULL)

(BY REPORTER KIM SONG-HO IN BANGKOK)

KOREA AND THE U.S. HAVE AGREED TO CONVINCE CHINA AND RUSSIA TO TAKE PART IN AND PLAY A ROLE IN THE SOLUTION OF THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR PROBLEM. THIS IMPLIES THAT KOREA AND THE U.S. WILL SEEK TO RESOLVE THE ISSUE THROUGH A MULTIPARTY COOPERATIVE STSTEM, RATHER THAN ON THE INITIATIVE OF KOREA AND THE U.S. REALIZING THAT THE PARTICIPATION OF CHINA AND RUSSIA IS CRUCIAL TO THE COMPLETE SOLUTION OF THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR PROBLEM, KOREA AND THE U.S. HAVE ALREADY CONCLUDED DISCUSSIONS ON CONCRETE WAYS TO ENCOURAGE CHINA AND RUSSIA TO HAVE A VOICE IN THE EARLY STAGE OF NEGOTIATIONS.

ACCORDINGLY, KOREA AND THE U.S. HAVE BEGUN TO PERSUADE CHINA AND RUSSIA TO TAKE PART IN THE RESOLUTION OF THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR ISSUE. FOREIGN MINISTER HAN SUNG-JOO, WHO IS VISITING BANGKOK TO ATTEND THE ASEAN CONFERENCE AND HIS CHINESE COUNTERPART, QIAN QICHEN, HAD TALKS ON JULY 24 TO DISCUSS SPECIFIC WAYS FOR CHINA TO TAKE PART IN THE SOLUTION OF THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR PROBLEM. STRESSING THAT CHINA'S ROLE IS IMPORTANT FOR A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT, FOREIGN MINISTER HAN CALLED FOR "CHINA'S CONSTRUCTIVE ROLE." FOREIGN MINISTER HAN ALSO CALLED ON CHINA TO PERSUADE NORTH KOREA TO GIVE UP ITS NUCLEAR DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM.

FOREIGN MINISTER QIAN QICHEN, RESPONDING TO THE U.S. AID.

/ BEGINNING OF SECTION 005 ******/
"CHINA WILL CLOSELY COOPERATE WITH KOREA FOR A SMOOTH SOLUTION OF THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR PROBLEM." FOREIGN MINISTER HAN ALSO HAD DISCUSSIONS WITH HIS RUSSIAN COUNTERPART, KOZYREV AND CALLED FOR RUSSIA'S ACTIVE ROLE IN THE SETTLEMENT OF THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR MATTER. MEANWHILE, IT HAS BEEN LEARNED THAT ROBERT GALLUCCI, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE, WILL VISIT CHINA AND RUSSIA TO DISCUSS WAYS FOR THE TWO COUNTRIES TO TAKE PART IN THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR ISSUE. KOREA AND THE U.S. BELIEVE THAT CHINA AND RUSSIA COULD TAKE PART IN THE RESOLUTION OF THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR ISSUE BY HELPING NORTH KOREA BUILD LIGHT WATER-MODERATED REACTORS, MANAGING THE NUCLEAR FUEL RODS EXTRACTED FROM NUCLEAR REACTORS, AND SUPPLYING ENERGY THAT CAN REPLACE NUCLEAR ENERGY.

4. U.S. REACTION TO "MESSAGE BROUGHT BY" PAK BO-HI
(HANKUK ILBO 7/26: FULL)

(BY CORRESPONDENT YI SANG-SOK IN WASHINGTON)

AFTER HIS RECENT VISIT TO PYONGYANG, PAK BO-HI, PRESIDENT OF THE SEGYE ILBO CO., TOLD THE PRESS ABOUT "KIM CHONG-IL'S MESSAGE," SAYING THAT KIM CHONG-IL IN NORTH KOREA "HOPES TO VISIT THE U.S. AND HAVE A MEETING WITH PRESIDENT CLINTON." TO THIS QUESTION, THE U.S. GOVERNMENT'S REACTION WAS COOL, IN A NUTSHELL.

THIS MESSAGE CONVEYED BY PAK, AN OPERATOR OF A DAILY NEWSPAPER COMPANY, IS NOT ONLY UNCLEAR IN ITS TRUE INTENTION, BUT IS ALSO A "RHETORICAL MENTION" OF WHICH THE FEASIBILITY IS SLIM, ACCORDING TO THE U.S. GOVERNMENT'S JUDGEMENT. SUCH A REACTION IS NOT MUCH DIFFERENT FROM THE ATTITUDE SHOWN WHEN KIM IL-SONG HIMSELF REPORTEDLY TOLD FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS, INVITED TO HIS 82ND BIRTHDAY PARTY LAST APRIL, THAT "I WISH TO GO FISHING AND HUNTING IN THE U.S."

VICE PRESIDENT AL GORE APPEARED IN AN NBC INTERVIEW PROGRAM ON CURRENT TOPICS ON JULY 24 (EST). ASKED ABOUT THE POSSIBILITY OF A MEETING BETWEEN KIM CHONG-IL AND PRESIDENT CLINTON, HE BRUSHED IT ASIDE BY SAYING, "IT'S A PROPOSAL IMPOSSIBLE OF REALIZATION." "WE ARE NOT ENGAGED IN DIPLOMACY THROUGH NEWSPAPERS," HE SAID. GORE SAID THAT THE U.S. HAS BEEN FOCUSING PRIORITY INTEREST AND CONCERN ON THE THIRD-ROUND HIGH-LEVEL TALKS BETWEEN NORTH KOREA AND THE U.S. TO BE RESUMED IN GENEVA ON AUG. 5, WHETHER OR NOT NORTH KOREA'S COMMITMENT ON NUCLEAR FREEZE IS FULFILLED.

UNCLASSIFIED

VICE PRESIDENT GORE'S REMARKS DO NOT DEPART FROM THE CLINTON ADMINISTRATION'S CONSISTENT POLICY TOWARD NORTH KOREA THAT NORMALIZATION OF RELATIONS WITH NORTH KOREA WILL BE SOUGHT, DEPENDING ON PROGRESS IN RESOLVING THE PRESENT NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR ISSUE.

IN THIS WAY, THE U.S.'S PRIMARY REACTION TO KIM CHONG-IL'S MESSAGE MAY WELL BE DESCRIBED AS BEING NEGATIVE. THIS MAY PROBABLY BE BECAUSE THE U.S. ADMINISTRATION DOES NOT GIVE ANY PARTICULAR SIGNIFICANCE TO THE CAPACITY OF THE ONE WHO CONVEYED THE MESSAGE -- PAK BO-HI, PRESIDENT OF SEGYE ILBO.

IF THE REAL INTENTION OF KIM CHONG-IL'S MESSAGE THAT HE HOPES TO VISIT THE U.S. SHOULD BE CONFIRMED MORE CONCRETELY THROUGH ANOTHER CHANNEL, THEN THE CLINTON ADMINISTRATION DOES NOT APPEAR LIKELY TO PERSIST IN ITS NEGATIVE ATTITUDE. THE ADMINISTRATION HOLDS THE VIEW THAT

/ BEGINNING OF SECTION 006 ******/
THE EMERGENCE OF A STRONG LEADER IN NORTH KOREA IS IN ACCORD WITH THE NATIONAL INTEREST OF THE U.S. FROM THIS VIEWPOINT, THE U.S. MAY WELL BE REGARDED AS FEELING REASSURED BY THE WAY KIM'S SUCCESSION TO POWER IS MAKING PROGRESS WITHOUT ANY PARTICULARLY UNTOWARD INCIDENTS.

THEREFORE, IF KIM CHONG-IL SHOULD ADOPT A FRIENDLY POLICY TOWARD THE U.S., INCLUDING THE ABANDONMENT OF NUCLEAR WEAPONS DEVELOPMENT, AND HAVE IT CONFIRMED BOTH AT HOME AND ABROAD, IT WOULD BE RIGHT TO ASSUME THAT THE U.S. IS READY TO EMBRACE HIM. MOREOVER, IF THE OPENING OF THE NORTH-SOUTH SUMMIT TALKS SHOULD BE "A MATTER OF TIME," AS KIM REPORTEDLY DISCLOSED TO PAK, THE QUESTIONS REGARDING IMPROVEMENT OF RELATIONS BETWEEN NORTH KOREA AND THE U.S. AND KIM CHONG-IL'S VISIT TO THE U.S. MAY POSSIBLY TAKE AN EVEN MORE CONCRETE FORM.

DOS OFFICIALS HOLD THAT IF KIM'S EXPRESSION OF HIS INTENT TO VISIT THE U.S. IS TRUE, IT MIGHT BE ANOTHER SIGNAL HINTING AT HIS SMOOTH SUCCESSION TO POWER. THEY ALSO BELIEVE THAT IT MAY PROVIDE A MOMENTUM TO WIPE OUT THE WESTERN INTELLIGENCE AGENCIES' NEGATIVE ASSESSMENT OF KIM CHONG-IL.

THEIR IDEAS ARE BASED ON THE FACT THAT KIM CHONG-IL, DURING THE PAST 10-ODD YEARS, HAS PLAYED THE LEADING ROLE IN NORTH KOREA'S EXPERIMENT IN LIBERALIZATION. ACCORDING TO THEM, KIM CHONG-IL HAS TAKEN THE LEAD, BEHIND THE SCENES, IN THE WORK FOR OPENING THE DOOR TO THE OUTSIDE WORLD. FOR INSTANCE, IN 1991, WHEN THE EASTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES WERE ABOUT TO FALL, KIM INVITED MUN SON-MYONG, UNIFICATION CHURCH FOUNDER, AND PAK, PRESIDENT OF SEGYE ILBO CO., AND OTHER UNIFICATION CHURCH OFFICIALS TO NORTH KOREA; AND HE ALSO HASTENED THE DEVELOPMENT OF SPECIAL ECONOMIC ZONES.

SOME U.S. INTELLIGENCE ANALYSTS PAY ATTENTION TO KIM TAL-HYON AND YUN KI-POK, WHO ONCE PLAYED INTERMEDIATORY ROLES FOR A NORTH KOREA VISIT BY CHURCH FOUNDER MUN AND HIS PARTY UNDER INSTRUCTIONS FROM KIM CHONG-IL AND WERE LATER DEMOTED. FOLLOWING THE DEATH OF KIM IL-SONG, THEY ARE BACK AGAIN AND SECRETLY PLACE EXPECTATIONS ON THE FULL-FLEDGED OPENING OF THE KIM CHONG-IL REGIME.

THE KIM CHONG-IL REGIME'S WILL TOWARD IMPROVEMENT OF RELATIONS WITH THE U.S. WILL BE SUBJECT TO THE U.S.'S INTENSIVE TEST AT THE GENEVA TALKS TO BE RESUMED NEXT MONTH. THE REAL INTENTION OF THE KIM CHONG-IL MESSAGE APPEARS LIKELY TO BE VERIFIED, IN DETAIL, AT THE UPCOMING TALKS.

5. FOUR POWERS' POSITION AND PROSPECT OF "DIALOGUE POSTURE" UNDER KIM CHONG-IL SYSTEM (TONGA ILBO 7/26; SUMMARY)

U.S.

---

(BY REPORTER NAM CHAN-SUN IN WASHINGTON)

IT IS PREDICTED THAT RELATIONS BETWEEN NORTH KOREA AND THE U.S., IN THE WAKE OF THE INAUGURATION OF THE KIM CHONG-IL SYSTEM, WILL ENTIRELY DEPEND ON HOW THE NEW KIM CHONG-IL SYSTEM ILL DISPOSE OF THE NUCLEAR ISSUE. AS IT HAS ALEADY REVEALED DURING KIM IL-SONG'S LIFETIME, THE U.. HA ASSUMED A POSITION THAT IT WILL ADOPT A PLICY OF

/ BEGINNING OF SECTION 007 ******/
ESTABLISHING A LIAISON OFFICE IN PYONGYANG AS A PRELUDE TO NORMALIZING DIPLOMATIC TIES, IF NORTH KOREA SHOULD FREEZE ITS NUCLEAR DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM AND GUARANTEE THE TRANSPARENCY OF ITS PAST NUCLEAR DEVELOPMENT HISTORY.

IN OTHER WORDS, IT HAS BEEN THE U.S. LOGIC DURING KIM IL-SONG'S LIFETIME AND AT THE PRESENT THAT THERE WILL BE NO CHANGE IN ITS POSITION THAT THE NUCLEAR ISSUE WILL SERVE AS A WEATHERCOCK IN BILATERAL RELATIONS BETWEEN WASHINGTON AND PYONGYANG. MOREOVER, THE CLINTON ADMINISTRATION HAS NO OTHER ALTERNATIVE BUT TO ATTACH IMPORTANCE TO RESOLVING THIS SPECIFIC NUCLEAR PROBLEM BECAUSE IT HAS BEEN RECOGNIZED BY THE GENERAL PUBLIC AS A YARDSTICK FOR THE ASSESSMENT OF ITS FOREIGN POLICY.

TAKING INTO CONSIDERATION THE TIMING, THE OVERHEATED CAMPAIGN FOR THE UPCOMING NOVEMBER OFF-YEAR ELECTION IN THE U.S. WILL REACH ITS PEAK AFTER THIS SUMMER VACATION. COINCIDING WITH THIS, THE KIM CHONG-IL SYSTEM IN NORTH KOREA WILL BE SET IN MOTION. FOR THE CLINTON ADMINISTRATION, THE FORTHCOMING OFF-YEAR ELECTION WILL BE AN IMPORTANT EVENT TO ASSESS ITS PAST TWO YEARS POLICY ACHIEVEMENTS AS WELL AS TO JUDGE THE DIRECTION OF THE 1996 PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE HAVE GIVEN THE CLINTON ADMINISTRATION CONSIDERABLY FAVORABLE MARKS IN TERMS OF ITS DOMESTIC POLICIES. THIS IS BECAUSE THE AMERICAN ECONOMY HAS GREATLY IMPROVED. NEVERTHELESS, THE CLINTON ADMINISTRATION HAS GAINED VERY BAD MARKS IN ITS FOREIGN POLICY. IT HAS BEEN EVALUATED THAT THE U.S. WORLD LEADERSHIP HAS STOOD AT A FAR LOWER LEVEL THAN IT HAD UNDER THE BUSH ADMINISTRATION.

THE NORTH KOREA NUCLEAR ISSUE IS THE VERY CORE OF THE CLINTON ADMINISTRATION'S FOREIGN POLICY. THEREFORE, IF THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR QUESTION IS TO BE AMICABLY SETTLED BEFORE THE NOVEMBER OFF-YEAR ELECTION, IT IS CLEAR THAT THIS WILL HAVE AN EFFECT ON THE ELECTION.

THE JUDGMENT BY THE CLINTON ADMINISTRATION OVER HOW THE NORTH KOREA NUCLEAR ISSUE UNDER THE KIM CHONG-IL SYSTEM WILL BE CONCLUDED TENDS TO BE CAUTIOUS BUT OPTIMISTIC. THIS IMPLIES THAT THE NORTH KOREA NUCLEAR PROBLEM WILL HAVE AN INFLUENCE ON THE POLITICAL ARENA IN THE U.S. THE MOST IMPORTANT REASON FOR THE CLINTON ADMINISTRATION TO ARRIVE AT THIS JUDGMENT IS BASED ON THE FACT THAT NORTH KOREA HAS EXPRESSED ITS INTENTION TO RESUME THE THIRD ROUND HIGH-LEVEL TALKS WITH THE U.S.

OF COURSE, CONCERN HAS BEEN VOICED BY MANY PEOPLE IN THE U.S. ADMINISTRATION ABOUT THE GROWING EMERGENCE OF HARDLINERS, SUCH AS THE MILITARY, IN NORTH KOREA. BECAUSE OF THIS APPREHENSION, HOWEVER, THE CLINTON ADMINISTRATION HAS CONSIDERED THAT IT WILL PROVIDE ALL AVAILABLE MEASURES SO THAT THE KIM CHONG-IL SYSTEM MAY BE ABLE TO CONTINUE DIALOGUE WITH THE U.S. ABOUT ITS NUCLEAR ISSUE.

IN A NUTSHELL, THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR QUESTION WILL BECOME THE KERNEL OF A MATTER RELATED TO IMPROVING RELATIONS BETWEEN THE KIM CHONG-IL SYSTEM AND THE CLINTON ADMINISTRATION. HENCE, IT IS PREDICTED THAT THE U.S. WILL HAVE TO TAKE "A FAR BROAD-MINDED " STAND IN NUCLEAR NEGOTIATIONS WITH NORTH KOREA BECAUSE OF THE U.S. POLITICAL SCHEDULE, SUCH AS THE OFF-YEAR ELECTION AND THE POSSIBILITY OF HAWKS GAINING POWER IN NORTH KOREA.

/ BEGINNING OF SECTION 008 ******/
CHINA

(BY REPORTER KIM CHUNG-SIK IN BEIJING)

CHINA HAS REFRAINED FROM ASSESSING, ANALYZING AND PREDICTING THE POWER TRANSITION PROCESS AND THE FUTURE OF THE NORTH KOREA SYSTEM FOLLOWING THE DEATH OF KIM IL-SONG AS IF IT DID NOT FULLY UNDERSTAND NOT ONLY THE RULING IDEA AND THE LEADERSHIP OF KIM CHONG-IL, BUT ALSO HIS DIPLOMATIC CAPABILITIES. IT IS, HOWEVER, CERTAIN THAT CHINA HAS BELIEVED AND HOPED THAT KIM CHONG-IL WILL FOLLOW HIS FATHER'S POLICY OF MAINTAINING TRADITIONAL FRIENDLY RELATIONS BETWEEN BEIJING AND PYONGYANG. THAT'S WHY CHINA DECLARED IMMEDIATELY AFTER KIM IL-SONG'S DEATH THAT IT WILL RECOGNIZE KIM CHONG-IL'S HEREDITARY POWER SUCCESSION.

CHINA HAS ALREADY PROCLAIMED THE MAINTENANCE OF PEACE AND STABILITY AS WELL AS THE REALIZATION OF THE DENUCLEARIZATION ON THE KOREAN PENINSULA AS THE KEYNOTE OF ITS FOREIGN POLICY. THUS, CHINA HOPES THAT NORTH KOREA WILL NO LONGER CAUSE TROUBLE WITH EITHER THE U.S. OR KOREA. SHOULD THE PEACE STRUCTURE ON THE KOREAN PENINSULA BE DESTROYED, STABILITY IN ITS NORTHEASTERN BORDER WILL BE ENDANGERED AND REFORM AND LIBERALIZATION, WHICH IT HAS NOW BEEN LABORIOUSLY UNDERTAKEN, WILL FACE A SERIOUS SETBACK.

CHINA IS APPARENTLY ATTEMPTING TO UTILIZE ITS INFLUENCE OVER NORTH KOREA TO THE MAXIMUM EXTENT POSSIBLE BY TAKING ADVANTAGE OF THE EXISTING FRIENDLY TIES BETWEEN BEIJING AND PYONGYANG. NEVERTHELESS, THERE ARE NUMEROUS POTENTIAL FACTORS IN BRINGING ABOUT CHANGES IN RELATIONS BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES. FIRST OF ALL, CHINA HAS DECLARED ITS READINESS TO EXTEND ITS OUTFLANK SUPPORT FOR NORTH KOREA. THE MANAGEMENT AND THE EXISTENCE ABILITY OF THE KIM CHONG-IL SYSTEM WILL HAVE A TREMENDOUS IMPACT ON BILATERAL RELATIONS BETWEEN CHINA AND NORTH KOREA.

MOREOVER, IT IS LIKELY THAT NORTH KOREA-U.S. NEGOTIATIONS SCHEDULED TO REOPEN IN THE NEAR FUTURE AND THE DEVELOPMENT PROCESS OF RELATIONS BETWEEN NORTH AND SOUTH KOREA WILL SERVE AS A NEW VARIABLE IN RELATIONS BETWEEN BEIJING AND PYONGYANG. THERE IS ALSO A HIGH POSSIBILITY THAT JAPAN WILL EMERGE AS A VARIABLE IN THE MANAGEMENT OF THE NORTH KOREAN ECONOMY BECAUSE TOKYO HAS BEEN WATCHING FOR AN OPPORTUNITY TO USE ITS ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE AS A CARD FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH NORTH KOREA.

JAPAN

---

(BY REPORTER PAE IN-CHUN IN TOKYO)

IT IS OBVIOUS THAT RELATIONS BETWEEN NORTH KOREA AND JAPAN WILL BE GREATLY INFLUENCED BY THE ALLEVIATION OF NUCLEAR SUSPICIONS BETWEEN NORTH KOREA AND THE U.S. AND THE TREND OF NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN THEM OVER THE ISSUE OF IMPROVING THEIR RELATIONS UNDER THE KIM CHONG-IL SYSTEM. WHILE THE U.S. HAS PLACED TOP PRIORITY ON ITS NEGOTIATIONS WITH NORTH KOREA FOR KEEPING THE NUCLEAR NONPROLIFERATION TREATY INTACT, JAPAN HAS REGARDED THE NORTH KOREA NUCLEAR ISSUE AS THE REALISTIC DANGER TO IT.

IN HIS TALKS WITH FORMER PRESIDENT JIMMY CARTER LAST MONTH, KIM IL-SONG EXPRESSED HIS HOPE FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF RELATIONS WITH JAPAN AND HOLDING A SUMMIT MEETING BETWEEN PYONGYANG AND TOKYO. IF THE KIM CHONG-IL SYSTEM

/ BEGINNING OF SECTION 009 ******/
SHOULD STOP PUSHING AHEAD WITH ITS NUCLEAR DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM AND TRY TO USE THE NUCLEAR CARD FOR ITS DIPLOMATIC PURPOSES, ITS OVERTURES TOWARD JAPAN WILL MOVE FASTER THAN EXPECTED, ALONG WITH THE PROGRESS BEING MADE IN NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE U.S.

UNDER THE PRESENT CIRCUMSTANCES, MOST IMPORTANT IS FOR NORTH KOREA TO SECURE ECONOMIC COOPERATION FROM JAPAN IN ORDER TO FIND A WAY OUT OF ITS DIFFICULT ECONOMIC SITUATION. THERE IS A GOOD POSSIBILITY THAT THE EXISTENCE OF CHOCHONGNYON, A PRO-PYONGYANG ASSOCIATION OF KOREANS RESIDING IN JAPAN, WILL WORK AS AN ESSENTIAL VARIABLE IN RELATIONS BETWEEN NORTH KOREA AND JAPAN IN THE FUTURE. WHEN NORTH KOREA TURNED AWAY FROM RESUMING TALKS WITH JAPAN FOR THE NORMALIZATION OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS EARLIER THIS YEAR, THE TOKYO GOVERNMENT STARTED CONDUCTING AN INVESTIGATION INTO THE OPERATION OF CHOCHONGNYON AND CLOSELY WATCHED THE REMITTANCE OF MONEY FROM PRO-KOREAN RESIDENTS IN JAPAN TO PYONGYANG.

IF NORTH KOREA SHOULD CONTINUE DIALOGUE WITH TOKYO AND MOVE IN THE DIRECTION OF DISPELLING ITS NUCLEAR SUSPICIONS, JAPAN IS EXPECTED TO STRENGTHEN ITS FOUNDATION FOR MAKING FULL-FLEDGED ECONOMIC INROADS INTO NORTH KOREA. THIS JAPANESE APPROACH IS MOST LIKELY TO BE MADE IN THE FORM OF A MULTILATERAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM OR THROUGH INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS, EVEN PRIOR TO THE ESTABLISHMENT OF FORMAL DIPLOMATIC TIES BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES.

IT IS ALSO ANTICIPATED THAT THE EMERGENCE OF A SOCIALIST PARTY LEADER AS THE NEW JAPANESE PRIME MINISTER, SHORTLY

UNCLASSIFIED

UNCLASSIFIED

BEFORE THE INCEPTION OF THE KIM CHONG-IL SYSTEM, WILL SERVE AS AN ELEMENT OF ACCELERATING THE RESUMPTION OF DIALOGUE BETWEEN TOKYO AND PYONGYANG. THIS IS PARTICULARLY SO BECAUSE THE NORTH KOREAN WORKERS (COMMUNIST) PARTY HAS MAINTAINED CORDIAL RELATIONS WITH THE SOCIALIST PARTY OF JAPAN FOR OVER 30 YEARS.

HOWEVER, IF THE KIM CHONG-IL SYSTEM SHOULD ADOPT A HARDLINE POLICY, SUCH AS THE DEVELOPMENT OF MISSILES AND NUCLEAR WEAPONS, JAPAN WILL GO HEAD WITH THE DEVELOPMENT OF ITS THEATER MISSILE DEFENSE SYSTEM AND THE AUGMENTATION OF ARMAMENT AT A RAPID PACE. THEREFORE, THERE IS A SERIOUS CONCERN THAT SUCH A NORTH KOREAN ATTITUDE WILL ENCOURAGE JAPAN TO POSITIVELY SEEK MILITARY COUNTERMEASURES BY LEGALIZING THE EXERCISE OF ITS COLLECTIVE DEFENSE RIGHTS.

RUSSIA

(BY REPORTER MUN MYONG-HO IN MOSCOW)

RUSSIA HAS BEEN REARRANGING THE BASIC PERCEPTION OF ITS FOREIGN POLICY WHICH HAS BEEN THROWN INTO CONFUSION FOLLOWING THE COLLAPSE OF THE FORMER SOVIET UNION. RUSSIA HAS SHOWN THE NECESSITY OF REESTABLISHING ITS RELATIONS WITH NORTH KOREA WHILE RIDDING ITSELF OF BEING EXCESSIVELY INCLINED TOWARD KOREA. IN FACT, RUSSIA HAS KEPT NORTH KOREA AT A DISTANCE IN DEALING WITH THE QUESTION ON THE KOREAN PENINSULA.

RUSSIA HAS ALSO BELIEVED THAT ITS NORTH KOREAN CARD WILL NOT ONLY BRING ADVANTAGES TO ITS RELATIONS WITH KOREA, BUT WILL ALSO BRING DIPLOMATIC BENEFIT TO ITS RELATIONS WITH NORTHEAST ASIA AND THE U.S. STRICTLY SPEAKING, HOWEVER,

/ BEGINNING OF SECTION 010 ******/
RUSSIA HAS JUST BEGUN TO SEEK A NEW DIRECTION OF DIPLOMACY TOWARD NORTH KOREA. IN OTHER WORDS, RUSSIA HAS TO REESTABLISH ITS STRATEGY AND POLICY TOWARD NORTH KOREA AFTER CLOSELY EXAMINING THE FUTURE COURSE OF THE KIM CHONG-IL SYSTEM.

CLEARLY, RELATIONS BETWEEN NORTH KOREA AND RUSSIA WILL ENTER A NEW ERA WHILE COMPLETELY FREEING ITSELF FROM THE FRAMEWORK OF OLD RELATIONS BETWEEN NORTH KOREA AND THE FORMER SOVIET UNION FOLLOWING THE DISAPPEARANCE OF KIM IL-SONG, WHO ASSUMED THE REINS OF GOVERNMENT WITH THE SUPPORT OF THE FORMER SOVIET UNION. IT IS EXPECTED THAT THERE WILL BE NO CHANGE IN THE ESSENTIAL QUALITIES OF RUSSIAN POLICY TOWARD THE KOREAN PENINSULA IN THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE. THIS IS BECAUSE RUSSIA IS SUPPORTING

AND PURSUING POLITICAL AND MILITARY STABILITY ON THE KOREAN PENINSULA.

ONE OF THE MAJOR CONCERNS OF RUSSIA IS THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR ISSUE. IT DOES NOT SEEM THAT THERE WILL BE ANY ALTERATION IN THE GRAND PRINCIPLE OF RUSSIAN FOREIGN POLICY IN SUPPORT OF THE OBSERVANCE OF THE NPT AND THE ACCEPTANCE OF IAEA NUCLEAR INSPECTIONS BY NORTH KOREA. NEVERTHELESS, RUSSIA BELIEVES THAT INTERNATIONAL SANCTIONS AGAINST NORTH KOREA HAS LOST ITS EFFECTIVENESS. THEREFORE, RUSSIA IS NOT LIKELY TO ACT IN CONCERT WITH THE U.S. AND OTHERS IN IMPOSING SANCTIONS AGAINST PYONGYANG, EVEN IF THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR ISSUE SHOULD NOT BE RESOLVED THROUGH NORTH KOREA-U.S. NEGOTIATIONS AND INTER-KOREAN TALKS.

RUSSIA IS EXPECTED TO STRENGTHEN ITS EFFORTS TO DEVELOP ITS TRADE RELATIONS WITH NORTH KOREA IN A NORMAL WAY. IT IS, THEREFORE, ANTICIPATED THAT THESE RUSSIAN EFFORTS WILL BE FURTHER ACCELERATED IF THE KIM CHONG-IL REGIME SHOULD FAVORABLY RESPOND TO THEM AND THE NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR PROBLEM SHOULD BE PEACEFULLY RESOLVED.

6. TASKS AHEAD OF KOREAN ECONOMY TO BECOME ADVANCED TYPE (SEOUL SINMUN 7/26: FULL)

(BY PROF. KIM SE-WON OF SNU)

A FEW DAYS AGO, I HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO ATTEND A SEMINAR TO WHICH GATT SECRETARY-GENERAL SUTHERLAND HAD BEEN INVITED. FIRST OF ALL, IT IS VERY AMBIGUOUS AS TO WHAT KIND OF TREATMENT THE KOREAN ECONOMY HAS BEEN GETTING IN THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY. THE TERM "NEWLY INDUSTRIALIZED COUNTRY" OR "SEMI-ADVANCED COUNTRY" IS OFTEN EMPLOYED, BUT THIS IS A TENTATIVE EXPRESSION USED EXPEDIENTLY. NO OFFICIAL POSITION CAN BE FOUND IN ANY INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION, INCLUDING GATT, ON THIS QUESTION.

THEREFORE, A QUESTION IS RAISED AS TO WHICH CATEGORY BETWEEN ADVANCED COUNTRIES AND DEVELOPING COUNTRIES KOREA BELONGS. AND THE INTERNATIONAL TREATMENT OF KOREA IS BOUND TO VARY, DEPENDING ON THE ANSWERS TO THIS QUESTION. FOR EXAMPLE, IN THE COURSE OF UR NEGOTIATIONS, KOREA APPARENTLY RECEIVED TREATMENT AS A DEVELOPING COUNTRY ON THE OPENING OF THE RICE MARKET AND SO FORTH, IN THE AREA OF TRADE IN AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE. IN THE CLAUSE FOR PAYMENT OF SUBSIDIES OR AGREEMENT ON INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS, NOTHING HAS BEEN DEFINITELY DETERMINED ON THE TREATMENT OF KOREA. GATT HAS ALMOST ESTABLISHED ITS POSITION THAT KOREA WILL HAVE TO FOLLOW THE OBLIGATIONS OF

/ BEGINNING OF SECTION 011 ******/
AN ADVANCED COUNTRY. AND IN THE NEGOTIATIONS ON SOME SERVICE INDUSTRY TO BE RESUMED IN THE COMING DAYS, SUCH A CONCLUSION APPEARS HARDLY ESCAPABLE.

ON THE OTHER HAND, THE EUROPEAN UNION (EU) HAS DECIDED TO GIVE KOREA ITS GENERALIZED SYSTEM OF PREFERENCES (GSP) BENEFITS. THIS SHOWS THAT IT WILL STILL TREAT KOREA AS A DEVELOPING COUNTRY.

AT ANY RATE, IT WILL BE NECESSARY TO APPROPRIATELY GRADUATE THE TREATMENT OF NICS, LIKE KOREA, DEPENDING ON THE DETAILS OF INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS, INCLUDING THE UR ACCORD. IN OTHER WORDS, IT WILL BE INEVITABLE TO PROVIDE SOME EXCEPTIONAL TREATMENT ON A TEMPORARY BASIS, UNTIL SUCH TIME AS THE COUNTRY COMPLETELY SHEDS ITS STATE OF BEING A DEVELOPING COUNTRY. AND KOREA SHOULD MAKE PREPARATIONS FOR THIS LOGIC, WITH WHICH TO PERSUADE ADVANCED COUNTRIES.

7. VIETNAM HOPES FOR EARLY SUPPLY OF ECONOMIC COOPERATION LOAN (CHOSON ILBO 7/25)

(BY REPORTER PAK TU-SIK IN BANGKOK)

FOREIGN AFFAIRS MINISTER HAN SUNG-JOO, WHO IS CURRENTLY VISITING THAILAND TO PARTICIPATE IN THE ASSOCIATION OF SOUTHEAST ASIAN NATIONS (ASEAN), REGIONAL FORUM (ARF), HELD TALKS WITH VIETNAMESE FOREIGN MINISTER NGUYEN MANH CAM ON JULY 24. THE TWO FOREIGN MINISTERS EXCHANGED VIEWS ON WAYS TO PROMOTE BILATERAL ECONOMIC COOPERATION.

DURING THE MEETING, VIETNAM DISCUSSED EARLY REALIZATION OF ECONOMIC COOPERATION WITH KOREA AND FOREIGN AFFAIRS MINISTER HAN EXPRESSED A POSITIVE RESPONSE. VIETNAM PARTICULARLY HOPED THE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT COOPERATION FUND LOAN, WORTH $50 MILLION WHICH KOREA HAD PROMISED TO PROVIDE, WOULD BE FURNISHED AT AN EARLY DATE.

8. KOREA "LAST" APPEALING AMONG DEVELOPING COUNTRIES FOR FOREIGN INVESTMENT (HANKUK ILBO 7/26: FULL)

DESPITE RAPIDLY GROWING INVESTMENTS IN DEVELOPING COUNTRIES BY ADVANCED COUNTRIES, KOREA HAS BEEN SURVEYED AS THE MOST UNATTRACTIVE PLACE TO FOREIGN INVESTORS, ACCORDING TO A REPORT ON JULY 25. KOREA TRADE PROMOTION

CORPORATION (KOTRA) SAID THAT FORTUNE MAGAZINE, IN ITS LATEST ISSUE DATED JULY 25, SAID THAT SOME $50 BILLION IN INVESTMENT FUNDS HAVE BEEN POURED INTO DEVELOPING COUNTRIES IN THE FORM OF OVERSEAS DIRECT INVESTMENTS IN 1992, UP ABOUT 30 PERCENT FROM THE PRECEDING YEAR'S $39 BILLION. THE AMERICAN ECONOMIC MAGAZINE PRESENTED THE FIGURES BY QUOTING THE STATISTICS OF THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND (IMF).

IT SAID, HOWEVER, THAT FOREIGN DIRECT INVESTMENTS IN KOREA HAVE BEEN SLOW, PARTICULARLY SINCE THE 1990'S. FORTUNE MAGAZINE POINTED OUT THAT KOREA MARKED THE LOWEST AMOUNT IN THE ACTUAL DIRECT FOREIGN INVESTMENTS, INTRODUCED IN 1992, AMONG OTHER DEVELOPING COUNTRIES. CHINA WAS THE COUNTRY WHICH ATTRACTED THE LARGEST AMOUNT OF FOREIGN INVESTMENTS WITH $11.2 BILLION. THIS WAS FOLLOWED BY $5.6 BILLION BY SINGAPORE, $5.4 BILLION BY MEXICO, $4.2 BILLION BY ARGENTINA, AND $4.1 BILLION BY MALAYSIA.

/ BEGINNING OF SECTION 012 ******/
IN THE SAME YEAR, THAILAND INTRODUCED FOREIGN INVESTMENTS AMOUNTING TO $2.1 BILLION. INDONESIA ATTRACTED FOREIGN INVESTMENTS OF $1.8 BILLION, INDIA $1.4 BILLION, AND HUNGARY $1.1 BILLION, RESPECTIVELY. THE AMOUNT OF FOREIGN INVESTMENTS INTRODUCED BY KOREA DURING THE YEAR BARELY AMOUNTED TO $600 MILLION, THE LOWEST LEVEL AMONG ALL DEVELOPING COUNTRIES INCLUDING THE COUNTRIES IN EASTERN EUROPE AND LATIN AMERICA.

FORTUNE MAGAZINE POINTED OUT THAT FOREIGN INVESTMENT ACTIVITIES IN KOREA HAVE BEEN INACTIVE LARGELY FOR THE FOLLOWING REASONS: NAMELY, THE WORSENED CLIMATE FOR FOREIGN INVESTMENTS SUCH AS THE RAPID RISE IN LABOR COST AND HIGH INTEREST RATES AND INFLATIONARY SPIRAL, AND VARIOUS REGULATIONS SUCH AS ON APPROVAL AND AUTHORIZATION OF FOREIGN INVESTMENT AND ON BUSINESS OPERATIONS IN KOREA BY FOREIGN-INVESTED ENTERPRISES. ANOTHER FACTOR RESPONSIBLE, ACCORDING TO THE MAGAZINE, WAS THE WEAK FOUNDATION LAID FOR FAIR COMPETITION WITH KOREAN ENTERPRISES.

9. CONSTITUTIONAL POLITICS ASSOCIATION SENDS OPEN QUESTIONNAIRE TO BLUE HOUSE ON N/KOREAN NUCLEAR ISSUE (CHOSON ILBO 7/26)

---

THE CONSTITUTIONAL POLITICS ASSOCIATION (CHAIRMAN KIM CHU-IN), A FRATERNITY OF FORMER LAWMAKERS, SENT A SIX-POINT OPEN QUESTIONNAIRE TO THE BLUE HOUSE ON JULY 25. THE QUESTIONNAIRE INCLUDED ITS CALL FOR THE CRACKDOWN ON ALL PRO-NORTH KOREAN LEFTIST FORCES AND THE REPLACEMENT OF CLOSE PRESIDENTIAL AIDE(S) WHOSE IDEOLOGICAL BACKGROUND

IS DOUBTFUL. THE ASSOCIATION ALSO EXPRESSED ITS OPPOSITION TO HOLDING A SUMMIT MEETING BETWEEN NORTH AND SOUTH KOREA, AS WELL AS PRESIDENT KYS'S VISIT TO PYONGYANG IN A SITUATION WHERE THE TRANSPARENCY OF NORTH KOREAN NUCLEAR PROGRAM IS NOT GUARANTEED.

CHEIL FUTURES SIGN CONTRACT ON ESTABLISHING RSF WITH U.S. FIRM (KYONGHYANG SINMUN 7/26)

CHEIL FUTURES, THE FUTURES BROKERAGE COMPANY IN WHICH CHEIL FOODS & CHEMICALS HAS INVESTED CAPITAL, HAS SIGNED A CONTRACT WITH CARGILL INVESTOR SERVICE FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE "RISING SUN FUND," THE LARGEST INVESTMENT FUND IN KOREA SPECIALLY DESIGNED FOR OVERSEAS FUTURES. THE RSF WILL GO INTO OPERATION ON A FULL SCALE BEING AUG. 1, THE COMPANY SAID.

THE RSF WILL BE ESTABLISHED WITH A CAPITAL OF $10 MILLION, BY GATHERING WORKING CAPITAL FROM FIVE DOMESTIC INVESTMENT COMPANIES. THEY ARE CHEIL FUTURE, DONG-AH INVESTMENT & FINANCE, KOREA HOUSING BANK, JUNGANG INVESTMENT & FINANCE, AND SAMSUNG SECURITIES. PART OF ITS CAPITAL WILL BE MANAGED BY INVESTOR COMPANIES DIRECTLY ON A SELF-PAYING BASIS OVERSEAS.

INFLOW OF FOREIGN CAPITAL ESTIMATED AT $5 BILLION (MAEIL KYONGJE SINMUN 7/26)

---

THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE SAID ON JULY 25 THAT AN ADDITIONAL INFLOW OF FOREIGN CAPITAL IN THE LATTER HALF OF THIS YEAR

/ BEGINNING OF SECTION 013 ******/
IS PROJECTED AT $5 BILLION. THE AMOUNT BREAKS DOWN INTO $3 BILLION IN FOREIGNERS' STOCK INVESTMENT FUNDS, $1 BILLION IN FUNDS DUE TO AN EXTENSION OF THE DEFERRED-PAYMENT IMPORT PERIOD AND AN EXPANSION OF THE LIMITS TO AUTHORIZED RECEIPT OF ADVANCE PAYMENT FOR EXPORTS, $450 MILLION IN FUNDS FOR PURCHASES OF KOREAN-MADE MACHINERY, AND $200 MILLION IN FUNDS DUE TO AN EXPANSION OF THE CEILING FOR SHORT-TERM BORROWINGS OVERSEAS BY FOREIGN-INVESTED ENTERPRISES.

THE PROJECTED AMOUNT ACCOUNTS FOR 40 PERCENT OF THE POSSIBLE MONEY SUPPLY (APPROX. W10 TRILLION), AND IS EXPECTED TO WORK AS AN OBSTACLE TO MONETARY CONTROL DURING THE HALF-YEAR PERIOD.

TRADE DEFICIT IN 1ST HALF YEAR ESTIMATED AT $3.5 BILLION
(MAEIL KYONGJE SINMUN 7/26)

DURING THE FIRST HALF OF THIS YEAR, TRADE DEFICITS WERE REGISTERED AT $3.55 BILLION, UP $1.18 BILLION FROM THE SAME PERIOD LAST YEAR. THE IMPORT GROWTH RATE SURPASSED THE GROWTH RATE OF EXPORTS DURING THIS PERIOD. EXPORTS DURING THE FIRST HALF OF THIS YEAR AMOUNTED TO $43.78 BILLION, UP 12.5 PERCENT FROM THE JANUARY-JUNE PERIOD OF LAST YEAR. THE PERCENTAGE SHOWS THE HIGHEST GROWTH RATE EVER MARKED SINCE 1989. IMPORTS DURING THE PERIOD INCREASED BY 14.6 PERCENT TO $47.34 BILLION, THE KOREA FOREIGN TRADE ASSOCIATION SAID ON JULY 25.

3. FIDEL CASTRO'S TELEVISION APPEARANCE OF AUGUST 11 WAS FOLLOWED BY A WEEKEND OF FUNERAL CEREMONIES FOR NAVAL LIEUTENANT ROBERTO AGUILAR REYES IN MARIEL, WHERE HE SERVED, AND CAMAGUEY, HIS HOMETOWN, REPLETE WITH RABID ANTI-AMERICAN AND NATIONALIST SPEECHES AND INTERVIEWS WITH FAMILY MEMBERS AND MILITARY COLLEAGUES. AGUILAR'S DEATH WAS BLAMED ON THE ALLEGED PERPETRATOR, LEONEL MACIAS, DESCRIBED IN CUBAN GOVERNMENT SPEECHES AS A TRAITOR AND ALSO ON THE ENEMY -- THE UNITED STATES -- WHICH ACCORDING TO POLITBURO MEMBER JULIAN RIZO ALVAREZ, SPEAKING IN CAMAGUEY, IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DEATHS OF AGUILAR AND OF THE POLICEMAN LAMOTH WHO DIED THE PREVIOUS WEEK, AS WELL AS FOR THE AUGUST 5 HAVANA RIOTS.

4. ALL OF THESE SPEECHES, CEREMONIES, EMOTIONAL, PATRIOTIC AND ANTI-U.S. INTERVIEWS WITH FAMILY MEMBERS AND COLLEAGUES HAVE BEEN SHOWN REPEATEDLY ON CUBAN TELEVISION MIXED WITH REVOLUTIONARY SONGS AND SHOTS OF FIDEL'S HEAD SPEAKING FROM WITHIN A CUBAN FLAG.

REGIME OBJECTIVES

5. IN DEALING WITH THE ONGOING CRISIS REGIME OBJECTIVES APPEAR TO BE:

-- TO RALLY PARTY FAITHFUL TO FIGHT THE INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL ENEMIES MORE VIGOROUSLY;

[redacted]

[redacted]

-- TO UNIFY THE ARMED FORCES AND POLICE AGAINST THE INTERNAL ENEMY (ANYONE WHO IS NOT A SUPPORTER OF THE REVOLUTION) AND THE EXTERNAL ENEMY (THE U.S. WHICH STANDS ACCUSED OF INTELLECTUAL AUTHORSHIP AND COMPLICITY IN THE DEATHS OF A POLICEMAN AND A NAVAL OFFICER;

-- TO INTIMIDATE REGIME OPPONENTS (REAR ADMIRAL PEDRO PEREZ BETANCOURT SAID IN MARIEL THAT ANTI-SOCIAL AND CRIMINAL ELEMENTS SHOULD KNOW THAT THERE IS NO ALTERNATIVE TO THE HEAVY HAND OF THE PEOPLE.);

-- TO DIVERT FOCUS FROM CUBA'S INTERNAL PROBLEMS AND FOCUS ATTENTION ON U.S. POLICY AS THE ALLEGED CAUSE OF CUBA'S EMIGRATION AND OTHER PROBLEMS. (CUBAN MEDIA HAVE GIVEN ENORMOUS PUBLICITY IN RECENT DAYS TO CALLS BY SOME AMERICAN PUBLIC FIGURES AND MEDIA FOR LIFTING THE U.S. EMBARGO).

6. IT APPEARS THAT THE DEMONSTRATIONS OF AUGUST 5, THE BOAT SEIZURES BEFORE AND AFTER THAT DATE AND THE

WIDESPREAD USE OF GOVERNMENT FORCE AND HEAVY REVOLUTIONARY RHETORIC WILL HAVE SUBSTANTIAL INTERNATIONAL POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC COSTS FOR THE CUBAN REGIME. WHILE ONLY THE VATICAN, THE SPANISH AND U.S. GOVERNMENTS JOINED THE ARCHBISHOP IN CALLING FOR A SERIOUS INVESTIGATION OF THE JULY 13 SINKING OF A TUGBOAT WITH OVER 30 LIVES LOST, THE REGIME'S CREDIBILITY AND IMAGE OF GRADUAL, POSITIVE CHANGE HAS BEEN SEVERELY DAMAGED OVER THE PAST TEN DAYS. BRITISH AND CANADIAN EMBASSY COLLEAGUES WHO HAD PREVIOUSLY JUDGED THE SITUATION AS STABLE AND CHANGING FOR THE BETTER ECONOMICALLY, HAVE ALREADY BEGUN TO REEVALUATE THEIR VIEWS WHICH WILL UNDOUBTEDLY INFLUENCE FUTURE INVESTORS. SIMILARLY, THE VENEZUELAN AMBASSADOR, WHO HAS FREQUENTLY TENDED TO BLAME THE U.S. EMBARGO FOR MANY OF CUBA'S PROBLEMS, DESCRIBED CUBA AFTER THE AUGUST 5 RIOTS AS A BLEEDING WOUND WHICH COULD ONLY BE STAUNCHED TEMPORARILY BEFORE IT BEGAN BLEEDING AGAIN. THE FRENCH EMBASSY HAS ALSO BEGUN TO DIVERGE FROM ITS PREVIOUS

[redacted]

BELIEF THAT FIDEL CASTRO CAN AND MUST LEAD CUBA'S CHANGE TO BEGIN TO RECEIVE CUBAN DISSIDENTS AT THE AMBASSADOR'S RESIDENCE. HAVING RECENTLY READ SPANISH PRESS REPORTS ON THE AUGUST 5 RIOTS AND THEIR AFTERMATH, IT APPEARS UNLIKELY THAT FIDEL CASTRO CAN EVER REGAIN, IN SPAIN, THE MYTH OF A WIDELY BELOVED AND POPULAR LEADER.

7. OBJECTIVELY, WE WOULD EXPECT TO SEE INSURANCE RATES FOR SHIP AND OTHER TRAVEL AND SHIPMENTS TO CUBA INCREASE. WE WOULD ALSO EXPECT TO SEE DECLINES IN TOURISM IF DISTURBANCES IN CUBA CONTINUE TO GRAB INTERNATIONAL HEADLINES. EVEN BEFORE THE DISTURBANCES, OFF-SEASON, SUMMER OCCUPANCY RATES WERE QUITE LOW (AROUND 40 PERCENT) IN MOST HOTELS OUTSIDE VARADERO.

FIDEL CASTRO ON STAGE

---

8. FIDEL CASTRO IS UNDOUBTEDLY PLEASED TO HAVE GOTTEN WASHINGTON'S AND FLORIDA'S ATTENTION WITH HIS THREAT TO UNLEASH ANOTHER MARIEL. HIS PUBLIC REJECTION IN HIS AUGUST 11 INTERVIEW OF ANY SOLUTIONS BASED ON A FEW THOUSAND MORE VISAS OR SOME SETTLEMENT OF THE MARIEL BOATJACKING CASE AND HIS INSISTENCE ON RESOLUTION OF ALL HIS ISSUES: THE EMBARGO, RADIOBROADCASTING TO CUBA, THE

CUBAN ADJUSTMENT ACT, ETC. RATHER THAN A NARROW DISCUSSION OF MIGRATION ISSUES, SHOW THAT HE WILL NOT EASILY GIVE UP THE STAGE. POLITBURO MEMBER RUIZ REPEATED OVER THE WEEKEND CUBA'S DISPOSITION TO DISCUSS ANY PROBLEM ON THE BASIS OF EQUALITY AND MUTUAL RESPECT,

[redacted]

[redacted]

BUT QUOTED FIDEL ABOUT THE NEED FOR ANY SERIOUS DISCUSSION TO ADDRESS THE U.S. EMBARGO. NOR HAS THERE BEEN ANY INDICATION THAT CASTRO IS PREPARED TO YIELD ANY GROUND ON HUMAN RIGHTS OR DEMOCRATIZATION ISSUES EXCEPT FOR HIS AMBIGUOUS REMARK IN BOGOTA THAT HE WOULD BE WILLING TO SACRIFICE SOCIALISM IN RETURN FOR INTEGRATION, PEACE AND SOCIAL JUSTICE. (REF. A).

---

A STRANGE CONCEPT OF NEGOTIATIONS

---

9. FELLOW DIPLOMATS HAVE TOLD US THAT FIDEL CASTRO'S CONCLUSION FROM VIETNAM'S AGREEMENT WITH THE UNITED STATES WAS THAT VIETNAMESE FIRMNESS HAD BEEN THE KEY TO SUCCESSFUL NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE U.S. CASTRO, ALREADY A GREAT ADMIRER OF NORTH KOREA, WILL UNDOUBTEDLY DRAW SIMILAR CONCLUSIONS ABOUT NORTH KOREAN NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE U.S. GIVEN THAT FIDEL CASTRO'S BIGGEST THREAT IS A WAVE OF EMIGRANTS, ONE HAS TO WONDER HOW HE CAN EXPECT TO USE THAT LEVERAGE TO ACHIEVE HIS AGENDA.

10. IT MAY BE THAT HE DOES NOT EXPECT ANY PROGRESS AND PREFERS TO HAVE THE CONTINUED POLEMIC WITH THE U.S. AS A DOMESTIC, NATIONALISTIC BANNER, PARTICULARLY WITH THE ARMED FORCES, POLICE AND PARTY MILITANTS.

11. IT IS ALSO POSSIBLE THAT FIDEL CASTRO, AFTER

ENJOYING THE TEMPORARY INTERNAL "BENEFIT" OF HEIGHTENED CONFRONTATION WITH THE U.S., WILL REOPEN TO AN APPARENTLY MORE MODERATE NEGOTIATING POSITION, ONE IN WHICH THE U.S. WOULD TAKE SOME STEPS TO DISCOURAGE HIJACKINGS AND WOULD ALSO GIVE CUBA ADDITIONAL MIGRATION NUMBERS.

12. WHAT APPEARS CERTAIN IS THAT FIDEL CASTRO WILL DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO KEEP THE MIGRATION ISSUE HOT FOR THE U.S. SULLIVAN

SUBJ: AMBASSADOR MEETS WITH THE PRESIDENT ON THE POZUELOS CASE; ELECTIONS AND PEACE PROCESS ALSO DISCUSSED

REF: GUATEMALA 7714

1. (C-ENTIRE TEXT)

2. SUMMARY: I MET WITH PRESIDENT DE LEON AUG 17 AT MY REQUEST TO CLEAR THE AIR ON THE POZUELOS CASE, ABOUT WHICH THE FOREIGN MINISTER HAD WRITTEN ME AN UNFORTUNATELY WORDED LETTER (REFTEL). DE LEON, WHILE URGING THAT WE REVIEW THE CASE, NOTED HE CONSIDERED OUR BILATERAL RELATIONSHIP TO BE OUTSTANDING AND THAT WE HAD FAR MORE IMPORTANT ISSUES TO CONCERN OUR TWO

GOVERNMENTS. WHILE DISAPPOINTED AT THE LOW TURNOUT IN THE RECENT CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS, HE EXPRESSED SATISFACTION AT THE OUTCOME AS WELL AS WILLINGNESS TO WORK WITH THE NEW CONGRESS. HE EMPHASIZED THE SIGNIFICANCE FOR DEMOCRACY OF THE STRUCTURAL CHANGE AND HOPED THAT SELECTION OF AN HONEST SUPREME COURT WOULD RESULT AS WELL. THE PRESIDENT STRESSED THE CRITICAL IMPORTANCE OF CONTINUED USG SUPPORT FOR THE PEACE PROCESS, NOTING HE HAD GOTTEN POSITIVE FEEDBACK ON THE RECENT VISIT OF ARA SENIOR ADVISOR RICHARD NUCCIO. I WAS ABLE TO REASSURE DE LEON THAT THE SUBSTANTIVE ASPECTS OF THE RECENT GOG VISIT TO WASHINGTON CONCERNING THE INITIATIVE FOR SUSTAINABLE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT HAD BEEN POSITIVE. FINALLY, HE AGREED TO MY REQUEST THAT HE RECEIVE AMCIT JENNIFER HARBURY TO DISCUSS THE CASE OF HER MISSING GUERRILLA HUSBAND. I ACCEPTED HIS INVITATION TO DINE PRIVATELY WITH HIM AND OUR SPOUSES LATER THIS WEEK. END SUMMARY

3. I ASKED FOR AN APPOINTMENT TO SEE THE PRESIDENT IN THE WAKE OF HEATED PRESS TREATMENT INCLUDING CRITICAL PRESIDENTIAL STATEMENTS, OVER MY PUBLIC CONFIRMATION THAT THE U.S. HAD REVOKED THE VISA OF NOW RETIRED GUATEMALAN AIR FORCE GENERAL CARLOS POZUELOS FOR INVOLVEMENT WITH NARCOTICS TRAFFICKING. PRIOR TO THE 8/17 MEETING, EMBASSY POLOFF HAD REVIEWED THE CASE WITH CHIEF OF THE PRESIDENTIAL STAFF COL OTTO PEREZ MOLINA WHO WAS PERSONALLY FAMILIAR WITH IT AND WITH U.S. EFFORTS AT THE TIME TO FOREWARN SENIOR GOG OFFICIALS OF THE PREVIOUS GOVERNMENT.

NEW CONGRESS -- NEW OPPORTUNITIES

4. THE PRESIDENT RECEIVED ME IN HIS PRIVATE OFFICE IN THE NATIONAL PALACE. NO ONE ELSE WAS PRESENT. THE PRESIDENT BEGAN WITH A VERY UPBEAT ASSESSMENT OF THE POST-ELECTION PROSPECTS, INCLUDING THE POSSIBILITIES OF WORKING WITH MEMBERS OF THE NEW CONGRESS. WHILE LAMENTING THE LOW VOTER TURNOUT, HE SAW THE ELECTION AS A MAJOR DEVELOPMENT IN STRENGTHENING DEMOCRACY IN GUATEMALA. ATTACKING THE FUNDAMENTAL PROBLEMS AT THE OUTSET WAS CRITICAL, HE OBSERVED: [redacted] B1

5. [redacted] B1 THE PARIS CLUB WILL BE QUICKLY APPROVED, HE SAID. AND ON MONDAY (8/22) THE NEW ELECTRICITY RATES WILL BE ANNOUNCED. DE LEON WENT ON TO DESCRIBE AN ECONOMY HE SAW IN GOOD SHAPE, POINTED OUT THAT TALKS WITH THE PRIVATE SECTOR WERE GOING WELL AND PREDICTED EXCELLENT PROSPECTS FOR THE MEETING OF THE CONSULATIVE GROUP.

PEACE PROCESS

6. MOVING TO THE PEACE PROCESS, THE PRESIDENT EXPRESSED CONCERN OVER CURRENT PROBLEMS, PARTICULARLY THE SLOW PACE OF GETTING THE VERIFICATION MISSION IN PLACE. HE STRESSED THE CRITICAL IMPORTANCE OF U.S. SUPPORT FOR THE PROCESS IF IT WERE TO SUCCEED. THE SUPPORT OF THE GROUP OF FRIENDS IS IMPORTANT, HE SAID, THE SUPPORT OF THE U.S. IS ABSOLUTELY CRITICAL. I ASSURED HIM OF OUR COMMITMENT TO HELP THE PEACE PROCESS SUCCEED AND REFERRED BOTH TO RICK NUCCIO'S RECENT VISIT HERE AND WITH THE URNG IN MEXICO AND TO AS WATSON'S MEETING AUG 15 WITH THE UN'S GOULDING IN NEW YORK. HE HAD HEARD POSITIVE REPORTS OF THE NUCCIO VISIT AND WAS PLEASED TO LEARN OF THE WATSON-GOULDING MEETING. [redacted] B1 HE SAID THAT THE CENAM SUMMIT WOULD HAVE AN ECONOMIC FOCUS.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

7. REFERRING TO THE RECENT WASHINGTON MEETING OF THE INITIATIVE FOR SUSTAINABLE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT, HE ASKED HOW IT HAD GONE. I APOLOGIZED FOR THE NEED TO CANCEL THE VICE PRESIDENT'S BREAKFAST FOR THE GROUP, BUT SAID THAT THE SUBSTANTIVE ACHIEVEMENTS OF THE MEETING WERE SUBSTANTIAL. DE LEON EXPRESSED RELIEF AND SAID THAT HE HAD NOT YET HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO GET A FULL READ-OUT FROM HIS REPRESENTATIVE RAQUEL ZELAYA, BUT INITIAL REPORTS HAD SUGGESTED THAT THE ATMOSPHERE HAD BEEN "VERY COLD".

POZUELOS

8. TURNING ALMOST RELUCTANTLY TO THE SUBJECT OF GENERAL POZUELOS, THE PRESIDENT SAID THAT WE NEEDED TO DISCUSS IT AND THAT HE UNDERSTOOD THAT I HAD THOUGHT THE LETTER SENT ME ON THIS BY THE FOREIGN MINISTER TO BE HARSH. HE WENT ON TO SAY THAT HE THOUGHT THAT RELATIONS BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND GUATEMALA WERE EXCELLENT, IN FACT OUTSTANDING AND THAT WE HAD MUCH LARGER, FAR MORE IMPORTANT ISSUES THAN THE POZUELOS CASE TO CONCERN US. AT THE SAME TIME HE HAD BEEN VISITED EARLIER IN THE DAY BY POZUELOS TO PLEAD HIS INNOCENCE AND TO ASK THE PRESIDENT'S ASSISTANCE. RESPONDING, I CONFIRMED THAT I HAD TOLD THE FOREIGN MINISTER AND THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE THAT, UNDER THE CIRCUMSTANCES, I HAD FOUND THE TONE OF THE LETTER CONCERNING MY PUBLIC STATEMENTS ON POZUELOS VERY SURPRISING AND WENT ON TO REVIEW THE HIGHLIGHTS OF THE CASE AND POZUELOS' INVOLVEMENT AS WELL AS REQUIREMENTS OF U.S. IMMIGRATION LAW. I TOLD HIM THAT IT WAS NOT OUR POLICY TO PUBLICLY DISCLOSE THE NAMES OF PERSONS WHOSE VISAS WERE SUSPENDED, AND NOTED THAT I HAD NOT REVEALED THE NAMES OF THE TWO CIVILIANS INVOLVED IN THE CASE WHOSE VISAS WERE ALSO REVOKED. IN THE CASE OF POZUELOS, HIS VISA CANCELLATION HAD APPEARED IN THE PRESS. AS TO THE FRANK SMYTH ARTICLE AND ITS MANY UNSUBSTANTIATED CHARGES, I HAD

DISASSOCIATED MYSELF FROM IT. WE HAD NO EVIDENCE OF ANY SYSTEMATIC INSTITUTIONAL INVOLVEMENT BY THE MILITARY IN NARCOTICS TRAFFICKING.

9. I WENT ON TO ASSURE THE PRESIDENT THAT I HAD NOT INTENDED TO CREATE DIFFICULTIES FOR HIM BY MY STATEMENTS AND TO EMPHASIZE MY HIGH REGARD FOR HIM, THE FOREIGN MINISTER AND MOD AND OUR EXCELLENT WORKING RELATIONSHIP. I AGREED THAT WE HAD OVERRIDING BILATERAL OBJECTIVES, INCLUDING THE PEACE PROCESS, FROM WHICH WE SHOULD NOT BE DEFLECTED. AS TO THE CASE ITSELF, I TOLD THE PRESIDENT THAT THE LAW PROVIDED FOR THE REVIEW OF ANY ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE THAT GENERAL POZUELOS MIGHT WISH TO PRESENT AND THAT I HAD PERSONALLY INFORMED HIM OF THIS. AT THE SAME TIME, I TOLD THE PRESIDENT THAT GIVEN THE FACTS OF THE CASE I WAS NOT SANGUINE OVER THE POSSIBILITIES OF A CHANGE IN THE DECISION WHICH I NOTED INVOLVED MANY PEOPLE AND AGENCIES AND ULTIMATELY RESTED WITH WASHINGTON. AS TO THE FOREIGN MINISTER'S LETTER TO ME, I SUGGESTED THAT WE WILL RESPOND BY INDICATING THAT THE CASE IS UNDER ACTIVE INVESTIGATION THEREBY PRECLUDING DISCLOSURE OF EVIDENCE AND INVITING GENERAL POZUELOS TO PROVIDE US WITH A WRITTEN STATEMENT OF ANY EVIDENCE HE MIGHT HAVE IN HIS DEFENSE. THE PRESIDENT RETURNED TO GENERAL POZUELOS' REQUEST FOR HIS ASSISTANCE AND STRESSED THAT HE IS A VERY POPULAR OFFICER IN THE MILITARY WITH AN EXCELLENT REPUTATION. (COMMENT: NOT OUR UNDERSTANDING.) HE UNDERSTOOD U.S. IMMIGRATION LAW AND MY RESERVATIONS ABOUT WHETHER OR NOT THIS DECISION MIGHT EVER BE CHANGED, BUT WHAT COULD HE TELL POZUELOS? I SUGGESTED THAT HE TELL POZUELOS THAT HE HAD SPOKEN WITH ME AND THAT HE HAD URGED THAT WE REVIEW THE CASE, WHICH WE WOULD DO.

10. THE PRESIDENT AND I DISCUSSED A FEW OTHER MATTERS INCLUDING THE UPCOMING VISIT OF JENNIFER HARBURY WHOM HE AGREED TO SEE. THE PRESIDENT CLOSED OUR MEETING WITH AN INVITATION FOR ME AND MY HUSBAND TO HAVE DINNER WITH HIM AND HIS WIFE THIS WEEK.

11. COMMENT: THE PRESIDENT IS BUOYED BY THE ELECTION OF A NEW CONGRESS AND THE PROSPECTS IT OFFERS FOR A NEW COURT AND A WORKABLE LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM. HE SEES DEMOCRATIC DEVELOPMENT IN GUATEMALA SIGNIFICANTLY ADVANCED BY WRESTLING THESE TWO CORRUPT INSTITUTIONS TO THE GROUND. CONCERNED BY THE POZUELOS CASE, HE DOES NOT WISH IT TO INTERFERE WITH OUR "OUTSTANDING" BILATERAL RELATIONSHIP AND THE IMPORTANT ISSUES WE ARE TRYING

TO ADVANCE TOGETHER. BOTH HE AND GENERAL ENRIQUEZ WOULD LIKE THIS CASE TO GO AWAY AS WOULD THE FOREIGN MINISTER (IF THAT'S WHAT THE PRESIDENT AND MOD WANT). THE QUESTION IS HOW TO DEAL WITH POZUELOS WHO KEEPS RECURRING TO THE PRESS TO INSIST ON HIS INNOCENCE AND MISTREATMENT BY THE U.S. GOVERNMENT. AS WE READ IT, AND AS I TOLD THE PRESIDENT, POZUELOS HAS NOTHING TO LOSE AND EVERYTHING TO GAIN BY PRESSING HIS CASE PUBLICLY, CAREFULLY AVOIDING ANY MENTION OF THE DETAILS OF THE CASE. MCAFEE

SECDEF FOR AMBASSADOR MARI-LUCI JARAMILLO

E.O. 12356: DECL: OADR
TAGS: AMGT, GT

SUBJECT: DASD JARAMILLO VISIT WITH GUATEMALAN MINISTER OF DEFENSE

1. CONFIDENTIAL -- ENTIRE TEXT.

2. SUMMARY: DASD, AMBASSADOR MARI-LUCI JARAMILLO, CONDUCTED AN INITIAL COURTESY CALL ON AUGUST 23 WITH THE GUATEMALAN MINISTER OF DEFENSE, GEN ENRIQUEZ. SHE WAS ACCOMPANIED BY AMB, DASD COUNTRY DIRECTORS, MILGP CDR, AND DART. GEN ENRIQUEZ DISCUSSED THE RECENT INSURGENT ATTACK ON AN ARMY PATROL BASE WHICH INDICATED TO HIM THAT THE URNG WAS LOSING CONTROL OF ITS UNITS. AMB JARAMILLO AND AMB MCAFEE USED THE MEETING TO PRESS THE MOD ON SEVERAL HUMAN RIGHTS ISSUES. THE MOD INSISTED THAT THE ARMY DID NOT HAVE IN CUSTODY GUERRILLA LEADER EFRAIN BAMACA, THE HUSBAND OF U.S. CITIZEN JENNIFER HARBURY. HE SPECULATED THAT BAMACA MIGHT STILL BE ALIVE SOMEWHERE, HOWEVER. HE INSISTED THAT CPT CONTRERAS CANNOT BE FOUND DESPITE THE D-2'S BEST EFFORTS, BUT THAT THE ZONE COMMANDER AT THE TIME OF THE MURDER WOULD NOT BE PROMOTED TO GENERAL OFFICER.

United States Department of State
Office of FOI, Privacy, & Classification Review
Review Authority: MOSKOWITZ, SAM

GROUP THAT ATTACKED THE BASE WAS AN EGP (PEOPLE'S ERRILLA ARMY) UNIT UNDER THE COMMAND OF FRANCISCO TUYUC /ELASQUEZ, THE BROTHER OF ROSALINA TUYUC, DIRECTOR OF CONAVIGUA (NATIONAL COORDINATOR OF GUATEMALAN WIDOWS).
HIS EGP UNIT'S INVOLVEMENT WAS CONFIRMED BY INITIALS FOUND ON EXPENDED INSURGENT SHELL CASINGS IN THE AREA OF THE ATTACK.

JENNIFER HARBURY CASE

6. AMB JARAMILLO THANKED THE MOD FOR HIS INSIGHTS CONCERNING THE RECENT INSURGENT ATTACK. SHE CONTINUED

THAT SHE WANTED TO BE FRANK AND HONEST BY ASKING THE MOD UP FRONT ABOUT TWO PARTICULAR HUMAN RIGHTS CASES WHICH CONTINUE TO BE OF SPECIAL CONCERN TO THE U.S. GOVERNMENT. THE FIRST CASE IS THE MISSING HUSBAND OF U.S. CITIZEN JENNIFER HARBURY, EFRAIN BAMACA, AKA COMANDANTE EVARARDO. GEM ENRIQUEZ RESPONDED THAT OF COURSE HE WAS VERY FAMILIAR WITH THIS CASE, HAVING PERSONALLY SPOKEN WITH JENNIFER HARBURY FOUR OR FIVE TIMES ABOUT HER MISSING HUSBAND. GEM ENRIQUEZ STATED HMPHATICALLY THAT THE ARMY DID NOT HAVE BAMACA. GEM ENRIQUEZ EXPLAINED THAT HE WOULD BE DELIGHTED IF BAMACA WERE FOUND ALIVE, AND THAT IF THE ARMY HAD HIM HE WOULD HAVE BEEN TURNED OVER TO JENNIFER LONG AGO.

7. GEM ENRIQUEZ CONTINUED THAT PERHAPS BAMACA IS ALIVE SOMEWHERE, BECAUSE IT IS ONLY IN URNG INTERESTS THAT HE CONTINUES TO BE DISAPPEARED. GEM ENRIQUEZ ADDED THAT THERE ARE DOUBTS SURROUNDING THE CASE. DURING THE FIRST DISINTERRMENT TO FIND BAMACA'S BODY IN RETALHULEU, JENNIFER HARRURY DID NOT CLAIM TO BE HIS WIFE. THEN SHE RETURNED TO THE U.S., TOOK OUT A MARRIAGE LICENSE, AND ONLY THEN CLAIMED TO BE HIS WIFE SO THE DISINTERRMENT COULD CONTINUE. THE MOD SPECULATED THAT BAMACA COULD BE ALIVE SOMEWHERE. HE COULD EVEN BE IN CHIAPAS WITH THE ZAPATISTA GUERRILLAS--THERE IS REPORTEDLY A UNIT OF THE ORPA DESIGNATED ORPAC (REVOLUTIONARY ORGANIZATION OF THE PEOPLE IN ARMS CHIAPAS) CURRENTLY WITH THE ZAPATISTA GUERRILLAS THERE. (NOTE: BAMACA SERVED IN THE LUIS IXMATA FRONT OF THE ORPA ORGANIZATION. WHILE THE MOD HAS MENTIONED THE EXISTENCE OF AN ORPA-CHIAPAS UNIT BEFORE, THE EMBASSY HAS BEEN UNABLE TO OBTAIN ANY INFORMATION CONFIRMING THE EXISTENCE OF SUCH AN ORPA PRESENCE IN CHIAPAS.) IF HE IS STILL ALIVE SOMEWHERE OUTSIDE OF ARMY CONTROL, PERHAPS HE COULD TURN HIMSELF IN TO THE UN HUMAN RIGHTS VERIFICATION TEAMS THAT WILL SOON ARRIVE IN GUATEMALA.

AMB MCAFEE HAD ALSO RAISED THE JENNIFER HARBURY CASE WITH THE MOD THE NIGHT BEFORE AT A DINNER IN HONOR OF AMBASSADOR JARAMILLO. GEM ENRIQUEZ AGAIN SAID THAT HE HAD NO IDEA WHERE BAMACA HAS, AND EVEN SUGGESTED THAT HE THOUGHT THAT THE BODY DISINTERRED IN RETALHULEU IN AUGUST 1993 REALLY HAS BAMACA'S. THE AMB RETORTED THAT SHE DIDN'T BELIEVE THAT. GEN ENRIQUEZ WENT ON TO SAY THAT HE HOPED THAT BAMACA WAS ALIVE, THAT THE ARMY'S INTEREST WAS BEST SERVED IF THAT WERE THE CASE. HE AGREED TO MEET WITH JENNIFER HARBURY ONCE AGAIN WHILE SHE WAS VISITING GUATEMALA. AMBASSADOR MCAFEE EMPHASIZED TO THE MOD THAT THIS CASE CONTINUED TO BE OF HIGH PRIORITY.

MICHAEL DEVINE CASE

9. AMB JARAMILLO CONTINUED BY RAISING THE MURDER OF MICHAEL DEVINE BY ARMY INTELLIGENCE SPECIALISTS IN 1990, AND THE SUBSEQUENT ESCAPE OF CPT HUGO CONTRERAS IN 1993 WHEN HE LEARNED OF HIS TWENTY YEAR PRISON SENTENCE FOR HIS INVOLVEMENT IN THE CASE. GEM ENRIQUEZ RESPONDED THAT HE HAD MADE AN UNSUCCESSFUL EFFORT TO PERSUADE CPT CONTRERAS TO TURN HIMSELF IN [redacted] HE HAD TRIED TO PERSUADE HIM THAT SUPREME COURT PRESIDENT RODIL HAD NOT RECEIVED USD 50,000 OF AID MONEY IN RETURN FOR A CONVICTION AND HARSH SENTENCE AGAINST CPT CONTRERAS, BUT WOULD PROVIDE A FAIR REVIEW OF THE SENTENCE IN HIS CASE. AT ONE POINT HE HAD EVEN OFFERED HIS OWN SON TO ACCOMPANY CPT CONTRERAS TO ENSURE HIS SECURITY WHILE HE TURNED HIMSELF IN TO AUTHORITIES. B6

10. GEM ENRIQUEZ CONTINUED THAT HE WISHED HE COULD FIND CPT CONTRERAS. HE ADMITTED THAT THERE MAY BE A SECTOR OF OFFICERS FROM CPT CONTRERAS' ACADEMY CLASS HELPING TO HIDE AND PROTECT HIM. HE HAD RECEIVED UNCONFIRMED REPORTS THAT CPT CONTRERAS WAS ACTUALLY IN LOURDES (THE GT MILITARY OFFICER HOUSING AREA IN GUATEMALA CITY), OR IN MEXICO. ONLY RECENTLY HE HAD COMPLETED A COMPLETE TURNOVER IN D-2 INTELLIGENCE) PERSONNEL, BUT THE NEW PERSONNEL HAD SEARCHED EVERYWHERE AND CANNOT FIND CPT CONTRERAS. HE AGAIN REITERATED THAT COLONEL GARCIA CATALAN (THE MILITARY ZONE 23 COMMANDER AT THE TIME OF THE MURDER) WILL NOT BE PROMOTED TO GENERAL OFFICER UNTIL THE CASE IS COMPLETELY RESOLVED. HE EMPHASIZED THAT HE HAD TOLD GUATEMALAN OFFICERS, THAT THIS POSITION WAS HIS ALONE, AND NOT AS A RESULT OF U.S. EMBASSY PRESSURE.

Part III

Provisions concerning the letter post: Relations between postal administrations

Chapter 1

Treatment of letter-post items

Article 42
Quality of service targets

1 Administrations shall fix a service target for the handling of priority and airmail items and for the handling of surface and non-priority items addressed to or sent from their country. The target shall be no less favourable than those applied to comparable items in their domestic service.

2 Administrations of origin shall publish service targets for priority and airmail items for abroad by reference to the targets fixed by the administrations of origin and destination and including the conveyance time.

3 Postal administrations shall undertake to verify periodically that the established times are achieved either within the framework of the surveys organized by the International Bureau or by the Restricted Unions, or on the basis of bilateral agreements.

4 It is also desirable that postal administrations should verify periodically that the established times are achieved, using other quality control systems, in particular, external quality control.

5 Wherever possible, administrations shall implement quality measurement systems for international mails (both outgoing and incoming); this should, as far as possible, include measurement from posting to delivery (end to end).

6 All member countries shall provide the International Bureau with up-to-date information about the latest acceptance times (heures limites de dépôt) against which they operate for international postal purposes.

7 Where possible, separate information shall be provided for priority and non-priority streams of traffic.

Article 43
Exchange of items

1 Administrations may exchange, via one or more of their number, closed mails as well as à découvert items according to needs and service requirements.

2 When the conveyance of mail in transit through a country takes place without the participation of the postal administration of that country, this administration shall be informed in advance. This form of transit shall not involve the liability of the postal administration of the transit country.

3 Administrations may send surface mails by air, with reduced priority, subject to the agreement of the administrations which receive such mails at the airports of their country.

4 Exchanges shall take place on the basis of the provisions of the Detailed Regulations.

Article 44
Exchange of closed mails with military units

1 Closed mails may be exchanged through the intermediary of the land, sea or air services of other countries:

1.1 between the post offices of any member country and the commanding officers of military units placed at the disposal of the United Nations;

1.2 between the commanding officers of such military units;

1.3 between the post offices of any member country and the commanding officers of naval or air units, warships or military aircraft of the same country stationed abroad;

1.4 between the commanding officers of naval or air units, warships or military aircraft of the same country.

2 Letter-post items enclosed in the mails referred to under 1 shall be confined to items addressed to or sent by members of military units or the officers and crews of the ships or aircraft to or from which the mails are forwarded. The rates and conditions of dispatch applicable to them shall be fixed, according to its regulations, by the postal administration of the country which has made the military unit available or to which the ships or aircraft belong.

3 In the absence of special agreement, the administration of the country which has made the military unit available or to which the warships or military aircraft belong shall be liable to the administrations concerned for the transit charges for the mails, the terminal dues and the air conveyance dues.

Article 45
Temporary suspension of services

1 When exceptional circumstances oblige a postal administration temporarily to suspend its services wholly or in part, it shall immediately inform the administrations concerned.

Chapter 2

Treatment of cases of liability

Article 46
Determination of liability between postal administrations

1 Until the contrary is proved, liability shall rest with the postal administration which, having received the item without comment and being furnished with all the prescribed means of inquiry, cannot prove either delivery to the addressee or, where appropriate, correct transfer to another administration.

2 If the loss, theft or damage occurs in course of conveyance without it being possible to establish in which country's territory or service it happened, the administrations concerned shall bear the loss equally.

3 The liability of an administration towards other administrations shall in no case exceed the maximum insured value that it has adopted.

4 Postal administrations not providing the insured items service shall assume, in respect of such items conveyed in closed mails, the liability laid down for registered items. This provision shall also apply when postal administrations do not accept liability for insured items carried on board the ships or aircraft used by them.

5 If the loss, theft or damage occurs in the territory or service of an intermediate administration which does not provide the insured items service, the administration of origin shall bear the loss not covered by the intermediate administration. The same rule shall apply if the amount of the damage is higher than the maximum insured value adopted by the intermediate administration.

6 Customs duty and other fees of which it has not been possible to secure cancellation shall be borne by the administrations liable for the loss, theft or damage.

7 An administration which has paid the indemnity shall take over the rights, up to the amount of the indemnity, of the person who has received it in any action which may be taken against the addressee, the sender or third parties.

Chapter 3

Transit charges and terminal dues

Article 47
Transit charges

1 Subject to article 50, closed mails exchanged between two administrations or between two offices of the same country by means of the services of one or more other administrations (third party services) shall be subject to the payment of transit charges. The latter shall constitute remuneration for the services rendered in respect of land transit and sea transit.

2 A découvert items may also be subject to transit charges. The conditions for application are specified in the Detailed Regulations.

Article 48
Transit charge scales

1 The transit charges shall be calculated in accordance with the scales set out in the following table:

2 The Postal Operations Council shall be authorized to revise and amend the scales mentioned under 1 between Congresses. Any revision made, in accordance with a methodology that ensures equitable remuneration for administrations which conduct transit operations, must be based on reliable and representative economic and financial data. Any change decided upon shall enter into force at a date set by the Postal Operations Council.

Article 49
Terminal dues

1 Subject to article 50, each administration which receives letter-post items from another administration shall have the right to collect from the dispatching administration a payment for the costs incurred for the international mail received.

2 Payment

2.1 Payment for the letter-post items, excluding M bags, shall be 3.427 SDR per kilogramme.

2.2 For M bags, the rate to be applied shall be 0.653 SDR per kilogramme.

2.2.1 M bags weighing less than 5 kilogrammes shall be considered as weighing 5 kilogrammes for terminal dues payment purposes.

3 Revision mechanism

3.1 When, in a given relation, an administration dispatching or receiving a mail flow of more than 150 tonnes a year (M bags excluded) establishes that the average number of items contained in 1 kilogramme of mail dispatched or received deviates from the world average of 17.26 items, it may have the rate revised if, compared with this world average:

3.1.1 the number of items is more than 21 or

3.1.2 the number of items is less than 14.

3.1.3 In the case provided for under 3.1.2 the revision shall not be applicable if the flow in question is destined for a developing country included in the list approved for this purpose by Congress.

3.1.4 When an administration requests application of the revision provided for under 3.1, the corresponding administration may do likewise, even if the flow in the other direction is less than 150 tonnes a year.

3.1.4.1 The provisions under 3.1.4 shall not apply to the developing countries included in the list approved for this purpose by Congress.

3.2 The revision shall be carried out on the terms specified in the Detailed Regulations.

4 Bulk mail

4.1 For bulk mail, the administration of destination may request specific payment according to one of the following formulas:

4.1.1 application of the world average rates of 0.14 SDR per item and 1 SDR per kilogramme;

4.1.2 application of rates per item and per kilogramme reflecting the handling costs in the country of destination. These costs must be in relation with the domestic rates in accordance with the conditions specified in the Detailed Regulations.

4.2 Subject to the provisions under 3.1.3, when an administration of destination requests specific payment for bulk mail, the dispatching administration shall be entitled to request that the remainder of the flow be subject to the revision provided for under 3.1.

5 The Postal Operations Council shall be authorized to amend the payments mentioned under 2 and 4.1.1 between Congresses. Any revision carried out shall be based on available economic and financial data. Any amendment decided upon shall come into force at a date set by the Postal Operations Council. The latter shall also be authorized to define the ways and means of implementing the payment system mentioned under 4.1.2.

6 Any administration may waive wholly or in part the payment provided for under 1.

7 The administrations concerned may, by bilateral or multilateral agreement, apply other payment systems for the settlement of terminal dues accounts.

Article 50
Exemption from transit charges and terminal dues

1 The letter-post items relating to the postal service referred to in article 7.2.2, undelivered postal items returned to origin in closed dispatches and dispatches of empty mailbags shall be exempted from land and sea transit charges and from terminal dues.

Article 51
Accounting for transit charges and terminal dues

1 Transit charges

1.1 Accounting for surface-mail transit charges shall be done annually by the administration of transit, for each administration of origin. It shall be based on the weight of the mails sent during the year concerned and received in transit. The scales laid down in article 48 shall be applied.

1.2 The transit charges shall be borne by the administration of origin of the mails. They shall be payable, subject to the exception provided for under 1.4, to the administrations of the countries which are crossed or whose services take part in the land or sea conveyance of the mails.

1.3 When the administration of the country which is crossed does not take part in the land or sea conveyance of the mails, the applicable transit charges shall be payable to the administration of destination if it bears the costs related to such transit.

1.4 The charges for the sea conveyance of mails in transit may be settled directly between the postal administrations of origin of the mails and the shipping companies or their agents. The postal administration of the port of embarkation concerned shall give its prior agreement.

1.5 The debtor administration shall be exempted from payment of transit charges when the annual balance does not exceed 163.35 SDR.

2 Terminal dues

2.1 For letter-post items, with the exception of M bags, accounting for terminal dues shall be done annually by the creditor administration, according to the actual weight of the mails received during the year concerned. The rates laid down in article 49 shall be applied.

2.2 For M bags, accounting for terminal dues shall be done annually by the creditor administration, on the basis of the weight subject to terminal dues in accordance with the conditions laid down in article 49.

2.3 To enable the annual weight to be determined, the administrations of origin of the mails shall permanently indicate, for each mail:

- the weight of the mail (excluding M bags);
- the weight of the M bags weighing more than 5 kilogrammes;
- the number of M bags weighing less than 5 kilogrammes.

2.4 When it is necessary to determine the number and weight of bulk items, the modalities indicated in the Detailed Regulations for this category of mail shall be applied.

2.5 The administrations concerned may agree to account for terminal dues in their reciprocal relations by different statistical methods. They may also agree on a different periodicity from those laid down in the Detailed Regulations for the statistical period.

2.6 The debtor administration shall be exempted from payment of terminal dues when the annual balance does not exceed 326.70 SDR.

3 Every administration shall be authorized to submit for the consideration of a committee of arbitrators any annual results which in its opinion differ too much from reality. The arbitration shall be arranged as laid down in article 128 of the General Regulations. The arbitrators shall be empowered to fix in a fair and reasonable manner the transit charges or terminal dues to be paid.

Chapter 4

Air conveyance dues

Article 52
General principles

1 The air conveyance dues for the whole distance flown shall be borne:

1.1 in the case of closed mails, by the administration of the country of origin of the mails;

1.2 in the case of priority items and airmail items in transit à découvert, including missent items, by the administration which forwards the items to another administration.

2 These same regulations shall be applicable to airmails, priority items and airmail items in transit à découvert exempt from transit charges.

3 Each administration of destination which provides air conveyance of international mail within its country shall be entitled to reimbursement of the additional costs incurred for such conveyance provided that the weighted average distance of the sectors flown exceeds 300 kilometres. Unless agreement has been reached that no charge should be made, the dues shall be uniform for all priority mails and airmails originating abroad whether or not this mail is reforwarded by air.

4 However, where the terminal dues levied by the administration of destination are based specifically on costs or on domestic rates, no additional reimbursement for internal air conveyance shall be made.

5 The administration of destination shall exclude, for the purpose of calculating the weighted average distance, the weight of all mails for which the terminal dues calculation has been based specifically on costs or on the domestic rates of the administration of destination.

6 In the absence of special agreement between the administrations concerned, article 48 shall apply to airmail correspondence for any transit by land or by sea. Nevertheless, no transit charges shall be payable for:

6.1 the transhipment of airmails between two airports serving the same town;

6.2 the conveyance of such mails from an airport serving a town to a depot situated in the same town and the return of the same mails for reforwarding.

Article 53
Basic rates and calculation of air conveyance dues

1 The basic rate applicable to the settlement of accounts between administrations in respect of air conveyance shall be approved by the Postal Operations Council. It shall be calculated by the International Bureau according to the formula specified in the Detailed Regulations.

2 The calculation of air conveyance dues on closed mails, priority items and airmail items in transit à découvert, as well as the relevant methods of accounting, are set out in the Detailed Regulations.

Chapter 5

Telematic links

Article 54
General provisions

1 Administrations may agree to establish telematic links amongst themselves and with other partners.

2 The postal administrations concerned shall be free to choose the suppliers and the technical facilities (hardware and software) to support the exchange of data.

3 In consultation with the supplier of network services, postal administrations shall agree bilaterally on the method of payment for these services.

4 Postal administrations shall not be financially or legally liable if another administration fails to make the payments owed in respect of services relating to the provision of telematic links.

Chapter 6

Miscellaneous provisions

Article 55
Settlement of accounts

1 Settlements between postal administrations of international accounts arising from postal traffic may be regarded as current transactions and effected in accordance with the current international obligations of the member countries concerned, when there are agreements to this effect. In the absence of such agreements, accounts shall be settled in accordance with the provisions of the Detailed Regulations.

Article 56
Provision of information, International Bureau publications, retention of documents, forms

1 The provisions relating to the provision of information concerning the execution of the postal service, International Bureau publications, retention of documents and the forms to be used are set out in the Detailed Regulations.

Part IV

EMS

Article 57
EMS

1 EMS shall be the quickest postal service by physical means. It shall consist of the collection, dispatch and delivery in a very short space of time of correspondence, documents or goods.

2 EMS shall be regulated on the basis of bilateral agreements. Aspects that are not expressly governed by the latter shall be subject to the appropriate provisions of the Acts of the Union.

3 This service shall wherever possible be identified by a logo as shown in the specimen below and comprising the following elements:

- an orange wing;
- the letters EMS in blue;
- three horizontal orange stripes.

The logo may be supplemented by adding the name of the national service.

4 Charges for the service shall be set by the administration of origin in consideration of costs and market requirements.

Part V

Final provisions

Article 58
Undertakings regarding penal measures

1 The Governments of member countries shall undertake to adopt, or to propose to the legislatures of their countries, the necessary measures:

1.1 for punishing the counterfeiting of postage stamps, even if withdrawn from circulation, and of international reply coupons;

1.2 for punishing the use or uttering:

1.2.1 of counterfeit postage stamps (even if withdrawn from circulation) or used postage stamps, as well as of counterfeit or used impressions of franking machines or printing presses;

1.2.2 of counterfeit international reply coupons;

1.3 for prohibiting and suppressing all fraudulent operations of manufacturing and uttering adhesive stamps and stamped impressions in use in the postal service, counterfeited or imitated in such a manner that they could be mistaken for the adhesive stamps and stamped impressions issued by the postal administration of a member country;

1.4 for preventing and, if necessary, for punishing the insertion in postal items of narcotics and psychotropic substances, as well as explosive, flammable or other dangerous substances, where their insertion has not been expressly authorized by the Convention and the Agreements.

Article 59
Conditions for approval of proposals concerning the Convention and its Detailed Regulations

1 To become effective, proposals submitted to Congress relating to this Convention and its Detailed Regulations must be approved by a majority of the member countries present and voting. At least half of the member countries represented at Congress shall be present at the time of voting.

2 To become effective, proposals relating to the Detailed Regulations which have been referred by Congress to the Postal Operations Council for a decision or which have been introduced between Congresses must be approved by a majority of the members of the Postal Operations Council.

3 To become effective, proposals introduced between Congresses relating to this Convention must obtain:

3.1 two thirds of the votes, at least one half of the member countries of the Union having replied to the consultation, if they involve amendments to articles 1 to 7 (part I), 8 to 11, 13, 16 to 18, 20, 24 to 26, 34 to 38 (part II), 43.2, 44 to 51, 55 (part III) and 58 to 60 (part V) of the Convention or to any of the articles of its Final Protocol;

3.2 a majority of the votes, at least one half of the member countries of the Union having replied to the consultation, if they involve amendments of substance to provisions other than those mentioned under 3.1;

3.3 a majority of the votes if they involve:

3.3.1 drafting amendments to the provisions of the Convention other than those mentioned under 3.1;

3.3.2 interpretation of the provisions of the Convention and its Final Protocol.

4 Notwithstanding the provisions under 3.1, any member country whose national legislation is as yet incompatible with the proposed amendment may, within ninety days from the date of notification of the latter, make a written declaration to the Director-General of the International Bureau stating that it is unable to accept the amendment.

Article 60
Entry into force and duration of the Convention

1 This Convention shall come into force on 1 January 1996 and shall remain in operation until the entry into force of the Acts of the next Congress.

In witness whereof the plenipotentiaries of the Governments of the member countries have signed this Convention in a single original which shall be deposited with the Director-General of the International Bureau. A copy thereof shall be delivered to each party by the Government of the country in which Congress is held.

Done at Seoul, 14 September 1994.

Signatures: same as on pages 31 to 63.

Final Protocol to the Universal Postal Convention

At the moment of proceeding to signature of the Universal Postal Convention concluded this day, the undersigned plenipotentiaries have agreed the following:

Article I
Ownership of postal items

1 Article 2 shall not apply to Antigua and Barbuda, Australia, Bahrain, Barbados, Belize, Botswana, Brunei Darussalam, Canada, Dominica, Egypt, Fiji, Gambia, Ghana, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Overseas Dependent Territories of the United Kingdom, Grenada, Guyana, Ireland, Jamaica, Kenya, Kiribati, Kuwait, Lesotho, Malawi, Malaysia, Mauritius, Nauru, New Zealand, Nigeria, Papua New Guinea, Saint Christopher and Nevis, Saint Lucia, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, Seychelles, Sierra Leone, Singapore, Solomon Islands, Swaziland, Tanzania (United Rep), Trinidad and Tobago, Tuvalu, Uganda, Vanuatu, Western Samoa, Yemen, Zambia and Zimbabwe.

2 Nor shall article 2 apply to Denmark, whose internal legislation does not allow withdrawal from the post or alteration of the address of correspondence, at the request of the sender, from the time when the addressee has been informed of the arrival of an item addressed to him.

Article II
Charges

1 Notwithstanding article 6.4, the administration of Canada shall be authorized to collect postal charges other than those provided for in the Convention and Agreements, when such charges are consistent with the legislation of its country.

Article III
Exception to the exemption of literature for the blind from postal charges

1 Notwithstanding article 7.4, the postal administrations of Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, and Turkey, which do not concede exemption from postal charges to literature for the blind in their internal service, may collect the postage and charges for special services which may not, however, exceed those in their internal service.

2 Notwithstanding article 7.4, the administrations of Canada, Germany, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Japan and United States of America may collect the charges for special services which are applied to literature for the blind in their internal service.

Article IV
Small packets

1 The obligation to participate in the exchange of small packets exceeding 500 grammes in weight shall not apply to the administrations of Myanmar and Papua New Guinea which find it impossible to operate such an exchange.

Article V
Printed papers. Maximum weight

1 Notwithstanding article 8.3.2, the administrations of Canada and Ireland shall be authorized to limit to 2 kilogrammes the maximum weight of inward and outward printed papers.

Article VI
Registered M bags

1 The postal administrations of Canada and United States of America shall be authorized not to accept registered M bags and not to provide registered handling for such bags received from other countries.

Article VII
Posting abroad of letter-post items

1 The postal administrations of Greece, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and United States of America reserve the right to impose a charge, equivalent to the cost of the work it incurs, on any administration which, under the provisions of article 25.4, sends to it items for disposal which were not originally dispatched as postal items by their services.

2 Notwithstanding article 25.4, the postal administration of Canada reserves the right to collect from the administration of origin such amount as will ensure recovery of not less than the costs incurred by it in the handling of such items.

3 Article 25.4 allows the administration of destination to claim, from the administration of posting, appropriate remuneration for delivering letter-post items posted abroad in large quantities. The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland reserves the right to limit any such payment to the appropriate domestic tariff for equivalent items in the country of destination.

4 Article 25.4 allows the administration of destination to claim, from the administration of posting, appropriate remuneration for delivering letter-post items posted abroad in large quantities. The following countries reserve the right to limit any such payment to the limits authorized in the Convention and Detailed Regulations for bulk mail: Australia, Bahamas, Barbados, Brunei Darussalam, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Overseas Dependent Territories of the United Kingdom, Grenada, Guyana, India, Malaysia, Nepal, Netherlands, Netherlands Antilles and Aruba, New Zealand, Saint Lucia, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, Singapore, Sri Lanka, Suriname, Thailand and United States of America.

5 Notwithstanding the reservations under 4, the following countries reserve the right to apply in full the provisions of article 25 of the Convention to mail received from Union member countries: Argentina, Benin, Brazil, Burkina Faso, Cameroon, Côte d'Ivoire (Rep), Cyprus, Egypt, France, Germany, Greece, Guinea, Israel, Italy, Japan, Jordan, Lebanon, Mali, Mauritania, Monaco, Portugal, Senegal, Syrian Arab Rep, Togo.

Article VIII
Prohibitions

1 Exceptionally, the postal administration of Lebanon shall not accept registered items containing coins, bank notes, securities of any kind payable to bearer, travellers' cheques, platinum, gold or silver whether manufactured or not, precious stones, jewels or other valuable articles. It shall not be strictly bound by the provisions of article 35.1 with regard to its liability in cases of theft or damage, or where items containing articles made of glass or fragile articles are concerned.

2 Exceptionally, the postal administrations of Bolivia, China (People's Rep), Iraq, Nepal and Viet Nam shall not accept registered items containing coins, bank notes, currency notes or securities of any kind payable to bearer, travellers' cheques, platinum, gold or silver whether manufactured or not, precious stones, jewels or other valuable articles.

3 The postal administration of Myanmar reserves the right not to accept insured items containing the valuable articles listed in article 26.2, as this is contrary to its internal regulations.

4 The postal administration of Nepal does not accept registered or insured items containing currency notes or coins, except by special agreement to that effect.

Article IX
Articles subject to customs duty

1 With reference to article 26, the postal administrations of Bangladesh and El Salvador do not accept insured items containing articles subject to customs duty.

2 With reference to article 26, the postal administrations of Afghanistan, Albania, Azerbaijan, Belarus, Cambodia, Central African Rep, Chile, Colombia, Cuba, Dem People's Rep of Korea, El Salvador, Estonia, Ethiopia, Italy, Nepal, Panama (Rep), Peru, San Marino, Saudi Arabia, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, Ukraine, Uzbekistan and Venezuela do not accept ordinary and registered letters containing articles subject to customs duty.

3 With reference to article 26, the postal administrations of Benin, Burkina Faso, Côte d'Ivoire (Rep), Djibouti, Mali, Mauritania, Niger, Oman, Senegal, Viet Nam and Yemen do not accept ordinary letters containing articles subject to customs duty.

4 Notwithstanding the provisions set out under 1 to 3, the sending of serums, vaccines and urgently required medicaments which are difficult to procure shall be permitted in all cases.

Article X
Withdrawal from the post. Alteration or correction of address

1 Article 29 shall not apply to Antigua and Barbuda, Bahamas, Bahrain, Barbados, Belize, Botswana, Brunei Darussalam, Canada, Dem People's Rep of Korea, Dominica, Fiji, Gambia, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Overseas Dependent Territories of the United Kingdom, Grenada, Guyana, Iraq, Ireland, Jamaica, Kenya, Kiribati, Kuwait, Lesotho, Malawi, Malaysia, Myanmar, Nauru, New Zealand, Nigeria, Papua New Guinea, Saint Christopher and Nevis, Saint Lucia, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, Seychelles, Sierra Leone, Singapore, Solomon Islands, Swaziland, Tanzania (United Rep), Trinidad and Tobago, Tuvalu, Uganda, Vanuatu, Western Samoa and Zambia, whose legislation does not permit withdrawal from the post or alteration of address of letter-post items at the sender's request.

2 Article 29 shall apply to Australia only in so far as that article is consistent with its domestic legislation.

Article XI
Inquiries

1 Notwithstanding article 30.4, the postal administrations of Cape Verde, Chad, Gabon, Overseas Dependent Territories of the United Kingdom, Greece, Iran (Islamic Rep), Mongolia, Myanmar, Saudi Arabia, Syrian Arab Rep and Zambia reserve the right to collect from customers charges on inquiries lodged.

2 Notwithstanding article 30.4, the postal administrations of Argentina, Czech Rep and Slovakia reserve the right to collect a special charge when, on completion of the investigation conducted in response to the inquiry, it emerges that the latter was unjustified.

Article XII
Presentation-to-Customs charge

1 The postal administration of Gabon reserves the right to collect a presentation-to-Customs charge from customers.

Article XIII
Liability of postal administrations

1 The postal administrations of Bangladesh, Benin, Burkina Faso, Congo (Rep), Côte d'Ivoire (Rep), Djibouti, India, Lebanon, Madagascar, Mali, Mauritania, Nepal, Niger, Senegal, Togo and Turkey shall be authorized not to apply article 34.1.1.1 with respect to liability in cases of theft from or damage to registered items.

2 Notwithstanding articles 34.1.1.1 and 35.1, the postal administrations of Chile, China (People's Rep) and Colombia shall be liable only for the loss of, total theft of or total damage to the contents of registered items.

3 Notwithstanding article 34, the postal administration of Saudi Arabia shall accept no liability in case of loss of or damage to items containing articles mentioned in article 26.2.

Article XIV
Non-liability of postal administrations

1 The postal administration of Bolivia shall not be required to observe article 35.1 as regards maintenance of its liability in case of total theft or total damage of registered items.

Article XV
Payment of indemnity

1 The postal administrations of Bangladesh, Bolivia, Guinea, Mexico, Nepal and Nigeria shall not be obliged to comply with article 37.3 in so far as concerns finally settling the matter within a period of two months or informing the administration of origin or destination, as the case may be, when a postal item has been detained, confiscated or destroyed by the competent authorities because of the contents, or has been seized by virtue of its domestic legislation.

2 The postal administrations of Congo (Rep), Djibouti, Guinea, Lebanon and Madagascar shall not be obliged to comply with article 37.3 in so far as concerns finally settling a claim within a period of two months. Nor do they agree to the rightful claimant's being indemnified, on their behalf, by another administration upon expiry of the above-mentioned period.

Article XVI
Special transit charges

1 The postal administration of Greece reserves the right to raise by 30 percent the land transit charges and by 50 percent the sea transit charges given in article 48.1.

2 The postal administration of the Russian Federation shall be authorized to collect a supplement of 0.65 SDR in addition to the transit charges indicated in article 48.1.1 for each kilogramme of letter-post items conveyed in transit over the Trans-Siberian route.

3 The postal administrations of Egypt and Sudan shall be authorized to collect a supplement of 0.16 SDR in addition to the transit charges indicated in article 48.1 for each bag of letter post in transit via Lake Nasser between Shallal, Egypt, and Wadi Halfa, Sudan.

4 The postal administration of Panama (Rep) shall be authorized to collect a supplement of 0.98 SDR to the transit charges mentioned in article 48.1 for each bag of letter post in transit through the Isthmus of Panama between the ports of Balboa on the Pacific Ocean and Cristobal on the Atlantic Ocean.

5 Exceptionally, the postal administration of Panama (Rep) shall be authorized to collect a charge of 0.65 SDR per bag for all mails stored or transhipped in the port of Balboa or Cristobal, provided that that administration does not receive any payment in respect of land or sea transit for those mails.

6 Notwithstanding article 48.1, the postal administration of Afghanistan shall be authorized provisionally, because of its special difficulties as regards means of conveyance and communication, to effect the transit of closed mails and à découvert correspondence across its territory on terms specially agreed with the postal administrations concerned.

7 *Notwithstanding article 48.1, the Syria–Iraq motor services shall be considered as extraordinary services giving rise to the collection of special transit charges.

Article XVII
Internal air conveyance dues

1 Notwithstanding article 52.3, the postal administrations of Bahamas, Cape Verde, Congo (Rep), Cuba, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Gabon, Greece, Guatemala, Guyana, Honduras (Rep), Mongolia, Papua New Guinea, Saudi Arabia, Solomon Islands and Vanuatu reserve the right to collect the dues for the air conveyance of international mails within their countries.

2 Notwithstanding article 52.3, the postal administration of Myanmar reserves the right to collect the dues for the conveyance of international mails within its country whether or not these mails are reforwarded by air.

3 Notwithstanding articles 52.4 and 52.5, the postal administrations of Canada, Iran (Islamic Rep), Turkey and United States of America shall have the right to recover from the postal administrations concerned, in the form of uniform dues, the internal air conveyance costs they incur for mail received from any administration for which they apply terminal dues compensation based specifically on costs or on internal tariffs.

In witness whereof, the plenipotentiaries below have drawn up this Protocol which shall have the same force and the same validity as if its provisions were inserted in the text of the Convention itself, and they have signed it in a single original which shall be deposited with the Director-General of the International Bureau. A copy thereof shall be delivered to each party by the Government of the country in which Congress is held.

Done at Seoul, 14 September 1994.

C) MEXICO 14524 (NOTAL)

1. (U) IN REF A WE REPORTED THAT MEXPETROL, A MEXICAN MIXED-CAPITAL ENTERPRISE IN INTERNATIONAL ENERGY DEVELOPMENT WAS ABOUT TO PURCHASE A SHARE OF THE CIENFUEGOS REFINERY. THE REPORT CONTAINED BACKGROUND ON THE PROPOSED AGREEMENT AND ON MEXPETROL, WHICH IS 35 PERCENT OWNED BY THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT. THE LOCAL PRESS REPORTED THAT ON SEPTEMBER 20, MEXICAN SECRETARY OF FOREIGN RELATIONS, MANUEL TELLO, WOULD WITNESS THE SIGNING OF A JOINT VENTURE AGREEMENT BETWEEN MEXPETROL AND CUBA PETROLEOS (CUPET) TO REFURBISH AND OPERATE THE SOVIET-BUILT CIENFUEGOS REFINERY.

2. (U) THE 50/50 JV AGREEMENT REPORTEDLY WOULD CALL FOR AN INITIAL INVESTMENT OF USD 200 MILLION, OF WHICH USD 100 MILLION WOULD BE PROVIDED BY CUPET, USD 50 MILLION BY MEXPETROL AND USD 50 MILLION IN A DEBT-SWAP ARRANGED BY MEXICO'S STATE-OWNED FOREIGN TRADE BANK, BANCOMEXT. THE INVESTMENT WOULD REVITALIZE THE REFINERY, WHICH CURRENTLY IS ONLY PARTIALLY OPERATIONAL, BY CONSTRUCTING A CATALYTIC CRACKING UNIT AND A VACUUM PROCESSING TOWER. THE REFINERY WOULD BE DESIGNED TO PROCESS A MIXTURE OF

HEAVY (MAYA) AND MEDIUM DENSITY (ISTMO) CRUDES FROM MEXICO AS WELL AS OTHER CRUDES.

3. (U) MEXICAN FOREIGN SECRETARY TELLO REPORTEDLY ALSO WOULD WITNESS THE SIGNING OF THE FORMAL AGREEMENT FOR THE PURCHASE OF A 49 PERCENT STAKE IN THE CUBAN TELECOMMUNICATIONS COMPANY (ETECSA) BY THE MEXICAN FIRM DOMOS INTERNATIONAL OF MONTERREY THROUGH ITS SUBSIDIARY CITEL. MEXICAN PRESIDENT SALINAS WITNESSES THE SIGNING OF THE LETTER OF INTENT FOR THE TELECOMMUNICATIONS VENTURE DURING HIS VISIT TO HAVANA LAST JUNE (REF B). BOTH THE REFINERY AND TELECOM AGREEMENTS, WHICH ARE BASED ON SWAPS OF CUBA'S DEBT TO MEXICO FOR INVESTMENT BY MEXICAN FIRMS, WOULD COMPLETELY ELIMINATE CUBA'S USD 313 MILLION DEBT WITH MEXICO (REF C).

6. (C) SEPARATE AND UNRELATED PRIVATE SECTOR SOURCES TOLD ENERGY ATTACHE OVER THE LAST TWO WEEKS OF "NEWS" REGARDING CUBA'S PETROLEUM SECTOR. ONE SOURCE SAID THAT THE FRENCH ENERGY COMPANY, TOTAL, HAS DISCOVERED A LARGE FIELD OF LIGHT CRUDE IN CUBA AND THAT ONE NEW WELL IS PRODUCING 6,000 BARRELS PER DAY. SUCH A PRODUCTION LEVEL, IF TRUE, WOULD MAKE CUBA ON OF THE LARGEST PER-WELL PRODUCERS IN THE HEMISPHERE. ANOTHER

SOURCE COMMENTED THAT SEVERAL OTHER FOREIGN EXPLORATION COMPANIES HAD MADE RECENT DISCOVERIES OF LIGHT CRUDE IN CUBA AND THAT OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS WILL BE MADE IN THE NEXT FEW DAYS. OUR SOURCES INDICATE THAT THE RECENT EXPLORATION IN CUBA HAS BEEN AT A MUCH GREATER DEPTH THAN IN THE PAST.

7. (U) PRESS REPORTS INDICATE THAT CANADIAN NORTHWEST ENERGY COMPANY HAS MADE SOME RECENT CRUDE DISCOVERIES AND THAT BRASPETROL OF BRAZIL, TAURUS OF SWITZERLAND AND PREMIER OF THE

[redacted]

[redacted]

U.K. ARE IN THE PROCESS OF ENTERING INTO RISK-SHARING CONTRACTS WITH CUPET.

8. (C) COMMENT: UNTIL THE COLLAPSE OF THE SOVIET UNION, CUBA'S LARGEST SOURCE OF HARD CURRENCY WAS REFINED PETROLEUM PRODUCTS AND NOT SUGAR CANE. UNDER AN ARRANGEMENT WITH VENEZUELA, THE SOVIET UNION DELIVERED ABOUT 65,000 BARRELS OF CRUDE PER DAY TO A VENEZUELAN REFINERY IN GERMANY. VENEZUELA, IN TURN, DELIVERED AN EQUIVALENT AMOUNT OF CRUDE TO CUBA. THE SOVIET UNION AND VENEZUELA EACH SAVED BETWEEN 60 CENTS AND A DOLLAR PER BARREL IN TRANSPORTATION COSTS. CUBA REFINED THE CRUDE AND SOLD REFINED PRODUCTS IN THE CARIBBEAN MARKET FOR HARD CURRENCY. IF THE DEAL BETWEEN CUBA AND MEXICO COMES TO FRUITION, CUBA WILL GET A STRONG INJECTION OF HARD CURRENCY EARNINGS IN THE NOT TOO DISTANT FUTURE. END COMMENT.

INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS OF WHICH MEXICO S A PARTY;

--(III). WHEN IT CONCERNS PRODCTS WHOSE MARKETING MAY BE SUBJECT, BY CONSITUTIONAL REQUIREMENTS, O SPECIFIC RESTRICIONS;

--(IV). WHEN IT DEALS WITH SITUATIOS UNFORESEEN BY THE OFFICIAL MEXICAN STANDARS RELATING TO NATIONAL SECURITY, PUBLIC HEALTH, PHYTOSANITARY, OR ECOLOGY, ACCORDING TO LEGISLATION REGARDING THESE MATTERS:

-- PARAGRAPH III OF ARTICLE 15 CITED ABOVE MAKES REFERENCE, FOR EXAMPLE, TO THE PRECEPTS ESTABLISHED IN ARTICLE 27 OF THE MEXICAN CONSTITUTION IN RELATION TO RADIOACTIVE AND NUCLEAR MATERIALS:

--DEALING WITH PETROLEUM AND SOLID, LIQUID, OR GASEOUS HYDROCARBONS, OR RADIOACTIVE MINERALS, NEITHER CONCESSIONS NOR CONTRACTS WILL BE AUTHORIZED, NOR WILL ANY WHICH MAY HAVE BEEN GRANTED, IN SUCH CASES, BE MAINTAINED AND THE STATE WILL UNDERTAKE THE EXPLOITATION OF THESE PRODUCTS, UNDER TERMS WHICH ARE CONTAINED IN THE RESPECTIVE REGULATIONS.

-- THE USE OF NUCLEAR COMBUSTIBLES FOR THE GENERATION OF ELECTRICITY AND THE REGULATION OF ITS APPLICATIONS TOWARDS OTHER ENDS IS RESTRICTED TO THE STATE. NUCLEAR ENERGY ONLY MAY BE USED FOR PEACEFUL PURPOSES.

-- IT SHOULD BE POINTED OUT THAT, UNDER THE OBLIGATIONS MENTIONED IN PARAGRAPH II OF ARTICLE 15 OF THE FOREIGN TRADE TRAFFICKERS AND DRUG DEPENDENCE (PUBLISHED IN THE OFFICIAL GAZETTE ON MARCH 2, 1992), THE TREATY OF NON-PROLIFERATION OF NUCLEAR WEAPONS (PUBLISHED IN THE OFFICIAL GAZETTE ON OCTOBER 17TH, 1969, AMONG OTHERS.

4A(1). THE FOREGOING CONSTITUTES THE LEGAL BASIS FOR MEXICO'S CONTROL OF SENSITIVE EXPORTS AND WHICH CONFORMS TO THE AGREEMENTS, TREATIES AND CONVENTIONS OF WHICH MEXICO IS A

[redacted]

PARTY. DIFFERENT GOVERNMENTAL DEPENDENCIES, ACCORDING TO THEIR AREAS OF COMPETENCE, HAVE ESTABLISHED NON-TARIFF RESTRICTIONS. AMONG THESE ARE THE CONTROLS APPLIED BY THE SECRETARIAT OF NATIONAL DEFENSE ON GOODS WHICH MAY BE DESTINED FOR WARLIKE USES. THIS SECRETARIAT IS EMPOWERED BY THE FEDERAL FIREARMS AND EXPLOSIVES LAW TO MONITOR AND CONTROL ACTIVITIES, AND INDUSTRIAL AND COMMERCIAL OPERATIONS WHICH CAN BE UNDERTAKEN RELATED TO ARMS, ARMAMENT, MUNITIONS, GUN POWDER, EXPLOSIVES AND CHEMICAL SUBSTANCES AND DEVICES RELATED TO EXPLOSIVES.

4B. THE PROCEDURES FOR OBTAINING EXPORT PERMITS FOR THESE GOODS AND OTHER EXPORT PERMIT REQUIREMENTS ARE FOUND IN THE FOREIGN TRADE LAW AND ITS IMPLEMENTING REGULATION. ARTICLE 17 OF THE LAW REQUIRES THE PUBLICATION IN THE OFFICIAL GAZETTE OF THE LISTS OF PRODUCTS SUBJECT TO NON-TARIFF RESTRICTIONS. IN THE CASE OF PRODUCTS REQUIRING A PERMIT FROM THE SECRETARY OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT (SECOFI), THESE LISTS WERE PUBLISHED IN THE OFFICIAL GAZETTES OF DECEMBER 29TH, 1989 AND OCTOBER 31ST, 1990.

4B(1). IN GENERAL TERMS, THE LAW GOVERNING EXPORT PERMITS COVERS THE FOLLOWING: THE FORMAT FOR REQUESTING A PERMIT, INFORMATION REQUIREMENTS AND PAPERWORK PROCEDURES MUST BE [redacted]

[redacted]

PUBLISHED IN THE OFFICIAL GAZETTE OF THE FEDERATION. GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES HAVE FIFTEEN DAYS TO REVIEW THE REQUESTS AND ISSUE THE PERMITS. THE PERMIT SHALL INDICATE THE MEANS, CONDITIONS, TERM OF VALIDITY FOR WHICH THE PERMIT IS ISSUED, AS WELL AS THE VALUE AND QUANTITY OR VOLUME OF THE MERCHANDISE TO BE EXPORTED.

4C. MEXICO, BECAUSE IT IS NOT A MEMBER OF NATO, HAS NOT SUBSCRIBED TO THE FOLLOWING MULTILATERAL AGREEMENTS:

A) COCOM
B) MISSILE TECHNOLOGY CONTROL REGIME (MTCR)
C) NUCLEAR SUPPLIERS GROUP (NSG)
D) AUSTRALIA GROUP

4D. WHILE THE GOM DID NOT SUPPLY RESOURCE LEVELS DEDICATED FOR EXPORT CONTROL, A MAJOR GOAL OF THIS ADMINISTRATION HAS BEEN TO IMPLEMENT AN INTEGRATED AUTOMATED CUSTOMS SYSTEM THAT HAS MADE CUSTOMS MORE EFFICIENT. THIS SYSTEM INCLUDES A SUBSYSTEM THAT ALLOWS CUSTOMS OFFICIALS AND AGENTS TO VERIFY THE INFORMATION

[redacted]

ON CUSTOMS DOCUMENTS. SHOULD THIS SYSTEM DETECT SENSITIVE MERCHANDISE, FOR EXAMPLE, ARMS, IMMEDIATELY THE MERCHANDISE IS BROUGHT TO THE ATTENTION OF CUSTOMS AUTHORITIES.

4D(1). IN ADDITION, IT SHOULD BE NOTED THAT AN IMPORTANT FUNCTION OF THE JUDICIAL POLICE STATIONED AT ROADBLOCKS IN THE SOUTHERN STATES OF CHIAPAS AND OAXACA IS TO PREVENT THE ENTRANCE OF ARMS FROM CENTRAL AND SOUTH AMERICA.

4E AND 4F: DO NOT APPLY AS MEXICO DOES NOT BELO NG TO THE AGREEMENTS CITED IN REFTEL.

[redacted]

[redacted]

4G. AS NOTED ABOVE, THERE IS A FIFTEEN DAY LIMIT FOR GOVERNMENT ACTION.

4H. NOT APPLICABLE.

4I(1). THE SECRETARY OF COMMERCE AND THE CUSTOMS SERVICE ARE STRIVING TO UPGRADE THE CAPABILITIES OF OFFICIALS WORKING IN THE FIELD. WHILE TECHNICAL ADVICE FROM EXPERTS IN MEXICO CITY IS JUST A TELEPHONE CALL OR FAX MESSAGE AWAY, A KEY FACTOR WILL BE THE VOLUME OF TRADE AND THE OVERALL IMPORTANCE OF THE CUSTOMS FACILITY. THESE FACILITIES RANGE FROM THOSE ALONG THE U.S. BORDER OR AT MAJOR PORTS WITH COMPUTERS, UP-TO-DATE COMMUNICATIONS, AND REFERENCE BOOKS TO A MODEST ONE ROOM STRUCTURE IN CIUDAD CUAUHTEMOC THAT SERVES THOSE WHO USE THE NARROW TWO LANE MOUNTAIN ROAD ON THE BORDER WITH GUATEMALA.

4I(2). AS NOTED IN 4A, FEDERAL POWERS COVER SHIPMENTS THAT TRANSIT MEXICO.

4I(3). MEXICAN AUTHORITIES WILL SEIZE GOODS WITH FALSE INVOICES, OR THAT LACK THE PROPER LICENSES.

RE: Temporary Safe Haven for Guatemalan Refugees

I. Introduction

The people of Guatemala have endured one of Central America's longest armed conflicts for over three decades. This conflict has claimed over 100,000 lives with at least another 40,000 people disappeared. The violence continues to threaten civilians throughout the country. More than 780 human rights abuses were committed in the first half of 1994, according to the Catholic Church's Human Rights Office ("ODHAG").[1] At the same time, the presidency of Ramiro de León Carpio has made significant strides in securing a lasting peace agreement between the government and the guerilla forces.

As you know, in response to the abductions, executions, death threats and incidents of torture, Members of Congress and the human rights community, including Nobel Peace Laureate Rigoberta Menchú Tum, have requested that the Clinton Administration grant Temporary Protected Status ("TPS") to Guatemalan refugees living in the United States. Furthermore, Guatemalan President de León Carpio has similarly requested that the U.S. designate Guatemala for TPS. We understand that the Clinton Administration is considering Deferred Enforced Departure ("DED"), an administrative remedy, as an alternative means of granting temporary safe haven to Guatemalan refugees.

Guatemala clearly meets the statutory requirements for TPS under the Immigration Act of 1990 (the "Act"). The Act authorizes TPS where there is "an ongoing armed conflict [such that] requiring the return of [nationals] would pose a serious threat to their personal safety" or where "there exist extraordinary and temporary conditions . . . that prevent [nationals] from returning to the state in safety."[2] The ongoing civil war threatens the safety of Guatemalans forced to return to their homeland. At the same time, the recent developments in the peace process indicate that a grant of protected status would also be "temporary." When a lasting peace agreement is achieved, Guatemalan refugees will be able to return to their country in peace. The alternative remedy, DED, is similarly appropriate to protect Guatemalan refugees living in the U.S. from danger if forced to return to Guatemala over the next several months.

Furthermore, TPS/DED can help to accelerate the peace process. A grant of TPS/DED would reinforce the U.S. commitment to peace in Guatemala, demonstrate the Clinton Administration's support for President de León Carpio's government, and provide hope to the people of Guatemala. In fact, many consider TPS/DED to be an essential ingredient to a successful resolution of the Guatemalan conflict.[3]

The results of elections to the Guatemalan Congress only a few weeks ago underscore the need for an expression of U.S. support for Guatemala now. On August 14, 1994, thirty-two of the eighty seats in Guatemala's Congress were won by members of the Guatemalan Republican Front, the right-wing party of former military dictator General Efrain Rios Montt. General Rios Montt himself was elected to Congress. The former regime of Rios Montt is credited with some of the most vicious massacres and the worst human rights record in Guatemala's history. In the same August 14 election, twenty-four additional seats were filled by members of the Party of National Advancement, another right-wing party in opposition to de León Carpio. Political analysts are concerned that de León Carpio will be unable to effectively govern a Congress increasingly dominated by the political right.[4]

This memorandum describes just a few of the numerous threats to individual safety awaiting those who would be returned to Guatemala if TPS/DED were denied. The incidents of violence described below took place within the last six months. As these incidents demonstrate, the violence affects all Guatemalans regardless of age, gender, residence, or political affiliation. Indeed, it is precisely this widespread violence that makes Guatemala such a strong candidate for TPS/DED. This report concludes with a status report on the peace process, which had been scheduled to culminate in a peace agreement by the end of the year, but is now jeopardized by recent increases in human rights abuses.

II. Headlines: A Small Sample of Human Rights Abuses in 1994

-- Campesinos Injured by Riot Squad - Early in the morning of April 20, approximately 700 riot squad officers violently evicted hundreds of campesinos from the Olga María finca (plantation) in El Semillero, Tiquisate, Escuintla.

---

4 See Guatemala Human Rights Update (Guat. Hum. Rts. Comm'n/USA, Washington, D.C.) [hereinafter GHRU], Aug. 19, 1994, at 6.

According to reports, forty people were injured, including women and children, and an unspecified number were detained. The campesinos had been occupying the finca since February 2.[5]

-- Extrajudicial Execution - On April 3, soldiers from the Rubelsanto military base who occupied the town of Santo Domingo, Rio Salinas, in Sayaxche, Petén, shot campesino Mariano Perez to death in front of the other townspeople. The soldiers then accused the villagers of collaborating with the guerillas and threatened to massacre them. Id. at 3.

-- Former PAC Members Threatened - Four former civil defense patrol ("PAC") members in Maczul II, Chichicastenango, Quiché, have received death threats. Manuel Xom, Juan Sucuqui, Sebastián Macario, and Tomás Jorge Mejía said they were told that if they did not rejoin the patrols, they would be killed. They added that, on July 2, military commanders and PAC Chiefs met in the Chichicastenango base, where the commanders asked for a list of people who were not patrolling. GHRU, July 22, 1994, at 2.

-- Repatriates Threatened - Repatriates who returned from Mexico in January to form the community of Nueva Esperanza in Chacula, Nentón, Huehuetenango, report that army soldiers and members of the civil patrols have been harassing them. From June 27 to June 29, army troops and PAC members entered the community, fired into the air, and threatened the residents. On several occasions before this incident, army troops had passed through the community in violation of the October 1992 accords which forbid military presence on the repatriates' land. Id. at 4.

-- Unlawful Conscription of Minors - Guatemalan Human Rights Ombudsman Jorge Mario García Laguardia reported that in May and June 1994, he received nearly 600 complaints of illegal mandatory military recruitment. With the intervention of the Human Rights Procurator, half of the complainants were released from military duty, including 184 minors.[6]

-- Repatriates Harassed - According to the Permanent Commissions Representing Guatemalan Refugees ("CCPP"), commanders from the Playa Grande military base have provoked and threatened returnees in Xalbal. Soldiers have built huts and dug trenches on the repatriates' land. They have left cartridges from their weapons to cause fear and insecurity among community residents. Repatriates have been searched abusively, detained, and interrogated. GHRU, June 24, 1994, at 3.

On May 24, community residents found that soldiers had stolen their corn crop. The military departmental chief told the repatriates that if they wanted to reclaim their crop, they would have to present documents that identify themselves as Guatemalans as well as their titles to the land. Soldiers in the area have accused returnees of guerilla activities and threatened them with weapons. Id.

In Veracruz, residents discovered two bombs, reportedly left by the army. The army deactivated the bombs in the presence of directors of the government's Special Commission for Attention to Refugees (CEAR). GHRU, Mar. 18, 1994, at 3.

-- Youths Kidnapped by Soldiers - Seven young indigenous men were forcibly abducted by soldiers during Lenten services on February 25. Following the abduction, the military commander denied Father Daniel Vogt access to the youths. The next day, attorneys for the Center for Human Rights Legal Action ("CHRLA") filed a petition for habeas corpus with the president of the Supreme Court of Guatemala. The youths were released the next day from the military base where they had been held. GHRU, Mar. 4, 1994, at 4.

-- Mutilated Body Found - The body of a 25-year-old man was found in the Primavera neighborhood of the town of San Jose La Communidad in Zone 10 of Mixco, Guatemala. The man had been decapitated and his genitals had been dismembered. He had been bound with barbed wire, burned, and cut numerous times with a machete. GHRU, Mar. 18, 1994, at 3.

-- Extrajudicial Execution in Guatemala City - In Zone 12 in Guatemala City, a man was shot several times and executed with a shot to the head at close range (the coup de grace shot, characteristic of political executions). Witnesses report that before he was killed, the man was trying to escape from several men in a red car, one of whom appeared to be wearing a National Police uniform. GHRU, June 10, 1994, at 4.

-- Forcible Recruitment of Guatemalan Youths - Hundreds of youths from various departments of Guatemala were forcibly recruited into the military when they travelled to Quetzaltenango to participate in a religious activity at the local athletic center. Following the impressment, a large number of family members gathered outside military brigade 1715 to demand that the youths be released. Forty-eight youths reportedly were released after their family members presented documentation to prove that they were exempt from military service. The others remained at the base. Forced recruitment operations were also conducted recently in Sacatepéquez and Chimaltenango. Id. at 5.

-- Street Youth Beaten and Shot by Police - On March 14, a National Police officer shot and wounded an 18-year-old "street youth." According to reports, the young man was walking with three other youths in Zone 1 in Guatemala City when three members of the National Police threatened the youths and demanded money. One officer reportedly hit one of them with his pistol. When the youths ran, the officer shot and wounded one youth. GHRU, Mar. 31, 1994, at 3.

In another incident, several street youths were beaten by police officers in Guatemala City's Central Park. One of the officers used a piece of hose pipe to beat one of the youths. Another officer handcuffed the youth and then continued the beating. When a 14-year-old girl tried to stop the assault, one policeman struck her elbow with his club. Id.

III. Peace Process

Peace talks between the Guatemalan government and a coalition of four revolutionary groups (Guatemalan National Revolutionary Unity, or "URNG")[7] have taken place since the presidency of Jorge Serrano Elias in 1991 with numerous fits and starts. But 1994 has already witnessed unprecedented

7 The URNG is comprised of the Guatemalan Workers Party, the Guerilla Army of the Poor, the Revolutionary Organization of the People in Arms and the Revolutionary Armed Forces.

breakthroughs on numerous fronts in the peace process. In a national address in July, President de León Carpio proudly noted that the peace process in the first six months of this year accomplished what his predecessor, Jorge Serrano Elias, had failed to do in over two years.[8]

On March 29, 1994, the Guatemalan government and the URNG signed three United Nations-brokered peace agreements. One of these agreements, the Comprehensive Human Rights Accord[9] signed in Mexico City on March 29, calls for human rights monitoring and guerilla demobilization leading to a "lasting peace agreement."[10] The agreement marked a significant first step in what has been a slow and fragile peace process.

Under the agreement, a U.N. human rights verification commission will have the authority to investigate accusations of human rights abuses, verify the good faith of Guatemalan human rights groups, travel "freely and without prior notification" anywhere in Guatemala, and speak "freely and privately" with anyone who has important information. Gugliotta, supra at A25. According to Human Rights Watch, such a verification team has contributed significantly to the protection of human rights in El Salvador and should greatly improve the situation in Guatemala. HRW/A at 9. Just days ago, the U.N. announced that it would send the verification team and personnel are now en route to Guatemala.

The government also promised not to promote an amnesty for human rights violators and to include forced disappearances and extrajudicial executions as "crimes of special gravity" under the Guatemalan Penal Code. The URNG agreed to negotiate a series of steps leading to its reintegration into Guatemalan society.

On June 17, after three weeks of intense negotiations in both Mexico and Norway, delegations from the government and the URNG reached agreement on the repatriation of Guatemalans uprooted by more than three decades of armed conflict.[11] The accord, which has not yet been implemented, essentially guarantees the personal safety of the returnees, establishes mechanisms to return land to repatriates who fled the violence, promises to protect the Mayan culture, and cuts bureaucratic red tape to provide undocumented returnees with permanent legal identification rapidly. As stipulated in the repatriation accord, the parties formed a technical commission to oversee the resettlement. The Commission includes two representatives each from the government and the displaced groups, and two representatives from international countries and organizations who serve as consultants.

On June 23, the Guatemalan government and the URNG agreed to the creation of a "truth commission" that will investigate human rights abuses committed during the armed conflict. Id. The truth commission will begin work upon the signing of a final peace agreement and will work for six months (with a possible extension of another six months) to conduct its investigations and make recommendations. It will not name specific individuals involved in the crimes and its findings will not be considered valid evidence in a court of law. Id. The Commission will have three members: Jean Arnault, the current moderator of the peace negotiations; a person designated by Arnault, with the agreement of both parties; and an academic appointed by the moderator.[12]

These historic agreements represent substantial progress towards the signing of a final peace agreement. However, the existence of a peace process cannot justify a denial of temporary safe haven for Guatemalans. The experience in El Salvador is instructive. Human rights abuses increased in El Salvador as the negotiators came close to reaching a peace agreement. Aware that the peace negotiations were not curbing human rights violations, the U.S. granted TPS to El Salvador in 1990.

As Guatemalan peace negotiations continue, the country is witnessing an alarming increase in violence and human rights violations. In addition to the incidents described above, on August 7, a massacre claimed seven lives in Guatemala City -- all victims were executed with a coup de grace shot to the head. Also, in the last few months, the Guatemalan Human Rights Procurator has reported that foreign anthropologists and forensic specialists investigating and excavating clandestine cemeteries have received death threats. Indeed, some of Guatemala's deadliest history is being repeated as the bodies of unionists, students, repatriates and other civilians are "appearing on the roadside with signs of torture."[13]

While negotiators for peace have made unprecedented strides, their successes are now vulnerable. The peace negotiations have been stalled since August when the URNG called attention to numerous violations of the Human Rights

13 "Guatemala: The Bulletin of the Guatemala Human Rights Commission/USA", Vol. 12, No. 2, 1994, at 1.

Accord, which the government denied such violations. The international community has taken steps to re-affirm its commitment to securing peace in Guatemala. For example, Sweden and Norway have donated $250,000 to help distribute the Human Rights Accord, in different dialects, throughout the country where civilians may be unaware of their rights and where human rights violations persist.[14] The United States should publicly demonstrate its support for Guatemalan democracy and peace by granting TPS/DED to Guatemala.

IV. Conclusions

One cannot expect an immediate and tranquil ending to Central America's only remaining armed conflict. But the United States, as one of a few powerful "friends" of the peace process in Guatemala, can do its part by granting Temporary Protected Status to Guatemalans now living in the United States. Every effort of the international community will be necessary to the achievement of peace and stability in Guatemala, the foundation of which may be merely a few months away.

In November of 1993, President de León Carpio personally requested Temporary Protected Status for the thousands of Guatemalans living in the U.S. In the interest of peace, justice, and democracy, the United States should honor his request.

Disappeared

Jennifer Harbury, J.D. '78—whose husband, Guatemalan guerrilla Efraín Bamaca Velásquez, has been missing since 1992—came to our office in March of 1993 to speak with associate editor Janet Hawkins. We had just published a piece by Hawkins about Gad Gross '90, a photojournalist killed in the war in Iraq whose body had not been found. Harbury had read the article.

"I talked with Jennifer for a long time one Saturday morning," Hawkins recalls. "Her story clicked with me. I'd left the Gad Gross account off at the point at which his mother was frustrated in her attempts to find Gad's body, and Jennifer's search for her husband felt to me like an extension of the other woman's anguish. Each struggle is distinct and dear to me for its individuality; but the larger story is what murderous things happen to a lot of people on earth."

Hawkins went to Guatemala for several weeks in the summer of '93. At a small cemetery in Retalhuleu, she and Harbury watched the exhumation of a body alleged by the military to be Bamaca's. It wasn't.

Hawkins relates the following incident—a footnote to the exhumation—for what it suggests about Guatemala today. Sherlyn Bjorkgren, staff photographer for Prensa Libre, a mainstream daily in Guatemala City, photographed the grisly event. She and Hawkins later photographed and interviewed General Hector Gramajo, M.P.A. '91, former defense minister, mentioning to him that Bjorkgren had taken some dramatic photographs of the ordeal. Subsequently, all her photographs of Gramajo and of the exhumation, except for a few of the exhumation she had lent out, disappeared from her office at Prensa Libre. "That's the kind of thing," says Hawkins, "that happens like sunrise in Guatemala. And because it does, suspicion and conjecture quickly become a way of life."

One of the photographs that had been on loan appears on page 48, at the start of "Confronting a 'Culture of Lies.'"

CONFRONTING A "CULTURE OF LIES"

by JANET HAWKINS

A shady walkway marks the entrance to the cemetery in Retalhuleu in steamy southwestern Guatemala, but beyond a crude morgue, shade trees are scattered unhelpfully throughout tangles of rock and brush. Behind the morgue lie the burial sites for unidentified bodies, including one retrieved by the Guatemalan military from the vicinity of a river in nearby Nuevo San Carlos on March 13, 1992. Simply recorded as XX, the remains are said to be those of Efraín Bamaca Velásquez, known to fellow combatants as Comandante Everardo, a Mayan Indian of high rank in Guatemala's leftist Organization of People in Arms (ORPA).

Exhumations have become an unwelcome national pastime in Guatemala, legacy of a 33-year-long war that a recent National Public Radio report called "a wave of violence unparalleled in this hemisphere in modern times," "a Mayan holocaust." Targeted primarily at indigenous populations, military operations in the early eighties "disappeared" 440 villages and 40,000 people and killed 100,000 more in an effort to root out guerrilla activity. Now identified by a shred of clothing or a single tooth, loved ones surface piece by piece, victims of a country's dismemberment. "If Jeffrey Dahmer had been in Guatemala," says veteran forensic anthropologist Clyde Snow, who has overseen exhumations in Guatemala, Argentina, Chile, and Iraq, "he would be a general by now."

A few Norteamericanos showed up at the Retalhuleu cemetery on August 17, 1993, with a good supply of bottled water, and the vice consul from the U.S. embassy handed out dishtowels to those who had come without masks to cover their faces or limes to slice the odor. Although the young gravediggers seemed to suffer the least in the heat, by noon most of the others at the site were registering signs of wear.

But Jennifer Harbury, J.D. '78, exhibited uncommon calm. In September 1991 in Texas, where she had long been based as a lawyer for farmworkers' rights, Harbury had married Bamaca, better known simply as Everardo (insurgents universally adopt pseudonyms in a war where relatives and friends are the targets of death squads, a fact thoroughly documented by human rights groups). Six months later, when Bamaca was called back to Guatemala, the couple reluctantly separated, agreeing that Harbury should stay behind to finish a book she was writing about members of ORPA (one of Guatemala's four major insurgency organizations). She learned of her husband's disappearance in March 1992. According to army reports, a guerrilla combatant was hit in the back during a battle between government troops and insurgents on March 12 but died from a self-inflicted rifle shot through the mouth to avoid capture; according to guerrilla sources, Everardo was the only insurgent missing on that day.

Jennifer Harbury: Her struggle continues.

Fortified by an emotional steadiness that seems to increase with stress, Harbury stood watch over an activity that by now was regrettably familiar. Fifteen months earlier she had stood in the same spot prepared to identify her husband's remains. But that conflicted hope had faded when the exhumation, blessed by the Guatemalan human rights office (then headed by Ramiro de Leon Carpio, now the Guatemalan president), was brought to a dramatic halt by the country's attorney general. He had departed Guatemala City before dawn to stop the proceedings, which he did with a technical objection and a phalanx of police.

Following a year-long nightmare of legal petitioning, Harbury had returned to the Retalhuleu cemetery on this mid-August day. The local Guatemalan district judge hovered at the edge of an ever-deepening grave, consulting with the region's forensic doctor, who had performed an autopsy on the body in question seventeen months earlier. Two policemen circulated cautiously around small clusters of foreign human rights workers and journalists. In spite of an early roping off of the area, curious townspeople—men, women, and children—periodically threatened to undo painstaking pick-and-shovel work and were asked to move away.

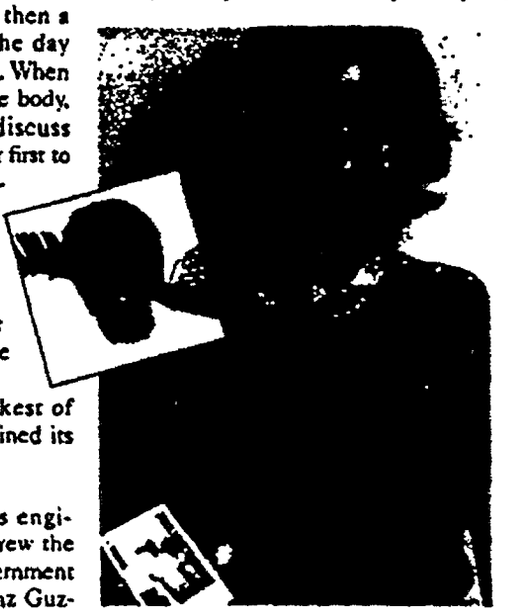
When the signal came that bits of plastic from a body bag were starting to turn up, members of a group called the Forensic Anthropologists of Guatemala got down to business, this time under the instruction of Dr. Michael Charney from Colorado State University, a dapper anthropologist in his eighties with a monocle and a Mark Twain mustache.

Several members of the team climbed into the pit to comb the dirt for fragments, which they took to Charney to inspect. A small lump of flesh appeared, then a few bones, but so slowly that the day seemed more tiring than gruesome. When they reached the main bulk of the body, however, the team paused to discuss whether to bring it up all at once or first to consider the skull; before the discussion was over, Charney stood holding a plastic bucket containing a half-decomposed head. "Get Jennifer," someone said, and Harbury came. "¿Este es su esposo, Señora Bamaca?" someone else asked.

Presented thus with the starkest of Guatemala's faces, Harbury examined its teeth.



Harbury with a snapshot of Comandante Everardo, taken in Mexico City.

In 1954 the United States engineered a coup that overthrew the democratically elected government of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzmán in Guatemala. Orchestrated by the U.S. State Department, the CIA, and the Boston-based United Fruit Company, Operation Success killed Arbenz's agrarian reform act while purportedly upholding the aims of an anti-Communist U.S. foreign policy. The presidential replacement settled on by the operation—Lt. Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, described as "a stupid man" by a former Time correspondent—reversed the reforms that had released to Guatemala's landless peasants a portion of the uncultivated property held by the monolithic United Fruit Company.

With Castillo Armas came a period of military rule that would continue to label land reform a revolutionary concept and its advocates Communists (or subversives, its synonym in Guatemala). Today, 2 percent of the population still owns 67 percent of the land, a figure that grows only more skewed over time. By a conservative estimate, 60 percent of the country consists of Mayan Indians, the other components being ladinos (mixed blood) and persons of European descent. One third of those in this rural society live on plots, as they say, "the size of a grave." The poverty line is so sweepingly drawn, according to a 1990 UNICEF report, that it encompasses 86 percent of the population, while coffee, bananas, and opportunities to exploit cheap labor boost the other 14 percent well into prosperity.

In Bridge of Courage, Jennifer Harbury's collection of interviews with members of ORPA published last October, Bamaca says, "I grew up restless, angry, and very strong"—motherless from the age of 5 and desperately poor, with no opportunity for schooling. "By the time I was sixteen or so," he says, "I began to run away to the mountains instead of going to the fields. I just wanted time to think, time to be a person instead of a donkey. Sometimes my friends would go with me. . . . It was on one of these days that we met Gaspar Ilom [a.k.a. Rodrigo Asturias, son of the Nobel Prize-winning Guatemalan author, Miguel Asturias] and his small group of compañeros.

"These were the people who taught me to read and write," Bamaca says, "who taught me history, and who gave me books. You can imagine what they meant to me, and how I loved them. And so it was that before dawn on my 18th birthday, I ran away . . . up the dark trails, to join Gaspar Ilom's fledgling organization. . . . Pain, yes, I have suffered, but doubts, never."

That was in the seventies, a decade punctuated by an earthquake that killed 25,000 people and left 1.25 million homeless, a decade in which the Guerrilla Army of the Poor, the most militant of the insurgencies, publicly executed "The Tiger of Ixcan," an unpopular landowner. Spurred by anxious and outraged oligarchs, the military responded with their own efforts to eradicate the mounting guerrilla and social movements. In 1977 the Carter administration tied future aid to Guatemala to improvement in its human rights record, and the Guatemalan government indignantly refused the funding.

But insurgent forces in rural areas—estimated to have been anywhere from a few thousand to twelve thousand strong—could fade in and out of surrounding villages casually, shielded by either the sympathy or neutrality of an Indian community. Before the brutal counterinsurgency campaign of the early eighties, christened "Victory '82" by the army, you couldn't take a Sunday drive to Antigua (less than an hour outside of Guatemala City) without running into subversives, one general complained.

Military frustration gave rise to a policy whereby subversive activity came to mean almost any movement anywhere by anyone not in uniform or part of the right wing. Union and human rights activists, journalists, students, professors, judges, doctors, lawyers, peasants living in guerrilla-infiltrated areas, and the relatives and children of all of these routinely disappeared, only to turn up hanging from trees or tossed by the side of the road: eyes, breasts, fingernails, limbs horribly mutilated or missing, the official cause of death listed as "accident" or "common crime."

But Victory '82 consisted mostly of scourges of the Mayan highlands, in which residents of entire villages were murdered in their own homes or churches, shot, hacked, or burned to death. According to an eyewitness account in a 1983 Human Rights Watch/Americas report, the army killed children by "cleaving their heads with machetes, strangling them with rope, and throwing them in the air and then impaling them on bayonets." Other testimony relates that disemboweling became a favored military method of disposing of the young, who were frequently torn from the arms of their mothers and murdered in front of them.

The scorched-earth campaign lived up to its name; the army burned crops to diminish any hope of survival, and refugees fleeing to Mexico became military targets. "The army kept coming back, over and over again, to kill and beat and burn," says "Sara" in Bridge of Courage. "After a while, we didn't dare sleep in our homes. . . . So we would work in the fields, sneak home for some food, then. . . slip away to sleep far from the village, hidden in the tall corn plants." Out of a total population of fewer than nine million people living in a territory the size of Tennessee, one million Guatemalans endured internal displacement and another 100,000 fled the country.

At the same time, the Guatemalan military introduced what in counterinsurgency terms was a brilliant strategy: civil defense patrols. Forced conscription had already taken its toll on the pool of young indigenous men, who were routinely abducted at crowded events and hauled off to serve as soldiers. But nonmilitary men between the ages of 18 and 60 also were coerced through fines and threats of torture and death to patrol rural areas without pay and to report "subversive activity" to the nearest army base. Refusal to participate in the patrols, of course, headed the list of subversive activity.

Susanne Jonas '63, M.A.T. '64, author of The Battle for Guatemala, estimates that civil defense patrols came to involve "one eighth of the population and one fourth of the adult population" [Jonas's italics]. The army's strategy proved so successful at strengthening the military as a controlling power that it began to shed its title "bride of the oligarchy" and its role as handmaiden to the landowning class. In fact, military officers increasingly were landowners themselves.

Many Mayans still seek answers to their questions about the disappeared.

Whites still swamp the elite, and racism is entrenched in the economic system. Among the privileges enjoyed by the rich—which include doing their learning at Harvard and their shopping in Miami—the most egregious is an 8 percent rate of taxation maintained by an intransigent business lobby. For years the oligarchy has gloried in wealth that contributes little to a budget often rescued by U.S. aid.

That budget doesn't begin to address the needs of the majority of a burgeoning population plagued by a rate of child malnutrition second only to Haiti's. Six million have no access to health care. Illiteracy is at an astounding 75 percent in the country overall, climbing to 95 percent in the highlands, where indigenous groups speak 22 different languages that until recently were banned in public. The country faces a housing crisis of huge proportions, as evidenced by the facts that 26 percent of Guatemala's homes are built of discarded materials and 30 percent of Guatemala City residents live in shanties, many on the site of the municipal dump. Unemployment stands at about 50 percent.

In 1986 democratically elected President Vinicio Cerezo Arevalo promulgated a new constitution. At the same time, he upheld the military's demand for impunity for all participants in a war that continues today on the level of selective disappearances, assassinations, torture, and intimidation. And Ramiro de Leon Carpio—the current president, installed amid great hope in June 1993 after a disastrous autogolpe (self-coup) by President Jorge Serrano Elias—appears caught under the military thumb as well.

While working in the farmworker division of Texas Rural Legal Aid in southern Texas, Jennifer Harbury began to see migrant workers recently arrived from Central America. The stories coming out of Guatemala were so hair-raising and, for the purposes of political-asylum applications, hard to document that in 1985 she decided go to Guatemala to collect her own data. She stayed for nearly two years.

Harbury returned to Guatemala in 1990 to gather stories for Bridge of Courage. This time, escorted by combatants, she climbed the side of a volcano for six hours in the dead of night to reach a guerrilla encampment. That's where she met Everardo.

Harbury stayed at the camp in the highlands for six weeks and then left to work on her book. In 1991 Bamaca (Everardo) asked her to join him in Mexico City, where he was helping to draft a position on indigenous rights for upcoming negotiations between Guatemala's umbrella guerrilla organization, the URNG (Guatemalan National Revolutionary Unity), and the government. He was shy about the reunion, says Harbury, not only because it was his nature but because as a guerrilla he had learned to keep his heart to himself. Over the years he had lost two compañeras (girlfriends) to the war, one shot dead at his side, the other disappeared and tortured to death. But after six months of sharing living space and confidences, Bamaca and Harbury married, she relates, "one of the most mismatched but happiest of couples."

Six months after that Harbury learned from URNG sources that her husband had disappeared. They told her they had asked the army for forensic photographs and were informed that none were taken. Instead Harbury received from then human rights ombudsman de Leon Carpio a letter detailing the army's description of the body it said had been buried in Retalhuleu. The description fit Bamaca well.

Harbury mourned her husband's death until two former URNG combatants, "William" and "Carlos," both of whom had escaped from what they said were secret army detention centers, testified in February 1993 before the United Nations Commission for Human Rights in Geneva that they had seen Everardo alive. He arrived at one base, said Carlos, who knew Everardo personally, "on or about March 12, 1992"—"exactly the right date," says Harbury—and was spotted at another in July, tied to a metal table, apparently drugged and grossly swollen, with two heavily bandaged limbs. William and Carlos also named 35 other URNG members they said they had seen detained.

Harbury immediately filed habeas corpus petitions on behalf of all 36 named combatants and on March 4, 1993, testified in Washington before the Organization of American States' (OAS)

Inter-American Commission on Human Rights, which is still considering her case for trial before the Inter-American Court in Costa Rica. At her prompting, letters from members of Congress, law associations, church groups, human rights organizations (including an urgent action appeal from Amnesty International), and former president Jimmy Carter were sent to the Guatemalan government, then headed by President Serrano, asking for an accounting of prisoners clandestinely detained and urging the Guatemalan government to adhere to its democratic constitution.

The answer that came back from every Guatemalan authority was the same: Guatemala has no clandestine prisons and no clandestine prisoners. Harbury says, "The line was, 'Your husband's in the cemetery. Go find him.' "

Sam Blake. "The civil patrol did kill your brother, and the army did cover it up," the president told him.

After months of plowing through paperwork, in August 1993 Harbury found herself back in the Retalhuleu courthouse awaiting permission for the exhumation. According to Pat Davis, editor of the "Guatemala Bulletin" and a staff member with the Guatemala Human Rights Commission in Washington, D.C.—who accompanied Harbury virtually everywhere as a witness that month—the judge was smiling but visibly shaken when he authorized the event. "We later learned," says Davis, "that a year earlier he and officials in the human rights ombudsman's office in Retalhuleu had been threatened by G-2 [military intelligence] agents over Jennifer's case."

Harbury was not surprised by the events that unfolded that scorching August afternoon in the Retalhuleu graveyard. Having retrieved the skull of the body they were exhuming, the forensics team, led by the intrepid Charney and followed by nearly everyone else, retreated to the blue-green morgue fifty yards away to examine it.

With cement slabs, working faucets, and dim lighting powered in part by the engine of a car running out front, the morgue became for a time the site of considerable overcrowding. The water washing dirt and flesh and matted hair from the skull spilled over onto the floor and seeped into the soles of shoes, and the odor penetrated clothing, so that afterward some would dispose of everything they had been wearing. The putrid air in the room became increasingly unserviceable and, for some, the gagging involuntary, so that pushing outside to stand next to a car radiating gasoline fumes provided unimagined relief.

Neither the first skull nor another that followed it belonged to the man described in the local forensic doctor's autopsy report as the one killed on March 12, 1992. That body didn't appear until the third try. When identified by the Guatemalan doctor as the correct cadaver, the entire contents of the plastic body bag were removed to the morgue for examination.

Amid enormous chaos, Charney pronounced the remains to be those of a male 18 to 20 years old who, he said, had the bone structure of "a china doll," inconsistent with Bamaca's broad features, and "a dental pattern also at odds with Comandante Everardo." He found that "there is no indication of a rifle barrel in the mouth and a bullet fired." Charney's findings, in fact, coincided with the local autopsy report of a year before that, as it turned out, also contained a wealth of previously withheld information. Listed were details of a body totally incompatible with the description de Leon Carpio had obtained from the army and sent on to Harbury—the description that had seemed to fit her husband.

The local report, to which the army had had access, stated that the deceased young man had a "thin mustache" (Bamaca had none) and had died from "asphyxia by strangulation" (not from a bullet in the back or a gunshot through the mouth). A "deep traumatic groove" circumscribed his ankles, and signs of "black ink" appeared on the wrinkled fingers of his small hands. "A firearm projectile" was found in "the right pectoral region," along with various puncture wounds, including "open perforation of the colon." The report also noted "broad laceration and multiple bone fractures of the cranium and face."

"Just try to imagine the ordeal of this combatant," says Harbury, "this child. He was bound by his feet and beaten, possibly dragged in the river, stuck with bayonets, shot, and strangled. They destroyed his skull. He had been fingerprinted, even though the army claimed no such records were taken. And now that we know these are the remains of this poor boy, where is Everardo?"

The next day one of Guatemala's leading newspapers, El Gráfico, published a story reporting that the body found in the grave belonged to Bamaca. The paper's reporter had been seen leaving the cemetery before the third trip to the morgue.

But the exhumation had been on Guatemalan TV, and another leading paper, Prensa Libre, would eventually publish an essentially accurate and detailed story in its Sunday magazine section titled "¿Donde está Everardo?" ("Where Is Everardo?") with Bamaca's photograph on the cover. Two days after the event, El Gráfico would report "a violent turn" (un giro violento) in which Harbury declared the remains not to be those of her husband after all.

Harbury's was not the only suit filed with the OAS's Inter-American Commission on Human Rights against the Guatemalan government in 1993. Another came from Sam and Randy Blake on behalf of the Blake family, charging the government with a cover-up of the murder of freelance journalist Nicholas Blake in 1985. In response to the suit, says Sam Blake, President de Leon Carpio recently told him privately, "I want you to know it's true; the civil patrol did kill your brother, and the army did cover it up." Although this merely confirmed what the Blakes already knew, the statement was an astonishing admission to one whose experience had taught him he was dealing with an immutable "culture of lies."

Until recently a researcher in the National Security Program at the Kennedy School of Government, Sam Blake was an undergraduate at Tufts University when his eldest brother, journalist Nick Blake, disappeared along with an expatriate named Griff Davis in the Guatemalan highlands. A short time before, Nick Blake had reported on army involvement in a massacre of Mayans in a nearby province.

For much of the time that he searched for his brother, Sam Blake appealed for the truth about his disappearance to General Hector Alejandro Gramajo Morales, the Guatemalan minister of defense from 1987 to 1990. Four or five times, Blake says, Gramajo told him that the army knew nothing about what had happened to Nick Blake. Most likely, said Gramajo, the guerrillas had killed him.

A glowing commendation from former U.S. secretary of defense Caspar Weinberger '38 hangs in a frame on the wall of a common room in Gramajo's offices in Guatemala City. Unlike most of his military counterparts, Gramajo grew up in the Guatemalan highlands among a majority of Mayans. The son of a military officer, he developed early on an appreciation of military matters as well as a lively sense of humor and an agreeable, even charming, personality. In 1991 he joined the Harvard family when he graduated from the mid-career Mason Program in Public Policy and Management at the Kennedy School, made financially eligible by U.S. AID (Agency for International Development) money and educationally eligible by his career in the Guatemalan army. Rumors abounded that he was preparing to run for the Guatemalan presidency in 1995. According to then Mason director Steve Reifenberg, Gramajo had many friends in the program, including José Maria Figueres, son of former Costa Rican president and national hero José Ferrer Figueres, who abolished that country's army in 1948. Costa Rica elected the younger Figueres president earlier this year.

But Gramajo's educational ties to the United States go way back, to Fort Benning, Georgia, where in 1962, during the Kennedy administration's ardent support of special forces training, he studied insurgency tactics, returning in 1968 to track the progress of the Vietnam war. At Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, in the early seventies, he began to learn about the strategies behind a "people's war" and what was required to defeat one. The U.S. Army's School of the Americas, a training ground in Low Intensity Conflict (counterinsurgency) for assorted Latin American militaries—called by its critics "the school of assassins"—also claims Gramajo as a graduate, as are two of the Guatemalan officers identified by "Carlos" as Bamaca's torturers.

As director of the Guatemalan Command and General Staff School in 1980, Gramajo had conducted a strategic appraisal of the military's ability to sustain itself against a leftist offensive. Although ignored at the time, it would eventually become the blueprint for the "new" army—The Thesis for National Stability. One tenet of the thesis held that the army should consolidate its own power by sticking to military matters and demanding respect as a stable institution in its own right. In a chapter for a forthcoming book on Latin America edited by Harvard professor Jorge Dominguez, Gramajo writes: "Let the politicians fight the political battles. Let the economic groups fight their own economic battles. Let civil society grow."

But Jennifer Schirmer, a Luce fellow at the Center for the Study of Values in Public Life at Harvard Divinity School and author of a rare inside look at the Guatemalan military, considers Gramajo a skilled practitioner of what she calls "the looting of democratic discourse." After the brutal but decisive campaigns of the early eighties, Gramajo determined that, in the prevailing international climate, prudence required the military to move toward "co-governance" with a civilian government. So the army ordered elections and became, Gramajo told Schirmer, "experts at deception" in its efforts to capture the minds of the people. Empty facades sprang up—human rights investigations that were announced but went nowhere, court cases that were tried but dismissed—to give the appearance of change without alter-structed the village. For the first time, we were taking care of the displaced."

This, says Gramajo, reflected a 180-degree turn in strategy for the army. "Before 1982, if we did not deliberately kill the people, we did not care for the people. They were a nuisance, an obstacle to military operations. But prior to our Victory '82 campaign in July 1982, we put the troops through reconditioning and we did the model villages. We brought doctors and the International Red Cross to help us in that endeavor. Prior to 1982, we refused to allow any international agency. After 1982, we even invited human rights groups to come in and see. A strategy instead of tactics."

Such an enlightened strategy allowed the rested, reequipped, and retrained army to conduct the most pitiless massacres of the war, from July through December 1982, which ultimately demolished the insurgency as a military force. Gathered in "model villages," the remaining highland population lived under ruthless monitoring by the military and grew resentful of the guerrillas who had been unable to protect them.

In 1983, Gramajo told us, his troops believed they may have wounded 24-year-old Comandante Everardo in the leg. Looking up from cleaning his already immaculate fingernails, he emphasized to us that this was not a personal matter. "I knew by the roster that I was facing a unit commanded by him," he said. "In those cases, you don't see faces. Very rarely you see people, because you always see from the bushes, [and from there hear] the sound of the shots." Other than that, he said, he doesn't know anything about Everardo, except that he thinks they may have grown up in the same highland town.

Anne Manuel, associate director of Human Rights Watch/Americas, says that current U.S. ambassador Marilyn McAfee has made important symbolic gestures regarding human rights, but, says Manuel, "we disagree with the embassy on the degree to which the military leadership should be cultivated." It's an issue that has plagued previous administrations as well. Up until last year, when he met Ambassador McAfee, Sam Blake says he distrusted nearly all U.S. embassy personnel.

"We were willing to admit [to ourselves] more about the Guatemalan army and how they worked than I think the ambassadors knew," says Blake. "Often we knew more than they did because they would suspend belief. The U.S. military attachés work very closely with the Guatemalan army. They get to be friends with these guys. They're chums. And Strook [Thomas F. Strook, a Yale classmate of George Bush who served as ambassador to Guatemala from 1990 to 1992] drew a lot of very bad, very wrong conclusions. The embassy was on the army's side—the benefit of the doubt went to the army. Given their human rights record and the circumstances of our case, I certainly wasn't going to give the Guatemalan army the benefit of the doubt."

Although his brother Nick's politics could be called radical, Sam Blake's are not. At 32 he is a conservative Republican from a prosperous Philadelphia family who is working on his doctorate at Tufts University's Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy. He describes himself as a perfect candidate for the foreign service or the CIA, except, he says, "Now I don't really care for those people."

Unlike Jennifer Harbury, who married one, no one can credibly accuse Sam Blake of being a Marxist insurgent. And when Nicholas Blake went missing, his brothers called someone they knew from their summers at the family home in Biddeford Pool, Maine—George Bush's daughter, Doro.

President Bush instructed the embassy in Guatemala to make the Blake case a priority. "It's amazing how the bureaucracy works," Sam Blake says. "Everybody listens to a presidential edict, and then they start working around it."

Hector Gramajo: The general did a stint at the Kennedy School.

Blake heard the truth about what happened to his brother from a Guatemalan teacher in 1988, but the U.S. embassy stood behind the army's blanket reply that the guerrillas were to blame. While members of a civil defense patrol were escorting the two Norteamericanos out of the area, said the schoolteacher, one of them shot Griff Davis, probably to score points for his machismo and money for the gringo's camera. Another civil patroller then shot Nick Blake, who before he was killed dropped to his knees and pretended to be radioing for help. The army ordered the bodies burned. In June 1992, with the help of a forensic anthropologist from the Smithsonian Institution, members of the Guatemalan military, and a few nervous villagers, Sam and Randy Blake retraced their brother's steps through the highlands and found evidence of his remains. After eight years and $80,000 worth of investigations, the Blakes seek damages of $300,000 from the Guatemalan government, which they intend to use for a journalists' fund in Nicholas Blake's name.

"Being conservative doesn't mean being pro-army," says Blake, who still suspects that the army issued an order to execute his brother and Davis. "Two, maybe three times that day [in March 1985] the El Llano civil patrollers hiked a thousand feet up to an army base in the sister town of Las Maharas to ask what to do about the gringos. Then for seven years the army says the guerrillas killed them, and the [U.S.] embassy corroborates their story. You can't imagine," he says, "what they put us through."

"If the Guatemalan government and the U.S. State Department encounter 'difficulty in assigning responsibility' for Guatemala's atrocities, then they are alone," wrote Jean-Marie Simon, J.D. '91, in Guatemala: Eternal Spring, Eternal Tyranny, published in 1987. "Guatemalans know who kills, and of the 1,500 members of the committee of families of the 'disappeared,' not one has charged the guerrillas with a relative's abduction."

In December of last year Blake made another of his many trips to Guatemala, not to search for clues about his brother, but to research a case study he would present to his boss at the Kennedy School's National Security Program, U.S. Gen. (ret.) Bernard Trainor. The study, completed in February, examines the military career of a man Blake calls the "granddaddy of G-2," Hector Gramajo.

Blake interviewed the general for four days, dining with him and his family, practice-shooting .45s with him on his modest finca (estate), accompanying him and his Uzi in Gramajo's jeep. Knowing full well Gramajo's role in Guatemalan military history, Blake says, "I don't blame him for what happened to my brother. I don't. Actually, I like the guy. I know if he'd been commander up there, he's definitely sophisticated enough to know not to kill two Americans. The only thing I blame him for is being part of the high-level cover-up. But even that I don't so much blame him. I blame the system. And I said that to him. I said, 'You guys are imprisoned by the system'—a system that's deceitful, violent, and completely devoid of ethics."

"I know I'm probably like one of these CIA guys he deals with all the time," Blake continues, perplexed to find himself facing the same dilemma as the State Department staffers he believes lost their objectivity about their Guatemalan counterparts. "It's the Westernized American in me," he says. "I don't want to believe that someone I know and can relate to—an intelligent, thinking person—could have been involved in atrocities."

After the exhumation at the cemetery in Retalhuleu in August 1993, Jennifer Harbury visited Ambassador McAfee in Guatemala City, to explain the results of the forensic examination and the surfacing of the local autopsy report. In that meeting, Harbury made her position clear. "When I first learned that my husband was dead," she told McAfee, "I accepted it. It turned out that I gave up too soon, and I'm not going to do that again." Later that month she went on a round-the-clock hunger strike across from the Escuela Polytechnica, the center of military training in Guatemala City and Gramajo's alma mater, keeping a candlelight vigil for seven days and nights.

She has returned to Guatemala several times since then, continuing to press her case. In May 1994 she went to the tower of the National Palace in Guatemala City where G-2 offices are located (a place, quips a local, to which Guatemalans are normally dragged) and asked for an appointment with the director, Col. José Manuel Rivas Rios. She got it. Led by an armed guard through a door and onto the roof—a procedure that brought a moment's panic—she picked her way in high heels over pipes and roof tiles, taking the most efficient route to the office of the director of military intelligence.

According to Harbury, her hour-and-a-half meeting with the tense, tight-lipped Rivas, a man in his fifties dressed in a business suit, was as surreal as her entrance. She answered his questions with a candor that, coming from a Guatemalan, might well have proved fatal. But Harbury went on to deliver a detailed account of what she believes: that the army took her husband alive in March 1992 and held or is holding him in clandestine detention, along with at least 35 other guerrillas, torturing him for information and to persuade him to forsake his beliefs; that the army knew from the beginning the body in the cemetery in Retalhuleu was not that of Comandante Everardo but of another combatant they had brutally killed; and that the description given to de Leon Carpio by the army of the person purportedly buried as XX was obtained from a living, captive Everardo.

"Good God, madam. How can you think that of us?"

"Good God, madam," Harbury says Rivas responded. "How can you think that of us?"

Harbury is not the only person to confront the Guatemalan military, and she is not the most heroic. Guatemalans walk away with that prize. The slight political opening that came in 1986 with the new constitution and civilian president did at least allow for an incipient Mayan movement and growing labor protests. But Vinicio Cerezo continuously lost power to the military and left amid scandal bred by a self-indulgent lifestyle. And the severe intimidation of democratic groups has continued into de Leon Carpio's presidency.

Although previous peace talks between the URNG and Guatemalan government have proceeded in fits and starts, in January a calendar of monthly discussions was planned to culminate in December with the finalization of a peace accord. In March a human rights accord was signed. Though parts of the human rights accord—which grew out of months of negotiations between the government and the URNG, directed by a special U.N. commission—have already been violated by the military, it contains democratic provisions that might finally give the country's Mayans hope for basic rights. For one thing, says the State Department, the accord allows a U.N. verification mission with broad investigatory powers to set up offices in areas of conflict in Guatemala (though they have not yet done so).

All of which has enraged hard-liners and prompted continuous deadly reprisals. In February the State Department admitted to a high level of tension in the country as signs of suspected coup attempts grew. Rumors of children abducted and killed by foreigners for their organs, once seen as urban legend, started to fly with renewed force in March—disseminated, many human-rights workers believe, by the army itself. U.S. tourist June Weinstock was accused of child stealing and beaten into a coma by a mob of men on March 29, 1994, the same day the human rights accord was signed. The president of the Guatemalan Supreme Court, a proponent of democracy, was assassinated on April 1, and other human rights abuses have continued to soar.

With the example of the 1985 Argentine trials before them—in which two ex-presidents, among others, were convicted of murder and human rights abuses—the Guatemalan military sees certain disaster in any lifting of military impunity and implementation of international monitoring. Even a signed peace accord may prove an unreliable indicator of future sucess on that score. A report on military accountability from the nonprofit Washington Office on Latin America quotes a Guatemala judge as saying of his attempts to investigate habeas corpus petitions, "We go to the detention centers, to the [military] bases, and we never find anything."

When U.S. economic aid to Guatlemala became stuck in the pipeline earlier this year, President de Leon Carpio wrote President Bill Clinton a letter in which he seemed to exercise some of the military's mastery of positive discourse. "A special unit in the national police was organized for the investigation of all cases of forced disappearances, extrajudicial killings, and other violations of a political nature," he wrote. "Participation in any CUDC (Communities for Civil Defense, [or civil defense patrol]) is voluntary. . . . Any member of a CUDC that chooses not to participate will be free to do so. Likewise, it is our commitment to guarantee that any member of a CUDC that has committed a crime or human rights violation is judged and punished under the law." These are curious promises, since de Leon Carpio has demonstrated that he has little authority to institute such broad changes.

But the Clinton administration might have reason to embrace Carpio's rhetoric. In an interview following the 1993 coup, communications director George Stephanopoulos called Guatemala one of the administration's major foreign policy success stories. And though Guatemala's goal of inclusion in a North American Free Trade Agreement seems a long way off, U.S. regional interests could only be enhanced by an allegedly peaceful Guatemala.

Harbury worries about the December deadline and sees it as an urgent one for herself as well. If the Guatemalans in her petitions, including her husband, fail to merit accounting before the accord is signed, she fears that whatever bargaining power the United States held to obtain information about them will be lost. Even if the army does sweep the mountains and jungles in search of Bamaca and finds him alive—as current minister of defense Gen. Mario René Enriquez has publicly announced is its intention and expectation—35 others and thousands more may remain either unaccounted for or buried in clandestine graves.

The day after the exhumation in Retalhuleu, with its heat and odor and clamor and tension, a few people, led by Harbury and Pat Davis, returned to the cemetery with a priest Harbury had invited to pray over the remains of the unknown combatants. Presente en la lucha, the gravestone Harbury had ordered would say: Present in the struggle.

A slight, dark man halted his work for the tiny gathering and leaned on his shovel, ready to resume his job once the service had ended. But beyond the priest's blessing, the silence—so profound after the previous day's uproar—allowed, at last, for an outpouring of grief. "All those who have fallen are remembered," Bamaca had told Harbury at his camp in the highlands, "and are with us still in our hearts as we draw to the end of this long, long war." ▽

I, Jennifer Kristina Harbury, a United States citizen, forty two years of age, and of sound mind, swear that the following statement is true and correct:

TESTIMONY

My name is Jennifer Kristina Harbury. I was born on October 27, 1951 in Baltimore, Maryland and I am a citizen of United States. My father, a Professor of Biochemistry and my mother, a homemaker, raised me and my three siblings in New England. I received my B. A. degree in Asian studies from Cornell University in 1974, and my J.D. degree from the Harvard School of Law in 1978. After graduating I moved to Texas to work with migrant farmworkers. As discussed below, I have also spent time performing human rights activities in Guatemala. My book, "Bridge of Courage" documents the tragic civil war in that country, and was published by Common Courage Press in 1993. My interest in the human rights situation is more than academic, however. My husband, Efrain Bamaca Velasquez, is a Mayan citizen of Guatemala. He is known as Comandante Everardo of the Guatemalan National Revolutionary Union, or U.R.N. G. forces. Since March of 1992 he has been unlawfully detained and mentally and physically abused by the Guatemalan army. Since his abduction, I have committed all of my time and resources to saving his life.

I first became interested in Guatemala in the early 1980s, when literally thousands of Guatemalan refugees began to arrive at the Texas-Mexico border. Many were fleeing the massacres and scorched earth campaigns carried out by the Guatemalan army as part of its counter-insurgency campaign. Others were fleeing the officially sponsored repression in the cities. My immigration lawyer friends had difficulties in obtaining political asylum for these clients. One of the obstacles was the lack of adequate documentation. In that era, there were no human rights organizations operating in Guatemala, not even the International Red Cross. For this reason I decided to travel to Guatemala myself, and compile evidence about the ongoing human rights situation.

I arrived in Guatemala in the spring of 1985, not long after the assassinations of Rosario Godoy de Cuevas and Hector Gamez, two founding members of the Grupo de Apoyo Mutuo, or GAM, a recently formed mutual support group for relatives of the "disappeared". Rosario had been murdered together with her 19 year old brother and her two year old son. Originally, I had planned to stay in Guatemala for only a few months, but in the end I remained for most of 1985 and 1986. During that time I travelled extensively throughout the country, to the Peten, to the Ixcan, to the Verapaz area, to the Ixil triangle, and through the southwest. I compiled testimonies as to the ongoing human rights violations, and assisted the victims of the repression in any way that I could.

I left Guatemala in late 1986. I had noticed that my activities and meetings were being monitored and I did not wish to place my friends in any danger. Back in Texas, I began to work on a book about the ongoing civil war in Guatemala. I believed that my best contribution to peace in that country would be to make the circumstances and realities of this war better known and understood by the international community. It was my hope that this, in turn, would lead to a better foreign policy in the United States. I was particularly interested in educating the public about the U.R.N.G. , given the dearth of information on this topic in the U.S. press, and in books covering Guatemala. I had known number of U.R.N.G. members during my time there, and wished to break the existing stereotypes about them. For the next several years I travelled extensively, compiling interviews and information, and worked at writing the book. It was in this way that I met my husband, Efrain Bamaca Velasquez, or Comandante Everardo.

In 1990 I travelled to Guatemala and climbed the volcano Tajumulco in order to interview various U.R.N.G. combatants in the "Luis Ixmata" frente of O.R.P.A., one of the four member organizations composing the U.R.N. G. The Comandante of that frente, "Everardo",( whose legal name is Efrain Bamaca Velasquez), was responsible for arranging my interviews and for assuring my safety. I remained in the volcano with the frente for one month, and many of the life stories I heard there are included in my book, "Bridge of Courage". I became close friends with Comandante Everardo during that month but it was not until 1991 that we saw eachother again and became a couple.

In 1991, Everardo wrote me from Mexico City. He had arrived to do some preparatory work for the peace negotiations. At the time, the agenda item of human rights was being discussed. However, the next issue on the agenda was equal rights for the Mayan people of Guatemala. Everardo is a Mayan villager himself, who learned to read and write in the mountains. His first language is Mam, and he had grown up in an impoverished Mayan community on the southwest coast. (He was born on June 18, 1957 on the Finca El Tablero, El Tumbador, San Marcos). He was also one of the last surviving Mayan Comandantes. For this reason, the U.R.N. G. had called him to Mexico City to work on the preparations and position papers for the theme of indigenous rights. I came to Mexico immediately and we spent many happy months together. We were married on September 25, 1991 during a stay in Texas.

In January of 1992, Everardo had to return to his frente. His compañeros were going through a transitional phase of the war, and needed his leadership. He was to return for Guatemala for a few months, then come back to Mexico City to continue his work there. Meanwhile, I travelled to New Hamphshire to be with a long time friend who was dying of cancer.

On or about March 12, 1992 Everardo vanished in combat at the Rio Ixcucua, (near Nuevo San Carlos, Retalhuleu). None of his fellow combatants saw him fall. There was simply a hail of bullets, smoke, and confusion. The combatants took cover, and when they looked up a few minutes later, Everardo had simply disappeared. There was no trace of his body, his boots, or his back pack anywhere. He was the only U.R.N. G. combatant missing after this skirmish. No one else disappeared during these several days, or near the Rio Ixcucua. The next day, the army announced that its troops had discovered a cadaver in olive green uniform with a rifle, at the Rio Ixcucua after the combat, and had sent it to Retalhuelu for an autopsy and burial. Small but vague articles appeared in the press, and no name was given. After that, there was no further word in the press or from the army.

The U.R.N.G. leadership notified me immediately that Everardo had disappeared, and I promptly travelled to Mexico City for more information. All of us were somewhat perturbed by the vague and somewhat contradictory press bulletins. Everardo had been in the mountains for some seventeen years at the time of his disappearance, and was a top ranking Commander, as well as one of the founders of O.R.P.A. His face was surely very well known, through intelligence sources, to the Guatemalan army. Moreover, the contents of his backpack, (maps, codes, medical supplies, correspondence, battle plans, cash etc.) would certainly have informed the army that this was no ordinary combatant. Normally, the death of a U.R.N.G leader of this stature would have been headline news as a great military triumph. Yet all was silent after the first few bulletins.

Disturbed, and suspicious that perhaps Everardo had in fact been captured alive, and that a hoax was being carried out by the army to conceal his capture, the U.R.N. G. leadership opened communications with Lic. Ramiro De Leon Carpio, then the Human Rights Ombudsman, and currently the President of Guatemala. The asked De Leon Carpio to contact the G-2 or intelligence division of the Guatemalan army and request forensic photographs, dental records, and fingerprints of the cadaver found at the Rio Ixcucua on March 13, 1992. De Leon Carpio answered by telephone that the army claimed that no such forensic data had been taken. He then sent a letter (May 11,1992) to the U.R.N.G. giving a precise written description of the cadaver, and stating that the person had been wounded and had shot himself through the mouth. (Copy attached hereto). The description matched that of Everardo feature by feature and to the centimeter, and gave an accurate age range. The possibility that Everardo had committed suicide was not strange. Many U.R.N.G members have committed suicide to avoid being captured alive and tortured by the army. (In some thirty years of war, the army had killed all captured prisoners.) However, it was very unusual for the army intelligence division not to have taken any physical evidence for their files. When I lived in Guatemala earlier, I had been a number of trips to the morgues with family members seeking their relatives. G-2 members were often there first, and we would have to wait until they had finished taking their evidence. (This had happened to friends of Rosario Godoy de Cuevas, for example, when they went to identify her body in the morgue.) Given the contents of Everardo's backpack, it was odd indeed that they did not bother to taken any such routine evidence in this case of all cases. Our concern that a hoax was being perpetrated began to mount.

The U.R.N.G. leadership then asked De Leon Carpio to arrange for an exhumation of the body in the grave in Retalhuleu. As no U.R.N.G. member could enter Guatemala openly without risking arrest and/or assassination, the parties agreed that the exhumation should be carried out in Guatemala, and the results sent to Mexico City for verification by the U.R.N. G. leadership as to whether or not the deceased person was in fact Everardo or not. Given the fears of a hoax, the U.R.N.G. did not send detailed physical information about Everardo to De Leon Carpio. They did not trust the army. For similar reasons, they asked that foreign observers be allowed to attend, so as to assure that army pressure or intimidation against the forensic physician would not lead to a falsified report. (In the case of Hector Gomez, for example, the forensic physician was assassinated not long after he filed an accurate but gruesome autopsy report.) Thus if the body in the grave, for example, was six feet tall, and the report stated five feet, the observers could indicate that the report was falsified.

I insisted on attending the exhumation as well, thinking that it quite probably was Everardo in the grave, and wishing to give him a decent burial. All of my friends in the U.S. solidarity network advised strongly against this. Despite the fact that I am not a U.R.N.G. member, they felt that such a public appearance would be quite dangerous. They also reminded me that the Guatemalan authorities are very sensitive about exposure in Washington about human rights violations, as this could lead to economic sanctions. They are thus extremely sensitive to the involvement of foreigners in such matters, and would be likely to cancel or impede the exhumation if they knew of my personal link to Everardo. My own experience in Guatemala confirmed what they were telling me, and so I decided to attend the exhumation, as simply one of the observers, but without stating that I was Everardo's wife.

Arrangements for the exhumation were very slow, despite the urgency of the situation. De Leon Carpio, understandably wished to obtain "courtesy approval" from the army before proceeding. Finally, the exhumation was scheduled for late May 1992, and I flew to Guatemala City with three other U.S. citizens. We spoke with De Leon Carpio the night we arrived, and left the city early the next morning with De Leon's forensic specialist Leonel Gomez. In Retalhuleu we proceeded to the cemetery together with the local judge and his assistant. The "XX", or unidentified persons, are buried behind the cemetery morgue, but the plot in question had been marked pursuant to the cemetery records. Two grave diggers began to open up the grave upon the judge's orders. As they dug, the small area began to fill up with policemen carrying rifles. They stated that the army was sending soldiers as well. As the grave diggers reached the edges of the body bag in the grave a car screeched into the cemetery and Lic. Asisclo Valladares, of the Ministerio Publico, jumped out, running across the other graves and shouting at us. He began by stating that everything must be called off because the matter had not been cleared by his office. Leonel showed him all of the papers and explained that it was an international human rights matter and been arranged by his office for months already. Asisclo Valladares then stated that the exhumation must be called off because foreigners were present. I then intervened and said that we could leave and wait in the parking lot. He said that this would not be good enough either, that a U.R.N.G. member must come to Guatemala and identify the body. Leonel explained the arrangements, and pointed out that any U.R.N.G member would be subject to immediate arrest if he or she publicly arrived in Guatemala. Valladares admitted that this was true, but insisted that a U.R.N. G. member must all the same, attend. He then asked if any of us observers were U.R.N.G. members arriving to identify the body. We said no. He then said that Francisco Villalgran, the public spokesperson for the U.R.N.G. who had signed the correspondence with De Leon Carpio, must come to Guatemala to attend. He then ordered the grave diggers out of the grave, despite Leonel's protests, and stated that he was postponing the exhumation for a few days. Then he asked if any of us were family members of the deceased. Given the large number of police, the furious and somewhat hysterical tone of Asisclo Valladares, and the fact that I had neither an attorney nor an embassy person with me, I did not answer, or try explain that I was a relative but not a U.R.N.G. member. The situation was too tense. As Asisclo Valladares was promising to reschedule the exhumation for a few days later, I decided to first speak with a Guatemalan lawyer as well as the U.S. embassy before answering the question. As it turned out, the exhumation was never rescheduled, despite numerous inquiries by the U.R.N.G. leadership.

By the end of the summer, I was convinced that Everardo was indeed dead, although I was not sure how he had died or where he was buried. I thought it was possible that he was buried in the Retalhuelu grave as reported, but that his body had been mutilated by the army and for this reason the authorities had called off the exhumation. I also thought it was possible that he had been captured alive by the army. Based on my experience in Guatemala, I assumed that if this were the case, he had long since been tortured to death. I had known many, many people in Guatemala to b dragged away by either the death squads or members of the armed forces. With the exception of those who miraculously escaped during the first month or so of captivity, none ever returned alive. They either vanished forever, or their battered bodies arrived in the morgue, bearing grim signs of torture. Too much time had elapsed for me to hope, with any realism, that Everardo was still alive. Or so, at least, I thought. As it turned out, I was wrong.

In early 1993, however, I was contacted by the U.R.N. G. and invited to interview a young man named Santiago Cabrera Lopez. Santiago had been a combatant in my husband's frente (the Luis Ixmata frente) and was also known by his nom de guerre of "Carlos". He was captured by the Guatemalan army in 1991 together with "Karina" or Anastasia Lopez Calvo. I interviewed him in Mexico City for a number of hours and found his story to be quite coherent and consistent. Santiago told me that after his capture he was severely beaten by members of the army and was later placed in a pit in the floor of a military installation, together with Anastasia. Later, he spent months chained hands and feet to a bed. Other prisoners were sent in to brow beat him and to break his moral. He was taken to identify friends in the morgue. He was told that if he tried to escape that not only would he be hunted down and killed, but that his family would be killed as well. He would then be forced, under threats of further torture, to give information to army intelligence officials. These threats were acted upon. For example, on one occasion, Santiago was unable to identify a certain prisoner to the army's satisfaction, and he was therefore subjected to torture with electrical prods.

There were many other prisoners of war in the same circumstances. They army did not kill them but kept them under constant fear and abuse to force them to work with military intelligence. Apparently, the goal of this system was to "break" the prisoners psychologically so as to convert them into a secret cadre of army informants.(This was successfully done in the famous case of Father Pellecer in the early 1980s). Santiago decided that his only chance for an escape lay in pretending to be a model prisoner, giving away information that would not result in the death of another companero or companera, and pretending that he had switched allegiances and was now truly with the army. In the end, this was indeed how he managed to escape, first being placed in uniform, then receiving wages, finally working with less and less of a guard, and in the end gaining freedom to leave on short trips. From one such trip he simply never returned, fleeing the country instead. He dared to flee because he knew his family was safely out of the country as well.

Santiago also reported that on March 12, 1992 he saw my husband dragged into the military base of Santa Ana Berlin, where he himself was being held at that time. Needless to say, he recognized his own commanding officer quite well. He saw Everardo a number of times over the next several weeks, bound to a bed and undergoing interrogation. He saw army officials waving a gun at my husband and shouting that he had no right to live. He also heard other officials stating that no one should know who the prisoner was, and that everyone thought he had been killed and buried. Some of the prisoners were sent in to pressure my husband into talking. After approximately a month Everardo was taken away. In late May the prisoners were told he had attempted to escape and had been killed. They were warned never to speak of him. The officials were watching the prisoners' faces, deciding who was truly loyal to the army, and who was still loyal to the U.R.N.G. forces.

In late July of 1992, Santiago saw my husband again, this time in the base #18 of San Marcos. The prisoners are rotated from area to area to gather further information. (Evidently Everardo had been held for some time in the military base of Ouetzaltenango.) This time, Santiago saw my husband lying on a metal bed. He was stripped to his underwear and his entire body was terribly swollen. One arm and leg were heavily bandaged. He was speaking, but in an abnormal voice. There was a green gas tank next to the bed. The army officers carrying out this torture told Santiago to leave the room immediately and never tell anyone what he had seen or he would be killed. A doctor had been sent for to make sure that my husband did not die. With all of the information he has, as a founder, a comandante, and a combatant with 17 years of experience, the goal was to break my husband and force him to talk. They did not wish to kill him. Indeed, Santiago saw him alive a short time later. My husband was being interrogated. The swelling had gone down and his voice was normal. Santiago could not see his arm and leg, as these were concealed by the army uniform he was wearing. Not long thereafter Santiago was sent away on a mission with the soldiers, and when he returned, Everardo had been taken away. Santiago escaped the country in late 1992.

A second prisoner, "William", (Jaime Adalberto Augustin Recinos) escaped from a different part of the country at about the same time. Although he did not see my husband, he heard his guards referring to "Everardo". Santiago and William together were able to name thirty five other captured U.R.N.G. combatants, as well as my husband, whom they had personally observed under secret detention in the hands of the Guatemalan army.

The officials named by Santiago as directly involved in the detention and torture of my husband are the following:

1. Coronel Barahona was the leader of the army unit which captured Everardo.
2. He was interrogated by specialists named "Chato" (or Kaibil) and Capitan Laco.
3. He was also interrogated and threatened by Major Soto of G-3.
4. Coronel Julio Alpirez and Major Mario Sosa Orellana were in charge of his detention.
5. Specialist Juan Jose Orozco Giron was sent for the oxygen tank.
6. Specialist Simeon Cum Chuta sent Santiago into the infirmary with the typewriter, and clearly knew what was going on in there.
7. Coronel Alpirez and a G-2 specialist named "Gualip" were seen by Santiago torturing my husband.
8. Specialist Rene Jimenez Gonzalez was questioning my husband about a tape of the Voz Popular shortly after the torture session.

The complete list of names is included in Santiago's affidavit, attached hereto.

Santiago and William travelled to Geneva Switzerland in February of 1993 and presented their testimonies to the United Nations Commission on Human Rights. I immediately filed writs of "Exhibicion Personales" with the Guatemalan Supreme Court. These were to no avail, the official response being that the Guatemalan army claimed they had no such prisoners. Shortly afterwards, however, three of the prisoners, including Anastasia, were presented alive on Guatemalan television, stating that they had voluntarily joined the Guatemalan army. In March 1993, I testified to the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights of OAS. Santiago's testimony had been videoed in advance and was also shown.

Numerous letters of protest were then sent to Presidents Serrano and De Leon Carpio from human rights organizations, religious organizations, and various members of the U.S. Congress and Senate. The only response from the Guatemalan authorities was to insist that the prisoners were not in their custody and that William and Santiago were lying.

Given this situation, I returned to Guatemala, obtained the services of a Guatemalan attorney, and filed for an exhumation of the body buried in the Retalhuelu cemetery. The original file in the Human Rights Ombudsman's office, containing De Leon Carpio's telephone notes and correspondence could not be located. I did, however, see the judicial records from the original case filed the year before. These were sealed, but as a family member filing directly for the exhumation, I was entitled to read them.

Leafing through the first few pages, I found the report of the Juez de Paz (Justice of the Peace) who was brought out to the Rio Ixcucua by the army to recover the body.(The photos in the press show him surrounded by soldiers, standing over a cadaver. The face of the cadaver cannot be seen.) As I began reading the report, my heart skipped a beat, for it gave exactly the same, detailed, feature by feature description as that contained in the 1992 letter signed by De Leon Carpio. Reading on, I noted that the report gave even more highly detailed information, including the number of bullet bags, the number of bullets in each bag, the canned food in the back pack, the contents of the pockets, etc.etc..The document even described the cadaver's underwear as bikini style, white with horizontal blue lines. I was quite impressed with all of the careful detail until I reached the line that stated "SCARS AND MOLES; NONE".

My husband had been in active combat for seventeen years, and he is quite literally a human museum of battle scars. He has an old scar on his upper right lip, faded but clear, from a fall over a cliff. Since he had no mustache, this would have been quite visible to any physician. Everardo also has a very thick and long scar on his left arm from a deep gash. On his chest, just over his heart, is a large round scar about the size of a silver dollar from a piece of shrapnel that bounced off his breast bone. He was shot through the upper back (shoulder area) with shot gun pellets, a number of which are still embedded in his body. He has a bad scar on one leg perhaps from a bullet, and numerous scars across both legs from shrapnel and fragment wounds. If the Juez de Paz looked at the cadaver in question closely enough to see what kind of blue lines were on the underwear, he would certainly have seen at least some of these very clear and severe scars. Obviously the Juez de Paz never saw my husband's body out there at the Rio Ixcucua at all. Instead he saw a different cadaver in olive green, and was given a pre-written description by the army to sign and file with the courts.

I spoke later with some of the journalists who were present that day. They told me that no one was allowed close to the body, no one was allowed a close up photo of the face, and no one was allowed to investigate the area. They were instead, given an official version by the army members present. I asked if the civilian officials were allowed to look around. The journalists just laughed and said no. I cannot name these journalists for fear of endangering them. One of them was severely battered and hospitalized recently.

The next document of interest in the files was the autopsy report filed by the official Retalhuleu forensic physician. He in fact had filed two documents: one with the death records in Nuevo San Carlos, noting the death of a person in olive green, March 13, 1992, at the site of the combat (filed March 1992). The second, filed March 1992 is the actual report of the autopsy which the doctor performed on the body in question on March 13, 1992, the same day it was brought in from the Rio Ixcucua by the authorities. By law, the autopsy and burial of an identified body had to be carried out within twenty four hours. According to this autopsy report, the body brought in from the river was not that of a person in his thirties, nor was he 1.60 meters, nor dark skinned, nor clean shaven. Rather, the deceased was in his twenties, was 1.55 meters, had a mustache, and had medium toned skin. Moreover, the deceased had turned up ("achinados") eyes, and a scar on one hand. My husband does not have this scar, nor does he have tilted up eyes. The physical description was, in short, of a completely different person than my husband. Moreover, it flatly contradicted the description given in the May 1992 letter signed by Ramiro De Leon Carpio. More startling still was the discrepancy with regard to the cause of death. According to the De Leon Carpio letter Everardo had received a bullet wound in the back and had then shot himself through the mouth to avoid being captured alive. According to this autopsy report, the person had been tied by the ankles, had been fingerprinted (he had black ink on his fingertips), shot, stabbed, battered, had a 2 centimeter strangulation wound around the throat, and a skull crushed by blows. The cause of death is listed as "contusions to the head and thorax" and strangulation. Clearly, this young man had not committed suicide.

On August 17, 1993 I proceeded with the exhumation of the Retalhuleu grave where the body in question was buried. Present were the same Retalhuleu judge, the official forensic physician who had performed the 1992 autopsy, Mary Grandfield from Consular Services at the U.S. Embassy, my lawyers, the cemetery administrator, representatives of the Ministerio Publico and the Department of Health, the police, and numerous other Guatemalan officials. We proceeded to the small uneven area behind the morgue where the unidentified bodies are all buried. The cemetery administrator had marked the spot where his records showed the correct grave to be located. Unfortunately, given that graves are extremely close together, together with the uneven and untended grounds, it is very difficult to measure off the spaces with precision. As a result, the first grave opened was the wrong one, (although it turned out to be immediately next to the correct one) and contained a body in civilian clothing with an intact skull.

The Retalhuleu forensic physician, holding his 1992 autopsy report in his hand, immediately noted that this was not the correct grave. Nevertheless, the head was lifted out of the grave and handed to me in a bucket to examine. It was not that of my husband. The head in the bucket had a metal cap on one front tooth. Everardo has no such caps on his teeth. Also, the spacing of the teeth was quite different. At this point, the authorities had to decide whether to dig open the grave immediately above or immediately below the first one. They dug just above it and found another cadaver in civilian clothes. The skull was intact, although it had a bullet imbedded in one side. Again, the forensic physician indicated that this was not the correct body, and again, the head was brought up in a bucket for my inspection. The skull was missing a front tooth. Everardo is not missing a front tooth. I asked my forensic doctor, Dr. Michael Charney, if it was an old extraction or inflicted at the time of death. He examined the jawbone and pronounced the extraction quite old. Finally, the grave just below the first one was opened. It contained a body with a severely smashed skull, buried with an olive green U.R.N.G. uniform. I am about 5 feet 3 inches tall, and my husband is perhaps a half inch to an inch shorter than I am. The body in the grave was far smaller than I am. Also, the uniform was of a person quite slight in build, which my husband is not. The Retalhuleu forensic doctor confirmed that this was the cadaver brought in from the Rio Ixcucua the year before, and upon which he had performed the autopsy.(The slight size, the olive green uniform, which is unusual in that area, and the terrible head injuries made the recognition easy.) The cadaver was then carried into the morgue. Although the upper part of the skull was in pieces, I could see that the upper front teeth had two metal caps or coronas, which my husband does not have. Dr. Charney examined the pelvic bones of the cadaver and estimated the age at the time of death to be between eighteen and twenty. There is a range of error of approximately five years. However, Everardo was nearly thirty five when he vanished. Clearly, the body was not my husband's.

I then made arrangements to bury the young combatant in the coffin I had bought for Everardo. Because he remains unidentified, I was not permitted to move his body to the small grave plot I had purchased in the legal part of the cemetery. I had to rebury him amongst the XX graves behind the morgue. I did, however, have a small tombstone erected which reads "XX, ?- 12 Marzo 1992, Presente en Ia Lucha". I returned later to be sure the tombstone had actually been erected. It was in place. Also, the day after the exhumation, I returned to the cemetery with a priest who gave a moving mass for all of the XX victims buried in the graves behind the morgue.

Having finished in Retalhuleu, I returned to Guatemala City and reported my findings to Marilyn MacAfee, the U.S. Ambassador to Guatemala. She had previously been concerned that even if the cadaver in the grave turned out not to be that of my husband, that I would have difficulty establishing that Everardo had ever been in the hands of the army in the first place, as the officials were insisting that the witness was lying. I showed her the May 1992 letter signed by Ramiro De Leon Carpio and read her the description it contained, while she looked at Everardo's photograph. Janet Hawkins of the Harvard magazine was with me during this meeting. I pointed out that if the army never had Everardo in the first place, then why did they send his description when asked for a description of the cadaver? Also, if they never had him in the first place, where did they get the feature by feature, to the centimeter accurate description from, and why did they send it? Surely they did not happen to simply guess every feature in my husband's face, together with his height, build, age, and lack of beard or mustache? Ms. MacAfee requested all the information to be presented in writing, and agreed that the evidence was compelling. She also agreed to ask the Minister of Defense, General Mario Enriquez, to meet with me.

I was in fact able to meet with General Mario Enriquez a few days later in the Casa Crema. Susan Lee accompanied me to this meeting. We spoke briefly about the case, and I urged that all thirty six known prisoners be turned over to the Guatemalan courts for fair trials and treatment in accordance with the requirements of international humanitarian law. Alternatively, I asked for them to be placed in a publicly recognized center for prisoners of war, and treated in compliance with the Geneva Conventions. In return, I offered to avoid further public scandal, and to refrain from filing any further charges against the army.

General Enriquez replied that the army never captured my husband and that it was all a tragic misunderstanding. He said that his troops had found a cadaver in olive green at the Rio Ixcucua, and sent it to Retalhuleu for burial. I myself admitted that this was not my husband. Thus the army never had him in the first place. Perhaps he was off on some secret mission somewhere. I showed him the letter signed by Ramiro de Leon Carpio, who was currently the President of Guatemala. I asked him where such a perfect description of Everardo had come from if they never had him in the first place? And why had they sent this description instead of a description of the young man actually found and buried? Enriquez was startled by my response and unable to answer my questions.

General Enriquez then stated that "many other" people were saying that the guerrillas must have switched the body in the Retalhuelu grave in order to make the army look bad. I pointed out that the autopsy was carried out the same day that the body arrived from the Rio Ixcucua, and prior to burial. A good description of the deceased was possible as decomposition had not yet set in. The autopsy report described a person totally different from my husband. The cadaver was never that of my husband in the first place. Moreover, the Retalhuleu forensic physician was present at the exhumation, holding his own 1992 autopsy report in his hand, and clearly stated that the body in the grave was the same one he received on March 13, 1992. As combat had been unusual in that area, cadavers in olive green uniform were uncommon. Moreover, the small size and unusually brutal head injuries made recognition easy. Again, General Enriquez listened uneasily to my response and was quite unable to explain any of the issues I had raised.

General Enriquez closed our meeting by stating the only the subversives claimed that secret prisoners or prisons existed in Guatemala. I asked if he were referring to subversives such as Diana Ortiz, for example, the U.S. citizen nun who had been abducted and tortured in a clandestine prison by Guatemalan authorities. Enriquez did not respond. I again offered to refrain from further charges and international scandal if the thirty six prisoners were presented in a public and legal detention center, protected from any torture or other physical or psychological abuse, and given access to doctors, family members, and human rights organizations. Enriquez simply insisted that no such prisoners existed. Thus we parted.

The OAS Inter American Commission on Human Rights was in Guatemala during the first week of September 1993 and I gave them my full testimony about the exhumation results and my findings from the judicial records, including the 1992 autopsy report.

I also went on a seven day hunger strike, starting approximately the 7 of September 1993. I positioned myself in front of the Polytechnica with thirty six candles for the thirty six prisoners, and four banners. One asked where Everardo and the thirty six prisoners were. The second gave all of their names. The third stated that human rights apply to everyone. The fourth asked "Are you the new army or not?" This referred to the army's claims that under the new president De Leon Carpio, all of the human rights abuses had ceased, and they were the "new army" meriting international respect and support. I stayed day and night there on the Avenida Reforma for a week straight and drank only water. Numerous Guatemalans passed by waving and clapping and shouting "Animo Senora" and "Bamaca Bamaca!"( my husband's last name). They also stopped to visit, bringing flowers, their children, jugs of water and saline solution, candles, books, prayers and hugs. They told me of their own lost loved ones, dragged off long ago and disappeared by the death squads, and told me I was speaking on behalf of many who could not speak for fear of reprisals. Despite all of this, I received no official response at all from the Government. President De Leon Carpio informed the press that he wished to meet with me. I called daily offering to meet with him privately at any time and at any place. This was never arranged. At the end of the week De Leon told the press he wanted to meet with me but of course could not do so out there in public in front of the Polytechnica. He never mentioned my numerous calls and offers to meet with him in private. His fear of the army was quite clear. Only a few weeks earlier his own cousin, Carpio Nicholle had been assassinated by a large group of masked men with military style rifles on a remote road near an army base. Since that time, the president had reversed almost all of the human rights positions he had held during his time as human rights Ombudsman.

I returned to Washington D.C. after the hunger strike and began to inform the different human rights organizations, as well as members of the United States Congress and the Senate. The Inter American Commission issued interim protective orders against the Guatemalan army, requiring, among other things, that a serious search be made for the prisoners and a report filed back with the Commission in thirty days, describing the results of such search. Given the Guatemalan army's insistence that there is no internal war going on in Guatemala, the Commission was careful to refer only to "prisoners" and not to "prisoners of war". The Guatemalan authorities responded to the Commission after sixty days, stating that there was no war ongoing in Guatemala and therefore no such prisoners of war existed, that all criminals were turned over to the courts,and that the interim protective orders were therefore unnecessary and inappropriate. I spoke with the International Red Cross, which has limited power in Guatemala, as the Guatemalan government refuses to recognize an ongoing war, and has also officially rebuffed the organizations offer of "assistance and services". I also addressed the United Nations Human Rights Commission in Geneva, Switzerland during their February 1994 session. Monica Pinto,the U.N. Special Expert for Guatemala, mentioned the case specifically in her presentation to the Committee during that session. I also addressed the U.N. Committee on Forced Disappearances during their 1994 session in New York. The members promised to immediately contact the Guatemalan authorities. Meanwhile, U.S. Representative Connie Morella introduced a Congressional Resolution which specifically included my husband's case. The same resolution was introduced into the Senate by Senator Patty Murray.

In the face of all of this pressure, the Guatemalan army was unable to come up with any reasonable explanations about the case. Since the exhumation, they have given the following arguments, none of which work:

1. They claim they never had Everardo in the first place. But then where did the perfect, feature by feature to the centimeter accurate description of him come from and why did they send it?

2. They claim that the U.R.N. G. must have switched the body in the grave to make them look bad. However, the March 13 1992 autopsy was performed as soon as the body arrived from the Rio Ixcucua, and prior to the burial. The body was never that of my husband in the first place. The features, height, coloring, beard, age and scars are those of a person quite different from my husband. Also, the forensic doctor from Retalhuleu was present at the exhumation in August 1993 and confirmed that the body found in the grave was the same as that brought in from the Rio Ixcucua on March 13, 1992.

3. The army has also claimed that the U.R.N.G. faxed the description of Everardo to De Leon Carpio's office back in 1992. However, I have a copy of the letter sent by the U.R.N.G. leadership. It gives Everardo's name, date of birth, height, and states that he was "dark". They sent no further details because they believed a hoax was being carried out. The De Leon Carpio letter, on the other hand, gives a description of the shape of his face and forehead, his hair, eye brows, nose, lips and build. Where did all these additional details come from?

More importantly, the U.R.N.G. asked for a description of the cadaver found by the army on March 13, 1992. Why did the officials send a description of Everardo instead of the cadaver, which was so different? What objective could exist other than to carry out a terrible hoax?

4. Finally, the army officials speaking with me have tried to suggest that De Leon Carpio's description must have come from "somebody else" other than the army. However, since the body was buried within twenty four hours, there are very few others who saw it prior to burial. These others are all easily ruled out. The following are the alternative sources of the first hand description:

a. The Justice of the Peace initially was taken by military officials to the combat site to see the body. He gave the report I described above, similar to that of De Leon Carpio. It states the precise type of underwear the cadaver had on, plus an highly detailed description of the face, yet states "scars and moles none". Clearly, this Justice of the Peace never really saw my husband's body out there at the Rio Ixcucua. He saw a quite different cadaver, but signed the pre-written report he was given to sign by the army.

b. Members of the National Police were present and helped transfer the cadaver to the morgue in Retalhuleu. But where would they get such an accurate description of Everardo from? The cadaver found was completely different in appearance from my husband. Also what motive could there be for falsifying the description? The police did not take Everardo prisoner.They did not participate in the combat at the River. Moreover, Santiago saw Everardo in the hands of the army, not the police. The police had no motive in issuing a false description of the cadaver other than to help the army cover up an abduction and illegal detention.

c. The official Retalhuleu forensic physician who performed the autopsy on March 13, 1992 is the only civilian to see the cadaver outside the presence of the army officials. The physician described someone completely different from Everardo. The body found in the grave in 1993 matches this description.

d. The Guatemalan army members are the only other people to see the cadaver prior to burial. The certainly would have the motive to falsify the description of the body if they were illegally detaining and torturing Everardo. Moreover, Everardo vanished in a combat with the army.The witness saw Everardo in the hands of the army on numerous occasions. The De Leon Carpio letter was written in response to a U.R.N.G. request to seek forensic photographs and fingerprints of the cadaver from army intelligence. The description sent in no way matches the autopsy report or the body found at the Rio Ixcucua or in the Retalhuleu grave.

In short, the original source of the disinformation can only be the Guatemalan army. It is possible that this disinformation was sent to an intermediate source, which in turn sent it on to De Leon Carpio. But the original source remains the Guatemalan army.

By late January of 1994 the Minister of Defense, General Enriquez began to show signs that some of the international pressure was taking effect. I met with him once again in the Casa Crema, together with Colonel Merida who at that time was the head of G-2 or army intelligence. We began the discussion with the same defense arguments I have outlined above. I explained why none of these arguments were reasonable. I also repeated my efforts to convince them to present the prisoners to the civilian courts of law. In return, I offered again, to cease my lobbying efforts in Washington as well as to legally waive all of my charges against them. They insisted that they did not have Everardo, but were extremely interested in my offer of a discrete and mutual solution. They kept suggesting that perhaps he was on a secret mission, or had perhaps gone to look for me in Texas. When I responded that this was impossible, they looked quite disappointed, as if I had missed an important cue. For the rest of the week I mulled over these conversations, wondering what I had missed, and what the look of disappointment had meant.

After thinking over the various comments, it occurred to me that perhaps these officers did indeed want to resolve the case, but that they were unwilling to admit, even in private, what they had done. What they wanted was some way to give Everardo back without ever having to admit that they had taken him in the first place. For this reason they were urging that he was on a "secret mission" or on his "way to Texas". They wanted him to reappear under some pretext that would show he had never been abducted or abused, and that it was all a "misunderstanding". They wanted a face saving way out of the problem. I was, and still am, willing to allow them a pretext of this nature in order to save my husband's life.

In order to test my hunch, I went to the G-2 office in the National Palace and asked to speak with Col. Merida. He was out of the country, but his second in command received me, somewhat nervously. The man began by berating me about my book but I stopped him and said I was there to correct a potential "misunderstanding". I said that I was convinced that my husband was in the hands of the army, for the reason that I had given. However, should he appear alive in Texas stating that he had changed his mind and wanted to live in the States with me, I would welcome him with open arms. I would also legally waive all claims against the army, as well as inform the Congress and Senate that the matter had been happily resolved. Until he appeared alive, I would continue to fight for his life with all of my might. But if he did appear alive, I would stop all of my efforts. I simply wanted to make it clear that I was not part of a "propaganda stunt" and that all my efforts would halt as soon as Everardo reappeared alive. The G-2 officer's attitude changed dramatically with these comments. He relaxed, became more friendly, poured me coffee and told me that I was a most intelligent woman. He also commented that this is what they had always supposed...that "one" would certainly want to be with "one's family" and that Everardo had perhaps gone to Texas. I reported this interesting series of events to Marilyn MacAfee, the U.S. Ambassador. She found it promising and arranged for a last minute meeting with Enriquez the next morning. Although it was a Friday evening and he was leaving the country on Sunday, he agreed to meet with me on Saturday morning.

Once again I went to the Casa Crema. Enriquez welcomed me quite warmly, and said he had heard of my visit to the G-2 office and that he always had time to meet with me. I repeated that if Everardo showed up alive in Texas or anywhere else, that I would drop all charges and advise both the Congress and Senate that the case had been fully and satisfactorily resolved. The uproar over the case would cease. We could all come out "winners" or we could all come out "losers". I urged that given the new peace process possibilities, that we should work hard for a mutually acceptable solution.

General Enriquez listened quite carefully and agreed that a mutual solution was most preferable. He also stressed that I was most intelligent and honorable, and that he now realized that I was not a subversive propaganda stunt after all. He stated that given his respect for me, he had already ordered his intelligence divisions to carry out a sweep of the U.R.N.G. areas and to find Everardo. We spoke of the different possible scenarios. Perhaps he was wounded and became disconnected from his troops. I nodded. Perhaps, Enriquez offered, he was fighting with the CPRs (civilian resistance populations which the army has bombed for years, and which are now seeking international protection as civilians). I answered that he could not possibly be with the CPRs, indicating that this would not be an acceptable alibi. Enriquez looked disappointed, but dropped the suggestion, and stated that with the sweep he was confident that Everardo would be found and that the case would be happily resolved. He put his arm around my shoulders and walked me to the door, stating that he hoped to one day be present at our children's baptism. He then kissed me on the cheek in front of his troops in the courtyard.

I saw General Enriquez two days later in Washington D.C. in Ambassador Mulet's official residence. The occasion was a reception for the local human rights community as well as a number of Congressional assistants. General Euriquez was of course present, as were representatives of EPICA, Americas Watch, Guatemala Partners, NISGUA, and the Guatemala Human Rights Commission. So was Deb Hauger from House Foreign Affairs, and Col. Keller, the new military attache in Guatemala.

General Enriquez began by giving a small speech, during which he admitted that the army had committed some excesses, and thanking the human rights community for pointing these out. He also mentioned that he was pleased to see me again so soon, and how much respect he had for me. He appeared to be quite nervous and tense. Instead of having everyone sit down together for a discussion, the arrangements were that General Enriquez circulated informally from group to group in the room, chatting. I listened to him speaking with Anne Manuel at one point, and asked him about my case. He said that if I could just tell him where my husband was being held, he would take me there himself and set things straight. This is similar to his other on the record comments and did not surprise me at all. I answered that I could certainly not guess where the army was hiding and torturing my husband, and that responsibility lay with the army. Anne Manuel then asked if the army was going to do something, or leave it all up to me. For the first time in public, General Enriquez answered that he was in fact ordering a search for Everardo and hoped that he would soon be found. I was surprised and pleased to hear him say this on the record. As he circulated around the room, he repeated a number of times that he fully recognized the importance of this case and that the credibility and prestige of the army were at stake, and that he was making it a high priority to find Everardo, and clear the matter up for once and for all. He repeated a number of times that he was ordering a search, and stated that now that Everardo's photo had been published together with mine in my book, that they knew who to look for, and that this would be of great help. This comment amused me, as Everardo's photo had been published repeatedly in the Guatemalan press for some time. He spoke confidently of finding Everardo, and seemed to wish to reassure everyone in the room that the matter would soon be properly resolved. Deb Hauger approached me and said that he had just taken her aside and said that he thought Everardo was probably still alive, although "of course he didn't know". At another interval, he said that he much hoped to one day see Everardo and Jennifer in Texas, living happily ever after. (Pat Davis of the G.H.R.C./ USA heard this comment. ) In his closing speech he again stressed his respect for me, and repeated that he recognized that the case was urgent and critical to the credibility of the army. He stated that the army was going to carry out an intense search, and indicated his confidence that Everardo would be found, and his hopes to see us living happily together again. I was, needless to say, very happy with all of these public declarations. The fact that he was willing to go on the record with such confidence and openness about the "search" and hint so broadly and confidently at a happy ending convinced me that without a doubt Everardo was still alive. A number of other human rights people began to congratulate me. A U.S. military staff person kissed me on the cheek and told me he was proud of me. General Enriquez left, murmuring to me that he would be in touch soon through the Embassy. A few days later, at a hearing before the Inter American Commission of Human Rights, one of Mr. Guadamuz's assistants told me not to worry, that the Minister of Defense had said he would take care of things.

I waited until May to hear back from General Enriquez. Instead of word about my husband, however, I heard constant rumors of an imminent coup. There were obvious signs of internal instability. Colonel Merida left the army and ended up in Ministry of Government. General Quilo left the army abruptly. In February, at the U.N. Commission hearings in Geneva, a number of Guatemalan civilians arrived to testify about ongoing human rights violations. All were frightened and had been receiving threats, and all were expecting an imminent lifting of constitutional rights pursuant to a "state of emergency". The state of emergency was not declared, but instead, after much pressure, De Leon Carpio "invited" the army in to help maintain order in the streets. Human rights violations began to escalate alarmingly.

Given this alarming turn of events, I returned to Guatemala in May 1994 and again went to meet with General Euriquez. This time he appeared much less self confident than he had in January. However, we again had a tacit bargaining session. He told me that perhaps Everardo would appear when the international verification team arrived. I pointed out that the verification team would never find him, since the army would move him as soon as the verification team even approached his detention area. The army does, after all, have radar, sentry, and other advanced surveillance and security methods at their disposal. It would be hard to sneak up on a military base in the most militarized country in the world. By the time the international team even drew near, Everardo would be evacuated by either helicopter or vehicle. I stated that this offer was not satisfactory. Enriquez then took my arm in his hand and said that he was not suggesting that the verification team find Everardo. He was suggesting that Everardo might be lost or disconnected from his troops, and when he heard that the verification team was nearby, he would have the necessary trust to turn himself in to them, for protection. Again, I stated that if he turned up alive, I would question nothing, and sign a legal waiver of my rights to file an charges or claims against them. I would also inform Congress and Senate of the happy resolution of the case. He again complimented me on my intelligence and noted that everyone liked me, and that this was why the case was receiving so much attention and support. He again indicated his hopes to see a happy ending to the matter. I asked if the thought it was possible that Everardo would find the verification team. He looked me in the eye and said, "Yes, it is possible." Then he accompanied me to the door. I left with a sense of unease. He clearly was much less confident than he had been in January, but equally clearly signalling me of the possibility of working things out even yet.

It was during this May trip that I met with my first difficulties with Marilyn MacAfee, the U.S. Ambassador. She had requested in writing that Congresswoman Connie Morella remove my case from the Congressional resolution. Fortunately for me, this request had been refused. MacAfee had not requested the removal of any of the other individual cases. I asked her about this point blank and she assured me that she had always insisted that the case be treated on an equal basis as all the others. I pointed out that her request was in writing and bore her signature. She said she would have to review her files. She then told me I really had no evidence to suggest my husband was still alive. I reviewed the fact that he has a great deal of knowledge and information still valuable to the army, that he is still a good negotiations chip for bargaining with the U.R.N. G., that U.R.N.G intelligence has received confirmation that he is still alive, that several Guatemalans had brought me word of recent sightings of Everardo in the southwest, and of course, General Enriquez' discussions with me. She simply brushed off the confirmation reports and told me that I was putting words in General Enriquez's mouth. She pointed out that Col.Keller had been with him in Washington during the January trip and had not heard the comments I was referring to. Then she stated that she understood my need to keep my hopes up, but again indicated that the general had not made these comments. Pat Davis of the Guatemalan Human Rights Commission/USA was present during this conversation.

Given this discussion, I went to see Col. Keller in office there at the Embassy. I told him that during the January reception I had heard General Enriquez state 1. his respect for me, 2. his recognition of the importance of the case and its urgency for the prestige and credibility of the Guatemalan army 3. his intent to have a thorough search and sweep carried out to find and or capture Everardo 4. how helpful the photo would be in the search and 5. how he looked forward to seeing both Everardo and Jennifer living happily ever after in Texas together. I also mentioned his comment to Deb Hauger that he thought Everardo was probably still alive although of course he didn't know. Then I asked Col.Keller what comments he remembered. He responded that he remembered the same comments. Ms. MacAfee then entered the room and I repeated the entire conversation, again asking Col.Keller what his recollection of the conversation was. He again confirmed that he had the same recollection. Ms. MacAfee had no comment. Pat Davis was also present during this conversation.

I also asked MacAfee during this trip what she had done recently to press the case. She said that she continued to mention it, but that the army insisted they do not have my husband. I asked what consequences would take place if they killed him and the other prisoners in the face of OAS orders, Monica Pinto's clear requirements, and the outcry from Washington and the other international human rights organizations. She stated that there would be no consequences.

I note that U.S. Vice President Al Gore was in the region during this time frame, pushing the interim trade plan and NAFTA for Central America. Guatemala cannot enter NAFTA until a peace agreement is signed and my case is quite embarrassing for this peace process as it shows 1. The army is not negotiating in good faith if they are urging the U.R.N.G. to disarm and return to Guatemala on the basis of trust, even as the army is secretly detaining and abusing some thirty six U.R.N.G. prisoners, including a founder and comandante. 2. The army is already in violation of the Global Human Rights Accord, signed in March 1994 and already legally in effect. It covers treatment of prisoners.

I returned one more time to Guatemala in August of 1994 with the idea of finding out if there was any realistic chance left for negotiating the release of my husband and the other thirty five prisoners. I was not at all hopeful, but did not want to close the door on a potentially peaceful solution to the problem. Unfortunately, things were as I had expected. The army had quite closed the door to any further talks. I went to the Ministry of Defense when I arrived, and spoke with Col. Sandoval as usual to set up an appointment with Enriquez. After a week without any response I went back and asked again for an appointment. He told me the General was in the interior for the week and could not see me. I offered to meet with him anywhere in the interior, or over the weekend. Sandoval said he did not meet over weekends. Enriquez had in fact met with me before on a Saturday. I pressed for a meeting any time or place and offered to stay a few extra days if need be. Sandoval said he would be in touch. A few days later I went to a nearby office to speak with Col. Garcia Sosa about setting up meetings with some of the other Generals. He said that I was required to speak first with Enriquez, adding that "He's right down the hall in the Ministry of Defense". I returned down to the Ministry of Defense but was asked to wait in the hall. Sandoval would not come out to talk to me. Instead he sent out a messenger to tell me to put my request in writing and turn it in at still another office. I asked if Enriquez was there and was told he had just left. I filed my written request as instructed but never received an answer. I also left a long letter at the Casa Crema for Enriquez detailing my offered solutions to the case.

I again spoke with Ms. MacAfee on this trip. She conceded that she had in fact written the letter to Rep. Connie Morella, as I had told her. She justified the request on her belief that funding should never be withheld for an individual case. I told her that this was not an individual case. It was a test case. Was the army going to comply with its human rights agreements or not? Also, she had not asked for the other individual cases to be removed from the resolution. She hesitated, then said that of course this case WAS different as my husband is a combatant. I told her that there was no such difference recognized by international human rights law. She had no response. I had also asked her to accompany me to visit President De Leon Carpio, as she did with Diana Ortiz and others. She told me she had spoken with the President and he stated he was willing to meet with me. I asked her to go with me to show her official support. She was clearly unhappy about this but agreed to do so. For the rest of the week, the Embassy tried to set up an appointment, but the President never did set up a time for us to meet. Ms. Gorman of Consular services noted that he did not in fact seem truly willing to meet with me.

Finally, Ms. MacAfee asked why the U.R.N.G. did not resolve the case at the peace talks. This is a matter we had thoroughly discussed in the past. The issues on the peace talks agenda are all matters of public interest, such as labor rights and equality for the indigenous people. The U.R.N.G. leadership cannot ethically bargain away a matter belonging to the entire people of Guatemala in return for the release of their friend. Moreover, they should not have to bargain with the army for the release of Everardo and the thirty six prisoners to the Guatemalan courts. This is already required by Guatemalan law, as well as international humanitarian law. It is also a matter covered by the Global Human Rights Accord, which as noted above, has already been signed and is now in effect. I have already spoken about this with Mr. Jean Arnault of the U.N. He also sees it as inappropriate for negotiations. We both agreed though, that it could be handled as a separate matter, in a "Gentleman's Agreement." Evidently the army is not interested in this, however. They wish to bargain my husband for more power for themselves.

I am convinced, from General Enriquez' comments in January and June of 1994, that Everardo was alive as of very recently and quite possibly still is. This has been confirmed on several occasions by internal intelligence reports of the U.R.N.G., plus informal reports to me by Guatemalan citizens who tell me they have seen him in the southwest near the army bases. I believe that he is still alive because he still has information which the army needs, and because he is still of value as a negotiating chip. However, I am convinced that time is of the essence is saving his life.

SUBJECT: Mexico's Growing Economic and Commercial Interests in Cuba

The recent visits of top Mexican officials and growing Mexican investments in Cuba reflect Mexico's interest in maintaining good relations with Havana and its rejection of US policy toward Cuba, especially the trade embargo. The recent upsurge in investment is the result of the GOM's desire to recoup non-performing Cuban debt and to help Mexican businessmen establish a base in what the see as a potentially lucrative Cuban market.

Mexican commercial interests in Cuba have continued uninterrupted since the early 1950s, but the amount and pace of new investment has increased dramatically since Cuba's loss of up to $6 billion in annual Soviet subsidies. A recent agreement to form a joint venture between the Cuban government and a Mexican oil consortium to own and operate Cuba's largest oil refinery will make Mexico Cuba's largest foreign investor. The deal will wipe out the remainder of Cuba's $300-$350 million debt to Mexico held by the government's export promotion bank, Bancomext, restoring Cuba's access to much-needed revolving credits. Mexico sells oil products to Cuba through 30-day letters of credit--sales totaled $92 million in 1993. In addition to obtaining significant debt relief, Havana has an opportunity to portray itself as a reliable business partner while seeking badly needed new foreign investment.

Bad debts. The Mexican government has been anxious to settle Cuba's outstanding debt, which was essentially uncollectible; it was restructured four times during 1982-1991, but Cuba still defaulted. Officials insist the investments and debt-swaps are on strictly commercial terms. Under the debt-for-equity swap program, designed to entice Mexican firms to invest in Cuba, over 200, mostly small, companies have taken advantage of the favorable terms. Though they do not expect to make much money in the short term, Mexican businessmen, looking at Cuba's long-term profit potential, want to pre-position themselves, along with Canadian, Spanish, and other European investors, for the anticipated post-embargo boom. They are betting that when the US decides to get back into Cuba, it will be too late.

Oil deal. Under the refinery agreement, signed during Mexican Foreign Minister Tello's September 19-21 visit to Havana, Mexpetrol, partially owned by Pemex, the Mexican government oil monopoly, will invest $100 million--$50 million in the form of a Bancomext debt-for-equity swap-[redacted] Mexpetrol will renovate the plant, constructing new cracking units that can handle grades of Mexican crude the refinery cannot now process. Pemex Director Fernando Rojos told the press the refinery deal will secure a strategic position in the Caribbean. It is a long-term investment designed to give Pemex and Mexpetrol a privileged market position when the Cuban economy opens up. b1

Once the plant is in operation, refined products will be sold on the Cuban domestic market, potentially easing Cuba's acute fuel shortage and the attendant power blackouts that are a major source of discontent for the Cuban populace. The plant has an output capacity of 3 million tons; Cuba imported 6 million tons of petroleum products last year and could absorb the entire production in its domestic market. Due to a lack of hard currency, Cuba's oil imports have fallen drastically from $2.6 billion in 1989 to $620 million in 1993. Plans to export part of the plant's production could earn hard currency for the cash-strapped government. [redacted] b1

According to press reports, Mexpetrol will supply the refinery with crude, up to 65,000 barrels a day at full operating capacity. We do not know how the imports will be financed but there are no indications the petroleum will be supplied on a concessionary basis. In theory, credits for oil purchases for the joint venture will be arranged by Mexpetrol, probably at more favorable rates and conditions than those extended to the Cuban government.

Telephones and more. During President Salinas's visit to Havana last June, an agreement was reached whereby the private Mexican firm Grupo Domos purchased 49% of the Cuban telephone company for an total investment of $1.5 billion over six years, with an initial investment of $500 million plus $200 million from a debt-swap. Along with other joint ventures in textiles, hotels, glass, and cement - also supported by debt-for-equity swaps - the oil and telephone deals bring net Mexican investment in Cuba to over $1 billion, pushing Mexico ahead of Spain and Canada as Cuba's largest foreign investor.

SUBJECT: GUATEMALA - HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT FOR 1994

1. LOU - NOFORN -- ENTIRE TEXT.

2. FOLLOWING IS THE 1994 COUNTRY HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT FOR GUATEMALA.

3. GUATEMALA'S 1985 CONSTITUTION CALLS FOR ELECTION BY UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE OF A ONE TERM PRESIDENT, A UNICAMERAL CONGRESS, AND MUNICIPAL OFFICERS; IT MANDATES AN INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY AND A HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, WHO IS ELECTED BY AND REPORTS TO CONGRESS. ON JUNE 5, 1993 CONGRESS, AS PRESCRIBED BY THE CONSTITUTION, ELECTED THEN HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN RAMIRO DE LEON CARPIO TO FINISH THE PRESIDENTIAL TERM OF JORGE SERRANO, WHO HAD BEEN CONSTITUTIONALLY DEPOSED FROM OFFICE FOLLOWING AN EFFORT TO SEIZE FULL POWER. PRESIDENT DE LEON'S TERM ENDS IN JANUARY 1996.

ONCE IN OFFICE, DE LEON LAUNCHED AN ANTI-CORRUPTION CAMPAIGN THAT LED TO A POLITICAL CONFRONTATION WITH THE LEGISLATURE AND SUPREME COURT, BOTH WIDELY SEEN AS CORRUPT. THIS CONFRONTATION WAS FINALLY RESOLVED WITH A JANUARY 30, 1994 REFERENDUM ON CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES. THESE CHANGES LED TO NEW CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS IN AUGUST AND THE OCTOBER REPLACEMENT OF THE SUPREME COURT. TWO CONSERVATIVE ANTI-CORRUPTION PARTIES, THE GUATEMALAN REPUBLICAN FRONT (FRG) AND THE PARTY OF NATIONAL ADVANCEMENT (PAN), WON SEVENTY PERCENT OF THE SEATS IN CONGRESS. GENERAL ELECTIONS ARE SCHEDULED FOR LATE 1995.

THE ARMED FORCES OPERATE WITH CONSIDERABLE INSTITUTIONAL AND LEGAL AUTONOMY, PARTICULARLY IN SECURITY AND MILITARY MATTERS. WITH THE ENTRY INTO FORCE EARLIER THIS YEAR OF THE NEW CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE, MILITARY PERSONNEL ACCUSED OF

COMMITTING CIVIL CRIMES ARE SUBJECT TO TRIAL IN CIVILIAN COURTS. THE 43,000-MAN ARMY, WHICH HAS RESPONSIBILITY FOR NATIONAL SECURITY, HAS FOUGHT A LEFTIST INSURGENCY FOR MORE THAN THREE DECADES. THE

GUATEM 00917B 01 OF 18 062005Z 005258 S096339

NATIONAL POLICE (12,000 STRONG) AND TREASURY POLICE (2,000) REPORT TO THE GOVERNMENT MINISTER AND SHARE RESPONSIBILITY FOR INTERNAL SECURITY WITH THE ARMY. TO COMBAT RISING CRIME, LIMITED JOINT NATIONAL POLICE - ARMY PATROLS WERE REINSTITUTED IN DECEMBER 1993 AND IN MARCH 1994, PRESIDENT DE LEON APPOINTED THE THEN-HEAD OF ARMY INTELLIGENCE (D-2) AS VICE MINISTER OF GOVERNMENT, REVERSING A TREND HE BEGAN UPON TAKING OFFICE OF REMOVING MILITARY PERSONNEL FROM CIVILIAN LAW ENFORCEMENT POSITIONS. PRESIDENT DE LEON HAS ANNOUNCED THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A SECRETARIAT OF INTELLIGENCE, A CIVILIAN INTELLIGENCE SERVICE, TO BEGIN OPERATIONS IN 1995. THIS WOULD DIMINISH PRESIDENTIAL RELIANCE ON THE MILITARY INTELLIGENCE UNIT KNOWN AS "ARCHIVOS", WHICH DE LEON DISESTABLISHED SOON AFTER TAKING OFFICE IN JUNE 1993.

AN ESTIMATED 430,000 MEN SERVE IN VOLUNTARY CIVIL SELF-DEFENSE COMMITTEES, COMMONLY CALLED CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS (PAC'S), SOME OF WHICH CONDUCT COUNTERINSURGENCY PATROLS IN RURAL AREAS. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN AND THE CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED THAT IN SOME REGIONS PAC MEMBERS WERE COMPELLED TO JOIN THE PATROLS, IN VIOLATION OF THE CONSTITUTION. SECURITY FORCES AND ESPECIALLY PAC'S AND CIVILIAN MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, WHO ARE THE INTERMEDIARY BETWEEN THE PACS AND THE ARMED FORCES, ARE BELIEVED TO HAVE COMMITTED NUMEROUS SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS IN 1994.

THE AGRICULTURE-BASED, PRIVATE SECTOR-ORIENTED ECONOMY WAS PROJECTED TO GROW APPROXIMATELY 4 PERCENT IN REAL TERMS IN 1994, WHICH WOULD PRODUCE AN INCREASE IN PER CAPITA INCOME OF ABOUT 1 PERCENT. INFLATION IS EXPECTED TO EXCEED 10 PERCENT. GUATEMALA HAS NEGOTIATED A SHADOW AGREEMENT WITH THE INTERNATIONAL MONETARY FUND, DESPITE FISCAL AND MONETARY DIFFICULTIES. THERE IS A MARKED DISPARITY IN INCOME DISTRIBUTION AND POVERTY IS PERVASIVE, PARTICULARLY IN THE LARGE INDIGENOUS COMMUNITY.

WHILE HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS NOW HAVE GREATER FREEDOM TO REPORT, COMMENT ON AND DENOUNCE ABUSES, HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS CONTINUE AT AN ALARMING RATE. STATISTICS PREPARED BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE, UTILIZING MEDIA REPORTS AND INTERVIEWS WITH VICTIMS, SUGGEST A SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE IN HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS COMPARED WITH THE SAME PERIOD IN 1993.

SUBJECT: GUATEMALA - HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT FOR 1994

INSURGENTS RECOMMENCED IN JANUARY 1994 AND ACHIEVED A HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORD IN MARCH. THE AGREEMENT, WHICH TOOK FORCE IMMEDIATELY, LED TO THE SEPTEMBER INTRODUCTION OF A UN HUMAN RIGHTS VERIFICATION

MISSION INTO GUATEMALA. RECOGNIZING GOVERNMENT EFFORTS TO MAKE PROGRESS IN HUMAN RIGHTS HAS BEEN HAMPERED BY A LACK OF RESOURCES AND AN INEFFECTIVE POLICE AND JUDICIARY, THE UN TEAM WILL HAVE AS PART OF ITS MISSION FORTIFYING LOCAL INSTITUTIONS DEALING WITH HUMAN RIGHTS, INCLUDING THE COURTS AND POLICE. DESPITE THE MARCH ACCORD, MANY ACTIVISTS CRITICIZED THE GOVERNMENT FOR BEING LAX IN FULFILLING ITS COMMITMENTS AND ALSO EXPRESSED CONCERN ABOUT THE DELAYED ARRIVAL OF THE UN TEAM.

A JUNE 1994 GOVERNMENT-URNG ACCORD CALLS FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT, AT THE END OF THE WAR, OF A COMMISSION OF HISTORICAL CLARIFICATION TO ANALYZE AND CATALOG HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES RELATED TO THE INTERNAL CONFLICT. THE COMMISSION WILL NOT NAME PAST VIOLATORS AND ITS FINDINGS WILL NOT HAVE JUDICIAL FORCE.

[illegible] MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, ARMY, POLICE AND GUERRILLAS AS WELL AS EXTREMIST MEMBERS OF THE LEFT [illegible] RIGHT WING ARE BELIEVED TO HAVE COMMITTED MANY OF [illegible] MAJOR VIOLATIONS, INCLUDING EXTRAJUDICIAL [illegible] INGS, POLITICAL KIDNAPPINGS, DEATH THREATS AND [illegible] RECRUITMENT. POLITICAL KILLINGS, FOR EXAMPLE, [illegible] NUED AT AN ALARMING RATE, BUT THE GOVERNMENT [illegible] TO INVESTIGATE INEQUALITY OF TO BRING [illegible] PERATORS TO JUSTICE. GUERRILLA ABUSES INCLUDED [illegible] KIDNAPPINGS, THE WIDESPREAD USE OF MINES AND [illegible] BOMBS IN CIVILIAN AREAS, FORCED RECRUITMENT OF [illegible] FIRM AND REPRISAL ATTACKS AGAINST THOSE PERSONS

[illegible] REFUSE TO PAY EXTORTION. ATTACKS ON [illegible] INFRASTRUCTURAL TARGETS BY GUERRILLAS CONTINUED [illegible] THROUGHOUT THE YEAR. IN AUGUST, A GUERRILLA PATROL

GUATEM 00178 02 OF 18 062005Z 005259 S096365

MACHINE GUNNED A CIVILIAN BUS, LEADING TO ELEVEN CIVILIAN INJURIES AND ONE CIVILIAN DEATH.

RESPECT FOR HUMAN RIGHTS SECTION 1 RESPECT FOR THE INTEGRITY OF THE PERSON, INCLUDING FREEDOM FROM:

A. POLITICAL AND OTHER EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLING

POLITICALLY MOTIVATED KILLINGS CONTINUED IN 1994 AND WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS, DUE TO THE LACK OF POLITICAL WILL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT RESOURCES, THE GOVERNMENT FAILED TO INVESTIGATE THEM FULLY OR TO DETAIN AND PROSECUTE THE PERPETRATORS. THROUGH THE FIRST SEVEN MONTHS OF THIS YEAR, THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE LISTED 83 CASES OF POSSIBLE EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED 209 EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS THROUGH JULY 1994 COMPARED WITH 97 IN THE SAME TIME PERIOD IN 1993 AND 142 IN 1992. THE CHURCH OFFICE HAS LABELED 19 OF THE EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS AS DEFINITELY POLITICAL AND 133 AS PRESUMED POLITICAL. NEITHER HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE BROKE DOWN THE FIGURES ACCORDING TO THE ORGANIZATION BELIEVED TO BE RESPONSIBLE.

PAC LEADERS AND MILITARY COMMISSIONERS ARE FEARED IN MANY RURAL COMMUNITIES. THEY ENJOY ARMY BACKING AND OFTEN DE FACTO IMMUNITY FROM PROSECUTION. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED THAT THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH HAS FAILED TO CARRY OUT ARREST WARRANTS AGAINST 26 MILITARY COMMISSIONERS AND PAC MEMBERS FOR THEIR INVOLVEMENT IN HUMAN RIGHTS CRIMES. WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THE ARREST OF A FEW PAC MEMBERS ACCUSED OF INVOLVEMENT IN THE 1993 JORGE CARPIO MURDER, MEMBERS OF THE PAC'S ARE RARELY HELD ACCOUNTABLE FOR THEIR CRIMES.

DESPITE BEING AWARE OF THE LOCATIONS OF VARIOUS PAC MEMBERS WANTED FOR INVOLVEMENT IN THE 1993 COLOTENANGO KILLING OF JUAN CHONAY PABLO AND THE 1993 QUICHE KILLING OF TOMAS LARES CIPRIAN, THE GOVERNMENT FAILED TO CARRY OUT THE MAJORITY OF THE ARREST WARRANTS. IN THE JUAN CHONAY PABLO KILLING, WHICH OCCURRED DURING AN ANTI-PAC DEMONSTRATION, FIFTEEN ARREST WARRANTS FOR PAC MEMBERS WERE ISSUED. THE AUTHORITIES HAVE ARRESTED TWO PERSONS. ONE WAS RELEASED FOR INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE LINKING HIM TO THE CRIME AND THE PUBLIC MINISTRY HAS REQUESTED THE RELEASE OF THE OTHER UNDER PERSONAL BOND. THREE MORE PERSONS TURNED THEMSELVES IN TO AUTHORITIES, TWO OF WHOM HAVE BEEN RELEASED DUE TO LACK OF EVIDENCE.

THUS FAR, ONLY ONE PERSON REMAINS IN JAIL AWAITING TRIAL. WITNESSES IN THE CHONAY CASE HAVE REPORTED BEING HARASSED BY PAC MEMBERS. IN THE 1993 QUICHE KILLING OF TOMAS LARES CIPRIANO, SIX PAC MEMBERS WERE CHARGED WITH HAVING KILLED CIPRIAN AFTER HE RESIGNED FROM THE PAC'S. THE AUTHORITIES ARRESTED TWO PERSONS WHO HAVE BEEN RELEASED UNDER PERSONAL BONDS. ANOTHER PERSON TURNED HIMSELF IN AND ALL CHARGES HAVE BEEN DISMISSED AGAINST HIM. ARREST WARRANTS HAVE NOT BEEN CARRIED OUT AGAINST THE REMAINING THREE PERSONS WANTED BY THE AUTHORITIES.

ON MARCH 29, U.S. CITICIZEN JUNE DIANE WEINSTOCK WAS BRUTALLY BEATEN BY A SAN CRISTOBAL, ALTA VERAPAZ MOB WHO HAD WRONGLY ACCUSED HER OF STEALING BABY PARTS. LEFT FOR DEAD, WEINSTOCK WAS EVENTUALLY TRANSPORTED TO A HOSPITAL, GRAVELY INJURED GOG AUTHORITIES HAVE ARRESTED 55 PERSONS FOR THE BEATING AND THEY REMAIN IN JAIL AWAITING TRIAL.

ON MAY 31, A JOINT MILITARY-POLICE OPERATION ARRESTED FOUR SAN PEDRO JOCOPILAS PAC MEMBERS/MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WANTED FOR THEIR ALLEGED INVOLVEMENT IN THE JULY 1993 MURDER OF NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER AND FORMER PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE JORGE CARPIO. HOWEVER, JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES LATER RELEASED ALL FOUR, CITING INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE TYING THEM TO THE CRIME. THE CARPIO FAMILY APPEALED THE RELEASE AND CRITICIZED THE GOVERNMENT FOR FAILURE TO CARRY OUT THE ARREST WARRANTS FOR SIX OTHER PAC MEMBERS WANTED IN THIS CASE. ON SEPTEMBER 7, THREE DIFFERENT PAC MEMBERS/MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WANTED BY THE AUTHORITIES TURNED THEMSELVES IN. THESE INDIVIDUALS WERE RELEASED BY THE JUDGE UNDER PERSONAL BOND PENDING CLARIFICATION OF THEIR IDENTITIES AND FURTHER

INVESTIGATION OF THE CRIME. INCLUDING ANOTHER SAN PEDRO JOCOPILAS PAC MEMBER CURRENTLY IN JAIL FOR ANOTHER MURDER, WHO IS SUSPECTED OF PARTICIPATING IN

GUATEM 00178 03 OF 18 062000Z 005262 S006399
THE CARPIO MURDER, THERE ARE A TOTAL OF FOUR PERSONS IN JAIL AWAITING FURTHER JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS WHO ARE BELIEVED TO HAVE PARTICIPATED IN THIS CRIME. THE JORGE CARPIO FAMILY REPORTS THAT VARIOUS FAMILY MEMBERS HAVE BEEN THREATENED SINCE HIS TRAGIC DEATH. ON JUNE 25, UNKNOWN ARMED PERSONS RAMMED THEIR CAR INTO KAREN FISCHER DE CARPIO'S CAR AND WHEN THEY DETERMINED SHE WAS NOT IN THE CAR, LEFT DEATH THREATS FOR FISCHER WITH HER DRIVER. FISCHER SUBSEQUENTLY LEFT GUATEMALA WITH HER CHILDREN FOR THE US WHERE SHE REMAINED FOR SEVERAL MONTHS.

THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED THAT THE JUNE 28 DEATH OF RETIRED ARMY OFFICER LIEUTENANT DIAZ WAS PERPETRATED BY ARMY PERSONNEL OR FORMER PAC MEMBERS WHO HAD PARTICIPATED WITH DIAZ IN THE 1981-1982 RABINAL MASSACRES. THE MASSACRE PARTICIPANTS ALLEGEDLY ASSASSINATED DIAZ TO PREVENT HIM FROM PUBLICLY COMMENTING OR TESTIFYING ON THE MASSACRES. THE CHURCH OFFICE ASSERTS THAT THE DEATHS OF TWO OTHER RABINAL RESIDENTS, A MILITARY COMMISSIONER AND THE SON OF THE LAND OWNER WHERE EXHUMATIONS ARE TAKING PLACE, WERE ORCHESTRATED TO SEND A MESSAGE TO THE RABINAL COMMUNITY TO REMAIN SILENT. THERE ARE CREDIBLE REPORTS BY THE MEDIA AND THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHT'S OFFICE THAT IN JULY THE ARMY CONDUCTED HOUSE-TO-HOUSE INSPECTIONS AND INTERROGATIONS IN THE COMMUNITY AND TOLD MALE

RESIDENTS IN A COMMUNITY MEETING NOT TO PARTICIPATE IN THE ONGOING EXHUMATIONS. WHILE NOT ADMITTING THESE EVENTS TOOK PLACE, THE SENIOR OFFICER WHO ALLEGEDLY CALLED THE MEETING HAS BEEN TRANSFERRED.

ON APRIL 1, CONSTITUTIONAL COURT PRESIDENT EPAMINONDAS GONZALEZ DUBON WAS KILLED WHILE RETURNING FROM HOLY WEEK RELIGIOUS PROCESSIONS. THE MOTIVE BEHIND THE CRIME REMAINS UNRESOLVED. INITIALLY, MANY BELIEVED THAT THE MURDER WAS AN INTIMIDATION ATTEMPT BY THOSE WISHING TO DESTABILIZE THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION OR A REPRISAL DIRECTED AT THE JUDGE FOR HIS ANTI-SERRANO ROLE IN THE "AUTOGOLPE." ON APRIL 26, THE GOG ANNOUNCED THE ARREST OF TWELVE PERSONS, MEMBERS OF AN ALLEGED CAR THEFT RING, FOUR OF WHOM WERE SAID TO HAVE PARTICIPATED IN THE SHOOTING. ONLY TWO INDIVIDUALS REMAIN IN JAIL AWAITING TRIAL. OTHERS HAVE BEEN RELEASED DUE TO INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE.

THERE WAS SOME PROGRESS IN CERTAIN PAST HIGH-PROFILE CASES. ON FEBRUARY 8, THE SUPREME COURT CONFIRMED THE TWENTY-FIVE YEAR SENTENCE GIVEN TO FORMER GOVERNMENT SECURITY AGENT NOEL DE JESUS BETETA FOR

THE 1990 KILLING OF MYRNA MACK, THE COURT LEFT LEGAL PROCEEDINGS OPEN AGAINST THE ALLEGED INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS OF THE CRIME. THE FORMER SENIOR MILITARY OFFICERS IMPLICATED IN THE CASE HAVE APPEALED THE DECISION TO THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT. HELEN MACK, MYRNA'S SISTER, HAS ALSO APPEALED A SUPREME COURT DECISION DENYING HER REQUEST THAT IT ORDER THE RELEASE OF EXECUTIVE BRANCH DOCUMENTS CONCERNING HER SISTER'S MURDER. THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH MAINTAINS IT DOES NOT HAVE ANY FILES NOT ALREADY IN THE HANDS OF THE COURT.

ON MAY 18, THE COURT OF APPEALS CONFIRMED THE TWO YEAR COMMUTABLE SENTENCE AND 40 DOLLAR FINE AGAINST THE CORPORAL GUARDING MARIO TUM ZARAT FOR ALLOWING THE MAY 1993 ESCAPE OF CAPTAIN CONTRERAS, WHO HAD JUST BEEN CONVICTED AND SENTENCED TO 28 YEARS IN PRISON FOR THE KILLING OF AMERICAN MICHAEL DEVINE IN 1990. CAPTAIN CONTRERAS REMAINS A FUGITIVE. ON SEPTEMBER 6, THE SUPREME COURT CONFIRMED THE THIRTY YEAR SENTENCE GIVEN THE 5 ENLISTED MEN CONVICTED IN THE DEVINE MURDER. SENIOR OFFICERS BELIEVED TO BE INVOLVED IN COVERING UP THE CRIME HAVE NOT BEEN BROUGHT TO TRIAL. SINCE JANUARY 1, 1994, TWO RELATIVES OF WITNESSES WHO TESTIFIED AT THE DEVINE TRIAL (ONE CIVILIAN AND ONE SOLDIER) HAVE BEEN KILLED; ANOTHER (A SOLDIER) WAS SHOT IN THE LEG UNDER SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES. THE DEAD SOLDIER WAS FOUND WITH HIS TONGUE CUT OUT, HANDS MUTILATED AND A BULLET WOUND IN HIS SKULL. ADDITIONALLY, TWO OTHER RELATIVES HAVE BEEN TARGETS OF INTIMIDATION.

ON MARCH 18 AND AUGUST 22, THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT DISMISSED APPEALS FILED BY DEFENDANTS, 22 FORMER "HUNAPU" ANTI-CRIME TASK FORCE POLICE OFFICERS,

CONCERNING THEIR LENGTHY (TWENTY YEARS PLUS) PRISON SENTENCES WHICH HAD BEEN PREVIOUSLY CONFIRMED BY THE SUPREME COURT. THE OFFICERS HAD BEEN FOUND GUILTY IN

GUATEM 09170 04 OF 18 062000Z 005263 S096422

THE APRIL 22, 1992 DEATH OF UNIVERSITY STUDENT JULIO RIGOBERTO CU QUIN AND INJURY TO SIX OTHER STUDENTS. THE CASE REMAINS UNDER SUPREME COURT REVIEW.

THERE WAS NO PROGRESS IN RESOLVING NUMEROUS OTHER OUTSTANDING EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLINGS, INCLUDING THE 1988 "WHITE VAN" CASE, THE 1989 DISAPPEARANCES AND MURDERS OF UNIVERSITY STUDENTS, THE 1990 HECTOR OQUELI COLINDRES AND GILDA FLORES KILLINGS, THE 1990 DISAPPEARANCE OF MARIA TIU TOJIN AND HER DAUGHTER, THE 1991 MURDER OF POLICE DETECTIVE JOSE LUIS MERIDA ESCOBAR, THE 1991 DISAPPEARANCE OF DIEGO DOMINGO MARTIN, THE 1992 KIDNAPPING, TORTURE AND MURDER OF HUEHUETENANGO PEASANT LUCAS PEREZ TADEO, THE 1993 SHOOTING OF STREET CHILDREN HENRY YUBANI ALVAREZ AND FRANCISCO TZIAC, THE 1993 SHOOTING OF A STUDENT PROTESTER ABNER ABDIEL HERNANDEZ ORELLANA OR PAST KIDNAPPINGS AND MURDERS OF VARIOUS MEMBERS OF CERJ, AN INDIGENOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION. THE GOVERNMENT'S FREQUENT INABILITY TO SANCTION THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR SUCH OFFENSES IS A MAJOR IMPEDIMENT TO HUMAN RIGHTS PROGRESS.

B. DISAPPEARANCES

THROUGH JULY, THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED 35 FORCED DISAPPEARANCES, AS COMPARED WITH

15 FOR THE SAME PERIOD IN 1993. ONE WAS LABELED DEFINITELY POLITICAL AND TWENTY-SEVEN WERE CLASSIFIED AS PRESUMED POLITICAL. VICTIMS INCLUDED A HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVIST, UNION EMPLOYEES, PRIVATE SECTOR EMPLOYEES, ENTREPRENEURS, FARMERS, A SOLDIER, A POLICEMAN AND PERSONS OF UNKNOWN PROFESSION. THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE REPORTED RECEIPT OF 17 COMPLAINTS OF FORCED DISAPPEARANCES. THE GOVERNMENT DID NOT IDENTIFY OR PROSECUTE THE PERPETRATORS OF ANY OF THESE DISAPPEARANCES. THE DEFENSE MINISTRY DENIES IT HAS EVER HELD GUERRILLA LEADER EFRAIN "EVERARDO" BAMACA OR THIRTY-FIVE OTHER URNG PRISONERS OF WAR AS CLAIMED BY THE AMERICAN CITIZEN WIFE OF BAMACA.

THE WHEREABOUTS REMAIN UNKNOWN OF SAN MARCOS PAC MEMBERS MARGARITO LOPEZ AND OBDULIO ZAPETA, ARMY ENLISTED MAN DIEGO CHEL MATOM AND FARMERS RAMONA MUNOZ AND MARITZA GIL WHO WAS ALLEGEDLY KIDNAPPED IN 1993 BY GUERRILLAS. RELIABLE REPORTS LINK THE GUERRILLAS TO VARIOUS KIDNAPPINGS FOR PROFIT, INCLUDING THAT OF WEALTHY INDUSTRIALIST FRATERNO VILA.

IN LATE JANUARY AND EARLY FEBRUARY, SISTER DIANA ORTIZ, ACCOMPANIED BY HER ATTORNEY, RETURNED TO

GUATEMALA TO PRESS AUTHORITIES TO MOVE FORWARD WITH HER 1989 KIDNAPPING AND TORTURE CASE. DURING HER VISIT, THE ORTIZ PARTY MET EMBASSY OFFICIALS, PRESIDENT DE LEON, HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN JORGE MARIO

GARCIA LAGUARDIA, FORMER ATTORNEY GENERAL TELESFORO GUERRA CAHN AND JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES. THE GROUP ALSO VISITED THE OLD MILITARY ACADEMY, WHICH ORTIZ IDENTIFIED AS THE PLACE WHERE SHE WAS SEXUALLY ABUSED AND TORTURED. SHORTLY AFTER ENTERING THE FACILITY, ORTIZ WAS OVERCOME BY EMOTION AND UNABLE TO IDENTIFY THE SPECIFIC SITE OF THE VIOLATIONS, WHICH SHE SAYS OCCURRED IN THE BASEMENT OF THE FACILITY. THE ARMY MAINTAINS THERE ARE NOT NOW NOR WERE THERE EVER ANY SUBTERRANEAN LEVELS AT THE SCHOOL.

ON JANUARY 12, LORENZO QUIEJ PU, A MEMBER OF CONDEG, AN ORGANIZATION DEDICATED TO HELPING GUATEMALANS WHO HAVE BEEN INTERNALLY DISPLACED DUE TO THE ARMED CONFLICT, DISAPPEARED AFTER LEAVING HIS HOME. MEMBERS OF CONDEG AND QUIEJ FAMILY MEMBERS REPORTED THAT PRIOR TO THE DISAPPEARANCE, CONDEG MEMBERS HAD BEEN SUBJECT TO THREATS STEMMING FROM THE ORGANIZATION'S OCCUPATION OF PRIVATELY OWNED LAND. NO ONE HAS BEEN CHARGED WITH THE CRIME.

C. TORTURE AND OTHER CRUEL, INHUMAN, OR DEGRADING TREATMENT OR PUNISHMENT

THE CONSTITUTION PROTECTS THE INTEGRITY AND SECURITY OF THE PERSON. HOWEVER, AS IN PAST YEARS, MANY BODIES WERE FOUND THROUGHOUT GUATEMALA BEARING SIGNS OF SEVERE DISFIGUREMENT OR POSTMORTEM MUTILATION (SEE SECTION I. A.). THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE LISTED THREE POTENTIAL CASES OF TORTURE FOR THE FIRST

SEVEN MONTHS OF 1994. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE LISTED 14 CASES OF TORTURE THROUGH JULY AS COMPARED WITH FIVE CASES FOR THE SAME PERIOD LAST YEAR. IN A TYPICAL CASE, A LAW STUDENT WAS KIDNAPPED IN JANUARY AFTER LEAVING WORK, BEATEN, BURNED WITH CIGARETTES AND LEFT UNCONSCIOUS BY UNKNOWN ARMED MEN.

THERE WERE CREDIBLE REPORTS OF MISTREATMENT BY SECURITY FORCES, INCLUDING SEXUAL ABUSE OF MINORS AND ADULTS, USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE BY POLICE AT THE TIME OF ARREST AND OF ABUSIVE TREATMENT OF PERSONS ESPECIALLY IN RURAL AREAS, BY THE URNG GUERRILLAS, THE ARMY, CIVIL DEFENSE PATROLS, MILITARY COMMISSIONERS AND POLICE. CERJ, THE INDIGENOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION, REPORTED THAT JUAN OSORIO VASQUEZ FILED A LEGAL COMPLAINT ALLEGING THAT ON JULY 21, PAC MEMBERS HAD ACCUSED HIM OF BEING A GUERRILLA, KIDNAPPED HIM, TIED A ROPE TO HIS NECK, HUNG HIM FROM A BEAM AND LEFT HIM FOR DEAD. FAMILY MEMBERS LATER ARRIVED AND RESCUED OSORIO.

SOME PEASANTS IN CONFLICTIVE ZONES OF HUEHUETENANGO HAVE ALLEGED TO THE ARMY THAT MEMBERS OF "COMITE DE UNIDAD CAMPESINO," CUC, AN INDIGENOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION HAVE THREATENED THEM WITH DEATH DUE TO THEIR ALLEGIANCE TO THE ARMY.

ON AUGUST 24, TWO PERSONS WERE KILLED AND ELEVEN WOUNDED AS POLICE DISLODGED STRIKING WORKERS FROM A FARM IN COATEPEQUE. A THIRD PERSON ALLEGEDLY DISAPPEARED AND HIS BODY WAS FOUND DISTANT FROM THE FARM THE FOLLOWING DAY. THE WORKERS HAD TAKEN OVER THE FARM IN AN ATTEMPT TO PRESSURE THEIR SUPERVISORS TO COMPLY WITH A LABOR COURT ORDER RENDERED PREVIOUSLY THAT THE EMPLOYERS OBEY LABOR LAWS; PAY WORKERS THE MINIMUM WAGE AND OVERTIME, AS WELL AS GRANT VACATION, SICK LEAVE AND OTHER MANDATORY BONUSES. RATHER THAN COMPLY WITH THE LABOR COURT ORDER, THE OWNERS REPORTEDLY FIRED APPROXIMATELY 79 EMPLOYEES. AFTER INITIALLY SAYING THE POLICE HAD ACTED IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE LAW, PRESIDENT DE LEON LATER EXPRESSED HIS REGRET FOR THE TRAGEDY, SAYING HE HAD MISSPOKEN EARLIER BASED ON PRELIMINARY POLICE REPORTS AND THAT A FULL INVESTIGATION WOULD BE MADE. ON SEPTEMBER 15, THE BODY WAS FOUND OF ANOTHER CAMPESINO WHO HAD PARTICIPATED IN THE STRIKE. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE BELIEVES THIS PERSON WAS KIDNAPPED AND THEN KILLED AS A REPRISAL FOR HIS PARTICIPATION IN THE STRIKE.

"CASA ALIANZA", AN ORGANIZATION DEDICATED TO ASSISTING STREET CHILDREN, REPORTED THAT BETWEEN JANUARY AND AUGUST THERE HAD BEEN FIVE INSTANCES OF ABUSE OF STREET CHILDREN BY POLICE OR PRIVATE SECURITY GUARDS. ON MARCH 3, "CASA ALIANZA" FILED

CHARGES AGAINST FOUR POLICEMEN ACCUSED OF INDUCING STREET CHILDREN TO STEAL FOR THEM. THE POLICE NEVER FORMALLY CHARGED THE ACCUSED AND HAVE INSTEAD TRANSFERRED THEM TO ANOTHER PART OF GUATEMALA CITY.

ON JULY 14, NATIONAL POLICE REFERRED A CASE OF POLICE ABUSE AGAINST A MINOR TO THE COURTS AFTER CONCLUDING THAT FIVE POLICEMEN HAD ABUSED THEIR AUTHORITY IN A MARCH 4 BEATING OF LUIS ANTONIO ROLDAN IZEPPI. "CASA ALIANZA" HAS ALSO FILED CHARGES AGAINST THE NATIONAL POLICE FOR AN AUGUST 15 INCIDENT IN WHICH THREE POLICEMEN SPRAYED PAINT THINNER AT THE FACE OF SLEEPING STREET CHILD LUIS ALFREDO BORILLA JUAREZ. THERE WERE NUMEROUS OTHER REPORTS OF POLICEMEN ILLEGALLY DETAINING STREET CHILDREN; THE AUTHORITIES RARELY TOOK ACTION IN ANY OF THESE INCIDENTS. ON SEPTEMBER 24, TWO STREET CHILDREN WERE KILLED AND A THIRD WOUNDED BY TWO PRIVATE SECURITY GUARDS. THE GUARDS, WHO WERE TAKEN INTO CUSTODY, CLAIMED THEY CAME TO THE AID OF A MENTALLY RETARTED FEMALE STREET CHILD BEING RAPED BY THE THREE CHILDREN KILLED OR WOUNDED, A CHARGE THE SURVIVING CHILD DENIES.

D. ARBITRARY ARREST, DETENTION, OR EXILE

DESPITE LEGAL SAFEGUARDS, THERE WERE FREQUENT CREDIBLE REPORTS OF ARBITRARY ARREST BY THE SECURITY FORCES, INCOMMUNICADO DETENTION, AND FAILURE TO ADHERE TO THE PRESCRIBED TIME LIMITS FOR LEGAL PROCEDURES. A COURT-ISSUED ARREST WARRANT IS REQUIRED UNLESS A PERSON IS CAUGHT IN THE ACT OF COMMITTING A CRIME. POLICE MAY NOT DETAIN A SUSPECT FOR OVER 6 HOURS WITHOUT BRINGING HIM BEFORE A JUDGE. THE LAW PROVIDES FOR BAIL, ACCESS TO LAWYERS, AND LIMITS TO 20 DAYS THE TIME ANYONE MAY BE HELD.

AFTER THAT PERIOD, A DETAINEE MUST BE CHARGED OR FREED, AND THE AUTHORITIES MUST PRODUCE DETAINEES ON COURT REQUEST. THROUGH AUGUST 1994, 13,235 PERSONS

WERE ARRESTED AND OF THOSE, 1,764 PERSONS REMAIN IN JAIL AWAITING TRIAL. THIS REPRESENTS 32 PERCENT OF THE CURRENT TOTAL PRISON POPULATION OF 5,478.

THOSE RESPONSIBLE FOR ILLEGAL DETENTIONS ROUTINELY IGNORE WRITS OF HABEAS CORPUS. THERE IS NO RELIABLE DATA ON THE NUMBER OF ARBITRARY DETENTIONS. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE CHARGED THAT PRISONERS ARE SOMETIMES NOT RELEASED IN A TIMELY FASHION AFTER COMPLETING THEIR SENTENCES DUE TO THE FAILURE OF JUDGES TO ISSUE THE NECESSARY COURT ORDER.

EXILE IS PROHIBITED UNDER THE CONSTITUTION AND IS NOT PRACTICED.

E. DENIAL OF FAIR PUBLIC TRIAL

THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM IS INEFFECTIVE AND OFTEN UNABLE TO ENSURE A FAIR TRIAL. THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR AN INDEPENDENT JUDICIARY COMPOSED OF A CONSTITUTIONAL COURT, A SUPREME COURT, APPEALS COURTS, AND SEVERAL COURTS OF SPECIAL JURISDICTION, SUCH AS LABOR COURTS. JUDGES ARE APPOINTED BY THE SUPREME COURT. APPELLATE COURT JUDGES, CALLED MAGISTRATES, ARE APPOINTED BY CONGRESS FROM A LIST WHICH IS PREPARED BY A SELECTION COMMITTEE COMPOSED OF JUDGES, LAWYERS, AND UNIVERSITY DEANS. CIVILIAN

TRIALS ARE PUBLIC AFTER THE FIRST 15 DAYS, WHICH ARE DEDICATED TO AN INITIAL INVESTIGATIVE PHASE THAT IS CLOSED. DEFENDANTS HAVE THE RIGHT TO BE PRESENT AT TRIALS AND TO LEGAL REPRESENTATION. AN APPEALS COURT AUTOMATICALLY REVIEWS CONVICTIONS.

THE NEW CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE, WHICH TOOK EFFECT JULY 1, MANDATES A MODIFICATION TO THE MILITARY CODE OF JUSTICE EXTENDING JURISDICTION BY CIVILIAN COURTS OVER MILITARY PERSONNEL FOR OFFENSES "NOT ESSENTIALLY MILITARY IN NATURE." THESE REFORMS WILL HAVE TO BE PHASED IN, SINCE THERE ARE CURRENTLY NO SPECIFIC IMPLEMENTING RULES OR REGULATIONS. PRIOR TO THE CODE'S ENACTMENT, MILITARY COURTS RETAINED JURISDICTION OVER MILITARY PERSONNEL, INCLUDING MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WHO COMMIT CRIMES WHILE ON OFFICIAL BUSINESS, THUS LIMITING THE ABILITY OF CIVIL COURTS TO PROSECUTE PERSONS UNDER MILITARY CONTROL IN HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSE CASES. PAC MEMBERS ARE CIVILIANS AND ARE NOT UNDER MILITARY JURISDICTION.

THE NEW CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE, WHICH IS DEEMED A MODEL OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE REFORM BY OTHER CENTRAL AMERICAN NATIONS, EFFECTS SIGNIFICANT CHANGES TO THE

WAY CRIMINAL TRIALS ARE CONDUCTED GENERALLY. THE REFORMS ONCE FULLY IMPLEMENTED SHOULD STRENGTHEN PROSECUTORIAL AND INVESTIGATIVE FUNCTIONS WITHIN THE PUBLIC MINISTRY AND HAVE A MAJOR EFFECT ON THE INVESTIGATIVE ROLE OF THE JUDICIARY -- FROM CONDUCTING THE INVESTIGATION TO AN OVERSIGHT ROLE. FUNDAMENTAL DUE PROCESS IS ANOTHER OBJECTIVE OF THE NEW CRIMINAL PROCEDURES CODE WHICH GUARANTEES THE ACCUSED LEGAL COUNSEL BY A NEW PUBLIC DEFENDER IN AN ORAL TRIAL SETTING.

HOWEVER, THE CODE'S IMPLEMENTATION HAS BEEN HAMPERED BY A LACK OF FUNDING FOR EDUCATION, POLITICAL DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE EXECUTIVE AND JUDICIAL BRANCHES, INTRASIGENCE BY MANY MEMBERS OF THE CRIMINAL BAR, CONSTITUTIONAL CHALLENGES AND INADEQUATE PREPARATION BY LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES OF GUATEMALA. AS OF EARLY SEPTEMBER, ONLY ONE DEPARTMENT HAD REPORTED CONDUCTING ONE ORAL TRIAL, AS REQUIRED UNDER THE NEW PROCEDURES. MEANWHILE, THE BACKLOG OF CRIMINAL CASES CONTINUES TO MOUNT.

MOST HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS ARE NOT INVESTIGATED; SECURITY FORCE PERSONNEL ARE RELUCTANT TO INVESTIGATE CASES POTENTIALLY INVOLVING COLLEAGUES. POLICE ARE VERY POORLY PAID, RELATIVELY FEW IN NUMBER, AND LACK ADEQUATE RESOURCES AND TRAINING. JUDGES ARE SUSCEPTIBLE TO INTIMIDATION AND CORRUPTION AND SUFFER FROM LOW PAY, BAD WORKING CONDITIONS, AND LOW MORALE. OFFICIALS FROM THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE AND HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICES, INCLUDING THE OMBUDSMAN HIMSELF, HAVE RECEIVED THREATS.

CHARGES CONTINUE TO BE MADE PUBLICLY THAT THE SUPREME COURT PRESSURES LOWER COURT JUDGES TO DECIDE CASES IN LINE WITH ITS WISHES. ADDITIONALLY, MEMBERS OF THE JUDICIARY CONTINUE TO RECEIVE THREATS IN AN ATTEMPT TO INFLUENCE A DECISION OR AS A REPRISAL FOR A PAST

DECISION. IN FEBRUARY, JUDGE YOLANDA PEREZ RECEIVED DEATH THREATS AFTER SHE APPEARED AT A LOCAL ARMY BASE WITH THE LOCAL AUXILIARY OMBUDSMAN FOR HUMAN RIGHTS REQUESTING TO SEE A SERVICEMAN REPORTED TO BE MISSING.

COTZUMALGUAPA JUSTICE OF THE PEACE CARLOS HUMBERTO BARDON REYES REPORTED RECEIVING DEATH THREATS AFTER HE SENT U.S. CITIZEN MELISSA LARSON TO THE ESQUINTLA DEPARTMENT COURT HOUSE FOR HER PROTECTION IN MARCH, AFTER A MOB WRONGLY ACCUSED HER OF TRANSPORTING BABY ORGANS IN HER BACKPACK. IN JULY, THIRD DISTRICT APPELLATE COURT JUDGE AND JUDICIAL REFORM ACTIVIST MARIA EUGENIA VILLASENOR REPORTED SHE AND OTHER APPELLATE MAGISTRATES HAVE BEEN HARASSED IN ATTEMPTS TO INFLUENCE DECISIONS IN HIGH PROFILE CASES. ON AUGUST 29, A POLICEMAN ASSIGNED TO PROTECT VILLASENOR WAS KIDNAPPED, INTERROGATED AND ASSAULTED. FOLLOWING THIS INCIDENT, VILLASENOR LEFT THE COUNTRY FOR A NUMBER OF WEEKS. THE THIRD DISTRICT APPELLATE COURT HAS ISSUED RULINGS IN A VARIETY OF CASES INVOLVING SECURITY FORCES.

ON JANUARY 19, THE JUDICIAL RECORDS BUILDING OF SANTA CRUZ DE QUICHE WAS PURPOSELY SET AFIRE. THE BUILDING HELD NUMEROUS FILES REGARDING PAC ABUSES. QUICHE JUDGE FRANCISCO PEREZ STATED THAT JUST BEFORE THE FIRE HE RECEIVED THREATS FROM JOYABAJ PAC MEMBERS ATTEMPTING TO PERSUADE HIM TO RELEASE TWO OF ITS MEMBERS CHARGED WITH COMMITTING MULTIPLE CRIMES, INCLUDING THE DEATH OF NUMEROUS PERSONS.

CORRUPTION CONTINUES TO PLAGUE THE PROPER FUNCTIONING OF THE POLICE FORCE. ON JUNE 25, A LIVE GRENADE WAS TOSSED AT THE RESIDENCE OF ANTI-CORRUPTION TRANSIT POLICE CHIEF ERNESTO RUIZ SAENZ DE TEJADA. RUIZ WAS NOT INJURED IN THIS ATTACK, BUT RESIGNED FROM THE POLICE FORCE SHORTLY AFTERWARDS.

THERE ARE NO KNOWN POLITICAL PRISONERS.

F. ARBITRARY INTERFERENCE WITH PRIVACY, FAMILY, HOME, OR CORRESPONDENCE

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR THE INVIOLABILITY OF HOME, CORRESPONDENCE, AND PRIVATE DOCUMENTS, BUT THESE PROVISIONS ARE NOT ALWAYS RESPECTED. ELEMENTS OF THE SECURITY FORCES CONTINUE TO MONITOR PRIVATE COMMUNICATIONS. MANY HUMAN RIGHTS MONITORS REPORTED RECEIVING THREATS IN THE FORM OF SURVEILLANCE, TELEPHONE CALLS, AND ANONYMOUS LETTERS.

SUBJECT: GUATEMALA - HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT FOR 1994

ON MARCH 11, ONE YEAR AFTER AN ARREST WARRANT HAD BEEN ISSUED, JUAN JOSE GARCIA ORELLANA, A POSTAL CONTROL OFFICER CHARGED WITH OPERATING A MAIL ESPIONAGE RING IN THE POST OFFICE FOR THE PRESIDENTIAL SECURITY STAFF (ESTADO MAYOR PRESIDENCIAL) UNDER THE SERRANO ADMINISTRATION, TURNED HIMSELF INTO JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES. EVIDENCE IS STILL BEING GATHERED IN THIS CASE.

OFFICIALS ENFORCING THE MILITARY DRAFT CONTINUED TO STOP VEHICLES AND ENTER HOMES AND PLACES OF BUSINESS WITHOUT LEGALLY REQUIRED COURT ORDERS IN THE FIRST HALF OF 1994. THE ARMY WAS CONTINUED THE PRACTICE OF SETTING UP DRAFT BOARDS CONSISTING OF THE ZONE MILITARY COMMANDER, THE LOCAL REPRESENTATIVE OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, AND OTHER CIVILIAN LEADERS. UNDER RECRUITMENT PRACTICES ADOPTED IN SOME DEPARTMENTS, POTENTIAL DRAFTEES RECEIVE THREE INDUCTION NOTICES, AFTER WHICH THEY ARE ARRESTED IF THEY DO NOT REPORT FOR ENLISTMENT. UNDER GUATEMALAN LAW, SUCH ARRESTS MUST BE EFFECTED PURSUANT TO A COURT ORDER.

ON JUNE 14, AMILCAR MENDEZ, THE FOUNDER OF THE INDIGENOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION CERJ, FILED A LAWSUIT AGAINST DEFENSE MINISTER ENRIQUEZ CHARGING THAT THE ARMED FORCES' FORCED RECRUITMENT PRACTICES VIOLATED THE CONSTITUTION REGARDING OBLIGATORY MILITARY SERVICE. A COURT, HOWEVER, RULED THE JUDICIAL BRANCH DID NOT HAVE JURISDICTION OF THIS MATTER BECAUSE THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE ENJOYS IMMUNITY FROM PROSECUTION, WHICH CAN ONLY BE REMOVED BY CONGRESS. RESOLUTION OF THE IMMUNITY QUESTION WAS REFERRED TO THE CONGRESS WHICH RULED THAT THE CASE LACKED LEGAL MERIT, THUS EFFECTIVELY DISMISSING THE ENTIRE LAWSUIT.

THROUGH JULY 30, THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE

HANDLED 89 INDIVIDUAL CASES OF FORCED RECRUITMENT. IN THE SAME PERIOD, THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN OFFICE REPORTED RECEIVING 663 COMPLAINTS OF FORCED RECRUITMENT. THE OFFICE HAS BEEN SUCCESSFUL IN OBTAINING THE RELEASE OF 268 PERSONS FROM MILITARY SERVICE, OF WHOM 79 WERE MINORS. ON JUNE 29, DEFENSE MINISTER GENERAL ENRIQUEZ ANNOUNCED A SIX MONTH MORATORIUM ON FORCED RECRUITMENT WHICH WAS RECONFIRMED BY PRESIDENT DE LEON DURING JUNE 30 ARMY DAY CELEBRATIONS. HOWEVER, THE OMBUDSMAN REPORTED THREE SEPARATE INSTANCES OF FORCED CONSCRIPTION IN JULY. ON AUGUST 28, THE DEFENSE MINISTRY ONCE AGAIN ORDERED A SUSPENSION OF FORCED RECRUITMENT.

THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRES THAT PAC SERVICE BE VOLUNTARY. HOWEVER, ARMY OFFICERS, MILITARY COMMISSIONERS, AND PAC LEADERS OFTEN PRESSURE MEN IN AREAS OF CONFLICT TO BECOME MEMBERS. IN AUGUST 1994, A SURVEY REPORT ON CIVIL DEFENSE PATROL COMMITTEES FUNDED BY THE SPANISH GOVERNMENT AND CO-AUTHORED BY THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN AND THE ASSOCIATION FOR THE SELF PROMOTION OF INTEGRAL DEVELOPMENT (ASADI) WAS RELEASED. THE SURVEY INCLUDED 19,497 INDIVIDUALS (49.3 PERCENT WERE CURRENT PAC MEMBERS, 39.1 PERCENT WERE PAST PAC MEMBERS AND 11.6 PERCENT WERE CIVILIANS, WHO HAD NEVER SERVED IN THE MILITARY OR BEEN PAC MEMBERS). THE STUDY REPORTED THAT A SIXTY-NINE PERCENT OF PAC MEMBERS SAY THEY ARE PLEASED TO BE IN PAC'S AND SIXTY PERCENT OF RESIDENTS SAY THEY LIKE HAVING PACS IN THEIR COMMUNITY. SIXTY-FOUR PERCENT OF PATROLLERS INTERVIEWED STATED THAT ARMY PERSONNEL OR MILITARY COMMISSIONERS SUGGESTED THEY JOIN PAC'S.

IN JUNE AND JULY 1994, CERJ FILED A LEGAL COMPLAINT ON BEHALF OF FORMER PAC MEMBER JUAN ANTONIO CHUMEL WITH LOCAL JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES AND THE INTER-AMERICAN COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS STATING THAT SINCE 1988, WHEN CHUMEL LEFT THE PACS, PATROLLERS HAVE THREATENED AND INTIMIDATED CHUMEL TO THE EXTENT HE WAS FORCED TO LEAVE HIS COMMUNITY FOR FEAR OF HIS LIFE. THERE ARE OTHER CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT OTHERS WHO REFUSED TO SERVE IN THE PACS SUFFERED THREATS AND OTHER ABUSES.

G. USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN INTERNAL CONFLICTS

GUATEMALA'S ARMED INTERNAL CONFLICT ENTERED ITS 34TH YEAR IN 1994 AND CONTINUED TO BE A MAJOR CAUSE OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS BY BOTH GOVERNMENT AND

GUERRILLA FORCES. ACCORDING TO STATISTICS AS REPORTED BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE, REPEATED URNG ATTACKS AGAINST CIVILIAN INFRASTRUCTURE TARGETS HAVE RESULTED IN DAMAGE TO ELECTRICAL AND COMMUNICATION FACILITIES AND PETROLEUM STORAGE AREAS. THE CHURCH OFFICE REPORTS TWO PERSONS HAVE BEEN INJURED BY EXPLODING MINES PLANTED BY GUERRILLAS. ON AUGUST 22, GUERRILLAS FIRED INDISCRIMINATELY AT A CIVILIAN BUS INJURING ELEVEN INDIVIDUALS AND KILLING ONE PERSON DURING AN ATTACK AGAINST ARMY UNITS IN CHUPOL, CHICHICASTENANGO. ON VARIOUS OCCASIONS GUERRILLAS HAVE ALSO BURNED FARMS AND DESTROYED PROPERTY OF FARM OWNERS WHO HAVE REFUSED TO PAY EXTORTION. THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE CHARGED THE URNG'S "UNITED FRONT" WITH THE EARLY SEPTEMBER EXTRAJUDICIAL MURDER OF ARMY JUNIOR OFFICER AMARILDO SANAN HERNANDEZ IN CHIMALTENANGO. SANAN WAS STOPPED AT A GUERRILLA ROADBLOCK. AFTER THE GUERRILLAS RECOGNIZED SANAN, WHO WAS DRESSED IN CIVILIAN GARB, THEY SHOT HIM IN THE LEGS, STABBED HIM WITH KNIVES AND THEN EXECUTED HIM BY GUNFIRE.

IN JANUARY 1994, THE URNG AND THE GOG RESUMED PEACE TALKS WITH THE UNITED NATIONS SERVING AS MODERATOR. A FORMAL "FRIENDS OF THE PEACE PROCESS" GROUP COMPOSED OF COLOMBIA, MEXICO, NORWAY, SPAIN, VENEZUELA AND THE U.S. WAS ALSO FORMED. IN LATE MARCH, THE GOVERNMENT AND GUERRILLAS SIGNED A HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORD THAT CALLED FOR THE IMMEDIATE ESTABLISHMENT OF A UN HUMAN RIGHTS VERIFICATION MISSION. THOUGH THE START-UP OF THIS INTERNATIONAL MISSION HAS BEEN DELAYED, THE ACCORD WAS A MAJOR STEP FORWARD. AS PART OF ITS MANDATE, THE UN TEAM WILL SEEK TO STRENGTHEN LOCAL INSTITUTIONS DEALING WITH

HUMAN RIGHTS. AT THE SAME TIME, A CALENDAR WAS AGREED UPON FOR THE GOG AND URNG TO ADDRESS THE MAJOR OUTSTANDING NEGOTIATING ISSUES. MAJOR ACCORDS ON

"UPROOTED" PEOPLES AND TO ESTABLISH A HISTORICAL CLARIFICATION COMMISSION TO CATALOG AND ANALYZE HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES RELATED TO THE GUERRILLA WAR WERE SIGNED IN JUNE.

COMMUNITIES OF PEOPLE IN RESISTANCE (CPR) CLAIMED ARMY HARASSMENT THROUGHOUT THE YEAR, INCLUDING LATE EVENING HELICOPTER OVERFLIGHTS AND RESTRICTION OF COMMERCE. REFLECTING INCREASED SECURITY IN THE VALLEYS, IN FEBRUARY, A NUMBER OF CPR'S CAME DOWN FROM THE MOUNTAINS AND ESTABLISHED PERMANENT VILLAGES.

TERRORIST BOMBINGS CONDUCTED BY UNKNOWN PERPETRATORS CONTINUED THROUGHOUT THE YEAR. BEFORE THE JANUARY 30 NATIONAL REFERENDUM, 25 EXPLOSIVE DEVICES DETONATED OR WERE DEACTIVATED IN GUATEMALA CITY ALONE. SEVERAL OF THESE DEVICES WERE ACCOMPANIED BY URNG LEAFLETS. OTHER BOMB ATTACKS WERE BELIEVED TO BE ORCHESTRATED BY FREE-LANCING RIGHTIST GROUPS OPPOSED TO THE REFERENDUM. ON MARCH 6 AND 7, BOMBS EXPLODED AT TWO KEY BRIDGES LEADING FROM THE CAPITAL. THE ARMY AND THE URNG ACCUSED EACH OTHER OF PLANTING THE BOMBS. ON SEPTEMBER 1, TWO MORE PAMPHLET BOMBS EXPLODED IN THE CAPITAL RELEASING URNG LITERATURE. THE HOME OF THE BROTHER OF FORMER PEACE TALKS CONCILIATOR AND CURRENT PRESIDENT OF THE CIVIL SOCIETY ASSEMBLY . BISHOP RODOLFO QUEZADA, WAS BOMBED IN JUNE. THE BROTHER IS A BUSINESSMAN AND PARTIAL OWNER OF THE NEWSWEEKLY "CRONICA." ON SEPTEMBER 22, THREE BOMBS WENT OFF IN RESIDENTIAL ZONES, ONE CHILD WHO WAS WATCHING CARS IN EXCHANGE FOR TIPS BEING KILLED.

ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS DEATH THREAT LISTS CIRCULATED. NO ONE LISTED WAS INJURED OR KILLED. THE LISTS INCLUDED HUMAN RIGHTS AND LABOR LEADERS AND NEWSPAPER JOURNALISTS.

ON JANUARY 24 HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVIST AMILCAR MENDEZ, REPORTED THAT A MASKED MOTORCYCLIST TRIED TO RUN OVER HIS SIXTEEN YEAR OLD DAUGHTER, MIRIAM ROCIO MENDEZ, WHO WAS EN ROUTE TO THE UNIVERSITY OF SAN CARLOS. THE DAUGHTER WAS UNINJURED. FIVE MONTHS LATER ON JUNE 29, THE MENDEZ FAMILY REPORTED THERE WERE ARMED MEN OUTSIDE HIS HOME. HOWEVER, WHEN THE POLICE WERE DISPATCHED TO THE SCENE, THE ARMED MEN HAD LEFT. IN AUGUST 1994, AN UNKNOWN PERSON CALLED A MENDEZ RELATIVE IN GUATEMALA CITY STATING THAT MENDEZ SHOULD NOT RETURN TO HIS HOME IN QUICHE BECAUSE HE WOULD BE KILLED.

COUNCIL OF GUATEMALAN WIDOWS, REPORTED THAT DURING JUNE AND JULY ARMED SOLDIERS REPEATEDLY WERE STATIONED OUTSIDE HER PARENTS' HOME IN CHIMALTENANGO. THROUGHOUT THE YEAR, THE GUATEMALAN

ARMY WAS ACCUSED TUYUC AND CONAVIGUA OF BEING ALLIED WITH THE GUERRILLAS. THE ARMY HAS ALSO CHARGED THAT ONE OF TUYUC'S BROTHERS IS A GUERRILLA COMMANDER WHO HAS ENGINEERED RECENT GUERRILLA ATTACKS. ON JUNE 22, SARA POROJ VASQUEZ, AN OFFICER OF THE HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION GAM, "GRUPO DE APOYO MUTUO", WAS ATTACKED, STABBED AND ROBBED BY UNKNOWN MEN OUTSIDE HER HOME. NO ONE WAS APPREHENDED FOR THIS ATTACK.

ON AUGUST 12, A LOWER COURT JUDGE DISMISSED THE AMNESTY GRANTED FOUR RECENTLY CAPTURED URNG GUERRILLAS. IT HAD BEEN COMMON GOVERNMENT PRACTICE TO EXCUSE POST 1988 CRIMES COMMITTED BY GUERRILLAS EVEN THOUGH THE AMNESTY LAW ONLY APPLIES TO POLITICAL AND RELATED CRIMES COMMITTED BEFORE 1988. THE GOVERNMENT HAS APPEALED THIS DECISION AND IS CONSIDERING NEW AMNESTY LEGISLATION TO COVER CRIMES COMMITTED AFTER 1988.

SECTION 2 RESPECT FOR CIVIL LIBERTIES, INCLUDING:

A. FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION AND 1994 SAW AN IMPROVEMENT IN THE MEDIA'S ABILITY TO ADDRESS SENSITIVE ISSUES SUCH AS CORRUPTION. ALSO, THERE WAS NO EVIDENCE OF HARASSMENT FROM SENIOR GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AS WE HAVE SEEN IN PREVIOUS YEARS. THE MEDIA REPORTED ALL MAJOR HUMAN RIGHTS STORIES AND PUBLICIZED COMMUNIQUES FROM THE URNG.

LEFTIST GROUPS AND OTHERS OPPOSED TO THE GOVERNMENT OR ITS POLICIES. BOTH MAJOR PRESS ASSOCIATIONS DENOUNCED INCIDENTS RESTRICTING FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

AND VOWED TO CONTINUE COVERAGE OF SENSITIVE TOPICS.

JOURNALISTS ADMIT, HOWEVER, THAT PRESS FREEDOM HAS ITS LIMITS AND THAT THERE ARE PRESSURES AND FEARS OF REPRISAL. THESE RESULT IN SELF-CENSORSHIP AND LIMITS ON INVESTIGATIVE REPORTING. FOR EXAMPLE, THERE IS NO OPEN CRITICISM OF THE MILITARY NOR IS THERE OPEN DISCUSSION OF IMPORTANT ISSUES SUCH AS LAND USE, LAND OWNERSHIP OR SIMILAR TOPICS THAT WOULD AFFECT THE INTERESTS OF POWERFUL ECONOMIC GROUPS AND INDIVIDUALS IN GUATEMALA. REPORTS ON HUMAN RIGHTS AND NARCOTIC TRAFFICKING ARE CAREFULLY WRITTEN AND SOURCED SO THAT NEITHER JOURNALISTS NOR THEIR INSTITUTIONS ARE PUT AT RISK. RADIO AND TV STATION OWNERS OBSERVE THAT LICENSING PROCEDURES POTENTIALLY GIVE THE GOVERNMENT POWERFUL LEVERAGE OVER THEIR EDITORIAL POLICIES, BUT WE HAVE NOT HEARD OF INSTANCES IN WHICH THE DE LEON GOVERNMENT HAS ATTEMPTED TO ABUSE THIS POWER.

CONTINUING ACTS OF POLITICAL VIOLENCE DIRECTED AGAINST JOURNALISTS GIVE CREDENCE TO THEIR COMPLAINTS OF PRESSURE AND COERCION AT THE WORKING LEVEL (SEE SECTION 1.G.). FOR THE FIRST SEVEN MONTHS OF THIS YEAR, THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE RECORDED 19 SEPARATE ACTS OF POLITICAL HARASSMENT: 1 EXTRAJUDICIAL KILLING, 5 ASSAULTS AND 13 INTIMIDATING ACTS AGAINST MEDIA PERSONNEL OR ESTABLISHMENTS. ON MARCH 26, UNKNOWN MEN FIRED SHOTS AT NEWSPAPER

REPORTER MARCO TULIO DE LA ROCA, KILLING HIM AND INJURING HIS COMPANION. JOURNALIST HECTOR ADOLFO BARRERA ORTIZ WAS TARGETED, FIRST BY A BOMB EXPLOSION OUTSIDE HIS HOME AND LATER BY A KIDNAPPING ATTEMPT WHILE AT WORK. BARRERA FLED TO THE U.S. HECTOR BARRERA IS THE BROTHER OF FELLOW REPORTER BYRON BARRERA ORTIZ. IN 1990, BYRON BARRERA ORTIZ, THEN THE PRESIDENT OF THE GUATEMALAN ASSOCIATION OF NEWSPAPER REPORTERS, WAS INJURED IN AN ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION, WHICH CLAIMED THE LIFE OF HIS WIFE, REFUGIO DE BARRERA.

B. FREEDOM OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION

THE CONSTITUTION GUARANTEES THE RIGHT OF PEACEFUL ASSEMBLY AND ASSOCIATION. PEACEFUL DEMONSTRATIONS OCCURRED THROUGHOUT THE YEAR. ON MORE THAN ONE OCCASION, DEMONSTRATORS HAVE OCCUPIED GOVERNMENT INSTITUTIONS, INCLUDING THE PRESIDENTIAL PALACE, GOVERNMENT MINISTRIES AND THE SUPREME COURT BUILDING. IN ALL THESE CASES, THE POLICE ACTED WITH RESTRAINT AND AUTHORITIES NEGOTIATED A PEACEFUL DEPARTURE OF DEMONSTRATORS. FREEDOM OF POLITICAL ASSOCIATION IS GUARANTEED UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, ALTHOUGH ORGANIZATIONS ARE NOMINALLY REQUIRED TO OBTAIN LEGAL STATUS, A CUMBERSOME AND EXPENSIVE PROCEDURE.

C. FREEDOM OF RELIGION

NO STATE RELIGION EXISTS. RELIGIOUS FREEDOM IS CONSTITUTIONALLY GUARANTEED AND IS RESPECTED IN PRACTICE. RELIGIOUS PERSONNEL ARE SOMETIMES THREATENED FOR POLITICAL REASONS. ABOUT 70 PER CENT OF THE POPULATION IS NOMINALLY CATHOLIC, BUT MANY OTHER FAITHS OPERATE FREELY, ESPECIALLY EVANGELICAL PROTESTANTISM.

D. FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT WITHIN THE COUNTRY, FOREIGN TRAVEL, EMIGRATION, AND REPATRIATION

THE GOVERNMENT DOES NOT RESTRICT FOREIGN TRAVEL, NOR DOES IT REVOKE CITIZENSHIP FOR POLITICAL REASONS. MOVEMENT INSIDE THE COUNTRY WAS UNRESTRICTED EXCEPT WHERE THE ARMY AND PAC'S LIMITED TRAVEL IN SOME AREAS OF CONFLICT. GUERRILLAS CONTINUED TO ESTABLISH ROADBLOCKS TO ROB PRIVATE CITIZENS AS WELL AS TO EXTORT PROTECTION PAYMENTS FROM BUSINESSMEN, INCLUDING OIL COMPANIES, AND TO ATTACK AND DRAIN PETROLEUM TRUCKS, AND LIMIT TRAVEL IN CERTAIN RURAL AREAS.

VOLUNTARY REPATRIATION OF REFUGEES FROM MEXICO CONTINUED. ACCORDING TO THE UNITED NATIONS HIGH COMMISSION ON REFUGEES, UNHCR, BY AUGUST, 4,021 REFUGEES HAD BEEN REPATRIATED TO GUATEMALA DURING 1994. OVER THE LAST DECADE, OVER 18,000 PERSONS HAVE RETURNED SINCE THE INITIATION OF THE PROGRAM. HOWEVER, FINDING SUITABLE LAND WHICH CAN SUPPORT THE RETURNING POPULATION REMAINS AN ONGOING MONUMENTAL CONCERN FOR THE RETURNEES, THE GUATEMALAN NATIONAL COMMISSION ON REFUGEE, DISPLACED AND RETURNEE AFFAIRS, CEAR, AND THE UNHCR.

SECTION 3 RESPECT FOR POLITICAL RIGHTS: THE RIGHT OF CITIZENS TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT

GUATEMALANS HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHANGE THEIR GOVERNMENT BY PEACEFUL AND DEMOCRATIC MEANS. SUFFRAGE BY SECRET BALLOT EXISTS FOR THOSE 18 YEARS OF AGE AND OLDER; THERE ARE NO PROPERTY OR LITERACY REQUIREMENTS, BUT MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES AND POLICE MAY NOT VOTE. SINCE THE RETURN OF DEMOCRACY AND CIVILIAN RULE IN 1985, THERE HAVE BEEN SEVEN FREE ELECTIONS. INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS FOUND THE JANUARY 30 NATIONAL REFERENDUM AND THE AUGUST 14 CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS FREE AND FAIR.

WOMEN HOLD PROMINENT POLITICAL POSITIONS, INCLUDING THREE CABINET POSTS. THE PRESIDENT OF THE NEWLY ELECTED CONGRESS IS A WOMAN AND THERE ARE FIVE OTHER CONGRESSWOMEN IN THE 80 MEMBER LEGISLATIVE BODY. CURRENTLY THERE ARE TWO FEMALE SUPREME COURT JUSTICES AND ONE FEMALE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT JUSTICE. A FEW WOMEN ALSO HOLD IMPORTANT POSITIONS IN POLITICAL PARTIES. OF THE OVER 300 MUNICIPALITIES IN GUATEMALA, WOMEN HAVE BEEN ELECTED AS MAYORS IN ONLY

5 (THERE HAD BEEN NO FEMALE MAYORS PRIOR TO THE MAY 1993 ELECTIONS IN 276 SMALL MUNICIPALITIES). THERE ARE NO LEGAL IMPEDIMENTS TO WOMEN'S PARTICIPATION IN POLITICS, BUT WOMEN ARE UNDERREPRESENTED IN THE POLITICAL ARENA. AS OF MARCH 1990, 60 PERCENT OF REGISTERED VOTERS WERE MEN AND 40 PERCENT WOMEN, DESPITE WOMEN BEING SLIGHTLY MORE NUMEROUS THAN MEN IN THE GENERAL POPULATION.

INDIGENOUS PEOPLE ENJOY EQUAL RIGHTS UNDER THE CONSTITUTION, AND SOME HAVE ATTAINED POSITIONS AS CONGRESSMEN, ARMY OFFICERS (INCLUDING ONE GENERAL), GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, AND JUDGES. NEVERTHELESS, FEW EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES AND PERVASIVE DISCRIMINATION (SEE SECTION 5) LIMIT OPPORTUNITIES FOR INDIGENOUS PEOPLE TO ASSUME PROMINENT ROLES IN POLITICS. SIX PERCENT OF THE NEWLY ELECTED CONGRESS MEMBERS ARE INDIGENOUS PEOPLE, ONE FEMALE AND FOUR MALES.

LOCAL HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS ARE PERMITTED TO OPERATE FREELY, BUT MEMBERS SUFFERED THREATS AND VIOLENCE FROM SECURITY FORCES, PAC'S AND EXTREMIST GROUPS AS NOTED IN SECTION 1.G. HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS OBTAIN

DATA ON HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS THROUGH MEDIA REPORTS AND PERSONAL INTERVIEWS WITH VICTIMS OR THEIR FAMILY MEMBERS. HIGH-RANKING GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS WORKING IN THE FIELDS OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND JURISPRUDENCE COMPLAINED PUBLICLY AND PRIVATELY OF RECEIVING THREATS STEMMING FROM THEIR INTEREST IN RESOLVING CASES RELATED TO HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, OFFICIAL CORRUPTION, AND DRUG TRAFFICKING.

RELATIONS BETWEEN THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH AND THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE REMAIN TENSE. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN HAS REPEATEDLY ACCUSED PRESIDENT DE LEON, THE PREVIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, OF NOT TAKING ACTION ON THE NUMEROUS RESOLUTIONS HIS OFFICE HAS ISSUED CONCERNING HUMAN RIGHTS. ON SEPTEMBER 7, THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN CALLED FOR THE RESIGNATION OF THE NATIONAL POLICE DIRECTOR BECAUSE OF ALLEGATIONS OF POLICE ABUSE IN THE COATEPEQUE INCIDENT (SEE SECTION 1.C.)

BOTH THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE AND THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE CONTINUED TO ENJOY WIDESPREAD PUBLIC SUPPORT AND RESPECT. SENIOR GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS MET NUMEROUS FOREIGN OFFICIALS AND ACTIVISTS. INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS ACTIVISTS TRAVEL THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY BUT ON OCCASION ADVISE LOCAL MILITARY AUTHORITIES OF THEIR PRESENCE TO ENSURE THEIR SAFETY, PARTICULARLY IN RURAL AREAS.

DESPITE A PERSISTENT, THIRTEEN YEAR EFFORT, PEACE BRIGADES INTERNATIONAL, AN INTERNATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS

ORGANIZATION WHICH ACCOMPANIES PERSONS WHOSE LIVES MAY BE IN DANGER FOR THEIR POLITICAL BELIEFS OR ACTIVITIES, HAS BEEN UNABLE TO OBTAIN GOVERNMENT

RECOGNITION. THE ABSENCE OF LEGAL STATUS DID NOT, HOWEVER, PREVENT PEACE BRIGADES OR OTHER HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATIONS FROM OPERATING OPENLY.

SECTION 5 DISCRIMINATION BASED ON RACE, SEX, RELIGION, DISABILITY, LANGUAGE, OR SOCIAL STATUS

WOMEN

DESPITE LEGAL PROTECTION, WOMEN FACE JOB DISCRIMINATION AND ON AVERAGE RECEIVE SIGNIFICANTLY LOWER PAY THAN MEN. THEY ARE PRIMARILY EMPLOYED IN LOW WAGE JOBS IN THE TEXTILE INDUSTRY, AGRICULTURE, RETAIL BUSINESS, AND THE PUBLIC SECTOR. A MID-1991 U.N. STUDY REPORTED THAT WOMEN, ALTHOUGH SLIGHTLY MORE THAN HALF THE TOTAL POPULATION, MAKE UP ONLY 24 PERCENT OF THE ECONOMICALLY ACTIVE POPULATION. MORE WORKING WOMEN THAN MEN ARE EMPLOYED IN THE INFORMAL SECTOR OF THE ECONOMY, WHERE PAY AND BENEFITS ARE GENERALLY LOWER. A 1989 SURVEY REPORTED THAT IN GUATEMALA CITY WOMEN ARE UNDERREPRESENTED IN HIGH-INCOME CATEGORIES AND OVERREPRESENTED AMONG POORLY PAID WORKERS.

THE CONSTITUTION ASSERTS THE PRINCIPLE OF EQUALITY BETWEEN THE SEXES. NONETHELESS, NOT ALL DOMESTIC LAWS HAVE BEEN MODIFIED TO TAKE INTO ACCOUNT THIS

CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISION OR TO REFLECT THE NUMEROUS TREATIES BEARING ON THE RIGHTS OF WOMEN TO WHICH GUATEMALA HAS ADHERED. (PROVISIONS OF SUCH TREATIES TAKE PRECEDENCE OVER DOMESTIC LAW.) IN SOME CASES, LAWS REMAIN DISCRIMINATORY AGAINST WOMEN, SUCH AS THE PENAL CODE'S PROVISIONS ON ADULTERY. ONLY WOMEN MAY BE CHARGED WITH ADULTERY, WHILE MEN FALL UNDER A DIFFERENT STATUTE WHICH IS MORE LIMITED, MAKES IT MORE DIFFICULT TO PROVE, AND CARRIES A LESSER PENALTY.

CONAVIGUA, THE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF (GUATEMALAN) WIDOWS, AN INDIGENOUS ORGANIZATION, REPORTED THAT VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN, INCLUDING DOMESTIC VIOLENCE, REMAINS COMMON BUT RECEIVES LITTLE ATTENTION. THERE IS NO SPECIFIC LAW AGAINST DOMESTIC VIOLENCE, ALTHOUGH IT IS CONSIDERED TO FALL UNDER OTHER STATUTES. CRIMINAL SEXUAL VIOLENCE OFTEN GOES UNREPORTED BY VICTIMS, AND RELATIVELY FEW RAPE CASES COME TO COURT. THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE REPORTS RECEIVING 30 COMPLAINTS PER MONTH OF SPOUSAL ABUSE COMMITTED BY THE MALE SPOUSE. EIGHTY PERCENT OF THE ABUSED WOMEN ARE HOUSEWIVES AND THE REMAINING TWENTY PERCENT WORK OUTSIDE THE HOME.

CHILDREN

WHEN SIGNING THE U.N. CONVENTION ON THE RIGHTS OF THE CHILD, THE GOVERNMENT STATED ITS COMMITMENT TO CHILDREN'S HUMAN RIGHTS AND WELFARE AND PLEDGED TO REVISE ITS LAWS IN LINE WITH THE CONVENTION. THE PRELIMINARY COMMITTEE ON THE INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION FOR CHILDREN'S RIGHTS, A COMMISSION COMPOSED OF REPRESENTATIVES FROM THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE, ALONG WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF 25 GOVERNMENTAL AND NONGOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS (NGO'S), ARE REVISING THE CURRENT CODE AND THE COMMITTEE'S PRESENTATION OF THE CODE TO CONGRESS IS EXPECTED BY THE CLOSE OF 1994.

THE ABUSE OF STREET CHILDREN (SEE SECTION 1.C.) IS A SERIOUS PROBLEM IN MAJOR CITIES. ESTIMATES OF STREET CHILDREN RANGE BETWEEN 1,500 AND 5,000, WITH THE MAJORITY OF THESE YOUTHS CONCENTRATED IN GUATEMALA CITY. THESE CHILDREN ARE OFTEN RECRUITED INTO THIEVERY OR PROSTITUTION RINGS. THE GOVERNMENT AND A NUMBER OF NGO'S HAVE YOUTH CENTERS, BUT THE FUNDS DEVOTED TO THEM ARE INADEQUATE FOR THE PROBLEM.

AN ACCORD BETWEEN "CASA ALIANZA", AN ORGANIZATION DEDICATED TO ASSISTING STREET CHILDREN, AND THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE WAS NOT RENEWED IN 1993 DUE TO PROBLEMS INVOLVING THE SUSPENSION OF THE THEN ATTORNEY GENERAL. IN 1994, THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION CHOSE NOT TO RENEW THE ACCORD BECAUSE THE ADMINISTRATION BELIEVES THAT THE TREATMENT OF STREET CHILDREN BY THE GOVERNMENT IS ADEQUATELY ADDRESSED IN EXISTING LAWS. COPREDEH, THE PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, HAS FORMED A

SPECIAL COMMISSION CALLED THE PERMANENT COMMISSION FOR CHILDREN, COMPOSED OF "CASA ALIANZA" AND REPRESENTATIVES FROM THE JUDICIAL AND EXECUTIVE

BRANCHES, WHICH MEETS REGULARLY TO ADDRESS THE PROBLEMS OF STREET CHILDREN. RELATIONS BETWEEN "CASA ALIANZA" AND THE NATIONAL POLICE HAVE IMPROVED DUE TO THE REPEATED PERSONAL INTERVENTION OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT'S INSPECTOR GENERAL AND THE INTEREST OF THE DEPARTMENT'S MINORS DIVISION, OFFICE OF PROFESSIONAL RESPONSIBILITY AND HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE. HOWEVER, THE POLICE DEPARTMENT'S OFFICE OF CRIMINAL INVESTIGATIONS HAS BEEN RELUCTANT TO RELEASE INFORMATION ON PAST ALLEGED HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES COMMITTED BY THEIR COLLEAGUES.

INDIGENOUS PEOPLE

INDIGENOUS PEOPLE COMPRISE ABOUT ONE-HALF OF THE POPULATION BUT REMAIN LARGELY OUTSIDE THE COUNTRY'S POLITICAL, ECONOMIC, SOCIAL, AND CULTURAL MAINSTREAM. INDIGENOUS PEOPLE SUFFERED MOST OF THE SERIOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES DESCRIBED THROUGHOUT THIS REPORT. RURAL INDIGENOUS MEN WERE MORE LIKELY THAN URBAN DWELLERS TO BE DRAFTED BY THE ARMY OR FORCIBLY RECRUITED BY EITHER THE ARMY OR GUERRILLA GROUPS. ALTHOUGH INDIGENOUS PEOPLE ARE ACCORDED EQUAL RIGHTS BY THE CONSTITUTION, IN PRACTICE THEY HAVE ONLY MINIMAL PARTICIPATION IN DECISIONS AFFECTING THEIR LANDS, CULTURE, TRADITIONS, AND ALLOCATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES.

RURAL INDIGENOUS PEOPLE HAVE LIMITED EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES AND THUS HAVE LIMITED EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES. ILLITERACY IS PREVALENT IN INDIGENOUS COMMUNITIES. MANY INDIGENOUS PEOPLE DO NOT SPEAK SPANISH. LINGUISTIC BARRIERS HINDER INTERACTION WITH THE GOVERNMENT AND LIMIT ACCESS TO PUBLIC SERVICES, INCLUDING THE JUDICIARY, BECAUSE FEW OFFICIALS SPEAK ANY OF THE 21 INDIGENOUS LANGUAGES. INDIGENOUS PERSONS ARRESTED FOR CRIMES ARE OFTEN AT A DISADVANTAGE DUE TO THEIR LACK OF SPANISH. THE PUBLIC DEFENDER'S OFFICE IS CHARGED WITH PROVIDING JUDICIAL TRANSLATING SERVICES BUT IS NOT SUFFICIENTLY STAFFED TO COPE WITH THE PROBLEM. UNDER THE NEW PENAL PROCEDURES CODE, THE GOVERNMENT IS REQUIRED TO PROVIDE TRANSLATING SERVICES TO ALL WHO NEED IT IN CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS.

PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES THAT THE STATE SHOULD PROTECT DISABLED PERSONS. NONETHELESS, PHYSICALLY DISABLED PERSONS ARE DISCRIMINATED AGAINST IN EMPLOYMENT PRACTICES, AND FEW RESOURCES ARE DEVOTED TO COMBAT THIS PROBLEM OR OTHERWISE TO ASSIST PEOPLE

SECTION 6 WORKER RIGHTS

A. THE RIGHT OF ASSOCIATION

THE CONSTITUTION (AS AMENDED) AND THE 1947 LABOR CODE (AS AMENDED IN 1992) PROVIDE WORKERS COMPLETE FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION AND THE RIGHT TO FORM AND JOIN TRADE UNIONS. THE 1992 AMENDMENTS TO THE LABOR CODE FACILITATE FREEDOM OF ASSOCIATION, STRENGTHEN THE RIGHTS OF WORKING WOMEN, INCREASE PENALTIES FOR VIOLATIONS OF LABOR LAWS, AND ENHANCE THE ROLE OF THE LABOR MINISTRY AND LABOR COURTS IN ENFORCING THEM. ALL WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO FORM OR JOIN UNIONS, INCLUDING PUBLIC SECTOR EMPLOYEES, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF MEMBERS OF SECURITY FORCES. NATIONAL POLICE OFFICERS HAVE UNSUCCESSFULLY ATTEMPTED TO FORM A TRADE UNION OR ASSOCIATION. BETWEEN 5 AND 8 PERCENT OF THE WORK FORCE IS ORGANIZED. THE 993 REGISTERED UNIONS IN THE COUNTRY ARE INDEPENDENT OF GOVERNMENT AND POLITICAL PARTY DOMINATION.

THE LABOR CODE AMENDMENTS SIMPLIFIED THE PROCESS FOR UNIONS TO OBTAIN LEGAL STATUS. THIS WAS FURTHER [illegible] WHEN THE MINISTER OF LABOR MADE [illegible] ADMINISTRATIVE CHANGES TO REDUCE THE NUMBER OF STEPS [illegible] WITHIN THE MINISTRY TO GRANT APPROVAL. [illegible] ESTABLISHED STRICT TIMETABLES FOR CONSIDERATION OF [illegible] APPLICATIONS, AND CLARIFIED THAT NONCOMPLIANCE

WITH THIS TIMETABLE COULD LEAD TO DISMISSAL OF GUILTY [illegible] BUREAUCRATS.

THESE NEW REGULATIONS HAVE ACCELERATED THE APPROVAL

PROCEDURE. BY MID 1994 THE BACKLOG OF UNION APPLICATIONS WAS BASICALLY ELIMINATED. THE LABOR MINISTRY HAS GRANTED LEGAL STATUS TO 63 UNIONS SINCE LATE 1993, AND ONLY 13 APPLICATIONS ARE STILL PENDING. THERE ARE CURRENTLY 993 UNIONS REGISTERED, 834 IN THE PRIVATE SECTOR AND 159 IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR. MANY OF THESE MAY NOT BE FUNCTIONAL, BUT THERE IS NO REQUIREMENT FOR UNIONS TO RE-REGISTER ON A PERIODIC BASIS. THE LABOR MINISTRY HAS INITIATED A PROGRAM TO ASSIST UNIONS WITH THEIR APPLICATIONS, TO AVOID SOME OF THE PITFALLS STILL INHERENT IN THE LABOR CODE.

WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO STRIKE, BUT LABOR CODE PROCEDURES MAKE LEGAL STRIKES CUMBERSOME. CRITICISMS HAVE FOCUSED ON THE REQUIREMENT THAT TWO-THIRDS OF THE WORKERS VOTE TO APPROVE A STRIKE, THE PROHIBITION OF STRIKES BY AGRICULTURAL WORKERS AT HARVEST TIME, AND THE RIGHT OF THE GOVERNMENT TO PROHIBIT STRIKES WHICH IT DEEMS AS SERIOUSLY AFFECTING THE NATIONAL ECONOMY. THOSE FEW STRIKES WHICH DO OCCUR ARE GENERALLY CALLED WITHOUT LEGAL AUTHORIZATION, AND IN PRACTICE THE GOVERNMENT MAKES NO EFFORT TO INTERVENE ON THE BASIS OF ILLEGALITY. NONETHELESS, THE LACK OF LEGAL APPROVAL FOR A STRIKE CAN BE USED AS A THREAT AGAINST STRIKERS. PUBLIC SECTOR WORKERS HELD A SERIES OF WORK STOPPAGES IN EARLY 1994 AND SUFFERED

NO SANCTIONS FOR THEIR ACTIONS. ORGANIZED LABOR'S STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES, A LACK OF LEADERSHIP, A RELUCTANCE TO ORGANIZE FORCEFULLY, THE PAUCITY OF MEMBERSHIP FUNDS, AND A POOR OVERALL ECONOMIC SITUATION WITH HIGH UNEMPLOYMENT AND UNDEREMPLOYMENT LIMIT THE DURATION OF VIRTUALLY ALL STRIKES.

THE LAW PROTECTS WORKERS FROM RETRIBUTION FOR FORMING AND PARTICIPATING IN TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES, BUT COMPLIANCE WITH THE LAW VARIES. WHILE SOME EMPLOYERS ACCEPT UNIONIZATION, MANY ROUTINELY CIRCUMVENT LABOR CODE PROVISIONS IN ORDER TO RESIST UNION ACTIVITIES, WHICH MANY VIEW AS HISTORICALLY CONFRONTATIONAL AND DISRUPTIVE. ENFORCEMENT OF THE RIGHT TO FORM AND PARTICIPATE IN TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES IS HINDERED BY AN INEFFECTIVE LEGAL SYSTEM AND THE INADEQUATE LEVEL OF PENALTIES PROVIDED BY LAW FOR VIOLATIONS. FINES FOR VIOLATING THE LABOR CODE WERE INCREASED WHEN THE CODE WAS AMENDED IN 1992. THESE HIGHER FINES, HOWEVER, HAVE LITTLE IMPACT WHEN LABOR COURTS FAIL TO TAKE ACTIONS TO IMPOSE THEM ON RECALCITRANT EMPLOYERS.

TRADE UNION LEADERS AND INDIVIDUAL WORKERS REPORTED THAT WORKERS WERE THREATENED WITH THE LOSS OF THEIR

JOBS OR PHYSICAL HARM FOR THEIR INTEREST IN FORMING A UNION. FOR EXAMPLE, WHEN FARM WORKERS EMPLOYED BY THE SAN GREGORIO FARM ATTEMPTED TO FORM A UNION IN 1991, MANY WERE FIRED. ALTHOUGH THE UNION INITIATED

COURT PROCEEDINGS TO PROTECT THESE WORKERS, AND EVENTUALLY WON A DECISION BY THE COURT OF CONSTITUTIONALITY ORDERING THAT THE WORKERS BE REINSTATED, THIS CASE WAS NOT SETTLED UNTIL THE WORKERS "OCCUPIED" THE FARM IN JULY 1994. THIS FORCED GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS TO MEDIATE THE DISPUTE, AND SUCCESSFULLY END IT WITH A MUTUALLY ACCEPTABLE ACCORD. WE ARE UNAWARE OF ANY FINE BEING IMPOSED ON THE FARM OWNERS FOR IGNORING THE VARIOUS COURT DECISIONS AGAINST THEM (SEE SECTION 1.C.).

THE UNION LEADER FIRED IN 1992 FOR ATTENDING A LABOR TRAINING COURSE IN WASHINGTON, D.C., WAS REHIRED IN 1994 AND PAID HIS BACK PAY. A LOWER LABOR COURT ACTED QUICKLY IN EARLY 1993 AND ORDERED THE COMPANY TO REINSTATE THIS LEADER, BUT FINAL ACTION ON HIS CASE WAS DELAYED FOR OVER A YEAR.

TRADE UNION LEADERS AND MEMBERS WERE AMONG THOSE SUBJECTED TO A VARIETY OF ABUSES, SUCH AS THREATS, ASSASSINATION ATTEMPTS, KIDNAPPINGS, AND PHYSICAL HARM (SEE SECTION 4). THE CATHOLIC CHURCH'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTS THAT FOUR UNIONISTS WERE KILLED IN 1994, ONE INJURED, AND THIRTEEN THREATENED BY UNKNOWN ASSAILANTS. THE NUMBER OF SUCH REPORTS ROSE SHARPLY IN 1994, REFLECTING THE SIGNIFICANT INCREASE IN VIOLENCE IN GUATEMALA. REASONS FOR THIS INCREASE ARE DIFFICULT TO PINPOINT, BUT APPEAR RELATED TO POLITICAL UNREST, UNCERTAINTY OVER THE ONGOING PEACE TALKS, PERSONAL PROBLEMS, AND THE PROMINENCE OF SOME UNION LEADERS IN THE CIVIL SOCIETY ASSEMBLY.

PUBLIC SECTOR UNION LEADERS, AS WELL AS UNIONISTS IN THE HIGH-PROFILE MAQUILA SECTOR, REPORTED RECEIVING THREATS AGAINST THEMSELVES AND THEIR FAMILIES,

GUATEM 00917Ø 15 OF 18 Ø62Ø1ØZ ØØ5289 S096697
USUALLY COINCIDING WITH UNION ORGANIZING EFFORTS OR UNION DEMANDS FOR IMPROVED BENEFITS. THE NUMBER OF SUCH ANONYMOUS THREATS, FOR EXAMPLE, INCREASED MARKEDLY IN EARLY 1994 WHEN ONE OF THE FEDERATIONS OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES HELD A PROLONGED SERIES OF WORK STOPPAGES FOR IMPROVED WAGES AND GOVERNMENT COMPLIANCE WITH PREVIOUSLY NEGOTIATED AGREEMENTS.

BY LAW, UNION LEADERS MAY SERVE ONLY ONE TERM IN A PARTICULAR UNION OFFICE, BUT, BY ROTATING UNION POSITIONS, THE SAME PERSONS CAN AND OFTEN DO STAY ON UNION EXECUTIVE BOARDS FOR EXTENDED PERIODS OF TIME. THE CONSTITUTION AND THE 1992 LABOR CODE AMENDMENTS PROTECT THE RIGHT OF POLITICAL PARTICIPATION FOR INDIVIDUALS, INCLUDING TRADE UNION LEADERS. TRADE UNION LEADERS CONTINUED TO BE INVOLVED IN NATIONAL POLITICAL AFFAIRS, PARTICULARLY DURING PUBLIC DEBATES ON THE VALIDITY OF THE LATE JANUARY PLEBISCITE, THE SPECIAL CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS HELD IN AUGUST, AND THE PEACE TALKS.

UNIONS MAY AND DO FORM FEDERATIONS AND CONFEDERATIONS AND JOIN INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS. WITH VERY FEW EXCEPTIONS, TRADE UNIONS DEPEND ON ASSISTANCE RECEIVED FROM INTERNATIONAL CONTACTS.

AN ACTIVE "SOLIDARITY" MOVEMENT CLAIMS APPROXIMATELY 100,000 MEMBERS IN OVER 395 COMPANIES. UNIONS MAY LEGALLY CONTINUE TO OPERATE IN WORKPLACES WHICH HAVE SOLIDARITY ASSOCIATIONS, AND WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO CHOOSE BETWEEN THE TWO OR BELONG TO BOTH. THE GOVERNMENT VIEWS THESE ASSOCIATIONS AS CIVIC ORGANIZATIONS WHICH NEED NOT INTERFERE WITH THE FUNCTIONING OF TRADE UNIONS. THE AMENDED LABOR CODE STIPULATES VERY CLEARLY THAT TRADE UNIONS HAVE THE EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY OVER WORK CONDITIONS ON BEHALF OF WORKERS. UNIONISTS CHARGE, HOWEVER, THAT SOLIDARITY ASSOCIATIONS ARE PROMOTED BY MANAGEMENT TO AVOID THE FORMATION OF TRADE UNIONS OR TO RIVAL EXISTING LABOR UNIONS. THERE ARE CREDIBLE REPORTS THAT DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES ARE NOT ALWAYS ADHERED TO IN THE FORMATION AND MANAGEMENT OF SOME OF THESE ASSOCIATIONS, AND WORKERS ARE UNABLE TO PARTICIPATE FULLY AND FREELY IN DECISION MAKING. SIMILAR CREDIBLE CHARGES ARE MADE AGAINST SOME TRADE UNION ORGANIZATIONS.

AT THE REQUEST [illegible] TRADE UNION LEADERS, THE INDEPENDENT HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN, THROUGH HIS OFFICE FOR ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL ISSUES, RECEIVES COMPLAINTS RELATED TO TRADE UNION ACTIVITIES. UNION LEADERS AND WORKERS FILED A NUMBER OF COMPLAINTS WITH THE OMBUDSMAN DURING THE YEAR, AND THE OMBUDSMAN HAS SPOKEN OUT IN PUBLIC STATEMENTS ABOUT LABOR CONDITIONS IN VARYING SECTORS OF THE ECONOMY.

B. THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY

WORKERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE AND BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY BUT THE PRACTICE OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING IS LIMITED BY THE WEAK STRUCTURE OF THE UNION MOVEMENT, THE LACK OF EXPERIENCE WITH THIS PRACTICE, AND BY THE PREFERENCE OF MANAGEMENT IN MANY CASES TO AVOID FORMAL TIES WITH TRADE UNIONS. WHILE SOME WELL-WRITTEN COLLECTIVE CONTRACTS ARE HONORED BY BOTH MANAGEMENT AND THE UNIONS, OTHER CONTRACTS WERE OPENLY IGNORED AND VIOLATED BY BOTH PARTIES. MOST WORKERS, EVEN THOSE ORGANIZED BY TRADE UNIONS, DO NOT HAVE COLLECTIVE CONTRACTS TO COVER THEIR WAGES AND WORKING CONDITIONS, BUT DO HAVE INDIVIDUAL CONTRACTS AS REQUIRED BY LAW. WAGES RECEIVED BY THE BULK OF THE WORK FORCE TEND TO BE THE MINIMUM WAGES ESTABLISHED BY BIPARTITE COMMISSIONS, WHICH OPERATE UNDER THE GUIDANCE OF THE MINISTRY OF LABOR.

WORKERS CANNOT BE DISMISSED FOR PARTICIPATING IN THE FORMATION OF A TRADE UNION; COMPLAINTS IN THIS REGARD MUST BE FILED WITH THE LABOR INSPECTORS FOR RESOLUTION. THE LABOR CODE PROVIDES FOR THE RIGHT OF EMPLOYERS TO FIRE UNION WORKERS FOR CAUSE, PERMITS WORKERS TO APPEAL THEIR DISMISSAL TO THE LABOR COURTS AND DOES REQUIRE THE REINSTATEMENT OF ANY UNION WORKER FIRED WITHOUT CAUSE. THE REVISED CODE PROHIBITS EMPLOYERS FROM FIRING WORKERS FOR UNION ORGANIZING AND PROTECTS THEM FOR 60 DAYS FOLLOWING

THE OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF APPROVAL OF THE UNION. IT ALSO PROHIBITS EMPLOYERS FROM FIRING ANY MEMBER OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF A UNION AND PROTECTS THEM FOR AN ADDITIONAL 12 MONTHS AFTER THEY ARE NO LONGER

ON THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE. IF A MEMBER IS FIRED FOR CAUSE, THIS CAN ONLY BE MADE EFFECTIVE AFTER A TRIAL AND A COURT RESOLUTION HAS BEEN ISSUED.

LABOR COURTS RESPONSIBLE FOR ENFORCING LABOR LAWS CONTINUED GENERALLY TO BE INEFFECTIVE. EFFORTS TO RESTRUCTURE AND MODERNIZE THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM MADE LITTLE HEADWAY DESPITE THE ESTABLISHMENT OF NEW LABOR COURTS. A HEAVY BACKLOG OF LABOR CASES CONTINUED TO CLOG THE COURTS DUE TO CORRUPTION, INDOLENCE AND LACK OF RESOURCES.

THE SCARCITY OF LABOR INSPECTORS, CORRUPTION, THE LACK OF ADEQUATE TRAINING AND RESOURCES, AND STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES (OR THE LACK OF POLITICAL WILL) IN THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM RESULTED IN ONLY SPOTTY ENFORCEMENT OF THE LABOR CODE. THE MINISTRY OF LABOR HIRED 37 NEW LABOR INSPECTORS IN 1993, AND PROVIDED THEM WITH TRAINING TO CARRY OUT THEIR FUNCTIONS. SOME WERE ASSIGNED TO RURAL AREAS TO GIVE GREATER ATTENTION TO THE LACK OF PROTECTION OF WORKER RIGHTS FOR RURAL WORKERS. THIS ALLOWED THE MINISTRY OF LABOR TO SIGNIFICANTLY STEP UP ITS INSPECTIONS AND THE NUMBER OF CASES IT FILED IN THE COURTS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH THE LABOR LAW. A NOTABLE LACK OF RESOURCES AVAILABLE TO THE LABOR INSPECTORS, PLUS PUBLIC SECTOR TRADE UNION OPPOSITION TO DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS AGAINST LABOR INSPECTORS FOUND TO BE VIOLATING THEIR RESPONSIBILITIES, KEPT THE MINISTRY FROM TAKING MORE AGGRESSIVE ACTIONS TO PROTECT WORKER RIGHTS.

LABOR LAWS AND REGULATIONS APPLY THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY, INCLUDING IN THE FEW EXPORT PROCESSING ZONES (EPZ'S). THE LAWS GOVERNING EPZ'S ARE NOT DISCRIMINATORY ON THE SUBJECT OF ORGANIZING TRADE UNIONS OR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING. WHILE UNION LEADERS OFTEN BLAME EMPLOYER PRESSURES AND UNOFFICIALLY RESTRICTED ACCESS TO THE EPZ'S FOR THEIR VIRTUAL INABILITY TO ORGANIZE WORKERS IN THESE ZONES, LABOR CONDITIONS IN THESE ZONES ARE NO DIFFERENT FROM THOSE FOUND OUTSIDE THE ZONES.

WORKERS AND TRADE UNION LEADERS CHARGE THAT ALL WORKERS, INCLUDING THOSE IN EPZ'S, RECEIVE LOW WAGES, WORK LONG HOURS WITHOUT LEGALLY REQUIRED OVERTIME PAY, AND TOIL UNDER POOR WORKING CONDITIONS. WHILE LABOR MINISTRY INSPECTORS FILED NUMEROUS COMPLAINTS BEFORE THE LABOR COURTS ON THESE CHARGES, FEW OF THESE CASES WERE RESOLVED DUE TO INEFFICIENCIES WITHIN THE COURT SYSTEM, CORRUPTION AND POLITICAL

CHICANERY, AND LEGAL MANEUVERING TO PROLONG THE HEARING PROCESS.

C. PROHIBITION OF FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR

THE CONSTITUTION BARS FORCED OR COMPULSORY LABOR, AND THE PRACTICE DOES NOT EXIST. HUMAN RIGHTS AND INDIGENOUS GROUPS CONTINUE TO CHARGE THAT COERCED PARTICIPATION, PARTICULARLY OF INDIGENOUS PEOPLES, IN THE PAC'S VIOLATES PROHIBITIONS AGAINST FORCED LABOR.

D. MINIMUM AGE FOR THE EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN

ALTHOUGH THE CONSTITUTION BARS EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS UNDER THE AGE OF 14, CHILDREN BELOW THIS AGE ARE REGULARLY EMPLOYED. LAWS GOVERNING THE EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS ARE NOT EFFECTIVELY ENFORCED, DUE TO THE SHORTAGE OF QUALIFIED LABOR INSPECTORS AND STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES IN THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM. ONLY 5,000 MINORS HAVE LEGAL PERMISSION FROM THE LABOR MINISTRY TO WORK. THOUSANDS WORKING WITHOUT LEGAL PERMISSION ARE OPEN TO EXPLOITATION, GENERALLY RECEIVING NO SOCIAL BENEFITS, NO SOCIAL INSURANCE, NO PENSION OR VACATIONS, AND NO SEVERANCE PAY, AND ARE PAID BELOW THE MINIMUM WAGE LEVEL. THE LABOR MINISTRY HAS A PROGRAM TO EDUCATE MINORS, THEIR PARENTS, AND EMPLOYERS ON THE RIGHTS OF MINORS IN THE LABOR MARKET. ECONOMIC NECESSITY, HOWEVER, FORCES MOST FAMILIES TO HAVE THEIR CHILDREN SEEK SOME TYPE OF EMPLOYMENT TO SUPPLEMENT THE FAMILY INCOME.

THE CONSTITUTION PROVIDES FOR COMPULSORY EDUCATION FOR ALL CHILDREN UP TO THE AGE OF 12 OR TO THE SIXTH GRADE. HOWEVER, LESS THAN HALF OF THE POPULATION ACTUALLY RECEIVES A PRIMARY EDUCATION. THE NATIONAL ILLITERACY RATE IS 45 PERCENT, WITH RURAL AREAS

SHOWING A RATE OF 85 PERCENT. THE BULK OF THOSE WHO CANNOT READ OR WRITE ARE WOMEN, PARTICULARLY INDIGENOUS WOMEN. CHILD LABOR IS LARGELY CONFINED TO SMALL OR FAMILY-TYPE ENTERPRISES, TO AGRICULTURAL WORK, AND TO THE INFORMAL SECTORS OF THE ECONOMY. THERE ARE NO EXPORT INDUSTRIES IN WHICH CHILD LABOR IS A SIGNIFICANT FACTOR.

E. ACCEPTABLE CONDITIONS OF WORK

MINIMUM WAGES ARE SET BY LAW. DUE TO A VARIETY OF FACTORS, MOST IMPORTANTLY THE OVERSUPPLY OF UNSKILLED LABOR AND THE LIMITED DEMAND FOR IT, THE LEGALLY MANDATED MINIMUM WAGE FOR MOST UNSKILLED AND SEMISKILLED WORKERS DOES NOT FUNCTION AS AN EFFECTIVE WAGE FLOOR AS MORE COMMONLY ACCEPTED. WIDESPREAD, CREDIBLE REPORTS INDICATE THE MINIMUM WAGE IS ORDINARILY NOT PAID TO SIGNIFICANT NUMBERS OF RURAL AND URBAN WORKERS.

A BILATERAL COMMITTEE REPRESENTING LABOR AND MANAGEMENT IN SPECIFIC ECONOMIC SECTORS IS NAMED EACH YEAR TO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR INCREASES IN THE MINIMUM WAGE. IN THE EVENT THAT AGREEMENT IS NOT POSSIBLE, THE GOVERNMENT MAY DECREE SUCH INCREASES. IN JUNE 1994, THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF COFFEE GROWERS REACHED AN AGREEMENT WITH ONE TRADE UNION

GROUP REPRESENTING COFFEE FARM WORKERS WHICH INCREASED THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR COFFEE FARM WORKERS BY APPROXIMATELY 38% TO $2.41 (14.50 QUETZALS) A DAY. THIS ACCORD FURTHER PROVIDES FOR BOTH PRODUCTIVITY TRAINING AND BONUS PAYMENTS TO THESE WORKERS, AND ESTABLISHES A MECHANISM FOR JOINT TALKS ON MODERNIZATION IN THIS KEY ECONOMIC SECTOR.

FOLLOWING ON THE HEELS OF THE ANACAFE ACCORD, THE MINIMUM WAGE WAS INCREASED IN THE MAIN SECTORS OF THE PRIVATE ECONOMY IN SEPTEMBER 1994. THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL WORKERS IS $3.29 (14 QUETZALS) FOR AN 8-HOUR WORKDAY, INCLUDING A REQUIRED HOURLY BONUS. THE MINIMUM WAGE FOR FARM WORKERS IS $2.88 (11.68 QUETZALS) PER DAY, PLUS MANDATORY AND PRODUCTIVITY BONUSES. THE MINIMUM WAGE DOES NOT PROVIDE A DECENT STANDARD OF LIVING; GOVERNMENT STATISTICS INDICATE THAT IT SHOULD BE AT LEAST THREE TIMES THE CURRENT LEVEL, I.E. $8.12 (46.32 QUETZALS) PER DAY FOR THE AVERAGE GUATEMALAN FAMILY OF FIVE. AN ESTIMATED 80 PERCENT OF THE POPULATION LIVES BELOW THE GUATEMALAN POVERTY LINE, INCLUDING APPROXIMATELY 70 PERCENT OF THOSE EMPLOYED.

SUBJECT: GUATEMALA - HUMAN RIGHTS REPORT FOR 1994

THE LEGAL WORKDAY IS 8 HOURS AND THE WORKWEEK IS 44 HOURS, BUT A TRADITION OF MUCH LONGER HOURS REMAINS IN PLACE DUE TO ECONOMIC CONDITIONS. THE AMENDED LABOR CODE REQUIRES A WEEKLY PAID REST PERIOD OF AT LEAST 24 HOURS. TRADE UNION LEADERS AND HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS CHARGE THAT WORKERS ARE SOMETIMES FORCED TO WORK OVERTIME, OFTEN WITHOUT PREMIUM PAY, OR GIVEN DRUGS TO HELP THEM WORK LONGER IN ORDER TO MEET WORK REQUIREMENTS. LABOR INSPECTORS REPORT THAT NUMEROUS INSTANCES WERE UNCOVERED OF SUCH ABUSES, BUT CORRUPTION AND INEFFICIENCIES IN THE LABOR COURT SYSTEM INHIBIT ADEQUATE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW.

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY STANDARDS ARE INADEQUATE. AS WITH OTHER ASPECTS OF THE LABOR LAW, ENFORCEMENT OF STANDARDS THAT DO EXIST IS ALSO INADEQUATE. WORKERS HAVE THE LEGAL RIGHT TO REMOVE THEMSELVES FROM DANGEROUS WORKPLACE SITUATIONS, AND THE LAW PROVIDES THEM WITH PROTECTION FOR THEIR CONTINUED EMPLOYMENT. HOWEVER, FEW WORKERS ARE WILLING TO JEOPARDIZE THEIR JOBS BY COMPLAINING ABOUT UNSAFE WORKING CONDITIONS. WHEN SERIOUS OR FATAL INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS DO OCCUR, WHICH APPEARS TO BE OFTEN, WE ARE AWARE OF NO LEGAL STEPS HAVING BEEN TAKEN AGAINST THOSE RESPONSIBLE. TRAINING COURSES FOR LABOR INSPECTORS IN HEALTH AND SAFETY STANDARDS WERE PROVIDED, BUT THIS AREA IS NOT PERCEIVED AS A HIGH PRIORITY FOR THE RESOURCE-POOR MINISTRY. LEGISLATION REQUIRING COMPANIES WITH MORE THAN 50 EMPLOYEES TO PROVIDE ON SITE MEDICAL FACILITIES FOR THEIR WORKERS IS NOT EFFECTIVELY ENFORCED. EVEN THOUGH MANY LARGE EMPLOYERS DO PROVIDE SUCH FACILITIES.

U.S. POLICY TOWARD GUATEMALA

Key Goals:

Consolidation of democracy and improved respect for human rights are the overarching foreign policy goals of the U.S. in Guatemala.

Peace Process:

The United States Government (USG) strongly supports efforts to end Guatemala's 34 year old guerrilla war. Efforts to consolidate democracy and improve respect for human rights have long been impeded by the continuing armed struggle. The USG is pleased that the Government of Guatemala (GOG) and the Guatemalan National Revolutionary Unity (URNG) are engaged in serious peace talks. The U.S. supports this process as a member of the "Friends" group (along with Colombia, Mexico, Spain, Norway, and Venezuela) which the parties have asked to assist the UN moderator in promoting the process. As a Friend of the process, the U.S. takes no position on substantive issues. Instead, we meet with the parties between negotiating sessions to review issues and search for common ground upon which they both can agree.

The parties on March 29 achieved an historic breakthrough in agreeing to a Human Rights Accord with UN verification to begin as soon as possible. The parties also agreed to a timetable for negotiations to reach a comprehensive Peace Accord by the end of 1994. The parties met in Oslo, signing an agreement on June 17 on displaced persons, which provided for a technical commission to oversee implementation of the accord. On June 23, the parties signed an accord calling for the creation of an historical clarification commission to address human rights violations committed during the armed conflict. The parties will meet next to discuss indigenous rights.

Peace Fund:

The USG is establishing a Peace Fund to be disbursed following a peace agreement. Such a fund could be used to assist combatants from both sides of the conflict demobilize and integrate into civilian life, and to assist efforts of communities in the conflictive zones to put the war behind them and participate in the development process. Approximately $4.6 million of MAP (Military Assistance Program) and FMF (Foreign Military Funding) funds suspended in 1990 due to U.S. concerns about violations of human rights will be used to set up the Fund. We consulted closely with Congress and non-governmental organizations before reprogramming these funds. We are encouraging the international donor community and financial institutions to commit funds to support implementation of an eventual peace accord.

Democracy, Human Rights and Impunity:

Guatemala since mid-1993 has experienced a turbulent and historic period. Following the May 25, 1993 attempted "self-coup" by President Jorge Serrano, the Guatemalan Congress on June 5, 1993 elected Ramiro de Leon Carpio, then the Human Rights Ombudsman, as President. De Leon was sworn in on June 6, 1993. He is committed to improvement of the human rights situation in Guatemala and civilian control over the military.

As the 1993 State Department Human Rights Report on Guatemala makes clear, the USG views with concern the continuing high level of human rights violations in Guatemala. The U.S. Embassy in Guatemala regularly communicates to the GOG and public the seriousness with which we view this issue. Our Embassy maintains close contact with Guatemalan human rights organizations, the police, the Attorney General's office, and the courts, in order to promote investigation of abuses and prosecution of those responsible. Cases involving U.S. citizens include the 1985 murders of American citizens Nicholas Blake and Griffith Davis by members of the Civil Defense Patrols, the 1989 rape and torture of American citizen nun Sister Dianna Ortiz, and the 1990 murder of American citizen Michel Devine (discussed below under military assistance). Other cases of interest to the USG are those of Guatemalan anthropologist Myrna Mack, murdered in 1990, and Efrain Bamaca Velasquez, a URNG commander missing since March 1992. The USG has supported the efforts of Bamaca's American citizen wife to locate him or his remains.

Many of Guatemala's problems, including investigation and prosecution of human rights abuses, are exacerbated by corruption and intimidation of responsible officials. An inadequately staffed and equipped police force compounds the problems. The result has been very low efficiency in state institutions in all three branches of government.

The USG supports efforts to expand the rule of law in Guatemala. We will soon seek lifting of Congressional holds on $1.5 million in ESF funding to promote progress in the administration of justice in Guatemala. The USG views civilian control of the police as fundamental to consolidation of democracy and promotion of human rights in Guatemala.

Travel Warning:

The State Department on June 25 updated its March 30 travel warning regarding travel by U.S. citizens to Guatemala to note that certain areas of the country have not been affected by the incidents prompting the earlier warning, and to provide additional guidance to U.S. citizens who travel to Guatemala. Two American citizens were injured -- one critically -- by mob violence March 29 in the town of San Cristobal, Alta Verapaz. The incident was sparked by rumors that foreigners are involved in the theft of children for the purpose of using their organs in transplants. The San Cristobal mob violence followed a similar event earlier in March in Santa Lucia Cotzumalguapa, Escuintla. The GOG has arrested 50 persons for involvement in the attack. We will work closely with the GOG to ensure that those responsible for this act are prosecuted to the full extent of the law. The June 25 travel warning warns U.S. citizens, and adoptive parents in particular, about possible dangers of travel to Guatemala because of these unfounded rumors. The warning notes that U.S. citizens should avoid traveling alone, should restrict their travel to areas frequented by tourists and business people, and should avoid contact with Guatamalan children.

PACs:

We share public concern about the abuses committed by the Civil Defense Patrols (PACs). We have communicated our concerns to the GOG. A PAC member involved in the August 1993 killing of an anti-PAC demonstrator in Colotenango has been taken into custody. President de Leon in a January 17 letter to President Clinton stated that the PACs will be converted into development committees with no ties to the military. Ten PACs in the Peten were converted to development committees earlier this year; the Defense Minister states the process will accelerate in July.

Reform Effort:

President de Leon spent the fall of 1993 locked in struggle with the legislative and judicial branches on the issue of corruption. On November 16, 1993, Catholic Church-brokered talks resulted in an agreement to hold a referendum on constitutional reforms. Although voter turnout was disappointingly low, over two-thirds of those who voted approved of the reforms in the referendum held January 30. Congressional elections were held August 14; although voter turnout was once again low, the elections were conducted peacefully. The Guatemalan Republican Front won 32 seats, the National Advancement Party won 24 seats, the Christian Democrats won 13 seats, and two other parties won the remaining four seats. The new Congress will elect a new Supreme Court.

De Leon is also trying to address the long-ignored needs of the indigenous population, the majority of Guatemala's population. Early in his presidency he launched an ambitious 180-day social action program designed to improve access to potable water, education, health care, employment, and economic development. The World Bank sponsored a Friends of Guatemala meeting in Washington on September 24, 1993, in order to bring together donor countries to assist Guatemala fund its development goals. The USG at that meeting pledged $10 million in Economic Support Funds (ESF).

U.S. Economic Assistance:

The U.S. contribution mentioned above constituted part of a multi-donor package, valued at over $100 million. By helping the GOG to stay current in its payments to the World Bank and the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB), our aid enables the GOG to receive much larger loans from those institutions in order to carry out its development goals while maintaining macro-economic stability. Coordination among donors and with the international financial institutions maximizes the impact of limited aid along the lines set forth by President Clinton in his statement following his November 30, 1993, meeting with the leaders of the seven Central American countries.

The USG also provides a great deal of other bilateral assistance to Guatemala (see attached table for funding levels). Our goals are to protect health, build democracy, protect the environment, and promote broad-based sustainable development. Much USG aid to Guatemala is channeled through non-governmental organizations (NGOs); most of our aid addresses issues of interest to the U.S. Congress. Part of our food assistance, PL-480 Title I, generates local currency that the GOG uses to promote its development goals. PL-480 Title II food aid is provided to NGOs that carry feeding programs for Guatemala's most needy.

Trade:

Central America has made great progress in the past decade in democratization and economic development. As the U.S./Central America relationship has matured, a natural result is a shift in emphasis from aid to trade. President Clinton has emphasized the importance of trade in our relationship with the region, and the Central American countries have communicated their interest in acceding to the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). The USG is now working, through technical assistance programs, to assist the countries of the region to make the structural changes in their economies that are necessary for future accession to the NAFTA.

The Generalized System of Preferences (GSP) is USG legislation that seeks to promote trade with developing countries by granting most of their products duty-free access to the U.S. market. GSP beneficiaries, however, must respect norms such as worker rights and intellectual property rights (IPR). Guatemala's access to GSP has been under review as a result of allegations of violations of worker rights and IPR. While considerable progress has been made to protect intellectual property, the GSP review process is continuing on workers' rights grounds.

Refugees:

Many thousands of Guatemalans, principally persons of Mayan descent, fled to Mexico and elsewhere at the height of the war in the early 1980s. Some 40,000 of those refugees live in refugee camps in southern Mexico near the border with Guatemala. The USG has provided and continues to provide extensive assistance to Guatemalan refugees through the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), which receives about 25 percent of its budget from the USG. The USG supports the return of Guatemalan refugees to their homes according to international standards of return under "safety and dignity."

Many refugee families routinely return individually or in small groups across the porous border. The first major organized return, however, took place in January 1993 to the Ixcan area of northern Quiche Department near the Mexican border. The refugees who returned in January, 1993, located themselves at a site in the rainforest they have named La Victoria Veinte de Enero. They have built a town and removed a great deal of forest cover to plant fields. The northern Quiche area is the site of regular clashes between the Guatemalan army and the URNG guerrillas.

Several more organized returns to the Ixcan area took place in 1993 and early 1994, and more are expected. U.S. Embassy officers have maintained close contact with the refugees who returned to La Victoria. The Embassy also maintains close contact with other groups of returned refugees, such as those in Veracruz. Refugee leaders from throughout the Ixcan area have informed the Embassy that reports of army bombing and violence against returned refugees in early 1993 and 1994 were without foundation. The GOG, at the request of returning refugees, has moved the army post at Tercer Pueblo (a townsite to which many refugees hope to return) away from the center of the settlement.

Narcotics:

Guatemala is one of the few countries that has successfully reduced the amount of opium poppy cultivated within its borders. Opium poppy cultivation has fallen two thirds from the levels it reached in the late 1980s. Guatemalan Treasury Police work closely with USG agencies to combat transit of cocaine through the country. As with human rights, impunity for violators is a challenge for the GOG.

International Military Education and Training:

The prospects for consolidating democracy and increasing respect for human rights are improved to the extent that all groups and institutions support these goals. International Military Education and Training (IMET) promotes support of these goals by the Guatemalan military. IMET courses expose the Guatemalan military to U.S. military officers and students from other countries where civilian control over the military and protection of human rights are fundamental elements of military doctrine. President de Leon wants the U.S. to remain engaged with the Guatemalan military.

Several Guatemalan military personnel received IMET training in 1993. The decision was made after consulting with the Congress. The IMET program offered Guatemala is weighted at a 3:1 ratio toward "expanded" IMET. "Expanded" IMET courses and educational travel focus on issues such as human rights, the role of the military in a democracy, and resource management. Guatemala's FY 1993 IMET program cost $112,000; the FY 1994 program cost $36,000.

Other Military Contacts, Civic Action:

The Minister of Defense of Guatemala visited Washington in January at the invitation of the USG to meet with human rights groups, Members of Congress and their staff, and executive branch officials, in order to communicate directly with U.S. officials and interest groups about events in Guatemala. Members of many U.S. National Guard units do their annual two-week training in Guatemala from January through June. Those units -- up to a maximum of 500 U.S. Guardsmen at a time -- have drilled wells, rebuilt roads, and renovated schools in Baja Verapaz Department of Guatemala. U.S. National Guard physicians have treated patients in rural areas and U.S. National Guard veterinarians have treated farm animals in those same areas. U.S. Army medical personnel provided assistance to the U.S. citizen critically injured as a result of being attacked by a mob March 29 in San Cristobal, Alta Verapaz Department. The Fuertes Caminos exercise proposed for 1995 is projected to build five schools, three medical clinics, and two bridges; to drill sixteen water wells; and to conduct medical readiness training.

Military Assistance, Peace Fund, Sale of Weapons:

Military assistance to Guatemala (MAP and FMF programs) was suspended in 1990 following the murder of American citizen Michael Devine by members of the Guatemalan armed forces. The soldiers responsible for Devine's murder were tried, convicted, and imprisoned. Captain Hugo Contreras, the officer who led the killers, was tried, convicted, and sentenced to 30 years in prison. The day that Captain Contreras was sentenced, however (in May 1993), he escaped from the military zone headquarters where he had been detained. The USG views the capture and imprisonment of Captain Contreras as fundamental to improved relations with the Guatemalan military. The intellectual authors of the crime have not been identified or prosecuted.

The State Department reviews, on a case-by-case basis, requests by U.S. companies to sell items listed on the munitions control list to purchasers in Guatemala. Requests by U.S. firms to sell non-lethal equipment to the Guatemalan military are reviewed on a case-by-case basis. No requests to sell lethal equipment to the military are approved.

De Leon Represents Hope:

Guatemala faces numerous challenges to consolidation of democracy, respect for human rights, acceptance of the rule of law, and economic reform. At the same time, there is substantial support throughout Guatemalan society -- and the de Leon administration -- to make progress in these areas. U.S. policy is aimed at supporting these efforts.

ENERGY DEVELOPER OWNED BY PEMEX AND SEVERAL MEXICAN CONSTRUCTION/ENGINEERING/CHEMICAL FIRMS, THE RECENT AGREEMENT TO PURCHASE A 49 PERCENT SHARE OF THE CIENFUEGOS REFINERY IS STRICTLY A BUSINESS DEAL AND HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH POLITICS. IN CONVERSATION WITH ENERGY ATTACHE, MEXPETROL OFFICIALS EXPLAINED THAT THE MEXICAN SHARE IN THE REFINERY IS VALUED AT USD 80 MILLION, OF WHICH USD 40 MILLION IS IN THE FORM OF A DEBT/EQUITY SWAP AND USD 40 MILLION FRESH INVESTMENT TO MODERNIZE THE REFINERY. THE MODERNIZATION WOULD BE FINISHED IN LESS THAN THREE YEARS AND WOULD PROVIDE MEXICO WITH 12,000 BARRELS PER DAY OF UNLEADED GASOLINE. MEXPETROL WOULD SEEK A TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE AGREEMENT WITH PEMEX TO RUN THE REFINERY. THE DEAL STILL COULD FALL THROUGH FOR A VARIETY OF REASONS, INCLUDING A POSSIBLE OBJECTION BY CUBAN HARDLINERS WHO MAY THINK MEXICO IS TAKING ADVANTAGE OF CUBAN ASSETS UNFAIRLY.

3. ACCORDING TO MEXPETROL THE USD 40 MILLION IN FRESH MONEY IS ONLY FOR PHASE I, IMPLYING THAT FURTHER INVESTMENT WOULD FOLLOW. MEXPETROL BELIEVES THAT IT IS BUYING THE REFINERY VERY CHEAPLY BECAUSE OF CUBA'S ECONOMIC DIFFICULTIES AND THAT ITS INVESTMENT IS SECURE UNDER ANY POSSIBLE POLITICAL SCENARIO.

THE AGREEMENT SO FAR IS A LETTER OF INTENT WITH MANY DETAILS REMAINING TO BE IRONED OUT. THE MEXPETROL'S GOVERNMENT-OWNED PARTNERS WOULD NOT INVEST IN THE REFINERY, BUT RATHER THE INVESTMENT WOULD BE MADE BY THREE OF MEXPETROL'S PRIVATE SHAREHOLDERS, AT LEAST TWO OF WHICH HAVE JOINT-VENTURE AGREEMENTS WITH AMERICAN COMPANIES. END SUMMARY.

4. [ ] WE REPORTED THAT MEXPETROL, AN INTERNATIONAL ENERGY DEVELOPER AND MIXED-CAPITAL ENTERPRISE OWNED BY THE GOM AND BY SEVERAL MEXICAN CONGLOMERATES WAS CLOSE TO COMPLETING AN AGREEMENT TO PURCHASE A SUBSTANTIAL SHARE OF THE CIENFUEGOS REFINERY IN CUBA. REF A ALSO GAVE A BACKGROUND ON MEXPETROL AND ON THE PROPOSED AGREEMENT. [ ] WE REPORTED INFORMATION IN THE LOCAL PRESS FROM HAVANA THAT MEXICAN SECRETARY OF FOREIGN RELATIONS WITNESSED THE SIGNING OF A JOINT-VENTURE AGREEMENT BETWEEN MEXPETROL AND CUPET (THE CUBAN PETROLEUM COMPANY) TO REFURBISH AND OPERATE THE SOVIET-BUILT REFINERY. THE FOLLOWING PROVIDES ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON THE AGREEMENT FROM MEXPETROL'S PRINCIPALS AND FROM OTHER SOURCES.

GERARDO GIL VALDIVIA, SUB DIRECTOR, WHO WAS IN ARGENTINA DURING THE FIRST MEETING IN REF A, AND PEDRO GALICIA PARTICIPATED. OBO EMPHASIZED SEVERAL TIMES THAT THE CIENFUEGOS AGREEMENT IS AN ECONOMIC DEAL AND NOT A POLITICAL ONE. "MEXICO IS NOT GOING TO SUBSIDIZE THE REFINERY", HE SAID. SUBJECT: THE CIENFUEGOS REFINERY: A MONEY MAKER FOR MEXICO OR FOR CASTRO?

QUESTIONED THAT DESCRIPTION, NOTING THAT CUPET IS WHOLLY-OWNED BY THE CUBAN GOVERNMENT AND MEXPETROL IS 35 PERCENT OWNED BY

UNCLASSIFIED

THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT. COBO RESPONDED THAT "ONLY THREE OF MEXPETROL'S SHAREHOLDERS WILL INVEST IN THE CIENFUEGOS REFINERY." HE EXPLAINED THAT MEXPETROL IS STRUCTURED SO THAT ITS PARTNERS CAN MAKE INDEPENDENT INVESTMENTS IN THE COUNTRIES WHERE MEXPETROL DOES BUSINESS. IN THE CASE OF THE CIENFUEGOS REFINERY, HE SAID, THE MEXPETROL SHAREHOLDERS INVESTING IN CUBA WILL BE PROTEXA, ICA AND BUFETE INDUSTRIAL. HE ADDED THAT "FOR TIMING REASONS, PEMEX WAS UNABLE TO PRESENT THE CIENFUEGOS PROPOSAL TO ITS BOARD AND THEREFORE, PEMEX WILL NOT INVEST IN THE REFINERY." FOR SIMILAR REASONS, COBO SAID, THE FOREIGN TRADE BANK, BANCOMEXT, (A 5 PERCENT SHAREHOLDER IN MEXPETROL) AND THE MEXICAN PETROLEUM INSTITUTE, PEMEX'S RESEARCH INSTITUTE (ALSO A 5 PERCENT SHAREHOLDER IN MEXPETROL) WILL NOT INVEST IN THE REFINERY.

8. WHEN ENERGY ATTACHE ASKED FOR HARD ECONOMIC INFORMATION ON THE AGREEMENT, "AS THE INFORMATION IN THE MEXICAN PRESS REFLECTS THE CUBAN PRESS AND MAKES IT APPEAR AS IF MEXICO'S MAIN TRADING PARTNER IS CUBA AND NOT THE UNITED STATES," COBO

[redacted]

TURNED PALE, SAID THAT MEXPETROL HAS NEVER TALKED ABOUT THE AGREEMENT WITH THE PRESS, AND CORRECTED SOME "ERRONEOUS INFORMATION IN THE PRESS."

9. COBO SAID THAT CONTRARY TO PRESS REPORTS, THE AGREEMENT WITH CUBA WAS NOT SIGNED BY FOREIGN MINISTER TELLO BUT BY HIMSELF. "WHAT I SIGNED IS A LETTER OF INTENT, AN AGREEMENT TO NEGOTIATE," HE SAID. HE VOLUNTEERED THAT THE AGREEMENT COULD BE CANCELLED AT ANY TIME, IF FOR EXAMPLE, "A CUBAN LEFT-LEANING OFFICIAL WOULD OBJECT TO THE AGREEMENT ON THE GROUNDS THAT CUBA S GIVING AWAY ITS REFINERY ASSETS TO MEXICO." ANOTHER PRESS ERROR, GIL SAID, "IS THE VALUATION FOR MEXICO'S SHARE IN THE REFINERY; IT IS USD 80 MILLION AS IS AND IT WOULD COST USD 350 MILLION TO REPLACE IN ITS PRESENT FORM. OUR INVESTMENT IN PHASE ONE WILL BE USD 40 MILLION, NOT 50. THE AGREEMENT IS PART DEBT/EQUITY SWAP (USD 40 MILLION) AND USD 40 MILLION OF NEW INVESTMENT ON OUR PART. THE REFINERY IS CAPABLE OF OPERATING AS IS, BUT IT WOULD BE VERY INEFFICIENT", HE SAID.

UNCLASSIFIED

ASKED WHETHER MEXICO EXPECTS TO OBTAIN UNLEADED GASOLINE FROM THE CIENFUEGOS REFINERY, COBO SAID, "ABOUT 15,000 BARRELS PER DAY." GALICIA CORRECTED HIM, "NO, IT WILL BE MORE LIKE 12,000 BARRELS PER DAY."

10. WE NOTED THAT THE CIENFUEGOS REFINERY IS A SOVIET DESIGN FOR VERY COLD WEATHER AND A WHITE ELEPHANT NEEDING AT LEAST USD 250 MILLION IN FRESH INVESTMENT. GIL RESPONDED THAT HE ALSO HAS HEARD THE SAME COMMENTS. HE EXPLAINED THAT "THIS IS A PRIMARY REFINERY, WE ARE BUYING IT ON-THE-CHEAP [redacted] SOME SAY THAT THE REFINERY HAS "SERPENTINES", A SYSTEM NEEDED IN SIBERIA TO HEAT THE CRUDE, AND THAT ITS WALLS ARE TWO INCHES THICK, RATHER THAN THE NORMAL ONE INCH. I AM ONLY GLAD [redacted]

WE ARE NOT BUYING THE REFINERY BY THE POUND. BUT AT LEAST IT WON'T DENT. WITH OUR USD 40 MILLION INVESTMENT, THE REFINERY WILL HAVE A VACUUM TOWER AND A CATALYTIC CRACKING SYSTEM AND WILL BE MODERNIZED IN LESS THAN 3 YEARS. WE WILL ALSO SEEK A TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE AGREEMENT WITH PEMEX TO RUN THE REFINERY. IF PEMEX CAN'T DO IT, WE WOULD CONTRACT THE VENEZUELAN PETROLEUM COMPANY (PDVSA) OR SOMEONE ELSE." COBO SAID THAT SINCE THE INVESTMENT IN THE CIENFUEGOS REFINERY WAS ANNOUNCED, MEXPETROL HAS BEEN CONTACTED BY COMPANIES FROM 10 COUNTRIES OFFERING TECHNOLOGY. "WE WERE EVEN CONTACTED BY TWO AMERICAN COMPANIES BUT WE WON'T GET INTO THAT," HE SAID.

11. GIL COMPLAINED THAT THE PRESS HAS GIVEN MUCH MORE EMPHASIS TO THE CUBAN REFINERY AGREEMENT THAN TO BIGGER DEALS HE HAS NEGOTIATED WITH ARGENTINA, PERU AND GUATEMALA. "SUCH AGREEMENTS ARE NOW BEGINNING TO BEAR FRUIT", SAID GALICIA. GIL INTERJECTED THAT THE CIENFUEGOS REFINERY HAD NOT BEEN FOR CASTRO?

CONFISCATED BY THE CUBAN GOVERNMENT, BUT BUILT BY THE SOVIET UNION..."IT WAS NOT EVEN THERE WHEN CASTRO TOOK OVER," HE SAID.

12. COBO COMMENTED THAT THE "CIENFUEGOS REFINERY REPRESENTS A STRATEGIC INVESTMENT FOR PEMEX." WE ASKED WHETHER IN PLANNING SUCH STRATEGIC INVESTMENT, THE MEXICAN INVESTORS HAD ASSUMED THAT THE CUBAN GOVERNMENT WOULD REMAIN UNCHANGED INDEFINITELY. COBO REPEATED THAT THE AGREEMENT WAS A GOOD BUSINESS DEAL AND IT HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH POLITICS. "WE'LL COME OUT FINE IN ANY EVENT", HE SAID, AND PROCEEDED TO EXPLAIN THE POLITICAL RISK ANALYSIS FOR THE INVESTMENT:

"IF THE US EMBARGO REMAINS IN PLACE WE WILL BE FINE BECAUSE NOTHING WOULD CHANGE."

"IF THE EMBARGO IS LIFTED, WE WILL DO BETTER BECAUSE OUR PARTS AND MATERIALS WILL BE CHEAPER."

"IF THERE IS A CHANGE IN CUBA TO THE LEFT, WE WILL DO EVEN BETTER BECAUSE THE INVESTMENT WOULD BE NEEDED EVEN MORE."

"IF THERE IS A CHANGE TO THE RIGHT IN CUBA WE WILL DO FINE. A NEW DEMOCRATIC CUBAN GOVERNMENT WOULD NOT CONFISCATE OUR INVESTMENT AS THIS WOULD SEND A NEGATIVE SIGNAL TO OTHER POTENTIAL INTERNATIONAL INVESTORS. IF A CONFISCATION WERE TO OCCUR, WE WOULD HAVE PLENTY OF

[redacted]

INTERNATIONAL TOOLS TO DEFEND OUR INVESTMENT. YOU SEE, WE CAN'T LOSE."

13. COMMENT: FROM MEXPETROL'S POINT OF VIEW THIS MAY BE A ROUTINE BUSINESS AGREEMENT WHICH NEEDS ONLY FINE TUNING TO EVENTUALLY MOVE FORWARD. ENERGY EXPERTS IN MEXICO BELIEVE THAT THE MEXPETROL - CUPET AGREEMENT IS A POOR ONE FOR MEXICO ON BOTH POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC GROUNDS. HOWEVER THE GOM HAS PROBABLY DEBATED THIS "AGREEMENT TO NEGOTIATE" AT THE HIGHEST LEVELS AND CONCLUDED THAT FOR STRATEGIC REASONS THE INCREASED INTEGRATION OF THE MEXICAN AND CUBAN ECONOMIES MAKES GOOD BUSINESS SENSE. BY CALLING THE USD 40 MILLION DOLLAR INVESTMENT PHASE I, COBO REVEALED THAT THIS INITIAL AGREEMENT MAY ONLY BE THE TIP OF THE ICEBERG, THAT PHASES II AND III WOULD FOLLOW, WITH MORE INVESTMENT AND MORE ENERGY

UNCLASSIFIED

INTERDEPENDENCY BETWEEN CUBA AND MEXICO. GIVEN THE NATURE OF THIS DEAL, MEXICO PROBABLY WOULD NOT CONTRIBUTE CASH, BUT A FLOW OF CRUDE IN ORDER TO OBTAIN UNLEADED GASOLINE, A PRODUCT WHICH PEMEX CANNOT FULLY SUPPLY FROM ITS CURRENT REFINERIES. BY EXCLUDING PEMEX AND THE OTHER TWO GOM DEPENDENCIES FROM DIRECT INVESTMENT IN THE REFINERY THE GOM IS KEPT AT ARMS' LENGTH FROM THIS DEAL.

14. THERE REMAINS, OF COURSE THE QUESTION OF WHETHER LARGE MEXICAN CONGLOMERATES SUCH AS PROTEXA, ICA AND BUFETE WOULD PREFER TO-INVEST IN CUBA AT THE RISK OF LOSING THEIR AMERICAN JOINT VENTURE PARTNERS (FLUOR WITH ICA AND M.W. KELLOGG WITH BUFETE) FOR PROJECTS IN MEXICO AND ELSEWHERE.

MEMORANDUM

TO: DRL - John Shattuck

FROM: DRL/AAA - Marshall Carter MC

SUBJECT: Further Action on the Jennifer Harbury/Efrain Bamaca Case.

As you requested, we will, over the next week, increase our action on efforts to press the Guatemalan government for information on the case of Efrain Bamaca.

I will arrange to meet with Santiago Cabrera Lopez, the Guatemalan who says he saw Bamaca in a clandestine military prison. For your information, [redacted] told the desk B1 that they interviewed Cabrera Lopez at length, and have doubts about the veracity of his story. (See attached.)

We will work with the Guatemala desk regarding calling in the Guatemalan Ambassador so that you (or in your absence Nancy Ely-Raphel) may express our desire for some concrete information on the fate of Mr. Bamaca, and, more generally, our concerns about Guatemala's adherence to international law.

In preparation for this, Mary Curtin and Peg Willingham (who is now the desk officer for Guatemala) are reviewing the files to prepare an outline of the concrete information we have on the case.

Dear Mr. Shattuck:

I was contacted today by [ ] calling on behalf of Jennifer Harbury. B6

Ms. Harbury is currently in the second week of a hunger strike to the death in front of the headquarters of the Guatemalan Army in Guatemala City. She is protesting the detention of her husband, Efrin Bamaca Valasquez or Commendante Everado of the Guatemalan National Revolutionary Union (URNG).

According to Amnesty International, although the Army has told Ms. Harbury inconsistently that her husband was killed while trying to escape and also gave another story that he shot himself to avoid capture. They have produced remains for her inspection that were not his and have consistently refused to honor her further requests through OAS for his release or at least truthful information on his fate. She is convinced that he is alive because he was observed in detention after his supposed death.

This administration has been an effective advocate for human rights. I urge you to do everything in your power to ensure that this situation is immediately addressed.

Please keep me informed about this issue. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Tom Andrews

SUBJECT: AMBASSADOR MCAFEE'S CONVERSATION WITH JENNIFER HARBURY EVENING OF 10/22/94

I met with Jennifer about 7:15 last night. Our conversation focused on next steps. On her physical condition she said she was "fine" and while weaker after eleven days without food, she is still able to walk the six blocks to the hotel and back each morning. She was very alert and continues to be very determined. To my express concerns as to tiring her by my visit, she brushed them aside and was very interested in talking.

Jennifer and I talked about what to do next. Her primary interest now is in trying to arrange a face saving way out for the army which would produce Bamaca. This might involve Bamaca's continued detention under some kind of periodic international supervision until the end of the conflict. It might also involve his quiet release into Mexico and promises that he won't talk. "There are things we can do", said Jennifer. Jennifer has made these offers to General Enriquez before without results, but she believes he might reconsider under the circumstances, especially as her situation deteriorates. I reminded Jennifer that her preference in the past has always been not to have a U.S. official present when she discussed these possibilities with the MOD since a positive response in that case was unlikely. She said it continued to be better to avoid having anyone official accompany her. She will contact him herself by note to try to arrange the appointment. I told Jennifer of my brief negative conversation with General Enriquez the day before.

I also told Jennifer that I was trying to reach the President to discuss her situation with him. If I can't reach him before his trip to Honduras Monday - Tuesday, I said that John Hamilton will try to speak with him there. We will both urge that he meet with her. (NOTE: The President did not call me back last night. I will keep trying to reach him this weekend.)

We talked about someone who might be an acceptable mediator with the army, especially if her attempt to see the MOD and work something out fails. She was inclined toward Bishop Quezada and may try to reach him in Zacapa. She also thought the Archbishop might be a possibility and, at my suggestion, would consider Bishop Gerardi who heads the human rights office and is located off the Central Plaza. She also mentioned that Rick might be coming this weekend (information that I don't have) and thought that he might be helpful.

Having agreed on this initial set of next steps, I once again raised the possibility with Jennifer that Bamaca could be dead. "In that case", she said, "I want everyone involved punished". "I have all their names" (from the URNG captor escapees). I told her that it was unlikely she would get information, just the usual stone wall. What would be the move then? What about an international personage to come in for a special investigation? She seemed interested. I raised Tomuchatt's name and she mentioned and then discarded Monica

Pinto. "They don't like her do they" she commented. She also mentioned John Arnault. Jennifer decided to postpone a decision on this step for the moment and pursue meetings with the MOD and the President.

John Hamilton

FROM: Ambassador McAfee

Some thoughts on next steps.

Reading John Hamilton's memo of his conversation with De Leon in Tegucigalpa, I am concerned that the President does not fully grasp the gravity of the situation he is facing with Jennifer Harbury. That has been our struggle here to date -- trying to explain the seriousness of the problem to key Guatemalans. [redacted] helped with Gen Enriquez. John Hamilton has helped with President de Leon. We have added our voices. Do we need more? B6

I suggest two phone calls, one to President de Leon and one to Gen Enriquez. The former by Alec Watson and the latter by Gen McCaffrey to underline the seriousness of the problem and to push for acceptance of an international participation in trying to resolve this such as MINUGUA or Monica Pinto.

Additionally, following up on Rick's conversation with the [redacted] in Mexico, suggesting internationalizing the problem, we might consider a phone call from someone in the GOM, if you think they would be willing, or a Central American president such as Figueres. B6

My intention is to try to contact the President tomorrow after his return from Honduras and after he has had time to discuss the current situation with the MOD and others. I'm seeking an appointment with him for Thursday with Rick. If these phone calls don't produce the right kind of results we can think about raising the level and number of phone calls in a few days.

SUMMARY

2. (U) ACCORDING TO STATISTICS RELEASED BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE (AHRO), HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS, ESPECIALLY EXTRAJUDICIAL EXECUTIONS (EE) AND FORCED DISAPPEARANCES (FD), INCREASED SUBSTANTIALLY IN THE APRIL-AUGUST 1994 PERIOD COMPARED WITH THE SAME PERIOD IN 1993. THE NUMBER OF HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS REPORTED, WHICH BEGAN TO INCREASE IN DECEMBER 1993, HAVE CONTINUED TO DO SO THROUGH THE FIRST EIGHT MONTHS OF THIS YEAR (GUAT 6663 AND GUAT 6861).

3. (U) IN THE APRIL-AUGUST PERIOD, UNION ACTIVISTS JOINED HUMAN RIGHTS LEADERS, THEIR FAMILIES, REFUGEE AND DISPLACED PERSONS ACTIVISTS, AND MEDIA PERSONALITIES AS THE VICTIMS OF HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES. HOWEVER, AS THE WAVE OF VIOLENCE, WHETHER CRIMINAL, PERSONAL OR POLITICAL, CONTINUES TO INCREASE IN GUATEMALA, IT IS BECOMING MUCH MORE DIFFICULT TO DISTINGUISH POLITICALLY MOTIVATED VIOLENCE FROM COMMON CRIME. END SUMMARY.

4. (U) STATISTICS: THE AHRO COMPILED THE FOLLOWING STATISTICS, BASED ALMOST EXCLUSIVELY ON NEWSPAPER REPORTS:

EE - EXTRAJUDICIAL EXECUTION
FD - FORCED DISAPPEARANCE

| 1994 | APR | MAY | JUN | JUL | AUG | TOTAL |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| EE | 21 | 31 | 27 | 44 | 24 | 147 |
| FD | 3 | 2 | 5 | 5 | 1 | 16 |
| TORTURE | 2 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 5 |

| 1993 | APR | MAY | JUN | JUL | AUG | TOTAL |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| EE | 14 | 24 | 4 | 27 | 15 | 84 |
| FD | 3 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 10 |
| TORTURE | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 5 |

5. (U) MOTIVATION OF THE CRIME: THE AHRO ALSO CATEGORIZES EE'S AND FD'S ACCORDING TO THE PROBABLE MOTIVATION FOR THE CRIME AS POLITICAL, PRESUMED POLITICAL AND UNKNOWN. FOR THE APRIL-AUGUST 1994 TIMEFRAME THE AHRO REPORTED THE FOLLOWING NUMBERS:

| 1994 | POLITICAL | PRESUMED POLITICAL | UNKNOWN |
|---|---|---|---|
| EE | 15 | 79 | 53 |
| FD | 0 | 9 | 7 |

| 1993 | POLITICAL | PRESUMED POLITICAL | UNKNOWN |

OLD CASES

6. (U) MICHAEL DEVINE: ON MAY 18, THE COURT OF APPEALS CONFIRMED THE COMMUTABLE SENTENCE OF TWO YEARS IN PRISON AND THE PAYMENT OF Q 200 (APPROXIMATELY USD 40) FINE, HANDED DOWN BY A MILITARY TRIBUNAL AGAINST CORPORAL MARIO TUM ZARAT, CONVICTED OF ALLOWING THE MAY 1993 ESCAPE OF CAPTAIN CONTRERAS. CAPTAIN CONTRERAS REMAINS A FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE. ON SEPTEMBER 6, THE SUPREME COURT CONFIRMED THE THIRTY YEAR SENTENCE GIVEN THE FIVE ENLISTED MEN CONVICTED IN THE DEVINE MURDER.

7. (C) ON AUGUST 2, POLOFFS TOLD LTCOL OTTO NOACK, THE PRESIDENT'S PERSONAL ADVISOR TO THE PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, THAT THE EMBASSY BELIEVES THAT MEMBERS OF THE MILITARY DISPLEASED WITH THE USG'S PROACTIVE STANCE IN THIS CASE MAY HAVE PARTICIPATED IN THE RASH OF VIOLENCE THAT HAS CONFRONTED THE DEVINE WITNESS RELATIVES (TWO MURDERS, A SHOOTING, AND OTHER ACTS OF INTIMIDATION). NOACK, WHO WAS NOT FAMILIAR WITH THESE ASSAULTS AGAINST THE DEVINE WITNESS RELATIVES, DID NOT GIVE AN OPINION ON THE AUTHORS OF THE CRIMES BUT PROMISED TO INVESTIGATE

THE MATTER. (IF NOACK HAS PURSUED AN INVESTIGATION, HE HAS NOT YET COMMUNICATED THE RESULTS TO EMBOFFS). HE ALSO OFFERED TO MEET PERSONALLY WITH THE TWO DEVINE WITNESS RELATIVES CURRENTLY IN HIDING

TO DELIVER A GOG OFFER OF PROTECTION. WHEN PRESSED ABOUT THE WHEREABOUTS OF CAPTAIN CONTRERAS, NOACK STATED HE BELIEVES THAT CONTRERAS IS NOT ABROAD AS OTHER OFFICERS HAVE TOLD EMBASSY PERSONNEL BUT THAT HE THINKS CONTRERAS IS LIVING IN HIDING IN GUATEMALA WITH THE HELP OF HIS MILITARY CLASSMATES.

8. (U) MYRNA MACK: ON THE JUDICIAL FRONT, THERE ARE TWO LAWSUITS PENDING CONCERNING 1990 MYRNA MACK MURDER WHICH HAVE BEEN BEFORE THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT FOR MONTHS. THE FIRST IS AN APPEAL BY THE ALLEGED INTELLECTUAL AUTHORS (FORMER SENIOR MILITARY OFFICERS) OF THE FEBRUARY 9 SUPREME COURT DECISION THAT THERE IS SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE TO KEEP OPEN THE INVESTIGATION AGAINST THEM. THE SECOND SUIT BEFORE THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT IS AN APPEAL BY HELEN MACK OF THE SUPREME COURT DECISION DENYING HER REQUEST THAT IT ORDER THE RELEASE OF EXECUTIVE BRANCH DOCUMENTS CONCERNING HER SISTER'S MURDER. THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH MAINTAINS IT DOES NOT HAVE ANY FILES NOT ALREADY RELEASED TO THE COURTS. DECISIONS IN EITHER LAWSUIT ARE NOT EXPECTED FOR MONTHS.

9. (U) HUNAPU: ON AUGUST 22, THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT DISMISSED A NEW ROUND OF APPEALS FILED BY 22 FORMER "HUNAPU" ANTI-CRIME TASK FORCE POLICE OFFICERS AGAINST THEIR LENGTHY (TWENTY YEARS PLUS) PRISON SENTENCES WHICH HAD BEEN PREVIOUSLY CONFIRMED BY THE SUPREME COURT. THE OFFICERS HAD BEEN FOUND GUILTY IN THE APRIL 22, 1992 DEATH OF UNIVERSITY STUDENT JULIO RIGOBERTO CU QUIM AND INJURY TO SIX OTHER STUDENTS. THE CASE REMAINS UNDER SUPREME COURT REVIEW.

10. (U) JORGE CARPIO: ON MAY 31, A JOINT MILITARY-POLICE OPERATION ARRESTED FOUR SAN PEDRO JOCOPILAS PAC MEMBERS/MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WANTED FOR THEIR ALLEGED INVOLVEMENT IN THE JULY 1993 MURDER OF NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER AND FORMER PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE JORGE CARPIO (GUAT 5523). HOWEVER, JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES LATER RELEASED ALL FOUR, CITING INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE TYING THEM TO THE CRIME. THE CARPIO FAMILY APPEALED THE RELEASE AND CRITICIZED THE GOVERNMENT FOR FAILURE TO CARRY OUT THE ARREST WARRANTS FOR SIX OTHER PAC MEMBERS WANTED IN THIS CASE. SINCE THIS TRAGIC DEATH, THE CARPIO FAMILY REPORTS VARIOUS FAMILY MEMBERS HAVE BEEN THREATENED. ON JUNE 25, UNKNOWN ARMED PERSONS RAMMED THEIR CAR INTO KAREN FISCHER DE CARPIO'S CAR AND, WHEN THEY DETERMINED SHE WAS NOT IN THE CAR, MADE DEATH THREATS AGAINST FISCHER TO HER DRIVER. FISCHER SUBSEQUENTLY LEFT GUATEMALA WITH HER CHILDREN FOR THE US WHERE SHE REMAINED FOR SEVERAL MONTHS.

11. (U) UPDATE: ON SEPTEMBER 7, THREE DIFFERENT PAC MEMBERS/MILITARY COMMISSIONERS WANTED BY THE AUTHORITIES IN CONNECTION WITH THE CARPIO CASE TURNED THEMSELVES IN. THESE INDIVIDUALS WERE RELEASED BY THE JUDGE UNDER PERSONAL BOND PENDING CLARIFICATION OF THEIR IDENTITIES AND FURTHER INVESTIGATION OF THIS CRIME. INCLUDING ANOTHER SAN PEDRO JOCOPILAS PAC MEMBER CURRENTLY IN JAIL FOR ANOTHER MURDER WHO IS SUSPECTED OF PARTICIPATING IN THE CARPIO MURDER, THERE ARE A TOTAL OF FOUR PERSONS IN JAIL AWAITING FURTHER JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS WHO ARE BELIEVED TO HAVE PARTICIPATED IN THIS CRIME.

APRIL-AUGUST 1994 VIOLATIONS

12. (U) LT. DIAZ: THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE REPORTED THAT THE JUNE 20 DEATH OF RETIRED ARMY OFFICER LIEUTENANT DIAZ WAS PERPETRATED BY ARMY PERSONNEL OR FORMER PAC MEMBERS WHO HAD PARTICIPATED WITH DIAZ IN THE 1981-1982 RABINAL MASSACRES (GUAT 749). THE MASSACRE PARTICIPANTS ALLEGEDLY ASSASSINATED DIAZ TO PREVENT HIM FROM PUBLICLY COMMENTING OR TESTIFYING ON THE MASSACRES. THE CHURCH OFFICE REPORTS THE DEATHS OF TWO OTHER RABINAL RESIDENTS, A MILITARY COMMISSIONER AND THE SON OF THE OWNER OF THE LAND WHERE EXHUMATIONS ARE TAKING PLACE, WERE ORCHESTRATED TO SEND A MESSAGE TO THE RABINAL COMMUNITY TO REMAIN SILENT. THERE ARE CREDIBLE REPORTS BY THE MEDIA AND THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHT'S OFFICE THAT IN JULY THE ARMY CONDUCTED HOUSE-TO-HOUSE INSPECTIONS AND INTERROGATIONS IN THE COMMUNITY AND TOLD MALE RESIDENTS IN A COMMUNITY MEETING NOT TO PARTICIPATE IN THE ONGOING EXHUMATIONS. WHILE NOT ADMITTING THESE EVENTS TOOK PLACE, THE SENIOR OFFICER WHO ALLEGEDLY CALLED THE MEETING HAS BEEN TRANSFERRED.

13. (U) AFTER LEARNING OF THESE INCIDENTS, EMBOFFS EXPRESSED USG CONCERN FOR THE SAFETY OF THE MULTI-NATIONAL FORENSIC ANTHROPOLOGY TEAM, THE LOCAL CLERGY AND OTHERS IN THE RABINAL AREA TO THE PRESIDENTIAL HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, COPREDEH AND ARMY INTELLIGENCE (D-2) AND ASKED THEM TO TAKE STEPS TO END THE HARASSMENT. AMCIT AND FORENSIC TEAM OF GUATEMALA MEMBER ANDY KAUFMAN TOLD HROFF THAT, AFTER THE EMBASSY SPOKE TO GOG AUTHORITIES, THE NATIONAL POLICE PROVIDED POLICE PROTECTION TO TEAM DURING THE ONGOING RABINAL EXHUMATIONS AND, TO THE BEST OF HIS KNOWLEDGE, INTIMIDATIONS AGAINST THE FORENSIC ANTHROPOLOGY TEAM, CLERGY AND RELATIVES OF THOSE

MASSACRED CEASED.

14. (U) JUDGE EPAMINONDAS GONZALEZ DUBON: ON APRIL 1, CONSTITUTIONAL COURT PRESIDENT EPAMINONDAS GONZALEZ DUBON WAS SHOT IN HIS CAR AND KILLED WHILE RETURNING FROM HOLY WEEK RELIGIOUS PROCESSIONS (GUAT 3273). THE MOTIVE BEHIND THE CRIME REMAINS UNRESOLVED. MANY BELIEVED THAT THE MURDER WAS AN INTIMIDATION ATTEMPT BY THOSE WISHING TO DESTABILIZE THE DE LEON ADMINISTRATION OR A REPRISAL DIRECTED AT THE JUDGE FOR HIS ANTI-SERRANO ROLE IN THE "AUTOGOLPE." ON APRIL 26, THE GOG ANNOUNCED THE ARREST OF TWELVE PERSONS, MEMBERS OF AN ALLEGED CAR THEFT RING, FOUR OF WHOM WERE SAID TO HAVE PARTICIPATED IN THE SHOOTING. TWO INDIVIDUALS REMAIN IN JAIL AWAITING TRIAL, WHILE THE OTHERS HAVE BEEN RELEASED DUE TO INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE.

15. (C) ON AUG 3, WENDY ADALGIZA GODOY, THE WIDOW OF JUDGE GONZALEZ MET WITH THE AMBASSADOR, RSO AND HROFF TO THANK THE AMBASSADOR FOR HER SUPPORT DURING THE TRAGEDY AND TO REQUEST TECHNICAL INVESTIGATIVE ASSISTANCE.

[redacted] B1

16. (C) ADALGIZA ASKED THAT THE USG HELP THE GUATEMALAN POLICE PROCURE A COMPOSITE SKETCH MACHINE THAT COULD REPRODUCE THE HISPANIC FEATURES SHE HAD GIVEN THE POLICE. THE WIDOW CLAIMED THAT THE POLICE HAVE LOST THE ORIGINAL POLICE SKETCH DRAWN FROM HER RECOLLECTION SOON AFTER THE INCIDENT. SHE ALSO CLAIMED THAT THE GUATEMALAN POLICE SKETCH MACHINE DOES NOT HAVE THE CAPABILITY TO REPRODUCE HISPANIC FEATURES. EMBOFFS TOLD GONZALEZ WE WOULD LOOK INTO THE FEASIBILITY OF HER REQUEST.

[redacted] B1

20. (U) CONGRESSMAN OBDULIO CHINCHILLA VEGA: ON APRIL 6, 1994 CONGRESSMAN OBDULIO CHINCHILLA VEGA BECAME THE TARGET OF A SECOND ASSASSINATION ATTEMPT WHEN AN UNIDENTIFIED SNIPER FIRED AT THE CONGRESSMAN

AS HE WAS LEAVING A DOWNTOWN RESTAURANT. SOON AFTERWARDS, CHINCILLA, WHO RECEIVED STOMACH AND ARM WOUNDS, DEPARTED FOR THE US FOR MEDICAL TREATMENT. SINCE HIS RETURN TO GUATEMALA, THE INFAMOUS CHINCILLA, WIDELY REGARDED AS A THUG BY HIS ENEMIES AND A BENEVOLENT POLITICAL CRONY BY HIS SUPPORTERS, HAS DECLINED COURT APPEARANCES TO ANSWER QUESTIONS ABOUT THIS LATEST ASSAULT AND HAS TAKEN A LOW PUBLIC PROFILE. THE FIRST CHINCHILLA ASSASSINATION ATTEMPT OCCURRED IN MAY 1993 AND RESULTED IN THE LOSS OF HIS LEFT EYE.

21. (U) LORENZO PEREZ PU: "LA REPUBLICA" REPORTED THAT, ON APRIL 25, LORENZO PEREZ PU'S CADAVER WAS FOUND IN A GARBAGE DUMP IN CHICAMAN, QUICHE. THE CADAVER WAS DRESSED IN AN ARMY UNIFORM WITH A SIGN PLACED ON THE BODY ACCUSING PEREZ OF BEING A GUERRILLA AND THIEF. THE REPORT QUOTED POLICE SOURCES, WHO CLAIMED PEREZ HAD BEEN KIDNAPPED, BEATEN AND TORTURED BEFORE BEING KILLED. THE CRIME, WHICH THE AHRO HAS LABELLED AS POLITICAL, REMAINS UNSOLVED. WE HAVE ASKED COPREDEH AND THE NATIONAL POLICE FOR FURTHER INFORMATION.

22. (U) BORKI ULIANOV TACTIC CACERS: "SIGLO XXI" REPORTED THAT ON MAY 12, THE BODY OF BORKI ULIANOV TACTIC CACERS, A MEMBER OF A SALVADORIAN REFUGEE, RETURNEE AND DISPLACED PERSON NGO, WAS FOUND IN HIS CAR CLOSE TO THE SALVADORIAN-GUATEMALAN BORDER. ACCORDING TO THE AHRO, TACTIC, A GUATEMALAN, HAD WORKED IN GUATEMALA AS A JESUIT PRIEST BUT LEFT THE PRIESTHOOD. LATER, HE DEPARTED GUATEMALA AFTER RECEIVING DEATH THREATS AND WORKED IN HONDURAS WITH SALVADORIAN REFUGEES. RECENTLY, TACTIC HAD RESUMED TRAVELLING BACK AND FORTH BETWEEN EL SALVADOR AND GUATEMALA AND WAS ALLEGEDLY WORKING ON A EUROPEAN COMMUNITY REFUGEE PROJECT IN EL SALVADOR.

23. (C) INITIALLY THE AHRO THOUGHT THE MURDER WAS CRIMINAL, THEN POLITICAL. THE AHRO HAS REVERSED ITSELF AGAIN BECAUSE THE OFFICE HAS LEARNED THAT A COMPUTER AND MONEY WERE REPORTED MISSING FROM THE CAR AS WELL. THE OFFICE IS FOLLOWING AN UNCONFIRMED LEAD THAT CUSTOMS AND IMMIGRATION OFFICIALS MAY BE CONSPIRING WITH HIGHWAY BANDITS, WHO LATER ROB INDIVIDUALS IDENTIFIED BY THE BORDER AUTHORITIES AS CARRYING VALUABLE MERCHANDISE INTO GUATEMALA. AHRO OFFICIALS POINTS OUT THAT STRANGELY ENOUGH THERE ARE NO IMMIGRATION RECORDS IN EITHER COUNTRY REPORTING THAT TACTIC'S CAR EVER LEFT EL SALVADOR ON MAY 14,

ENTERED GUATEMALA OR REENTERED EL SALVADOR.

24. (U) INMATES: DURING THE MONTHS OF APRIL AND MAY, 5 INMATES WERE MURDERED IN JAIL. ACCORDING TO PRESS REPORTS, THE CRIMES ARE BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN COMMITTED BY INDIVIDUAL INMATES OR PRISON GANGS. THERE HAVE BEEN NO ALLEGATIONS OF GOVERNMENT COMPLICITY. HOWEVER, ON AUGUST 2, HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN JORGE MARIO GARCIA LAGUARDIA RELEASED A RESOLUTION CONDEMNING THE GOG INABILITY TO PREVENT PRISONERS FROM SNEAKING IN FRAGMENTATION GRENADES TO USE AGAINST THEIR FELLOW INMATES, AS WAS THE CASE IN THE EARLY JULY INCIDENT WHICH LEFT NINE INMATES INJURED.

25. (C) GERMAN ALFREDO DE LEON PARAJON: ON JUNE 2, THE BODY OF GERMAN ALFREDO DE LEON PARAJON, RETIRED FOUNDER OF THE QUETZALTENANGO WORKERS UNION (UTQ), WAS FOUND. INTERNATIONAL AND NATIONAL HUMAN RIGHTS AND LABOR ACTIVISTS CONTINUE TO CITE THIS MURDER AND THE MURDER OF GIOVANNI ALDER WILSON AS EXAMPLES OF THE RECENT WAVE OF VIOLENCE AGAINST LABOR LEADERS AND THEIR FAMILIES (SEE PARA 27). HOWEVER, THE POLICE REPORT ON DE LEON POINTS TO COMMON CRIME INSTEAD. ACCORDING TO THE REPORT, DE LEON HAD A CAR ACCIDENT THE DAY BEFORE HIS DEATH AND THE DRIVER OF THE OTHER VEHICLE GAVE HIM A CHECK TO COVER THE DAMAGES. LATER, THE THEORY GOES THAT THE OTHER DRIVER DECIDED TO KILL DE LEON RATHER THAN PAY HIM FOR DAMAGES. IN AN AUGUST 18 CONVERSATION WITH HROFF, NATIONAL POLICEMAN MIGUEL ANGEL RAMOS ADMITTED THAT THE POLICE STILL HAVE INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE TO ARREST THEIR PRIME SUSPECT.

26. (U) LABATT HAS INTERVIEWED SEVERAL ACTIVE LOCAL QUETZALTENANGO UNION LEADERS. A FEW CLAIM TO HAVE NEVER HEARD OF DE LEON WHILE OTHERS STATE HE HAS NOT BEEN ACTIVE IN THE LABOR MOVEMENT FOR YEARS. AT THE TIME OF HIS DEATH HE WAS REPORTEDLY INVOLVED WITH ADULT EDUCATION PROGRAMS.

27. (C) GIOVANNI ALDER WILSON: ON JUNE 14, THE TORTURED BODY OF GIOVANNI ALDER WILSON, THE SON OF THE SECRETARY GENERAL OF AN AD HOC FINANCE MINISTRY LABOR UNION, WAS FOUND IN THE STREETS OF SANTA ROSA DEPARTMENT. ACCORDING TO THE PRESS, HE HAD BEEN GIVEN THE "TIRO DE GRACIA" TO THE HEAD. (NOTE: THE LEGALLY RECOGNIZED UNION REPRESENTING FINANCE MINISTRY WORKERS HAS BEEN OPERATING FOR SOME TIME. THIS NEW AD HOC GROUP HAD ONLY BEEN FORMED IN FEBRUARY 1993 AND HAD LITTLE SUPPORT AMONG THE WORKERS. WE HAVE NO FURTHER INDICATION OF CRIMINAL OR POLITICAL MOTIVATION, AND DO NOT AGREE WITH THE AHRO'S POLITICAL MOTIVATION CATEGORIZATION. WE WOULD HAVE CLASSIFIED THIS CRIME AS HAVING UNKNOWN MOTIVATION.)

28. (S/NOFORN/NOCONTRACT/ORCON) JORGE ANTONIO NISTAL RECINOS AND CAPTAIN HECTOR RUBEN MELGAR RODRIGUEZ: ON APRIL 12, IN A BIZARRE AND NEVER TO BE FULLY KNOWN SEQUENCE OF EVENTS, ACTIVE DUTY ARMY CAPTAIN HECTOR RUBEN MELGAR RODRIGUEZ REPORTEDLY KILLED CONGRESSIONAL ADVISOR JORGE ANTONIO NISTAL RECINOS WHEN MELGAR STOPPED BEHIND NISTAL AS NISTAL WAS TRYING TO FIX HIS VEHICLE WHICH HAD BROKEN DOWN ON THE SIDE OF A ROAD IN GUATEMALA CITY. ACCORDING TO THE POLICE VERSION, THE POLICE HEARD THESE SHOTS AND WENT TO THE SCENE, WHERE THEY RECEIVED GUNFIRE

FROM MELGAR. THE POLICE FIRED BACK AND KILLED MELGAR. GUATEMALAN ARMY SOURCES HAVE CLAIMED THAT FORMER MOVEMENT OF SOLIDARITY ACTION PARTY CONGRESSMAN RAFAEL ROTTMAN CHANG HAD PROBLEMS WITH NATIONAL AUTHENTIC CENTER PARTY POLITICIAN NISTAL AND HIRED MELGAR TO KILL HIM. [redacted] ROTTMAN CLAIMED HE DID NOT HIRE HIS CLOSE FRIEND MELGAR TO KILL NISTAL. ACCORDING TO THE CONGRESSMAN, ARMY INTELLIGENCE (D-2) HAD MELGAR KILLED BECAUSE HE HAD EXPOSED TO SENIOR MILITARY AUTHORITIES A SCHEME WHEREBY THE FORMER ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF GENERAL QUILO WAS SIPHONING OFF ARMY PAYMENTS FOR THE MEDICAL TREATMENT OF MELGAR'S SON IN HOUSTON.

29. (S/NORFORN/NOCONTRACT/ORCON) COMMENT: WE PRESUMABLY WILL NEVER KNOW IF MELGAR WAS MENTALLY UNSTABLE, AS SOME HAVE ALLEGED, OR IF HE WAS KILLED BY THE POLICE AFTER HE MURDERED NISTAL AS PART OF SOME CONSPIRACY WITH ROTTMAN, OR WHETHER THIS IS AN ELABORATE COVER STORY CONCOCTED BY THE D-2 TO PROTECT ARMY OFFICERS INVOLVED IN CORRUPTION.

30. (U) OTHER VICTIMS: OTHER VICTIMS KILLED UTILIZING EXTRAJUDICIAL MEANS INCLUDED STUDENTS, UNION, PUBLIC AND PRIVATE SECTOR EMPLOYEES, BUSINESSMEN, SOLDIERS, AND FARM LABORERS.

DISAPPEARANCES

APRIL-AUGUST 1994 CASES

31. (C) JENNIFER HARBURY, WIFE OF MISSING URNG

FIELD COMMANDER EFRAIN BAMACA ("COMANDANTE EVERARDO") VISITED GUATEMALA IN MAY AND AUGUST TO CONTINUE HER EFFORT TO DISCOVER HER HUSBAND'S WHEREABOUTS. IN MAY, HARBURY MET WITH DEFENSE MINISTER ENRIQUEZ AND THE PEACE PROCESS "GROUP OF FRIENDS" EMBASSIES, IN ADDITION TO OTHERS. DURING HER AUGUST VISIT, HARBURY WAS ACCOMPANIED BY A FILM CREW.

32. (C) IN BOTH STAYS, HARBURY MET WITH THE AMBASSADOR AND OTHER EMBASSY PERSONNEL, WHO INTERVENED WITH THEIR GOG CONTACTS TO HELP FACILITATE APPOINTMENTS. THROUGHOUT THE MONTHS COVERED BY THIS REPORT, THE AMBASSADOR AND OTHERS IN THE MISSION CONTINUED TO RAISE THE BAMACA CASE WITH HIGH-LEVEL GOG OFFICIALS, INCLUDING ENRIQUEZ WHO ON TWO SEPARATE OCCASIONS DURING THIS PERIOD ASSERTED TO THE AMBASSADOR THAT THE ARMY IS NOT HOLDING BAMACA OR THE OTHER CLAIMED 35 GUERRILLA PRISONERS. VISITING DOD DAS JARAMILLO ALSO RAISED THE CASE WITH ENRIQUEZ.

33. (U) ACCORDING TO THE AHRO STATISTICS BASED PRIMARILY ON MEDIA ACCOUNTS, IN THE APRIL-AUGUST TIME FRAME FORCED DISAPPEARANCE VICTIMS INCLUDED PUBLIC AND PRIVATE SECTOR EMPLOYEES, A BUSINESSMAN, A RURAL WORKER, A POLICEMAN AND OTHERS OF UNKNOWN PROFESSION. THE AHRO HAS NOT PROVIDED FURTHER INFORMATION TO ALLOW US TO COMMENT ON THESE CLAIMS.

APRIL-AUGUST 1994 CASES

34. (U) JUAN OSARIO VASQUEZ: CERJ, THE INDIGENOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION, REPORTED THAT JUAN OSARIO VASQUEZ FILED A LEGAL COMPLAINT ALLEGING THAT ON JULY 21, PAC MEMBERS HAD ACCUSED HIM OF BEING A GUERRILLA, KIDNAPPED HIM, TIED A ROPE TO HIS NECK, HUNG HIM FROM A BEAM AND LEFT HIM FOR DEAD. FAMILY MEMBERS LATER ARRIVED AND RESCUED OSARIO.

35. (U) "LA EXACTA": ON AUGUST 24, TWO PERSONS WERE KILLED AND ELEVEN WOUNDED AS POLICE DISLODGED STRIKING CAMPESINOS FROM "LA EXACTA" FARM IN

COATEPEQUE. A THIRD PERSON DISAPPEARED AND HIS BODY WAS FOUND DISTANT FROM THE FARM THE FOLLOWING DAY. THE WORKERS HAD TAKEN OVER THE FARM IN AN ATTEMPT TO

PRESSURE THEIR SUPERVISORS TO COMPLY WITH A LABOR COURT ORDER RENDERED PREVIOUSLY THAT THE EMPLOYERS OBEY LABOR LAWS AND PAY THE WORKERS MINIMUM WAGE AND OVERTIME AND GRANT VACATION, SICK LEAVE AND OTHER MANDATORY BONUSES. RATHER THAN COMPLY WITH THE LABOR COURT ORDER, THE OWNERS FIRED APPROXIMATELY 79 EMPLOYEES. AFTER PREMATURELY REMARKING THAT THE POLICE ACTED WITHIN THEIR LEGAL MANDATE, PRESIDENT DE LEON HAS NOW RESPONDED TO OMBUDSMAN AND CATHOLIC CHURCH CHARGES OF EXCESSIVE POLICE FORCE BY ACCEPTING INSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY AND PROMISING A COMPLETE INVESTIGATION.

36. (U) UPDATE: DURING MEETING SEPTEMBER 13-14 WITH GUATEMALAN GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS AND BUSINESS LEADERS, VISITING D/US OF LABOR OTERO AND CHARGE JOHN KEANE EMPHASIZED THE EXTREMELY NEGATIVE REACTION BY THE US MEDIA, NGO'S AND CONGRESS TO THE FINCA EXACTA INCIDENT. USG OFFICIALS STRESSED THE NEED FOR A FULL, TRANSPARENT INVESTIGATION OF THE INCIDENT BY AN IMPARTIAL AND TRUSTWORTHY PARTY, AND SUGGESTED THAT ONE OR MORE OFFICIALS POSSIBLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE INCIDENT BE SUSPENDED IN THE MEANTIME.

37. (C) STREET CHILDREN: ON JULY 14, NATIONAL POLICE REFERRED A CASE OF POLICE ABUSE AGAINST A MINOR TO THE COURTS AFTER CONCLUDING THAT FIVE POLICEMEN HAD ABUSED THEIR AUTHORITY IN THEIR MARCH 4 BATON BEATING OF LUIS ANTONIO ROLDAN IZEPPI. CASA ALIANZA HAS ALSO FILED CHARGES AGAINST THE NATIONAL POLICE FOR THE AUGUST 15 INCIDENT IN WHICH THREE POLICEMEN SPRAYED PAINT THINNER AT THE FACE OF SLEEPING STREET CHILD LUIS ALFREDO BONILLA JUAREZ.

38. (U) JUSTICE OF THE PEACE CARLOS HUMBERTO DARDON REYES: IN MAY, COTZUMALGUAPA JUSTICE OF THE PEACE CARLOS HUMBERTO DARDON REYES REPORTED RECEIVING DEATH THREATS AFTER HE SENT U.S. CITIZEN MELISSA LARSON TO THE ESCUINTLA DEPARTMENT COURT HOUSE FOR HER PROTECTION IN MARCH, AFTER A MOB WRONGLY ACCUSED HER OF TRANSPORTING BABY ORGANS IN HER BACKPACK. USG CONCERN FOR THE SAFETY OF THE JUDGE WAS REPEATEDLY RELAYED TO COPREDEH, THE NATIONAL POLICE AND THE SUPREME COURT. SUPREME COURT (SC) OFFICIALS TOLD CG AND HROFF THAT THEY BELIEVED THE JUDGE WAS MAKING THE STORY UP TO GET A BETTER REASSIGNMENT OR A SCHOLARSHIP TO THE U.S. EMBOFFS TOLD SC OFFICIALS WE VIEWED THESE THREATS SERIOUSLY AND WE EXPECTED THEY TAKE APPROPRIATE STEPS FOR THE JUDGE'S SAFETY. SINCE

MID-JULY THERE HAVE BEEN NO MORE THREATS AGAINST THE JUDGE OR HIS FAMILY.

39. (U) JUDGE MARIA EUGENIA VILLASENOR: IN JULY, THIRD DISTRICT APPELLATE COURT JUDGE AND JUDICIAL REFORM ACTIVIST MARIA EUGENIA VILLASENOR REPORTED SHE AND OTHER APPELLATE MAGISTRATES HAVE BEEN HARASSED IN ATTEMPTS TO INFLUENCE DECISIONS IN HIGH PROFILE CASES (GUAT 8102). ON AUGUST 29, A POLICEMAN ASSIGNED TO PROTECT VILLASENOR WAS KIDNAPPED, INTERROGATED AND ASSAULTED. FOLLOWING THIS INCIDENT, VILLASENOR LEFT THE COUNTRY FOR A NUMBER OF WEEKS. ON SEPTEMBER , THE EMBASSY RELEASED A STRONGLY WORDED STATEMENT TO THE PRESS CONDEMNING THIS INTIMIDATION.

40. (C) ERNESTO RUIZ SAENZ DE TEJADA: ON JUNE 25, A LIVE GRENADE WAS TOSSED AT THE RESIDENCE GARAGE ROOF OF TRANSIT POLICE CHIEF AND EMBASSY (ADMIN) CONTACT ERNESTO RUIZ SAENZ DE TEJADA. RUIZ WAS NOT INJURED IN THIS ATTACK, BUT RESIGNED FROM THE POLICE FORCE SHORTLY AFTERWARDS. THE TRANSIT POLICE CHIEF HAD BEEN ACTIVE IN ANTI-CORRUPTION EFFORTS WITHIN THE POLICE FORCE TO HALT THE ILLEGAL ISSUANCE OF DRIVER LICENSES AND ILLEGAL CAR REGISTRATIONS.

41. (U) FORCED RECRUITMENT: ON JUNE 14, AMILCAR MENDEZ, THE FOUNDER OF THE INDIGENOUS HUMAN RIGHTS ORGANIZATION CERJ, FILED A LAWSUIT AGAINST DEFENSE MINISTER ENRIQUEZ CHARGING THAT THE ARMED FORCES' FORCED RECRUITMENT PRACTICES VIOLATED THE CONSTITUTION AND LAW ON OBLIGATORY MILITARY SERVICE (GUAT 6173). A COURT, HOWEVER, RULED THE JUDICIAL BRANCH DID NOT HAVE JURISDICTION OF THIS MATTER BECAUSE THE MINISTER OF DEFENSE ENJOYS IMMUNITY FROM PROSECUTION, WHICH CAN ONLY BE REMOVED BY CONGRESS. RESOLUTION OF THE IMMUNITY QUESTION WAS REFERRED TO THE CONGRESS WHICH RULED THAT THE CASE LACKED LEGAL MERIT, THUS EFFECTIVELY DISMISSING THE ENTIRE LAWSUIT.

42. (U) THROUGH JULY 30, THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE HANDLED 89 INDIVIDUAL CASES OF FORCED RECRUITMENT. IN THE SAME PERIOD, THE HUMAN RIGHTS OMBUDSMAN OFFICE REPORTED RECEIVING 663 COMPLAINTS OF FORCED RECRUITMENT. THE OFFICE HAS BEEN SUCCESSFUL IN OBTAINING THE RELEASE OF 268 PERSONS FROM MILITARY SERVICE, OF WHOM 79 WERE MINORS. ON JUNE 29, DEFENSE MINISTER GENERAL ENRIQUEZ ANNOUNCED A PRESIDENTIAL DECISION FOR A SIX MONTH MORATORIUM ON FORCED RECRUITMENT, WHICH WAS REITERATED BY PRESIDENT DE LEON DURING JUNE 30 ARMY DAY CELEBRATIONS. HOWEVER, THE OMBUDSMAN REPORTED THREE MORE SEPARATE INSTANCES OF FORCED RECRUITMENT DRIVES IN JULY. ON AUGUST 28, THE DEFENSE MINISTER ONCE AGAIN ORDERED A SUSPENSION OF FORCED RECRUITMENT.

43. (U) JUAN ANTONIO CHUMEL: IN JUNE AND JULY 1994, CERJ FILED A LEGAL COMPLAINT ON BEHALF OF FORMER PAC MEMBER JUAN ANTONIO CHUMEL WITH LOCAL JUDICIAL AUTHORITIES AND THE INTER AMERICAN COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS. IT STATED THAT SINCE 1988, WHEN CHUMEL LEFT THE PACS, PATROLLERS HAVE THREATENED AND INTIMIDATED CHUMEL TO THE EXTENT HE WAS FORCED TO LEAVE HIS COMMUNITY FOR FEAR OF HIS LIFE.

USE OF EXCESSIVE FORCE AND VIOLATIONS OF HUMANITARIAN LAW IN INTERNAL CONFLICTS

---

44. (U) STATISTICS: ACCORDING TO SIX MONTH STATISTICS REPORTED BY THE ARCHBISHOP'S HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICE, REPEATED URNG ATTACKS AGAINST CIVILIAN INFRASTRUCTURE TARGETS HAS RESULTED IN DAMAGE TO ELECTRICAL AND COMMUNICATION FACILITIES AND PETROLEUM STORAGE AREAS. (NOTE: AHRO DATA ON GUERRILLA ATTACKS FOR JULY AND AUGUST WAS NOT AVAILABLE) THE CHURCH OFFICE REPORTS TWO PERSONS HAVE BEEN INJURED BY GUERRILLA-PLANTED EXPLODING MINES. ON AUGUST 22, GUERRILLAS FIRED INDISCRIMINATELY AT A CIVILIAN BUS WOUNDING ELEVEN INDIVIDUALS AND KILLING ONE PERSON DURING AN ATTACK AGAINST ARMY UNITS IN CHUPOL, CHICHICASTENANGO.

45. (U) ROSALINA TUYUC: ON JULY 9 CONAVIGUA DIRECTOR ROSALINA TUYUC PUBLICIZED INFORMATION THAT HAD BEEN PROVIDED TO THE AMBASSADOR ON JULY 1 THAT, ON THREE SEPARATE OCCASIONS THIS YEAR, MEMBERS OF HER ORGANIZATION HAVE BEEN MISTAKENLY KIDNAPPED FOR SHORT PERIODS OF TIME BY ASSAILANTS, WHO HAD REALLY INTENDED TO KIDNAP HER (GUAT 6386). ACCORDING TO TUYUC, THE LATEST INCIDENT OCCURRED MAY 18, 1994.

THE LEADER HAS ALSO ISSUED PUBLIC STATEMENTS THAT IN JUNE AND JULY SOLDIERS WERE OCCASIONALLY STATIONED OUTSIDE THE HOME OF HER SISTER IN CHIMALTENANGO. AFTER LEARNING OF THESE INCIDENTS, THE EMBASSY EXPRESSED ITS CONCERN FOR ROSALINA AND HER FAMILY'S

SAFETY TO COPREDEH AND THE ARMED FORCES. ON SEPTEMBER 16 HUMAN RIGHTS OFFICERS FOR THE PUBLIC MINISTRY TOLD HROFF THEY WERE INVESTIGATING THE CHARGES OF ARMY HARASSMENT BUT THAT NEITHER TUYUC NOR CONAVIGUA MEMBERS HAVE FILED KIDNAPPING CHARGES.

46. (U) EDWIN QUEZADA: THE HOME OF EDWIN QUEZADA, THE BROTHER OF FORMER PEACE TALKS CONCILIATOR AND CURRENT PRESIDENT OF THE CIVIL SOCIETY ASSEMBLY BISHOP QUEZADA, WAS BOMBED IN JUNE (GUAT 6840). THE BROTHER IS A BUSINESSMAN AND PARTIAL OWNER OF THE NEWSWEEKLY "CRONICA."

47. (U) SARA POROJ VASQUEZ: ON JUNE 22, GAM OFFICER POROJ WAS ATTACKED, STABBED AND ROBBED BY UNKNOWN MEN OUTSIDE HER HOME ON JUNE 22 (GUAT 6047). THE PRESS INCORRECTLY SAID SHE WAS ASSAULTED OUTSIDE GAM'S OFFICE. THERE HAVE BEEN NO FURTHER DEVELOPMENTS IN THIS CASE. THIS MAY BE A CASE OF COMMON CRIME.

48. (U) AMNESTY: ON AUGUST 12, A LOWER COURT JUDGE DISMISSED THE AMNESTY GRANTED FOUR RECENTLY CAPTURED URNG GUERRILLAS (GUAT 7461). IT HAD BEEN COMMON GOVERNMENT PRACTICE TO EXCUSE POST-1988 CRIMES COMMITTED BY GUERRILLAS EVEN THOUGH THE AMNESTY LAW ONLY APPLIES TO POLITICAL AND RELATED CRIMES COMMITTED BEFORE 1988. THE GOVERNMENT HAS APPEALED THIS DECISION AND IS CONSIDERING NEW AMNESTY LEGISLATION TO COVER POLITICAL AND RELATED CRIMES COMMITTED AFTER 1988.

---

49. (U) STATISTICS: THE MEDIA CONTINUES AS A TARGET OF POLITICAL (AND CRIMINAL) VIOLENCE. DURING THE APRIL-AUGUST 1994 TIME FRAME THE AHRO REPORTED 5 ASSAULTS, 2 THREATS AND 1 ACT OF TORTURE AGAINST MEDIA PERSONNEL OR ESTABLISHMENTS.

50. (U) "TINAMIT": ON JUNE 24, AT 5 A.M., A BOMB EXPLODED AT THE OFFICES OF "TINAMIT," THE FAR LEFT WEEKLY MAGAZINE (GUAT 6047). THIS WAS THE THIRD BOMB

ATTEMPT AGAINST THE WEEKLY IN 1994. IN A JULY MEETING WITH "TINAMIT" EDITOR AND THEN SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY (PSD) CANDIDATE FOR THE AUGUST 14 CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS OTTO MORAN CAUTIONED EMBASSY PRESS SPOKESMAN AND HROFF THAT NOT ALL ATTACKS AGAINST JOURNALISTS ARE NECESSARILY HUMAN RIGHTS RELATED CRIMES. HE PERSONALLY BELIEVED THAT THIS LATEST ATTACK ALLEGEDLY DIRECTED AT "TINAMIT," (WHICH OCCURRED WHILE GUATEMALAN JOURNALIST HUGO ARCE WAS ACROSS THE STREET) WAS PROBABLY STAGED BY ARCE TO GAIN HIMSELF INTERNATIONAL ATTENTION. MORAN ADDED THAT, IF IT WASN'T, ATTACKS AGAINST MEDIA PERSONNEL IS THE PRICE JOURNALISTS MUST PAY TO REPORT THE TRUTH IN GUATEMALA.

---

---

51. (C) THE GOVERNMENT CONTINUES TO DISPLAY AN INABILITY TO COMBAT EITHER COMMON OR POLITICALLY MOTIVATED VIOLENCE AND AN UNWILLINGNESS TO PUNISH PAST VIOLATORS. THE PUBLIC MINISTRY WAS TO PLAN FOR FUTURE INSTITUTIONAL CHANGE IN THE HUMAN RIGHTS ARENA (I.E. THE RECENTLY SIGNED MARCH 29 GOG-URNG HUMAN RIGHTS ACCORD) AND TO PURSUE THE PROSECUTION OF INDIVIDUAL CASES ALREADY IN THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM (GUAT 5817 "RAMIRO'S REPORT CARD"). HOWEVER, THEN ATTORNEY GENERAL TELESFORO GUERRA WAS NOT ENERGETIC IN PURSUING HUMAN RIGHTS CASES. THERE HAVE BEEN ONLY MINOR ADVANCES IN THE PROSECUTION OF HUMAN RIGHTS OFFENDERS AND POLITICALLY MOTIVATED VIOLENCE CONTINUES AT AN ALARMING RATE.

1. confidential - entire text.

2. see para 6 for action request.

3. amcit jennifer harbury began a hunger strike in guatemala october 11 to draw attention to her efforts to learn the whereabouts of her husband, guatemalan guerrilla leader efrain bamaca velasquez, aka comandante everardo. bamaca has been missing since March, 1992, when he was at first presumed killed in combat with the guatemalan military. this case, which is attracting significant congressional and public interest, was raised at the 1993 un human rights commission (unhrc) by two guatemalan guerrillas, santiago cabrera Lopez and Jaime Adalto Agustin Recinos. cabrera and recinos claimed to have escaped from a clandestine military prison, where they had seen 35 other guerrillas. cabrera, who claimed to have escaped from army custody in december 1992, said he had seen bamaca among the 35 guerrillas in march and june 1992.

4. the guatemalan government has repeatedly denied that they hold Bamaca captive, that they have clandestine prisons, or that they have any information concerning Bamaca's whereabouts. We have always acted on the presumption, however, that bamaca could be alive.. on the broader issue of clandestine prisons raised by the bamaca case, we note that a Human rights watch report issued in March 1993 cited this and other cases that could involve clandestine detention. the 1992 and 1993 reports of the UN human rights expert cites other cases that likewise could constitute clandestine detention.
